Flight Of 4417 Miles

DE JANEIRO, Brazil
(INS)—All Brazil was in a fever pitch today as the courageous non-stop flight from Rome to Brazil of the Italian Fliers, Capt. Ferriani and Maj. P. del Prete. Success rivalled only by the celebrations following the arrival. When they were enacted every stupendous welcome here for the fliers when they came to Natal.

In their own plane, a Savoia damaged when they made a second landing at Touros 10 miles north of Natal, the fliers announced they will make their flight here in a small plane, their second landing and del Prete were taken to Natal in an air ambulance and rested at the lat. yesterday. When they made their first landing at Point Genipabu, 10 miles north of Natal, the fliers had covered the distance generally estimated at 4,417 miles without stopping thus establishing a new world's record for long distance flying.

They covered the distance in just under less than 52 hours, average speed, slightly unaverage, an hour, was conspicuous. Their flight was the first successful attempt to fly from Europe to the American mainland.

Dr. King and del Prete also set another world's record to date. Recently, they stayed the same plane used in the Brazil flight, for 58 hours.

Fliers encountered fair winds across the Mediterranean down the coast of Africa and across the south Atlantic as far west as the Cape Verde Islands. After that, however, they ran into heavy fog which increased as they entered mainland.

They encountered their difficulties over Brazil with plenty of fuel still in tanks, so they decided to fly to this city. But the impenetrable fog bearings and finally led to land.

Dry Administrators Will Meet Soon In Washington; Political Motive Is Seen

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(INS) Issues. The Republican administration wants to avoid every possibility of criticism of enforcement, and particularly to prevent the unnecessary use of fire arms and other harsh methods that have brought down shrubs or wrath on the treasury in the past.

Administrators also will be warned away of treasury regulations barring prohibition executives and agents from political activities.

An officer who spends a portion of his time talking politics is neglecting his work and engaging in political activity, which will not be tolerated," Doran said. "An officer shall not use his official authority or influence to coerce the political action of any person or body."

With Governor Al Smith, of New York, the Democratic candidate for president, prohibition automatically becomes one of the prime issues. The Republicans are trying to "see thing settled;" others are fearful over results of the election.

Defeatist Movement Begun Against Smith Causes Worry Among Smith Men

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The prevailing winds of national politics since the final gavels fell at the Kansas City and Houston conventions are daily pointing more and more toward prohibition becoming the paramount issue in the November election.

That is the opinion of most of the leaders of both parties who have returned to the capital this week. It is an opinion, however, that is for the most part privately expressed. Publicly, they say, if not a partisan issue, privately, they admit they do not see how it can be kept out of it as the campaign develops.

Some of the leaders, both Republicans and Democrats, are hopeful that the issue will become paramount because they "would like to see the thing settled." Others are fearful and uneasy over the prospect because they cannot see the outcome with any degree of clarity.

"Prohibition is not an issue," said Dr. Hubert Work, the general manager of the Republican National Committee. "It should be kept out of the campaign just as religion should. The Democratic leaders are dry and protestant South are making the same assertion all the South."

Yet since Gov. Smith's telegram to accept him, in which he reaffirmed his wet views, there has been a steady stream of communication and denunciation of his position. He has been called every from a courageous statesman to a "double crosser and faker," this last being applied by Mrs. Clem Shaver, wife of the chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

Mr. Lawton also announced that arrangements had been completed with Sanford banks to finance the schools for the coming year, thus providing for the retirement of tax anticipation notes held by New York bond houses.

The board authorized the superintendent to advertise for bids for transportation of children to the Sanford schools, the painting of the West Side Primary school, and the furnishing equipping of the Wilson School at Paola, which is nearing completion. M. Hanson, trustee of the Paola schools, accepted the contract with the Mettler Electric Company of Sanford for the lighting fixtures for the new Wilson School.

An announcement was made that the contract of the transportation of children from the Lake Howell community had been awarded to James Cassik.

Views Of Husband On Al Unknown To Mrs. Clem Shaver

WASHINGTON, July 7.—(INS)—Mrs. Clem Shaver, wife of the soon to be retired chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is positively and vociferously against Al Smith. How Mr. Shaver stands is somewhat of a mystery.

"I'm sure I don't know," she said today, "I haven't seen him for several days. I've no idea how he stands with regard to Governor Smith."

Cotton Men Form Council To Direct Marketing Plans

NEW ORLEANS, July 7.—(INS)—Leading cotton planters, spinners, bankers and merchants of the cotton belt have organized the southwest cotton council here, as the result of meetings at Jackson, Miss., last February.

At Memphis in March, at which it was decided a change was needed in the production of cotton and marketing methods.

Aroused by a series of talks in which the huge economic losses through cotton price fluctuations were detailed, the meeting affected a permanent organization with headquarters in New Orleans and adopted a program providing for raising $750,000 each year over a period of five years to carry on the work.

The work of the council will include an effort to stabilize the price of cotton, fix a reasonable figure for cotton acreage, co-ordinate work of various agencies having similar objectives in the south.

LaFollette Denounces Republican Platform

MADISON, Wis., July 7.—(INS)—Senator Robert M. LaFollette came as near to bolting his party here today as it seems possible to do without actually taking the step. LaFollette issued a statement in which he said nothing in praise of Herbert Hoover, and then he denounced the Kansas City platform as one so reactionary that "it cannot arouse the enthusiasm of progressives."

He announced that progressives would make their fight to elect men to congress who are actually progressives. Governor Al Smith is not mentioned by LaFollette.

Exhibition Contest Staged In Orlando Won By Colts In Eleventh; Keith And Hymel Twirl For Locals

ORLANDO, July 7.—With a flourish of fight, Orlando's Colts once the pride of the Florida State League, nosed out the Sanford Melodys in an 11-inning duel on Tinker Field yesterday afternoon by a count of 8 to 7. The game was scored as an exhibition only and does not count in the official league standings, much as the victory is needed by the local outfit.

Receipts of the gate were divided between the players of the two clubs to apply on back salaries due, it was said at the field.

Hodges went the route for the Colts on the mound, while Keith and Hymel divided the honors for Sanford with Hymel getting credit for the loss.

Sanford rallied late to score three runs in the eighth inning and tie the score. Both teams scored two in the tenth, and then the Colts pushed over the winning counter in the second extra session.

Eddie Wade, Sanford centerfielder, led the batting for the day with four safeties out of six tries, including a double and a three-hager.

Paul Kirby was the leader of the Orlando assault, getting three out of five trips to the rubber.

After the first few innings, Abrams retired from the game and "Lefty" Sprout covered the initial station in good fashion.
