

Former Prisoner Tells Of Nazi Death Brigade

JERUSALEM (UPI) — An American Jew told today how the Nazi forced him for two days to search through 182 corpses for his own body. He had been on the death list, escaped and had been recaptured under another identity.

Dr. Leon Wells, 36, of Fort Lee, N. J., was a man with a charmed life. Monday he told how he had a shovel in his hand and was digging his own grave when a Nazi SS officer detailed him to go back to the concentration camp and bring a corpse for burial.

While he was dragging the corpse toward the grave he slipped away, joined a band of nearby laborers and finally escaped from the camp.

Later he was recaptured, taken under a different name to the same camp and put to work in a "death brigade" charged with destroying all evidence of the Nazi extermination of the Jews.

"At one time," Wells said, "I was employed in exhuming a mass grave of the 182 persons with whom I had been condemned to death the preceding year. We spent two days looking for the missing body, which, of course, was mine since I was listed as dead."

Adolf Eichmann, sitting in the bullet proof glass box, stared at Wells with an unbelieving expression on his face. It seemed incredible that any man could walk up so often to the dark chasm of death and each time be pulled back into the sunlight of life.

But Wells, frequently consulting notes, documented every incident and told his story in a quiet, unemotional voice.

He is the sole survivor of 76 Polish Jews and one time, in the depths of despair, he decided it wasn't worth while going on. He had just received word that the Nazis had murdered his mother.

"I attempted suicide by cutting my veins," Wells said. "A neighboring doctor, my uncle, saved me. He said it was forbidden to commit suicide since one of us must remain to bear the name of the family."

Defense counsel Robert Servatius attempted to block Wells' testimony at the opening of court today. He challenged it on the ground that it was irrelevant because at no point did it directly connect Eichmann with the incidents the witness described.

The court of three Israeli judges gave lengthy and careful consideration to the objection and then ruled against him on the grounds that it was part of the general pattern of Nazi persecution.

Wells said one of the grim jokes of the Nazi was to force the Jews in the concentration camps to organize bands and orchestras. There were 60 pieces in the band in his camp, he said, and its duties were to play whenever Jews were taken out to be shot.

"We had to sing on the way to work," Wells said, "and the man in charge of the cremation was costumed as a devil, with his cargo hook in his hands at the head of the procession."

Local Legislators Move To Corral Votes To Override Race Track Veto

Sen. Bernard Parrish and State Reps. Mack Cleveland Jr. and Gordon Frederick moved in high gear today in an attempt to corral enough votes to override Gov. Farris Bryant's veto of a bill authorizing a harness racing track for Seminole County.

Cleveland said that Parrish is expected to bring the bill back into the Senate either today or Thursday in an effort to get the necessary two-thirds vote to override the veto.

The bill cleared the Senate early in the session by a 23-12 vote and passed the house by only token opposition, 73-14, Cleveland said.

Cleveland said he expects it to be a close battle.

According to Cleveland, Bryant opposed the bill on the grounds that establishment of the track would extend legalized gambling in Florida.

The Seminole track would have been activated by a previous racing commission permit which was voided on a technicality by the courts, Cleveland said.

Gov. Bryant also vetoed the racing track bill for Broward County on the same grounds.

Laos Reds Order Cease Fire

TOKYO (UPI)—The pro-Communist rebels of Laos ordered troops to cease fire today and called for an immediate truce meeting at the front with pro-Western forces.

Communist North Viet Nam relayed the announcement through Radio Hanoi but there was no immediate confirmation directly from Laos that the fighting had stopped.

Communist Pathet Lao troops ignored their own leaders' call for a cease fire today and attacked Muong Phalane, a key town in south central Laos on the main road to Viet Nam.

In London, a Foreign Office spokesman said Britain was not able to confirm the announcement immediately because "our communications with Hanoi are not too good." He added that the broadcast, "if true, is just what we have been waiting and hoping for."

A dispatch from UPI Correspondent Arthur Dommen in Vientiane late Tuesday said there had been an initial contact between government and rebel representatives at Ban Khy, resulting in a local cease-fire, but it had not yet spread to other areas.

Dommen said the Ban Khy cease-fire prompted the United States to hold up any new military or diplomatic moves against the rebels.

Radio Hanoi today broadcast orders to the rebel troops from Capt. Kong Le, the young paratrooper captain who revolted against the pro-Western government last August, and Khampay Siphonane, leader of the insurgent Pathet Lao forces.

Kong Le told his troops to stop firing as of 8 p. m. Tuesday. The broadcast was made several hours after that time had passed. The government of Premier

Prince Boun Oum and Gen. Phoumi Nosavang have been pressing the rebels for a truce since Britain and Russia, as chairmen of the 1954 Geneva conference on Indochina, called for one a week ago Monday. But the rebels kept fighting and have made considerable gains in the past week.

Kong Le claimed for himself the title of "commander in chief of the royal Laotian army" and recognized neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma as legitimate premier of the Laotian government.

He said the cease-fire would create "favorable conditions" for the proposed 14-nation conference to open May 12 in Geneva to decide the political future of Laos.

King Savang Vatthana of Laos has recognized the Boun Oum regime as the only legitimate government of Laos. He told Cambodian Prince Norodom Sihanouk over the weekend he planned to call the Laotian Legislature into session May 12 to decide the country's political future and would have nothing to do with the Geneva conference.

State Department officials said today it was urgent that the three-nation International Control Commission proceed from India to Laos as quickly as possible to verify the reported cease-fire.

Officials welcomed news reports that the rebel leaders had ordered their forces to hold fire. But they cautioned against too much optimism until there has been some official investigation and verification.

Authorities here said they had no official confirmation that widely dispersed rebel forces had obeyed the cease-fire orders on all fronts.

They expressed confidence that Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru would make every effort to get the control commission into Laos as quickly as possible. Besides India, the commission includes Canada and Communist Poland.

GEORGE CAMERON Wins Art Award

The Sanford Art Assn. Summer Art Camp Scholarship has been awarded to George Cameron, a Seminole High School senior.

The scholarship sends a high school student each year to the summer art camp at Florida State University. The winner is chosen on the basis of three completed pictures and an essay explaining why the entrant would like the experience.

Two local and three out of town judges named Cameron the winner this year. One of the judges said "one of the pictures submitted by the winner could be considered a masterpiece."

Cameron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cameron, 204 Hays Dr., has studied art in high school under supervision of Joe Mathieux and also has attended night classes in art on a voluntary basis.

Interested in art since childhood, Cameron has done all the color schemes and furniture arrangement in the family's home and also works in the garden.

His other activities include the high school glee club in which he is one of the soloists.

Cameron is the second student to be sent to the summer course by the art association. Last year's winner, Lucy Moughton, termed it a great aid in her art studies.

Astronaut May Go Friday

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—Friday now is the tentative new date for America's first attempt to rocket a man safely through the space barrier, it was learned today.

The shot could have been rescheduled for Thursday but Project Mercury directors wanted to give Cdr. Alan B. Shepard an extra day's rest following his tense hours of waiting Tuesday.

The weather appeared to be improving and Friday looked like the best bet for another try. Partly cloudy, cooler weather with light variable winds was expected.

Tuesday's scheduled shot could have come off except for heavy cloud formations and rough seas which officials feared might interfere with recovery of the capsule in the Atlantic splash area 80 miles from Grand Bahama Island.

It appeared that Shepard was affected very little by the long buildup and the quick letdown. Outwardly, he expressed nothing more than disappointment that he had missed the ride.

The 37-year-old Navy commander had been laced into his silvery, 20-pound space suit after a break fast of filet mignon, scrambled eggs and orange juice. But when the postponement came, he had not yet begun the move to Pad 3 to squirm into the bell-shaped capsule atop the Redstone rocket.

When it was called off, Shepard swallowed a snort of brandy, unclashed his space suit, donned neatly tailored sports clothes and shook hands with a group of congressmen — members of the House and Senate space committees.

"Commander Shepard's outward emotions indicated that he was not too disappointed," said Rep. R. Walter Riehlman, (R-N.Y.). "But I am certain he wished the firing had taken place as originally scheduled."

Riehlman added later that attention given to the attempt to lift Shepard 115 miles up and 290 miles out over the Atlantic has all other Americans "on the edge of their seats."

One of the scientists who gave Shepard and the other six astronauts some of their early training in celestial navigation welcomed the postponement as an opportunity for the nation to pray for the astronaut's success.

"A small prayer of our good for that great guy who will make the first attempt may do much to bolster his moral and provide a more wholesome atmosphere of national consideration for the human element and of our everlasting faith," said Anthony Jenzo, director of Morshad Planetarium at Chapel Hill, N. C.

The astronauts got some of their navigational training at the planetarium.

If you think kids are hard to feed - try mockingbirds?

Supt. of Schools R. T. Milwede is in Tallahassee today to attend a state meeting of superintendents through Friday.

County Engineer Carlton Bliss, who goes on active military duty May 13 for two weeks is still trying to get additional help for his office. For the second week in a row, Bliss has asked for an assistant but again, the board wants more time to study the matter.

The County Commission will be guests of the Florida State Bank on May 16 and will tour the new facility and have lunch there.

There's a clock back in the center of town again.

A clock and temperature chart was installed on the Sanford Atlantic Bank this morning at a cost of approximately $7,500. It gives the new time and temperature every minute.

Kidnaper Kills Self As Police Close In

BRUNSWICK, Ga. (UPI)—A jobless tugboat, believed to have kidnaped and killed a 13-year-old babysitter, shot himself to death as police closed in on his hiding spot under a house.

The man was identified as Charles Trullit, 27, whose automobile in which he had taken the girl for a ride was found abandoned here early today, its seats covered with blood and pieces of female underclothing.

"It's too bad death came to Trullit before we could learn the whereabouts of the girl," officer

George Young of the Glynn County police said.

Police intensified a hunt for the girl from Brunswick to Jacksonville, where the husky man picked up the girl Tuesday night after she had completed a baby-sitting job.

A dozen police cars hemmed Trullit in after he was seen on foot near U. S. 17 about five miles north of Brunswick. Bloodhounds trailed him to a home whose occupants were away at the time.

As two Glynn County patrolmen cautiously approached they heard a shot. They found Trullit had killed himself with a single shot in the temple while crouching near a chimney under the house.

Glynn County Police Chief O.E. Burch said Trullit, alive when first reached, died en route to a hospital without uttering a word.

Trullit's car had been traced through its Florida license plates and connected with the girl's disappearance by the Duval County sheriff's office.

House Okays Legislation For Combined Voting Here

The House today gave its approval to permissive legislation for Sanford to use the county's voting registration books, State Rep. Mack Cleveland Jr., who introduced the measure, reported today.

The House has already given its approval for Sanford to use the County's tax roll if it desires.

The House Congressional Apportionment Committee expressed general dissatisfaction today with a Senate redistricting plan, but delayed crystallizing one of its own. The Senate committee, which has tentatively agreed on it of the 12 new districts, set Thursday afternoon for final action on its plan.

must redistrict the state to prevent from having at-large elections for the four new congressmen Florida will add in 1963. Rep. W. R. Scott of Martin said the Legislature could redistrict again in two years if it were not satisfied with this session's plan.

Collier Rep. James L. Walker said he was satisfied with the Senate plan which included DeSoto, Hardee, Sarasota, Manatee, Collier, Hendry, Monroe, Lee and Charlotte in one district.

Carpenters Union Protest County School Contracts

The Carpenters Union local of Seminole County Tuesday filed an official protest with the County Commission "on the way school contracts are being drawn up with outside labor."

In a letter to the commission, T. J. Michaels, recording secretary of Local 2378 said that the union is lodging an official protest because "outside labor is being used when local labor is available."

"We feel taxpayers in the county should be given preference over labor from other counties coming in," the letter stated.

Arthur Beckwith Jr., to turn the letter over to the school board. "We don't have any authority in this matter," District 3 Commissioner James P. Avery said today.

ST. PETERSBURG (UPI)—The motor vessel "Grand Rio" has picked up 13 survivors from a brigantine which sank Tuesday in the Gulf of Mexico with six lives lost, the St. Petersburg Coast Guard reported today.

The "Albatross," attached to Oceans Academy Limited, Darien, Conn., sank Tuesday about 9 a. m., 125 miles west of the Dry Tortugas, the Guard said.

The Guard here said it had no names of any of the passengers.

Commission Tables Longwood Project

For the fourth week in a row, the County Commission Tuesday again tabled action on paving Orange Ave., in Longwood.

"This is the last time I'll bring this up," District 3 Commissioner James P. Avery, who proposed the motion said, as commissioners voted by a 4-1 majority to hold off on whether to participate in the project.

The board wanted to table action until cost estimates could be made on two other projects in the county—Winter Park Drive-in-Casselberry and access road to the Jackson Heights School in Oviedo.

The board asked County Engineer Carlton Bliss to get cost estimates on the projects.

Freedom Fighter Tells Eichmann Judges Of Uprising

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI)—A woman "freedom fighter" wept on the witness stand today as she told how the Jews armed with home-made weapons rose against the Nazis in the Warsaw ghetto.

Mrs. Swia Lubotkin testified against Adolf Eichmann in a voice that mounted in anger occasionally as she told how the 500,000 Jews in the ghetto were reduced to 60,000 by starvation and deportation to the extermination camp of Treblinka.

She said the revolt came about when the Jews finally realized that their comrades who were removed from the camp and taken east were not being given new jobs, as the Nazis assured them, but were being gassed to death. A Pole named Hennik slipped into the ghetto one day, she said, and brought the news of the exterminations.

"At first nobody believed him," she said. "We could not comprehend that Germans would declare war and extermination on an entire race. When Hennik told the story to a rabbi who listened carefully, the rabbi said he thought Hennik was insane."

But by the spring of 1943, the witness testified, the Jews realized the bitter truth of what Hennik had told them and dropped all other activities and got ready to fight.

"On April 18 we heard that the German troops had surrounded the ghetto," Mrs. Lubotkin said. "We issued an alert. At midnight, Mordecai Anielewicz, commander of the ghetto, decided that all Jews who had no arms would go into the shelters and during the confusion of battle would try to escape to the forests."

"At dawn I saw thousands of Germans, well-armed, beginning to occupy the ghetto. There were 20 of us in an attic. We had a pistol, two rifles, some Molotov cocktails (bottles filled with gasoline) and some home-made bombs. As the Germans approached we threw our first bomb."

"We saw German blood pouring over the streets of Warsaw where so much Jewish blood had been, and there was rejoicing."

Business Briefs

JACKSONVILLE — Florida farmers must be encouraged to work toward the mass-production of top-quality and standardized fruits and vegetables if the state is to take full advantage of its land potential.

State Commissioner of Agriculture Doyle Conner outlined this program at a meeting with field buyers and executive personnel of Winn-Dixie Stores, Inc., which operates 532 supermarkets throughout the South.

"Not long ago it was my pleasure to talk with Mr. A. D. Davis, president of Winn-Dixie Stores," Commissioner Conner said.

"We both agreed that the consumer of all of our fruits and vegetables is my boss and your boss. We also agreed that one of the serious problems in marketing Florida products is the failure of planting on a schedule to avoid glut and also of not producing the product that is in demand."

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Kathleen Stafford.

Funeral services were scheduled to be held from Cox-Parker Funeral Home in Winter Park at 4 p. m. today with Rev. Grover Sewell of Sanford First Presbyterian Church officiating.

Burial was to follow in Glen Haven Memorial Park at Winter Park.

Mowing Is Important To Keep Lawn Growing

CECIL O. TUCKER, II
Mowing your lawn properly will go a long way toward making it the envy of your neighborhood.

Under average conditions, mowing, fertilizing, and watering are probably the most important elements in encouraging the growth of permanent lawn grasses and discouraging weeds.

It makes no difference what kind of mower you use—hand mower, power reel mower, or rotary-type power mower—but be sure it is sharp enough to cut the grass cleanly without bruising and tearing the leaves.

Rotary mower blades require frequent sharpening. This can be done with a steel file. On reel type mowers both the cutting edge of the bedknife and the reel blades should be sharp, and the reel should be set close enough against the bedknife to assure a clean cut.

Mowing height depends on the leaf texture of the grass. Bermuda grass and zoysia grass should be cut to a height of 1/2 to 1 1/4 inches to maintain fine-quality turf. Cut centipede and carpet at 1 1/4 to 2 inches; and on Pensacola Bahia and St. Augustine, adjust the height of cut at 2 to 2 1/2 inches.

All mowers can be adjusted for height of cut, but the means of adjustment depends upon the type of mower. On most rotary mowers height of cut is fixed by adjusting the wheels in holes or slots on the mower frame. On reel-type mowers, adjustment of the roller usually determines the height of cut. Make adjustments and check them on a flat surface such as a concrete walk or floor.

Whatever the height of your lawn, frequent mowing is important to avoid cutting off too much top at one time. Too heavy a cut is a shock to grass plants which weakens them and slows their growth. Also, if you remove a small amount of top-growth at one time, you can leave the clippings to disintegrate and add beneficial organic matter to the soil.

If clippings are heavy, however, they should be removed in order to lessen chances of smothering the grass and danger from disease problems.

Republicans Howling For Udall's Scalp

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Republicans howled for Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall's scalp today after reading a letter which tried to peddle oilmen $100 tickets to a Democratic dinner.

The letter, from oil executive J. K. Evans, asked oil and gas representatives to buy tickets for a fund-raising dinner May 27 honoring President Kennedy. Evans said Udall asked him to solicit the industry as a "personal favor."

Evans had admitted the mistake. Evans himself was not immediately available for comment.

Rep. William E. Miller (R-N.Y.) expected to be the next GOP national chairman, demanded that Kennedy fire Udall. He accused the secretary of "blackjacking" the oil and gas industry into buying the tickets.

Miller said this was not the first time Udall had used his office in a "grossly political manner."

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, (R-N. Y.) bombarded Udall with quips. Udall, he remarked, "may be the newest oil prospector in America but it looks like his gusher is about to backfire."

In fact, Keating said, Udall is "about to be boiled in oil." Sen. Winston L. Prouty, (R-Vt.) called on Kennedy to "take some definite action" against Udall, but didn't say what he thought it should be.

The Pennsylvania Dutch came originally not from the Netherlands, but from Switzerland and the Rhineland.

County Code Bill

The proposed county code bill now in committee in the house is apparently proving to be one of the most controversial bills ever to come before the legislature. Generally speaking, the content of this bill is good and has been long needed by the county government. It is a long step towards eliminating numerous special legislative acts and a step toward home rule.

However, the main danger is in the fact that authority is given to the county to levy real estate taxes, including homestead, tax for bonds, levy special assessments, levy service charges, countywide and including municipalities.

If functions are carried out under special districts and a municipality is included within a said district, the consent of the municipality is required. Also the county board can authorize functions without special districts and can regulate both inside and outside municipal boundaries many functions.

Municipalities must be exempt from coverage both from taxes, or other revenue sources, and from the services when the municipality is already providing the services. Further, that no franchise or other rights can be granted within municipal limits.

Both of the above conditions require the consent of the municipality in any and all cases.

The intent of the bill is to develop a uniform system of county government and to encourage municipalities to provide proprietary services in areas contiguous to cities.

We imagine this bill will be watered down by the time it comes out of committee and it will be hard to recognize.

Dr. Crane's

Worry Clinic

Dr. Morgan has gone "stale," to use an athletic term. He has lost his zest for medicine. And part of his trouble is due to his wife. He is a tense "race horse" personality, but she tries to make a draft horse out of him at home by nagging.

CASE H - 678: Morgan L., aged 38, is a very successful physician. "But I am losing my interest in medicine," he mourned. "It is no longer fun. Instead, I must drive myself to go to my office each day."

"And that is bad, for I always used to be enthusiastic about my work as a doctor."

"I'll admit, it may have started because I was under great financial strain. For when I got out of the army, I invested heavily in a swanky new house."

"But I am now out from under much of that worry for I have let a professional management concern handle my money matters, and it is doing a great job."

"So, Dr. Crane, what else is wrong with me? I have a very charming wife and three children and I love them."

"Dr. Morgan had been a very conscientious boy in his childhood. He always did his school work and tried to finish each task that came his way."

"He had developed the habit of trying to get things done quickly. It bothered him to have obligations hanging over his head."

"He had been more like the Federal Son, his home mortgage would not have worried him much. He kept wanting to clear the mortgage too soon."

"We must all adopt the 24-hour plan of Alcoholics Anonymous, or we are likely to feel oppressed at times and then become discouraged."

"Alcoholics Anonymous simply asks its members to stay sober 'one day at a time.' They don't get their sights even on 3 months or 6 months. No, they chop up their goal into short spans. For then they can feel they have registered a victory each night."

Jesus also reproved Martha for being too conscientious, especially about minor household chores. He urged her to imitate her sister Mary.

Dr. Morgan must thus try to mix a little fun with each day's tasks. He told me he worked long hours every day and took only a 2-week vacation late in summer.

Instead, he should occasionally surprise his wife and children by taking them to the movie. That helps mix fun with work. Every husband should have at least one date with his family per week, in addition to going to church with them on Sunday.

And to save energy make a list of your daily duties the night before. Include major items as well as minor tasks. Then cross them off as soon as you complete them.

When you finish today's quota don't cross your bridges ahead of schedule. Wait till tomorrow to tackle tomorrow's chores. Live for today.

Wives, if you are married to brain workers, please remember that your men are like race horses.

They are high strung. Their nerves are laid so when they come home tired at night, don't nag them about household chores. Don't try to make work horses out of them, for they are race horses.

Many men tell me they no sooner get into an easy chair than their wives scold them about storm windows or mowing the lawn, etc.

Don't irritate a "race horse" with draft horse chores.

If your husband is doing a good job handling his business or professional duties, let him set his own pace when he comes home.

ASKING FOR IT

From Rome

Henry McLemore

ROME—The most successful trick of the Russian propaganda machine, it seems to me, is the world atmosphere it has created in which Soviet conduct is judged by an entirely different yardstick than is used on the United States. It is an amazing double standard, and seems to be the vogue in practically all the nations of the earth. Certainly one gains this opinion if one reads the reactions of the world press to acts of the Soviets and our own country.

If Russia gives or lends money to a needy nation, it is hailed as a generous gesture, one aimed at making the recipient of the gift or loan a more self-sufficient one.

If the United States makes a gift or a loan, it is immediately looked upon, and referred to, as a selfish gesture, or as the opening wedge for the U. S. to gain control of the country.

When Soviet technicians move in to give advice to the workers of another land, they are hailed as big brothers, whose only hope is to better the industry, agriculture, and business of the small nation.

When American experts reach a foreign country, the world sees it as a sinister infiltration by the U. S., a loan of knowledge that is bound to corrupt and influence.

An American statesman can barely hint at his country's willingness to use force to preserve liberty and he is castigated as a rattler of the sword, a war-monger.

A Russian statesman—even the head one, with the power to make war all by himself—can come right out and threaten a rain of missiles, rockets and warheads without causing more than a ripple of criticism.

How was world opinion so cultivated?

How is it that the United States, by offering the Cuban invaders little more than sympathy, is branded by peoples all over the world as an active and full-fledged partner in an attempt to overthrow Castro?

Do people want to believe that? Are they blind to the facts? The Communists pour into Tibet, taking power and killing thousands, and unseating the religious head without as much criticism as the U. S. received for offering sympathy to a freedom force.

The world listens, and in many instances applauds, when Russia brands America as imperialist marauders; the same Russia responsible for Hungary, East Germany, Poland, and a dozen other countries.

Is the world cock-eyed that it will pay heed to an attack on the Free World in the United Nations by the delegate of a country which has enslaved hundreds of millions, and is working around the clock to enslave more?

In Geneva the Free World powers offer a nuclear inspection plan that would guarantee the impossibility of a sneak attack, and the Soviet delegate to the conference spurs it from top to bottom and suggests one that is farcical.

Yet the world doesn't stand up and brand the Soviets as liars, phonies, or anything of the sort. The whole set-up is weird, but not very wonderful.

Nothing the United States does toward peace and goodwill is appreciated. Why?

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Daily newspapers are still holding their own and even climbing as molders of political opinion, but television's influence is rising rapidly.

Introduction of the Kennedy-Nixon debates made TV dominant. But TV's gain came principally from radio's loss. Both radio and magazines had relatively minor influence on the election result.

These findings are the result of a scientifically selected poll of 1,500 U. S. adults conducted by a University of Michigan Survey Research Center team. The accuracy of such a small sampling among 68 million voters is, of course, open to question. But value of the survey is that similar polls were made in 1952 and 1956. So there is a continuity that reveals some trend in public opinion analysis.

These were the key questions asked the 1,500 people polled:

"We're interested in finding out whether people paid much attention to the election campaign. Take newspapers for instance—did you read about the campaign in any newspaper? How about radio—did you listen to any speeches or discussions? How about television—did you watch any programs about the campaign? How about magazines—did you read about the campaign in magazines?" Here are the results:

	1952	1956	1960
Reading newspapers	79%	69%	80%
Listening to radio	69	45	42
Watching television	53	74	87
Reading magazines	40	31	41

To get some measure of the relative influence of the four media on voters, the poll takers then asked this question: "Of all the ways of following the campaign, which one would you say you got the most information from—newspapers, radio, television or magazines?" Here are the results:

	1952	1956	1960
Newspapers	22%	24%	23%

Peter Edson's

Political Notebook

Radio 27 11 5
 Television 31 49 60
 Magazines 5 5 4
 Combination of media 9 3 3

Did not follow campaign 6 5 5

To null down the influence of the Kennedy-Nixon debates, the Michigan survey team of Ph.D.s under Director Angus Campbell, Philip E. Converse, Warren E. Miller and Donald E. Stokes made an elaboration on the above findings.

They show, in brief, that 21 percent of the people questioned did not see any of the debates on TV and that the previous opinions of 27 percent were not changed by the debates. That washes out 48 percent of the voters from TV influence.

Of the other 52 percent who saw the TV debates, 32 percent were pro-Kennedy and 18 percent were pro-Nixon to begin with. So only 2 percent were really influenced. And in this 2 percent, there was no net gain for either candidate. Net impact was nil.

This conclusion is supported by other questions asked in the survey to determine party loyalties in every national election from 1962 through 1960. It shows, in brief, that 27 percent considered themselves Republicans in both 1952 and 1960; 47 percent Democrats in 1952 as against 48 percent in 1960. Practically no change.

The so-called independents, including Independent Republicans and Independent Democrats were 22 percent in 1952, 23 percent in 1960. The real independents professing no leanings toward either party increased from 5 to 8 percent in the eight years. This indicates how relatively small is the independent vote which must be influenced to swing an election.

These findings bring out the point that most people vote their prejudices. Only 2 percent who were influenced by the TV debates, or the 8 percent who were independents really weighed the issues and tried to come to an intelligent decision.

These minorities are the people that all media of communication—newspaper, TV, radio and the magazines—have to aim at in trying to inform the public and mold opinion.

Pitching Paying Off For Pirates

United Press International
Okay (so they're not spectacular, but the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates are persistent and they're back on top again using last year's formula—pitching instead of power.

The peck-away Pirates are dead last in home runs in the National League with a meager total of seven. A team like the Giants hits more homers than that in one game.

But there's nothing wrong with the Pirates' pitching as southpaw Harvey Haddix plainly proved Tuesday night by shutting out the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-0, for Pittsburgh's fifth victory in the last six games.

It was a typical Pirate triumph. No home runs and only three extra base hits. One of those extra base hits, however, was a two-run double by Rocky Nelson that highlighted a three-run third inning. It was more than enough for Haddix and too much for Ernie Broglio, who went down to his third defeat as against a single victory.

Pittsburgh thus took over first place from San Francisco, which lost to Chicago, 9-4. Los Angeles outlasted Milwaukee, 11-9, and Cincinnati ran its winning streak to three games with a 3-2 decision over Philadelphia.

Detroit held on to the American League lead with a 6-3 win over Washington, while New York remained a game off the pace with a 10-inning 6-4 triumph over Minnesota. Baltimore edged Los Angeles, 7-6, Cleveland nipped Chicago, 3-2, in 11 innings, and Kansas City defeated Boston, 7-4. Don Cardwell won his third straight game for the Cubs by limiting the Giants to five hits, one of which was a two-run homer by Willie McCovey in the ninth. That gave the Giants 14 homers in three consecutive games, equaling the major league record.

Cardwell, who pitched a no-hitter against the Phillies last year, held the Giants hitless until pinch hitter Harvey Kuenn singled with two out in the sixth. Bill Williams hit a grand-slam homer off loser Jack Sanford and George Altman also homered for the Cubs, who scored all their runs in the first two innings.

The Dodgers won their game from the Braves with a six-run rally in the seventh inning. Five walks, an error and a wild pitch helped the Los Angeles rally. Frank Howard, Tommy Davis and John Roseboro homered for the Dodgers. Rookie Jim Golden was the winner and Ken Mackenzie the loser.

Vada Pinson's homer touched off a three-run fourth inning rally that carried the Reds to their victory over the Phillies. Loser Dallas Green paved the way for his own defeat with a two-run throwing error. Rookie Ken Hunt was credited with his second victory. He gave up all six of the Phil's hits before Jim Brosnan took over in the ninth.

Jim Bunning nailed down his first victory of the season for the Tigers although touched for 11 hits by the Senators. Norm Cash socked his fourth homer for Detroit and rookie Jake Wood contributed a pair of triples. Tom Sturdivant was the loser.

Mickey Mantle's grand-slam homers in the 10th inning broke up a tie between the Yankees and Twins. Mantle's eighth homer came off loser Camilo Pascual who nursed a 2-1 lead until Bill Skowron homered in the seventh. Harmon Killebrew hit his third homer for the losers. Jim Coates, who relieved starter Art Ditmar, was the winning pitcher.

Jim Gentile's fifth homer of the season off loser Tom Morgan in the ninth inning was the payoff blow in a battle of home runs between the Orioles and Angels at Los Angeles. Gus Triandos and Jerry Adair also hit homers for the Orioles while Earl Averill Jr., Ted Kluszewski and Leon Wagner connected for the Angels. Revere Hoyt Wilhelm gained his third straight victory without a loss.

Early Wynn of the White Sox had a 2-1 lead until the ninth when Don Dillard homered for Cleveland to send the game into extra innings. The Indians then won it at the expense of Russ Kemmerer in the 11th when Johnny Romano singled home Woodie Held from second base. Bellver Frank Funk was the winner.

Bud Daley struck out nine and registered eight Red Sox hits in registering his second victory for the Athletics. Pinch hitter Al Pizarik singled across two runs and Daley passed in another in a ninth-inning three-run rally that brought the A's from behind.

D'Amato Clarifies Heavyweight Picture

Floyd will begin training later this week at a new camp for another title defense this year. D'Amato did not disclose the location of the camp.

Three possible challengers are being considered by Patterson and D'Amato. Although their names were not disclosed, D'Amato stated emphatically they did not include top contender Sonny Liston of Philadelphia.

No negotiations are in progress, but when Patterson and D'Amato pick the challenger promoter Tom

Fastest Derby Trial Mark Set

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — The fastest derby trial in history—a mile victory by Crozier in 1:34 3-5—left turf fans wondering today if Whirlaway's Kentucky Derby record will be broken Saturday after 30 years on the books.

Mr. Longiall charged home in 2:01 2-5 in the Kentucky Derby in 1941. Although several good horses have come close to the record in the years since then, none was able to lower the mark set by the Calumet Farm steeple runner.

Crozier clipped two-fifths of a second off the trial record set by Hasty Road in 1934 in a demonstration of sheer speed that had the fans bawling and rival trainers shaking their heads in disbelief.

Surprisingly, however, it did not scare many of them out of the Kentucky Derby and about 15 horses now are expected to start in the 8th running of the first of the Triple Crown classics.

Crozier, owned by Fred W. Hooper, beat Four-and-Twenty from the Alberta Ranches by three and one-quarter lengths after a dazzling speed duel.

With Four - and - Twenty in the lead and Crozier forcing him all the way the first quarter was run in :22 3-5, the half in :44 4-8, and six furlongs in 1:08 2-5.

The rapid pace strung out the field in the stretch with the fast-closing Dr. Miller third, another four lengths farther back.

The first three to finish all will be back Saturday in the Kentucky Derby but He's A Pistol, owned by J. Graham Brown, seems to be out of it. The Louisville hotel owner still could have a starter in a second derby candidate, On His Metal, but chances of that appeared slim.

Chances Look Slim For Jensen To Change Mind About Playing

RENO, Nev. (UPI) — The door was open today for Jackie Jensen to return to the Boston Red Sox but that seemed about as probable as Ted Williams throwing a party for The Hub's baseball writers.

Red Sox vice president Dick O'Connell said in Boston Tuesday the team was going on the possibility of Jensen having a change of heart after his abrupt departure last Sunday.

"Personally, I doubt that he will," O'Connell added. "But if he should decide in the next few days to return — after he's had a chance to think things over — we're leaving the possibility open."

Jensen has until midnight of Wednesday, May 10, to come back. Then the club can drop him from the active list.

Hornets Nip Oviedo, 5-1

Bishop Moore socked Oviedo 5-1 in baseball action Tuesday. The Hornets banged out six hits in gaining the victory. Ken Sparks started on the mound for Oviedo and was relieved by Jim Courier.

CPO Takes BRL Contest

CPO defeated Rotary 4-2 in Babe Ruth League play Tuesday behind the five hit pitching of Phillips.

Dressen Not Yelling For Help.. Yet!

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — You'd expect Charlie Dressen of the Milwaukee Braves to start yelling "Help, help," after seeing his pitchers racked by the enemy in three successive games, and his outfielders — except for Hank Aaron — inept at the plate.

But cheerful Charlie muttered instead, "They'll get better," after the Los Angeles Dodgers edged the Braves in a five-way contest Tuesday night, 11-9.

Dressen has used 15 pitchers in these three games, and they have given up 32 runs, 41 hits, 16 homers, and 13 walks. The San Francisco Giants hit 13 of the homers in taking two of the three games, and the Dodgers bashed three Tuesday night.

The pitching breakdown reached its peak Tuesday night when three throwers gave up five walks and added a wild pitch to help produce six Dodger runs on only two hits in the seventh. And if the pitching troubles weren't enough, two-thirds of Dressen's outfield isn't hitting.

John Delirio, the former University of Wisconsin star, is hitting .177. Mel Roach and Wes Covington each .200 and Al Spangler and Lee Maye have .250 each. They batted in a total of only 10 runs all season.

Aaron is holding up his end, despite playing centerfield which he doesn't particularly cotton to, having played right most of the time.

He got a double and a single Tuesday night to raise his batting mark to .353. Aaron has batted in 16 runs.

The only pitcher who looks like the Braves of yesteryear is Warren Spahn, with a glittering .008 earned run average, a 2-1 record, and a no-hitter in his last start. He was out to get one of his frequent starts tonight against the Dodgers, the only club in the National League that holds a victory edge over him.

But Lew Burdette and Bob Buhl, the other members of the "big three," have taken their lumps. Burdette is carrying around a 6-25 e.r.a., and a 1-1 record, and Buhl has a 6.68 e.r.a. and is 0-2.

The relief pitching generally has been poor, also. Before the season started, Dressen and the Braves' brass said they had plugged the middle of the infield with veterans Frank Bolling at second and Roy McMillan at shortstop. They said the outfield would take care of itself, despite the loss of centerfielder Billy Bruton, who was traded for Bolling.

Fresco Thompson of the Dodgers, however, saw the Braves plugging one hole only to spring a leak elsewhere. "Like a leaky boat," he said.

Tampa Takes Over First In FSL

By United Press International
Tampa moved into undisputed first place in the Florida State League Tuesday night by crushing cellar-dwelling Leesburg 20-4. St. Petersburg split a doubleheader to drop to second place.

Tampa second baseman Pete Rose rapped out four hits to boost his average to .442. Leo Speca hit a three-run homer for the winners in the eighth inning.

St. Petersburg, which had shared a first-place tie with Tampa, dropped a notch by dividing games with Palatka and Orlando.

The Saints committed eight errors in losing the opener to Palatka 12-1, but got good pitching from lefty Dave Lenoch to win an 8-1 decision from Orlando. Lenoch allowed but three hits and struck out the side in the last inning.

In the other game, Daytona, Beach downed Sarasota, 11-8. Catcher Ken Eeles and third baseman Bill Takacs each had three RBIs for the Islanders.

Tonight's action includes Palatka at Daytona, Sarasota at St. Petersburg, and Orlando a doubleheader with Tampa and Leesburg.

Political Move

GLEN COVE, N. Y. (UPI) — Roy Campanella, whose baseball career with the Dodgers ended when he was paralyzed in an automobile accident, announced Tuesday he is willing to run for sheriff of Nassau County on the Democratic slate this fall.

An ultrasonic device may soon be used to expose "tough beef" live on the hoof.

Sports Fete

J. L. Markham, president of the Seminole High School Booster Club announced today that Gene Ellenson, assistant football coach at the University of Florida will be the speaker at the annual All-Sports Banquet to be held at the school cafeteria, May 16.

Ellenson, formerly defensive line coach at the University of Miami, starred at tackle while an undergraduate at the University of Georgia and played professional football before entering the coaching field at Miami Senior High School.

Head Coach Ray Graves of the U of F. attributes much of the success of the 1960 season to Coach Ellenson and others on the Gator's coaching staff.

The All-Sports banquet is annually the scene of the awarding of trophies to Seminole High School's outstanding athletes, climaxed by the naming of the best all-round athlete, winner of the Whitley McLucas award. Coach McLucas' widow, donor of the trophy, is expected to be present again this year to witness the award.

The All-Sports banquet is to begin at 7 p. m. Tickets are available from Booster Club members, Markham, John Schirard, Clifford McKibbin, Gordon Bradley and Fred Gamas.

The Tallahassee branch was established in 1960 under the management of Harold E. Bergman. Associated with Bergman are Norman Shipley and Mrs. Carl Fulford, at 207 East Park Ave.

Security Associates, Inc. has grown from its original four employees to thirty-four. A special dinner was given all the staff at the Winter Park Racquet Club Thursday. Also at this function were Oliver Grace and David Grace, senior and managing partners of Sterling, Grace & Co.

Gade is a director of Hutson, Rhodes, Inc., Jacksonville, Nuclear Research Chemicals, Orlando, Electro-Mechanical Systems, Inc., Titusville, and Southern American Fire Co., Miami.

At the dinner, Gade announced with regret the retirement of Kenneth W. Osborne, executive vice president of Security Associates, who would now spend his full time with Electro-Mechanical Systems, Inc., of which he is secretary-treasurer.

"The growth of E. M. S. and the complicated nature of its contracts and financial program have made it essential that Mr. Osborne, an expert in this field, be with the

BROWNIE TROOP 106
Brownie Troop 106 met with such enthusiasm at the Girl Scout Fair last week presenting their Hula "Little Brown Girl", that Thursday morning they repeated the dance at the Lake Mary School especially for Mrs. Tillis' 5th grade which is studying "Hawaii."

However the auditorium was filled to capacity with first graders from the rooms of Mrs. Mantree, Mrs. Turner, Mrs. Cochran and Mrs. Hampton, Mrs. Smith's and Miss Snyder's third graders and Mrs. Webster's and Mrs. Ruby's sixth grade classes.

The hula dancers were costumed in gay sarongs, leis and brilliantly colored grass skirts, and a hibiscus blossom was tucked in their hair. Being back stage was a new and thrilling experience for most of these girls but not one case of stage fright was apparent.

Appearing in the dance were Ella Boutwell, Carin Chapman, Iris, Dominey, Cathy Dunn, Deborah Goers, Candy Hartwig, Susan Hartwig, Linda Kilpatrick, Kathy Kimmons, Jan McCracken, Donna Manfre, Phyllis Mitchell, Jay Morrison, Patti Parsons, Peggy Rabun, Patti Ray Riley, Elizabeth Rogers, Patty Rowell, Diane Sorokowsky, Barbara Tamms, Lucia Wallace and Beth Williams.

Leaders of Brownie Troop 106 are Mrs. Olan Boutwell and Mrs. Alvin Kilpatrick.

BROWNIE TROOP 218
Brownie Troop 218 has a new leader, Mrs. Lewis D. Tamny, who took over the group when the former leader Mrs. Norma Bone was transferred.

In spite of their difficulties, the troop entered the Girl Scout Fair and exhibited their work.

Recently they inducted three new members, who were Susan Adams, Becky McMillan and Janet Ross.

The troop meets at Mrs. Tamny's home on East Second St. with the aid of assistant leader, Mrs. Frances Roberts.

Other members of the troop are Janice Baggerly, Suzanne Brown, Anna Kanavel, Mary Pat Kirtley, Anna Lee Moore, Kathy Munson, Sylvia Parker, Diane Roberts, Deanna Sawyers, Susan Southward, Chris Van Winkle, Kathy Tamny and Lakey Tamny.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I want to know if I am obligated to pay a physician $3 for a note I wrote renewing my prescription. I wrote him a card asking him to please renew a prescription I once had. A few days later, the prescription paper came (not the medicine) along with this bill for $3 for "professional services."

I have a good mind to ignore his bill, but I want to know first if you think I should pay it. AMAZED

DEAR AMAZED: Write him a note and ask him if it is his policy to charge $3 for this type of service. You will probably find that an error was made in his office. All ethical professional people welcome the opportunity to clear up misunderstandings such as this. If not, inform the medical society in your area.

DEAR ABBY: My husband has been leaving for work earlier and earlier every morning, until now he is leaving the house at 4:30 a. m. to get to a job that starts at 7:30. We live less than two miles from where he works, so it isn't necessary to get this early a start.

When I mention it to him he gets a very guilty look on his face and changes the subject. He isn't nearly as loving as he used to be, and he's tired and moody all the time. I think there is someone else, but I can't prove anything. I am 33 and he is 35. We have four children and I don't want to break up my home no matter what. What should I do? SUSPICIOUS is acting very suspiciously — but don't jump at any conclusions. Have him checked. If the news is bad, talk it out with him.

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: Your husband

DEAR ABBY: I didn't expect the honeymoon to last forever, but should it be over in six months?

Last night I came home from work and went directly to the kitchen where my wife was preparing dinner. I put my arms around her and she pulled away saying, "Excuse me, I have to watch the potatoes." I tried to humor her, so I said, "Honey, you get prettier every day." All she said was, "What did you have for lunch?"

I brought her a little gift, she looked at it and asked, "How much did they soak you for this?"

She just isn't the sweet girl I married, and I can't figure out what is wrong. Can you help me? YOUNG HUSBAND

DEAR YOUNG: Don't let these little disappointments pile up. Ask her what's bothering her. And don't take "nothing" for an answer.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "REFORMED": Congratulations. Two months is an excellent beginning.

Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Tahitian Lanquor Envelops Marlon

By ERKINE JOHNSON

Hollywood Correspondent

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA) — Signs of spring were everywhere—the fragrance of blossoms, the chirping of the birds—and the middy snoring of Marlon Brando.

The snoring, from behind his dressing room door, was more of a series of mumbles and at first we thought maybe he was just rehearsing his lines aloud to himself. "No, he's tired and he's asleep," his man Friday, old schoolmate Bob Hoskins said.

Then Hoskins added, "I've known Marlon for 23 years now and I've never dared wake 'im up. He has to be ready for the camera soon, however."

So while Marlon snored, we waited and watched the other activity on the set of "Mutiny on the Bounty." It was nice waiting—there was a palm tree-lined Tahitian lagoon. It was also lined with gorgeous saronged Tahitian dolls with flowers in their hair and wiggles in their hips and anyone who would start a mutiny here would be plain nuts.

It was nice waiting, indeed, and we sort of resented Hoskins' tap on the shoulder and his words, "I think Brando's awake. The door is open. Why don't you stick your head in?"

So we stuck our head in the dressing room and let the body follow.

Brando was prostrate, with one eye barely open, on a couch. He started to get up, then fell back as if he'd just been hit by a truck. He yawned and said, "I'm so tired."

Well, it turned out to be an 18-year yawn interview. But I must say we covered a lot of territory. Even when he's half asleep, Brando is brighter than a good many stars when they are wide awake.

He had been stilled artistically, he indicated, when Paramount took over the final cutting of "One-Eyed Jacks," which he directed, starring himself. It's a slick western, as we've said before, and as commercial as popcorn.

Falconry, like archery, goes far back into antiquity. Chinese appear to have practiced the sport some two thousand years ago.

"It's a potboiler now," he said "but (yawn) most movies are potboilers, aren't they? The movie industry is (yawn) just a business—a good picture (yawn) is just one that makes money."

He would have cut the film "differently," he said, using (yawn) "different takes," and "creating a different over-all mood."

He'll try directing again, he said. "I'm very grateful (yawn) for the experience. It was a great experience working as I did as actor, director and (yawn) part-time writer. But it was really exhausting—like 20 hours a (yawn) day."

No, he wasn't the heavy behind the switch in directors on "Mutiny." He didn't become involved in the hassle which placed Lewis Milestone at the helm, replacing Sir Carol Reed. "I," he yawned, "stayed out of it because I like both Reed (yawn) and Rosy." (The film's producer, Aaron Rosenberg.)

Worried about following Clark Gable as Mr. Christian?

"Gable was marvelous (yawn) in a lot of movies but he was just another fellow (yawn) in a funny hat in 'Mutiny on the Bounty.' But, you know, I'd wonder about a remake of 'Gone With the Wind' or following Charles Laughton as Captain Bligh in this film (a chore which is distressing Trevor Howard)."

We The Women:

By Ruth Millet

Children who have been separated from their friends by time and distance pick up the friendship right where they left off the minute they are reunited.

It's not that simple for grown-ups. They have a certain formula which is supposed to bridge the gap of time and distance. They have to say in words how glad they are to see each other. They have to go through the "you're looking fine" routine. They have to ask politely about each other's families. They have to apologize for not having been better about writing. And by the time they've done all that they really begin to feel like strangers, struggling to make conversation.

Why not learn from the children? They don't try to build any bridge across the past. They just look at each other, grin and pick up where they left off.

If we could manage their technique, meeting friends we haven't seen in a long time wouldn't be so awkward and dull.

There's good reading for husbands (and wives) in "Happier Wives (hints for husbands)." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millet, Reader Service, c/o The Sanford Herald, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

DOWN

- 2 Medley

The bidding started out the same way at both tables with a no-trump by West; two spades by North; six diamonds by East; and six spades by South.

At one table West looked at his two diamonds and put in a prompt double. Every one passed and North was set five tricks, for a 900 point loss.

At the other table West was made of sterner stuff. He decided that seven diamonds might well make and instead of doubling West passed and left the decision about seven to his partner.

East bid seven diamonds all right and when it got back to North he went to seven spades. East doubled that and picked up 1100 and a net profit of 200 points, or five IMPs for his side.

How could East and West have reached seven no-trump for the maximum? All East would have had to do would be to pass over North's seven spades. In that case West might have tried the no-trump grand slam. I say, might have tried because I rather feel that he would have settled for the sure profit and doubled.

Byrd Warns Government On Token Mixing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Harry F. Byrd, (D-Va.), today warned that the government's attempt to pry open the public schools in Prince Edward County, Va. was just a token example of what would happen if Congress passed a federal aid-to-education bill.

Byrd, in a speech prepared for Senate delivery, said an injunction filed by the attorney general which would prevent Virginia from supporting its schools as long as those in Prince Edward are closed was "fantastic and completely unrealistic."

"If non-elected federal officials will go to the extremes they are applying in Virginia now," he said, "who can imagine the ruthlessness of federal bureaucrats with the power of the federal purse to force their domination over the schools."

Byrd said the aid to education bill was "offensive" because of federal control over public schools and excessive federal spending.

"The language in the bill is clear," Byrd said, "but I completely disagree with those who think it will prevent federal domination in vital areas of public education."

"Those relying on these provisions as safeguards against federal school control will be booby-trapped," he added.

REPUBLICAN CLUB OFFICIALS taking part in the DeBary Club meeting Friday night were from left, Thornton Smith, president of the local group; Fred R. World Population Explosion Creates Problems

By LEON DENNEN
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. — (NEA) — The population of the world will pass three billion in 1961. This is the grim, explosive situation that lies behind President Kennedy's massive foreign aid program.

The United Nations, which makes the three billion estimate, also forecasts that, by the year 2000, the figure will be doubled.

Yet, even today, more than 65 per cent of the earth's population lives at the barest subsistence level. Several million people die each year of malnutrition. Hunger makes life little more than a drab search for food over large areas of Asia, Africa and Latin America.

Aside from purely humanitarian consideration, hunger is a serious threat to the West's survival. Where large numbers of people are inadequately nourished, the stability of the distressed countries where they live is jeopardized. In a world growing smaller, such centers of unrest are a danger to the other parts of the world.

The distressed areas are especially fertile ground for Communist propaganda.

The world's depressed areas also present a grave economic problem to the highly industrialized countries of the West.

Because technical progress in the industrialized states is taking place at an ever increasing rate, there is already a problem as to where to find markets for the goods produced.

For example, India, with its population of 400 million, buys no more from the United States than does highly industrialized Switzerland with a population of only five million.

Yet the U. S. is India's largest source of supply.

Industrial production in the underdeveloped countries has increased only five per cent since the end of the last war. But the increase in the industrialized countries of the West has been 45 per cent.

Thus the gap between the rich and poor nations becomes wider and provides all the elements for an unstable international economic situation.

It is precisely in the famine areas that the population is increasing most rapidly. The highest rate of growth is in Latin America. But the countries in Asia and Africa are not far behind.

Of course, large families are traditional in many of the new independent countries and are even considered a blessing. But the reason for the population increase also is due to the increasing availability of modern medicine and medical care supplied mostly by the West in competition with Soviet Russia. As a result, infant mortality has dropped and the life span is longer than before.

But it is in these incomplete and inadequate blessings of Western civilization that seeds of Communist revolution are contained. As the UN survey noted, "the additional years that modern society now bestows on man are unhappy ones."

Aid to the underdeveloped countries is no longer a question of charity which can be measured or even justice which can be put off indefinitely. Raising their standard of living is the only means by which the free world can check Communist expansion and assure its own political and economic survival.

The leaders of the former colonial countries are working under the pressure of time to show to their people that independence can lead to economic improvement.

Unless the non-Communist industrialized countries assist them with technical knowledge, capital and by utilizing their own energies in moving toward social and economic development, they will become easy prey for Russia and Communist China.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF
A minor auto mishap brought a traffic cop on the run. He found an irate male motorist jutting away with the even more irate female driver of the other vehicle involved in the accident. The cop pulled the male motorist aside and whispered, sympathetically, "If I was you, Bud, I'd settle here and now. After all it's just your wad against thousands of hers!"

DeBary Choisters To Close Season

The DeBary Choisters soon will bring their busy season to a close.

Last Friday the group sang at Hopkins Hall in Lake Helen for the County Home Demonstration Clubs meeting and on Sunday presented another program at the DeBary Baptist Church.

Tuesday, the Choisters gave a program at the Community Methodist Church for the WSCS meeting in the social hall.

During the season, members have sung at the DeBary Mansion House for the Florida Federation of Art; the Volusia Nursing Home and the Lutheran Retirement Center in DeLand; the DeBary Opera Club; twice for the DeBary Women's Club; twice for the DeBary Home Demonstration Club and twice each for the Baptist and the Methodist churches.

The Choisters are directed by Laura Platt Brown with Mrs. Perry B. James as accompanist.

Mosquitoes

Mississippi River floodwater mosquitoes lay their eggs on a stream bank where they cannot hatch until floods raise water over them. Some eggs may wait years before the waters return.

Yankee whalers charted hundreds of islands in the South seas during the 19th century.

Cuban City Proclaims Itself 'Socialistic'

MIAMI (UPI) — Radio Havana said today the city of Sagua de Tanamo has proclaimed itself Cuba's first "socialist municipality" in line with Premier Fidel Castro's declaration that his country is "socialist" — like its Communist allies.

It was not immediately certain what changes were being made in the government of Sagua. It is a remote community near the north coast of Oriente Province, 75 miles from Cuba's eastern tip.

The Castroite radio reported with insults to Tuesday's U. S. statement comparing Castro to European dictators Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini and declaring that he has made Cuba a full-fledged member of the Communist bloc.

A Havana broadcast said state department spokesman Lincoln White, who made the statement, is a "cynical and shameless parrot."

"The people of Cuba have a government which suits them, no matter what the big parrot says," the broadcast said.

Castro himself said in a May Day speech the people like his government so much there is no call for elections.

The official radio reported the arrival in Havana of food shipments from the United States and Chile.

A broadcast said the U. S. freighter Joseph R. Parrot docked in the Cuban capital with a load of butter and "much other cargo." It reported also the arrival of a ship from Valparaiso carrying nearly 2,000 tons of seasoning and other cargo.

Radio Havana also repeated the charge that the United States is preparing to sound out other Latin American nations on the prospects for united action against Castorita Cuba.

Attendance Heavy At 'Art Gallery'

A steady stream of lookers have passed to view the interesting exhibits at the "Art Gallery" being presented by the elementary art teachers of the county.

On display are the choice works of the Seminole County school children ages six through 12 in grades one through six.

The materials that can be used to create pictures and figures, are all simple and easy to obtain, but show the creativity that is present in artistically minded children, many to a much greater degree than might be expected.

One interesting exhibit, is a base relief map of Seminole County, done in plaster. Green plaster shows the land, with blue for the lakes; Lake Monroe, Lake Harney, Puzzle Lake, Lake Mary etc. and little houses to designate the location of Sanford, Lake Mary, Fern Park, Oviedo, Longwood, Geneva and all the other communities in the county. A clay bridge reaches over Lake Monroe, (the new bridge of Interstate 4) and a paper slide indicates Sanlando Springs. The main roads are marked with black paint.

A slow motion movie has been constructed by Sid Winklers room at Pincrust, with pictures of circus animals on a continuous sheet viewed through a window cut in a gaily decorated box, with handles to turn the "film."

The "Dogwood Hotel" has a sign over the door, saying "No People Allowed" and is full of paplar mache dogs, leaning out of all the windows. This is a production of Mrs. Colbert's room at Southside.

In another exhibition, a large drawing of a chicken is completely covered in real chicken-feathers and in another scene, drawings of people are clothed in dresses and suits made of real cloth.

Raise For Judges
TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A bill introduced in the Senate Wednesday would pay circuit judges up to $20,000 annually from the State and prohibit counties from supplementing their salaries as is the present practice. The state, under the bill introduced by Sen. Dewey Johnson of Quincy, would start each judge at $17,500 annually instead of the present $13,500. It would increase the salaries $1,000 for each five years of service up to $20,000.

Road Improvement Meet Set Monday

A meeting to discuss rights of way for improving Bear Lake Road will be held Monday night at 8 p. m. at the Florida Power Lounge in Bear Lake, County Engineer Carlton Bliss said today.

Chances Brighten For Astronaut To Go Friday

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Officials said today chances are good that America's first astronaut will hop into space Friday morning.

Lt. Col. John P. Powers, information officer of the Mercury man-in-space project, said: "The weather man tells us that it looks like the weather will be clear enough for us to go."

Prime astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr. and the Redstone rocket which will shove him and his mercury cabin into space also were ready.

Barring a weather change for the worse, the shot could come at 8 a. m. Friday. Shepard will be fired 115 miles up and 290 miles down the Atlantic missile range in a 15-minute ride marking America's first venture into space. That forecast was for his jumping off place here. Weather in the planned target area 290 miles southeast of the Cape was somewhat more questionable.

Although squalls downrange remained a possibility, weather experts said the sea "should remain relatively calm." But Florida weather is tricky, and downrange it is even more so. The condition of skies late today and tonight should decide.

The man and his space machine are ready. Should officials of the $500 million Project Mercury program decide "go," tons of fuming liquid oxygen and denatured alcohol will be poured into the stomach of a modified Redstone rocket shortly after midnight.

If all goes well, Shepard will put on his silvery space suit, climb into a 1½ ton Mercury capsule atop the rocket and thunder into space for a 15-minute space flight 8½ hours later. Success would put America just a half-step behind Russia in the manned conquest of space.

Holzappel Gets Death Sentence

WEST PALM BEACH (UPI) — Floyd A. (Lucky) Holzappel was sentenced to death in the electric chair Wednesday for the Chillingworth murders.

Circuit Judge Russell O. Morrow told the balking, 38-year-old ex-convict he committed a crime which "not only shook the county and the state, but mankind everywhere."

Holzappel, who confessed he was hired by Joseph A. Peel, Jr., to kill circuit Judge C. E. Chillingworth in 1955, covered his mouth with his left hand when Morrow passed sentence. He said nothing. He and Negro Moonshiner George (Bobby) Lincoln, who was granted immunity for his testimony in Peel's trial, said they drowned Chillingworth and his wife at sea in June, 1955. Peel is under a life sentence for hiring the assassins.

Before sentence was passed, two Florida Sheriff's Bureau agents told the court Holzappel's confession had been "invaluable" in the prosecution of Peel, a former judge in West Palm Beach. Sheriff's Bureau investigators, working with undercover agents who were friends of Holzappel, cracked the Chillingworth case last fall by recording Holzappel's account of the slayings to his friends in a motel at Melbourne, Fla.

Bryant Tells 'Sick' Counties: Get On Ball, Solve Own Woes

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Farris Bryant today turned thumbs down on recommendations that the state put up an additional $24 million to prevent a possible public school financial crisis in many counties.

Bryant said the counties got themselves into the dilemma by refusing to hike property values to bring in more tax money. They can bail themselves out, he said.

He said he has made a thorough study of the state financial situation, and still is confident the Legislature can balance the budget without new taxes.

Bryant said the action of Comptroller Ray Green, who recently cut his estimate of anticipated tax revenue from $772 million to $750 million for the next two years, has not changed his stand.

"I have made a thorough review and the situation is even better than I thought it would be," he contended.

Without any adjustments of tax inequities, Bryant said, the Legislature can easily finance within anticipated income all but $9.1 million of the spending program he recommended at the start of the session.

And with bills to eliminate inequities and tighten enforcement, now making their way through the Legislature, he said, the entire program can be financed. Bryant said he does not feel there is any real crisis in the public school program which counties cannot avert by following the law and raising their property values.

School forces told an appropriations subcommittee Wednesday that even a reassessment would not raise enough money in some counties to qualify them for their full share of state funds under the minimum foundation program, but Bryant said today he has information that this is not true.

The problem has resulted from reassessments in some counties pushing up the total contributions to schools required of all counties. Bryant said every county knew this would happen and had ample time to do something about it.

"Those counties are just going to have to get on the ball," he said. If any county is forced to shut down their schools — and Bryant said this was not going to happen — "it would be their own fault and their own responsibility."

Bryant denied reports he has a secret agreement with legislators to call them back in special session to raise taxes this fall.

He reiterated, however, that he would not hesitate to call a special session if it appeared the vital interests of the state would otherwise be sacrificed. Pressure is continuing to mount on the legislators to find new sources of revenue.

Bryant Actively Fighting Move On Racing Veto

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Gov. Farris Bryant said today he is actively fighting attempts to override his veto of two harness racing bills.

Bryant said he called "two or three senators" to his office Wednesday to let them know he very much wanted his veto sustained on the bills to establish harness tracks in Broward and Seminole counties.

Sponsors of the bills have served notice they will attempt to pass the bills over his objections and have worked day and night since the veto Tuesday to corral the two-thirds vote necessary to override.

Bryant denied "rumors" he had told the sponsors of the Broward track before the session that he would not veto the bill if it passed the Legislature.

He said he was offered assistance in his campaign for governor if he'd promise not to veto the Broward track. "I refused and I did not get the assistance," he said.

House Committee Kills Beer Bill

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The House Temperance Committee today killed a bill to ban sale of beer and wine in groceries and drug stores by a 6-2 vote, after learning it would also apply to fishing camps.

House Gets Stiff Citrus Theft Bill

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A Senate Judiciary Committee today approved and sent to the floor a measure setting strict penalties on stealing citrus from groves.

Introduced by Sen. Bernard Parrish of Titusville, the bill would set a fine of up to $2,000 or imprisonment up to five years for theft of more than $50 worth of fruit.

The penalty for taking less than $50 worth would be a fine of up to $1,000 and/or a jail term of up to one year.

The committee approved a bill setting the maximum fine of polluting the Peace River at $10,000. The measure increased the penalty from $500 and eliminated a minimum fine of $500.

CASSELBERRY MAYOR Joseph I. Laird, seated, Mrs. Richard Joyce and Fire Chief Paul Bates look over a brand new map of the town which will be included in the new city directory to be compiled and published under sponsorship of The Casselberry Volunteer Fire Dept.

Guns Quiet In Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, the pro-Western military strongman of Laos, said today both sides have halted military action in this troubled Asian kingdom.

"Phoumi, deputy premier and defense minister in Prince Boun Oum's government, said that according to all information he could gather there has been no fighting since 6 p. m. Wednesday.

He made the announcement after flying Wednesday to Savannakhet, apparently to investigate reports the Communist — supported Pathet Lao rebels had attacked Muong Phalang.

"From this trip and from word we hear from the other side's radio broadcasts, it appears that as of 6 p. m. Wednesday a cease-fire is being respected all over Laos," Phoumi said.

The announcement had been anticipated. After a week of ignoring truce appeals by the government, the rebels announced on Wednesday they had ordered their troops to cease fire at 8 a. m.

When the government was convinced the rebels meant it, Phoumi ordered his troops to cease fire at 5 p. m.

Because of communications difficulties in this jungle kingdom, it was possible there still would be minor clashes between the two sides until word could filter down to all the troops.

The cease-fire set the stage for the arrival of the International Control Commission on Indochina to verify the last 10 military operations. The commission, composed of Canada, India and Poland, has been waiting in New Delhi for the fighting to stop.

There still was a great deal of confusion surrounding the next step toward solving the political future of Laos.

State Police Hunt Kidnap Victim

BRUNSWICK, Ga. (UPI) — Police in Georgia and Florida searched today for a 13-year-old baby-sitter, an apparent, kidnap victim, with little hope of finding her alive.

Any immediate clue to the girl's fate died Wednesday with her accused kidnaper, Charles Trullit, 27, of Jacksonville, Fla., who shot himself in the temple at police bloodhounds found his hiding place under a house.

"It's too bad death came to Trullit before we learned the whereabouts of the girl," said patrolman George Young.

Blood stains and a girl's underclothing were found on the seat of a car Trullit borrowed from a friend in Jacksonville to drive the girl to her home Tuesday night. She lived about five blocks away from the house in which she was baby-sitting in Jacksonville. The car was abandoned on a street in this Georgia coastal town 80 miles north of Jacksonville.

Police traced the Florida license plates to Jacksonville authorities who linked the car with Trullit's and the girl's disappearance.

Officers began a search here for Trullit and bloodhounds led them to a dwelling north of Brunswick where Trullit was hiding. Trullit, a jobless tugboat worker, shot himself when capture appeared imminent. He died on the way to a hospital without speaking.

Altamonte Chapel Meeting Called

A meeting of Altamonte Springs Chapel Trustees has been called by Chairman A. G. Burroughs for 7 p. m. today in the Educational Building.

At 8 p. m., reception honoring all new members will be held with members of the Women's Circle in charge of refreshments.

Around The Clock - - - 1912 Vintage

(Ed. Note, Thanks to H. Ballard of the County Agent's Office, the Herald was furnished today with a copy of the Sanford Herald, Mar. 10, 1912. Here are some excerpts from the front page of that edition.)

"Several cinnamon bears were in the city and made much noise and several runaways. The bears were a trifle dirty."

"A campaign is on to eliminate mosquitoes in the area."

"An alarm of fire Wednesday night brought out the auto fire truck on the run and they tore up First St. in a way to frighten the oldest inhabitant. The alarm proved to be a small blaze on Sanford Ave. that was extinguished before the trucks arrived."

"From developments here today it would seem that a bridge over the St. Johns River at East Coast Ferry, providing the citizens of Orange County a direct route to the coast is assured."

"Palmer and Selgh have such a good brand of clothing that a party or parties unknown broke the large plate glass window in their store on Tuesday night and extracted three suits of clothes, two shirts and a belt."

"Vegetables, especially celery are on the move and fine prices are being realized, one grower having shipped and received his pay for the crop off 10 acres, amounting to pay over $20,000."

"Tomorrow is your last call to pay your poll taxes in order to vote in the spring primaries. It is up to you now to pay your poll tax and see that your friends do the same thing."

Kennedy Drawing Final Line Of Red Expansion

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy appeared today to be drawing the final line against Communist expansion in Southeast Asia in South Viet Nam and Thailand.

Officials said this did not mean the United States had given up hope of saving Laos, where both sides have halted military action, but it does mean Kennedy is facing up to the possibility the Geneva conference scheduled for May 12 may lead to Communist domination of Laos.

These officials said the President, after a series of sessions with the National Security Council, has decided to double U. S. military aid to South Viet Nam.

He also was believed to have sent word to President Ngo Dinh Diem that the United States is prepared to order its armed forces into action if that finally becomes necessary.

Overjoyed Ship Survivors In Port

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Thirteen overjoyed survivors of the ill-fated sailing ship Albatross arrived today aboard the motor vessel that saved them from the fate of their shipmates.

The survivors of the square-rigged ship, a sailing prep school for society youths, included the skipper, Capt. Christopher B. Sheldon, 32, and 10 of his teenage sailor-students.

They had been aboard the 3-ton Albatross when it was struck by a violent storm Tuesday in the Gulf of Mexico. Before Sheldon's wife, Alice, 30; the cook, George Platnik, and four of the youths could get on deck from below the ship sank and carried six lives with it.

The survivors were picked up by the merchantman Grand Elk, of Dutch registry, and taken to Tampa.

Kennedy Orders Intelligence Check

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy today formally ordered a full-scale review of this country's foreign intelligence effort.

The President's order, latest in a series of actions following the Cuban invasion fiasco, was a follow up of Wednesday's White House announcement that the President was reconstituting his board of consultants on foreign intelligence activities.

Today, the White House made public an executive order by Kennedy which reactivates the board "under broadened terms of reference" and appoints new members to it.
