

Militia Is Called To Quell Jail Riot That Causes Two Deaths

New York Guardsmen Rescue Warden Who Was Being Held As Hostage By Convicts

AUBURN, N. Y., Dec. 11.—(INS)—An uprising of convicts in Auburn state prison today, which resulted in two deaths and caused the state authorities at Albany to order four units of the national guard dispatched here from various parts of the state, collapsed this afternoon after the troops had rushed the jail with tear bombs, routed the insurrectionists, and released the warden, Edgar S. Jennings, who had been held in hostage.

The warden was found slightly gassed. He had been held a prisoner in one of the buildings for hours by the 15 rioting convicts who had sent out word they would kill him and half a dozen guards whom they had rounded up if they were not allowed to walk out of the prison unharmed.

The dead were George Dunford, principal keeper at the prison; Henry Sullivan, a convict, who had been serving a 20 year term.

Acting Governor Herbert Lehman at Albany to whom word had been sent by the convicts that they would kill Jennings if not released, had sent word back: "No compromise."

Several hundred national guardsmen and state troopers who had been hurriedly dispatched to the scene from nearby cities had assembled before the gates of the prison waiting for a favorable opportunity to storm the inclosure and route the convicts.

Finally, the convicts sent word through two priests—Father Stratford and Father Cleary—that they wanted two or three automobiles in which they planned to leave the prison.

The guardsmen led three cars with troopers, and sent them through the open gates. Some of the convicts, however, became suspicious and made a dash for the gates.

Tear bombs were hurled by the troopers.

A number of the convicts staggered about wildly and rushed.

Reporters, Held On Contempt Charges, Are Freed Today

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(INS)—The reporters for the Washington Times who chose to go to jail for contempt of court rather than reveal confidential information for a grand jury were freed today after serving 48 hours of a 45-day sentence. They received five days off for good behavior.

While they were behind the bars, three bills were introduced in Congress to curb the power of the judiciary to sentence for contempt in such cases and it is possible that favorable action will be taken at this session.

The reporters, Gorman Hendrick, Linton Burkett, and Jack Nevin, Jr., were sent to jail as a direct result of an expose of the liquor traffic by their newspaper. They were assigned to make an investigation of the Capital's speakeasies, and the results thereof were incorporated in a series of articles. Called before the grand jury, they declined to disclose the sources of their information and to become prosecuting witnesses against the place named in the expose. Justice Peyton Gordon then sentenced them for contempt.

FIGHTING REPORTED

LONDON, Dec. 11.—(INS)—Sharp fighting between government and rebel troops about 25 miles southeast of Canton was reported today in dispatches from Hong Kong received by the Exchange Telegraph Company. According to these dispatches, the nationalist troops were advancing against the "ironclad" wing of the rebel forces, having captured rebel outposts.

PROBE IS PUSHED INTO DISASTROUS FILM STUDIO FIRE

Fire Chief Declares Responsibility Can Not Yet Be Placed

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—(INS)—While relatives were bowed in grief, three separate investigations were in full swing today in an effort on the part of the authorities to determine the cause and fix the blame, if any, for the disastrous fire in the Pathé Manhattan Studios, Inc., yesterday in which 10 persons were killed and 18 injured.

Four of those who perished were beautiful girls, from 17 to 30 years old. They died in gay, short-skirted halcyon costumes which they had donned for the "talkie" comedy which was about to be staged in the studio.

Three theories were given by investigators as to what may have caused the fire. They were: 1. A bit of white-hot carbon fell from an arc lamp to ignite draperies.

2. A carelessly tossed cigarette.

3. A short circuit.

Thomas P. Brophy, chief fire marshal, said this morning his inquiry had not reached the point where the "responsibility" could be definitely placed. Assistant Attorney P. Francis Moran asserted his office would await the findings of the fire marshal before deciding to proceed against any one.

Failure of the studio trustees to install sprinklers came in for criticism. Peter C. Spence, chief of the fire prevention bureau of the fire department, said the sub-leaser had been ordered to install sprinklers, but that, due to the fact that they were not legally obliged to do so unless they stored more than five reels of film at any time in the building, the fire department had been powerless to enforce the order.

Spence said additional legislation should be enacted which would take into consideration the changed conditions in the motion picture industry due to the "talkies."

Mayor James J. Walker declared if the evidence shows the fire regulations were not stringent enough "they will be more stringent."

There were 126 men and girls in the studio when the blaze started. The studio was a converted skating rink on the fringe of arlen's black belt, in Upper Manhattan. Off and on, for years, it has been used for the making of comedies and "thrillers." Many well-known film stars made pictures there.

Dumas Predicts Bright Future For Sanford In Speech At Rotary Club

"Conditions in Florida, Sanford and Seminole County for the past several years have not been such as we would have chosen had we been consulted, but we are and have been faced by these conditions and the only chance to bring about a change is for the people to 'Have a Mind To Work'." stated T. L. Dumas, superintendent of the Sanford division of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad in giving a talk to the Rotary Club yesterday.

Mr. Dumas said that while there have been storms, bank failures, infestations of the Mediterranean Fruit Fly, to say nothing of the boom deflation, the future is bright; for the Sanford farming section is producing one of the best and biggest crops of celery in years, and the prospect is that Sanford will have the entire country as a market for its produce.

The railroad man completed his talk by saying, "Wonderful sunshine, productive fields and groves, coupled with a people with a mind to work, mean nothing short of success and wonderful strides toward the grand and glorious future to which we looked so confidently a few years ago."

Besides Mr. Dumas the Rotarians had as their luncheon guests Merrill E. Brown, state secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of Jacksonville, and Hay Fishback of Orlando.

Among the local Rotary members who were present at this meeting were: W. M. Haynes, Paul Stone, Dr. S. Puleston, H. O. Stevens, W. A. Leffler, B. E. Chase, Fred Williams, Randall Chase, S. G. Gray, S. O. Rhinholser, Art Miller, Bert Malbis, Walter Campbell, G. W. Spencer, Jr., W. C. Hutchison, and Dr. A. W. Epps. Miss Pearl Robinson, pianist, was also present.

COALITION HAS SPLIT IN RANKS ON TARIFF LAW

Disagreement About Woolen Schedule Is Blamed For Shattering Coalition

By William K. Hutchison
International News Service
Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—The ranks of the Democratic-Republican coalition which virtually rewrote the administration's tariff bill were shattered in the Senate today as a result of the tariff war over the woolen schedule. Aided by a handful of Democrats and insurgents, the regular Republicans wrote their own woolen rates into the bill, creating a law as well as those approved by the House. All this occurred over the vigorous protests of other members of the coalition, which successfully blocked a sharp increase in the industrial rates. On the woolen schedule, the story was entirely different. It seemed a strange coincidence that the coalition should disintegrate on this particular schedule, as its famous ancestor, old-fashioned in the Payne-Allen tariff bill, had disastrous effects on the Republican party in the campaign of 1912. It was due however to the desire of mid-western insurgents to give the farmer, hence the sheep-raiser, the greatest possible tariff protection, so long as eastern industry enjoyed high protection.

Leaders of the coalition announced the losses would be but temporary and that with the woolen schedule out of the way, the united ranks of insurgents and Democrats would again control the Senate. Administering leaders, however, hinted surreptitiously that the opposition's ends on one schedule, were largely frustrated in another.

The insurgents meanwhile were busy splitting. Led by Senator Borah (R) of Idaho, Capper, Prange, Howell, Johnson, McMillan, New Pitt and Schall voted for the increased woolen rates. On the other hand, Senator Norris (R) of Neb., the insurgent leader who opposed the increase, was supported by Brookhart, La Follette and Haines.

The woolen rates meanwhile were debated by the Senate, with great regularity. After adopting a 34 cent a pound basic rate, the Senate, adopted a supplementary rate over woolen products.

The tax reduction bill mentioned was sidetracked, pending a decision of the woolen schedule. Administration leaders though were determined to call it up and pass it either Thursday or Friday.

Even a bill of the fur of the storm yesterday was not with out its calls for aid from shipping. The two latest victims of the storm to retreat themselves to permanent status were the British steamer London and the British steamer Manner bound from Philadelphia to London.

The Londoner's arrival on the 10th from a port within 10 miles of Cuba. The Manner reported it had lost a rudder and was attempting to proceed with an improvised fin.

Meanwhile the flooded condition of the Upper Thames was causing considerable anxiety here. All London embankments were fortified strengthened to prevent a repetition of the disastrous flood of January, 1928.

Heavy rains have flooded the river Wey which cuts into the Thames to such an extent that thousands of acres have been isolated Oxford and West Oxford have been especially affected by the swollen waters.

It is feared that when the receding of the combined flooded waters of the Wey and Thames reach London extensive damage may result.

Stormy conditions are still continuing in Spain, according to reports received from Madrid today.

The British steamer Atlanta brought 32 negroes rescued when the Italian freighter Cosmona sank off the port of Genoa.

The English freighter Teftuna, bound from Opposto to Lisbon, was forced to seek refuge in the Port of Vigo. Part of the cargo of Vigo is partially insulated as the result of continuous rains.

4 MEN INDICTED

COVINGTON, La., Dec. 11.—(INS)—Four men were under indictment today for the murder of Mrs. Alice Rivers, a Choctaw, slain in a trappers' war. The quartet—W. J. Harringer, James Bropard, James Todd and Earl LeFevre, trappers—were indicted by the St. Tammany parish grand jury. A fifth man held in the murder was exonerated.

EUROPE GETS SET FOR NEW ATTACK OF RAGING GALES

LONDON, Dec. 11.—(INS)—With the devastation caused by the week-long storm which took a toll of at least 45 lives and 70 ships, hardly abated, western Europe prepared itself for the appearance of new gales expected to hit England and the western coast of the continent some time today.

Even a bill of the fur of the storm yesterday was not without its calls for aid from shipping. The two latest victims of the storm to retreat themselves to permanent status were the British steamer London and the British steamer Manner bound from Philadelphia to London.

The Londoner's arrival on the 10th from a port within 10 miles of Cuba. The Manner reported it had lost a rudder and was attempting to proceed with an improvised fin.

Case Of Confessed Slayer To Be Heard

ATLANTA, Dec. 11.—(INS)—The case of E. W. L. Harbison, 34-year-old negro, who confessed to the slaying of Alexander H. Johnson, a Dartwell grammar school principal, while he was attending the national education association convention here last spring, will go before the Fulton county grand jury today.

The case was announced today by the state attorney, Harbison, a negro, was arrested on the charge of participating in a $12,000 robbery here last July. The girl was recently arrested in Indian and brought to Rome, Ralph Pate, her stepfather, was held under bond of $1,000 as a material witness. At the preliminary hearing he testified that she had not been in Rome since her marriage in 1928.

Georgia Bandit Queen Is Held Under Big Bond

ROME, Ga., Dec. 11.—(INS)—Vehemently protesting her innocence, Mrs. Elizabeth Gilmore, 34-year-old bandit queen, was held under $10,000 bond today following a preliminary hearing on a charge of participating in a $12,000 robbery here last July. The girl was recently arrested in Indian and brought to Rome, Ralph Pate, her stepfather, was held under bond of $1,000 as a material witness. At the preliminary hearing he testified that she had not been in Rome since her marriage in 1928.

The whole delicate structure of the entire relationship between Great Britain and the United States, so carefully worked out by President Hoover and Professor Macdonald, may be said to rest upon the willingness of Japan to go along.

This (as Japan has not indicated that she agrees to completely accept the ratio assigned her, which is 6 to 10, and on the contrary has evinced her determination to increase it.)

ROUGH WATER IS SEEN AS LIKELY IN ARMS PARLEY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—(INS)—President Hoover's somewhat unusual action in appointing Assistant Secretary of State Wm. B. Castle, Jr., as special ambassador to Japan for the period of the London naval conference served to emphasize today that there may be rough waters ahead in the adjustment of the Japanese cruiser ratio.

Castle is an able and experienced diplomat and is thought to be in a position to handle the delicate problems that will arise in London. The more fact that he is being sent on a mission to Tokyo for the monthly duty is in itself eloquent testimony as to the difficulty presented by Japan's demand for increased cruiser ratio.

NAVY OF 3 RUSH

SHANGHAI, Dec. 11.—(INS)—The Navy of 3 is rushing to the aid of the British in the Canton area. The British are reported to have advanced to within 20 miles of the city.

Many of the city's residents are beginning to seek refuge elsewhere as the tone of the battle over a few miles north grows louder. There are reports that part of the Cantonese defending troops are contemplating deserting to the Kwangsi forces.

Although additional troops have arrived from Nanking to reinforce the garrison here and with the Chinese quarter still under martial law, some uneasiness prevailed owing to renewed activities of radical organizations.

Heavy guards are patrolling strategic points in anticipation of the possibility of communist demonstrations today on the second anniversary of the communist coup at Canton.

Two years ago today, the communists seized that city and have since scale hoisting and bloodshed followed. The uprising was crushed two days later and several hundred Chinese and a few Russians were reported executed in reprisal.

Steps For Cotton Marketing Agency Are Being Planned

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 11.—(INS)—With preliminary plans for the establishment of a centralized cotton marketing agency already before them, three members of the federal farm board and 160 leaders of the cotton industry in the South continued their cotton congress here today.

Steps for the establishment of the marketing agency were mapped out at an executive session yesterday, at the close of which Alexander Legge, chairman of the farm board, intimated there had been little opposition to the plan and that it will in all probability be adopted.

The agency would be government controlled, embracing all local and state co-operatives. It would be financed by government funds, involving an expenditure of $1,000,000 to $2,000,000. The agency would ultimately go into the hands of the cotton farmers, in the form of government stocks, but its policies would continue to be directed by the government farm board.

A number of other steps were proposed before the congress during yesterday's sessions to aid the cotton grower.

Carl Williams, southern member of the farm board, announced that a telegram from five southern senators proposed a cotton loan increase to 20 cents per pound. The loan basis at present is 16 cents a pound.

Phil Scott Wins Decision Over Von Porat On Foul In 1st Part Of Second Round

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service
NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—As a result of actual effort, Phil Scott, of England, is within reach today of that million-dollar haul he calls the world's heavyweight championship. He stands equal with one of three men who now are the heirs-apparent to the throne, the authority for this statement being furnished by Commissioner William Muldoon, and not by the mugs who hooted Philip as he left the arena yesterday.

However, the demonstration was unimportant. A mug can't qualify for a title. All he can do is hoot you. Scott was both hooted and cheered as he left the ring, feet first and grinning like a hamster, after being hit below the waist by a left hook. Was he hurt? How should I know? Von Porat didn't hit me.

As for Mr. John Dempsey, the referee fellow, he seemed to be more at a loss than the other 175,000 in the house and the whole evening was lost to them.

Mr. Dempsey watched Scott sink to the floor with a solid punch, then bent over and held one ear, convulsed with the fall and later, apparently obtaining no encouragement here, he looked wildly about him, seeking somebody with a nice line face. For a moment, it appeared as though he might canvass the audience. Finally, when everybody was about ready to pack up and go home, he decided to call the shot. His official decision, translated by Joe Humphries, was that Otto Von Porat had lost on a foul after 20 seconds of fighting in the second round.

To give the lay friend a break, it may be said that he probably had no doubt as to the proper decision. He probably was thinking of the 16,912 people who had paid more than $200,000 into the Christmas fund to see a prize fight and if he was any way puzzled to get the recurrent Mr. Scott upon his feet again, John was bound to do it. But in his anxiety to blow the breath of life into a referee's chest that has so lately died for the evening, he also neglected to render a decision of any kind.

The usual facts of the case left him no alternative, however. One man obviously had landed a low punch. The other was writhing on the floor. When this happens, you don't go around posing for a picture. You yield to the evidence of your eyes and legs.

I will have to admit that a layman's observation of the fight left me last night wondering very much about Mr. Scott's decision. They pretend that he was hit low. They just do. But, of course, I tried to get the matter of whether or not Mr. Scott might be the best judge of this question. I'm a little old-fashioned about things like that. Mr. Scott, as a matter of fact, is the only man in the world today who knows the highest thing about a fight.

One thing I'm certain of, it made me feel that I had seen the extent of what damage had been done.

As to that, there is one other point that may be noted, namely, the punch in question was a straight left or a real left hook. That is, it wasn't a punch that sank into the groin. It was more of a low left swing. One might say, yes, and therefore, headed off through the groin's trunk as it is called in the trade.

Anyhow, it was an anti-fist that I'll never see again. It was a case of William Muldoon, A. T. Sweeney and the Muldoon-Trophy committee and the two representatives of the local boxing commission William was the only man in the ring who was worth impressing, at that. He says Scott has qualified to fight either Sharkey or Schmeling in February, with the money of this fight to meet the man who drew a bye. This little will be for the heavy weight championship, William says.

What little was seen of Scott last night was sufficient to give the impression of a man who is a little more than Von Porat. He boxed the latter's ears off in the first round, left-handed Otto in a very convincing manner. He also seemed nicely with his right hand, and was able to smother the New York attack, except in two instances. These were right crosses to Philip's head and, to the astonishment of everyone, nothing happened. Philip "rode" with the first punch and outlived the second, indicating that maybe he has more resilience than the boys have given him credit for.

CHASE DEFEATS BUSINESS MEN IN GAME LAST NIGHT

Comes From Behind To Win In Hair Raising Finish By One Point

By E. J. CULLUM
With a hair raising finish and overcoming a five run lead, Chase & Company defeated the Business Men 8 to 7 last night. Eddie Rawson, pitching for Chase & Company had difficulty in beating the plate in the first inning. Anderson, the first man up struck out. Palmer walked, McCall sacrificed, Palmer going to third, Fox and Rive both walked, filling the bases; Stine picked out a good one, and knocked a home run, scoring Palmer, Fox and Rive; Hogen struck out.

As Chase & Company could not put a run across in their half of the first inning, only four men facing Stine in this inning, the result at the end of the inning was Business Men 4, Chase 0. In the first half of the second Rawson doubled, Harper popped out, Lingle struck out, Rawson popped out, the Chase men again failing to score.

In their half of the second the Business Men garnered one run. Cobb popped out, May walked, Miles sacrificed, May going to third, Anderson singled, May scoring, Palmer struck out. At the end of this inning, the score stood Business Men 5, Chase & Company nothing. From the third inning through the sixth neither team was able to score.

In the fourth inning Rawson struck out three in a row, Hogan, Cobb and May. Also in the fifth only three men faced Rawson, Miles popped out, Anderson topped out and Palmer struck out for the second time in succession. Incidentally, only four men faced Stine in the fourth and four in the fifth, with Rawson and Stine going strong and pitching the best brand of ball that has been seen this season.

In the sixth inning, Chase coming to the bat with the score standing 5 to 0, and with Stine pitching as he had never pitched before, it seemed that the game was lost. Whitehead walked; Hutchison singled; Whitehead singled, Whitehead doubling, Whitehead hitting a deep center for a home run, scoring both Whitehead and Hutchison ahead of him. At the same time Business Men were unable to get a run across in this inning, the game stood Business Men 5, Chase & Company 4.

Rawson Was His Own Game
In the seventh inning, Chase's half, Stine pitched was forced out at first, Cotter singled, Whitehead doubled, seeing the ball, Whitehead doubled, seeing Whitehead with the 8th run, which proved to be the winning run. Thus Rawson, outside of pitching a great game, won the game by batting in the deciding run.

In the Business Men's half of the seventh, Cordell, sitting for May, singled, Miles walked, Anderson doubled, scoring Cordell and Miles. Palmer singled, Anderson going to third. With the tying and winning run on third and second respectively, and no out, the crowd went wild, those sitting for the Business Men beginning to get a bit, and those for Chase beginning to get a bit, as the ball was struck and struck 'em out. Rawson proceeded to do that little thing and struck out McCall and Fox in succession. Rive next up walked, this filling the bases, with two out. Stine up. The crowd became frantic, for it was Stine who in the first inning, with the same situation knocked a home run. However, in this inning Stine struck out, like Casey did, thus ending the game and the agony on both sides.

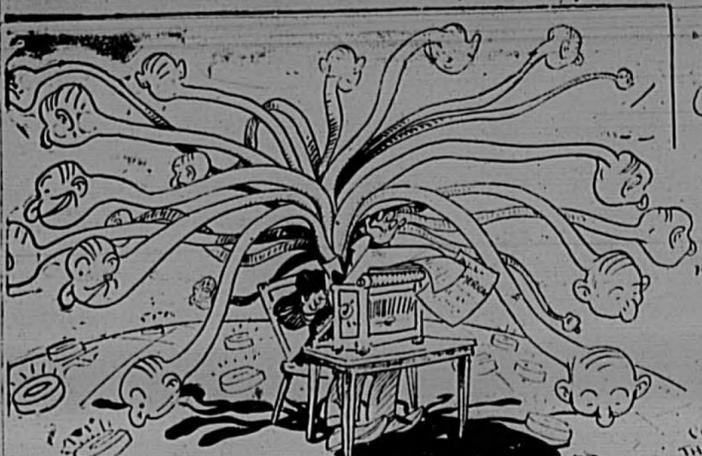

This was one of the hardest fought and hottest contested Diamond Ball games ever played in Sanford. Year it was a regular pitcher's battle, with Rawson pitching in a way that was stronger, especially in the pinches.

Incidentally, it might be stated that this is the third straight defeat that the Business Men have suffered.

Unfortunately, Fox, Manager of the Business Men's team, did not only lose the game, but he also lost his Chevrolet register, some one unknown making away with it. The license number is 288333, and he will appreciate any information as to its whereabouts.

Serious flying men say the winter course would be to stick for the rivers. But these are for the landings of greatest emergency, with something radically wrong with the plane, as a plane with the engine popped out a glide from 2,000 feet above New York to the Holmes Airport, in Queens, the Flushing Airport, the airport at Bayonne, to the field at Greenvale Park, at Jamaica Bay, to Hasbrouck Heights, the Jersey Meadows, or even to Newark.

With such a wide selection flying men generally believe that a pilot who crashes because his engine went dead at 3,000 feet over New York would have only himself to blame.

Statistics of the business-like flying at Curtiss Field are illuminating not only on this point, but also on the general stability and safety of proper commercial flying to-day. # TECH IS PLANNING COLLEGE REUNION FOR COMING JUNE

Thousands Of Graduates From Far Corners Will Attend

BOSTON, Dec. 10.—(INS)—A gigantic reunion of all the alumni of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, scheduled for next June 6 and 7, is being planned according to announcement by the reunion executive committee of the Institute.

Thousands of the school's graduates are expected to come from all parts of the world to attend the reunion.

Thomas C. Desmond, of New York, nationally known engineer, is chairman of the reunion committee, and D. Samuel C. Prescott, Head of the Institute's Department of Biology and Public Health, and formerly President of the Alumni Association, is vice-chairman.

Next year's reunion will be the sixth of the traditional All-Technology Five Year Reunion. The first dates back to 1901, when, at the suggestion of the Class of 1887, and with the enthusiastic support of the Northwestern M. I. T. Association, the initial reunion was organized. The success of the gathering aroused such enthusiasm and had much to do with making the five year reunion one of the traditions of the Institute.

The reunion of 1929 was part of the program which marked the inauguration of Dr. Richard C. Mariani as President of Technology. It was held at a period of great promise for the institution and resulted in the beginning of renewed alumni activity.

The third reunion was planned for 1914, but the gathering of the clouds of war on the European horizon caused plans to be abandoned. The next gathering came in 1916, when Technology's golden jubilee was celebrated with the opening of the new buildings in Cambridge. The event was marked by a great pageant and unusual spectacles symbolic of the march of progress, and the Institute's growth to its old buildings on Boylston Street, Boston. Then it was that the men of many classes marched from their reunion dinner at the City Club to stand before the Rogers Building on Boylston Street where in the light of many torches and while bugles sounded taps the flag was slowly lowered from its staff atop the old building.

In 1920 the five year reunion drew national attention because of a demonstration during the interval of dinner of the first nationwide long distance telephone hook-up. This telephonic network carried the voices of the dinner speakers to thirty-four cities, from the Atlantic seaboard to Los Angeles and Seattle, where groups of alumni, unable to attend the reunion, listened to the ceremonies.

The great Jamboree Dinner of the reunion of 1925, one of the most successful, was notable for which with 2200 guests, set a record for such an event in Boston. One of the unique features of this great dinner was that there were no speeches.

Iowa Alumnus Asks For Investigation Of His Alma Mater

CHICAGO, Dec. 10.—(INS)—Suggesting that the Iowa state board of education investigate the present administration of the University of Iowa, Supreme Judge M. L. McKinley today added his voice to a growing cry of unrest in the ranks of Iowa alumni. Judge McKinley berated President Walker Jessup for the way in which Iowa "laughed" its plea for readmission to the western conference.

In addition the judge scored the faculty committee of the Big Ten for the manner in which it arrived at its decision to drop the Hawkeye school. Particularly did he criticize the way in which "the adverse and personal opinions of certain athletic directors" were sought in arriving at the decision.

IOWA CITY, Ia., Dec. 10.—(INS)—University of Iowa athletic officials, forced to revise their sports program due to the action of the western conference, worked at shaping a new athletic schedule today.

The Hawkeyes are known to be tuckering with Penn State, Nebraska, Georgia Tech, Texas A&M, Oklahoma and Marquette for football games next season. The Hawkeyes have applied, Chicago, for a list of open dates for 1930.

RESIGNS AS COACH

BEAUTIFUL HOMES FOR EVERY INCOME

BY ALMA ZAISS

Individuality Lends Sharp Interest to Many a Room

Now and then we come upon a decorative scheme so individual, so altogether charming in its departure from conventional rules, that it claims our attention. Its story must be told for those who feel moved to work out personal plans in decoration which may or may not follow slavishly in well-worn paths.

Particularly since the modern movement has settled down to stay do many home-makers long for a bit of the new in rooms where both furniture and accessories are in a different key. It is possible to do this in many cases without in the least disturbing the integrity of the scheme. We could not have a more delightful illustration of the point than the little room of the photograph which, by the way, is the achievement of the housemaker herself and not the work of a professional decorator.

Into this narrow, light room on the top floor of an apartment in the city she has brought her own choice of color and arrangement, mixing the classic and the modern with a naive understanding that is most interesting. The color scheme of buff and maize and safe colors against the black and white foundation is crisp and delicate as a breath of springtime, and especially pleasing under the direct rays of light from above. The combination is not inconsistent with the antique furniture, yet its clear, light fresh treatment and the deftly patterned floor also reflect a modern trend.

On the long table with its red and blue top a modern touch is the steel-finished lamp, also in a design which suggests modernity. The room is furnished with modern patterns of pale amber and from the most important decorative element in the room. The silver table is a real gem, and a very unusual type of pendant-holders, and a large, simple, low-piled rug steps up to a modern sky-eyebrow cabinet of the antique end of the room, not shown. Above the cabinet as a background for the silver, is a colorful panel of antique tapestries, within the cabinet shelves a sturdy silver lamp and goblet of colored crystal.

This strong emphasis of silver as a decorative note, while consistent with practically all period schemes, is, as we know, one of the most important modern themes and one which is developing in countless interesting ways. The important vase or statuette

Famous Orchestra Is Featured In Milane's Picture "Street Girl"

One of the most famous orchestras in the country will entertain patrons of the Milane Theatre tonight and Thursday with "Street Girl" the all-talking all-musical picture featuring Betty Compton, opens.

Goa Ables and his Cecelia Grove Ambassadors, now playing at the Ambassadors Club in P.O. 1, appear in several of the night club sequences of the Radio Picture.

Four musical numbers, written originally for "Street Girl," are being featured by Ambros and his band as they play for the dancers in the Paris club; one in each town "Street Girl" has appeared this season, these tunes have quickly become favorites with local orchestras.

John Harrer, Jack Oakie, Ned Sparks, Joseph Cawthorn, Ivan Leedeff and Eddie Kane head the supporting cast which Walter Ruggles directed. The story, told of the adventures of a little group of musicians in a cafe of New York's "Little Hungary."

When You Entertain

For one game have the guests seated in a circle. The hostess, the person the way, selects a short narrative or anecdote or some interesting incident. The hostess whispers it to the first guest, who in turn repeats it to his neighbor, and so on around the circle. The last person repeats the tale about the writer reads the original story. It will surprise the guests to hear what can be done in repeating a tale.

An old but pleasing game is to request one of the guests to leave the room. During his absence those in the room agree upon the name of an object which the absent one is to guess. When summoned into the room to guess from one to another guest asking whether the object belongs to the animal, vegetable or mineral kingdom. The answer must be in monosyllable. If any word besides yes or no is used in answering, a forfeit must be given.

Releecing the forfeits can be made very amusing. For instance, try this one: Wet a coin and press it firmly for a few seconds against the forehead of the victor.

NEW MEASURE OF GREAT BRITAIN TO AID UNEMPLOYED

Pending Bill Will Put $60,000,000 Into Pockets Of The Idle

By F. A. Wray International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Dec. 10.—The Labor Government is hastening a Bill through Parliament which will put an additional $60,000,000 annually into the pockets of British unemployed under the Unemployment Insurance system.

The main feature in the larger bill is that the weekly rate of allowance for wives and other adult dependents at present $1.75, will be raised to $2.25, and there are certain extensions in the classes of dependents eligible for allowances.

Increases will also occur in the weekly rates of benefit to persons aged 18 and 19, who are to receive $3.50 in the case of men and $3 in the case of women as against $3 and $2.50 at the present time. Boys and girls of 17 who now receive $1.50 weekly will henceforth receive $2.25.

But the greatest change in principle of the new Act will be in the fact that claimants for benefits who now have to prove that they "are generally seeking work and unable to obtain suitable employment" will not, in future, have to undergo this test. Any man or woman out of employment will be able to obtain the grant for himself or herself, or for his or her dependents. It will be for the authorities to prove that work is not being generally sought after.

When the bill is passed, it will be raised to 15 at the end of April 1931—children leaving school will automatically become entitled to this insurance benefit. In favor of the provision it is argued that it will be possible for a complete register of the doing of all leaving school, in future, to be compiled.

This new legislation is the result of promises made by the present Government at the last election and it will be possible to meet the provisions of the amendment which have already been agreed that not only were the insurance benefits insufficient but that they were harshly administered.

At the same time the bill is meeting with great opposition in the country generally on two grounds. The first is that the money necessary for it cannot possibly be found unless the Government

Negro And Wife Held For Slaying Officer

CUSHING, Okla., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Authorities today are holding John Young, a negro and his wife in connection with a slaying of a white officer in Cushing, Okla., in which Otto P. Butler, 35, a government prohibition agent was killed and George Danhour, another prohibition agent was seriously wounded.

Both men were stationed at Cushing, Okla., and had come to Cushing to make several raids. Butler was shot to death and Danhour was wounded in the right shoulder by bullets which Danhour said were fired by John Young and his wife. The shots which killed Butler were said to have been fired by the negro's wife.

ment forces new taxation on already over-taxed people.

The second ground is that the bill is a deliberate attempt to young men and women not to seek work in any industry or to gather through life somehow on what is popularly known as "the dole."

U.S. CUTTER HAS THRILLING TIME ON ARCTIC CRUISE

Rescue Of Stranded Sailors Is Feature Of Vessel's Work

OAKLAND, Cal., Dec. 11.—(AP)—Rescue of 15 shipwrecked sailors, of two White Army Russian soldiers fleeing Siberia, of a disabled airplane, of a starving village of walrus hunters, and of an old two masted schooner marked the cruise of the coast guard cutter, "Northland" in Alaskan waters this year.

Modestly, as if unaware of the drama of the incidents that he related, Edward D. Jones, commander of the "Northland" revealed today the thrilling story of the cruise upon the return of the cutter to Oakland.

"We left Oakland, May 6," Commander Jones, who made three trips north on the old coast guard cutter Bear, said today.

"On June 7 we hit the first ice pack when we nosed into the harbor at Nome. The ice was thick but our ship poked through it without injury.

"On July 29 we were farthest north, at Point Barrow. During our cruise we logged 14,000 miles. We touched the Siberian coast several times, once to pick up the crew of the Norwegian ship Elna, of 15 men shipwrecked on the Siberian coast. We took them to Alaska.

"On Little Dome island, in the Bering Straits, we picked up two White Army soldiers. They were fleeing from the Soviets and had made the island somehow. We took them to Nome. They were almost dead, from starvation and the hardships they had encountered.

"In July, too, we towed the disabled two masted walrus hunting schooner Dorothy 100 miles to port where it could be repaired.

"At Waveright, we took trader Jim Allen and 30 of his starving Eskimos out to the walrus. Heba, 30 miles away, and shot walrus for them so they could have food. We cruised around until we found the walrus, then they took to their kila boats.

"An airplane that flew to Kotzebue in July was forced down and damaged. The pilot, his name was Bennett, was injured. Our crew repaired the plane, fixed him up, and helped him haul the plane to a hard-packed snow field for the taking.
