Executive Officer of the aircraft carrier Forrestal.

During his tenure as Wing Commander, Tully has seen the twin jet, supersonic A-5A Vigilante successfully integrated into the Heavy Attack program as an operational component of the U. S. BETTER WAY

You'll find that painter's masking tape is better than cellophane tape to prevent plaster from cracking when you hammer in a nail to hold a picture hook. Very often when you remove the cellophane tape, it will take the paint along with it. The masking tape is specifically made not to harm paint.

REMOVE WAX

Planning to varnish your floor? Don't forget to remove every bit of wax or polish before you do. The same goes for furniture, too. Varnish will adhere lightly to a clean surface but not to wax.

Multi-petaled flowers, such as chrysanthemums, will appear fresher longer if petals in the under row are carefully removed as they show signs of age.

Just one lovely flowering plant will provide a fresh and bright note to a seemingly barren room, and a collection, massed together, will convert a corner into a veritable spring garden.

The Seminole Park Raceway will probably close next week... Most of the horses heading east.

City not to happy with the Pipeline Co. lease... Asking for a perpetual easement... City will probably want a time limit (five years)... will come out tonight.

Our apologies to Maurice Wagner and Harold Johnson Friday's story on the slander suit hearing referred to them as "defense attorneys." When, actually, they are attorneys for the plaintiff. City Attorney Bill Hutchison is the defense attorney for the City and City Mgr. Pete Knowles.

The Semi-Centennial Celebration committee meets tonight in First Federal's Caucus Room at 8 p. m. The story is that all committee chairmen will report on what has been done to now on their particular event (and there are LOTS of them!)... This will give everyone an opportunity to know how the rest of the "Big Show" is shaping up... And the Big Day is April 27.

Speaking of that, did Randall Chase who is in charge of the "Recognition Luncheon" on that day ever get an acceptance from Gov. Farris Bryant?... Humor was to be made up for that C of C membership dinner he missed when he was scheduled to be the main speaker and got grounded by the soupy weather at Washington.

Have you taken a look recently at the vast improvement being made by Bart Peterson and his St. Johns Realty at the corner of Commercial and Park?... Amazing what Jim Chapman has done in converting a filling station into a snappy modern office building.

Panelled conference room... Well lighted and spacious general office... Large "back office" for the study of large plat maps, etc... And Civil Defense plant!

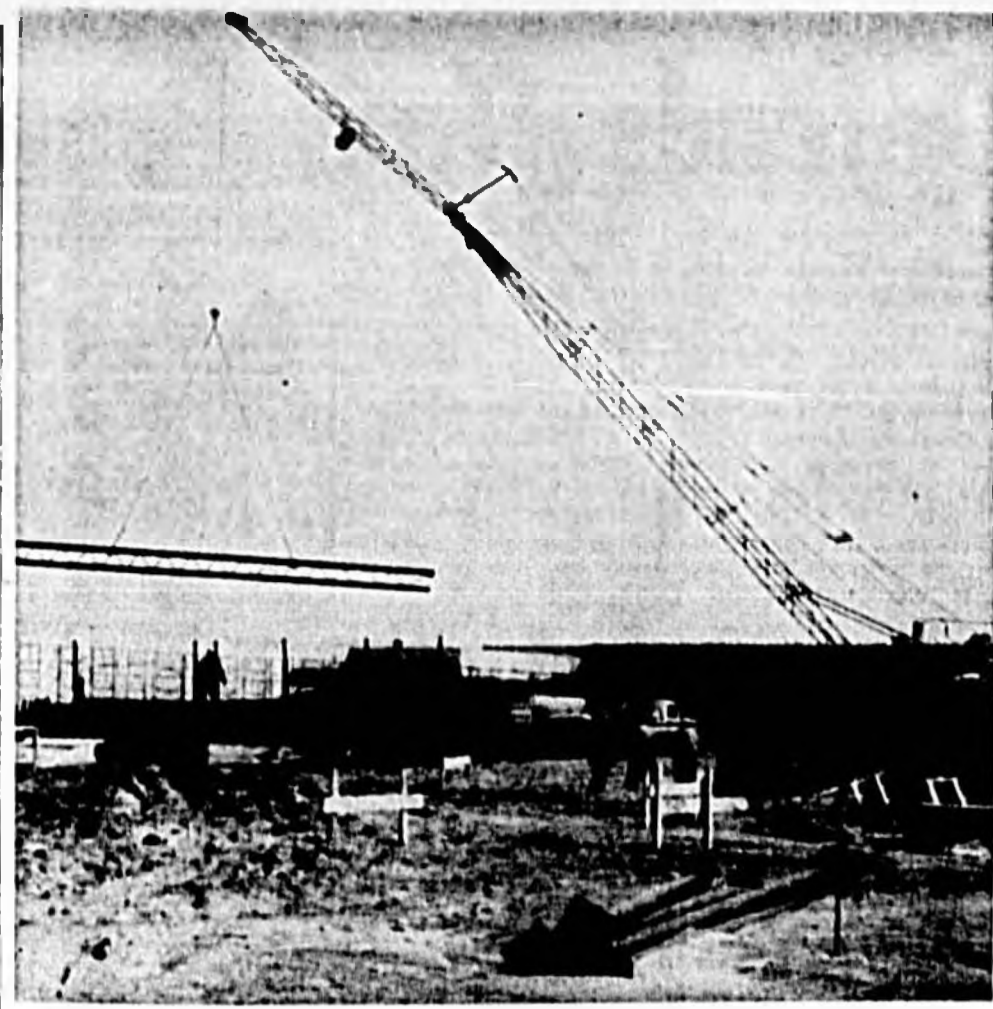

Isn't it a shame that the Big Mail idea that included these properties was stymied by near-sightedness... of one or two people, I'm told... That whole block might have been a razzle-dazzle, customer attracting shopping center... 'Sloo bad it didn't work out.

And what about that landmark, the Pico hotel?... You know, the one just across Commercial from this building and that now houses the Boy Scout meeting room... Humor has it that there is a program brewing on that, too... Hurry!

O-o-o, that Art Show at the Civic Center yesterday!... Such talent!... And so MANY artists involved!... Just great!... And those who were showing did not include just SCADS of artists from the local art association... Debary, Frisance, has its very own association... And a fine one, too... That headquarters at the Debary Mansion... All epic and span with a complete refurbishing job... And with an "enlarged" Debary Room... The enlargement coming from additional authentic Debary furniture.

Mayor Tom McDonald was supposed to present a winner's blanket at the Seminole Park Raceway Saturday night... Only thing... Tom was never invited... John Fitzpatrick did the honors.

Work on two bad corners of the Longwood - Markham Rd., a matter of some controversy between the city, the county and the State Road Dept., has almost been completed by Longwood although most of the repairs had to be done on the county's part of the road.

CONSTRUCTION of 30 new stores at the Seminole Shopping Plaza is well underway with structural steel beams going in place on buildings which will house McCrory's Department Store and Liggett's Drug Store. Groundbreaking For Plaza Held Official groundbreaking ceremonies were held today for construction which is already underway at the Seminole Plaza Shopping Center at the intersection of Hwy. 17-92 and SR 436.

E. N. Homer, president of Eastern Diversified, which is building the new business area for Eastern Shopping Centers, said today that they expect to open the 30 stores in this phase in July. A Publix Supermarket has been in business at the site for two years.

Largest of the new stores will be a 35,000 square foot building for McCrory's, and Roy Coppedge, director of McCrory's Corporation was present for the groundbreaking along with Supervisor E. C. Etchison, also of McCrory's and John Collins, vice president of the Chase Manhattan Bank Financing Department, and J. C. Robinson, president of Tradewinds Cafeterias.

Second largest building will be the Tradewinds Cafeteria, 12,000 square feet and third will be the 10,000 square foot Liggett's Drugstore.

There will be 20 other smaller stores, many of which are already leased, with others now under negotiation.

Included among these will be such establishments as a barber shop, beauty shop, jewelry, shoe stores, dress shops, laundry, cleaners, gift shops and many others, Homer said.

The parking lot area will be enlarged, under the present construction, which has already been underway for about two weeks. Contractor for the shopping center is the George Hunt Construction Company out of Clearwater.

President Homer said that it would be impossible to name a figure as to the cost of the huge new shopping center.

"This is a multi-million dollar project, and within two years we expect to expand the 30 stores to be constructed this year, to a total of 50," he said.

'Breach-Of-Peace' Convictions Overruled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court overruled today breach-of-the-peace convictions of 187 Negro students who demonstrated March 2, 1961 on the state Capitol grounds in Columbia, S. C.

The court said the convictions violated the constitutional freedom of the Negroes.

The students had asserted that the convictions were not supported by evidence and constituted a denial of free speech.

The court voted 8 to 1 for reversal. Justice Potter Stewart, speaking for the majority, said:

"These students were convicted of an offense so generalized as to be, in the words of the South Carolina Supreme Court, 'not susceptible of exact definition.' And they were convicted upon evidence which showed no more than that the opinions which they were peacefully expressing were sufficiently opposed to the views of the majority of the community to attract a crowd and necessitate police protection."

Service Set For 2 Officers

Memorial services for Lt. Charles H. Kruse Jr., USN, and Lt. (jg) Clarence Cottle, USN, will be held at 11 a.m. Tuesday in the chapel at the Sanford Naval Air Station.

They died Feb. 20 in an aircraft accident while operating with Heavy Attack Squadron Seven of Sanford in the Mediterranean.

Kruse is survived by his widow, Mrs. Audrey Louise Kruse, and five children, all of Sanford; his father, Charles H. Kruse Sr., of Weehawken, N. J., and his mother, Mrs. Sophie Kruse of Jersey City, N. J.

Cottle is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ann Lathan Cottle, and a daughter of Kingston, North Carolina; his father, Lammie C. Cottle, and mother, Mrs. Sybil Edmon, both of Morehead City, North Carolina.

RS70 Debate Is Re-Opened

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Armed Services Committee today reopened the RS70 bomber controversy by voting to authorize the Air Force extra money to build two more of the giant warplanes. President Kennedy has said repeatedly he does not want them.

The House group also added two nuclear-powered attack submarines which the administration did not request.

Turnover

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks opened the new week irregularly lower on fairly active turnover.

Merle Warner, Coordinator for the Heart Sunday Fund Drive reported today that in spite of Sunday's bad weather and incomplete reports from many areas, contributions to the Heart Fund are running above those of last year, with a total of over $1,000 turned in by 9:30 p.m. Sunday.

"We expect many more workers to report in today and Tuesday from seven or eight areas around Sanford, and all the outlying areas of the county, which will boost the contributions well over the top," he said.

Mrs. Michael Tamoy, Heart Sunday chairman said, "We appreciate the special efforts put forth by all our volunteer workers and area captains, especially in view of the adverse weather conditions."

A total of $399.39 was presented to the Heart Association by John Mikler manager of the Skate City Rink in Longwood, proceeds of the Heart Queen Show presented Sunday night by skaters there. Miss Marie Allen, who sold more tickets than any of the other candidates was crowned Queen of Hearts by Rep. Mack Cleveland Jr. (See pictures on page 2 of today's Herald)

SR 415 Labelled Top Primary Project Here

Urgency is cited by County Engineer William Bush to the County Commission in five interstate and primary road projects for presentation March 7 to the State Road Department at DeLand.

Bush's recommendations to the Commission were studied last Friday afternoon and will be given further study Tuesday afternoon. A copy of the recommendations was released to The Herald today by one of the Commission members.

The engineer advised "urgency" for these interstate and primary projects, to be accomplished by the SRD with county-allocated funds: State Road 415, Sanford limits east to St. Johns River, resurface to 22-foot width in the present right-of-way.

State Road 436, complete four-lane west from Alamo Springs to Interstate 4. State Road 48, complete four-lane from French Avenue to Mellonville Avenue.

State Road 66, repave from 1-4 west to Wekiva River.

Interstate 4, acquire right-of-way and build interchange at Lake Mary Boulevard.

Further new projects suggested by Bush without regard to priority, and estimated to cost $136,000:

State Road 415, resurface and widen to 22 feet; S-425, resurface Grapeville Avenue; S-15, Lake Mary railroad signals; S-427, two-lane right-of-way and construction of 2.8 miles from U.S. 17-92 at the County Home to Ginderville; SR-436, right-of-way and four-lane two miles from near Lake Howell to the Orange County line; Lake Jessup causeway, survey, engineering and right-of-way maps, from Ginderville to SR-419, and S-427, Langwood to Five Points, survey and right-of-way, 3.8 miles.

Bush suggested these priorities from secondary funds: SR-415, Celery Avenue, resurface to 22 feet; SR-426, right-of-way west to I-4; S-427, right-of-way and construct; SR-46, right-of-way between French and Mellonville Avenues; SR-426, improvements and right-of-way; S-425, Grapeville Avenue, resurface; SR-415, right-of-way from Osteen Bridge to SR-40; SR-436, right-of-way from Lake Howell to Orange County; S-15, construct Lake Mary railroad signals; S-427, right-of-way and construct from 17-92 near County Home to Ginderville; S-427, right-of-way from Longwood to 17-92; Lake Jessup causeway, survey and engineering study, Ginderville to SR-419, and S-15, Lake Monroe railroad signals.

Alternate proposals are: SR-46, two-lane, right-of-way and eliminate curves, I-4 west to Lake County; Chulota by-pass, right-of-way, S-13 to SR-419; SR-66, survey and right-of-way map only, Sanford east to Volusia County, 16 miles, and Bear Lake Road, extend north to Wekiva.

Bush also listed last year's work program not let to contract or committed in the amount of $651,000 from the $1,087 million available for budgeting, leaving a net for new projects of $436,100.

Chairman Douglas Stenstrom has called a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce's long range planning committee for 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the courthouse to offer support to the Commission on its primary and secondary road repair program.

Hunt Explosion Probe Underway

Cause of a boiler explosion, injuring two employees, at the new ILLI Products plant was still undetermined today.

A Florida Industrial Commission inspector and an ILLI safety engineer from Dallas examined the huge boiler over the weekend and could not determine the cause of the blast, it was reported today by Everett Biggs, plant manager, and Clyde Lovingsood, co-ordinator of Hunt plants and properties from Dallas.

The boiler exploded at 3:15 p.m. Friday, injuring Richard L. Hudson, 43, Oviedo, boilerman, and Howard E. Davis, 46, Lake Mary, machine operator.

Biggs said today plant operation is closed until later in the week, possibly Wednesday. Seminole Memorial Hospital attaches today reported Hudson is in "critical" condition and Davis in "serious" condition.

When the firebox of the 150-horsepower, gas-fired boiler blew, with escaping gas and hissing steam, many of the women among the 220 employees fainted and the others ran screaming from the plant.

Biggs, who was standing near at the time of the explosion, was credited with his quick action in shutting off power to two other boilers before they could explode.

Lovingsood said this morning the explosion was in the firebox, blowing out the fire brick.

Hudson was blown through a doorway to the outside of the building. Fellow employees said he would have been more seriously injured had the large steel door been closed. He was knocked unconscious by the blast.

Davis, with face, head and body blackened, holding up his severely burned hands, ran screaming through the plant, crying that he was blinded.

None of the other persons in the plant were injured by the blast, which flung bricks in all directions and blackened the wall of the building, which stands about 50 feet behind the main building.

Biggs said this morning officials are at a complete loss as to the cause. A workman reported he had checked the gauges and valves only a few minutes before the blast and all seemed to be functioning properly. Safety valves were in order, Biggs said, and the gauges indicated the steam was at proper level and not pointing to the danger mark.

Lovingsood discounted that any "foreign substance" was in the firebox.

Loads of spinach and green beans were running in the canning plant at the time, and several truck loads of unprocessed spinach sat at the unloading platform.

JFK's Brother Calls Fight Report Silly

STOWE, Vt. (UPI) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has called ridiculous and distorted a report that he seized a news photographer's camera and destroyed a film of him at a ski lodge.

Philip N. Lawson, 21, a staff photographer for the Vermont Sunday News in Burlington, said Kennedy grabbed his camera Saturday after he took a picture of Kennedy in ski garb outside The Lodge at Smugglers Notch.

Lawson said Kennedy exposed the film to light, ruining it, and then returned the camera with its flash attachment bent and a seam on its leather carrying case torn.

A spokesman for Kennedy quoted the senator as saying, "The story is ridiculous. It has been distorted."

The spokesman said Kennedy had spent plenty of time over the weekend posing for professional and amateur photographers and that when the senator asked Lawson not to use the film the photographer "was very cooperative and handed over the film."

The photographer's boss, William Loeb, publisher of the newspaper, said the incident illustrated the "naked arrogance of the Kennedys."

"Being a U. S. senator has apparently gone to Teddy Kennedy's 31-year-old head," Loeb said.

Kennedy was at the resort with his wife, Joan, Atty. Gen. and Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy and their children, and Mrs. Robert S. McNamara, wife of the defense secretary.

Liquor Probe Moves To State

NEW YORK (UPI) — An inquiry into operations of the New York State Liquor Authority (SLA) today spread to Florida where the state sought the return to New York of the wife of ousted SLA Chairman Martin E. Epstein to testify before a grand jury.

A spokesman for the office of the District Attorney Frank S. Hogan confirmed that the state was moving on a show cause order in Miami (11th Judicial Circuit Court, Dade County, 4:30 p.m.) today to have attorneys for Mrs. Epstein tell why she should not be directed to return to New York for appearance before the grand jury which has been investigating the SLA.

Epstein was fired by Governor Rockefeller after he refused to waive immunity when summoned to appear before the grand jury. The jury was believed to be investigating alleged graft and corruption in the SLA.

A spokesman said that Assistant District Attorney David A. Goldstein went to Miami last week where Epstein is recuperating from various illnesses. Goldstein started the court action to force Epstein's return to New York.

Kennedy Defends Tax Program

QUEEN OF HEARTS at the Skate City Heart Show was Miss Mazie Allen, who was crowned with a sparkling tiara by Rep. Mack Cleveland, Jr., Sanford attorney at ceremonies at the climax of the show, Sunday. A check for $399.39 was presented to Ed Simon, president of the Heart Council, right, and Mrs. Leonard Munson, left, Special Events chairman. (Herald Photo)

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy defended his tax cut program today against widespread attacks and called for an end to "squabbles over who will benefit most" from the proposed reductions.

The President said his recommendation to slash personal and corporate income taxes by $10 billion over three years had become a target of "heated . . . partisan . . . exasperated . . . rash" assaults. He said the program was now under attack from both the left and the right.

In a speech prepared for delivery at an American Bankers association symposium on economic growth, Kennedy said he was "not predicting a recession for 1963." But he said "if no tax cut is enacted" this year he would be willing to make this prediction.

"The country will, in the not too distant future, be struck by its fifth post-war recession, with a heavy loss of jobs and profits, a record-breaking budget deficit, and an increased burden of national debt."

The President mentioned no names in asserting that "tax reduction will not be passed if each economic group continues to treat economic growth as a melon to be divided instead of a crop to be harvested — or if each group examines this crop through the wrong end of a telescope."

"The facts of the matter are, of course, that the reduction is fairly distributed through all income brackets," Kennedy said. "And I would hope that all groups would put the national interest first, and recognize that the prospects for tax reduction and economic growth must not be endangered by squabbles over who will benefit most. For it is the nation that will benefit most from the passage of this program — and the nation that will suffer if they defeat it."

Criticism of Kennedy's program has ranged from the AFL-CIO which wants a quicker tax cut than he has recommended, to business groups which want its benefits allotted differently. The bankers association and other organizations — as well as a number of key lawmakers — have warned against cutting taxes without reducing federal expenditures.

"I do not say that it is a perfect program, which cannot be changed by the Congress, which will satisfy the desires of all groups, or which will achieve all the growth we need as fast as we wish to achieve it," Kennedy said.

"But those who admit the problem, but oppose the proposed solution of a $10 billion top-to-bottom tax revision, are under some obligation to put forward a solution of their own."

He insisted that the nation's economic growth "will be stepped up only by lightening the repressive weight of war-time tax rates which put a damper on private purchasing power and profits."

"But it will not be stepped up by political slogans or homely analogies," Kennedy said.

Kennedy said no nation in history had experienced a century of economic growth comparable to that of the United States in the last 100 years. But he warned that if Congress rejects his proposals there not only will be a recession but there also will be these consequences:

"Tax revenues will continue year-in-year-out to be insufficient to balance the budget, no matter how tightly the administration and Congress control expenditures."

"Unemployment and unused business capacity will remain at or above their present high levels, creating a lack of investor confidence at home and a lack of confidence in the dollar abroad."

"Pressures for a 35-hour week, for restrictions on imports and automation, and for large 'quickie' tax cuts and sharply increased federal spending will all grow beyond manageable limits."

New Drive Set On Nuclear Test Ban Talks

GENEVA (UPI) — Chief U.S. disarmament negotiator William C. Foster, just back from consultations with President Kennedy, planned a new drive today to get the Russians to negotiate on a nuclear test ban.

Foster would not say whether he brought new strategy from his four days in Washington, but he said on his return Sunday "I am back to attempt to continue efforts to obtain a nuclear test ban treaty."

He said he hoped to persuade the Russians to reopen earnest bargaining on the nuclear issue. The Russians have dodged the issue since the 17-nation disarmament conference resumed two weeks ago.

In Washington the Joint Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee called for testimony behind closed doors today from the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency on the nuclear test ban talks.

Foster is director of the agency. Informed sources in Washington said the closed hearing was called because of increased opposition in congressional circles to any further concessions by the United States to achieve a nuclear test ban.

During Foster's absence, First Deputy Foreign Minister Vassili K. Kuznetsov, the chief Soviet negotiator, left suddenly for Moscow without explanation. Some diplomats termed his departure a snub to Foster.

In an attempt to get the talks going, the West again has lowered its demands for on-site inspections to police a test ban.

Blind Organist To Perform

Tuesday at 8 p.m. the renowned blind organist, Andre Marchal of Paris, will be heard in a concert at the First Presbyterian Church in Orlando given under the sponsorship of the Central Florida chapter of the American Guild of Organists. The announcement made by Mrs. George Touhy, sub-dean and a director of the group, said that a warm invitation is extended to all who would enjoy the free concert played by one of the world's top ranking organists.

In addition to works of Johann Sebastian Bach, the eminent musician will play writings of other outstanding composers for the King of Instruments.

Highly acclaimed for his interpretations as well as for his virtuosity his appearance in Orlando is considered a high point in the Central Florida musical season.

A number of Sanford people have said that they will take advantage of this rare opportunity to enjoy this concert of Marchal's.

Children 'Affected' When Placed In Home

There is no more traumatic experience for a child than when he has to be placed in an "orphanage" or "children's home", Dr. T. M. Johns, superintendent of the Florida Baptist Children's Home in Lakeland told Kiwanians Wednesday.

Dr. Johns said that before World War II, most children found in the homes were "whole" orphans, those with both parents dead or having abandoned him.

"Now, however, we have mostly 'half-orphans'. These are children with at least one living parent who is unwilling or unable to care for him," Dr. Johns said.

A child is almost never able to understand why his parents would "give me up", and the experience causes deep wounds and terrible confusion.

Dr. Johns said that for this reason, the home does not work with children alone, but also with the parents, to help them become able to meet their responsibility, and many times children can be back with their parents within three years.

"Church attendance is most important," Dr. Johns emphasized. "Less than five percent of these children have ever attended any church. . . there is no real unity in the family."

In taking care of the children, the superintendent pointed out that it is important not to relieve the parents or the remaining parent of the entire responsibility, but encourage him to visit the child, to contribute what he can, and plan for a day when the child can come home.

There is no area where more care and concern is given than in the field of institutional child care, Superintendent Johns said.

In a child, Dr. Johns pointed out. "It is almost impossible for a child to blame his parents, for in denying his parents, he loses his own identity," he said.

"Although we tend to think of people who cannot or will not support their children as 'no good', in truth, 95 percent of them want to be good parents but they don't know how, or they are physically or financially unable to do so," he said.

Gregory Grabs Art Honors At Annual Show

Versatile Beth Gregory, an active and enthusiastic artist who refuses to be placed in any category, took a ribbon in every category which she entered at the Fourth Annual Art Show held at the Civic Center, Sunday.

Mrs. Gregory, a past president of the Art Association, and a private art teacher, won First Place blue ribbon for her Still Life, a gold-back-ground-flecked portrayal of the traditional fruit; a first place for her portrait of a young Orlando dancer in a Basque costume, and first place for her painting of two giraffes.

She took third place in Landscapes.

First place in Landscapes went to Georgia Ball for her weather-beaten beach cottage perched among the sand dunes; and Edwin Stowe's painting took second place in the landscape division.

Gretchen Lewis Crowell won the second place ribbon in the Animal division and Joe Mathies took third.

Mrs. Ula Spencer took all three ribbons in the Abstract or non-objective painting division. She also took a third place ribbon for her still-life picture.

Mrs. Mildred Babcock, president of the Art Association this year won a red ribbon for her portrait presentation and Miss Freddie Bradford placed third in that category.

In the youth division, there were two ribbons in each place, for two age groups.

First place ribbons went to Shanda Wallace and to Danny Smith; second place to Clyde Harris and Lucia Wallace and third place to Judy Bales and another painting of Danny Smith's.

Art Association officials estimated that more than 500 people visited the show this year, in spite of the inclement weather.

Comments by viewers indicated that the quality of the paintings seen this year has shown a steady improvement since the first showing, held four years ago.

Over 200 paintings were entered and were displayed in groups under the six divisions which they represented, including Landscapes, Abstracts, Still Life, Animals, and Youth Division.

Castro Predicts 'Better Times'

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro, speaking a few hours after the announcement of new rationing measures, today predicted better times ahead for the Cuban people. "What we have now are the fruits of the past," Castro said in an address to a medical congress attended largely by delegates from Russia, the Soviet satellites and Communist China.

"One day we shall reap the fruits of the present."

Castro's two-hour speech in the Charlie Chaplin Theater — his second in two days — was one of the mildest in some time and included only a few attacks on American "imperialists" and pro-American president of Venezuela, Romulo Betancourt.

Amateur Night

You can make out a pretty impressive case today that more and more Americans are participating in sports, in musical activity, in home-grown theatre and so on.

Also, though the record is somewhat spotty, the big spectator sports, at musical events, at New York's celebrated theaters (even during the long newspaper strike).

Yet, with some exceptions, the work of performers in many public fields has taken on a curiously "gray" look.

Baseball seems to have altogether too many faceless men. The stars of the concert stage appear to shine less brightly. Broadway exists mostly on a diet of noisy musicals and imported British plays.

"Participation" is a wonderful thing. But there is also much to be said for the constant example and inspiration of our most gifted performing at their best. Today the example is not as strong and steady as it should be.

Home Front Challenge

These days the world struggle against communism dominates the federal budget, consumes 80 percent of the President's time, pre-empted the thoughts of millions of citizens as international matters never did in decades past.

Our very survival can hang in the balance as vital decisions are made. The strength of our free world alliances is under constant test. The race to beat our adversaries in space commands our highest resources. The future independence of peoples struggling upward may hinge on what we do.

Yet it is misleading to suggest from this that those decisions which affect principally the domestic sphere of life are by comparison easy choices.

A notion seems to be afoot that, not simply on the surface but in reality, our home front arguments are almost wholly over money. Programs bearing on housing, education, welfare, highways and the like revolve largely around how much to spend.

But some thoughtful appraisers of 1968 America are venturing to suggest that our decisions in these fields need to be invested with much more qualitative judgment than they are getting.

For example, we are spending not much less than $4 billion in federal funds this year for our interstate highway system. That is a fair-sized piece of the U. S. cash budget.

The decision to spend sums of such size on U. S. highways was made years ago. But was it the only crucial one?

Around one big eastern city a complete belt highway now serves motorists. Around another, a similar belt is partially finished. But already skeptics are saying it should have been designed for eight lanes rather than six, to meet rising traffic loads.

At a recent session of the Highway Research Board, which studies a broad range of highway problems, Charles Zwick of the Rand Corporation suggested in a paper that transportation systems for tomorrow can be properly conceived only if some very refined judgments are made.

It is not enough just to make projections of future population, numbers of cars expected, and so on.

What kind of dwellings will people be living in? What changes will occur in the make-up of industry? Will people have more time for recreation? Will their current urge for privacy in transportation (the automobile) continue or diminish?

Engineers may argue persuasively about ways to move large numbers of people cheaply and effectively. But before vast sums are laid out, says Zwick, we had better know what people really want, where they will in fact wish to go in leisure time and where they will have to go in work hours.

The immense traffic burdens which often descend quickly upon "highways of the future" suggest that some of these matters are being foreseen only dimly.

Domestic concerns are in the background today. Yet their complexities, properly weighed, are hardly less challenging than those of the international scene.

Letters

To The Editor

Dear Sir:

I have read every article that has been written in our Sanford Herald concerning the four 13 year old boys who were held in the county jail. It interests me because—but for the grace of God, it could well have been my boys. A good many years back a similar thing happened to some of their friends. I asked the one who was a very close friend of theirs, "Did you steal candy?" He answered (which can be taken in several ways) "No, I wasn't with them."

In following the story in the Sanford Herald, I have had deep feeling for everyone concerned. I, being a parent of a number of children, dare not say, "My child would NEVER DO a thing like that!" Because, the longer I am a parent I know that THEY MIGHT! We never know just how another person feels unless we have had an identical problem.

I feel that the Daddy of the child has been deeply hurt, and that as he has said, he has sheltered wards of the court at times. He can use this very happening to help him in that type of work. He will be much better equipped for the work as time passes and his problem is not so close to his heart as it is now.

A minister's son was arrested. He asked his congregation to do the same for him that he had told them to do for others in like cases. The congregation had not expected him to fill his place in the pulpit at all that Sunday. (Name withheld upon request)

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA)—James MacGregor Burns of Williams College spent a few days in Washington recently, doing a little missionary work on his plan for reforming everything he says is wrong with American politics. He didn't make much progress.

The Burns program, set forth in his new book, "The Deadlock of Democracy," has the revealing subtitle "Four Party Politics in America."

Dr. Burns is not the discoverer of this phenomenon—nor the first to complain about it. His first 300 pages give the history of how this system developed. The last 75 tell what he thinks should be done about it today.

Instead of throwing up his hands in despair and saying that nothing can be done to prevent any one of the four minorities in Congress from thwarting the will of a majority and stalemating major White House proposals, Burns presents a program by which he says President Kennedy might change the system.

This would involve a rank-and-file reorganizing and strengthening of the Presidential Democratic party, as distinguished from the Congressional Democratic party. It would have the national party establish its own congressional district organizations, financed, directed and staffed by national headquarters. State and local party organizations would still be used but only as branches of the national party.

The purpose of this, according to Burns, would be to have Kennedy re-elected in 1964 by such a big vote that he could carry into Congress on his own the whopping majorities which President Roosevelt won in 1936.

As a matter of fact, this is also the objective of the President's White House political henchmen. At the recent Democratic national committee and state chairman's meeting in Washington, the 1964 campaign line was handed down that every congressional candidate should support the President.

Such a victory would bring with it, according to Burns, the reorganization of Congress to permit the party caucus and policy committee to function more effectively in support of the President's programs. There would be more party discipline and much less independence and free wheeling on major issue votes.

Burns thinks the Democratic Party cannot live forever on the issues inherited from the Roosevelt and Truman eras. Get away from issues like food, clothing and shelter, he says. Take the path laid down by Arthur Schlesinger Jr., towards "qualitative liberalism."

What the government support the arts, education, civil rights, a vast expansion of recreational facilities, urban renewal, improve the tone, efficiency, imagination and acuity of government itself and "insist on the superior use of mass media."

Whatever this last means is not explained, but it seems to imply that the press, radio, television, movies, theaters, and maybe even phonograph records or tapes should do more of an educational or propaganda job for whatever party may control the White House.

A lot of this new platform may sound something like the present administration's news management and many cultural programs, which already aren't receiving wholehearted support.

There is nothing wrong with Burns having an headline program. That is one of the things professors are for. But from the standpoint of practical politics, it is difficult to see that many or any of the changes he suggests are going to be accepted by congressional, state and local political leaders. These leaders are still firmly in the saddle and show no inclination to budger. Congressional progressives of both parties this year are making desperate efforts to change some of their worst and most obsolete rules and practices. The going is tough.

If Congress can agree as a first step to the establishment of a commission just to study the question of its reorganization, that will be as much as you can expect this year.

If such a commission could get Congress to agree on a few basic recommendations like insisting on the germaneness of debate, curbing the seniority system, staffing of congressional committees, curbing of congressional junketing and payroll padding; raising the ethical standards for congressmen, and defining what constitutes a conflict of interest to end its abuses—that would be about all you could expect for 1964.

Car sickness comes to youngsters most any time and to grown-ups when payments come due.

When a man can't do office work at home it's likely there are several little reasons a running around the house.

A doctor says diet affects looks to some degree. We know some people who must eat prunes.

A westerner is suing because he found a tack in his fruit cake. The food tax in some cities irks a lot of people.

The tranquilizer death of Marilyn Monroe highlighted the fact that has swept America. But England is also on a tranquilizer "binge" with over 7,000 barbiturate poisonings every year. If you suffer from insomnia, then employ the simple "horse sense" measures below. Don't penalize your liver and kidneys with sleeping pills!

CASE O-467: Doris D., age 27, is a housewife.

"But, Dr. Crane," her worried husband began, "Doris feels that she cannot go to sleep at night without taking tranquilizers or sleeping pills. 'I have argued with her about it, but that just makes matters worse.'"

"For when she gets excited or nervous and tense, then she takes double doses."

"Isn't it wise to become an addict of sleeping pills?"

Yes, the tranquilizer craze that has swept America, is costing the lives of many victims.

And in England, under socialized medicine, the doctors are now hounded by patients who constantly demand tranquilizers.

In fact, England has been on a tranquilizer "binge" ever since the advent of socialized medicine.

Thus, over 7,000 cases of barbiturate poisonings per year are the toll that England is paying.

Suicides have likewise soared alarmingly, for it is so easy to swallow a handful of pills in a fit of anger or depression.

Here in America Hollywood is especially noted for its tranquilizer binge, but New York City probably runs a close second.

For the fact has developed nowadays of taking tranquilizers and of having your own personal psychiatrist (psychoanalyst in Hollywood).

That's another evidence of the neurotic juvenility of millions of modern Americans.

For you don't need drugs to give you the restful effects of slumber!

Instead, just lie down! For when your body is in the horizontal position, your total height drops from 5 or 6 feet to less than ONE foot.

Obviously, that change in posture gives your faithful heart a chance to get its needed rest.

For it took much more power to pump your 5 quart of blood up a vertical height of 6 feet than it does when your maximum height is but one foot.

So your blood pressure drops. And your heart may then slow down a couple of beats per minute (120 per hour and 1,080 for 9 hours of sleep).

"But, Dr. Crane, I can't fall asleep when I go to bed," many of you will protest.

So what! Your body gets the main advantage of sleep, even if you are awake, if you will just keep in the horizontal position.

But many of you goad your nervous system prior to going to bed by drinking cola beverages, tea or coffee and then want to counteract that caffeine prod by tranquilizers.

Get smart. Cut out the bedtime caffeine and you will not feel so much need of tranquilizers.

Also, light your bed lamp, if you can't sleep, and then read an educational book or magazine. Try the Bible, for a change.

Any textbook will usually lull you to sleep in a hurry and be far cheaper than tranquilizers.

Besides, drugs place an extra load on your liver and kidneys, so give your organs a break and quit being tranquilizer addicts.

State Subsidizing Home Rackets

The Sanford Herald
Mon. Feb. 25, '63—Page 5

(Special to The Herald)
By HAROLD RUMMEL

Staff Writer
Gainesville Daily Sun
GAINESVILLE—The state is "subsidizing" home repair racketeers, Rep. William O'Neill, chairman of a special Legislative Council sub-committee, disclosed during a public hearing here Friday. He said he has found several instances where welfare allotments were increased to meet payments on suspect mortgages.

Abuse Curbs Stressed

GAINESVILLE — Suggestions offered at a special Legislative Council sub-committee hearing here Friday on ways to curb wholesale abuses within the shell home and home repair industries: —Provide stiff penalties for notary publics who guarantee signatures on mortgages they haven't witnessed. Investigations show many notaries have failed to witness mortgage signatures. —Pass a law giving each county permission to institute building codes at will, instead of getting Legislative approval of each code. —Tighten licensing laws to insure the competency of for payments on fraudulent mortgages, but she has heard of other offices doing it.

Welfare recipients victimized in her area already were getting near the maximum allotment, she said. "We couldn't have raised them enough to do any good," she said.

No one had exact figures on how much state money has been spent on the mortgage payments, or how often it has been done.

The Legislators were quick to explain they weren't criticizing the Welfare Department for its actions. They said they merely wanted to bring out a little more of the seriousness of the problem afflicting Florida.

"Not only the poor and uneducated whose names are on the mortgages are being fleeced. Every tax payer is getting it," Thomas said. If welfare didn't try to help the people, they might be thrown out of their homes and put in a worse plight than ever before.

In other testimony at the Friday hearing, criticism went so far as to question the basic tenet behind the shell home industry—economy.

Phillip I. Emmer, a local contractor and vice chairman of the National Association of Home Builders' low income housing committee, said the final price on a finished shell home is frequently high and the quality low.

"The buyer is supposed to save money by doing the finishing work himself," Emmer explained.

"I know of instances where a private individual has to pay twice as much as a contractor does for the same material. These low income families usually can't pay cash either, so they have interest charges added to that," Emmer said.

"Even after he has paid for the work, he usually has nothing because he just has no mechanical ability," said Emmer.

Emmer said immediate cash outlay is almost always necessary for the shell home buyer. Builders often don't include even simple plumbing, heating and electrical wiring in the product they delivered.

Investigator Oliver Wetherholt of the Florida Sheriff's Bureau, said it's becoming everyday stuff for him to find mortgage forgeries, unfinished jobs, very inferior workmanship, misrepresented prices "and other malpractices."

Wetherholt's work has led to warrants being issued for 16 persons in Alachua, Levy and Putnam counties. One warrant is for forgery, the rest for grand larceny.

He said he has found jobs where the price charged was 10 times the value of the work.

Wetherholt testified also that a former repair salesman told him recently he watched an officer of one firm hold a mortgage up to a window so he could transfer a signature onto it from a blank piece of paper.

Harry Layfield, Alachua County investigator who has assisted Wetherholt here, showed the committee a packet of documents he said were used by one firm. It was covered by a credit application and included a mortgage, a completion certificate, a quit claim deed and a mortgage assignment. All were signed in blank before the job was started, Layfield said.

"Those salesmen can shuffle these papers like a magician with a deck of cards," Layfield said.

Four of the children were born in Folkston, England and came to the United States Aug. 11, 1906, with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Masey. All but W. M. Masey, who has lived in Detroit, Mich. for the past 38 years, have spent most of their lives in Florida.

They are the nephews and nieces of the late E. W. Stiles and Mrs. Alice Hill, of Sanford.

Some of the out of town families spent several days visiting with other relatives and friends in this area.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You hear a lot about teen-aged girls going wrong. Here's the other side of the story: I am a male, age 20, and I have a four-year-old son to support. I've never been married. I went with a nice 16-year-old girl and we thought we were in love. We got serious and before we knew it we had gone further than we had intended to. I would have married her but I was scared. And I didn't want to be tied down at the age of 16. Annie (not her real name) died nine months later in the delivery room. She left me and her parents with a ten-pound bundle. Her last wish was for me to take care of the baby. Annie was a wonderful girl. I have been running from the idea that I killed her ever since. I don't think I ever will. Annie's parents are raising the boy and I still haven't the courage to face them and ask them to forgive me. Abby, please keep preaching to teenagers that playing with grown-up ideas is asking for trouble.

SINGLE FATHER

DEAR FATHER: For every girl who gets "in trouble," there is a boy. But seldom does one have the courage to step forward and take the blame. If your letter makes one boy or girl think twice — it's worth the space in this newspaper.

DEAR ABBY: Tell the woman who can't watch television during the day because her husband takes the tube out of the set before he goes to work in the mornings to take another tube out after he leaves. So when he comes home at night and replaces the tube he took out so HE can watch television, it still won't work.

SANDY

DEAR SANDY: And what has she gained? Then neither of them will be able to watch it. You remind me of the man who drilled a hole in the bottom of the boat so the other guy would sink.

DEAR ABBY: Be fair and print this for "BACHELOR GIRL AGE 32." First of all, the assumption that widows and divorcees are "common retreads and warmed over has-beens," and that all 32-year-old bachelor girls are respectable, is the biggest bunch of baloney I've heard yet. My wife was a divorcee when we met. Because of her first experience in marriage she was far more understanding, tolerant and mature than any "single" girl I'd ever gone with. We have been happily married for 12 years and have three beautiful children. I wouldn't trade my wife's discarded fingernail clippings for all the "respectable," never-married, 32-year-old bachelor girls in the world.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

The late Geoffrey Mott-Smith coined the expression "the immortal bridge" to cover the bridge classics that appear again and again. Usually they appear as if they just had been dealt in a rubber bridge game, but old timers recognize them as old friends.

The Mississippi heart hand dates back to the game of bridge. The dealer either made trump or bridged it to his partner who would then make trump.

All hands were played at a contract of one, but the opponents could double and dealer and his partner could redouble indefinitely. Hearts were the top suit in bridge, so Mississippi river gamblers would let their victim pick up the South hand.

He would make hearts trump and when he overboarded, he would double. Then he would redouble and the gambler would double again. The victim would redouble and redouble until the gamblers would decide that one down would represent all that he could, or would, pay. It wouldn't take too long to get into pretty high figures. At a penny a point one down redoubled once would cost him 200 points or two dollars. Each redouble would multiply his loss by four so that after six redoubles the hand would cost him $2,048, and just two more redoubles would find the victim losing $32,768.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

Although he readily admits it may be unchivalrous to say so, a heart specialist suggests that the lady of the house may be "better equipped" to shovel snow than her husband.

The wife, through regular exertion at household tasks, probably is in better physical shape than her deskbound husband, says the doctor.

How's that again? Can it possibly be that all we have been hearing about housewives not having to do any hard physical work any more — thanks to their labor-saving equipment — is just a pretty myth?

Can it be that even with dishwashers, washing machines, vacuum cleaners and electric can openers, there's still a lot of work left to housework?

Come to think of it, there's no labor-saving equipment to keep a mother from having to run after small children, or from having to lift and carry babies, or from having to reach and stretch to wash have a monopoly on physical fitness — do we?

Some suggestions in a less explosive vein: Ruth Millett's "Happier Wives (Hints for Husbands)." Send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, c/o Sanford Herald, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

"LET'S TALK DRY CLEANING"

By - WOODROW CASH
In women's fashions, this is a season of sparkle. Dresses, blouses and evening wraps are resplendent with metallic fabrics. Some dresses and wraps are made entirely of lame. Other fabrics that are favorites are silks, satins, velvets, even wools shot through with metallic threads.

These fabrics are fascinating, but they also present cleaning difficulties. Fabrics containing metal threads have two major faults: they tarnish, and they are extremely susceptible to severe creasing and wrinkling.

Most metal threads consist of a cotton inner thread which serves as a base around which a thin metallic ribbon is rolled spirally. The base metal is usually copper which, when the lacquer wears off, tarnishes badly and tarnish is almost impossible to remove by any method of cleaning. Synthetic metal-like threads do not present this tarnish problem. Before he can safely clean cloth with metal threads woven through it, your cleaner must test to find out if the metal has a copper base or is a synthetic thread.

We always make sure of the fabric content of every article you send us. You can count on our taking a little more painstaking care with the cleaning and finishing of your finest, most delicate fabrics. That's why the best dressed people in town send their dry cleaning to us!

Rude Surprise Facing Cincinnati Cage Tourney

By United Press International
If turnabout is fair play, the University of Cincinnati can expect a rude surprise from Ohio State in the upcoming NCAA basketball championships.
Two years in a row the Buckeyes brought the nation's top-ranked team into the post-season carnival only to be knocked off in the finals by Cincinnati. This season it's the Bearcats who boast the No. 1 squad, but Ohio State seems primed to turn the tables and finally capture the elusive title.
Cincinnati, after sweeping its first 19 contests, has hit its lowest rut of the season. The Bearcats lost their first game last week and then on Saturday night had to overcome a 14-point deficit to edge Tulsa, 55-54, on their home court.
The Buckeyes, on the other hand, have played much better ball than they had a right to after losing such stars as Jerry Lucas and John Havlicek. Their 83-70 victory over Iowa on Saturday was their seventh in a row and gave them a 17-3 record for the season.
Illinois, however, kept pace with Ohio State in the Big Ten Conference by beating Wisconsin, 89-77. Tonight's action could ruin one of the co-leaders. The Illini meet tough Minnesota and State plays weak Northwestern.
The tournament picture became a little clearer after the weekend activity but there are still several berths in both the NCAA and the National Invitation Tournament awaiting the teams that can earn them in the first days of the regular schedule.
Pittsburgh, St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, Arizona State U. and Texas earned berths in the NCAA Saturday. The Panthers overwhelmed Penn State, 83-57. St. Joe's beat LaSalle, 68-49, to win the Middle Atlantic Conference University Division championship for the fifth straight year. Arizona State U. topped New Mexico, 76-62, and Texas another Southern Methodist, 92-76.
Pittsburgh, with a 17-3 record, will meet New York University in an opening round game March 11. St. Joseph's plays an at-large team on the same program; Arizona State U. faces Utah State in a first round contest in the western regionals at Eugene, Ore.; March 11, and Texas is paired against Texas Western at Lubbock, Tex., March 9.
Tulsa almost staged the upset of the season when it led Cincinnati, 39-25, with two minutes gone in the second half. But the 'Cats rallied to close the margin and clinched the game on Ken Cunningham's basket and George Wilson's free throw.
Gary Bradds, leading scorer in the Big Ten tallied 40 points for Ohio State as the Buckeyes avenged an earlier loss to Iowa. Illinois set a conference free throw record by sinking 19 of 20 shots against Wisconsin, with Bill Burwell collecting 7 for 7.
Second-ranked Duke closed out its Atlantic Coast Conference regular season with a perfect record by whipping North Carolina, 106-83, and now waits for the league tournament to open Thursday. The winner goes to the NCAA.
The No. 3 Loyola of Illinois Ramblers, already NCAA journey-bound, were held to their lowest point-total of the season in defeating Houston, 62-58.
Sixth-ranked Wichita, which has accepted a National Invitation Tournament bid, was the only member of the top 10 to lose Saturday as the Wheatshockers fell before Bradley, 64-63.
Among other ranked schools, Colorado downed Oklahoma State, 49-40 and Georgia Tech trounced Georgia, 66-58.

Lund Cops '500'

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Drafting scientifically to save fuel, hulking Dewayne (Tiny) Lund rode into the auto racing record books today as winner of the gruelling Daytona 500-mile stock car classic.

Drafting is following in the leader's wake at high speed and being towed along in his vacuum.

Lund, a comparative rookie among the racing veterans who blasted off in the field of 50 which started the 500, proved himself an expert and it netted him a 24-second victory over Fred Lorenzen of Charlotte, N. C., Sunday with 39-year-old Newton, N. C., grain broker Ned Jarrett a disappointing third.

They were running bumper to bumper, Lorenzen, Lund and Jarrett in that order, with only 15 miles to go when the pace-setting Lorenzen had to hit the pits for gasoline. Lund immediately let Jarrett take over and set the pace. And with only three laps remaining, Jarrett, too, had to halt for fuel.

That's when the lowering Lund, a six foot, four inch 270-pounder born in Harlan, Iowa, took over and drove it home through those last 10 miles for his triumph, his own gas just barely lasting.

It was a $23,350 payoff for his victory in a 1962 Ford which had been designed for another man.

Marvin Panch, the 1961 winner of the Daytona 500, had been scheduled to pilot the car which Lund drove. But two weeks ago in practice for a sports car race Panch crashed and Lund rick ed his life to pull Panch from the car.

The race was delayed an hour and 46 minutes by mid-day showers and the first 10 laps were run under the yellow caution flag while the track dried. Then, in the middle stages, there was another eight-lap caution drive while the car of Dick Goode Mishawaka, Ill., was removed from the backstretch racing strip.

Thus Lund didn't have a shot at the average speed record of 152.529 miles per hour established last year by Fireball Roberts of Daytona Beach. But his winning average of 151.966 was indicative, despite the delays, of the lap speeds of 162 to 164 miles per hour with which the pack was touring the two and one-half mile asphalt oval.

WHICH WAY they go? sights this pretty Sunbelt lass, Mrs. Bill Vincent as she watches the cars zoom by at Sunday's '500' at Daytona Beach.

 City the poor lawyers! Circuit Judge Volle Williams Jr. has decided to appoint local attorneys to defend indigent people accused of felonies. . . . Now the attorneys are seeking special legislation to compensate themselves for the job. . . .

How about a special bill for a public defender here?

And will Volle use the marble method to pick the "lucky" attorney?

Looks like that pipeline might be constructed after all. . . . Of course, all they have to do now is get a permit to cross those railroad tracks on Melonville. . . . By the way Burnup and Sims has the pipe contract work.

A recent fire at the Popular Ave. dump was put out by city crews. . . . Borrowed two pumps from the utility department to put out the blaze. . . . The word is that the department just didn't have enough men. Fire Chief Mack Cleveland Sr. will be asked to explain at the next regular commission meeting.

A CONVERSATION WITH FIRE CHIEF MACK CLEVELAND SR.

REPORTER: Mack, some accusations made at the City Commission last night about fire department not answering the call to the dump fire. What goes?

CLEVELAND: No truth in it. We made several runs out there and finally put the fire out with the aid of city crews Monday.

LEFT OVER CITY COMMISSION NOTES. . . . Joe Baker asks about downtown commercial inspection. . . . It's coming, he's told. . . . Joe Baker asks about vacant property reappraisal. . . . It's coming, he's told again. . . . City agrees to advertise for heating-air conditioning unit for the recreation office. . . . How many people use 117 Coat $300. . . . Remember when our city fathers refused to buy lights for one of the Little League diamonds? . . . Cost $400. . . .

AND SOME MORE. . . . Sewage treatment plant will be completed by May 1, commissioners told. . . . Contractor will have to pay $145 per day penalty for not finishing at expiration date Feb. 3. . . . WOW! . . . Commissioner asked to pay $350 appraisal cost of old post office. . . . Get our own appraisers, City says. . . . NAS want to increase water pumpage. . . . Did you know the monthly NAS water bill runs around $600.

The State has given the okay on English Estates Elementary School plans. . . . Bids will be opened Mar. 28.

That controversial Bird Sanctuary hearing comes up Thursday in Orlando. . . . The Game and Fish Commission will most likely close some 7,000 acres, including NAS.

People calling wanting to know which of our young doctors is leaving. . . . Well, it's not Ken Peirce.

People callin' all day wondering where they vote. . . . No election in Seminole County today. . . . Only general election March 23. Had one gentleman call and say, "I want to vote for Mack, how come the polls are closed?"

Yep, former County Engineer Carlton Bliss was correct when he stated Bear Lake Road would become a "dead issue." It was not even mentioned on the new scoop sheet for County Road Program. Fact remains that Bear Lake Road has the highest daily traffic count of any Seminole County Road according to Mr. Boggs from the State Road survey office in Deland.

Oups that safe boating course is not tomorrow but Mar. 6. . . . Sorry!

County Boards Feudin', Fussing

Cooperation Lag Rapped By Avery

Lack of co-operation by the County School Board with the County Commission was decried this morning at regular session of the latter board. . . . What was termed "five years of misunderstanding" between the two county groups was brought into the open when Commissioner James Avery queried whether the School Board had obtained a building permit for its proposed new English Estates school. Robert Brown, zoning director, replied no application has been made for a building permit. . . . Avery then pointed out that the school and its paved areas will surpass the 2,500-square foot minimum required for drainage purposes. . . . It was former Commissioner Vernon Dunn who stated that there has been a lack of co-operation on the part of the School Board for five years or more. "One time a few years back," Dunn explained, "we directed an inquiry to the School Board about some proposed plans and a member of the press brought back the answer from that body: 'What we do is none of your business!'"

Avery continued: "We are in our rights on this matter of a building permit for English Estates school. We should insist an access road be provided by the School Board before we approve a building permit. . . . It seems to be the policy of the School Board to erect its new schools in the back-docks and then insist that we provide a road to it." . . . The question was further enlightened when R. C. Carlson, chairman of the Longwood City Council, in being assured that approval has been made for paving of Highway 27 between Longwood and Altamonte Springs, asked the county to build an eight-foot sidewalk for three-quarters of a mile to Lyman School for students. He was told that this would mean a change of plans and might delay the road improvement for a year or more. County Engineer William Bush advised the matter be held in abeyance until the road improvement be completed. . . . The Herald queried School Supt. R. T. Milwee whether he or School Board members had a reply to this criticism and was informed that he, Milwee, would attend this afternoon's continued session of the County Commission. . . . Avery, when advised of this, concluded: "I'll have a lot of questions for Mr. Milwee to answer."

Road Woes Hit Board

Requests on road and drainage problems, along with three public hearings on rezoning, occupied most of this morning's session of the County Commission. Two rezoning requests were approved and one tabled. . . . William Blalock, representing the Seminole Plaza Shopping Center, sought approval for two building permits for new buildings there. He pointed out application has been made to the Town of Casselberry to annex the 28-acre site of the shopping center and this is to be acted on within three or four weeks by the Town Council. . . . Question of drainage was raised and Commissioner James Avery moved the building permits be granted since "in three weeks this will be Casselberry's baby."

Attorneys Ask 'Compensation'

Support of a move to provide the county pay fees for attorneys representing indigents in criminal actions was asked of the County Commission this morning. . . . Circuit Judge Vobe A. Williams Jr. asked the Commission to support statewide legislation providing for a public defender. "If this should fall," he continued, "then I request you abide by a resolution of the Seminole County Bar Association that the county pay attorney fees in these cases."

The judge said local attorneys appointed by him to represent indigent defendants have done so without remuneration. He pointed out the county pays physicians for caring for indigent patients. . . . Carroll Burke, bar association president, also asked support of the matter of attorney fees and agreed to compile figures for the Commission's study. He said that a public defender could be retained for $7,500 annually, or that a budget in that amount should suffice to pay court-appointed lawyers.

NAS Man Joins Energetic 700 In Walkathon

A Sanford airman has put the Navy in the running in "Walkathon" competition. . . . James W. Russell, 19, who is attached to the Heavy ATack Wing One staff here, Saturday joined 700 energetic souls who answered the call of a Tampa radio station to walk a 30-mile pre-planned route between Tampa and Clearwater. Of the 100, 125—including Russell—made it. . . . Saturday morning, at the break of dawn, he was with the mob awaiting the start of the walk. . . . Seventeen-and-a-half hours later, just after the stroke of midnight, Russell crossed the finish line at a Tampa restaurant. "I wasn't too tired," he reflected. "The backs of my legs ached but I wasn't what you'd call exhausted."

Blue Chips

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks opened easier on moderate turnover today with most blue chips dropping fractions. . . . Russell Spears, 42, dressed in paint-spattered overalls, was found dead with a shotgun by his side shortly after 8 a. m., about six hours after the bodies of the three men were discovered at a

Health Cards 'Knocked' Out

State Health Department, under a new law, no longer requires food handlers to hold health cards, County Health Director Frank Leone advised the County Commission this morning. . . . He pointed out that the law provides counties may require food handlers to hold health cards. He added his department does not provide physical examinations for health cards, that food handlers have been required to visit their private physicians. . . . Dr. Leone said he has asked for clarification of the law. The Commission accepted his recommendation that it hold in abeyance the matter of the County retaining an X-ray technician to assist in providing health cards for medically indigent food handlers.

Reform Tax Bill Expected

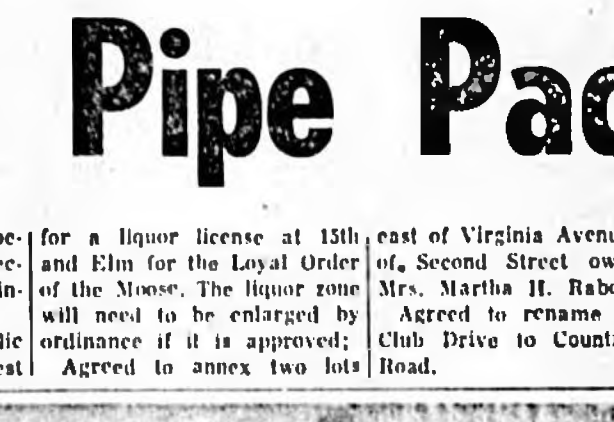

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Democratic leaders said after a meeting today with President Kennedy that a tax cut bill containing "certain reforms" would be enacted by Congress this year. . . . "Everybody recognizes that the taxes are too high," House Speaker John W. McCormack said after the weekly breakfast meeting.

Gunbattle Leaves Three Dead

WILKESBORO, N. C. (UPI)—Three men were slain by rifle fire in a mountain gunbattle near here early today and a fourth man was found shot to death, apparently a suicide. . . . Russell Spears, 42, dressed in paint-spattered overalls, was found dead with a shotgun by his side shortly after 8 a. m., about six hours after the bodies of the three men were discovered at a house about eight miles west of here. . . . A woman, wife of one of the victims, was wounded in the early morning shooting in this rugged section of north-west North Carolina. . . . Wilkes County authorities identified the three dead men as Monroe Griffin, 50, his 22-year-old son, Lewis Griffin, and Robert Huffman, 32, all of near Wilkesboro. . . . Mrs. Roxie Huffman, wife of Huffman and sister of Griffin, received a wound in the back and was hospitalized. . . . The shootings touched off a massive manhunt for Spears, a state highway employee. Bloodhounds were brought in from a state prison to aid a posse of highway patrolmen, sheriff's deputies and police. . . . Deputies found two of the dead men sprawled inside Mrs. Huffman's house and the third lying outside on a

City OK's Pipe Pact

The City Commission Monday night, after studying, reading, inquiring, questioning, examining, weighing, probing, analyzing, thinking, reasoning, reflecting and pondering, finally gave its approval, by a 14-1 vote, for a five-year contract with the Sanford Pipeline Co. to construct the facility with a 10-year renewal option after the five years have elapsed. . . . It took the commission 84 minutes to go over the lease and then adjourned the meeting until next Monday to give attorneys a chance to get their legal thinking in order before the lease is signed. . . . Jim Crapps opposed the move saying "I don't like the first five year agreement." Crapps wanted the city to get $500 per month for the first five years. . . . The city will get $1,200 per year for the first five years and then five percent of the gross of the company the next 10 years. . . . Construction of the pipeline is expected to start within the next three weeks. The line will stretch from the lake front to Melonville Ave. and then to the Naval Air Station. . . . In other business, the city reaffirmed its policy that annexation will be required before water and sewer connections are hooked up to any industrial area. . . . Agreed to hold a public hearing March 25 on request for a liquor license at 15th and Elm for the Loyal Order of the Moose. The liquor zone will need to be enlarged by ordinance if it is approved; Agreed to annex two lots east of Virginia Avenue north of Second Street owned by Mrs. Martha H. Raborn; Agreed to rename Country Club Drive to Country Club Road.

WITH ALL THIS TALK ABOUT Courthouse annex it might be a good idea for the County Commission to look over the courtroom today. Three buckets were filled with rain water at 10 a.m. The roof of the facility was repaired last year.

Casselberry 'Talks' Charter

Public interest in the proposed new Casselberry charter was represented by a mere half-dozen people at Monday night's meeting of the council and charter committee to discuss needed changes in the original draft before it is drawn into bill for presentation to the State Legislature. . . . Only one of the six present, Mrs. Edith Duerr, suggested any changes. Mrs. Duerr's main objection concerned articles of taxation giving the council power to impose any form of taxes needed to finance major improvements, except ad valorem taxes, without coming before the people in a referendum. . . . Her insistent and argumentative presentation drew responsive fire from some members of the council and resulted in Chairman Edward Lunn closing the floor to anyone but the council and committee until the charter in its entirety had been read and considered. . . . Lunn pointed out to Mrs. Duerr that the council is elected by the people to manage the town business and that those elected should be able to do so without having to bring every matter to a public vote. . . . "What you are wanting is for us to write clauses in the charter which would allow you, the voter, to relax your vigilance in electing a council. If you put the 'right' kind of people in office you won't have to worry about the 'wrong' kind of action being taken," he stressed. . . . "I believe that points you are raising could be brought to suit by any taxpayer if a council should pass action you are questioning. You're asking that we limit powers which definitely should be in the hands of the council," he emphasized.
