Boys Find Human Bones; Lawmen Searching Area

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

Lawmen today were searching for clues to the identity of human skeletal remains found in the Tuscaawilla Forrest subdivision.

The bones were found Thursday by two 10-year-old Winter Springs boys who were playing in a charred brush fire site behind a house on the street where they live.

Seminole County sheriff's investigators reported the remains were found at the rear of 380

Ringwood Circle at 5:10 p.m.

A small caliber handgun was found beside the remains and sheriff's spokesman John Spolski said there was a hole in the skull that might have been made by a bullet, but a cause of death has not been determined.

The bones will be examined by Sheriff's Department forensic experts, but at this point, Spolski said, the sex of the remains has not been determined.

The brush fire was not intense enough to significantly damage the bones, he said, but because of the length of time they had been at the sight they had apparently been scattered by animals and a complete skeleton has not been found.

Lawmen were today searching the area for more bones. The near total deterioration of clothing found with the bones indicates the body had apparently been at the site for quite some time, sheriff's Lt. George Hagood said.

Debbie Brearley of 380 Ringwood Circle, Winter Springs, points out area where lawmen removed human skeletal remains found behind her home Thursday. A small caliber handgun was also found at the scene. There was a hole in a skull, which sheriff's spokesman John Spolski said may have been caused by bullet. Lawmen continued to search the site today. Two 10-year-old boys first spotted the bones. They were in an area charred by a brush fire.

Bad Check Puts Ex-Reserve Deputy Back In Hot Water

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

An ex-reserve deputy on probation for lying to a grand jury has been released on bond following his arrest on a charge of writing a bad check.

Ed Schuckman III, 36, of Longwood, was released from custody today on a pretrial release which means he will not have to put up bond to get out of jail. Schuckman, who once headed the Seminole County citizen's Dispute Settlement program, was arrested Monday, according to sheriff's deputies.

Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr. ordered the pretrial release without bond over the objection of Assistant State Attorney Kurt Erienbach who said Schuckman is charged with a felony and should not be released without bond.

Assistant Public Defender Shannon Wilson said Schuckman is unemployed, indicating that getting the money for a bond would be difficult. She also said Schuckman was receiving psychological counseling which would be interrupted if he were returned to jail.

Schuckman was arrested on a charge of writing a $110 check at a Seminole County Sun Bank on July 19, 1984, when he knew he did not have the funds to cover the check. The arrest for the bad check was a violation of Schuckman's probation condition that he not break the law.

Mize set March 22 to consider whether Schuckman violated his probation. A hearing on the bad check charge is scheduled before Circuit Judge S. Joseph Davis March 6.

The 3-day total for the drive was $13,362.50, which is $1,000 more than last year. The goal this year is 1,200 members. There were 6% renewals prior to the drive, which aren't included in the money total. At press time a total of members was not yet available, but the number is expected to be near the goal.

Lake Mary OKs Water, Sewer Pact

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

The Lake Mary City Commission gave final approval Thursday to four agreements with Seminole County that will provide water and sewer service to residents on the southern edge of the city.

After five months of negotiations, the two governing bodies agreed that the county would supply sewer service free of charge to residents in the area of Lake Mary bounded by Lake Mary Boulevard to the north, to the city limits to the south and between Lake Emma Road and Interstate 4. The service will be provided by the county's newly-acquired Greenwood Lakes Utilities facility just south of Lake Mary.

Seminole County bought the facility from Sumner Kramer in August for $6.3 million, with the stipulation that the Lake Mary City Commission approve extension of the plant's water and sewer lines into Lake Mary.

While only six residents live in the parcel of land to be served by the plant, the contracts allow for growth in the area and provide that new homes and businesses will be serviced.

The county will provide free sewer service but Lake Mary will charge $1.50 per 1,000 gallons of sewage a customer sends for treatment.

The contracts also allow Lake Mary to continue to retain the exclusive right to serve the area with water. The city will buy water from the county wholesale at 52 cents per gallon and sell it for $1.93. Lake Mary will be able to charge the fee until its own $1.4 million water plant, which is under construction, is completed.

As part of the contract package, the county agreed to treat sewage from the troublesome percolation ponds in the Forest mobile home park in Lake Mary.

For City Manager

Field Down To 6

Sanford's Assistant City Manager Steve Harriett is out of the running for the city manager's post.

Harriett was eliminated from further consideration by city commissioners Thursday, while six finalists were selected.

City staff are notifying the finalists today and setting interview appointments for the week of March 4.

Harriett said today he was disappointed at the news, but would continue working in Sanford as the assistant city administrator. "Sanford is my home. I enjoy working here and this is where my future is," Harriett said. He said he first learned of his application being withdrawn from the running from City Manager Warren E. "Pete" Knowles, "either late yesterday afternoon, or early this morning." Asked if he intends to appeal to the commission for further consideration, Harriett said, "At this point in time, no. I will do whatever is appropriate, but I haven't given that aspect of it much thought. The commission has made its decision. That was their job, and I'll abide, certainly, by their wishes."

Commissioner David Farr said Harriett was rejected because a majority of the commissioners felt he was not as qualified as those finalists selected to be interviewed. "Out of 101 good applications, some were very good candidates, and we had a difficult time bringing it down to five."

The commissioners met Thursday afternoon to narrow the list of names from 11 selected Wednesday.

Six of the 11 were eliminated, then the commissioners plucked one name from a reserve list of 33 and boosted him to finalist. The last minute selection is Frank Falson of Richmond, Va.

Mayor Betty Smith explained: "Two of us were going over the list of 33 names held in reserve when 57 of the original

Reagan Wants Sandinistas To Say 'Uncle'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, stopping just short of calling for the overthrow of Nicaragua's government, says he merely wants the ruling Marxists to "say uncle" and restore the democratic values for which he said they fought a revolution.

The Sandinistas "don't have a decent leg to stand on," he declared at a news conference Thursday night, the 28th of his presidency and first of his second term. The 30-minute session was dominated by questions about U.S. policy in Nicaragua and the plight of American farmers.

But Reagan also broke new ground in warning the Soviets that the United States may soon decide to abrogate the 1979 SALT II accord that both sides had agreed to live up to, even though the Senate refused to ratify it.

The president was asked repeatedly whether the United States should violate its own law and remove Nicaragua's rulers.

"Well, removed in the sense of its present structure, in which it is a communist totalitarian state and it is not a government chosen by the people," he replied.

Reagan restated his longstanding argument that the revolutionaries who ousted right-wing dictator Anastasio Somoza in 1979 have since split, with the Sandinista faction in power betraying the democratic goals of the revolution, and the Contras seeking to restore them.

Asked point-blank, "Aren't you advocating the overthrow of the present government?" the president replied:

"Not if the present government would turn around and say, 'All right, if they'd say uncle. All right, come on back into the revolutionary government and let's straighten this out and institute the goals.'"

"It's like saying, 'Is the glass half full or half empty?' You can say we're trying to oust the Sandinistas. ... We're saying we're trying to give those who fought a revolution to escape a dictatorship ... to have a chance to have that democracy that they fought for."

Congress has barred U.S. covert aid to the rebels and has specifically forbidden attempts to overthrow the government.

Democrats Win Farm Compromise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan told Agriculture Secretary John Block today to put into effect new farm credit rules proposed by Senate Democrats, spokesman Larry Speakes announced.

Speakes appeared to suggest the move was the administration's final compromise offer to the Democratic legislators.

The key element in the administrative action, demanded Wednesday by Senate Democrats filibustering the nomination of Edwin Meese as attorney general, is that farmers need only to show the likelihood of breaking even instead of showing a 10 percent profit to qualify for low-cost loans.

Accusing the Democrats of engaging in "a political exercise," Speakes conceded that the new action was in response to the filibuster and would not have taken place otherwise.

Speakes said the new rules would be effective "if not immediately, then very shortly."

At his news conference Thursday night, Reagan promised to "do (his) utmost" to help debt-burdened farmers, but Senate Democrats broke off a proposed deal, charging it would "wring out" thousands of farmers.

In Ames, Iowa, Neil Harl, an Iowa State University expert on farm debt, said the scuttled deal would have helped only 10,000 more farmers in addition to the 50,000 to 60,000 he estimates will be helped by the administration's existing farm debt package.

That is only about one-third of the 240,000 farmers Harl believes are in financial trouble.

He said 35,000 is the most conservative estimate of the number of farmers who will go out of business this year, which could shove at least 15 million acres of land on already depressed markets and pull down land values for financially secure farmers. In some areas, land prices have fallen by 40 percent, which has eaten into collateral for debt-burdened farmers.

Parents Oppose Disney Film

HILLSBORO, Mo. (UPI) — Phyllis Schlafly and her Eagle Forum are coming to the aid of parents who do not want their children to see a film version of "Romeo and Juliet" and a Walt Disney movie at school.

The group of parents in the Hillsboro School District also is against guidance counseling, use of anatomical drawings of the human body in biology class and assignments that require students to write personal journals.

Schlafly said the journals "are a grave invasion of privacy." She added that spelling tests "include words on witchcraft and the occult."

The Hillsboro district, with about 2,900 students, is 25 miles south of St. Louis.

Besides "Romeo and Juliet," the parents want veto authority over the screening of the film "Never Cry Wolf," a Walt Disney production.

The protesters, who consist of about 20 parents, said they should be given the chance to exclude their children from certain school activities.

One of the parents, the Rev. James O. McConnell, said presentations by groups such as Planned Parenthood "leave the young ladies with no sense of modesty."

IN BRIEF

Sanctuary Workers Vow To Go On Aiding Refugees

HOUSTON (UPI) — Two Sanctuary Movement workers found guilty of aiding illegal Salvadoran refugees blame their convictions on a hostile jury and say the case will incite public opinion against U.S. policies in Central America.

Jack Elder, 41, and Stacey Merkt, 30, said they were surprised by the jury's decision Thursday, and their attorney said the conviction would be appealed.

Elder was found guilty of conspiracy, bringing the aliens into the United States and transporting them through south Texas. Merkt was found guilty of conspiracy, but was acquitted on two charges of illegally transporting the Salvadorans.

Merkt and Elder said they will continue working for the Sanctuary Movement and at Casa Oscar Romero, a refugee shelter funded by the Roman Catholic Diocese of Brownsville, Texas. The Sanctuary Movement is a network of about 200 U.S. churches providing refuge to Central Americans.

Elder faces up to 30 years in prison and $28,000 in fines, while Merkt could be sentenced to five years and fined $10,000. She also faces revocation of her probation on an earlier conviction. Sentencing was set for March 27.

Haydon's Recovery Slows

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Bill Schroeder smiled and waved at TV cameras on his second trip outdoors and whispered he was "feeling real fine," but doctors are awaiting word from fellow artificial heart patient Murray Haydon on when he is ready to get out of bed.

Schroeder, sporting a black beret given to him by mechanical heart inventor Robert Jarvik, looked happy but confused Thursday when he was wheeled out the employees' entrance of Humana Hospital Audubon.

A technician held a portable drive unit, which powers the plastic and metal heart Schroeder received in an implant nearly three months ago.

Haydon, who had been recovering more quickly than Schroeder, has become a bit tired. Dr. Allan Lansing said Thursday, and was prescribed a mild sedative to help him rest.

Lansing, chief medical spokesman for the Humana Heart Institute, said the medical team has become "more realistic" about Haydon's activities, which have been limited to sitting up on the side of bed.

Blaze Rips Through Warehouse

ELIZABETH, N.J. (UPI) — A mysterious fire surged through a half-mile-long spray-paint warehouse, shooting swirls of multicolored flames 300 feet into the night sky and injuring 17 firefighters as paint cans popped and fired like bullets.

Billowing plumes of choking smoke forced the closing of a 15-mile stretch of the New Jersey Turnpike — snarled with rush-hour traffic Thursday evening — and Newark International Airport for about 20 minutes. Both are located within a mile of the blaze.

The fire broke out at 6:50 p.m. at New York Bronze Inc., a firm that puts propellants into cans of spray paint, fire officials said. The blaze, lighting up the sky for miles around with a towering fountain of bright red, blue, orange and green flames, was brought under control about midnight.

Firefighters remained on the scene early today, hoisting down the smoldering debris and sifting through the charred rubble for clues about what caused the blaze.

Frat Suspended 1 Year Over Off-Color Booklet

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — All activities of Beta Theta Pi have been suspended for one year by University of Florida officials because the fraternity published a booklet containing sexist and inflammatory comments.

In addition to the one-year suspension, Dean Of Students James Scott mandated other sanctions.

"The membership of Beta Theta Pi is required to participate in a series of educational programs that will focus on sexual harassment and coercion, respect for diversity and tolerance and understanding of racial, ethnic and religious differences," Scott said.

"They must also complete two community service projects during the 1985 fall semester," Scott said. "In addition, the fraternity is prohibited from associating with any little sister program until further notice."

Beta Theta Pi's troubles began Jan. 21, when a disgruntled ex-member of the fraternity brought the booklet, "Uncensored: The 4 O'clock Weekly," to the attention of university officials.

Sam Hirsch, who was mentioned in derogatory terms in the booklet and brought it to the attention of university officials, said the booklet dealt with the possibilities of seducing certain coeds and "contained several anti-Semitic and sexist statements."

Bathroom No Prison

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — An attempt to turn a bathroom into a cell to hold an armed robbery victim did not constitute kidnapping because it did not work well enough, an appeals court has ruled.

Barring reversal of the 1st District Court of Appeal's ruling, the decision means Glenard Chaney will not serve a 30-year sentence on the kidnapping charge.

Chaney drew that sentence and a concurrent 4½-year prison term for armed robbery for his part in a September, 1983, hold-up at a Duval County plant nursery.

But in a 2-1 ruling the appeal court reversed trial judge Nelson M. Harris, Jr., stating the confinement did not last long enough, only 10 or 15 seconds, to meet the legal test for a kidnapping charge.

Fires May Have Been Set

NAPLES (UPI) — Wildfires fanned by 20-mph winds burned out of control over 2,500 acres early today, destroying a house and three mobile homes and forcing 225 people to grab a few possessions and flee their homes.

There were no injuries in the fires that broke out Thursday.

Officials said the new fires began as three small blazes shortly after 1 p.m. and, whipped by 30-mph winds, soon merged into two giant brushfires that covered 2,500 acres. Arson is suspected.

Jury: 'Execute Him'

'Now Let's Go Have A Drink At The Local Pub'

DAYTONA BEACH (UPI) — An assistant state attorney has denied a jury forewoman's charge that the jury hastily recommended death for a convicted murderer because some jurors did not want to miss "happy hour" and another had a "hot date."

Jack Watson said Thursday an investigation into charges by jury forewoman Helen Ronca was just a precaution.

"Like (Volusia County Circuit) Judge Foxman said, the investigation is out of an abundance of caution," Watson said. "I don't really think they did anything wrong. They just did their jobs."

A spokeswoman in Foxman's office said a hearing was scheduled for Wednesday. She said the jurors who recommended the death penalty for Robert Allan Tettefeller, 31, an escaped convict from Tennessee, would be questioned in court to "remove any cloud of suspicion."

Tettefeller was convicted in October 1980 for the 1979 shotgun murder of Ormond Beach pharmacy employee Peyton Moore III. Moore, 34, was killed as he walked home from the beach.

Tettefeller's death sentence in the case was overturned in 1983 by the Florida Supreme Court because a prosecutor made inflammatory remarks to the jury during the trial.

But on Jan. 25, another jury — the one Ronca headed — voted 10-2 to recommend the death penalty instead of life in prison for Tettefeller and Foxman sentenced him to die in Florida's electric chair.

A short time after Tettefeller's sentencing, Ronca wrote a letter to Tettefeller's lawyer, accusing the jury of not considering the evidence seriously enough during sentencing. She said some jurors wanted to end deliberations so they could attend "happy hour" at a local bar and another said he had a "hot date."

Ronca, one of two jurors to vote against the death penalty for Tettefeller, also claimed some jurors "snickered" when they read letters from Tettefeller's family and clergy, pleading with the court to spare his life.

Other jurors, who voted with the majority, denied Ronca's allegations.

Juror Thomas Rudderow said that Ronca's letter was "all poppycock as far as I'm concerned." He said he could not believe the comments she had made.

"I don't remember this levity she was talking about," Rudderow said. The deliberations were "a very sober experience and everybody felt pretty badly. Most of us were sick to our stomach afterward."

Snake Busters

Willie Choice, left, 12, and Ron Alston, 13, hold up a 5-foot-4-inch rattlesnake which they killed after encountering the reptile while hunting for rabbits along the railroad tracks west of 18th Street in Sanford. Ron, who walked up on the napping snake, shot it in the head three times with a BB gun. When it started rattling and hissing, the boys beat it in the head until it was dead.

First Batch Of Mariel Refugees Back In Cuba

MARIETTA, Ga. (UPI) — A woman who fled to the United States in the 1980 Mariel boatlift, and now lives in Georgia, pulled her car off the highway so she and her young son could watch 23 other Cubans arrive at an airbase to be deported.

"One man had such a look on his face," said the teary-eyed woman, who would not give her name. "He was crying. God help him when Castro gets him back. Castro is a man you would not believe."

The refugees were the first of more than 2,700 Cubans the Reagan administration plans to deport over the next three years. Nearly all of the deportation flights are expected to leave from Georgia.

Before the 23 left Thursday, 1,756 Cubans were housed at the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary awaiting deportation. Prison spokesman Bill Noonan said more refugees arrive every week.

The first wave of departures was part of a December agreement between the United States and the government of Fidel Castro allowing the deportation of 2,746 aliens ruled excludable because of criminal records or mental problems.

The Cubans were orderly when taken from buses and put aboard a chartered plane that took them to Havana. Accompanying them was a small army of federal marshals.

The Cuban Foreign Ministry issued a terse statement announcing the 23 Cubans arrived in Havana at 5:02 p.m. "In accord with the normalization of migratory agreements between the United States and Cuba."

The plane landed under maximum security provided by police agents and troops from the Interior Ministry and taxied to a stop on a runway some distance from the Havana airport terminal.

Journalists were barred from approaching the area and could not see when the 23 Cubans were taken from the plane.

Under the agreement with Havana, the United States has agreed to accept up to 30,000 immigrants a year from the island nation.

Two buses drove inside the federal prison to load the refugees. American inmates working in a prison industries adjacent to the fortress-like prison pressed against windows to watch the others depart.

By the time the buses arrived at the air base, at least one of the Cubans was crying.

Most of the 23 refugees deported Thursday were convicted in Cuba of crimes ranging from murder to military desertion and have been in prison in Atlanta since their arrival.

Father, Daughter Sued For Shingles In Creek

Two Lake Mary residents are being sued by the state Department of Environmental Regulation for allegedly dumping roofing shingles into Soldier's Creek.

Suit was filed by the DER Thursday against Carl and Vicki King of 100 Humphrey Road.

The DER is asking for an unspecified amount of damages in excess of $5,000.

According to the suit, the city of Lake Mary complained to the DER in June, 1982 that the Kings, father and daughter, were dumping fill without authorization. A subsequent investigation by the DER showed that 1600 cubic yards of roofing shingles were dumped in the vicinity of Soldier's Creek, 550 yards of the material in the creek, according to the suit.

June King, wife of Carl King, said Thursday that her husband and daughter never dumped shingles in the creek though her husband did try to build up the banks of the waterway.

"We put some shingles right beside it," she said, but not in it. "Nobody would do that."

"I want a creek to run through here and I want it to be as clean as it can be," she said.

According to the suit, the fill caused flooding upstream during the summer of 1982.

The DER states in the suit it has warned the Kings twice to remove the shingles and discussed restoration of the creek with Vicki King.

The DER states in the suit that it not only wants the situation corrected and the surface and ground water tested but it wants the Kings to pay the costs of investigating the suit and litigation and be subject to civil penalties.

The case has been assigned to Seminole Circuit Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr. No trial date has been set.

NATIONAL REPORT:

The nation's midsection was soaked by spring-like showers and thunderstorms today as temperatures across the United States grew warmer, thanks to a shift in the jet stream that pulled in air from the south. No temperatures were below zero today and most northern areas reported lows in the 20s and 30s. Record highs were set Thursday at nine Northern California locations, including downtown San Francisco, where a reading of 77 degrees snapped a 97-year-old mark. Henry Yario, an NWS meteorologist in Chicago, said the warmth resulted from patterns in the upper atmosphere that had replaced arctic winds with balmy southern breezes.

But Yario said the jet stream could shift back. Thunderstorms and showers that extended today from Texas and Kansas to the Great Lakes dumped nearly 2½ inches of rain on Columbia, Mo. The rain fell on ground saturated by melting snow, prompting flood watches in central Missouri and southern Kansas.

AREA FORECAST: Today fair and warm. High near 80. Wind east around 15 mph. Tonight and Saturday mostly fair. Low around 60. High lower 80s. Light east wind tonight and southeast 15 mph Saturday.

BOATING FORECAST: B. Augustine to Jupiter Inlet out 80 miles — Small craft advisory in effect. Wind east around 20 knots today and tonight becoming southeast 15 to 20 knots Saturday. Sea 5 to 8 feet. Partly cloudy.

EXTENDED FORECAST: A chance of showers north mainly Monday and Tuesday otherwise partly cloudy and mild. Lows averaging 50s to low 60s north and upper 60s south. Highs north mid to upper 70s Sunday then low 70s Monday and Tuesday and near 80 south.

Man Charged With Rape In Construction Trailer

A 28-year-old construction worker has been charged with sexual battery, kidnapping, false imprisonment and aggravated battery in connection with a Feb. 17 attack on an Orlando woman.

The 32-year-old woman reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies that she was raped in a construction site trailer where the suspect lives on U.S. Highway 17-92, Fern Park.

She said she had gone to the trailer at about 6 p.m. to pick up some money from the man. Instead of giving her the cash the man took the keys to her car, tried to force her into the trailer, chased her across 17-92, grabbed her and dragged her back to the trailer. He also hit her in the face several times, a sheriff's report said.

Once inside the trailer the man ordered the woman to disrobe and he sexually assaulted her, the report said.

After the attack she was released and reported the incident to sheriff's deputies. James Johnston of 720 N. U.S. Highway 17-92, was arrested at his home at about 4 p.m. Thursday. He was being held without bond today in the Seminole County jail.

police Lt. Steve Garver.

Garver said the man claimed to have captured the woman because he wanted to revoke the bond he posted on her behalf after she was charged with DUI by Casselberry police. He planned to turn her over to Casselberry police because he had put up his car as collateral and wanted his obligation cleared, Garver said.

The woman was not injured. Michael Douglas Mueller, 27, of 2020 Leanne Court, was charged in the case.

FOT DEAL DONE IN

Seminole County drug task force agents arrested two men on drug charges after they reportedly watched a drug transaction between the pair in the parking lot of a Fern Park pub.

The two men reportedly met in the alleged dealer's car at the Pitcher House Pub, U.S. Highway 17-92, at about 5:30 p.m. Wednesday. Lawmen watched as the pair allegedly made a deal for the sale of marijuana and then moved in and charged the pair.

Agents reported finding a bag of pot in the possession of the reputed buyer and several more similarly packaged bags of the illegal drug were found in a box on the floor of the car, a sheriff's report said.

Both men were charged with possession of more than 20 grams of pot and the alleged dealer, James Preston Carger, 28, of 1953 Bonanza Court, Winter Park, was also charged with delivery of pot. He was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond. The other suspect, Francis A. Rivera-Silva, was released on $5,000 bond and is scheduled to appear in court March 6.

DUI ARRESTS

The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—Curtis Allen Casteel, 21, Winter Garden, was arrested at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday in the parking lot of Albertson's, state Road 434, Longwood, after his car was reportedly involved in an accident on state Road 434, Longwood. He allegedly left the scene of the 7:20 p.m. accident, but was caught by a Florida Highway Patrol trooper.

—Timothy Edward Loughran, 27, of 180 Tollgate Branch, Longwood, at 3:20 a.m. Thursday on the northbound entrance ramp to Interstate 4, Altamonte Springs, after his car failed to maintain a single lane.

—Earl Eugene Strickland, 48, of 8 Hillcrest Drive, Casselberry, was arrested on a warrant at his home at 6:45 a.m. Wednesday.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

Almost $7,000 worth of items including silver, jewelry, cameras and lenses were stolen from the home of David Carl Harris, 34, of 1604 Talisia Court, Longwood, between Feb. 2 and 21, a sheriff's report said. There was no sign of forced entry to the home.

Deputies have the name of a suspect who reportedly drove off in the 1978 Camaro of Lurline Williams, 28, of 104 Williams St., Altamonte Springs, as the man waited in the $3,000 car while Ms. Williams put her children to bed around 1 a.m. Wednesday. Ms. Williams told deputies she had just met the man who reportedly stole her car.

A $150 battery charger and a $25 air tank were taken by a thief who burglarized a shed at the home of Gary Elliott, 37, of 2470 State Road 427, Longwood, on Tuesday or Wednesday, a sheriff's report said.

CHANGED HIS MIND

A Winter Park tree trimmer has been charged with false imprisonment and was being held without bond after he reportedly held captive a Casselberry woman for whom he had put up bond on a DUI charge. Police said he wanted to revoke her bond.

Altamonte Springs police reported the man, who is not a bondman, was captured outside the Day's Inn, 450 Douglas Ave., Altamonte Springs, where he was holding the 27-year-old woman at about 11 a.m. Wednesday. Her hands were tied behind her back, according to

Fit Firefighters

If you thought all firemen did in their spare time was play checkers and polish their fire engine, think again. Firefighters routinely perform taxing physical tests to ensure they are ready to respond when the fire alarm sounds. Clockwise from above left, Anthony Steninger practices his form with an ax while Kenneth Harelson mans a high-pressure hose. Steninger drags a heavy hose at right while an unidentified fireman is filmed in the sprint while clothed in full 'battle gear.'

Near Epidemic Proportions AIDS Much More Severe Than Previously Thought

BOSTON (UPI) — AIDS has reached near epidemic proportions, and at least 400,000 Americans may have been exposed to the disease, which has placed a huge financial burden on the health care industry, says a report in the New England Journal of Medicine.

After summarizing latest data on acquired immune deficiency syndrome, the report's authors found the disease is more complex and severe than predicted two years ago. They urged the federal government to find ways of reducing the increasing financial burden the disease has begun to impose on the health care system.

"The article sketches a picture of an epidemic that is not quite what we expected two years ago," said Dr. Sheldon H. Landesman, an author of the report and director of the AIDS study group at the Downstate Medical Center in Brooklyn, N.Y. "It is more complex and serious than anyone had anticipated in 1982."

The report was written by Landesman, Dr. Harold M. Ginsburg of the National Institute of Drug Abuse and Stanley H. Weiss of the National Cancer Institute.

Approximately 400,000 Americans have evidence of being exposed to the virus, the report estimated.

The report, released Thursday, suggested Congress consider forming "a national catastrophic fund for (AIDS-related) disease," modeled after a fund that provides money for kidney dialysis and transplants.

The average cost of treating an AIDS patient is $42,000. If at least 8,000 new cases are diagnosed this year, as the Centers for Disease Control estimates, it will cost $336 million to treat them. A new test to screen blood donors is expected to cost $100 million.

In San Francisco, exposure to the AIDS virus among homosexual men attending a clinic for the treatment of sexually transmitted diseases rose from 1 percent in 1978 to 65 percent in 1984.

A Manhattan methadone detoxification program found that 87 percent of all patients had evidence of exposure to the virus in 1984.

Exposure is determined by a test that searches for chemicals the body makes when confronted with the virus. A positive test does not require that the virus still be present.

The report estimated that between 4 and 19 percent of people with a positive test will develop AIDS within one to five years. An additional 25 percent may develop less severe forms of the disease.

The report said a separate study conducted by Dr. Bruce L. Evisat at the Centers for Disease Control found "by 1984 virtually all the hemophilic patients studied" in California, Georgia, New York, and Texas had evidence of being exposed to the virus.

Because hemophiliacs rely heavily on units of donated blood, their risk of being infected becomes higher.

South Africa Is Adapting

Four years ago, President Pieter Botha warned his white countrymen that South Africa must either "adapt or die." Since then, Pretoria has made several cosmetic concessions to the nation's majority black population. Recently, however, the government appears to have undertaken some significant adapting during the opening of the South African Parliament.

Responding to foreign and domestic pressures, President Botha partially suspended the government's policy of forcibly resettling black communities, agreed to consider expanded civil rights for blacks, and offered to release black activist Nelson Mandela from prison.

Although these concessions are conditional, they nonetheless suggest an evolutionary process that offers the best hope for progress in human rights in South Africa. And that bodes well for the future of this troubled land suffering the bitter consequences of institutional racism, better known as apartheid.

Whether Pretoria will follow through on these initiatives is a matter of international concern. But at least the government's proposed reforms promise to give South Africa's blacks a larger measure of political and property rights. Specifically, they would have a voice in decision-making at the national and provincial levels; they would have autonomy in local affairs; they would be able to own land where they live, work, and farm; and they would likely be recognized as citizens.

The boldness of these proposals has caught both sides of South Africa's political spectrum off guard. The Conservative Party denounced the government's proposals as a "sellout." And the leftist Azanian People's Organization dismissed the reforms as a "sham."

Still, there is scant agreement among the opposition groups on how South Africa should eventually be governed. This is all the more reason that the Botha initiatives are important, inasmuch as they could persuade the country's black leaders to concentrate their minds on peaceful change rather than on violent revolution.

The best way to achieve such a constructive consensus is for the government to maintain the momentum of reform.

That is reason enough for President Botha to enlist the support of the United Democratic Front, the largest legal, black-led group, which is comprised of some 650 trade unions and community organizations with a combined membership of more than 2 million. Also, he should lose no time in conferring with Mr. Mandela, who understandably suspects the government's sincerity, after spending the last 20 years in prison. If the black activist renounces violence as a political alternative and is released, this could be the breakthrough the government needs to neutralize the very real extremist threats.

South Africa is an international pariah because of its reluctance to give the nation's blacks their freedom. Yet, it should be remembered that the United States required more than two centuries and a bloody civil war to address its slavery and racial tensions. Pretoria, therefore, deserves some credit for this belated attempt at peaceful — albeit gradual — reform.

Ultimately, the success of these efforts will depend upon the Botha government's willingness to accord South Africa's 21 million blacks the basic political and property rights that are their due. To be sure, such a clean break with the past involves some risks for the country's white minority. At stake, however, is nothing less than South Africa's survival as a nation where persons of different races can coexist and prosper.

When Will Fed Tighten Money Supply?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A rose is a rose is a rose, and money supply by any other seasonal factors grows just as fast over the year.

The fact that the Fed adjusted the seasonal factors to slice about 1 percent growth off money supply in the first quarter and tack it back on to the fourth quarter does not disguise the fact that M1 is likely to grow at better than a 9 percent annual rate in the first quarter; that M2 and M3 are increasing in the double-digit range, and that all three of these aggregates plus the credit aggregate are expanding well above the Fed's selected targeted ranges.

Whenever this has happened in the past, the Volcker Fed has a 100 percent response record of raising interest rates.

The root cause of this problem is not very complicated, although it seems to have baffled the Fed staff. Before deregulation of the banking sector, M1 used to grow about 70 percent as fast as nominal GNP; if GNP rose 10 percent, the money supply would rise 7 percent on balance.

The reason for this was very simple: M1 was a lousy place to keep your money, because checking accounts couldn't pay interest. However, with deregulation, NOW and superNOW accounts, the interest earned is fully comparable to market rates, particularly when the additional ease and timeliness of withdrawal is taken into account. Thus M1 has stopped growing more slowly than GNP in years in which monetary policy stays on an even keel and interest rates do not rise.

It thus logically follows that if consumer spending is growing at 5 percent in real terms plus another 4 percent inflation, that the Fed has two choices: either let M1 rise at 9 percent, or raise interest rates.

That is not a particularly easy decision, of course, but that is the heart of the matter. The interest rate elasticities are not known with great precision, but it is generally believed that a 1 percent increase in short-term rates will decrease money supply growth by about 1 percent, and vice versa.

At the beginning of 1985, the economy is reasonably strong, and nominal consumption is expected to increase at an 8 percent annual rate during the first half of the year.

In addition, however, money supply growth depends on the change in the Treasury bill rate lagged one to four months. Since rates declined through mid-January, this will boost money supply growth throughout the first quarter. As a result, it would seem apparent that M1 would rise at a 9 percent rate this quarter, even with the new seasonal factors the Fed has just issued.

That is the easy part of the forecast. The much more difficult question is when the Fed will react to these numbers. If consumption keeps expanding at an 8 percent to 9 percent rate and interest rates remain stable, it is a foregone conclusion that eventually the Fed will tighten because it cannot countenance above-average growth in the monetary aggregates indefinitely.

Triathlons Healthy Exercise

By Gina Del Guercio
UPI Science Writer

WARREN, Vt. (UPI) — For most people the word triathlon evokes images of the Ironman — a superhuman race combining a 25-mile marathon, a 100-mile bicycle race and a five-mile swim.

There is another kind of triathlon, however. One which Dr. Steven Jonas, a professor of preventive medicine at the University of New York Medical School, says is a healthy and enjoyable way to keep fit.

The race is equivalent to a marathon, but because it is divided into swimming, running and bicycling events it is less physically stressful. Jonas has just finished a book on such races, called, Triathloning for Ordinary Mortals. It will be published in the fall.

"Virtually anybody that is in reasonable physical and mental health can do a marathon equivalent triathlon without turning their life upside down," said Jonas. "They can have an experience unlike any experience they've ever had in their lives."

He has designed a training schedule he claims will allow almost anyone to complete the triathlon after training only five hours a week for 13 weeks.

"The major principles are consistency and regularity," he said of his training schedule. "You've got to commit yourself to a regular training schedule. I lay out my 13 weeks in advance."

"My training program is based on minutes, not miles. The main thing is aerobic exercise. The main thing is to get yourself aerobically conditioned," he said.

Jonas believes that triathloning has a variety of benefits. The cardiovascular fitness reduces a person's risk of heart disease and probably other diseases as well. While these effects are important, he doesn't believe anyone competes in endurance sports for these reasons alone.

"There are several things about it that really make you feel good. I work out in the morning and it sets you up for the day," he said. "It gets the blood flowing, psychologically it clears your mind and it gives you energy. And it has a calming effect."

But while triathlons have some advantages over marathons there are also drawbacks. The triathlon requires a bicycle and the use of a pool. Jonas estimates the total cost of participating in a first triathlon is about $1,200, about two-thirds of which is the cost of bicycling equipment.

State, CIA Battle Over Soviet 'Turf'

WASHINGTON — An intense, behind-the-scenes struggle between the State Department and the intelligence agencies has wound up in President Reagan's lap. With surprising aplomb, the striped-pants act has stood up to the FBI, the CIA and Congress in defense of its diplomatic turf, and the president will have to pick the winner.

The tussle among the teacups concerns the issue of "reciprocity" or tit-for-tat treatment of Soviet and American diplomats in Washington and Moscow. Battered down to numbers, the Soviets have 120 more people stationed at their U.S. embassy than we have in Moscow.

This strikes the FBI as unfair. Based on the standard rule of thumb that 40 percent of Soviet Embassy personnel are spies, it believes that the G-men have 48 more agents to keep track of than they would if the Kremlin's Washington staff was trimmed back to the size of our Moscow embassy.

The intelligence community's

Busy Mr. Arkin

NEW YORK (NEA) — According to The New York Times for Feb. 13, William M. Arkin has been a busy man lately. Mr. Arkin is chastely described by the Times as "a nuclear weapons expert at the Washington-based Institute for Policy Studies." Of all the assorted institutes, foundations, councils, centers and committees in Washington, the Institute for Policy Studies is one of the furthest left.

It appears that somehow Mr. Arkin found sticking to his fingers a highly classified Pentagon document entitled "Nuclear Weapons Deployment Plan," setting forth this country's plans for the deployment of nuclear weapons around the world in the event of some future emergency. They are strictly "contingency plans," not only because they call for deployment only at an unspecified future date and in response to some hypothetical emergency, but also because this country has promised its allies that it would never actually deploy nuclear weapons on their territories without first consulting them and obtaining their consent.

Almost all of the NATO nations are under constant pressure from their own domestic leftists to pledge that nuclear weapons will never be based on their sacred soil; and while they take care not to go quite that far (since they know that their countries remain free only because of the American nuclear umbrella), they tend to be lavish with public assurances that none are deployed now and none ever will be without their consent.

Perhaps the weakest link in the whole NATO chain is Iceland, which has a powerful pro-communist minority and no defense forces of its own, so (I follow the Times' account) Mr. Arkin struck there first: Early last December he turned a copy of the Pentagon document over to the Icelandic prime minister. The prime minister, clearly fearing a political uproar if his opponents broke the story in some garbled form, publicly demanded to know whether President Reagan had given permission for the deployment of nuclear weapons in Iceland (which of course Mr. Reagan had not). Things quieted down in Reykjavik.

But then, in late December, Mr. Arkin touched off a gratifying uproar in Bermuda by giving a copy of the Pentagon document to a friendly newspaper there.

Premier John Swan, caught publicly unprepared, also demanded — and received — assurances from Washington that consultations with and consent of the proper authorities would precede any deployment.

By now, however, it was early January and the busy Mr. Arkin was in Canada. Employing his Bermuda formula, he ignored the government and turned copies of the Pentagon document over to friendly members of the Canadian press, who promptly published misleading versions of the story.

It would be just our luck that there is no law making it a felony to commit the grave security breaches that William Arkin has apparently committed. But if there is, and if he in fact committed them, I hope the government has the guts to prosecute him and treat him to a nice long stretch in some federal penitentiary.

Budget Process Gridlock

WASHINGTON (NEA) — This year's budget process will be strange indeed — so strange, in fact, that no one knows how or whether it will work.

Even in a normal year, the budget process can go awry. Often, legislation to meet tax or spending goals doesn't pass, and Congress can't agree on appropriations bills. Therefore — as in the last several years — Congress must hold post-midnight sessions on Sept. 30 to pass last-second stopgap measures. These so-called continuing resolutions keep the government running while the final appropriation bills are worked out.

However, this is year is far from normal. President Reagan's State of the Union address got a great deal of applause, but both Democrats and Republicans on the Hill say the administration's budget is dead. Democrats are reluctant to become involved in drafting a budget and Republicans are torn by sharp disagreements about defense spending and tax increases.

Because of that, this year's budget process probably will not follow the normal ritual in which the participants know what they should do and when they should do it.

The situation is exacerbated by the Democrats, who see no reason to offer any kind of proposal. They think this budget is politically difficult, so they're happy to see the GOP take the heat.

Therefore, it's up to the Senate Republicans to develop an initial budget proposal — which they're willing to do and have been hard at work on since early January.

Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole, R-Kan., hoped to have an alternative budget drafted by Feb. 1 — one that would cut $50 billion from the fiscal 1986 federal deficit. However, that effort has been far more difficult than anticipated.

One reason is that the Reagan administration — specifically, Defense Secretary Casper Weinberger — is stonewalling any effort to trim defense spending.

Then there's the tax question. Senate Republicans are in total disarray as to whether there must be new taxes next year. Some say yes, some say no.

It now looks as if it will take weeks — if not forever — for Senate Republicans to come up with their alternative. By then, the budget process will be far behind schedule — so far behind that many Democrats see legislative gridlock ahead.

The consensus is that if a new budget must be in place by October, Congress faces a long hot summer.

Central Florida Sends Raiders Packing, 69-65

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer
DAYTONA BEACH — The way Central Florida Community College kept building the lead and then letting Seminole Community College's Raiders come right back it looked like CFCC would probably fold in the end.

But the Raiders, in one of their worst showings in a while, could not figure out a way to come back all the way as CFCC held on for a 69-65 victory in the Mid-Florida Conference Playoffs at Daytona Beach Community College.

"We played so sorry we didn't deserve to win," SCC coach Bill Payne said. "They (CFCC) made a lot of mistakes that we didn't capitalize on."

The Raiders closed the season with a 21-12 record while CFCC evened improved to 17-16. The Patriots go up against Daytona Beach tonight at 7:30. Daytona Beach pulled out a 59-58 victory over Lake City in Thursday's second game. The winner advances to the state tournament next week at Stetson University.

The Patriots caught the Raiders napping in the early going Thursday night and bolted out to a 10-1 lead before SCC broke out the smelling salts and started playing.

Basketball

'We played so sorry we didn't deserve to win.'

— Bill Payne

The Raiders went on a 24-14 run in the next 10 minutes to take a 25-24 lead. SCC took its biggest lead, 30-26, with two minutes left in the first half on Linny Grace's three-point play. CFCC's Trent Johnson came through with a three-point play with 13 seconds left in the half to tie it at 31-31 at halftime.

Grace's 11 first-half points, and Greg "Slim" Johnson's eight points and six rebounds carried the Raiders while Trent Johnson had nine for the Patriots and Kregg Overton added eight.

SCC was caught off guard again at the outset of the second half. CFCC had the ball out of bounds to start the half and put all of its players in the backcourt. SCC looked like it was going to a man-to-man full court press but, when Overton broke toward the basket, nobody for SCC went with him. Overton about tore the rim off with a vicious slam dunk that gave the Patriots a 33-31 lead.

Overton scored 10 straight points for CFCC early in the second half but the Raiders still managed to stay within three, 41-38. Kenny McGee's bank shot gave CFCC a five-point cushion, 43-38, with 15:28 left to play.

Mike Landell then hit a jumper to bring SCC back within three but Overton fired one in from long range to boost the Patriots' lead back up to five. Not long after that though, Overton picked up his fourth foul and took a seat alongside coach Benny Gabbard.

With the only player that was scoring for them out, the Patriots spread out their offense with 12:30 remaining and a 45-43 lead. But the spread turned out to be effective for CFCC as they used scored out of it well and build a six point lead, 51-45, with 8:58 remaining.

"We couldn't do anything with them (CFCC) in the spread," Payne said. "Whatever we tried to do didn't work."

CFCC stayed with the spread and took its

Linny Grace

Rob Brantley

biggest lead of the second half, seven points, with 3:28 left on a three-point play by Mixon that made it 58-49.

The Patriots got the ball back with the seven point lead but, for some reason, didn't stay in the spread and wound up turning the ball over. And

Lady Seminoles, Lyman Advance

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

Mona Benton and Catherine "Kitty" Anderson combined for 47 points and Yolanda Robinson, in her first game up from the junior varsity, pumped in 14 as top-seeded Seminole rolled to a 88-41 victory over Lake Howell's Silver Hawks in 4A-9 District Tournament first round action Thursday night at Seminole High.

The Lady Seminoles, 24-5 for the season, go up against Lyman tonight at 8 in the second semifinal game at Lake Brantley High. In the first semifinal game, Lake Brantley meets Lake Mary at 6:15. Lyman advanced by knocking off fourth-seeded DeLand, 40-24, Thursday night.

Benton, a senior guard-forward, pumped in a game-high 27 points Thursday, grabbed 15 rebounds, dished out seven assists and came up with seven steals.

Anderson, a junior forward, poured in 20 points and ripped down a season-high 28 rebounds. Kitty also came up with eight steals and doled out five assists.

Temika Alexander, a junior guard, and Robinson, a sophomore center, tossed in 14 points each and Robinson also grabbed 15 boards. Anika Mitchell, a junior center, came on strong in place of regular center Bea Smith who Seminole coach Ron Merthie said has a back injury and will be in the hospital for three or four days. Mitchell scored five points and pulled down 16 rebounds.

"We got good shooting from Alexander, Benton and Anderson," Merthie said. "We were getting good movement on the ball and getting it where we wanted to."

Erin Hankins was high for Lake Howell with nine points. Patti Rae and Regina Schmidt added eight each and Jolee Johnson tossed in seven.

Seminole slipped to a 27-7 lead after one quarter as Anderson scored nine points, Benton six and Alexander and Mitchell four each. Seminole had a 21-point lead, 43-22, at halftime.

If Seminole can get by underdog Lyman tonight, the Lady Tribe would be in the district final for the first time since Merthie has been the coach. Seminole was the top seed in last year's tournament also but was upset by Lake Mary in the semifinals.

Basketball

"I've never won the district and never been in the title game," Merthie said. "I'd sure like to get it this year."

Seminole doesn't expect to have too much trouble against Lyman, but Merthie said the Lady Greyhounds surprised him by beating DeLand. "DeLand played us real tough the last time," he said. "And it sounds like Lyman beat them pretty easy. You just don't know what to expect. And they did it without their best player."

Which is Kim Forsyth, one of the top junior performers in the state. The 5-10 junior had her appendix removed Tuesday night, according to Lyman coach Dick Copeland. She will be lost for the season.

In Forsyth's absence, junior point guard Latanya Johnson poured in 18 points and Lyman's defense held DeLand to just eight points in the second half as the Lady Greyhounds upended the fourth-seeded Lady Bulldogs, 40-24, at DeLand High.

Lyman led, 19-16, at halftime and went on to outscore the Bulldogs, 21-8, in the second half.

Behind Johnson for Lyman, junior forward Denise Stevens and sophomore guard Chandra Roberts added eight points each.

No one for DeLand, the defending district and state champion, scored in double figures as the high scorer was Shella Sanders with eight points. Leading scorer Robyn Swartz was held to six.

The Lady Bulldogs have been without Bridgette Gordon, considered the top player in the South, since she failed to make grades at the semester.

1 More Time Round 4 For Pats, Rams

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Here we go again. Same time, same place but a different destination. For the second time in five days, Lake Mary's Lady Rams will battle Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots at Lake Brantley High School.

Unlike Monday's game when Lake Mary pulled out a 43-41 victory, this one will mean much more. It means everything. The winner of tonight's 6:15 encounter will advance to the championship game of the District 4A-9 basketball tournament on Saturday. The loser joins "Whatmighthavebeen Land."

"It will be a real barnburner," said Lake Mary coach Bill Moore, who has his Lady Rams sitting on an eight-game win streak after Thursday's 85-49 victory over Mainland. "They really have to be fired up. They took it real hard the other night after having the lead and losing. But my team will be real fired up, too."

Just as inspired will be the Lady Patriots, who have won 24 of 29 games, posting the best record in the history of the school under coach Renny Betris and assistant Debbie Frank.

"We're ready to go," said Betris. "We beat them in the Thanksgiving Tournament but then lost the last two times. This game means everything."

Both advanced to the semifinals Wednesday night, although Lake Brantley had the tougher game. The Lady Patriots, fighting off some first-tournament game jitters, broke away from a one-point halftime edge to whip Mainland, 48-35, at Lake Brantley High School.

Lake Mary, which tied its best record ever with a 21-7 mark, demolished Apopka at Lake Mary High School. "When this season started, I didn't think I'd see 20 wins," said Moore. "I didn't even think I'd smell it."

Lake Mary has been the hottest team in the county and possibly Central Florida of late. The Lady Rams have won 16 of their last 17 games with only a loss to Seminole to interrupt the streak.

The second-seeded Lady Rams used their pressure defense to build a 25-7 lead after one quarter and the Lady Rams breezed into tonight's 4A-9 District Tournament semifinals at Lake Brantley's gym.

Aileen Patterson scored nine of her 17 points in the opening quarter while Kim Averill and Lis Stone pumped in six each. Lake Mary went on to take a 36-19 halftime lead and led by as much as 36, 56-20, in the third quarter when Moore took all his starters out.

"We pressured them (Apopka) and had a lot of luck with it," Moore said. "We substituted in the second quarter and dropped back into a zone."

Basketball

Patterson had seven rebounds and five steals to go along with her 17 points. Averill tossed in 12 points, handed out three assists and collected three steals. Courtney Hall added eight points and 10 rebounds while Stone connected for eight points on 4 of 6 shooting. Andrea Fenning contributed seven points.

At Altamonte Springs, Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots were given a run for their money by Mainland's Lady Bucu Thursday night but Brantley did not want to exit the 4A-9 District Tournament before getting another shot at Lake Mary's Lady Rams and, possibly, Sanford's Lady Seminoles.

After leading by just one, 19-18, at halftime, the Lady Patriots outscored the Lady Bucu, 29-17, in the second half en route to the hard-earned victory in first round action at Lake Brantley High.

The Lady Patriots rode Kirsten Dellinger's six points to a 12-7 lead after one quarter but Mainland's Brenda Robertson and Gail Hickey to pull within one at the half.

"We let up on defense and didn't get on boards," Frank said. "We were scared the first quarter and more scared the second quarter. I've never seen our team look so nervous since the Thanksgiving Tournament."

Dellinger, a 6-1 senior center, hit the offensive boards hard in the third quarter and scored eight points to boost Brantley to a 31-24 lead after three quarters and Mainland never got any closer. Dellinger wound up with a game-high 20 points.

Senior forward Michelle Brown joined Dellinger in double figures with 13 points and senior guard Kim Lubenow added six. Hickey and Robertson had 11 points each for the Lady Bucu.

Lake Mary and Lake Brantley will be meeting for the fourth time this season and the second time this week. Brantley won the first game, 52-45, in the Lady Hawk Tournament but Lake Mary has won the last two, 60-46 at Lake Mary High and 43-41 this past Monday at Lake Brantley.

APOPKA (9) — Parramore 24, Dempo 2, McKinney 17, Johnson 4, Bryant 6, Robinson 6, Burkhead 5. Totals: 101-59.

LAKE MARY (61) — Averill 12, DeShater 2, Fenning 7, C. Hall 6, L. Hall 6, Leckie 1, A. Patterson 17, C. Patterson 5, Reynolds 6, Stewart 2, Stone 6, Wade 2. Totals: 85-21 65.

Halftime — Lake Mary 26, Apopka 19. Fouls — Apopka 16, Lake Mary 11. Fouled out — none. Technical — none. A — 49.

MAINLAND (28) — Hickey 11, Wright 5, Robertson 11, Kemmer 5, Irving 1, Parry 2. Totals: 55-28.

Tribe Honors Parents Tonight

While the girls are hogging most of the county basketball spotlight this week with their district tournament, the boys will complete their regular season tonight and Saturday. Seminole, which is fighting for the No. 4 seed in the district, hosts Lake Brantley.

It will be "Parents Night" at Seminole as the basketball players parents will be honored.

In one other game tonight, Oviedo travels to Eatonville to take on Wymore Tech. On Saturday, Lake Mary battles DeLand at home.

Renegades Hope Reincarnation Brings Better Results

NEW YORK (UPI) — The U.S. Football League kicks off its final spring season Saturday and it appears offense will be in the forefront.

There are seven games this weekend with the Orlando Renegades and Tampa Bay Bandits starting it off on Saturday night. On Sunday, it is: the Baltimore Stars at the Jacksonville Bulls, the Denver Gold at the Oakland Invaders, the Houston Gamblers at the Los Angeles Express, the New Jersey Generals at the Birmingham Stallions and the Portland Breakers at the Arizona Wranglers.

The San Antonio Gunslingers entertain the Memphis Showboats on Monday.

At Tampa, the Renegades begin their reincarnation of the Washington Federals with a lot of new faces, hoping for some new results. The Feds went 3-15 last year. Jerry Golsteyn, a well traveled NFL veteran, has won the starting quarterback job from Reggie Collier. His favorite target will be Jony Walters, one of the best receivers in all of football.

Pro Football

Steve Spurrier's Bandits should come out throwing again, with John Reaves looking at five different receivers. Eric Truvillion was his favorite last season, catching 70 passes for 1,044 yards and nine TDs.

At Oakland, the Invaders, who merged with the Michigan Panthers during the off-season, now boast the quarterback-wide receiver tandem of Bobby Hebert and Anthony Carter.

The Gold will counter with the "Run n' Shoot" offense, which offensive coordinator Darrell "Mouse" Davis installed in Houston, helping quarterback Jim Kelly catapult into the record books. Davis is now the head coach of Denver.

After finishing 14th in offense and defense last season, the Gold needed an infusion of excitement. Vince Evans, formerly of Chicago, will start at quarterback.

A Lost 'Love' Returns For Smith

Lyman Standout 90 Percent But Says He Will Give 100 Percent

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor
LONGWOOD — Derek Smith won't ever make a big deal of it. He's not that way. You won't find him on a soap box, telling you how grateful he is. You won't find him peering over your shoulder, urging you to work a little harder.

But like a loved one, Derek Smith had something — and almost lost it. He had a love for wrestling. A love, no doubt, ingrained early by his father, Denton Smith, a former stand-out coach and grappler himself.

Then one night, Derek Smith almost lost it. Well, he did lose it for awhile. While wrestling Lake Brantley's Dean Shirley in the Lyman Christmas Tournament, he felt his knee give. It did more than give. It tore ligaments.

He lost the match — his one blemish this year among nine matches — but the default was secondary to the pain. And the waiting. And the watching. And the rehabilitating. Waiting, watching and rehabilitating. All those hours. Hours spent with the desire to return in time for Feb. 15.

But it made the articulate senior think and appreciate his craft. "I remember when I was wrestling," he said. "I remember looking up in the stands at the people and asking myself, 'Is all this hard work worth it?'"

Now, he knows after looking from the other side of the fence. "I remember sitting in the stands and watching," he said. "Watching and knowing how much I'd give to be back out there."

Yes, Derek Smith lost a love. But he was lucky, he got it back. Call it a temporary separation. How far can he come back? He'll find that out tonight in the second round of the Region 5 wrestling tournament at Lyman High School. Smith received a bye in the first round, but he's to go to war in the second round which starts at 7:30 p.m. Smith, a district champion two years running, will take on either Wolfson's Barry Charles or Chocatawatchee's David Leonard.

For Smith, it's like having two lives. Make that three. "I hurt my left leg last summer and had surgery on it," he said. "Then, I hurt my right leg this time. Luckily, I didn't need surgery."

Wrestling

But he did need a stringent rehab program. Under the guidance of his father (strength coach) and Lyman trainer Mary Vacala, Smith underwent therapy from day 1. "Derek was down there (the training room) the next day," said Vacala. "I've never seen a kid work so hard."

And work he did. Two days a week. Smith, with a brace to keep the ligaments intact, utilized the Lyman pool, swimming laps to maintain his conditioning. At home, he would row and work with the weights. Then, it was back to school for the Electro Acuscope — a machine used in most professional circles (Mary Decker Slaney and Kenny Stabler) to speed up the healing process.

"It's called the miracle machine," said Vacala. "When there is an injury, there are electrical barriers. The Electro Acuscope breaks down the barriers and speeds up the healing."

Eight weeks later, Smith felt he was ready to go. "It was remarkable," said Vacala. "Just a week before districts, he was out rolling around on the mat. He was ready to go, but mentally it had to hurt."

But it didn't hurt enough, not enough to keep Derek Smith from something he loved. "Derek is very strong," continued Vacala. "That's what is holding him together. We do a pretty extensive tape job. But he did most of it on his own."

And now? "I'm about 90 percent, but I'm 100 percent ready to go," said Smith, who was 25-3-1 and went to state last year. "It's now or never. This is my last year. It's time to go for it."

MAT FACTS — Today's first round started at 1 p.m. The second round will pick up at 7:30 p.m. Saturday's semifinal round is at 10 a.m. The wrestlebacks begin at 12:30 p.m. with the consolation (6:30 p.m.) and championships (8 p.m.) to follow. Admission is $3.

Lyman athletic director Skip Pletzer said he sees Lake Mary and Panama City Mosley as the favorites. "Mosley is tough to judge because they have such a small district (two teams)," said

Derek Smith, right, has Lake Mary's Brent Blakely under control in last year's post-season tournament battle. Smith said he is sufficiently recovered from injury to add a region championship this week at Lyman High.

Pletzer. "But they have a good program. Lake Mary just has some many wrestlers (11). They'll score point."

Lake Mary coach Frank Schwartz said he was worried about first-round byes which could cost his team advancement and pin points, but when he found out that the Rams had just two, he was relieved. He was even more relieved when he found out that Mosley had six. "I think the wrestlebacks will be the key," said Schwartz, whose Rams won last year. "We need some third and fourth place points. We also need two champions."

The top four wrestlers in each weight class advance to next week's state tournament in Tampa at Chamberlain High School.

IN BRIEF

Lyman's Girls, Brantley's Boys Continue Soccer Quests Tonight

Lyman's Lady Greyhounds continue their quest for the state title tonight at 7 when they host Coral Springs in the Girls State Soccer Tournament at Lyman High.

In the first semifinal game, Tampa Chamberlain meets South Plantation at 2:30 p.m. at Lyman High. Saturday's championship will be played at 7 p.m.

Leading scorers for Lyman, which has won 21 straight this season, include juniors Dawn Boyesen and Sheila Mandy and sophomore Kim Mitchell. Strength at midfield is provided by senior Allison Wright (the lone senior on the squad), juniors Alyson Barnes, Diana Boyesen and Nancy Van Voorhis and sophomores Bonni Steeves and Stacey Roy.

Defensively, the Lady Greyhounds are led by junior Kellie Straw and sophomore Karen Abernethy. In goal is junior standout Lisa Chatman.

The Lady Greyhounds, second in the state last year, advanced to the state tournament by beating Lake Brantley in the district final, Vero Beach in the regional and Orange Park in the sectional.

In the boys soccer Section 3 playoff, Lake Brantley's Patriots hit the road for an encounter with Boca Raton.

Brantley advanced with a 1-0 victory over Winter Park Tuesday in which the only goal in the game was an "own goal" deflected into the goal by a Winter Park defender.

Wittig Pumps Pats Past Lions

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Wade Wittig pumped in 12 points and pulled down nine rebounds and Greg Courtney ripped down a game-high 13 boards as Lake Brantley's Patriots upended Oviedo's Lions, 43-30, Wednesday night in nonconference prep basketball action at Lake Brantley High.

Lake Brantley (5-21 overall), maintained a four-point lead most of the first half and stretched it to second, 30-23, after three quarters. Oviedo never got closer than six the rest of the way.

Behind Wittig for the Patriots, Courtney added eight points, Rex Black tossed in eight and grabbed seven rebounds and Mark Moser contributed six points.

"Wittig played another strong ballgame," Lake Brantley coach Bob Peterson said. "He hit the boards well along with Courtney and Black. We outrebounded them (Oviedo), 43-30."

Robb Hughes led Oviedo with a game-high 13 points while Terry Campbell, Garth Bolton and Allen Unroe added six apiece.

Lake Brantley closes out the regular season Friday at Seminole High while Oviedo closes Friday night at Wymore Tech.

OWIEDO (2) — Campbell 4, M. Stew 4, Bolton 4, Ferguson 1, Hughes 13, Kendall 1, Stew 4, Unroe 4, Totals: 33 16-12 12 fouls.

LAKE BRANTLEY (4) — Sherry 3, Herdreich 4, Moser 4, Wittig 12, Hodges 4, Morris 3, Grossman 3, Black 4, Courtney 8, Totals: 44 18-19 11 fouls.

Olympians At Aquatic Center

More than 30 divers, including several Olympians and national champions will be competing at the new Justus Aquatic Center during the U.S. World Cup Trials set for Saturday and Sunday.

Athletes eligible to compete are last year's Olympic Trials qualifiers and finalists from the 1984 Phillips 66/U.S. Diving Outdoor Championships.

The competition is conducted by United States Diving and will select the U.S. team to compete in Shanghai, China, April 25-28, at the IV FINA World Diving Cup. The top two men and top two women finishers in both the springboard and platform will qualify for the team.

Tickets for the two-day event are available at all Select-A-Seat ticket outlets and at the Justus Aquatic Center office, 8444 International Drive.

Sanford Soccer Holds Signup

Sanford Soccer Club will register its players for the upcoming season Saturday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Pine Crest Elementary School. The signup is open to players from age 6 through 18.

New players are to bring a birth certificate and one photo. The registration fee is $25.

Seminole High soccer coach Bury Reno also said there will be an all-girls team for players interested in playing at the high school next year. Interested girls should contact Reno at 333-9087.

Long Goes To State Hoop Shoot

Elizabeth Long, an eighth grader at Sanford's All Souls School, will compete in the Elba State Hoop Shoot competition Saturday at Melbourne.

Long won the district hoop shoot at Seminole High School earlier this year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Long of Sanford.

Daniel Lifts Howell — Overstreet Stymies Evans

ORLANDO — After being shut out for four innings, Lake Howell's Silver Hawks erupted for seven runs in the final two frames en route to a 7-3 victory over Oak Ridge's Pioneers in prep baseball action Thursday at Oak Ridge High.

Mike Abel had a one-hit shut-out going for four innings and the Pioneers scored three times in the bottom of the second off Lake Howell starter Jorge DeMonte. Jim Daniel came on in relief of DeMonte and closed the door on Oak Ridge the rest of the way.

Lake Howell cut the Pioneers' lead to 3-2 in the top of the fifth with two runs on just one hit. Ernest Martinez drew a walk but was forced at second on Eric Martinez' grounder. John Canfield then drew a walk and Scott lift Lyman past Evans, 2-1, at Lyman High School.

Lyman hosts Winter Park tonight at 6.

Overstreet, who earned his second win, was touched for a second-inning run by Evans but then retired the next 13 hitters in succession. Overstreet struck out eight hitters and walked two.

Lyman tied the game in the bottom of the second when Mike Henley walked and moved to second on a wild pitch. Clint Baker followed with a ground out to first to push Henley to third and John Elwood stroke a single to left to deadlock the game.

Lyman pushed across the game winner in the sixth when Derek Livermola walked. Paul Alegre then dropped a bunt toward the third baseman. When the third sacker fired the ball over the first baseman's head, Livermola went all the way to third.

When the first pitch to Henley bounced past the catcher, Livermola streaked home.

In one other game Thursday, Bishop Moore, one of the top teams in the 3A, rallied for seven runs in the fifth and sixth innings to overcome Lake Brantley, 8-5, at Lake Brantley High School.

Lake Brantley, 5-3, travels to DeLand for its Five Star Conference opener on Monday.

Patriot starter Pat Luak held the Hornets in check over the first four and one-half innings as Lake Brantley built a 4-1 lead on Mike Beams' three-run homer the fifth and Kevin Baas' RBI double.

Baseball

"Thurman" Munson unloaded a double to center to drive in both Eric Martinez and Canfield.

The Hawks came back with five runs in the top of the sixth to take a 7-3 lead. Bobby Miller reached on an error to lead off and Dave Marlette followed with a walk. Miller came around to score and Marlette went to third when Marty Golloher reached on an error. Golloher then stole second and Ernest Martinez followed with a sacrifice fly to right to chase home Marlette.

In other action Thursday, Lyman's redhot Greyhounds won their sixth straight game as junior right-hander Byron Overstreet hurled a two-hitter to

Anderton's Jumper Nips Lyman

LONGWOOD — Lyman coach Tom Lawrence finally found a way to stop Efram Brooks but when he did, it opened the door for Scott Anderton. Lake Howell's "other guard" hit a follow-up jumper at the buzzer to give the Silver Hawks a 54-52 victory over the Greyhounds in the season final Thursday night at Lyman High School.

Brooks, who has had several 30-point games against Lyman the past two years, was limited to eight points. "We put two guys on him (Brooks) wherever he went and I mean wherever," said Lawrence, whose Greyhounds finished 5-19. Lake Howell finished the season 12-14 and will play DeLand or Mainland in the first round of the district tournament at Spruce Creek.

The strategy worked in the first half as Lyman took a 10-9 first-quarter lead as Brett Marshall hit six points. A halfcourt trap in the second quarter, plus a combined 14 points from Marshall, Robert Thomas and T.J. Scaletta, pushed the lead to 26-20 at halftime.

Anderton, though, tossed in six points in the third quarter to offset seven by Lyman's Ralph Philpott to cut the Lyman lead to 38-35 going into the last quarter.

The Greyhounds still had the game under control, however, as they lead by five points with

New Track Should Be Challenging, Exciting

With the NBL nationals coming to Orlando April 5, the Orlando Parents Council has already started preparation for the big event.

Probably the biggest preparation of all is the building of a brand new track next door to Gordon Barnett Park.

The new track sits on six acres of the Orange County fairgrounds. Although it's not finished yet, it promises to be a very exciting and challenging race track. "The starting hill is cement on both sides," said Art Beeler, track director. "The track is gonna be 30 feet wide all the way around." In addition, the starting hill will have a grate so sand stuck to riders tires can be knocked off easier."

The track has been a project of Central Florida Race Commissioner, Marie Decker, since 1978. Unfortunately, an agreement between Hernand Parish of the fairgrounds, and the City of Orlando for utilization was delayed.

Unlike Gordon Barnett Park, which is used by both NBL and National Pedal Sports Association, the new track will be sanctioned by NBL only. "We want to have a combination of racing at Barnett Park and the new track, to give the kids a variety," said Beeler.

The track should be finished by the beginning March. "It has taken a lot of materials and a lot of man power to get this track built," said Beeler.

For the starting hill alone, it took 221 loads of dirt. Another 281 loads of dirt and 90 loads of clay were used for the track.

At Barnett Park this weekend, the Seminole County riders were competing hard.

Seven-expert Darby Brown finished his Saturday afternoon with a second place finish.

Jay Staley placed first in 8-expert class. Staley also raced in the 10-11 open, and placed second.

Second place in the 10-expert class went to Tim Fink.

11-expert Colby Brown had trouble in his class. In his forest moto, the chain slipped off his bike.

Although Darby had to settle for a defeat, he won both of his last motos.

Darby also raced his cruiser, and placed third.

12-novice Todd Fink dominated Saturday, he took home a first place trophy.

Riders, the NBL Nationals will be in Orlando April 5. Be sure to get your registration forms in.

Also, there will be a girls Pro class. This class will only be for girls 16 and up. Registration for pro girls will be $40. Ladies will be receiving 100 percent payback.

Most Skin Cancers Are Cured Easily

DEAR DR. LAMB — Two months ago I went to a skin doctor about a sore at the top of my right arm, near the shoulder. He said it looked like skin cancer, took a biopsy and found that it was a skin cancer.

DEAR READER — Other than malignant melanoma, most skin cancers, treated early enough, are easily cured. They do not tend to spread like other forms of cancer do. Your doctor undoubtedly removed all of the skin cancer when he did the biopsy. These skin cancers grow so slowly in early cases that they are not usually a threat to your health, but of course, they should not be neglected.

Most of them are at least aggravated by sun exposure. And the exposure may occur years before the skin cancer develops. That is why people who are sun worshippers while young will start to have skin cancer when they are middle-aged or older. The time to prevent this problem is in youth, with protection from the sun both winter and summer.

If you have one skin cancer, you can develop others. This does not mean that the doctor didn't get all of it the first time. However, in each case, if you see your doctor early, before it becomes advanced, it is easily treated by local removal. Many early ones can be removed by being burned or frozen off. Those that penetrate the skin more deeply may need to be cured out.

I have discussed skin cancers in The Health Letter, Special Report 28, Skin: Aging, Spots, Cancer and Sun.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I get bladder infections several times a year. My doctor gives me tetracycline, which cures it in a few days.

What causes bladder infections, so I can avoid repeated problems?

Frequently, I have had a cold or eaten foods that are high in acid, such as fresh pineapple or grapefruit, when I got this problem. I drink a lot of cranberry juice.

DEAR READER — Women do have a problem with frequent urinary-tract infections. The explanation is that the urethra in the female is quite short compared to the urethra in the male. That very short tube makes it easy for bacteria to gain access to the bladder. Careful hygiene is important, but, despite that, one can't prevent the bacteria that are ever-present on the skin and other surfaces from invading the bladder. The bacteria that cause the infection probably have colonized in the vaginal area near the urethra.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Sven-Olov Flodqvist and Per Olov Sundelin played for Sweden in the World Team Olympiad in Seattle last October. In their methods, Flodqvist's jump to three clubs simply showed longer clubs than diamonds, as well as some extra values for the opening bid. When North bid three no-trump, Flodqvist (South) was concerned that four spades might be a safer game contract. But North knew spades were a 4-3 fit, and so elected to bid five clubs, knowing South had at least five cards in that suit.

When the heart 10 was led, Flodqvist won the ace and played a spade to his queen. Then he led the jack of clubs and let it ride. East won the queen of clubs and returned his singleton diamond. Declarer won the diamond ace, played a club to the nine, and pitched a diamond on the heart king. He played another spade, covering East's king with his ace. Now came three more rounds of clubs, making West increasingly uncomfortable. West had to hold on to two spades — otherwise Flodqvist could overtake the 10 with the jack for another diamond discard. So West had to throw all his high diamonds away except the king.

The discarding of the high diamonds made the position clear to declarer. He cashed the spade 10 and then played a diamond, putting West on lead to surrender the game-going trick to dummy's isolated jack of spades.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY

FEBRUARY 23, 1985
This coming year there will be a big shift in conditions, which will enable you to fulfill your ambitious desires. Be ready to move swiftly when the breaks start coming.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Conditions in general tend to favor you today. An opportunity may develop that will benefit you either financially or careerwise.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) To gratify your restlessness today, it's important that you seek involvements that challenge your imagination and creativity.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you have any financial or business dealings today, don't expose all of your cards at one time. Save your clenchers for the close.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Today you may be faced with making a difficult decision and it could prove wise to disclose your alternatives to a clever friend whose advice has been helpful before.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your ambitions can be furthered today if you try new techniques and fresh approaches to circumvent obstacles that obstruct your path.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be a good listener today because a chance remark at a social gathering may contain valuable information essential to your present needs.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Instead of looking to involve yourself with friends, all you and your mate really need to have a pleasurable day is one another. Seek time alone.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Even though your mind may be set upon doing something a specific way today, don't ignore bright alternatives that might suddenly pop into your head.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Something financially advantageous might be presented to you today from a least-expected source. It may come through someone you only know casually.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Involve yourself in the type of activities today that offer a bit of friendly competition. You'll enjoy having your mettle tested.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your intuition is likely to be more acute than usual today, so play your hunches. Events will unfold the way you envision them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Today you may find yourself doing a lot of thinking about a particular friend. It could be because you are on his mind as well.

Gardening

Bed Preparation Key To Success Of Annuals

Editor's Note: Alfred Beascon's weekly gardening column will resume next Friday.

By Dr. Robert J. Black

IFAS Extension Horticulturist

The time spent preparing the planting bed is important if you are to be successful with annual flowers. Flower beds should be spaded or tilled at least six inches deep several weeks before planting. Florida's sandy soils have very low capacities for holding nutrients and water. Incorporation of 2-3 inches of organic matter into planting beds will increase the nutrient and water retention of these soils. Organic materials such as leaf mold or peat should be thoroughly mixed into the soil.

Garden soils, especially in recently developed areas, are frequently infertile. Flower beds should be fertilized prior to planting or at planting time and repeated on a monthly basis. Apply 6-8-6 or a similar complete fertilizer at the rate of 2 pounds per 100 square feet of bed area. Controlled release fertilizers are ideal for Florida's sandy soils. Plants usually grow much better with a continuous nutrient supply and labor is reduced since controlled release fertilizer application frequency is less than for rapid release fertilizers. Controlled release fertilizers can be incorporated uniformly throughout the soil before planting and applied on the soil surface of established plantings.

Annuals purchased in compartmentalized plastic flats usually have pot bound root systems.

If planted intact, the root system will be slow to establish in the surrounding soil and plants will suffer moisture stress. A preferred method is to loosen and untangle the root system without breaking the soil ball. Plants recover rapidly and establish quickly. Tall and spindly plants should be pruned to half their original size to produce more attractive plants with more flowers.

Weeds should be controlled either by hand weeding or mulching. Black plastic mulches should never be used except when a layer of organic mulch (woodchips, pine bark, etc.) is added on top of the black plastic. Temperatures of 117-119° have been recorded 1-3 inches above uncovered black plastic mulches. The addition of organic matter over the plastic reduces heat absorption and masks the artificial appearance of black plastic.

Mulching materials should not come in contact with plant stems. The high moisture environment created by mulch increases the chances of stem rot which can result in plant death. Some annuals such as petunias develop yellow leaves (chlorosis) when mulched with cypress or pine bark mulches. This condition is not due to a nitrogen deficiency and can not be corrected by the addition of fertilizer.

Annual flowers require more maintenance than most other landscape plants. However, their brilliant colors add an atmosphere of warmth and life to a landscape which more than justifies the additional maintenance.

Church Wedding Possible Dream For Mixed Faiths

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column you stated: "If there is a rabbi or Roman Catholic priest who will perform a mixed marriage in a synagogue or church, I don't know where he (or she) is." Permit me to reply.

There are many rabbis and many priests who will officiate. We have had many mixed marriages in our synagogue in the past several years, including many in which clergy of other faiths have participated in the wedding ceremony.

Furthermore, the Rabbinic Center for Research and Counseling in Westfield, N.J., periodically compiles a list of rabbis who will officiate at interfaith marriages. There are presently 180 rabbis on that list, including more than 50 who will invite other clergy to join them in the ceremony.

RABBI JOHN M. SHEERWOOD, TEMPLE EMET, WOODLAND HILLS, CALIF.

DEAR RABBI SHEERWOOD: I appreciate the helpful information to pass on to my readers. However, interested parties should not assume that they can just ring up any rabbi on the list and be assured of an instant marriage ceremony. For example, most rabbis require a premarital conference and encourage a program of Jewish study after the marriage. Some rabbis (not all) require a commitment that the couple will establish a Jewish home and/or raise their children as Jews.

There are other conditions too numerous to mention here required by some rabbis, but a national list of rabbis who will perform mixed marriages, plus the prerequisites of each, is available free of charge by writing to: Rabbi Irwin H. Pihlslein, Rabbinical Center for Research and Counseling, 128 E. Dudley Ave., Westfield, N.J. 07090.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for

recommending the Unitarian Church to the Catholic man and Jewish woman who wanted to marry but couldn't find a priest or rabbi who would perform the ceremony.

My Catholic daughter was engaged to a Jewish man, and they, too, were having trouble finding a clergyman of either faith to marry them. They were ready to settle for a justice of the peace when in your column I read about a couple who were having the same problem. You said, "Try the Unitarian Church."

I called my daughter right away and told her what I read, and she got right on it. She found a Unitarian Church listed in the phone book, called the church and made an appointment with the minister. Then she and her fiance went to see him.

First, he gave them both a course in premarital counseling, and then he married them in a beautiful ceremony that included both the Christian and Jewish rituals.

I hope the couple who wrote to you takes your advice and finds a Unitarian minister as wonderful as the Rev. Robert Jones in Cherry Hills, N.J. I have never attended a more beautiful wedding nor heard a more meaningful service.

MRS. D. CRAIG, MAGNOLIA, N.J.

DEAR MRS. CRAIG: Others wrote to praise the Unitarian Universalist ministers for their non-judgmental, compassionate attitude.

Raines Gets $1.2

Expos: 'We're Not Terribly Upset'

CHICAGO (UPI) — Base-stealing champion Tim Raines became baseball's newest millionaire, winning the largest award ever granted in arbitration. The star outfielder of the Montreal Expos was told Thursday he will receive a $1.2 million salary for this season.

The Expos had submitted a figure of $1 million, but arbitrator Tom Roberts favored Raines in the hearing. The 25-year-old switch hitter, in just his fourth season, made $790,000 last year when he batted .309, scored 106 runs, had 80 RBI and stole 75 bases.

He has won the National League base stealing title in each of his four years.

Roberts heard the case Wednesday in Chicago. Raines' case was presented by Sam Reich and the Expos' by Tal Smith. Reich is the brother of Raines' agent Tom Reich while Smith represents 13 clubs in arbitration cases.

"We're not terribly upset," said Bill Stoneham, the Expos' vice president in charge of players' salaries. "We were negotiating before arbitration for a long-term contract and we'll continue to work on that. It's not a case of winning or losing, because there wasn't that much difference between the two figures."

Baseball

An arbitration award is for one year only.

Raines surpassed the $1 million awarded third baseman Wade Boggs of the Boston Red Sox last week and the $1 million received by Los Angeles Dodgers left-hander Fernando Valenzuela in 1982.

Roberts is the same arbitrator who sided with Valenzuela in his case with the Dodgers after his rookie season.

Tom Reich said, "If anybody deserves this, it's this player (Raines). He's become a good player as there is in the game. It's a deserving decision."

The ruling marked a dramatic turn in fortune for Raines, who in 1982 admitted to spending $40,000 on cocaine that he said left him unable to see a baseball at times. Raines subsequently entered a rehabilitation program and maintains he has shed the habit.

Tim Raines received the largest settlement ever awarded at arbitration Thursday when he received $1.2 million.

The settling of Raines' case was the last to be decided by arbitration. In all, 13 cases went to arbitrators with the owners winning seven decisions. In the 10 years of arbitration, players have won 86 cases and the clubs 103.

Arthur Egan
191 WASHINGTON ST. N.Y.C. - WORTH 2-2117

The Arthur Egan company's silkscreened calendar was designed to attract customers in search of similarly effective displays. Today, it could be worth a pretty penny to a collector. What old calendars might you have stored away up in the attic somewhere?

PASSAGE of TIME

Flipping Through Pages Of Calendars Past

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

"I didn't know what day it was," goes the old song, and that may be all well and good for people in love. But in our time-conscious society, most of us almost daily turn to the calendars on our walls, desks, checkbooks, calculators — or even wristwatches — to pin down the precise date.

Only lovers can afford to lose track of the days and weeks.

We take for granted our calendars, which can be very personalized items with their illustrations of cheesecake, beefcake, cartoon characters, endangered species, teddy bears, art by great masters or children...the list is endless. Whatever the current fad from art nouveau to new wave, calendar makers respond to earn a place on your wall and a few bucks out of your pocket.

That has not always been the case. Historically, ownership of calendars was limited to the privileged. Most Medieval calendars, for instance, were in the hands of the clergy and marked holy days, saint's days, aided in calculating the date of Easter, astronomical tables, phases of the moon and the seasons (vital for agriculture) and astrological information, according to Lucy Fellowes, a calendar expert for the Smithsonian Institution.

Early calendars were frequently combined with an almanac and offered a wealth of information that supported an agrarian society. After the advent of the printing press around 1439, the calendar/almanac became a common personal possession.

As printing techniques improved and the populace became more literate and sophisticated, the average person could afford to not only own an almanac but a separate calendar as well. About the same time, the illustrations used to adorn those informative documents started to become more diverse. Some could even be called art.

Longwood antiques dealer Betty Jo McLeod said old, illustrated calendars differ from current calendars in that "they used to have one picture with 12 sheets for the months. The picture always stayed the same. Now calendars have a different picture for each month."

The popularity of wall calendars picked up in the 18th Century and by the mid 19th Century calendars were so common that the average American family could have any number of wall calendars without investing a dime. This, Mrs. McLeod said, was because advertisers stepped in and found free calendars an ideal way of exerting a year-round influence on potential customers.

The illustrations on calendars of the past sometimes baffle the modern viewer. The distributors of a cure-all called "Antikamintia" put out a calendar in 1897 illustrated with rather macabre scenes of people and animals, all with skulls where their heads should be.

That type of calendar might attract several types of contemporary collectors who might pay from a few dollars to around $100 for a much sought after calendar, Mrs. McLeod said. Among those would be persons who collect in the general advertising category, those who collect patent medicine mementos, or those looking for a calendar from that particular year.

Because calendars have traditionally been considered disposable items with no particular value after their year's lifespan has expired, old calendars can be quite rare and as such can often command top dollar from collectors.

For one to have survived over the years, however, "that calendar had to have meant something to someone," said Sanford antiques dealer Marie Richter. "Maybe they just liked the picture, or maybe something that they wanted to remember happened that year."

But a problem with beautifully illustrated calendars, Mrs. McLeod said, is that "a lot of pictures have been cut off and framed."

Another drawback, or asset depending on your perspective, is that people tend to make calendars their own. They are more often than not personalized with notations of appointments and important dates.

"I don't think the writing hurts," Mrs. Richter said. "It adds to the history. In some cases it could add to the value depending on what was written."

But antique paper goods dealer Grace Gottfried, of Eustis, said a collector who wanted to frame and display a particular calendar might not want to showcase the decades old appointments noted by a former owner.

If an old calendar isn't suitable for framing, Ms. Gottfried suggests it be protected in a plastic sleeve.

In recent years businesses have cut back on their use of calendars as advertising, which makes today's issues good bets as future collectibles, Mrs. McLeod said.

Ms. Fellowes wonders. Because calendars are by nature transient documents, there may not be many to collect. The Smithsonian is "very lucky to have what we do," she said.

"It's very difficult to find calendars from the 1960s and '70s... What people are going to do with the millions of calendars of the '80s I don't know."

'Otherworld' Not Bad As Far As Sci-Fi Copycat Shows Go

By David Handler

It's safe to assume that if there hadn't been a "V" on NBC there wouldn't now be "Otherworld" on CBS. Still, copycat programming isn't reason enough to totally dismiss something. That isn't fair.

Besides, "Otherworld" isn't exactly like "V." True, it is a science-fiction action drama about an Earth run by fascist non-humans. But nobody on "Otherworld" eats mice. Or hasn't yet.

And "Otherworld" doesn't even take place on Earth. This Earth, that is. It takes place on some other Earth.

See, one day the Sterlings are on a tour of the pyramids in Egypt. They're an ordinary American family. There's Hal (Sam Groom), an engineer; his lovely wife, June (Gretchen Corbett); their two teenagers, Trace and Gina (Tony O'Dell and Jonna Lee); and their tadpole, Smith (Brandon Crane).

They've picked an unusual day to visit the pyramids. Seems there's a peculiar alignment of the planets that hasn't happened in 10,000 years. They're down in some pharaoh's tomb when suddenly there's a whole lotta shaking and kasoom-ing, and they find themselves bobbing in the water someplace "beyond the beyond."

"I don't think we're in Egypt anymore," says Smith. "This is too weird for me," says Gina. "Didn't I tell you kids this was going to be a memorable outing?" says Hal, bravely.

No sooner do they find land than a maniacal zone trooper, Commander Kroll (Jonathan Banks), pulls up in a futuristic automobile, demands to know what they're doing in a Forbidden Zone.

When they don't have a satisfactory answer he tries to seize them, only they knock him out and flee in his car with his most valuable possession, his access crystal. Kroll, from now on, devotes himself to getting that crystal back. And terminating these "plasmoid terrorists."

"Otherworld" follows the Sterlings as they try to find some portal that will take them back home. And stay one step ahead of Kroll.

In the first episode, they make it to a mining town, Sarlex, stumble into a Relocation Center and get assigned a home. Hal is assigned a job in a print plant. The kids are assigned schools. June, who is a veterinarian, is designated a housewife. "I know what this is," she quips. "It's a time warp back to the '50s."

After a few days of trying to blend in with the populace they make an unpleasant discovery — everyone there but them is an android. They have to leave anyway. Kroll has learned their whereabouts.

Another week finds them in Torika with new identities. Trace, however is having trouble in school. It seems pointless to him. "My life is on hold," he complains. "Maybe forever. Why are we kidding ourselves?"

"Otherworld" shows some imagination and surprising bits of humor. Zone troopers in training, for instance, are called ZITs. Canned goods are simply labeled "good food."

I doubt it will hold anyone's interest for the long haul, but it's an entertaining mid-season show.

Rocket Scientist's Son Becomes 'Space' Astronaut

NEW YORK (UPI) — Harry Hamlin, the son of a pioneer rocket scientist, once dreamed of becoming an astronaut — and thanks to James Michener and CBS the dream has come true, in a manner of speaking. Hamlin plays astronaut John Pope in "Space," the 13-hour CBS miniseries based on the Michener best-seller, that will air in mid-April.

His father was an expert on liquid propulsion rocket systems who worked on the fuel injection system for U.S. rockets starting in the 1940s. He was a colleague of Dr. Werner von Braun, the German scientist vital to the U.S. space program.

"I met von Braun when I was a child," Hamlin said. "I met him first when I was about 6. I have a lot of photographs of my father and von Braun on their fishing trips and scuba diving trips."

If life were a movie script, his father's profession and this early contact would have inspired Hamlin's early ambition to go into space. Not in real life.

"Well, the funny thing is that my father never really discussed his work," Hamlin said. "He didn't tell me about it at all. And he didn't really like the manned space program."

Hamlin said his father, like von Braun and many other rocket scientists, wanted to concentrate on using robots and unmanned probes to explore space and believed a manned trip to the moon was romantic but ridiculous. Hamlin had a different idea.

"As soon as the space program began, I fostered the idea of becoming an astronaut," he said. "As soon as it became romantic, I wanted to be that. And if I had ever done anything except what I am doing, I'd still like to go up — as a passenger."

He said when he was filming "Space" at the Johnson Space Center in Houston he was told civilians probably would be able to go up in the space shuttle within a few years — at $60,000 a ticket.

On more down-to-earth matters, Hamlin feels his career is at a stage where he doesn't want to accept roles in movies just for the sake of work.

"There haven't been very many successful movies where the person who carried the movie through was a young man in his 30s — a serious or somehow real character. The things that work are 'Beverly Hills Cop.' The things that are fun to do, sometimes, but they don't offer much of a challenge to an actor."

He wants to do only select theatrical or TV movies and major stage roles, whether on Broadway where he played in a revival of "Awake and Sing," or at Princeton's McCarter Theater, where he did "Hamlet."

"I would like to engineer a career so that I could play all the great roles in the next 40 years and be doing 'Lear' when I am 75, he said."

As for movies: "I will wait and do only great movies. And they don't make too many great movies. The same thing goes for television."

What about the money he could be making?

"Once you've got enough money to be totally comfortable and you can go out and buy what you want, when you want it — after that who cares? Then it's just a liability," Hamlin said.

"There are only so many things you can buy, so many houses you can own. After a certain point all you're doing is thinking about the bathroom in this house and whether it's working and the garage in the other, and your life is consumed with worrying about the things you own."

NBC has renewed "The Cosby Show" for the 1985-86 season — hardly surprising since Bill Cosby's warm family sitcom has been led the Nielsen ratings list for the last three weeks. The network also has renewed Michael Landon's "Highway to Heaven," a moderate ratings success.

When Kramer Arrives, It Will Be In NBC's Chauffeured Limo

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Actors measure success in many ways.

Redd Foxx used to say CBS only gave dressing rooms with windows to the stars of hit shows, so he felt he had arrived when he got a window.

For Stephanie Kramer, success could be a matter of transportation.

Stephanie co-stars with Fred Dryer on NBC's "Hunter." After a slow start, the show has been picking up steam in the ratings battle, and seems to be headed for success.

"We've gone up 20 points recently," Stephanie says. "The network is pleased, and we're all very optimistic. If it really becomes a big hit, maybe NBC will send a limo for me in the mornings. Then I could sleep a little longer."

The show is filmed 98 percent on location, all over the Los Angeles area. She drives herself to work in the morning — in her snazzy little Mazda RX7 — and gets up anywhere between 4 a.m. and 5 a.m.

depending on the location of the day. She gets home late, too. She generally has an hour between when she gets home and when she has to go to bed. In that hour, she has to eat, do her laundry, learn her lines for the next day, and tend to household chores.

Besides everything else, she is trying to start an outside career as a singer. She sings pop-rock style.

There was some talk of having her sing on "Hunter" — her character often uses disguises as she works undercover.

"But I decided it just wouldn't work," she says. "If I sang as well as I can, the audience would say, 'If she can sing that well, what's she doing working as a cop?' And I wasn't about to get up and sing publicly."

"OTHERWORLD" is CBS's new show, a sort of gentle sci-fi show about a family that ends itself in a world somewhat like ours. The show's premise is that the only way to and Gretchen Corbett play the parents on the show.

Miss Corbett is a familiar face on TV. She worked with Jim Garner on "The Rockford Files" off and on for four years.

But this is her first time as a fixture on a series.

It's been sort of iffy, this new series of hers. She says the pilot and seven episodes were made some time ago, but she was never sure when — or if — they would ever be aired.

"We thought maybe CBS would show it later in the spring or next fall," she says, "so it's a pleasant surprise to find it going on now."

Gretchen Corbett is an Oregonian, the great-granddaughter of a U.S. senator. The Corbetts were important in Oregon for some generations, but her father preferred the country to the city and took his family to a ranch in a place called Camp Sherman.

"I rode my horse to school every day, four miles each way," Gretchen says. "I hated it then, but, in retrospect, it was a marvelous life and a great way to grow up. I'm a little bit of a horse person. In living in a city,

'Music' Was Loosely Based On True Story

DEAR DICK — On a recent episode of "Solid Gold," they did a mini-bio of host Rick Dees. It listed his name as Rigton Osmond Dees. Is he related to the Osmond family? Also, what is the address of "Solid Gold"? 7 E.R., Reading, Pa.

It's Rigdon Osmond Dees, and he's not related to the famous Osmonds. You can write to "Solid Gold" at Trailer 24, Paramount Television Studio, 5555 Melrose Ave., Los Angeles, CA 90038.

DEAR DICK — Some time ago there was a program called "Playhouse 90." It had a producer by the name of Dick Berg. Whatever happened to him? I grew up with a Dick Berg. He graduated from Roosevelt High in Portland, Ore. I heard he did a lot of acting in Europe years ago. I often wondered if it might be the same person. He was real smart and talented, and I would like to know. E.L., Roseburg, Ore.

A different Dick Berg, although this one is real smart and talented, too. He is still producing, and, in fact, has two big projects coming soon — a biography of Raoul Wallenberg on NBC and the multi-hour miniseries, "Space," coming on CBS. This Dick Berg grew up and went to school in New York.

DEAR DICK — Recently on TV, I saw "The Sound of Music" and thought it was wonderful. Is it a true story? B.M.J., Catawissa, Pa.

It is very loosely based on the true story of the Von Trapp family, which became The Trapp Family Singers when they emigrated to the United States.

Ask Dick Kleiner

and now is centered in Stowe, Vt. But many liberties were taken with the truth, so it is certainly not absolutely factual.

DEAR DICK — My brother and I are having an argument with my mother. We say that Lisa Hartman, who plays Cathy on "Knots Landing," also played the part of Ciji earlier on the series. We've got a pizza dinner riding on this. So, who's right? K.B., Springfield, Mo.

Make it with pepperoni, because you win. They killed Ciji off, but the public didn't like that, so they brought Lisa Hartman back as Cathy, a singer who looks like Ciji.

DEAR DICK — Could you tell me how old Ralph Macchio is. I read in a magazine that he was 23 years old, but I'm not sure I believe it because he looks like he's in his teens. P.E.P., North Manchester, Ind.

He will turn 23 this year. Actually, movie and TV producers like actors who look like they are teenagers, but are actually older, because California state law regulates the hours anybody under 18 can work and insists that such kids have teachers and guardians on the set with them. That gets expensive.

DEAR DICK — Was Richard Deacon, the actor who died recently, the same individual as Olan Soule? Soule was a character actor often seen on series TV in the early '50s, but I don't recall seeing any credits for him after Deacon's career began. D.D., Knoxville, Tenn.

DEAR DICK: We have just watched "The Sound of Music." I was sure that Richard Haydn, who played the part of Ditweller, was and is Richard Dawson of "Family Feud." My children say no. Who's right? S.E., Houston, Texas.

Deacon, Soule, Haydn and Dawson could play a bridge game together, because they are four separate entities.

DEAR DICK — Could you please tell me why there are no Mae West movies playing on TV? And, why are there none of her old albums in record stores? R.J.L., Delara, N.J.

An old Mae West movie will pop up on some late show once in a while, but basically they are too old for ordinary broadcasting. Her last movie (barring her embarrassing work in "Myra Breckinridge" and "Sextet" in her dotage) was made in 1943, and that's more than 40 years ago. Her records are out of print, so they are only available in used record stores, if you're lucky.

Singer Striving To Make Gospel A Viable Art Form

By Vernon Scott
UPI Hollywood Reporter
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Gospel singing is on the rise, thanks in large part to Amy Grant, 24, who writes and sings her own spiritual songs. Grant, a native of Nashville, sings from the heart. She attends church regularly (a non-denominational Protestant sect) and believes in God and Jesus Christ. Her songs spring from her devout background and her love of music.

Two of her nine albums have earned gold records. "Un-guarded" and "El Shaddai," Hebrew for God Almighty.

Rearing in the Church of Christ since she was a toddler, Grant recalls hearing old hymns when she was only 2. At 10 she was singing from hymnals, which she says stirred her early understanding of music.

Grant doesn't sing country, western, rock or middle of the road. She sticks to gospel and was rewarded this year with a Grammy nomination.

"The only thing that sets gospel apart from anything else is the lyrics," she said. "The music itself can sound like rock, country, classical or church music. It's just grass roots. If anything the music leans to country.

"Gospel lyrics are related to church worship and are sort of evangelical. They are sung to appeal to Christians first and then to others, maybe as a sort of proselytizing." Amy is far from "square" and doesn't begin to fit the cliché of a Bible-beating evangelist — which she is not.

"I'm not a preacher and I don't try to be when I'm performing any more than Billy Graham would sing his sermon," she said.

"The new interest in gospel started in 1971 when Time magazine did a cover story on 'Jesus people.' I was only 10 but I remember it was about the Christian explosion outside the church. It brought about a new kind of music in the church — guitars instead of pipe organs.

Grant acknowledged true gospel music began in the South generations ago among blacks. Whites soon adopted the music as their own.

"Much of black gospel is the same as it was 75 or 100 years ago, only young people are carrying it on with the same hymn lasting 75 minutes with hundreds of 'amens' and 45 verses.

"Popular white gospel singers are southern quartets, three heavy-set young guys and one skinny one, who usually sings bass. They wear the same powder blue suits, bow ties and white shoes. It's a stereotype.

"And they show up at brush arbor meetings, which go back to pioneer days. A bunch of Christians meet out in the countryside and make a sort of stage out of the brush and then they sing religious songs all night.

"Well, that still goes on. As many as 10,000 people are out there on hot summer nights singing and keeping themselves cool with paper fans, printed on one side with an ad for a funeral parlor and on the other side the words to a hymn.

"They think my music is flimsy compared to what they sing. But sometimes I sing their songs, too, like 'Amazing Grace.'

"There are all kinds of gospel and I'm not putting any of it down. Many black gospel and brush arbor singers are young people carrying on the tradition throughout the South. I'm a Southerner and I believe in it." Grant has made three video tapes but none has been successful. M-TV, which relies on heavy metal rock and sex-oriented video, isn't receptive to gospel.

"They'd think of me as a goody two-shoes," Grant said, laughing. "I'm really not that, but I've got to prove my music is a viable art form whether or not the listener believes the lyrics."
