ALL HOPE LOST OF SAVING MEN IN SUBMARINE

 recting the salvaging work, told International News Service today.
 Under a sky powdered with stars the salvage fleet worked throughout the night. At dawn, the double hose attached to the S-C tube of the S-4's torpedo compartment was still throbbing oxygen into the chamber of death.
 "If there is any life left on board the S-4 we hope that the fresh air being supplied may revive any who still live but may be unconscious," said Lieutenant Commander Ellsbury.
 Ellsbury estimated that four hours of pumping should resuscitate an unconscious man. More than double that time has elapsed and there has been no message received from inside the sub. However, it was admitted that the victims might be in such a mental and physical condition that they would be unable to signal.
 It was "Tug" Wilson and Joe Eiben, working in the icy depths from nine o'clock until 10:30 last night, who attached the air line to the T-shaped "blister" on the hull of the submarine.
 In between the pumping, the fed air, laden with carbon monoxide in the chamber was drawn out. A sample of his air is being analyzed. Superficial examination shows a mixture of rancid oil, a phenomena navy experts were unable to explain immediately.
 The ill-fated ship acted like a phantom vessel for almost a day when the buoy marking her position was broken away in yesterday's storm and the rescue fleet was unable to discover her whereabouts. Crappling methods eventually located her and when a diver was

Youthful Slayer Of Farmer Begins Term

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 22.—(INS)—Alfred Denton, 14-year-old confessed slayer of Nash County, today was expected to be taken to the Stonewall Jackson Training School to serve his sentence for killing T. O. Tant, a farmer in a liquor feud.
 Denton, after several weeks of observation, was declared sane by Dr. Albert Anderson, superintendent of State Hospital, and was then paroled to the training school by Governor McLean.
 Denton was originally sentenced to serve five and one-half years in State Prison by Judge W. M. Bond, in Nash Superior Court, but before he arrived to commence his term Governor McLean issued a parole sending him to the training school.

Acosta Postpones Attempt To Effect Endurance Record

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Dec. 22.—(INS)—The attempt by Bert Acosta and Emile Burgin to pilot the Fokker monoplane Splitdorf to a world record for sustained flight was postponed today until Dec. 27.
 Acosta said that a test flight this morning with 400 gallons of gasoline proved that the load for the actual flight will have to be redistributed and that certain motor adjustments are necessary. He said he found the plane tail heavy.
 The ship will have to carry 500 gallons of gasoline if Acosta intends to remain up 60 hours as he has announced. The present world record is held by a German Junkers plane, it is 52 hours and 21 minutes.
 During the day Clarence Chamberlin, trans-Atlantic flier who once set an endurance record with Acosta, appeared at the field and challenged Acosta to an "endurance contest." Chamberlin proposed that Acosta await completion of the Chamberlin Bellanca plane tests and that both men take off at the same time to determine who could remain longest aloft. Acosta has not yet accepted the challenge.

Escaped Convict Returns After Working 4 Months To Provide For Wife, Babe

JOHNSTON CITY, Tenn., Dec. 22.—(By International News Service.)—With the unexpected surrender of Henry Coker this week who escaped from the Washington County convict chain gang in November, came to light a Christmas story of devotion, and sacrifice at the risk of his life, according to officers.

Henry Coker walked into police headquarters here this week and asked to be sent back to the chain gang to finish serving his sentence of eleven months and twenty-nine days on a charge of robbing Clinchfield Railroad freight cars last Spring. Investigation of the records showed that Coker was sentenced on May 12th and served until November 4th, when he and another prisoner named Earl Sealf escaped.

Events during the time Coker was serving his sentence and during the time he was free were dramatically related by the prisoner while he awaited return to the chain gang.

"I was badly in debt when I made the escape," he said. "You know the stork came to my house shortly after I was put in jail and with a large doctor bill facing her, in addition to other debts, my wife was having a hard time."

"So I skinned out and went to the Virginian coal field, I worked there until this week and made enough money to pay all my bills and now I want to serve out my sentence."

"The baby is nearly four months old now and is getting along fine. As soon as I finish serving my sentence I intend to behave and to provide for my wife and baby as I should," he said, "and although I'll be a guest of the county at Christmas dinner, I guess I'll feel a lot better than I would have if I hadn't fixed the folks up until I get out."

Coker's family live three miles out of this city.

Veterans Of World War Face Event Of Losing Army Bonus

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—More than 650,000 World War Veterans are facing the loss of their legal right to claim the soldier's bonus, with the time limit for filing applications expiring until Jan. 1, 1928, and Congress in adjournment for the holidays until Jan. 4.

The forgetful veterans have two chances. They may file applications in the eight remaining days or depend on Congress to pass a new bill giving them more time.

Whether Congress will extend the time limit, after the veterans have had several years in which to obtain the adjusted compensation certificates of insurance is problematical.

Rep. Green, (R) of Iowa, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, declared today that it was still possible for legislative action after the holidays.

"I don't know whether I would favor extending the time or not," he said, "The Ways and Means Committee rejected a plan by Rep. Conery, (D) of Massachusetts to push thru a time extension bill before the holiday adjournment."

Actually, according to records of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps, there were today 671,517 veterans out of more than 4,000,000, men who served in the World War who have failed to seek the bonus. Applications are still being received by the War Department at the rate of 1,400 a day.

CONGRESS MUST ESTABLISH MAN'S PARTY ALLIANCE

Perplexing Problem Must Be Solved Before Kansan Can Be Confirmed As Minority Radio Commission Member

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Congress is faced with the question of deciding what constitutes a trust and trial Democrat. This perplexing problem must be solved before Sam Pickard, of Kansas, is confirmed as a minority member of the Federal Radio Commission.

The circumstances, as disclosed today, are as follows: Mr. Pickard, thirty-two years old, was a combat aviator in the American Expeditionary Forces during the World War, and wears a silver insignia of those veterans who were wounded in a action with the enemy.

Owing to his age, prior to the outbreak of hostilities, Pickard never had an opportunity to vote nor to officially express his political preference. After the War he came to Washington with the Agricultural Department and since that time never has registered nor voted.

While technically holding legal residence in Kansas Pickard has not resided there since the war.

His appointment by President Coolidge as a Democratic member of the Radio Commission, was sponsored by Senator Curtis and Senator Capper, both Republicans of Kansas, and Secretary of Agriculture Jardine, causing some of the Democratic members of the Interstate Commerce Committee of the Senate, to question Pickard's Democracy.

Pickard's father is a Republican. However, when Pickard appears before the committee Jan. 6, and is asked concerning his political affiliations, he will say: "I am a Democrat. My wife is a dyed in the wool Democrat."

Pickard's friends say that such a statement will be conclusive and that all questions as to the proposed commissioner's political affiliations will vanish. He has the strong endorsement of Judge E. O. Sykes, Mississippi Democrat, and the other minority member of the commission.

An secretary of the commission, prior to appointment as a member, Pickard acquired a good working knowledge of Radio regulation.

The confirmation of O. H. Caldwell, of New York, twice appointed by President Coolidge, has been questioned on the grounds that Caldwell once was connected with the National Broadcasting Company. This, however, is denied by Caldwell, and the general impression exists that he will be confirmed.

The committee has invited all nominees to appear in person but they make an exception in the case of Harold A. La Pointe, of Utah. La Pointe, who is now in Salt Lake City, planned a radio survey of the Pacific Coast before turning to Washington and was due in Los Angeles Jan. 6. No objection to his appointment has been raised.

Miss Anne Case is attending evening classes in a London public school at the age of 75. She speaks four foreign languages, German, French, Spanish and Italian.

Solicitor Declares Speaking To Woman Is No Insult To Her

LONDON, Dec. 22.—It is neither insulting nor likely to cause a breach of the peace if a woman speaks on the street to an unknown man or a man speaks to a woman in a fashionable part of London according to Sir Ernie Blackwell legal assistant to the Under-Secretary of the Home Office. He gave evidence today at the first public sitting of the Government committee to investigate the problem of street offenses.

"In the West End of London," he said, "a man merely takes off his hat to a girl and makes some passing remark. That is neither insulting nor threatening."

To this description of the methods of a London master he added: "But the law extends in villages and in small towns where the conduct may be very different."

The Governor Comes Out

Seminole County citizens have been much interested in the little box which appeared on the front page of The Herald Tuesday announcing the candidacy of John Martin for United States Senator.

There may be phases of this announcement which do not please. Duncan Fletcher, Florida's senior Senator, is a Jacksonville man, as of course is John Martin.

Yet any fair-minded person is forced to admit that John Martin has made as able and efficient a governor as any this state ever had, and shows promise of being able to render this state a similar service in the Senate.

His opponent, Park Trammell, is a seasoned campaigner, with remarkable vote-getting powers, and by entering the race the Governor has cut out for himself a difficult task which were it not for a remarkable record of activity and achievement in his present office, would be very nearly insurmountable.

Costly Blunders

While the whole country mourned the loss of the brave men who died in the submarine disaster off Provincetown, and prayed that the lives of some might yet be spared, barges, tenders, cranes, tugs, mine sweepers, and submarines which formed a part of the rescue fleet remained in exasperating inactivity.

It is indeed gratifying to learn that bureaucratic boneheads have determined this much at least, but what of the brave Lieutenant and five sailors who in their tiny cell at the bottom of the ocean repeatedly tapped out messages.

And brainless numskulls, far above, sent back meaningless sentences as "We are doing everything possible", all the while orders were being given and countermanded.

Meanwhile, a reporter, not under the thumbs of those who control the Navy, ventured near and sent out a true picture of what was found.

"Nothing was done all day," he wrote, "for the men who pounded feebly, perhaps insanely, at the thin wall of their undersea tomb. Plans were made and unmade by those in command.

"There were barges bearing huge chains. There were three of the necessary six pontoons intended for floating the ship. There were most of the mine sweepers, tenders and tugs. For the greater part of the day and night, only the S-8, the link between the doomed men and the outside world, and two mine sweepers, the Lark and the Millard, rode the swells near the spot where the coast guard destroyer Paulding collided with the S-4.

"At dawn it had been planned to introduce oxygen, water, food and searchlights through the torpedo tube. That was abandoned speedily. Officials at Washington had announced even at that hour that hope was slight.

The accident which caused the sinking of the submarine may justly be called "legitimate" but the system of rescue applied to the gruesome tragedy in the North Atlantic can scarcely be described as anything but worthless and gives rise to the belief that charges of incompetency and ineffectual bureaucracy hurled at naval heads by such admirals of the line as Sims and MacGruder must contain considerable basis of truth.

BACK TO FARM AND TO CITY

With some observers apparently impressed with the idea that the farmers are all leaving the farms and getting modern apartments in town because they find country life a bore and a living too hard to make in the open, others have been investigating, at the request of the bureau of agricultural economics of the United States, and find that there is movement both ways.

A resume of the report which undertakes to show reasons for moving about and conclusions that are drawn through study of the figures, is most satisfactory. At covered details regarding 2,745 persons now living in cities who had moved from farms scattered variously about the country to the cities, and 1,107 persons on farms who have recently removed from the cities to the rural sections.

Reasons for moving to the city were variously given. In some cases it was declared that the children had a better chance to attend school and in some instances the elders were tired with farm life and wanted a change. They sometimes admitted that the inconveniences of rural life were distasteful and physical disability was given as the excuse for moving into town by a number. Some owners had rented their farms and at least a third of the farms which had not been sold were operated by relatives. A number of former farmers declared that they couldn't make a living on the farm and they had come to the cities to make more money.

The Worst of All Crimes. Virginia's Sterilizing Law. 5 Percent Are Criminals. Can Science Check Crime? By Arthur J. Bellinger Copyright 1927 by Star Co.

CALIFORNIA AND the whole country are shocked by a dreadful kidnaping and murder in Los Angeles. The unhappy father, obeying the orders of the kidnaper, handed him $1000 in gold certificates, and in return received part of the body of his 12 year old daughter, dreadfully mutilated.

THE WORST of crimes is kidnaping, since it inflicts upon fathers and mothers the most horrible torment. That crime should be punished with utmost severity, and when guilt is certain with no delay. Fortunately no crime is more dangerous to the criminal himself. For it arouses intense care in the public mind and concentrated co-operation of the entire population with police authorities. Escape for such criminals is rare.

COULD ANYTHING be done, by science or otherwise, to diminish the number of criminals? Usually weak-minded or feeble-minded criminal acts that cost the millions of dollars, and cause millions to live in anxiety, are the work of 5 percent of the population. Is there any way to identify and eliminate that criminal and always descend of feeble in mind 5 percent?

THE STATE OF Virginia passed a "sterilization law" and the case of a girl, 18 years old, sterilized under that law, and proven of from having children in future, was taken to the United States supreme court. The law of Virginia was upheld.

THE MOTHER OF the 18-year-old girl was feeble minded, the girl herself was feeble minded and had given birth to a feeble minded child. The highest court in Virginia decided that "three generations of imbeciles are enough." The sterilization law was applied to the 18-year-old girl, and unless the law is changed the sterilizing operation probably will be performed on that girl's feeble minded daughter when she reaches the age of motherhood.

SUCH A LAW makes possible great abuses, but it might be as in Virginia, surrounded with safeguards. In ages past, the weak minded and criminals were weeded out remorselessly by law, frantically severe. In England alone thousands of children were executed for trifling thefts. Only a little more than a century ago the punishment for theft and other minor crimes was death, practically everywhere. Our more humane laws allow the majority of criminals to live, and what is more dangerous, to breed.

IDIOT OR HALF IDIOT, feeble minded fathers and mothers produce feeble minded children, potential criminals. Science, carefully supervised and restricted, might improve the human race by making impossible reproduction of the mentally unfit. The necessary measure involves no physical suffering, inflicts no hardships, except that it is made impossible for those treated to have children. To criminals and the feeble minded that means little.

CERTAIN CRIMES might well be taken as prima facie evidence of mental characteristics that would justify steps that without taking life would cut off the criminal feeble-minded breed, as the gallows did for tens of thousands in olden times.

THERE IS NO doubt that tendencies to crime and feeble-mindedness in parents are visited upon children by the stern laws of nature and this may sometimes actually be seen. Many years ago a well-educated young man sentenced to the electric chair for killing a young girl said to this writer, who as a reporter had met him, "I want you as a favor to see me die and tell my mother how I feel death."

SEEING THE MAN die was not pleasant, telling his mother about it was not an agreeable undertaking. The young man died coldly, falsely affirming his innocence. His mother, a shriveled up little woman, waiting near the prison when told, "your son died bravely" rubbed her hands, chuckled, and said "I knew he would, I knew he would." Her voice was as cold as had been that of the son who just then was having the top of his skull sawed off by the surgeons of the prison. You could see in that cold mother, the source of the son's cold criminality.

adding to the rural improvements which are particularly desirable. There is, however, no reason to worry about sufficient production of the things that are raised on the farms. American farmers have an enormous advantage over agriculturists of other lands, and they are steadily improving the standards and increasing the comforts and conveniences of the farm home through adoption of modern facilities now rather generally available.

With the death of Dr. Murphree, Florida has lost its outstanding educator and one of its greatest citizens. No "King Ben" hasn't arisen from the dead yet, and no doubt there are a "normal" explanation why he has been delayed. The smart set is already arriving in Florida fifteen days ahead of schedule. The plum is ripe for those cities prepared to pluck it. And another thing, they'd have killed just as many horses and just as many bulls whether Lindbergh went to that old bullfight or not. Now think! Have you overlooked anyone for that Christmas gift? —Davenport Times. Yes, but there is nothing we can do about it. Wouldn't it be nice if R. O. Middleton, lessee of the Hotel Forrest Lake, would bring a few of the courts of the Palm Beach Bath and Tennis Club to Sanford? A baby was born in Chicago the other day without a brain and died; that's news. Now if he had been born without a brain and lived, there would have been nothing unusual in it. Doyle Carlton, candidate for governor, says he is strongly in favor of public economy. If he wants to meet with popular approval, he couldn't have said anything more appropriate. There are said to be eight thousand men engaged in the hunt for the degenerate, slayer of the little white yearling Los Angeles girl. But why? If they capture him, some jury will declare him insane. Navy officials say that after every submarine disaster their of- fices are flooded with suggestions of one kind or another on how to effect immediate rescues following such accidents. Such recommendations may be a bit amateurish, but it does seem that modern engineering skill would be able to perfect some method of raising submarines promptly. In Georgia, at least, the husband is recognized as the head of the family, all minor to the contrary notwithstanding. In sentencing a man to twelve months in jail for possessing seventy-five pints of liquor in his home, the judge ruled: "In this state the husband is recognized by law as the head of the family and where he and his wife reside together, the legal presumption is that the house and all the household effects, including any intoxicating liquors, belong to the husband as the head of the family."

Laura LePlante To Be Seen Friday In Rollicking Comedy

Laura La Plante, Universal's beautiful blonde star, will be seen on the screen of the Milane Theatre next Friday in her latest release, "Silk Stockings."
This is a story which is admirably suited to Miss La Plante's unique talent as a comedienne. She has always scored her greatest successes in light farce and "Silk Stockings" is an ideal vehicle.
Miss La Plante became a comedienne by chance. Her first real roles were leads in very serious Western melodramas in which she played the innocent country girl beset by the villain and all his henchmen.
By a lucky break she was chosen to play opposite Reginald Denny in a picture, "Denny, of course," noted as a comedy star. But when the picture was previewed it was discovered that Miss La Plante stole many of the laughs. This was especially true in "Skinners' Dress Suit" made slightly more than two years ago.
After that Carl Laemmle definitely groomed her for stardom in her own name. Each of her comedies has increased in entertainment value and now she is recognized as the screen's greatest comedienne.
Supporting her in "Silk Stockings" which Westley Rugles directed are John Harron, Otis Harlan, William Austin, Temple Foot, Marcelle Daly, Ruth Cherrington and Heinie Conklin.

Sally O'Neil In "Becky" At Milane

Sally O'Neil, motion picture star, has a remarkable soprano voice. She learned recently at the Selwyn-Mayer studio, during the filming of "Cosmopolitan," in which she has the title role.
The script based on the Raynor Cooper serial, calls for a little shop girl, with an ambition for grand opera, a number of operatic scenes.
Fletcher Norton, cast member and former comic opera star, was detailed to stand on the sidelines of the camera and sing with the little picture actress so she would not falter during the rendition of this difficult selection.
When the time came Sally sang with such a clear soprano voice that Norton forgot to accompany her. He stood transfixed and listening while Sally carried the song entirely through the scene and the camera recorded her cation.
"Becky" is one of the best pictures of the year concerning American stage life and will be seen today at the Milane Theatre.

EDUCATION BODY MEETS IN TAMPA DECEMBER 28-30

Feature Of Convention To Be Appearance Of An All-State High School Orchestra Of Several Hundred Musicians

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 22.—(INS)—Preparations were practically perfected here today for the state convention of the Florida Education Association to meet here December 28 to 30, according to O. Carmichael, convention chairman.

Following the inauguration last year of the "All-State" high school chorus, the feature of this year's meeting will be the first "All-State" high school orchestra of several hundred musicians.

The orchestra will consist of the best high school student musicians in the orchestras of high schools from Orlando, Sebring, Okechobee, Daytona Beach, Tampa, Sarasota, Key West, and Homestead.

The usual alumni dinners and luncheons of various colleges will also be one of the features of the association's convention here.

Dinner and luncheons will be held by member and alumni of Kappa Delta Pi, Phi Delta Kappa, Peabody College for Teachers, Florida State College for Women, University of Florida, Rollins College, Southern College, Stetson University, and Columbia.

Among the prominent speakers to appear on the program are Dr. C. E. Germano, professor of education of the University of Missouri; Dr. Livingstone C. Luel, president of the Eastern Illinois State Teachers' College; Miss Frances Kenkens, assistant professor of the University of Cincinnati; and Mrs. Edyth B. Jones, Norfolk, Va., of the National Educational Association.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction W. S. Cawthon and Dr. L. E. Phillips, chairman of the state educational survey commission will also be on the program, according to Carmichael.

Chairman Explains Difference Between 2 Seal Campaigns

In order to clear some misunderstanding as to the difference between the tuberculosis seal and the National Red Cross, Mrs. Elizabeth Morgan, chairman of the tuberculosis campaign in Seminole County, today issued the following statement:

So many contributions have come to me with the statement, "We are glad to contribute to this worthy cause" by buying "Red Cross Seals" that I feel an explanation should be made to correct this mis-conception. There is some general confusion between the Tuberculosis Christmas Seal and the National Red Cross, although in truth there is no connection between the work of the two associations.

Christmas Seals have been sold for the past 29 years as a purely voluntary enterprise by organized groups of interested citizens to provide money to fight tuberculosis in the state, and establish a broad public health program to successfully fight this disease, while the work of the Red Cross deals primarily with relief in national and state disasters, and assistance to war veterans.

The Florida Public Health Association is the sole agent for the sale of Christmas Seals in this state. Affiliated volunteer associations, committees, and other organized groups conduct the sale in their respective counties, and in this way is money received to fight tuberculosis and keep the work of the Child Health Education Service alive in the schools of Florida.

A Christmas Buying Guide

BEFORE you order dinner at a restaurant, you consult the bill-of-fare. Before you take a long trip by motor-car, you pore over road maps. Before you start out on a shopping trip you should consult the advertisements in this paper. For the same reasons!

The advertising columns are a buying guide to you in the purchase of everything you need— including amusements! A guide that saves your time and conserves your energy; that saves useless steps and guards against false ones; that puts the stretch in family budgets.

The advertisements in this paper are so interesting, it is difficult to see how anyone could overlook them . . . fail to profit by them. Just check with yourself and be sure that you are reading the advertisements regularly—the big ones and the little ones. It is time well spent . . . always.

Avoid time-wasting, money-wasting detours on the road to merchandise value. Read the advertising "road maps."
