POPE WANTED AS WITNESS IN FORBES TRIAL

Counsel for Defense Issues Subpoena for Cousin Former Pres. Harding to Testify on Hospital Frauds

Mortimer's Story Is Again Modified Admits Testimony Regarding Trip of Forbes to Atlantic City in 1922 Was Erroneous

DIQUOIN, Ill., Dec. 31.—Francis E. Pope of Spokane, Wash., and a cousin of late President Harding denied today he had been offered one million dollars "or any other sum" to use his influence to obtain presidential cases for sale of the Government's wooden fleet.

Dec. 13.—Counsel for Charles R. Forbes, former director of the Veterans Bureau, announced Saturday he had issued a subpoena for Francis E. Pope of Spokane, Wash., a cousin of former President Harding to appear in the trial of Forbes and J. W. Thompson, Chicago contractor for conspiracy to defraud the government.

Elias H. Mortimer's story of corruption, waste and collusion in the veterans' bureau during Col. Forbes' regime as director was modified in important detail Friday from the witness stand in federal court.

Comparing their five days cross examination of Mortimer in the trial of Forbes and J. W. Thompson, contractor, for conspiracy to defraud the government, defense counsel drew from the witness the admission that his entire testimony before the senate committee last year in relation to a trip with Forbes to Atlantic City, N. J., in March, 1922, was erroneous.

James S. Easby-Smith, counsel for Forbes asserted the reputation of the senate testimony concerning the March trip will have an important bearing upon the entire story told by Mortimer about his relations with Forbes.

"When you gave your testimony before the senate committee, as to these conversations in Forbes' room (at the Traymore hotel, Atlantic City) did you then think that these conversations had occurred at a party which you have since discovered never took place at all?" Mortimer was asked.

"My recollection has been refreshed by seeing a different document," the witness replied.

The examination then developed that Mortimer had told the senate committee of two trips to Atlantic City, according to the conversations with Forbes in this question: "And the conversation which you say took place there, you now say took place between May 31 and June 4, instead of back in March as you thought at the time you gave your senate testimony."

The account of the second trip in May, related that all arrangements had been completed between Mortimer and the Thompson and Black firms for an exact division of the profits, when Forbes was approached on the subject of entering the agreement.

The fabric of Mortimer's story in the light of the reputation of the March trip leaves the sequence of events in an order indicating that Forbes was approached in the manner of profit-splitting after Mortimer had arranged all details of the plan with the contractors, the defense declares.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—President Coolidge was represented Friday as being opposed to any plan for submission to the world court or any other tribunal of the adjudication of war claims against Germany under the Dawes plan.

Mr. Coolidge is known to be convinced that the American position regarding claims collection is under good perfectly by interested foreign governments and that the right of collection is established beyond question by treaty agreement.

The president's position that there is no need of referring the subject of claims collection to a tribunal for adjudication is understood to be based on the belief that whatever differences may exist between the United States and Great Britain can be adjusted by regular negotiations.

He feels it is evident that the position of the Washington administration which has been outlined to the allied and associated powers by Ambassador Kellogg during the London conference, will be recognized by the interested governments as the negotiations leading up to the alleged agreement. The alteration of the testimony is viewed by the defense as bearing directly upon the question of conspiracy between Thompson and Forbes, the charge on which the trial is based.

BRIAND INSISTS LEAGUE NEEDS UNITED STATES

Former Premier of France Is Speaker Before Newspaper Correspondents After Meeting of League of Nations

Hopes Are Pinned On Law Commission League Names Commission For Codification of Laws, Calculated to Insure Peace

ROME, Dec. 13.—The League of Nations can become truly great only when the United States adheres to it in some form or other, declared Aristide Briand former premier of France, to the American correspondents Friday night.

M. Briand spoke to the newspaper men after a public session of the council which took a step calculated to help in the maintenance of peace by naming a commission for the codification of international law.

He emphasized what he termed the supreme gesture France already has made in accepting the idea of compulsory arbitration for any and all disputes, and, by interference, he laid stress on how important in the appearance of George W. Wickersham, former attorney general of the United States in the law codification commission.

M. Briand referred to the great hopes pinned on the work of the law commission. He showed himself a steadfast advocate of the Geneva peace protocol during a frank discussion of world political conditions, but he expressed the readiness of France to consider any practical suggestions of other powers looking to perfection of the protocol, which he described as a powerful medium for the prevention of war.

"The only possible hope for the future is for the nations to go before judges," said M. Briand.

This, he declared, is what the protocol provides and, he added, "if there is any country in the world which as ardently devoted such a method of settling a conflict it is the United States."

M. Briand affirmed his belief that the League of Nations was growing stronger every day.

Recalling his experience at the Washington arms conference, M. Briand said he had the impression in Washington that there was a kind of embargo on the League of Nations. He thought this Washington atmosphere could be broadened to embrace the world and declared if America was convinced that the covenant of the league must be revised before the United States would enter the league, then all the powers would eventually agree to study the American suggestions. He expressed the belief that time would satisfactorily settle the position of the United States toward the league and that American women would play a mighty role in this settlement.

Local Celery Fields Inspected Saturday By Students' Party

The students it was announced, are making a tour of the state making a careful study of plant diseases in order to gain first hand knowledge of the things which farmers are compelled to combat in the production of several crops.

A great deal of interest in the methods used to prevent celery from becoming affected by different diseases, was manifested by the group of young men who explained of these methods made by the officials of the local company.

From Sanford the party went to Orlando where it stopped at the Violet Dell Nursery for a short inspection. From Orlando the group planned to go to Lake Alfred and Haines City for an inspection of citrus groves at these places and also to see the packing houses at Lake Alfred in operation. Samuel Gompers In Midst Of Friends Dies In San Antonio

Labor Leader Dies

Samuel Gompers, president American Federation of Labor since its formation except one year passed away at San Antonio early Saturday morning.

Is Granted His Last Wish and Succumbs On American Soil at 4:10 A. M. Saturday

Will Be Buried Near Tarrytown

Successor To Be Selected Among 3 of Executive Council

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Dec. 13.—The grand old leader of American Labor is dead. Samuel Gompers was granted his last wish, he died on American soil at 4:10 o'clock Saturday, 11 hours after his arrival from Mexico City where he was stricken earlier in the week.

Surrounding Mr. Gompers in his last moments were men with whom he had fought many labor battles through a generation of American union labor development. Holding his hand was James Duncan, Quincy, Mass., vice-president of the Federation who has stood shoulder to shoulder with his leader for 40 years.

According to advices received here from New York, Samuel Gompers' body, which will be taken by way of St. Louis leaving here at 11 o'clock tonight, will be buried in Sleepy Hollow cemetery near Tarrytown, N. H. This announcement was made by Harry Moness, a personal friend of Mr. Gompers.

A man to succeed Mr. Gompers as president of the American Federation of Labor is expected in labor circles to be chosen from three men all present members of the executive council.

The "dawn of American Labor leaders", one of the founders of the American Federation of Labor, which he saw grow from a coterie of small locals to a national organization with a membership of more than 3,000,000, spent several of the later years of his life in fighting autocracy abroad and feudalism in organized labor at home.

In a career filled with persistent and vigorous efforts from his fifteenth year to improve the conditions of workers, Mr. Gompers became a unique figure in American public life. By the force of his eloquence and patriotism, he won over the solid support of the American Federation of Labor for the United States government when it entered the war.

The conflict ended, he went to Paris where he helped to organize the International Labor Congress. Five of its tenets were incorporated in the Federal Labor Law: (1) Labor is not a commodity; (2) An international 8-hour day; (3) A standard and adequate living wage; (4) Equal pay for men and women for equal work; (5) Prohibition of child labor.

Gompers was the personal friend of four American Presidents—McKinley, Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson. He was often called into consultation with them. Settlement of a number of industrial disputes that threatened to or did reach nationwide proportions was attributed to his wise leadership; his conservatism and the trust reposed in him by the rank and file of American labor. It was a staunch advocate of democracy.

The world-wide unrest which followed the conclusion of the great war did not spare American industry. Bolshevism early lifted its head. Explaining its menace, he said: "There has always been a radical element in the labor movement the solid has tried to destroy the very forces which have protected it all these years. It is this element which makes it so hard for organized labor to make its demands effective. These American Bolsheviki have earned for labor countless enemies and have represented us in an unfavorable light."

Six months after these words were spoken, of more than 300 strikes in various parts of the United States, it was reported that only 12 were "authorized" by the American Federation of Labor.

"Ultimately," said Mr. Gompers in the same interview, "the toilers will see that there is nothing in (Continued on page 8)

SECURITY FIRM MAY ESTABLISH LOCAL BRANCH

Money To Lend At Six Per Cent On Home Builders To Be Furnished By Firm

Here for the purpose of making a survey of Sanford with a view to establishing a local office of the Mortgage Security Corporation of America, C. A. Avant, Miami, vice-president of the Seminole Bond and Mortgage Company of that city, announced Saturday that within a short time a local manager will be announced and the Sanford branch opened.

Mr. Avant arrived in this city Saturday morning after having been on a tour of the east coast in company with officials of the company. During their trip they made plans for the establishment of several branches of the company.

Among the cities which the company has had in mind for some time as a place to open an office, is Sanford, according to Mr. Avant, who declared that the very solidity of this city, insures a steady growth and bright future.

The Mortgage Security Corporation Mr. Avant explained, is a company whose purpose is to lend money to the home builder. The money loaned at six per cent, is available for a period of 10 years. After the opening of the local office, an unlimited amount will be available to lend on sound propositions, he stated.

A feature of this offer, it is pointed out, is that every mortgage is insured by the National Surety Company which offers the insured securities for sale to the public. The call for these bonds as an investment, according to Mr. Avant far exceeds the amount on hand.

The Mortgage Security Corporation is the first concern in the country to insure its mortgages, and thus making them gilt edged securities, declared Mr. Avant. The success with which the plan has met all over the country is shown by the fact that since its inauguration 10 months ago, the company's business has been extended to 28 states.

Other cities in Florida where branch offices have been located or will be in a short time are: Miami, Fort Myers, Arcadia, Sebring, Winter Haven, Fort Pierce and Orlando. The same plan is being used by other companies in Sarasota, St. Petersburg, Bradenton and Tampa, according to Mr. Avant.

Sanford, Mr. Avant declared, is one of the most desirable places in the state in which to locate and he pointed out that the fact that its population has more than doubled during the past five years is evidence of what may be expected in the future. He praised the progressive spirit of the business men and commented upon the clean appearance of the streets and buildings.

Paved streets have helped materially in making Sanford grow, he pointed out and the evident cooperation of its citizens is one of its greatest assets. This city, he further declared has much to be thankful for in the splendid farming section which forms such a solid background for investments.

Over 21' Is When Forced To Age to Lawyer

NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—A woman can be forced to tell her age if the lawyer insists the information is material.

Justice Davis ruled this in the case of a suit brought by Spencer, cotton operator, against Margaret Huntington Hall of New York, L. I.

The suit was for property in Washington square, Manhattan, said to be worth $100,000. Waters says Mrs. Hall held the suit for him.

He answered questions about cotton ventures and the purchase of the property, but when asked for his age, she blushed, looked at her patent leather shoes, and said "I'm over 21 years of age."

When the lawyer insisted on exact age, she appealed to the judge, saying it was "a personal matter."

After the lawyer insisted the information was material, Justice Davis ruled she must answer. "I'll be 30 in May, next," she stated.

Mrs. Hall was asked if a "Miss Mabel" who looks after her banking affairs was a "young woman."

"She's a young lady, about 40," she answered.

Many integral parts are combined in the make-up of a modern newspaper and the quality of the newspaper as a whole is no better than the quality of the sum of its parts.

Every feature that is dull and unpopular not only occupies valuable space which might otherwise be filled with attractive matter, but also proves harmful to the paper itself through the boredom it inflicts upon the readers.

What these features shall be depends entirely upon the subscribers themselves. In one way or another they make known their wants to the publishers.

As additional services are to be procured by The Sanford Herald from time to time and as it is the desire of the publishers to make these services as universally appealing to Herald readers as possible, it has been decided to inaugurate a rather unique election.

There are the various comics which no doubt will prove very popular in the election. They are "Bringing Up Father," "Mom and Pop," "The Old Home Town," and the imitable "Everet True."

Clip the ballot, register your favorite feature, and leave it at The Herald office, so that the publishers can be guided by popular opinion in the future selection of features.

What Will You Take With You?

We were looking over the exchanges the other night when we noticed an article which particularly struck our fancy. It was printed in the Lakeland Star-Telegram and referred to an incident relating to the death of old Commodore Vanderbilt.

"Did you hear about Vanderbilt being dead?" one asked. "Yes," said the second. "He must have been worth a hundred million. How much do you really suppose he left?"

And then there was August Belmont who died just the other day. Belmont too had millions in bank stocks, railroads and real estate.

And yet man must take something with him when he dies. It is reasonably certain that none of these physical things, none of these dollars, palaces, or race horses follow their owner into the Kingdom of Heaven, but it is also safe to assume that that thing, called the Soul, for want of a better name, is not a total vacuum which it flies out of the body, but that it is a treasure chest of all mental impressions stored away during human life.

If that question were asked about a man of the caliber of Anatole France, Woodrow Wilson or Henry Cabot Lodge, what would the answer then be? What did these men leave behind them? Certainly not "all." They left a magnificent contribution to history and literature.

So it is, though perhaps to a smaller degree, with the rest of us. We cannot take our dollars or steam yachts with us into another world, but we can take our thoughts, our accumulation of mental impressions throughout our lives.

The road to the Kingdom of Heaven lies through the valley of beautiful thoughts. If one seeks God, let him do it through his mind—let him keep his mind full of pure thoughts, let him drive out the wicked by filling his brain with the best works of literature, and with the hardest mental activity for the good of his fellow man—for it is the mind which governs the action of the body, and it is the mind which will meet God.

GENE STRATTON PORTER MIAMI HERALD

The death in an automobile accident of Gene Stratton Porter moves an author who won prominence and popularity by a type of novel which many critics consider as altogether out of harmony with present demands in literature.

It is not likely that "The Girl of the Limberlost," "The Harvesters," "Freckles," or any other of the novels of this facile writer will find a permanent place in the literature of America.

Of the Porter novels it can be said that there is not in one of them an unworthy suggestion. There is not the slightest panjering to the cynical sexism that seems to be so popular among people today.

Porter's novels are well written. There is no sloppiness about them, even though they show

As Brisbane Sees It

Egypt's Case. Another Roosevelt. Berlin's Cata. Beauty Again. BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1924)

EGYPT DECLARES that she is independent, and appeals to the League of Nations against England's attitude and commands. This country will study at a distance, with calm interest, the working of the great League of Nations in questions affecting a small country against the greatest power in the League.

ADMIRERS OF the late Theodore Roosevelt will be interested in the statement made by authority of the family, that a new comer from the Mysterious Realm of the Infinite, is expected in the Longworth family.

Mrs. Longworth was Miss Alice Roosevelt. Those who have read Galton's Heredity know that the greatness of the father is handed down through the daughter, not through the son.

ENGLAND DECIDES that this country ought not to get any share of the German reparations and, specifically, nothing for our expense in sending in an occupation army to parade in Germany after peace was declared, eating up the scanty supplies of food.

OTHER NATIONS have been paid their hundreds of millions for occupation armies. They collected the money at the time. But the United States' demand for seven hundred millions is rejected enthusiastically by the Allies.

IT SEEMS a little ungrateful perhaps, especially as we are lending the money to get Germany started on the reparations road.

But for this country to keep that army ever there with no need for it, wasting the time of our soldiers, and the food of the German people was a preposterously stupid thing.

Many Americans would be glad to see this government lose the money as a warning against future foolishness. That, however, does not make the attitude of Europe toward this land less interesting.

THE NAVY learned, in recent experiments, that the Panama Canal is not safe against attack. An enemy fleet with sixteen inch guns could destroy the locks and make the Canal useless.

Of course this country ought to build a water level canal. The Nicaragua route probably would be best.

But there is the comfort, every thing is changed since the Panama Canal was built. In the old days when it was opened it multiplied by two the value of our fleet, making possible quick passage from east to west without going around South America.

Now little fleets don't matter much. This nation could well afford to have on the east coast and at Panama such a fleet of flying machines and such a supply of T. N. T. bombs as would make a "battleship with 16-inch guns" about as dangerous as a hunchback canoe with an Indian and a bow and arrow in it.

Why any nation with all the billions that it spends and allows to be stolen can't find time or money to provide flying machines and trained flyers that would make this country safe is not easily understood.

IN BERLIN a new law orders cats muzzled away from homes. Cats have hydrophobia. Dogs chase them, get bitten and then the dogs get hydrophobia. Both cats and dogs are out of place in cities. The fight against children's diseases will never be successful while dogs and cats roam around collecting germs and bringing them back to children that play with them.

Kind hearted persons who say "I must have a dog or a cat on which to lavish my pent-up affections," are reminded that a very superior animal, a human baby, can be obtained for the purpose at reasonable cost. The cheapest kind of a chow puppy costs more than an intelligent human child.

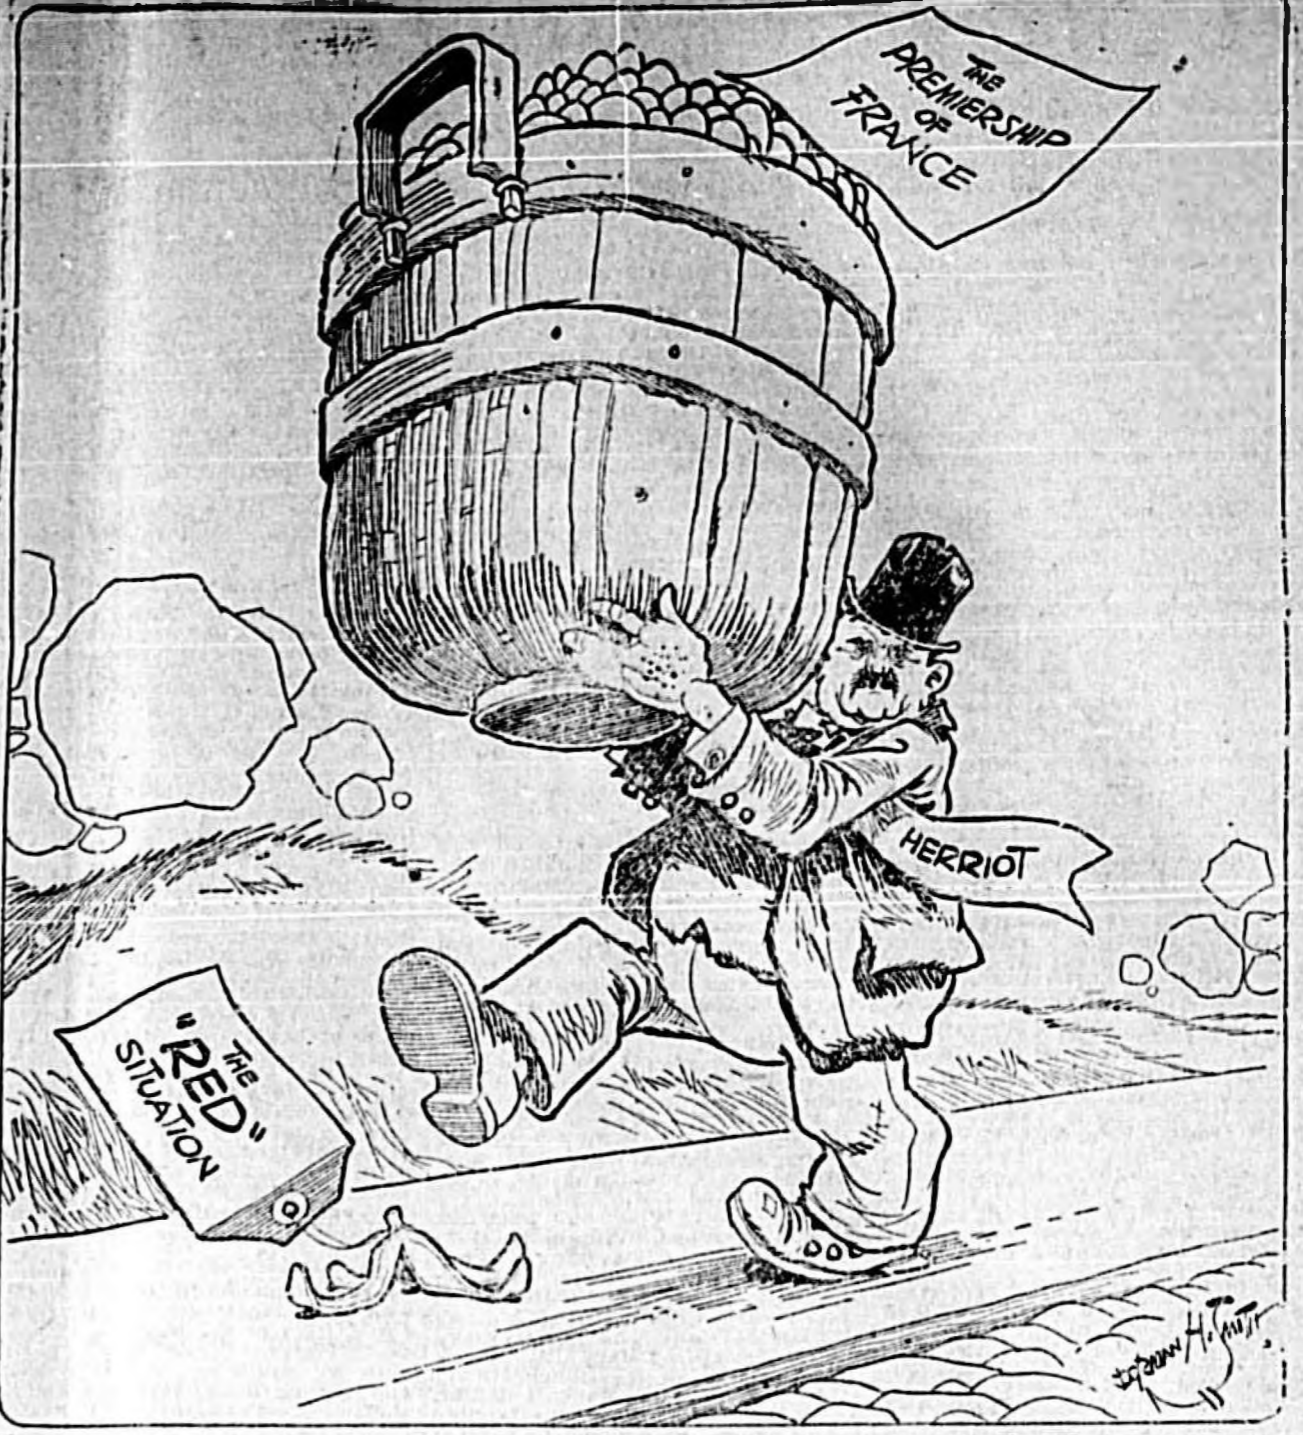

LONDON FASHIONS demand for women "boyish simplicity." The new clothes are to conceal the feminine form, so that, as with the angels, you can't tell a boy from a girl, so far as the shape goes. The young women of course, will not wear trousers.

Schopenhauer hated all women, first, because he was jealous of his mother; second, because a seamstress whom he pushed down stairs recovered her wits and damaged and outlived him. He said: "It is preposterous to call beautiful that narrow shouldered, broadhipped, short legged creature called woman."

THE TRUTH is that woman's natural figure, as you see it in the Venus de Milo, or the more feminine Venus Accroupie, is infinitely more beautiful than man's bony frame.

The question is why in heaven's name do women insist on making so many queer experiments with that which is naturally beautiful? And why do they try to look like men?

WATCH YOUR STEP, MONSIEUR

JUST IN PASSING

Glorious Florida weather is with us to stay until the end of the winter season. We will have cold snaps from time to time—we want some of them—but what a difference between Sanford weather and New England or Western weather just now.

Greetings to Harry Bodwell and his sales force. They are here ready to bring in the tourists to buy Sanford real estate and Harry has much of interest for our people. It takes such men to help us put Sanford in the front ranks of Florida cities.

What Sanford needs just now more than anything else is outside capital. It is all right to say that we should get all the bond money available just now or we can't get any more. We can always get bond money if the credit of our city is good. But what we want now is capital to build hotels, apartment houses and homes. And then we need new people to help us do these big things.

Many years ago I had an article in The Sanford Herald in which it was stated that Sanford did not even need money of the current realm. That we were trading among ourselves and no new money was coming in and we might just as well use oyster shells as real money. This is something along the order of the day at present. We must get new money and quit trading among ourselves.

I talked to a man Friday who had not been here for over a year and they way he "raved" about the many improvements in Sanford and the air of prosperity made me go right out and spend two more dollars for a piece of real estate. Honestly, if other folks think this about us we must be moving right along. And with the proper help there is no telling how far we can go.

In discussing various cities with a former Miami resident the other day in which the subject of a ten million dollar hotel was mentioned he said: "Well, Miami was no larger than Sanford fifteen years ago." And when you think of it this is really the right way to look at the situation. There is nothing impossible here if we will just get in the swim and make the old town go.

And by getting into the swim I mean getting in with half feet. There are so many people here with real money who have never done anything but sit down and let other workers make them rich. They take the money that has been stored up by the busy boosters and never flip a wing to help advertise Sanford or to bring folks here.

Our high school girls went down to Kissimmee last Friday to play the girls of that interesting city and while the score was not so large the fighters were not so pleasing since we lost. But Sanford has a good team this season and Mr. Hitt and Miss Ethel Henry are looking after them in a manner that is bound to bring them to the front. More folks should give the basketball games their support.

Saw Harry Neal in Kissimmee and also saw other old friends like "Bill" Harris and E. G. Vans Agnew and others. Kissimmee is growing and one feature of their tourist invasion is two first class tourist camps. One of these camps is an ideal park in which all kinds of amusements are held and Kissimmee people go out in the evening and help entertain the tourists and are also entertained by the tourists. These folks are buying property and building homes in Kissimmee and becoming citizens.

Strawberries in Plant City are selling for $2.75 a quart. I note that one of our Geneva growers named Green has strawberries in the local market. Would it not be a good thing for Sanford growers to raise a few early strawberries instead of lettuce and get some real Christmas money?

The Sanford Chamber of Commerce is going after a big laundry for Sanford. It seems strange that in all these years we have been forced to send our laundry out of the city. It is not only a nuisance but it seems to acknowledge that we are unable to support a laundry or the water is bad for clothes or something of that sort. This spirit will not build a big city here. Sanford should have every industry that any other Florida city can obtain.

It looks like we may have those big welcome arches at the entrances of this city and they will be the real thing in architecture. And we want them "all lit up" at night as Arthur Yowell stated in meeting yesterday. An arch that is not "lit up" at night is no good whatever. I passed under one the other night that was lit up as if it were a real thing. It was being struck under a tunnel or entering the tomb of King Tut. Let us have real arches and real lights on them.

The "Sitting Sens of Rest" are holding regular meetings again now that the weather is warmer and they are receiving certainly every day. They have taken up the matter of better streets that will be noiseless and making the terms of the City Commissioners ten years instead of three in order that the meetings will not be cluttered up with politics. It was also decided to buy cushions for the new benches or patches for the old pants—same to be taken up later.

Everybody in Sanford should talk Sanford wherever you go and tell the folks about our developments and our sales of real estate and our deep water and our still markets. I note so many of our people are prone to keep still about Sanford but are always willing to tell about other cities and their progress. You can say anything you like about the future of Sanford now and prove it in the next few years.

POLISHING OUR CONVERSATION

(By Rev. J. S. Clark)

"Being confident of this very thing, that He which hath begun a good work in you, will finish it." "Hold fast the form of sound words, which thou hast heard me, in faith and love which is in Christ Jesus."

We come to the Book and we find God organizing and classifying His organizations. It is a book that does not simply contain God's word, but it is God's record of what was done not only by Himself, but by others mentioned in the record. Being His word, it is living. "The words that I speak unto you they are spirit and they are life."

It is a record of what God begins, and also of His consummation of whatever He begins. He never leaves anything half finished. Whatever He commences in Genesis He holds to His purpose until we find it finished and complete in the last book of the Bible. Revelation is only the finishing of what God commenced in Genesis.

It is an unfolding of God's plans and purposes from the beginning to the close of the book. Each book helps the others and we could not do without any of them. When we turn to the last book of the Bible we find that its purposes were begun in the first. It is a circle complete when we finish and close the last book. So the first book of the Bible ends in the last book. There is its completeness.

In the first book is the record of the original creation; at the close of the last book we find that this original creation has passed away and there is a new creation. The things that were created then were more of a temporal nature than we think. In the first book we see the sun, moon and stars appear to give light upon the earth, and to divide the day from the night, and for signs, and for seasons, and for days and for years.

These things continue till we come to the close of the last book of the Bible, and there we find we do not need them any more, "neither the sun, moon nor stars to shine in it; for the glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the light thereof."

The Bible begins with rivers. There are four of them going out to water the earth, and when all are taken together they mean in their order, that there is great increase breaking forth so freely into fruitfulness. But we turn to the last book of the Bible and we see but one river, the river of life.

God plants a garden in the record of the first book; at the close of the last book we see a garden again, and it is of God's doing. In the first there is the Tree of Life, in the last there is also the Tree of Life.

Man is not permitted to cut of this tree of life in the first garden, he is driven from the garden and the cherubim with the flaming sword is placed there to keep the way of the Tree of Life. In the last book we find that man has access to the Tree of Life in the garden.

A prophet once said, "Awake Oh sword against My Shepherds, and against the man that is My fellow." The sword struck the Lord Jesus Christ, and he received the vengeance of God against sin, and man has entrance to the garden and access to the Tree of Life.

In the first book of the Bible we see man in dominion over the earth; then we see that dominion wrested from him and he becomes the slave of passion. Turn to the last book of the Bible and then we see the dominion restored to man, and it will never be taken from him again.

Bazar Given By All Souls Catholic Church at Woman's Club Is Big Success

The bazar given by the All Souls Catholic Church at the Woman's Club was brought to a close Friday evening after two evenings of success and pleasure.

The club which lends itself so well to decorating was unusually attractive with the beautiful booths and many lovely articles. A fern bower which formed the booth for cakes was a very pleasing one. Mrs. A. B. Mahoney was chairman. Charlie Britt had charge of the country store.

Mrs. M. S. Wiggins, chairman of the "Tots Table," had a most attractive booth decorated in pink hibiscus with many useful and lovely articles of tots wear. The "Needlework Booth" was, indeed, one of loveliness; pink and lavender

French dolls, wisteria and roses made a delightful setting for the offerings of the needle. Mrs. Frank Meisch, chairman. The "Toy Table" was quite unusual, topped by a jolly clown head and surrounded by balloons it had a most fascinating offering of toys. Mrs. A. E. Mallen was chairman of the toys.

The Gift Shop with Mrs. Fred Walsh as chairman, was a vision of Christmas loveliness in red with so many attractive gifts displayed.

Supper was served both evenings at small tables which were centered with tiny bouquets. The bazar was a success in every way. A large sum being realized and two evenings of unusual pleasure were enjoyed by a large number of people.

Special District in Tampa To Decide Million Dollar Issue

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 12.—An issue of $1,000,000 dollars in bonds will be voted upon by the Tampa Special School Tax District at an election called for next Tuesday, Dec. 16. That amount of money is needed, according to reasons set forth in the petition asking authorization of the election, for an extensive school building program in the public school system of the city.

"It is expedient and urgently necessary that bonds to the amount of $1,000,000 be issued by the Tampa Special School Tax District for the purpose of acquiring buildings, enlarging and furnishing school grounds and school buildings," the petition set forth.

W. F. Hime, attorney for the school board, has been busy handling all preliminary details for the election.

Probably five months will elapse before the proposed bonds can be validated and sold, it is said.

DRINK WATER IF KIDNEYS BOTHER

Flush your kidneys by drinking a quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids; to help cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days, and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithin, and has been used for years to help flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; can not injure and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year. —Adv.
