JOHNNY'S HOMEWORK

CAT
DOG
FEE

Will you help Johnny with his homework? Of course! You are willing and eager to help. If life, he must have every educational advantage possible. You want to prepare him. But what about Johnny's church school homework? To prepare Johnny for life, he must have more than a head full of history and geography and multiplication tables. Johnny must have a heart full of love and a soul dedicated to God. To find purpose and meaning in life, Johnny must have faith, not just fact and figures. Bring Johnny to Church School and Church every Sunday. Afterwards, help with his papers and talk over the lessons. Make his church school homework as much your responsibility as his public school homework. Help Johnny prepare for victorious, Christian living!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Marine Reserves Increase Earnings

An opportunity for many ex-servicemen to increase their yearly earnings by almost $300 is now being offered by the class two Marine reserve program.

For example, an ex-Marine, or other eligible veteran with over four years prior service enlists in the citizen Marines and is re-appointed to the rank of sergeant. This increases his yearly earnings by almost $300 figured on the basis of $4.89 a drill for 60 drills a year plus $68.85 for two weeks summer training.

And, as a reserve Marine, he is eligible to enroll in the Marine Corps Institute for free home correspondence courses on subjects of his own choosing. Many citizens Marines are taking courses to aid them in their civilian jobs. By increasing their knowledge about their job, they increase their value to their employer and their chance for promotion.

Lastly, membership in the Marine Reserves means a chance to renew old acquaintances and form new ones. The only education to enlisting is a willingness to attend periodic drills and two weeks of summer camp. In this area, the Marine Reserve recruit is at the Sanford post office each Wednesday from 9 a.m. until noon.

Yowell's SANFORD

Why The Veto?

The veto power in the United Nations Charter was included at the special urging of the United States. This fact, well known at the time, is recalled by the recently published reminiscences of ex-Senator Tom Connally of Texas, who in 1945, when the charter was adopted, was the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and therefore in touch with events.

The veto was a sop to the isolationists. In 1919 they defeated American membership in the League of Nations because it did not provide for a veto. Horrendous pictures were painted of our having to repeal our immigration laws because other nations in the League so ordered, and we had no way out. Determined that the UN should not be defeated by a repetition of this cry, the administration in 1945 insisted on including a provision whereby any great power could veto acts which it did not like.

As it turned out, we handed Russia a powerful weapon. While we have used the veto on occasion, chiefly to block Soviet satellite states seeking admission to the UN, the great majority of vetoes were Russian. For this we thank our isolationists to thank.

Some people think it would be nice if we could have a veto and other nations not. Unfortunately that just can't be done.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

I am not come to call the righteous, but those who have visited sinners to repentance. — Luke 5:31. We think there is plenty of corruption still in the ruins of Pompeii know that the ancient world had sunk to abysmal depravity almost past belief. The Salvation Army is one agency that centers on the task of redeeming slum people and slum areas.

HAL BOYLE

More Women Entering Politics

NEW YORK (AP)—There's something new in American politics today—housewives. They may put fresh truth into the old saying that the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world. It takes, after all, only one hand to rock a cradle. That leaves any mother, who wants to run for public office one hand free to shake mitts with the voters. And a lot of young mothers across America are deciding the best way to improve their communities is to go into politics themselves. Typical of this new breed of feminine politicians is Mrs. Helen Baker of New Canaan, Conn., who is making her debut as a candidate for state senator. Mrs. Baker is 36, pretty brown-haired, hazel-eyed. She has two sons, Geoffrey, 7, and Gene, 10, who now calls her "senator mama." She also has a theory that more and more local and state political offices should be held by housewives. "This is particularly true in suburban areas," she said. "Since the war you have an entirely different set up in the suburbs. They have been called dormitories for the cities, and to some extent that is true. "Husbands spend a great part of their lives commuting from their homes to their jobs in the city. Their hearts are in one place, their minds in another. "They simply don't have the time and energy to take part in community politics. Housewives do. Mechanical gadgets have given them more leisure. And it is important that they use this leftover energy in a constructive way. So-called clubs and P-T-A activities aren't enough. Mrs. Baker, who always has had strong political views, is a rather surprised at finding herself running for office. A friend asked permission to put her name in nomination. "Don't worry. Nothing will come of it. Then he phoned back and said "They nominated you." She crept back into bed lived on toast and tea for three days, then decided to get up and fight. Old pros don't give her a chance. New Canaan, which advertises itself as "The Next Station to Heaven," is heavily Republican. Mrs. Baker is a Democrat. Her campaign fund is negligible. But in the month since her nomination she has met or talked to some 4,000 voters at picnics, parties and luncheon gatherings of factory workers. Her friends also have organized what they call "Baker's Dozen Parties"—at which one lady invites in a dozen other housewives to hear the candidate. "One audience the other morning consisted of 17 ladies," she said cheerfully, "plus 10 children, under 4 years of age." Accompanied by a friend, she also calls on store merchants, buttonholes shoppers as they come out of supermarkets. Her platform is very simple:

tors and informing on his fellow prisoners of war, a sergeant testified that in the prisoners' camp Communist music was played over the loudspeaker. Asked to give an example, he said, "Old Man River." "What do you mean?" the officer questioning him demanded. "Is Old Man River Communist?" "Well," the sergeant replied, "Paul Robeson sang it." That is just as sensible as much of the other evidence adduced to prove Communist sympathies on the part of a disliked person.

A HUSBAND who refuses to wash the dishes may still find himself in hot water.

NEW DEVICE — Safety razor makers say they practically give away the razor and make their living by selling new blades. They won't like the new safety razor blade sharpener. This is a small electrical device equipped with a series of leather and abrasive wheels to hone and strap double-edge blades so they can be used for 100 shaves. The sharpening process takes about 20 seconds for the average blade.

PROGRESS does not always suit everyone. Heard a Tampa resident say he was taking a dim view of the new bridge down St. Petersburg. He thinks a lot of traffic is by-passing Tampa.

A CITIZEN is a man who wants better roads, better schools, bigger and better post offices and lower taxes.

COWS — Without adequate feed cattle will grow and reproduce poorly, and many will die if conditions become severe. A cow that does not get enough to eat will have a calf only once every two or three years. She will need that long to recuperate enough and build up her body stores for another calf.

DOUBLE TROUBLE—If you are vexed or angry you will have two troubles instead of one.

NO SO GOOD — Many of the common ornamental plants in our gardens contain deadly poisons. Usually oleander may be handled but there have been cases where it affects people like poison ivy, raising a rash or irritation on the skin. But chewing and swallowing a single leaf of this plant will make you quite sick, and may be fatal. The flowers are poisonous too.

Down South

By THURMAN SENNING

Editor's note: Thurman Senning's rather biased remarks do not necessarily reflect the opinions of The Herald, however, it is felt that Senning's comments are thought-provoking, and for this reason, they are being published. The President has issued a new executive order with reference to placing government contracts, which is as delatorial as if we were living under an actual dictatorship rather than a constitutional republican form of government. It assumes absolute control over the employment practices of all firms who do business with the government—including the subcontractors—and seeks to do by executive fiat something Congress has specifically refused to do by law. Here's the new "FEPC Clause" for Government contracts: "In connection with the performance of work under this contract the contractor agrees not to discriminate against any employee or applicant for employment because of race, religion, color, or national origin. The aforesaid provision shall include, but not be limited to, the following: employment, ungrading, demotion, or transfer, recruitment or recruitment advertising, layoff or termination, rate of pay, or other forms of compensation; and selection for training, including apprenticeship. The contractor agrees to post heretofore in conspicuous places, available for employees or applicants for employment, notices to be provided by the contracting officer setting forth the provisions of the nondiscrimination clause. "The contractor further agrees to insert the foregoing provision in all subcontracts hereunder, except subcontracts for standard commercial supplies or raw materials. "It is supposed to be a government by law and not by executive edict. Yet if the nation's economy is to be controlled by executive order rather than by law—and, due to the ramifications of government purchasing, that is the effect in this case—then the Executive has usurped the power of the Congress.

The President may think the end justifies the means. That has been the trouble with the last two administrations. It is also true that dictators are highly susceptible. It had certainly been hoped by many people in this country that we had gotten away from any such attitude under the present administration, apparently these hopes were groundless. To the believers in Constitutional Government have nowhere to turn? What we must realize in this country—before we wake up some day and find it is too late—is that this question of so-called fair employment is not a question of race, religion, color, or national origin, as its proponents so glibly recite, but a question of individual freedom. We must not overlook the fact that a government which can assume the power to tell the employer whom he must hire, can just as easily assume the power to tell the employee for whom he must work. Then freedom has flown right out the window! Another thing the people of this nation must realize is that this is not a question affecting only the South as a region. This has been the more or less popular assumption over the years during which attempts to enact an FEPC have been made, due, of course, to the color factor involved. Actually, if the South has been more vigorous than other regions in opposing the enactment of such a law and has been thus far successful in its efforts so far as regular legal channels are concerned, it is all to the credit of the sound thinking patriotism of the South. It shows the firm adherence of the people of the South to the principles which are the whole basis of our form of government. Is it possible that we can no longer look to the political leadership of either party for support of the time-honored American principles of states' rights and local self-government? Are we to centralize absolute control of the lives of one people in the hands of the Federal Government and its by edict rather than by law? It's beginning to look that way. Of one thing we can be quite

JAMES MARLOW

Why Didn't Reds Join In Plan?

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Russia can't get along even on President Eisenhower's proposal for a world pool of atomic materials for peaceful uses, set up under an international agency. He first made the suggestion last Dec. 8 before the United Nations. So that the United States and Russia wouldn't get into a public propaganda fight over it, he suggested the two countries discuss the idea quietly. They did and got nowhere. Finally, impatient with the delay, Eisenhower on Sept. 6 said this country and some other nations, but not Russia, had agreed to go ahead and set up the international agency. Yesterday, more than 10 months after Eisenhower offered his idea at the U.N., Secretary of State Dulles addressed the same world organization on the same subject. What he said was not essentially different from what Eisenhower already had said. He did say, as Eisenhower had, that this country was going ahead without the Russians who could come in if they wanted to. Why wouldn't the Russians come in? All the details of the discussions between Washington and Moscow are not known. Dulles said he was willing for them to be made public. But the State Department had previously disclosed, and Dulles repeated yesterday, the No. 1 stumbling block was a demand by the Russians that: Before there could be a world pool of atomic materials for peaceful uses, this country must agree to outlaw the atomic and hydrogen bombs. That was an odd one which the United States wouldn't accept the first time the Russians offered it, and that was years ago when the two countries could not agree on world disarmament. This country took the position that an agreement among countries they would never use the bomb was not enough, because it left the door wide open for any country to cheat. The United States insisted on a system of international inspection which could make sure—since the inspectors could dig around in every nation—that no nation had kept any atomic bombs and that none was making them. Eisenhower had proposed an international agency—he didn't suggest it be part of the United Nations—to handle a world pool of peaceful atomic materials. Dulles yesterday said he hoped the agency could be in business next year. Eisenhower said that as details for the international pool are being worked out, this country would set up an atomic reactor school here to help train representatives of friendly nations in skills needed for their own atomic programs. Dulles said yesterday this country will open its reactor training school next year for students of other nations to learn the peaceful uses of atomic energy. Dulles added this, apparently a late development in the government's thinking since Eisenhower hadn't mentioned it: "The calling of an international scientific conference to consider this whole vast subject—atomic materials for peaceful use—next spring 'under the auspices of the United Nations.' This would bring the U.N. into the picture—part way, at least—although it's doubtful the United States would want, any time soon, to see the proposed international agency in the U.N. where the Russians might be able to wreck it without taking part in the agency. Dulles had previously described the Russians as being 99 per cent against Eisenhower's proposal. But two days ago, when it learned Dulles was going to make yesterday's speech, Russia suggested more talks. Dulles didn't sound optimistic that they would lead to anything.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

GENERAL ISRAEL PUTNAM, prominent at the Battle of Bunker Hill, was one example of history's brass who, according to Constance Rourke, had a well-developed acute sense of humor. Engaged in a tavern brawl one night with a British officer over which one had the cooler nerves, "Put" proposed, "See here, General, I've got in the back room two powder kegs. I've bored a hole and inserted a slow fuse in each. I'll light those fuses, and let's you and me sit on those kegs. The fellow who sits longest has the best nerves." The Redcoat officer didn't like it, but—put on a spot—had to agree. He was the first to leave the spot, too, getting out in haste as his fuse burned to "01" Put" just sat there puffing calmly on his pipe. That may have been because he knew both kegs were full of onions.

Jack E. Leonard, comical comedian, gave a performance at a night club whose guests, he felt, were insufficiently enthusiastic. His exit line was, "Thank you, folks. You've certainly been a grand bunch of seats." Copyright, 1954, by Bennett Cerf. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

Your job's a cinch. Call the crowd together and have a "cook-it-yourself" party tonight.

Tomato Rabbit and Rice
 1 1/2 cups (1) no. 101 package precooked rice
 1 1/2 cups boiling water
 1 cup condensed tomato soup
 1/2 cup grated Cheddar cheese
 1 egg
 Dash of cayenne

Add packaged pre-cooked rice and salt to boiling water in suspension. Mix just to moisten all rice. Cover and remove from heat. Let stand 15 minutes.
 Meanwhile, heat soup over low heat (do not boil). Add grated cheese and stir until cheese is melted. Then stir in Worcestershire sauce and the cayenne. Serve over the rice. Makes 4 servings.
 *Or use 1 package (8 ounces) processed cheese, cut into small cubes (about 2 cups).

Miss Shirley Moreland Feted With Miscellaneous Shower

Careful Cutting Makes For Better, Meatier Chicken

Miss Shirley Moreland, popular October bride-elect, was honored last evening with a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Grady Duncan and Mrs. Hugh Duncan at the former's home, 1120 Palmetto Ave.

White gladioli, white chrysanthemums, and sweetheart roses were used to decorate the entertaining rooms. The serving table was overlaid with an imported cutwork cloth and held silver candle holders bearing white tapers.

The many lovely gifts were presented to Miss Moreland in a decorated umbrella. Refreshments of punch, open face sandwiches, cake and minis were served by the hostesses who were assisted by Mrs. H. N. Sayer and Mrs. H. A. Moreland, mother of the honoree, presided at the punch bowl.

Invited to be with the bride-elect were Mrs. Benny Austin, Mrs. Joe Saunders, Mrs. Earl Swanner, Mrs. P. R. Bach, Mrs. Harold Chapman, Mrs. H. W. Becker, Mrs. Robert Jones, Mrs. K. W. Pitt, Mrs. George F. Holman, Mrs. A. L. Skinner, Mrs. Spencer Harder, Mrs. E. C. Harper Jr., Mrs. Herbert Stentrom, Mrs. Barbara Chapman, Mrs. W. E. Kirschhoff, Mrs. I. E. Hatten, Mrs. H. N. Lauritz Melchior Makes The Noise, Wife Cracks Whip

By JOY MILLER

"Wave," says Maria Melchior, can many husbands better than anyone else.

The man she manages, with her 100 pounds, is Lauritz Melchior, a food TV Danish tenor who weighs in well over 200.

A pretty, fragile looking woman she has been married to Melchior for 29 years, but "I don't look like a wife," she says. "I look like the first part of a girls' party."

But she's a formidable opponent at contract signing time with sharp blue eyes that don't miss a thing in the fine print and a mind that clicks like an electric adding machine.

"A wife has no other clients and she devotes all her time to her husband's affairs," she goes on nodding her blonde head for emphasis. "It is a very good thing."

"You take my Lauritz. He's very good," she says. "I make the noise and she does the first thing in the fine print and a mind that clicks like an electric adding machine."

"I liked him when I looked at him," she says. "He told me later he didn't know if I was a boy or girl, the way I was dressed—'So many men meet their wives that way, like a parcel coming down the air,' he told me."

She gave up her career after their marriage.

She has helped Melchior break a lot of traditions in the 11 years since he first appeared on the radio as a comedian and actor. The first Metropolitan Opera star to enter the popular entertainment field in all, he has had nine successful records, opera, concert, radio, TV, recordings, motion pictures, vaudeville, nightclubs, stage.

Now he is in a musical extravaganza called "Arabian Nights" at Long Island's Jones Beach, sharing the limelight with a huge musical ensemble.

"And he loves it," says his fond wife. "Whatever he does he loves. He's just like a child."

The Melchior's seem always to have had a rollicking time. Or maybe it's the way in which she tells it.

"When we first came to America, it was more important that Lauritz finish his voice study than that we have a rich life. So we brought a music teacher from London, the best."

Please Pardon Our Colloge French

By SANDRA NEMMER

Why do American students have such a hard time learning a foreign language? This question plagues many a mother who sees her offspring go through four years of high school, or college French, still unable to carry on a simple conversation in the language.

"They are not really poor linguists," says Germaine Bree, newly appointed chairman of the French Department, New York University. "What they lack is a chance to practice the language."

Miss Bree, who has taught French since 1936, also says Americans learn their languages when they are too old and too self-conscious about foreign accents and grammar.

"She says a language should be started when a child is in grade school, because the youngster has an ease of imitation last in and older person is not self-conscious, and can be trained more easily to pronounce words a certain way, because 'Learning a language can be a game to children'."

Prof. Bree (pronounced Bray) gives some academic and practical reasons for learning another language.

"It's a life-training process for the mind and makes a person more conscious of the language he uses daily. If you want a government job, you need a second language. The same is true of strategic government positions and jobs in certain fields such as chemistry. It helps you understand and be comfortable with the culture of your own and other countries."

The best way to study a language, she says, is to speak and listen.

"If you learn a language by mechanical means without learning the culture all you have is superficial chatter."

Prof. Bree points out that a foreign language program was started four or five years ago to foster second languages in elementary schools. This would compare with the program in many European schools where youngsters learn a second language as part of their curriculum.

Miss Bree says the American diphthong and the various sectional accents get in the way of pure French pronunciation. But she adds:

"You know, a southern drawl in French is really rather charming."

Old-Fashioned Happy Love Story Hasn't Died Yet

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

The old-fashioned love story complete with happy ending isn't dead yet, says expert Daise Bacon.

"As a matter of fact, love stories are just as popular as ever with the expert. Only people aren't getting them. But I think the tide will turn, as soon as editors stop being afraid of words like 'love' and 'romance'."

Those words have never frightened Miss Bacon. For more than two decades she has edited magazine pages, frankly calling them what such names as "Love Story Magazine."

"Right now," she goes on, "everyone thinks they have to exist in this fiction business, but pretty soon they'll have to ask themselves if they haven't gone far enough with shocker stuff like alcoholism, rape, crime and sex. They'll have to ask themselves whether they're really engaging like 'love' or just pecking into social lies."

She is torn between disapproval and amusement at the current practice of writing in a love theme rather than depicting a good sound story line in which the motivation frankly springs from romantic sentiment.

"In spite of the fact that they know and enjoy the love story, the tendency nowadays is to treat love as if it were an ice box leftover which should be added in a main course so it won't be wasted," she complains. "And nobody can tell me that's satisfactory."

And she's convinced that the wheel of fashion is now swinging from unhappy realism to pleasant stories reflecting a gentler world. Daise Bacon has written a primer for would-be love story writers. For some reason, she says, ambitious authors seem to think that writing love stories is the easiest job in fiction.

"It isn't," she cautions sternly. "And a hundred cliches don't make a love story. Everyone who has had any experience with romance—divorcees, girls who have been through a couple of engagements—think they can string together a series of embraces, add some moonlight and come up with a love story."

"Actually, the love story is all that any other story is except that it is motivated by the love angle. Some very smart ones have been written without using even the word 'love' once and without a single embrace."

Daise Bacon's book, laced heavily with her own experiences through years of coping with authors good and bad, has a handful of rules for ambitious young writers of any kind. Among other sound pieces of advice, she admonishes against trying to write stories against an unfamiliar background or using unfamiliar characters.

Embryo writers are advised to study the publication to which they propose submitting their work, make their manuscript neat and clean, and to submit return postage.

But exactly how to write love

P-TA Board Meet Will Be Monday At Junior High

The board of the Sanford Junior High School P.T.A. will meet at 8:00 o'clock Monday afternoon at the school, it was announced this morning by Mrs. J. C. Wilson, president.

At this important meeting plans will be made for the year's activities and all board members are urged to attend.

"They are not easy to write—at least not easier than other story types," she said. "In the long run, they are probably a little harder since the author must watch out for so many things that what he writes does not become silly."

And how about Miss Bacon hereafter, the expert on love stories. "No," she says. "I've never been married. Still looking for the ideal man."

USC Given Edge Over Pittsburgh In Game Tonight

By WIL GRIMSLEY
NEW YORK (AP)—Southern California and Pittsburgh, two teams trying to relieve past glories, tangle in Los Angeles tonight in an inter-sectional game which whets the appetite for the first full-scale week-end of the college football season.

Every section of the country swings into the "Hip-Hip Hoopay" spirit with the increasing apparent to be reached at South Bend, Ind., tomorrow, where Notre Dame's Fighting Irish, picked as the nation's best, make their debut against power-loaded Texas.

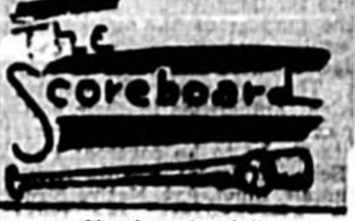

This battle, a headliner under any circumstances, packs a terrific interest because it intro duces Notre Dame's new "Wonder Boy," 26-year-old Terry Brennan, an successor to Frank Leahy.

In tonight's game, the Southern Cal's Trojan rate a 10-point edge over Red Dawson's Pitt Panthers, who are known to be big and tough but of questionable striking strength.

Other games tonight have Arizona State at Tempe playing Brigham Young on the latter's field. Denver at Drake, Miami (Fla.) at Furman and Hampden-Sydney at Richmond. The visiting team is favored in each of these cases except the last, where the odds are on Richmond.

Betty Dodd Leads In Ardmore Open

ARDMORE, Okla. (AP)—Betty Dodd, a tall Texas girl, had two strokes lead today as she teed off in the second round of the lucrative Women's Ardmore Open in quest of her first big victory in three years on the golf tournament circuit.

The 17-year-old, who was runner-up from San Antonio in 1947, is now 118 on the 1810 in opening-day prize money with a one-under-par 73 over the 6,425-yard Dornick Hills Course. She fired an eagle and three birdies on the back nine to pile up the lead and the bonus cash, putting together rounds of 36-34 on the par 36-38-74 layout.

If the pace continues, tournament sponsor Mrs. Opie Turner may give away $15,000 of her oil millionaire husband's money, including the regular $5,000 payoff by the time the champion is decided.

Patty Berg, the veteran from St. Andrews, Ill., remained in a challenging position with a 75, along with former national open champion Jackie Pang of Honolulu and Carol Hooper of Ukiah, Calif.

Tied at 77 were Beverly Hanson of Cincinnati and Louise Suga of Atlanta, while Mickey Wright of La Jolla, Calif., came through with a 78 to lead the amateurs.

The doughy Babe Zaharias, who confidently predicted victory before teeing off, blew in a 44 on the back nine and finished with a 82. She trailed such threats as Marjorie Hauer, Betty Bandy, Betty Rains and Betty Jameson, who were lumped at 78.

All Of Big 12 Grid Teams Will See Action Tomorrow

By MERCEY BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Four football games matching Southeastern Conference opponents and four non-SEC battles get all of the Big 12 teams into action Saturday and Sunday night.

All four of the strictly SEC scraps shape up as close, exciting contests.

Alabama and Louisiana State University, both opening game losers, clash at night in Baton Rouge, Miss., while Mississippi and Kentucky tangle in the first half of a day-night doubleheader in Memphis, where Mississippi and Kentucky have been the favorites.

Florida plays Georgia Tech in Atlanta, Georgia goes to Clemson, Auburn is at home to Chattanooga, Vanderbilt meets Baylor in a night game in Nashville and Tulane entertains Memphis State.

Auburn, Tennessee and Vandy will be in action for the first time this season, the others opened last week.

(The Miss., Tech, Auburn, Alabama and Tulane are favorites.

The Georgia-Clemson and Tennessee-Mississippi State games are rated tossups. LSU, Vandy, Kentucky and Florida take the field as underdogs.

Out on a limb department: KENTUCKY over MISSISSIPPI: The Miss has more horsepower—it runs about three teams deep—but any team that can look as good against Maryland as Kentucky did is dangerous.

ALABAMA over LSU: A shaky vote for "Bama, mostly on reserve strength. Aime Telle quarterback, Bart Starr probably holds the answer. If he is in shape to stick in the game, his passing and play-calling should see "Bama through.

TENNESSEE over MISSISSIPPI STATE: Jimmy Wade and Pat O'Leary head a talented collection of Vols who have been working all month to be ready to avenge last year's 26-0 upset defeat by State.

GEORGIA TECH over FLORIDA: The Gaels would like to have a hurricane to help stop Tech's runners this year. The Yellow Jackets have an edge in experience and personnel.

AUBURN over CHATTANOOGA: The Mocs are favored by the X and Y Plainmen. A fine stable of runners, big linemen and the passing combo of Bobby Freeman to Jim Byburn make Auburn awfully dangerous.

CLEMSON over GEORGIA: One of the best split quarterbacking in the country, Don King, and a rugged, more experienced line give Clemson an edge over the rebuilding Bulldogs.

TULANE over MEMPHIS: The yardage if Tulane's quarterback can stop their fumbling. BAYLOR over VANDERBILT: The bears are a Southeastern Conference power and Vandy is far down the list in the SEC. Too much talent from Texas.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—If the Cleveland Indians have been made 17-10 favorites over the New York Giants because they have three pitchers named Bob Lemon, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia—and that's our understanding—then you are looking at one of the greatest over-urge you too strongly to rush out and grab a little of that short end.

"We will also say that if the men in Las Vegas arrived at those figures by simply adding up the 64 victories credited to the "Big Three," they were wrong; and we assumed that this offered a true reflection of their ability to pitch against good baseball clubs, then they owe it to themselves to take another hurried look. They are in for a job.

Want to know what the titanic trio did against the Yankees and the Chicago White Sox, their only American League rivals, which might fairly be compared to the team they will face in the World Series? Well, tell you. They won 11 decisions and they lost 13. Had it not been for the Indians' second ace, Johnny Mize, who pitched well enough to finish even with the Yanks and Sox over the season.

Only one of the three, Lemon, did better than break even against the two other contenders, and then only by 5-4. One of his wins over the Sox was in relief. One game he failed to last against the ex-champions was lost. After the White Sox beat him for the second year in a row, Manager Al Lopez never again permitted them to swing at his ace.

Wynn, the 23-game winner, was able to break even, 6-6, against the vandy, scoring four decisions over the Yankees. He lost three to the Yanks and was relieved twice in games the Bombers went on to win from the Cleveland bullpen. The White Sox clipped him this season only by a lefthander, Jack Harshman, supplying the winning opposition twice.

Mike Garcia, the 19-gamer, had had an awful summer, wrestling with the big fan. He never did succeed in beating either of them. The Yankees whipped him three times and got him out of there in his other start against them. He started twice only against the White Sox, and on each occasion was relieved by another Indian who absorbed the loss. Mike doesn't sound like a pitcher who is going to throttle Willie Mays and Don Mueller, does he?

In view of this signal failure of his top men to cut the mustard against the Yanks and Sox, it can only be concluded that Manager Al Lopez did an exceptionally fine job of spotting them against the league's suckies. The fact that he concluded as early as mid-July that it was all right to let Lemon wear himself out trying to beat the Chicagoans when there were five other clubs he could overachieve shows that Al was in there thinking.

Lemon's record against the "Little Five" was a cool 18-2. Against Philadelphia, Detroit and Baltimore it was, respectively, 4-0, 4-0 and 3-0.

Garcia also had muscles against the five-club second division. The Bear manhandled Boston to the tune of 19-5, including Boston 4-0, Washington 3-0 and Baltimore 2-0.

Wynn was slightly more gentle on the sad sacks, letting them off at 16-5, but sufficient to assure himself another 20 victory season.

Houston had won two straight games from the Crackers in Atlanta. Four triumphs are necessary to decide the mythical championship of Southern baseball.

World Series 'War Of Nerves' Has Begun Between Managers

By JOE REICHLER
CLEVELAND (AP)—The World Series "War of Nerves" already has begun between Al Lopez and Leo Durocher, the rival managers, as the Indians and the Giants gear themselves for the big fall classic opening in New York next Wednesday.

Neither manager would say today who will be his opening-day pitcher. The guessing is that Sal Maglie (14-4) will open for New York and Bob Lemon (23-6) for Cleveland, but nobody knows for sure.

Some observers seemed to think Durocher's starting assignment over Lemon because Lopez designated Early to pitch today's game against Detroit and work Lemon tomorrow. The Indians' job depends on such intention.

"No," he said, "Wynn isn't a certainty to open the series because he's to pitch today. It definitely will be either Lemon or Wynn, but I'm going to wait for Durocher to make his move first. He's the home manager and must peak first."

Word came from New York that Durocher won't decide between Maglie and Johnny Antonelli, (21-7) the young southpaw ace, until the Giants work out Tuesday.

"If Maglie stays for them," Lopez said, "I'll probably pitch Lemon because he's a lefthanded hitter. I'd like to get as much lefthanded strength as I can against their righthanders. If Antonelli opens, I'll go with Wynn, who bats from either side."

Anyhow, it will be Lemon and Wynn or Wynn and Lemon with Mike Garcia (19-8) pitching the third game.

World Softball Title Won By Clearwater By Beating Detroit

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Clearwater, Fla., refusing to buckle before the team which outnerved it a year ago, saluted a hard throwing south paw which brought them the world softball championship.

Clearwater shipped Detroit 4-0 last night on Johnny Hunter's one-bitter to erase last year's collapse which found Clearwater blowing two straight to Detroit in the finals.

Hunter never gave the defending champs a chance to duplicate.

Hunter struck out in matching his third victory of Clearwater's five game sweep.

The title is Clearwater's second. The other came in 1950.

The list includes men interested in the welfare of the community and renewing friend shipwords each other. They included: Richard Cranfield, Cliff Knox, Jack Stuart, Clifford Gilbert, Ed Mitchell, Tally Hattaway, Claude L. Roosevelt, Frank Seaman, Kristian A. Juber, Frank Juber, H. E. Fuller, H. D. Melro, Josh Jr., Cliff Sands, Graham Fuller.

Engineer Shortage

Reported by Pravda

LONDON (AP)—Pravda reported yesterday that the Soviet Union is suffering from a serious shortage of qualified engineers, especially in the power, machine and agricultural implement industries. The Communist party organ in an editorial broadcast by Moscow also blamed the Soviet Ministry of Higher Education which, it said, has "not shown sufficient concern for improving the standard of instruction and practical work in the higher education establishments."

RED AGENTS KILLED

SINGAPORE (AP)—South Korean national police reported yesterday they killed four and wounded three Communist agents who had crossed into South Korea near Kataguing on the east coast.

Chief John Farina requests that all persons report at the next meeting Wednesday, Sept. 22, at 6 p. m. as there will be some very important business coming up.

The Longwood Garden Club met on Thursday evening last in the Recreation Park for its regular monthly meeting. Due to the small number of persons present the election of officers was postponed until the next meeting.

Several horticultural projects were discussed but no major project has yet been decided upon. All members and anyone interested in joining are requested to report at the next meeting Oct. 21 at 8 p. m. in the Longwood Recreation Park.

Boy Scout Troop No. 341 met in Casselberry on last Monday evening and three Longwood boys passed their present examination for the next higher rank. They are Richard Heiler and Tommy Nave, now elevated to the rank of first class and Peck Kelley who is now second class.

Mr. and Mrs. M. McElhenny of Miami Dade Co. have arrived to town to spend their vacation with the Little Parents, Mayor and Mrs. Jess Collingham.

Pope Advised

To Slow Down

CASSEL, (GANNETT) Italy (AP)—Pope Pius XII, advised by physicians to slacken his activities to overcome his fatigue, held his sixtieth birthday celebration last Monday. The 78-year-old pontiff received a group of about 150 pilgrims from New Jersey in the consistorial hall at his Castel Gandolfo summer residence. He spoke a few words of benediction in the 15 minute audience.

Vatican sources described the pope's general condition as unchanged.

ROY LAYS EGG

PARIS (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. O. Kokenbiller bought a parakeet several months ago and went to work teaching it to recognize an answer to its name—Boy.

They reported Wednesday that Boy laid an egg.

GREAT SNAKES ALIVE

Sometime ago you had in a tale on the Kinsey family in Jacksonville and their snake pen. I wonder if you can tell us how the children react to a household of snakes and whether any of them have ever been bitten.

Most people are deathly afraid of snakes and it seems to me with some reason. I'll bet the Kinsey children would be more comfortable with a household of dogs or cats. Personally, I would be happier with a few harmless little tigers running around the house.

JOHN H. CAVERING
Jacksonville

(The pictures accompanying the Kinsey story (Aug. 29) seem to speak well for the children's reactions. They all look happy, comfortable and unbiten. In any event, Mr. Kinsey says that they keep only harmless varieties of snakes. As for keeping a household of tigers, instead, we bet the Kinsey family would be unwilling to exchange. As for this writer, I don't want either.—The Editor.)

TO MR. FUGATE

This is to give belated credit to M. N. Fugate who assisted me in the preparation of the article in the Aug. 1 issue of your fine magazine, "Hay-Seed Drier Beats the Rain."

Mr. Fugate has a modern crop drier about five miles west of Ocala on Highway 27. This picture which illustrated the article were all made in his plant.

SOUNDS LIKE FUN

As a consistent, if not good golfer, I can see where the new Par 3 golf course in Sarasota might have something special to offer. I would be very pleased to play where hills, traps, water hazards and the heat of day—and a talkative caddy—wouldn't take their toll from a game that should be all fun and no work. I wish I lived in Sarasota and could play on Par 3.

GEORGE W. LASHON
Ocala

We feel sure Sarasota would welcome you as a resident, but we feel equally sure Ocala would hate to lose you—so why not compromise and hit approach shots in the back yard. No caddy, no water holes and no work. Mr. Lashon, incidentally, is referring to Bob Edelman's article in the Sept. 5 issue of All Florida.—The Editor.

OUR COVER

One of the most unusual animals in captivity offered All Florida's photographer, Trent Rogers, an equally unusual picture opportunity. He caught this attractive summer visitor making friends with a Manatee, commonly known as a sea cow, at the Sea Zoo in Daytona Beach. The Manatee, known to his friends as "Winston" is one of the only pair of sea cows in captivity. His "wife" is less friendly and remains under water in the tank while "Winston" takes every opportunity to make time with pretty girl visitors to the Sea Zoo.

"Winston" loves to kiss pretty girls, according to his trainer, Capt. Bill Walsh. Our pretty cover girl said she would prefer to remain anonymous as she isn't in the habit of kissing sea cows named "Winston."

GARDEN FURNITURE IS EASY TO BUILD

By DONALD R. BRANN

IT'S always a pity to waste good weather eating indoors when the simplest meal can be turned into a festive event, right in your own backyard. Nor do you have to keep putting off the pleasure of enjoying comfortable garden furniture by thinking it costs too much. On the contrary, the slimmest budget can now afford the attractive table and other pieces of garden furniture, which anyone can make from a pattern.

The focal point of "living out-of-doors" has always been a picnic table. The one illustrated was designed for fun and easy storage. You don't have to worry about its being exposed to the elements. This table can "take it." The table top is made in two parts and hinged at the center so it can be folded over when not in use. Wing nuts and bolts are used in fastening the table together. Thus, if you want to dismantle it for storage, it's just a matter of minutes—and it won't take any longer than that to put the table and benches back together again when the warm outdoor weather rolls around again.

A pattern now available provides actual size templates for all parts. It takes all the mystery out of building. You may build it to size, six-, eight- or 10-foot lengths. Naturally, the bigger you build it the more people you can entertain.

The pattern contains clear, step-by-step instructions which everyone can follow. First, read the list of materials which tells what lumber to buy and what you will need in the way of nuts, bolts, and screws. Buy the materials the pattern recommends and it will give years of service despite exposure to rainy days.

After buying all materials, you lay out and trace the pattern, then following the instructions saw, bolt and assemble. It's as easy as that and lots of fun. If you've already been bitten with the "woodworking bug" you will find further pleasure in making this easy-to-build garden furniture, if you have never enjoyed the fun of woodworking, the easy-to-follow pattern will lead you step-by-step. The simple construction offers no difficult problems or calls for any experience. By following the pattern method of construction, even your first effort should produce professional results.

With the necessary equipment, picnics in your own backyard can be lots of fun. So why not start today in setting up a picnic area that will be a permanent addition to good living. With the roads crowded over weekends, you will be agreeably surprised to see how much fun you can have at home with the family and neighbors and friends who drop in.

Last night we visited neighbors who invited us to a weiner roast. They live in a very attractive house, placed squarely on a square plot. The house is small and the lot seemed even smaller; but they have everything a family could desire. The backyard is completely enclosed with a cleverly designed board fence which offers privacy without shutting out the soothing summer breezes. Off to one corner they have a new type, portable grill that works perfectly. Lawn chairs are grouped in a wide circle around the grill, and off to one side is this picnic table. As we arrived, the picnic table was all decked out in a gaily colored tablecloth and multi-color plastic dishes. Lighted candles on the table, coupled with the glow from the grill, gave a pleasant lighting to an already attractive setting.

We were all comfortably seated when someone mentioned a special program he wanted to see on the television. No sooner was the request made, than our host went into the house and easily carried out a big, new 17-inch table model television that requires no aerial. The set was placed on a small table and the program came in crystal clear.

As I sat back enjoying both the dinner and the television, I realized what a tremendous change was taking place in our way of living. Just as the automobile started us on the roads seeking entertainment away from home now—40 years later—television is bringing us back.

If you, too, want to start having fun at home with picnics in your own backyard or garden, start this picnic table today and it will act as a nucleus for more outdoor furniture to enhance your home and comfort. The full size pattern is your guide to happiness in your own backyard.

Send 35 cents in coin or money order for Picnic Table, Pattern No. 523 to Pattern Department, All Florida Magazine, P. O. Box 215, Pleasantville, N. Y. (Allow two weeks for delivery.)

Season

IT'S the three T season in Florida high schools again, with textbooks, tackles and touchdowns.

Textbooks have to share the spotlight with shoulder pads these days as prep elevens throughout the Sunshine State enter a new season of football which will bring excitement and glory, with the further prospect of college scholarships for some outstanding stars.

Year by year the Florida high school gridirons are turning out more and more good college football talent, and grads in recent years have gone on to further glory at just about every major college football power.

The season just starting should be no exception. Last year's graduating gridirers, as represented by two All-Star squads who played in the annual North-South game at Gainesville in August, included really great talent, and had many a visiting coaching scout running around in circles.

Virtually all Florida prep football is played at night, frequently on Fridays, sometimes on Thursdays and Saturdays, avoiding as much as possible conflict with the hours of college games. All over the state the same kind of picture is repeated in varying degrees, from small communities where the field is lined by standing room and a few bleachers, to the larger cities where the prepsters get a chance to play in the big bowls.

But they all go in for bands and colorful cheerleaders and pageantry at half-time.

There is no system for determining a clear-cut football champion in Florida high school circles. Most of the bigger powers play in the Big Ten Conference, although there are such important independents as Miami Senior High, which long ago earned a reputation by playing inter-sectional schedules.

In scattered sections there are a dozen other conferences of importance, and there is enough intra-state play to give a fair comparison of the relative strength of the top teams by season's end.

In 1953, Pensacola was declared the state's top prep team in a post-season poll of sports writers, which was quite some recognition for the team, has the geographic handicap of having to play more good teams from outside the state than within.

While there wasn't the best basis for comparison, Pensacola had such an impressive record that the poll put them No. 1, followed by Jackson of Jacksonville, which topped the Big Ten standings. Bradenton's Manatee won the honors in the West-Central section and was third in the statewide poll, followed by Miami High and Miami Edison. The remainder of the Top Ten included Palm Beach High, Miami Beach High, Miami Jackson, Wausatche, Tampa Hillsborough and Tampa Plant.

A Florida Personality

By CAMILLE FARRIS and DOROTHY MOWERY

A Florida pioneer in his field, Walter Scott Criswell of Jacksonville, Duval County Juvenile Court judge since 1923, has given the important thoughts of his life to the welfare of youth.

Jacksonville was unaware of its good luck when he arrived in 1912 to begin a job as Homeless Man Agent for Associated Charities, which put him in charge of transients.

Soon he and James Lanier, juvenile probation officer, Fred Noble, attorney, and Bob Dewell, former judge of Polk County Criminal Court, decided there must be a place for the city's homeless boys, and in the spring of 1914 a state charter was granted for a boys' home. It was called simply that—Boys' Home.

Some $1250—a truly magnificent sum for the times—was raised from a play put on by two young people's church groups. The men promptly borrowed $1250 more and made a down payment on a house at 25 East Church Street (since a casualty of Jacksonville's growth).

There was no established list of contributors to the home and for the first year no salary for the new resident superintendent—Mr. Criswell. He and Mrs. Criswell ate with the boys—mostly grits, gravy and cracked eggs (cheaper because they had minute cracks).

"We were just young enough to enjoy it," says Mrs. Criswell.

For nine years the judge headed the home. For 34 years he was its executive secretary, a position now held by his wife. When the judge retires next year from the Juvenile Court, he will not give up his interest in the home and his work with boys—it has become a habit.

Anywhere from 30 to 40 boys from ages 11 to 21 were domiciled in the early days. Jobs were found for the older ones, and before the child labor laws went into effect even the younger ones were helped to earn their keep.

The Criswell chuckle at recalling how several irate Jacksonville citizens objected because two 11-year-old boys weren't employed but were eating free at the home's expense.

During those times and the intervening years, the judge has faced many a youngster brought to court for little or big misdeeds. He is not a hard man, but he believes in discipline. He has pondered the causes and cures of juvenile delinquency and states them simply, without complicated statistics.

"The present material standard of living is one thing badly wrong with our times," he says. "We must think of life in terms other than economic ones."

Yes, he believes in studies of juvenile delinquency and campaigns to abolish it, but both delinquency and campaigns have been going on for a long time. So far no campaigns and no organization have ever ended delinquency. Delinquency goes back to the home, and it is there that changes must be made.

As for helping the already delinquent youngsters, one who has really started along a criminal path, the judge says: "There is nothing strong enough to turn him away but the love of a good person."

Last year Judge Criswell was elected vice president of the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges. He has recently agreed to edit the Council's Bulletin.

This will give him an outlet for his wit and writing ability, which often lead him to pen poems and sententious prose.

Judge Criswell has served as officer and director of many other juvenile welfare organizations and was Florida's delegate to the White House conference on children in 1930 and 1940.

For such a complex problem as juvenile delinquency the answer's pretty simple, the judge thinks—just a good home, firm discipline and love. Keep the three together and delinquency figures will start going down instead of up.

Stetson's "Inns of Court"

THE MAIN entrance to Stetson University's new law school is shown across the patio through the round-arched portal reminiscent of many churches in Spain's famed Seville.

AN AIRVIEW illustrates the beauty and architecture of Stetson's new law school at St. Petersburg. The campus formerly housed a military school and the buildings originally had been constructed for a resort hotel.

THE MAIN tower of Stetson's new College of Law (below) was copied from the famed Torre del Oro (tower of gold) in Seville.

By BLANFORD TAYLOR

THE Stetson University College of Law, which has served the bench and bar of Florida for more than a half century, is beginning a new era under auspicious circumstances on a new million-dollar campus at St. Petersburg.

The formal convocation marking the new era for the oldest college of law in Florida, was observed Sept. 19 and classes met for the first time in the new quarters on Sept. 20.

A few years ago prominent members of the alumni association suggested a new law school building and in this discussion the advantages of a new location were advanced. When civic leaders at St. Petersburg learned of the attitude of the alumni, they invited Stetson to consider using the resort hotel property which had recently been vacated by the Florida Military Academy.

These civic leaders also raised $100,000 to match a like amount from out-of-state friends of Stetson, and the University trustees purchased the buildings in residential Gulfport for the establishment of a law school patterned after the "Inns of Court" in England.

The Stetson College of Law will be more than a law school. It will be a law center to which attorneys in active practice may come to attend institutes, or for "refresher" courses covering new developments in tax laws, labor laws and other rapidly changing fields.

Buildings at the new campus are of an architecture which resulted from an eighth-century fusion of the Spanish and the Moor. The architecture, centered around a replica of the Torre del Oro (Tower of Gold) of Seville, is characterized by simple grandeur thrown into relief by sumptuous extravagant decoration.

The buildings are constructed around a great patio. In this patio are three fountains of tile brought from Pueblo, Mexico. The roof tiles came from Spanish monasteries and are 400 years old. Terra cotta tile, in some of the offices, dates back to the beginning of the eighth century.

Stetson's plans for future growth of the College of Law include a library and an auditorium of the same architecture as the present facilities.

Such a building will be in keeping with the facilities ready for the new term—100 bedrooms with private or connecting baths for students and faculty members, adequate class rooms, conference rooms and offices, a swimming pool and tennis courts on the grounds and an 18-hole golf course just across the street.

Such facilities, plus a qualified faculty and administration staff, surely bodes a great future for the Stetson College of Law.

FUN at the FROLICs

By GORDON R. ELWELL

ONE of man's most dreaded enemies is being laughed right out of Daytona Beach.

A group of women—members of Daytona Beach's Palmetto Club—are using a potent weapon to help lick a dangerous, tenacious and wanton murderer.

The weapon is laughter and gaiety. The murderer is cancer.

For the fourth year, the ladies of the Palmetto Club, with the help of their menfolk, are sponsoring the annual Palmetto Follies to raise money to provide a personal and heart-warming service for cancer victims who cannot help themselves.

Everybody who can raise a foot off the floor gets "into the act." Lawyers and doctors, housewives and business men—all get a "kick" at cancer by taking part in the annual Follies.

Last year, for example, these willing amateurs raised nearly $7,000 in a two-night "stand" at Daytona's Peabody Auditorium. They are amateur, however, in name only. Their audiences claim Daytona is full of non-professional counterparts of the professional stage's biggest name entertainers.

This year on the nights of Nov. 11 and 12, a cast including several score of Daytona's highest kickers, loudest singers and creaky acrobats will risk life and limb to amuse their patrons and bring help to cancer victims.

In addition to giving aid to actual victims of cancer, some of the Follies "take" is used each year for an educational program at the semi-monthly Sun Tumor Clinic operated at Daytona's Halifax Hospital. Members work in the clinic, answering telephones, keeping records and running errands for the staff. In addition, the club members hold regular sessions for bandaging and preparing other sick room supplies.

The Palmetto Club also operates a "Cancer Loan Closet" from which they distribute free such essentials as hospital beds, pillows, radios and other supplies to cancer victims who cannot afford them.

The unhappy reason for the annual Follies, however, does not dampen the spirits of those who put their "all" into the production that in three short years has gained widespread fame and brought real aid to literally hundreds of ailing neighbors who otherwise might have gone without, not only comforts, but actual necessities to help them through a life-and-death crisis.

NO COMMENT seems necessary. These Palmetto beauties speak for themselves.

YOUR GUESS is as good as ours on what these "chorus boys" (above) of the Palmetto Follies are practicing for—but they're practicing. We understand he missed (below) but the pretty and brave acrobat only had a couple of bruises and will be ready to try for kinks for the regular performance—the says.

A MODIFIED and modest "strip tease" starts off the Follies chorus line in the best tradition of the theater—"get 'em interested."

TURNS in TAPE

By BILL COPELAND

WHEN is work a hobby and when is hobby work? Mr. and Mrs. (Hack and Marie) Swain can't answer that one for you and it really doesn't cause them much concern because quite a number of years ago their work and their hobby or vice versa got all mixed up and they haven't untangled them yet. Not do they want to. Their work-hobby (custom tape recording) is their life, love and leisure.

The combination of Hack Swain at the combined consoles of organ and piano and Marie Swain at the console of their tape recording equipment has evolved into one of the country's finest tape recording and film studios at Sarasota.

And it all began in the Swains' living room in their Moorish-architecture home in the Granada section of Sarasota with an upright piano and an Eico home recording outfit.

In those days, Hack spent long hours at a downtown supper club entertaining the tourists and home folks with his unusual blending of electric piano (which he developed) and Hammond Organ. He also did a remote two-hour show from the grille over Sarasota's WSPB and, by tape, over a number of other stations in the nation.

But he still found time to dabble in tape. And Marie, who handled the phone requests on his radio show for him, learned all about tape along with Hack.

Starting in one corner of their living room, Hack and Marie very soon crowded the living space out of the room for more "living it up" space via multiple tape effects and other experimentations.

Hack has been around radio studios most of his life, starting as a "child prodigy" on WHAM in Rochester, N. Y. When he found the scheduling of shows over WSPB in Sarasota pretty confining, Hack became more interested in tape recording from a practical standpoint and soon he was not only taping his local shows, but shipping spools around the country.

Tape gave Hack more time—for more tape. He could not only fill the requests of other stations for his unusual music and amiable chatter show, he could spend time at the thing he and Marie have always loved most—trial by tape.

It was only natural that other tape enthusiasts should start seeking out Hack and Marie for special jobs. Good, sound professional equipment soon replaced the home recording equipment and soon the living room was very much a studio—and very much too crowded.

Hack's feelings of being crowded were shared by a friend and business associate of his—Bill Carey, of Carey Advertising in Sarasota. They decided to pool their interests and take over most of a new building at Laurel Avenue and Washington Blvd. (South Tamiami Trail) in Sarasota.

There Hack put into reality his dreams of the perfect studio. At last Marie had the big console for mixing and "riding" the particular "sounds" the two of them had long dreamed of putting on tape.

With so much to spur their interests, time began to mean less and less to Hack and Marie. The tape threaded through the cutting head around the clock many times and the 16-hour day became almost routine.

Their efforts more in demand and the multiple track PAGE 10—All Florida Magazine reels gaining more interest. Hack and Marie called in Bill Putnam, president of Universal Recording Company, Chicago, to spare no time and expense in making the Sarasota recording studio the finest in tape facilities to be found anywhere.

Two completely-equipped studios are now offered on a rental basis, with or without Hack or Marie pitching in on the technical supervision. Each studio has a Hammond Organ and the large studio also has a Baldwin Piano and 16 mm. film projection facilities. Non-parallel floating walls and a minutely-engineered series of semi-cylindrical wall polys and sound pans assure acoustical flexibility and perfection.

Included in the equipment are Apex 350 recorders and high speed tape duplicators, RCA control console, Cinema equalizer, high and low pass filters, Presto 6-N cutting lathes and turntable, Rek-O-Kut playback equipment with Pickering diamond pick-ups, six microphone channels with echo chamber input to any one or all channels, Western Electric 630, Telefunken, Altec 21C microphones and Karlson enclosures.

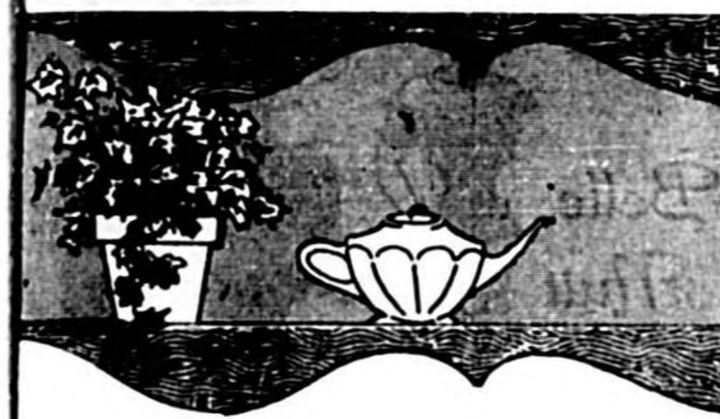

At the audio show at the Hotel New Yorker last year, officials and recording fans alike acclaimed the work Hack and Marie had completed with their new equipment.

Hack is doing more radio shows than ever these days thanks to tape—and oddly enough it gives him more time for tape experimentation than he previously had when he was "nailed down" to his live shows.

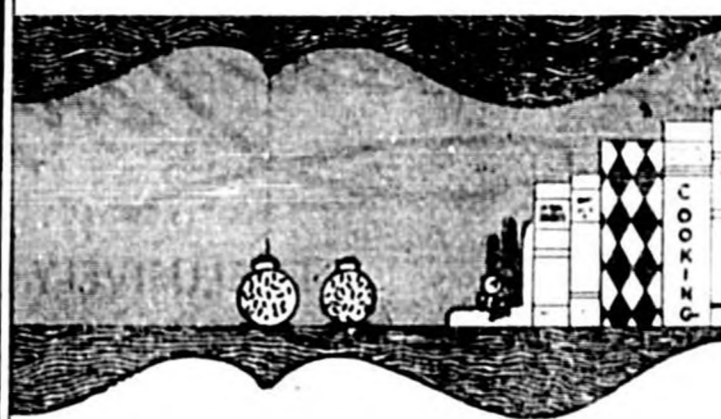

Besides the shows and custom jobs as well as special assignments from record firms, Hack and Marie also very much tied up in a record album of Sunshine State tunes called "Florida Calling." So popular has the album been, its tunes are being worked into an all-state series called "Florida Calling." The firm also has 260 15-minute open-end Hack Swain shows in catalog, a library of stylized, original, imaginative music tracks for high fidelity fans, industrial sound systems, 30-minute programs of organ music, tapes for funeral homes and parks and incidental uses of virtually every nature.

The combination of Hack Swain Productions with Bill Carey Advertising offers complete script, music, dramatic, announcing and engineer staff geared to produce commercial radio and TV spots, open-end radio and TV shows, sound effects, eight-hour music tracks for commercial background use and commercial sound movies.

It's a long jump from the living room set-up, but Hack and Marie aren't too surprised that it has boomed and is still rolling at an advanced speed. They've learned there's almost no limit to what you can do with tape.

Mary Louise's KITCHEN Shelf

NO ONE can use a can opener and heat a pot of soup on the stove for a meal but it takes someone with imagination to realize that the fine art of soup-making will label them an expert in the field of culinary technique. Nothing is more soul-warming than an appetizing bowl of home-made soup with a myriad of ingredients in the "just right" proportions. With cooler days just around the corner, you will want to plan on serving soups regularly as there are countless variations in the field of kitchen-pleasing.

There are soups of all kinds from which you can choose and experiment with for your "very own" specialty: thick onion soup, rich lobster stew, companionable chowders. There are soups to serve as meals in themselves, soups to pave the palate for entrees to come, soups to tuck away in the refrigerator for sudden hunger. If you are "in a hurry or just plain lazy," there are ingenious ways to lift canned soups from the expected to the taste-treat. Take your time and take your choice. When you find The Soup with which to anchor your culinary reputation, when you add the personal touch which makes it yours, "you, too, can be a souper cook!"

To give your canned soup that indefinable "umph," try mixing can with can. For example, a can of bean-with-bacon soup mixed with a can of condensed pea soup (plus a can of milk), or bisque of tomato with clam soup, chicken soup with cream of mushroom, mock turtle soup with pea soup, chicken with celery soup, cream of oyster and tomato, diluted with milk and seasoned with paprika and sherry, chicken gumbo with vegetable, dashed with Worcestershire, onion soup with chicken gumbo, pepper pot with chicken noodle.

Look for the unusual varieties of soup as well as for the best brands of the classic favorites. In solo, or in combination, all canned soups are the better for imaginative seasoning, too. Try sherry, butters, mustard, Worcestershire, chopped chives, lemon slices wherever they seem appropriate and sometimes where they don't. Or try—Brazilian Consomme. This calls for nuts in your soup. Take four cups of canned consommé, 1/2 cup whipped cream, 1/2 teaspoon paprika, 1/2 cup finely cut brazil nuts. Heat soup, put cream on top of each cup and sprinkle with paprika and finely chopped brazil nuts. Or open a can of creamed pea soup, add a dash of onion, 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg and sprinkle with brazil nuts. Another recipe using canned soup will be found in the All Florida Cookbook.

PUDDIN' PROOF

Mix 1 cup flour, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup milk, 1/4 cup oil, 1/4 cup water. Bake in greased pie pan for 15 minutes.

Cherry Cottage Cheese Pie
1/2 cup cottage cheese, 1/2 cup milk, 1/4 cup oil, 1/4 cup water, 1/2 cup flour, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/4 cup raisins. Bake in greased pie pan for 15 minutes.

... Cook until thick when used the cherries. Cook. Mix the cottage cheese and sugar thoroughly. Add the teaspoon of cornstarch and eggs, which have been well beaten. Add the lemon juice and beat together. Pour the mixture into pie pan and pour cheese mixture over cherries. Bake in 350 degree oven for 40 minutes.

Weekly Household Hint
Milk will not scorch so easily when heating in saucepan if you rinse the pan with water first.

CITRUS RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Florida Orange Roll
1 cup sugar, 1/2 cup oil, 1/4 cup flour, 1/4 cup baking powder, 1/4 cup salt, 1/4 cup confectioner's sugar.

Beat eggs until thick and lemon-colored; beat in sugar gradually. Blend in orange juice. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Line shallow pan 10 by 15 inches, with waxed paper, having the paper extend one inch beyond edge of pan. Turn batter into pan, bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 10 minutes. Sift confectioner's sugar on brown wrapping paper three inches larger than pan. Turn cake out on this; remove wax paper. Spread with Orange Filling and roll up like a jelly roll. Yield: 10-inch slices.

Florida Orange Filling
1/2 cup sugar, 1/4 cup orange marmalade, 1/4 cup orange juice, 1 egg yolk, slightly beaten, 1 table-spoon butter or margarine.

Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt in top of double boiler. Blend in orange juice, mix thoroughly. Cook over direct heat, and stir constantly, until mixture is thickened. Place over boiling water, cook 10 minutes longer. Stir small amount of orange marmalade into the egg yolk, return to mixture in double boiler, cook, stirring constantly, three minutes longer. Add butter. Remove from heat, cool.

Crabmeat A la Newburg Soup

1 can cream of mushroom soup, 1/2 cup milk, 1/4 cup butter, 1/4 cup sherry, 1/2 cup crabmeat.

Onion Soup

4 pounds of onions, 6 bouillon cubes, 1 pint of thick cream, 1 loaf of French bread.

Cut the onions thin. Put in a non-pearl or French cooking dish. Add the bouillon cubes (or better yet, a cup of soup stock or a can of beef broth). Break the bread into small pieces and put in the pot. Cover this with enough water to submerge the ingredients. Put a lid on the pot, let it come almost to a boil, and then push to the back of the stove to simmer all day. Just before you are ready to serve, add one pint of thick cream. The bread by this time is disintegrated and the soup the consistency of puree. Serves six.

Concha Soup

1/2 pound of ham, 1/2 pound of chicken, 1/2 pound of onion, 1/2 pound of potato, 1/2 pound of carrot, 1/2 pound of celery, 1/2 pound of parsley, 1/2 pound of tomato, 1/2 pound of mushroom, 1/2 pound of cauliflower, 1/2 pound of green beans, 1/2 pound of peas, 1/2 pound of corn, 1/2 pound of lima beans, 1/2 pound of kidney beans, 1/2 pound of lentils, 1/2 pound of chickpeas, 1/2 pound of black beans, 1/2 pound of pinto beans, 1/2 pound of navy beans, 1/2 pound of great northern beans, 1/2 pound of cannellini beans, 1/2 pound of adzuki beans, 1/2 pound of mung beans, 1/2 pound of soybeans, 1/2 pound of lentils, 1/2 pound of chickpeas, 1/2 pound of black beans, 1/2 pound of pinto beans, 1/2 pound of navy beans, 1/2 pound of great northern beans, 1/2 pound of cannellini beans, 1/2 pound of adzuki beans, 1/2 pound of mung beans, 1/2 pound of soybeans.

Frocks n' Frills

By PAULA CLARK
All Florida Fashion Editor

FLORIDA fruit colors will brighten your wardrobe as well as your menu, if Miami designers have their way.

A preview of Florida resort fashions staged at Miami Beach for press and trade hints at a heavy accent on tropic shades like lime and avocado green, orange sherbet, golden coconut and watermelon pink.

Margie of Miami, spurred by the success of its fruitbowl separates last season, adds watermelon, avocado and lime to the food-in-fashion trend, with the help of appliques.

Margie's new middie costume, combining striped and solid fabric in a Florida Colonial feeling, adds a new look to this carefree cotton collection.

Alix of Miami takes a firm stand on the Dior-or-bust controversy—right in the middle of the argument with a collection that interprets the new silhouette with a Florida accent. The waistline is there—but it is eased and softened and occasionally hints at the slenderizing long torso look.

Creative Margaret Newman, who launched her long torso look (complete with bows) last season, adds a luxurious note to the Miami market with fur trimmings and accessories on her formals.

Sun dresses, jacket frocks that look like one-piece, magnificent prints, pastel linens, exciting embroideries and elegant laces appear in these collections.

For those with an eye to the convertible, all-occasion frock, Alix offers an easy, classic jumper, in embroidered linen. The simple lines of this scoop-necked, button-front frock make it suitable for daytime or evening wear. The addition of a white blouse turns it into a completely different costume.

None of these designers limits resort collections to fruit colors, although the orange-lime-yellow-coconut motif adds continuity to the cruisewear picture. Alix launches cotton peau de soie in bonbon colors, the frocks sparkled with soutache embroidery and delicate glitter beads. His quilted polished cottons in Jordan almond colors range from pale French blue to daffodil with a lovely beige and stark white included.

These made-in-Florida fashions will head south Dec. 14 on steam from New York when Miami designers are offering the world. There'll be real excitement this year about the middies, jumpers, sportswear and even (more about this later) swim suits coordinated with skirts, blouses and dresses.

After all, the casual way of life that is sweeping the nation derives its pattern from Florida. No reason why our up-and-coming state should yield fashion leadership to any other area.

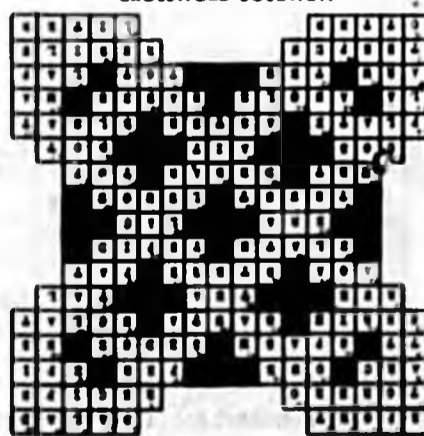

STRIPES AND PRECIOUS METAL. (gold or silver) make fashion news from Florida to France and here is an advance peek at an all-occasion coat by Alix of Miami. Careful manipulation of the blue and silver striped cotton adds the custom-tailored look typical of this designer. Elasticized shoulders can be worn on or off the shoulders. This dress is also available in gold and eggshell. Style 1641 by Alix, size 8-20, approximate retail $29.95.

SCHOOL BUS-AUTO ACCIDENT—And to this my children have ridden that bus for years. Mrs. Francis T. Meriwether (inset), Colory Ave., said this morning, according to Philip Arnold Williams, just before she fainted after figuring in a school bus-automobile accident at 13th St. and McBurnville Ave. According to a police report, the 1953 Chevrolet driven by Mrs. Meriwether struck the left side of school bus No. 44, driven by Mrs. Mildred Spitzer, 207 E. Fifth St. The bus was in the process of making a left hand turn south onto McBurnville Ave. when the accident occurred. Mrs. Meriwether was arrested on a charge of passing at an intersection. Damage was estimated at $25 to the bus (note long scratch in side) and $50 to the car. Mrs. Meriwether has been active in school and Parent-Teacher Association work for some years. (Staff Photo)

Typhoon Is Fatal To 1,500

58 Americans Dead, Missing In N. Japan

TOKYO (AP)—An estimated 1,500 persons perished in a howling typhoon which struck northern Japan last night, including nearly 1,000 who died when a huge sea-going ferry capsized.

Fifty-eight Americans are dead or missing.

American sailors and 500 bodies have been recovered, including those of 14 Americans. Another 943 are missing, among them 41 Americans.

The great storm generating winds up to 110 miles an hour apparently had whirled harmlessly into the Japan Sea when suddenly it curled back and struck the northern island of Hokkaido almost without warning.

The result was Japan's greatest maritime disaster.

Giant waves in Tsugaru Straits sank five big ferries, four of which carried 100 passengers, and hundreds of small craft.

A fire virtually wiped out Iwanai, a city of 23,000 on Hokkaido's west coast, and police reported disastrous landslides and floods throughout Hokkaido.

Communications and power lines were wrecked. Rail lines and highways were blocked.

The most terrible disaster occurred in Hakodate harbor, where the big ocean ferry Toya Maru carrying 1,252 passengers and crewmen, smashed into rocks and turned turtle.

Forty-three railroad cars were hurled about inside the hull.

A survivor described the stricken vessel as "a hell on earth."

The first fireman to reach Hakodate harbor used a similar phrase in describing it—"a sea of hell."

Eyewitnesses said the sickle-shaped harbor and its mile-long coast resembled a great naval disaster scene of the Pacific war.

Wrecks of five ships and literally hundreds of small craft littered the beach.

The sand was dotted with bodies, many wearing life jackets which had failed to save their lives in the raging surf.

Smashed lifeboats, shattered timbers, oil and all the flotsam and jetsam of a sea disaster covered the beach.

"We've got a terrible thing up here," said Col. John C. Hanford, commander of the U. S. Air Base at Misawa, who flew over the scene.

In the town of Iwanai, 90 miles north of Hakodate, 32 persons died in a fire which destroyed 3,000 of the town's 4,500 houses in a few minutes. Forty-four persons were injured and others are missing, authorities said.

Hakodate was without light on power emergency generators were put in operation to flood light the disaster scene inside the breakwater, where the oily keel of the Toya Maru was visible above the still churning water.

Japan's maritime safety force reported one other ocean freighter sunk, five grounded and one damaged in the storm. More than 100 small craft, mostly fishing boats, were lost, beached or damaged.

Twenty-seven patrol boats, six landing vessels, three mine sweepers, Japanese-crewed boats and a Japanese-crewed tug were also damaged.

The U. S. Far East Command announced that American military personnel were aboard the Toya Maru and that one was known to have survived.

Two other Americans listed as missing and presumably drowned were Thomas M. West, an agent for a domestic firm, and Dean Leeper, 32, of Ohio, student secretary for the Japan YMCA.

Alfred H. Stone, 52, a missionary from the Christian Press here as a known fatality.

Donald B. Erb, a missionary on the Toya Maru, was missing.

Ralph T. Cowan, Businessman, Civic Leader, Drowns In Lake

BOAT—The charred bulk of the boat of which Ralph T. Cowan, Sanford businessman, was a passenger before his drowning yesterday, is shown as it drifted in Lake Monroe. The boat was a cabin cruiser about 15 feet long, powered by a 25-horsepower outboard motor. (Staff Photo)

Tragedy Caused By Fire

Funeral Rites To Be Tomorrow

Four commercial fishermen last night recovered the body of Ralph T. Cowan, 53, department store owner and civic leader, after Mr. Cowan drowned late yesterday afternoon in Lake Monroe near the Mayfair Inn.

Used in the recovery operation was a 300-foot net borrowed by County Sheriff J. L. Hobbs for this purpose. The fishermen were Duke Winsor and Floyd Lester and Charles Sharpe, all of Sanford.

The net was brought into play after dragging operations by the police department, a Navy detail and volunteers were exhausted after it became quite dark.

Mr. Cowan drowned after leaving his burning boat according to eye witnesses.

T. O. Brown, 267 W. 10th St., is

RALPH T. COWAN—An eye witness account of the tragedy, said he first noticed Mr. Cowan's boat drifting in the lake, and did not know its occupants.

I saw the man try to crank his outboard motor, but he started and the motor did not start," he said. The occupant then sat down as if he were tired," Brown related.

Brown said he then heard what sounded like a muffled explosion and saw the boat occupant climb up on the yacht's side and wave his arms and shout for help. Brown then saw the boat was tilted and looked along the vessel for a few minutes before he called the police station.

Police boats were at the spot and launched a boat over the sea. Cowan disappeared in the water just as the boat was starting to sink. In another minute and a half of two minutes, we'd have been out there," he said.

W. Scott, 401 Scott Ave., related that Cowan already was in the water when he and his wife came upon the scene. He also blew his horn and sped for the police department, arriving there shortly after Brown.

Scott said he thought that Cowan's head popped up three times near the boat after he arrived back at the scene.

Fred Johnson, 1040s who was fishing on the sea while the boat caught fire, said he thought another person also was in the boat, but this fact has not been substantiated.

According to Sheriff Hobbs, the body was in perfect condition except for a mark on the left side of the neck where it looked as if a drag hook had caught it.

Dragging operations were started about 1:00 feet from shore. Hobbs said and the body was found in a short time. Aiding the fishermen in the operation were the fire department, the police department, the Navy detail and others in a private boat.

Cornet Hugh Duncan ruled that death was by accidental drowning.

Mr. Cowan was born in McDonough, Ga., Oct. 17, 1892, and came to Sanford in 1928. He operated a department store here about 21 years.

He was president of Sanford Industries, Inc., a member of the First Methodist Church here and a member of the Kiwanis Club.

Survivors include his widow; son, Ralph T. Cowan, Jr., and granddaughter, Gayle Lee Cowan, both of Sanford; father and stepmother, the Rev. and Mrs. E. C. Cowan Sr., Douglasville, Ga.; five sisters, Mrs. G. W. Gauge, Stone Mountain, Ga.; Mrs. W. J. Harper, Euclid, Ga.; Miss Evelyn Cowan, Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Howard W. Dial, East Point, Ga.; and Mrs. Elizabeth Lovelace, Douglasville, Ga.; three brothers, David M., Pampa, Texas; Douglas M., Atlanta, and E. C., Jr., Sanford.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p. m. tomorrow at the First Methodist Church with the Rev. Milton H. Wyatt, pastor officiating. Burial will be in Evergreen cemetery.

DRAGGING—The Sanford police department boat is shown as it was being facilitated for dragging operations yesterday morning after the drowning death of Ralph T. Cowan. Several boats were used in dragging operations, including the Naval Auxiliary Air Station's crash boat, before they were stopped because of rough seas. Search was resumed later and the body was found at 10:35 p. m. in 10 feet of water through the use of a net. (Staff Photo)

Lawyer, Accused In Death Of Daughter, Is Returning

Baltimore Attorney Signs Extradition Papers At Hearing; Authorities Attempt To Close Weeks-Old Slaying Case

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—Attorney James T. Roberts, accused of killing his 6-year-old daughter and leaving her body on a lonely Miami Beach, said yesterday he will return to Florida.

The hearing, held in 43-year-old Baltimorean's name, two copies of the extradition papers at a short hearing in the chambers of Baltimore County Circuit Court Judge J. Howard Murray.

Roberts told the judge he was returning to Florida "on my own."

"If I had known about this (the warrant) I would have gone long ago to clear myself," Roberts gave himself up shortly after last midnight and indicated when he would be willing to return to Florida.

Roberts, accompanied by his wife, law partner and minister, walked into police headquarters about four hours after prosecutor George A. Brautigam of Dade County, Fla., had ordered him arrested.

About an hour earlier, he had called Paine and asked if a warrant had been issued for him. Told there was a warrant, he said "OK, I'm coming in."

Deputy sheriffs Earl Venno and William McHenry of Dade County said they would leave for Florida with Roberts immediately after the hearing.

Roberts' 6-year-old daughter, Judith Ann, was stolen from the home of her grandparents in Miami July 7. Her body was found a few hours later in a thicket on Biscayne Bay. She had been beaten and strangled.

A grand jury returned a secret indictment in Miami last Friday. Its contents remained a secret until Brautigam made them public here last evening.

The two-count indictment accused Roberts, "John Doe and or Mary Roe" of premeditated murder and "an attempt to perpetrate an abominable and detestable crime against nature or kidnapping."

Brautigam said "we know there was at least one other person in this."

The Dade County prosecutor arrived here Saturday morning with the indictment. He kept police, city prosecutor Anselm Solara, Paine and a legion of newsmen guessing at his intentions.

Paine, who had jurisdiction in the case, says Brautigam for the first time when he showed up at headquarters last night about 8 o'clock and asked that a fugitive warrant be issued for Roberts.

An hour later, Paine called Roberts' law partner, Harold J. Hastings Jr., and notified him of the warrant. Hastings had promised to produce Roberts if he were wanted.

Hastings told Paine that Roberts had come for a car ride and he didn't know where he was. After an hour and 40 minutes wait, detective Capt. Carroll V. Simmons issued a general order to pick up Roberts.

Roberts was grim and flushed as he walked into the police station clutching Mrs. Roberts' hand. The Rev. Darke Heller, a Baptist minister, drove the Roberts and Hastings here in his car.

While he was being booked, a photographer snapped a picture through a window. Roberts whirled around and demanded: "Hey, who in the hell is taking pictures in here. I don't have to put up with that."

Strolling In Sanford

Seven perfect attendance pins were presented yesterday to teachers at the Lutheran Church and Redeemer's Sunday School Rally Day program. Jerry Senkarik, superintendent of the Sunday school, praised the teachers for their faithfulness, study, and hard work during the past Sunday School year. "We begin our new Sunday School year with 100 Mr. Senkarik said, with nine teachers and over 30 pupils, with a beginning just one year ago with five teachers and only nine pupils. The teachers presented with Sunday School Teachers' pins were Mrs. Edna Southward, Miss Jackie Senkarik, Mrs. Shirley Smith, Mrs. Helen Wynn, Mrs. Lillian Hucker, Mrs. Margie Mudge, and Mrs. John Senkarik. Senkarik told the Rally Day Sunday School audience that "our Sunday School has contributed over $70 to missions so that Sunday Schools can be established throughout the world." The Rev. Phillip Schlessman, pastor of the church, concluded the rally day service with his sermon, "Responsibilities of Parents to Their Children."

Through Saturday 8,758 driver's licenses have been sold, this leaves approximately 3,500 to be disposed of in the remaining three days before Oct. 1.

10 Negro Pupils Report For Class At Milford School

MILFORD, Del. (AP)—Ten Negro pupils reported for classes at Milford High School today, but an undetermined number of white students stayed home in a dispute over an aid to integration.

Dr. George H. Miller, state education commissioner, said he had no immediate idea how many of the 1,500 pupils registered at the combination high and elementary school reported for classes but insisted "a normal schedule was being carried out."

The previously all-white school and the town's only other school, which houses 224 elementary grade Negro students, had been closed a week. The shutdown occurred when a group of Milford's 3,000 residents protested the attendance of 11 Negroes.

The school district's 14 buses operated without incident—but they carried less than half their normal daily load. Each bus usually brings about 35 pupils to school, but today a newsmen said the biggest load was 11 students, while 3 buses had no passengers at all.

Many parents brought their children in the family auto. Eight Negroes arrived this way, the other two by bus.

Milford's eight men police force, augmented by 15 state policemen patrolled the school area. About 100 persons, orderly, lined the sidewalks. Police dispersed small gatherings when they developed.

Meantime, a pro-segregation organization official forecast a court battle if integration of the Negroes—six boys and five girls—is continued.

Joseph M. Deanes of Hartley, Del., vice president of the National Assn. of the Advancement of White People, said a court injunction would be sought to keep the Negroes from attending classes with white pupils.

District Governor Asks For Increase In Rotary Members

Sanford Rotarians today heard district governor Chesley Perry of Ft. Myers stress the wish of the Rotarian's International president for a 10 per cent increase in membership throughout the world in this golden anniversary year of the organization.

Paraphrasing an old saying Perry said he believed the world needed both "more men in Rotary and more Rotary in men." He called the organization, "an international maker of friendships," while emphasizing the world-wide nature of the organization.

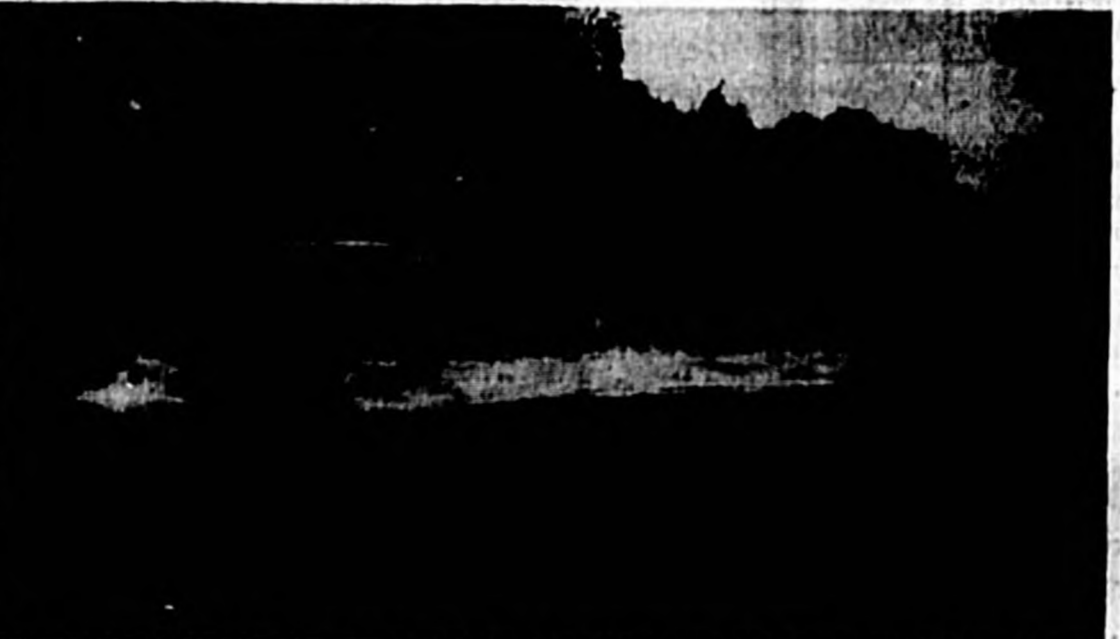

"Of the 456 new Rotary clubs organized last year," he said "five had come into existence in this, the 34th district. The 400 members of world Rotary show this organization is not an experiment but a proven experiment in good will and service above self."

Perry called upon the Sanford Rotarians as one of the oldest clubs in the district to share Rotary with others worthy of its honor in 1954-55.

Material Witness Is Suicide Victim

FREDERICK, Md. (AP)—A woman under bond as a material witness in a homicide killed herself yesterday after she had called to her employer, "I think I'll shoot myself."

Sheriff Horace Alexander said Reva Wiles (Clay), 38, was to have testified at the trial of William W. Bennett, shot herself in the head. She had testified last week before a grand jury which indicted Bennett on a charge of "assault with intent to murder" Charles H. Harmon.

STREET FLOODED—Water went over the curbs at 13th St. and Elm Ave. Saturday afternoon during a deluge which, according to E. J. Moughton Jr., local weather observer, totaled 3.6 inches. Several vehicles were stalled in the flooded area. (Staff Photo)

Probe Group Advises Censuring McCarthy

68-Page Report Is To Be Considered By Senate In Special Session, Nov. 8

WASHINGTON (AP)—A special Senate investigating committee recommended today that Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy "should be censured" by the Senate.

The six-member committee said McCarthy, Wisconsin Republican, had treated the Senate and one of its committees contemptuously. It said further that on another count his alleged abuse of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, "the senator from Wisconsin, Mr. McCarthy should be censured."

As for three other broad charges considered in four days of hearings, the committee said it felt they "do not" under all the evidence, justify a resolution of censure.

The Senate will convene in special session Nov. 8 to consider the recommendations.

It will decide then whether to vote censure or noncensure.

Adoption of a censure resolution would amount simply to a public rebuke of McCarthy and would not itself remove any of his senatorial privileges.

The special committee's report ran to 68 printed pages, a total of around 40,000 words. Much of the text was devoted to a summary of the evidence.

"For the reasons and on the facts found in this report, the select committee recommends:

"1 That on the charges in the category of 'incidents of contempt of the Senate or a senatorial committee,' the senator from Wisconsin, Mr. McCarthy, should be censured.

"2 That the charges in the category of 'incidents of encouragement of United States employees to violate the law and their oaths of office or executive orders,' do not, under all the evidence, justify a resolution of censure.

"3 That the charges in the category of 'incidents involving receipt or use of confidential information or other confidential information from executive files,' do not, under all the evidence, justify a resolution of censure.

"4 That the charges in the category of 'incidents involving abuse of colleagues in the Senate,' except as to those dealt with in the first category, do not, under all the evidence, justify a resolution of censure.

"5 That on the charges in the category of 'incidents relating to Ralph W. Zwicker, a general officer of the Army of the United States,' the senator from Wisconsin, Mr. McCarthy, should be censured."

Actress Applauded In Initial Bullfight

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—Former New York actress Bette Ford won applause here yesterday in what critics said was the best appearance of her brief career as a woman bullfighter.

She was rewarded two ears and the tail of one bull for her excellent performance, but got only an applause for her second bull—a stubborn black animal that took numerous sword thrusts to dispatch.

DON'T FORGET—The first Democratic primaries will be on Oct. 5 and registration books will be open until Oct. 7.
