

U. S. O. Fighting Battle Against Ennui In Forces

Eases Boredom Of Men In Americas Who Never See Combat

NEW YORK CITY, Feb. 15. (AP)—Rumba dance programs by natives of Latin American countries, where many American soldiers are stationed, and fishing parties for the men on duty in bleak Alaskan outposts are some of the varied types of entertainment the United Service Organizations, which recently observed its fourth anniversary, brings to American men to help them battle boredom.

This wing of the varied activities of the U.S.O., according to William E. Leigh, director of the U.S.O. overseas department, is most important. These men, serving outside the continental United States but at stations throughout the Western Hemisphere, he said, feel that combat has passed them by. Combat means headlines, which they do not get for their duty, and thus they suspect that those at home have forgotten them, too.

Long for Companionship
Homesick from months away from familiar faces, Mr. Leigh said, they come to the U.S.O. clubs near their stations for entertainment or, often, merely for the companionship they miss in the staff personnel. Through this friendly attitude of the organization, which draws its support from the public's gifts to the National War Fund, they meet a better fit for duty, Mr. Leigh said.

Unable for security reasons to reveal the number of men and women on these posts, Mr. Leigh estimated that they made 3,000,000 visits a month at the U.S.O. Western Hemisphere clubs. They attend dances, parties and take "rubbernecking" trips. Others welcome the mobile units which push through the jungle territories of the Canal Zone and Brazil or touch the isolated islands of the Antilles and the frigid wastes of northern Alaska.

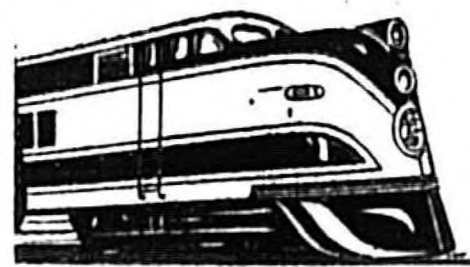

Talents among natives in many of these areas has been developed by U.S.O. directors on duty. There are numerous all-Spanish units who entertain Puerto Rican soldiers of the United States Army. In the Canal Zone, native entertainers have done their stunts at "lockside shows" for men passing through the canal.

Show on Battleship
Professional entertainers, too, are on hand, some giving shows for two years in Latin America. Recently, a local director reported a hit show which lasted for an hour and a half aboard a battleship. The girls changed costumes for their variety turns in a quarter which had been draped modestly with shower curtains.

These units are ready to meet emergency calls over a wide area, Mr. Leigh said. One such group in the Canal Zone has in the last year flown to Nicaragua, the Galapagos Islands, Ecuador, Peru, Colombia, Honduras and installations in the primitive wilds of those countries.

In Hawaii, Mr. Leigh noted, the U.S.O. uses a former royal palace as an all-service women's club. It is the former palace of Princess Kawanakoa in suburban Honolulu. These women also have the privilege of the Young Women's Christian Association building Honolulu proper.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet, has nicknamed Mrs. Alice Cooke, territorial director of Hawaii, the "chin-up girl" because of her contributions to service personnel's morale. Mr. Leigh called her one of the U.S.O. tireless volunteers.

We believe in an unwritten law, quite dead, beyond the range of all human regards or penalties. This law binds us each and all to share our good things with one another; it bids us be ready to suffer and die for the common good—not merely for the nation, but for humanity; for those whom we have never seen, for those unborn. It bids us let our selfish will go, in the name of the universal good will. There is no true man, who does not, at his best, bow to this kind of ideal.—Charles Fletcher Dole

First Army Battles Way Near Calcar

Montgomery Order of The Day Foretells Of Crushing New Attacks On Germans

The Canadian First Army battled into the center of Goch and to within a mile of Calcar on the northern end of the Siegfried Line as a confident order from Field Marshal Montgomery shadowed an all-out offensive on the western front.

Berlin, declaring the zero hour is nearing in the north, west and east, predicted a massive assault by the Russians on the Oder River 20 to 40 miles east of the German capital. It also claimed the British Second Army had been flung into the Canadian push to burst through the West Wall defenses guarding the Ruhr.

To the south, the American Third Army broadened its front in Germany to 32 miles, seized five towns, and spiked a new invasion spearhead into the head near Vianden. The U.S. Seventh Army drove two miles into the Saar basin.

The reinforced German and Russian armies battled furiously southeast of Berlin where Berlin said the Red entered today despite sharp Nazi counterattacks. The Russians continued to push about toward the city and Berlin's southern front that has advanced to the Ruhr front.

John Russell Dies In McAllen, Texas, Of Heart Attack

John Russell, fruit and produce merchant of Idaho and Texas, and former Sanford resident, who recently visited Sanford with Mrs. Russell after an absence of more than 18 years, died suddenly last night in McAllen, Texas, of a heart attack, according to word received by his nephew, Forde Russell.

Mr. Russell was born in Kansas and was 68 years old. He lived in Sanford about 11 years and built the large home on East Second Street later occupied by Dr. Marshall. He left Sanford 20 years ago to engage in the produce business in Caldwell, Idaho.

With Mrs. Russell, he recently visited their son, Howard Russell, 82, in McAllen, who attended to an air control and radio unit at the Vero Beach Naval Air Station. Another son, Edmond, was recently killed while serving in an Army aerial gunner in New Guinea.

Survivors in Seminole County include a brother, H. T. Russell of Lake Mary; a niece, Mrs. John B. Jones, and three nephews, Ralph Chapman, Forde Russell and Harry Russell, all of Sanford.

The body will be brought to the Erickson Funeral Home Thursday morning and funeral and burial will take place Friday at a time to be announced later.

Lot Sales Reported In Negro Section

Much activity is reported in the colored subdivision known as Hookertown, located west of Lake Monroe on Orange Boulevard. Colored people are purchasing these lots for post-war developments, and during the past 60 days there have been at least 20 purchases of lots, it was reported by L. B. Mann, who took over the development last fall.

"This colored section has great possibilities in the future and may, sooner or later, be one of the leading negro communities in the town, being ideally located near the farming section, also near the river, where they can fish at any time. Also nearby there is a fine negro school," said Mr. Mann.

Thomas Irvin Boyd Dies Near Wekiwa

Thomas Irvin Boyd, 66, local grower who lived near the Wekiwa Bridge for the past 38 years, died Saturday afternoon after a short illness. He was born in Lake County, Apr. 2, 1879.

He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Dora Boyd, one daughter, Mrs. E. R. Bronson of Sanford; two sons, C. A. Boyd of Wekiwa Bridge and L. I. Boyd of Orla; one sister, Mrs. Joe Coogler of Lakeland; and nine grandchildren.

Funeral services will take place at the graveside at Sylvan Lake Cemetery at 2:00 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, with the Rev. W. B. Brooks officiating. It is announced by the Erickson Funeral Home, which has charge of arrangements.

Role Reds May Play In Jap War

THAT RUSSIA might play a role in the Japanese war is a possibility which is being considered by the Japanese government, according to a report from the Japanese Embassy in Washington.

The report states that the Japanese government is considering the possibility of a Russian attack on the Japanese mainland, and is taking steps to prepare for such an eventuality.

The Japanese government is also considering the possibility of a Russian attack on the Japanese colonies in Manchuria and Korea, and is taking steps to prepare for such an eventuality.

Price Ceilings Announced On Cheap Clothing

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission today announced price ceilings on cheap clothing to help consumers cope with the shortage of goods.

The ceilings apply to men's shirts, shirts, blouses, dresses, and suits. The maximum price for a men's shirt is $1.50, for a blouse $1.25, for a dress $3.00, and for a suit $10.00.

The ceilings are in effect until the end of the war. They are intended to prevent price gouging and to ensure that all consumers have access to affordable clothing.

The ceilings are also intended to help the war effort by ensuring that the clothing industry is producing goods for the military and the war effort.

Disasters Said To Have Reduced Strawberry Crop

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. (AP)—The strawberry crop in the United States is expected to be significantly reduced due to the impact of recent disasters, according to a report from the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The report states that the strawberry crop in California, which is the largest producer of strawberries in the United States, is expected to be reduced by 25 percent due to the impact of recent drought conditions.

Full Effect Of Extension Of Present Price Ceilings Not Expected Before Next Summer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. (AP)—The full effect of the extension of present price ceilings on clothing is not expected to be felt until next summer, according to a report from the U.S. Department of Commerce.

The report states that the extension of price ceilings will help to stabilize prices in the clothing market, but it will take time for the full effect to be felt.

The report also states that the extension of price ceilings will help to ensure that all consumers have access to affordable clothing.

Sanford also reports favorable growing conditions giving an outlook for a good supply of all kinds of vegetables for this week. Celery shipments are increasing but demand still exceeds supply. A large volume of citrus fruit will be available if weather conditions remain favorable for picking. Rain in Pensacola has slowed harvesting of vegetables. However, some turnips, cabbage and radish will be available this week. Our Date City poultry and egg market reports the movement of 5,388 dozen eggs last week for a total of $2,331.00. In the Philippines, Manila Bay was all but back in American hands but in the city itself where 7,000 civilians were released in a dramatic rescue, the Japanese clung to the walled intramuros section. American paratroopers and doughboys on Corregidor and Artillery captured an important position and were clearing the Japanese from their tunnel entrenchments. Gen. Arthur announced. He said Manila hill, an excellent artillery site, was seized, and a landslide, caused by bombardment, blocked the east entrance of an extensive tunnel on the rock. Seventh fleet units were shelling the Cavite shoreline south of Corregidor near the Manila bay entrance of enemy guns. Yanks in bloody Manila captured the Philippine general hospital and freed 7,000 patients, in letters and civilians, held up Manila was a prime enemy strong point, with big guns mounted in its upper floors. 100 Americans liberated were 400 Americans. MacArthur said the "systematic destruction" of the trapped Japanese garrison, held up primarily in the old thick-walled intramuros section near the waterfront, was proceeding. East of Manila a convoy of 21 trucks filled with Japanese troops was wiped out. Sharp patrol clashes were reported in the Sierra Madre foothills nearby. P-T boats operating in the Manila bay area sank five enemy craft. Others destroyed two coastal ships in San Bernardino strait, between southeast Luzon island and the northern tip of Samar. MacArthur said an enemy torpedo boat attack on American shipping near Manila bay was repulsed with minor damage. American planes ranging across the China sea sank seven freighters in the Formosa-Nansei Islands area and destroyed rolling stock on Formosa proper. Another freighter-transport of 3,000 tons was sunk off the Indochina coast. Several smaller ships were set afire.

British Had To Learn How To Get By Without Base

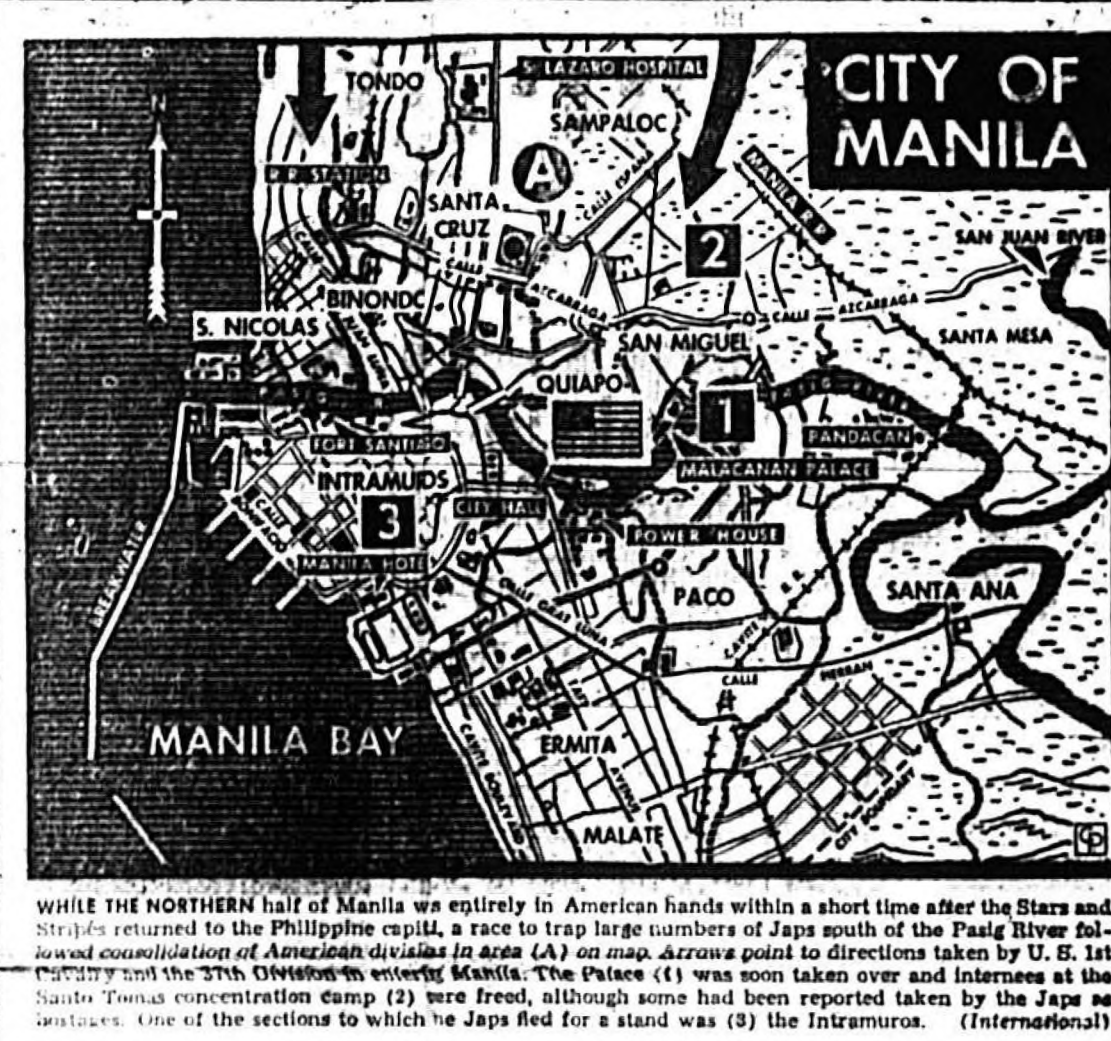

(Continued From Page One) AP Newsfeatures Writer. In the early days of the war it seemed as though the British couldn't get along without Singapore. It was the one spot of that part of the world able to harbor the entire British fleet, the one really powerful base on which depended the eastern offensive. Two months after Pearl Harbor, this notion of Singapore's indispensability had to be given up. Singapore was lost. For nearly two and a half years the city has been silent. Now, with the war coming nearer again, more of it may be heard. It is hardly likely that the B-29s will permit the money to use the base for interference with Allied operations on either side. Until Thomas Stamford Raffles bought (Manhattan-style) the malaria-ridden, hibiscus-roofed island for $67,500 from the prince of Johore in 1819, Singapore was a swamp inhabited by a handful of fishermen. A Far East, Chicago. During the years of British development there were 7,000 English there, and a population of Chinese who ranged from millionaires to cooks and bellies; Indian shop owners; and Malay gardeners and chauffeurs. Singapore was more metropolitan than colonial. It was a center of big business, high finance, capital, government, and white granite buildings dropped on an oriental island. A traveler once said the business section looked like Chicago—except for the rickshaws in the streets and the orange-sailed junk idling in Singapore River, which runs through the city. Club life was highly developed along English lines; the weather wasn't as bad as New York City's on certain summer days. The tempo was tropical until war arrived and then was accelerated to the tempo of ordinary American business life in peacetime. The food was about like the food

Athletic Training Is Big Help To Men In Combat

(Continued From Page One) AP Newsfeatures. WASHINGTON—A man who has been shown to have a background of athletic training. That comes straight from the mouth of the Navy's chief of staff, Admiral William R. Kidd, in a report of naval aviation, physical and military training. At 21, well beyond the combat age for most men, Kidd was a Japanese plane to his credit and has been down at sea for a time. "It was a hard time for me," Kidd said, "but I didn't quit. I kept going. I kept going. I kept going." Kidd was a star in high school in an inland, Calif., and a three-sports star at Annapolis, was fighting in the Pacific long before he knew that the navy had set in a job of training aviators. After the Japs came at Pearl Harbor where Kidd was officer of the day Dec. 7, 1941, the need of athletics as a mental outlet could be in a way of a mental outlet. Sports Realm Given Defense On 4-Fs

(Continued From Page One) AP Newsfeatures. WASHINGTON—Sports fans who have been in a better position than anyone else to judge the odds over the sports horizon, look their pieces within a few hours of each other the other day. First, there was Col. Larry MacPhail, who has been stationed in Washington with the War Relocation Authority for a month, two since leaving the Brooklyn Dodgers' helm in 1942. Larry is the president and general manager of the New York Yankees. Then there was the former classmate of MacPhail in Uncle Sam's Navy, a great admirer of the national game. Let, is Senator Harry Chandler (R-Ky.), who in and out of the nation's capital, has always been "for baseball's best interests." MacPhail's eyes flashed when he saw Chandler's name on the list of the Senate's members. "I don't like the stigma Washington has unjustly placed on 4-F baseball players," he said. "They'd better get a little schooling in the other day to do with a bit of 1-A's still running loose in the country." Seaman Hatfield's letter is straight from the shoulder and he writes, "Sports-conscious folks, back me up!" Says the bluejacket in writing to this column: "We fellows would rather have a little baseball by the 4-F's left in the game than a good old 15-day lense—which every sailor dreads." "I can say baseball is followed by a good portion of the public just as seriously as an expectant mother is before the big event. If it's cut baseball any closer, they are going to hurt both civilian and military morale." "I'm foolish to discount the value of baseball as a morale booster. I'll go to the hat for it anytime." "Baseball should have the right to use the relatively few 4-F players who have been rejected by the Armed Forces." "Not more than three or four military men will be affected. You can't convince me yet that the manpower shortage is that tight." "There are three voices in behalf of baseball. One is the millions more all over the world who described what he considered 'peace for the kids, our brothers freed.'" "Under world-cleaver breed, let's begin the ball game. Let's begin the ball game. Let's begin the ball game. Let's begin the ball game. Let's begin the ball game."

Speculation Grows On Disposition Of US Merchant Fleet

(Continued From Page One) AP Newsfeatures. WASHINGTON—Even in this day when lack of shipping facilities are harrying our fighting men and the starved peoples of liberated nations, the specter of a merchant fleet after the war is causing plenty of worry among government officials and shipping men who can see a few leagues beyond their bows. A few days ago, a trial balloon was tossed out in high government circles suggesting that, through lease-lease or some other means, a portion of our merchant fleet might be transferred to other nations. The squawk that went up is an indication of the political row that is certain to come over this controversy. It might be well now to examine a few of the facts. We went into this war with about one-seventh of the world's shipping, approximately 11,000,000 tons. We stood second then to Great Britain. It is estimated now that when this war is over we will own 50 to 60 per cent of the world's shipping fleet, with something around 55,000,000 tons and that England will have considerably less than the tonnage with which that maritime nation started the war. With a certain great demand for shipping immediately after the war, this appears, on the surface, a tremendous advantage. The United States, say some, will become the greatest distributor by sea, of world supplies. Having most of the world's ships, it sounds that simple. But some shipping men, merchant marine executives and State Department officials are looking beyond that. With lower wage-paid merchant seamen of other maritime nations, and ships built more cheaply and better than those turned out on our wartime production lines, how long would it take competitive nations to put our Liberty ships into dead storage and our merchant marine on the breadline? That, at least, is the question that is being asked in some circles. The answer they're giving is in the name of the shipping nations like England, Norway, Holland and others have a portion of our shipping for what we can get out of it. This, they argue, will bolster the economies of nations which are our best customers—will, in other words put them back on their feet more rapidly than any other thing we can do except outright extension of credits and loans. To put it simply, these officials argue that the best thing for the United States to do from a purely selfish standpoint will be to give up most of the vast merchant marine fleet we have and still are building. There is, of course, another side to the argument and some shipping men, government officials, and politicians already are squared off to fight for maintaining our more than half the world's shipping in peacetime and seeing to it that the United States becomes the No. 1 shipper in both hemispheres. It's just another of those worrisome postwar problems but it may well be one which will determine whether the United States dips into another world depression or emerges into peace with a sounder economy than followed World War I. The late Franklin D. Roosevelt operated a printing plant in France.

One-Third Of All Nurses Volunteer For Army Service

(Continued From Page One) AP Newsfeatures. WASHINGTON—The other day I talked to an irate young lady. She wore the uniform of the Army Nurse Corps, the bar of a first lieutenant and the service ribbon that comes with 18 months service in the Mediterranean theater, many of them within gun range of the front lines. For obvious reasons, I cannot use her name. Her anger grew out of the discussion over the proposed draft of nurses. "Don't misunderstand me," she said, "if a draft is necessary to provide the Army and Navy with an adequate corps of nurses, we will have to have it. "What makes me mad is the implication that nurses haven't done their patriotic bit in this war. But at a time when trained nurses have lain down on the job. Nothing could be further from the truth. Since this war started, 75,000 nurses—about one-third of the entire practicing profession in the United States—have volunteered for Army or Navy service. If there is any profession that can equal that record, I never heard of it. "Of these nearly 16,000 have been rejected, some for such silly things as crooked teeth and ailments. Another 10,000 have left the service, mostly for good reasons or on medical discharges. I don't know the figures, but I'm positive that the percentage of dishonorable discharges in the Nurse Corps is lower than any other branch of the service. "Now, let's take the case of a trained nurse in a civilian hospital (there are about 150,000 such nurses now) who wants to enlist. Having knowledge in such matters, she knows that there is only about one chance in five that she can meet the physical standards. For foreign service they should be strict (there are nearly 30,000 Army nurses overseas now), but the Army could relax its rigid requirements for service in hospitals in the United States. "Then she realizes that in the Nurse Corps, there is little chance of ever rising above a second lieutenant's rating and pay. WACs become captains, majors and lieutenant colonels, but a good nurse can go on forever as a second lieutenant. You may think this is a rather small consolation, but it's certainly human not to want to volunteer for a service in which financial returns and opportunities for advancement aren't equal to those of other women in uniform. "There's another point. Civilian hospital superintendents of nurses are fighting to keep their staff from dwindling and pay. "Taking these things into consideration, I think it is wonderful that one out of every three nurses in the nation has offered her services to the Army or Navy. "The draft may have to come. The services have to have nurses, but if they would lower physical requirements a little, especially for service in hospitals in this country, and be more generous in promotions, I don't think the draft would be necessary," she concluded. "Here, I think is a side of the picture that hasn't been known generally. The first scholarship fund at Harvard College was donated by Lady Mowlem of London in 1643.

Little Hope Held For German Revolution

(Chief of The Associated Press Berlin bureau from 1928 to 1941 and a Pulitzer prize winner in 1939, Louis Lochner is widely regarded as a leading authority on Hitler and the Nazis. He recently returned to Europe.) AP Newsfeatures. LONDON—A noted German physician who managed to escape Gestapo clutches and now is safely out of the country says it would be folly for the United Nations to hope for revolution within Germany in view of the tight grip held by Hitler. "The idea of a little revolution of rebellion are burning throughout the Reich," he said, "but they are constantly being put out before they can unite with others into a big blaze. "Besides, the Nazi teachings plus Gestapo persecution have blunted constructive political thinking. Using his home town, Kiel, as an example, the doctor claimed enthusiasm for Nazis is extremely low. Even among Germans enrolled as party members, he said only five per cent showed fanatical belief in the Fuehrer and the movement. He labelled 60 per cent as unprincipled time-servers who now regret ever having joined, and says 30 per cent enrolled because they had to, and five per cent are totally indifferent. "How cowed the average German is by Gestapo terrorism was illustrated to the physician when he made his escape. Eight others had conspired to flee with him, among them doctors, clergymen and apothecaries. Yet when the moment for a breakout came, they all faltered, fearing the consequences of possible capture. The Gestapo takes no chances, he said. After the purge of generals, for instance, all Kiel citizens who before the war held power had been members of the Socialist party were arrested, even if they had given no cause for suspicion. The Gestapo instinctively felt that old-line Socialists are enemies of Nazism. "Asked what hope he had for postwar democracy in Germany, this physician said he thought on one hand that a thorough education in democratic principles must be provided, on the other hand, however, faith in democracy can quickly be established if solutions are found for the problems of scarcity of homes, medical care, social security and unemployment. Surprisingly, he is convinced that the largest part of German youth are idealistic about Nazism. One added education wouldn't know what to do with however, has so blunted its powers for constructive thinking freedom if it were now offered. New Trends In War Economy Are Seen Thru Pessimism

By STERLING F. GREEN
 WASHINGTON—Pessimism over the length of the war means new trends in America's war economy.

These trends—emerging with the new year—shape up as follows:

Materials: New shortages arising from copper because of more bullet jackets, lead because the country has dipped too deeply into its stockpile. The United States will "borrow" Canadian brass mill capacity, may even use steel mills to make brass strip for cartridges. Lumber still tight. Aluminum very scarce, with only half the country's production capacity in use. Steel "fairly well balanced" with demands.

Construction: Another deep drop ahead if war on two fronts continues through the year—

U.S. Boasts Wide Temperature Range

By Max Hall
 AP Features
 The United States is a pretty cold country. In some portions of every state in the Union the temperature has been below zero.

Even in Florida, it was 2 below in the famous cold wave of February, 1899, that established records in many southern and eastern states. At no other place in the world have zero readings been recorded so close to the equator.

As a matter of fact the United States is a hot country, too. In every state the temperature has reached 100 degrees or higher. In 35 states it has been above 110; in nine, 120 or above.

Hottest record of all was 134 degrees (in the shade) in Death Valley, Calif., July 10, 1913—only two degrees short of the world heat record of 136 degrees at Azizia, Libya, North Africa, Sept. 13, 1922.

Official temperature readings found in the records of the U. S. Weather Bureau show Florida has the smallest range, 111 degrees—between 109 above and below. Rhode Island is second with a range of 123.

Montana has the biggest range, 182 degrees—117 degrees above to 65 below. North Dakota is second with 121 above and 64 below.

Highest temperature recorded in each state:

California 134, Arizona 127, Nevada 122, North Dakota 121, Kansas 121, South Dakota 120, Oklahoma 120, Arkansas 120, Texas 120.

Oregon 119, Idaho 118, Iowa 118, Missouri 118, Nebraska 118, Washington 118, Montana 117, Indiana 116, New Mexico 116, Utah 116, Colorado 115, Illinois 115, Mississippi 115.

Lowest recorded in each state:

Wyoming 66, below zero, Montana 65, Idaho 60, North Dakota 60, Minnesota 60, South Dakota 58, Colorado 54, Oregon 54, Wisconsin 54, New York 52, Michigan 51, Nevada 50, Utah 50.

Maine 48, New Mexico 48, Nebraska 47, Iowa 47, New Hampshire 46, Vermont 46, California 45, Pennsylvania 42, Washington 42, Kansas 40, Missouri 40, Maryland 40.

Ohio 39, West Virginia 37, Illinois 35, New Jersey 34, Indiana 33, Arizona 33, Tennessee 32, Connecticut 32, Massachusetts 30, Kentucky 30.

Virginia 29, Arkansas 29, Oklahoma 27, Rhode Island 23, Texas 23, North Carolina 21, Alabama 19, Georgia 17, Louisiana 16, Mississippi 16, Delaware 16, South Carolina 14, Florida 12.

Somebody must be making money out of this war—we believe they were called "war profiteers" in the last war.

A friend of ours wants to know when we are going to resume the daily paper.

Too bad his name wasn't made public. He would be nominated for some sort of Honest-to-Goodness American soldier—the buck private who asked for a priority on an airplane, and said, "If I don't get it, I'll bark."

It is interesting to note that vagrancy cases are frequent in city court.

The House passed the Senate bill cutting the money lending agencies out of the Commerce department to the head of which Henry Wallace has been named, by a vote of 329 to 2, indicating an almost unanimous opinion among the members of the House of Representatives that Mr. Wallace is incompetent when it comes to financial affairs.

Martin Andersen, Orlando Sentinel Publisher, who thinks a business producing a million dollars a year in revenue is a "big business" and 150 acres a "small grove," says there is a movement on the part of "imbedded capital to continue Control of Government."

Despite hundreds of thousands of dollars spent in this country during the past few years to take care of able-bodied men out of jobs, the federal government has done precious little for those who are sick. Though the people of this country tried for 15 long years to get a new hospital, they never got one and the report of the secretary of the Federal Hospital published Friday shows how badly one is needed.

Planting is the most practical means at the present time of increasing the value of one's property. You may not be able to get a new roof or paint your house, or redecorate it, but you can buy all the azaleas you want to improve the outside of your home. A friend of ours once said, "If you take a $2,000 house, plant $500 worth of azaleas around it, you can immediately sell it for $7,500. That may be a stretch, but then again...

Political Christianity

Too many churchgoing Christians feel that politics is a realm with which they have nothing to do, contends a pastor. He has recently concluded a series of sermons on family, racial and economic themes with one on the "Christian view of politics" in which he elaborates this theme.

There are, he says, four historical attitudes toward politics. First, the perfectionist, who will accept no imperfections and is usually a pacifist. Next comes the Reformation view that all government is God-given and must be obeyed as such. Third are the liberals who pay little attention to practical affairs. And last and most useful, the Augustinian theory that perfection is ideal, but, man being as he is, compromise is necessary to come as near to it as possible.

He contends that, accordingly, it is not only the right but the duty of every Christian to enter politics, actively if necessary, for the good of the community.

"He will support that program or that party which attempts to serve the best interests of the nation as a whole. In facing the problem of postwar order we must constantly hold before us the Christian ideal, but we must realize also that we are not going to get precisely what we want. Dumbarton Oaks, for example, does not give as much justice to the small nations as we would like, but it represents a beginning toward world order, and we must accept it gratefully and work persistently to try to improve it. This is not the Kingdom of God, but it is certainly a step in the right direction."

Plenty of Coffee

People who have been piling up hoards of coffee in the face of government statements that there will be no shortage must feel rather silly now. For, according to the New York Times, a trade survey taken early in February shows present stocks of coffee in this country to be greater than before the war began.

Stocks on hand, the survey states, are about 4,300,000 bags, and there are at least 2,800,000 more bags on the way. The total is enough to last for nearly six months, even at the increased consumption levels of wartime. Our prewar stocks, it says, averaged a three months' supply at best. More is coming in a constant, steady stream as shipping cases.

There have been recent local shortages in coal and other items, are entirely the result of weather conditions and freight embargoes, and are being remedied as fast as freight cars can move. There is no justification for the frantic, magpie hoarding of the selfish few according to the Times. And besides, hoarded coffee spoils.

Admiral In The Senate

An admiral in the Senate is something new. Admiral Thomas C. Hart, who commanded the Asiatic fleet from July, 1939, to June, 1942, is the new senator from Connecticut, having been named by Gov. Baldwin to replace the late Senator Maloney.

The appointment arises out of the balance of parties in Connecticut. Senator Maloney was a Democrat, Gov. Baldwin is a Republican. Authority to appoint a senator depended on the action of the legislature, the upper house of which is Democratic, the lower house Republican. Without this action an expensive special election would have been necessary, delayed for at least five months to give time for the return of the service men's ballots. The Democratic State Senate was not eager to grant this authority, if the appointee was to be an ordinary party hack. Admiral Hart is the governor's answer, announced ahead of the legislature's action, and now confirmed.

When Senator Hart speaks on naval matters, the whole country will listen. It would not do so, had the appointee been the ordinary run-of-tin-horn politician.

Coed Basketball

The most startling solution for the shortage of athletes comes from High Point College, N.C. Their basketball team has a girl member, Nancy Ieshour, a senior. She will be used at offensive guard and defensive forward, mostly out in the middle of the floor, avoiding the scrimmages under the basket. Coach Virgil Yow says that Nancy could make the team on her own merits, but there is no doubt that the manpower shortage has given her a special opportunity.

The baseball teams might fill up their gaps by drawing on the girl teams. Some girl players are said to be pretty good. If they are used, the coed lineup should improve the attendance amazingly.

Cleveland Jones Is Back From Burma

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 19, (Special) — Technician Fifth Grade Cleveland Jones of 1119 W. Seventh Street, Sanford, has reported to the AAF Redistribution Station No. 1 here after 32 months of service overseas in the China-Burma-India theater of war.

T/S Jones served with an engineering unit of the AAF while overseas. Before he leaves the Redistribution Station for his next Air Force assignment, T/S Jones will be examined by doctors and interviewed by personnel specialists to determine where he can best fit in the AAF set-up and aid the war effort.

Navy Supply Corps Is Celebrating Its 150th Anniversary

MIAMI, Feb. 19, (Special) — Fighting the greatest war in the history of the universe, labeled by no less an authority than Admiral Chester W. Nimitz as one of "chaos, bullets and oil," the Supply Corps of the U.S. Navy celebrates its 150th anniversary of service on Feb. 23.

The importance of the job confronting Navy Supply was stressed by Admiral William F. Halsey, who declared, "the battle must be won on the supply line before we can smash the enemy on the firing line."

In carrying out Admiral Halsey's demand, the supply corps is furnishing the fleets with unbelievable quantities of equipment, when and where such material is needed.

In a single telephone call, the Supply Corps may contract for millions of dollars worth of equipment. During the past two years, Navy Supply has made 65,000 awards to 14,000 contractors, purchasing more than 10,000 separate items at a cost of more than $12,000,000.

One of the most important tasks of Navy Supply is the feeding of a force of 3,500,000 men and women. These men and women during the past fiscal year consumed 4,500,000,000 pounds of food, including 700,000,000 pounds of potatoes, 400,000,000 pounds of fresh beef, viewed by personnel specialists to determine where he can best fit in the AAF set-up and aid the war effort. While here, he will have an opportunity to go golfing, fishing, horseback riding, bicycling on the boardwalk and indulge in many other sports and recreation activities.

T/S Jones is the son of Mrs. Ocie Jones. Entering the service on Nov. 28, 1942, he underwent training at Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., prior to his shipment overseas on May 28, 1942.

B-29's Forcing Japan To Move Plane Factories

Gen. Norstad Says Photos Show Dispersals; Raids To Increase

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18. (AP)—B-29 Superfortresses of the 20th Air Force are working over the Japanese aircraft industry with such telling effect that the enemy is dismantling many of its manufacturing plants, Gen. Lauris Norstad, commander of the 20th Air Force, disclosed today.

The night bombers are carrying out a "blow-by-blow" campaign through aerial bombardment of the plants. Photographs taken by the B-29s show that the Japanese are dispersing their aircraft manufacturing plants to avoid destruction through aerial bombardment of the plants. Photographs taken by the B-29s show that the Japanese are dispersing their aircraft manufacturing plants to avoid destruction through aerial bombardment of the plants.

Photographic reconnaissance has produced what General Norstad termed "convincing" proof of the effectiveness of our raids against Japanese plants, disclosing that the Japanese have undertaken a dispersal program which the General estimated cost at least a few million dollars more than two years to put into operation after they encountered a similar necessity in Europe.

Goch Is Taken By Scots On North Front

3rd Army Also Makes New Gains As Russians Hit Breslau, Move On Danzig

ROME, Feb. 21. (AP)—U. S. 12th Air Force bombers made the war's first attack on targets in and near Hitler's fortress city of Berchtesgaden in attacks yesterday in the immediate vicinity of Hitler's mountain hideout. They knocked out a locomotive and eight rail cars.

Goch, the northern bastion of the Siegfried Line, was captured today by Scottish troops of the Canadian First Army as other Empire forces hammered deeper into the Nazi defenses before besieged Calcar.

To the south the U. S. Third Army in a broad sweep along the 50 mile front in the Eifel Mountains, rolled up gains of as much as five miles and seized eleven more German towns.

The Russian assault teams of infantry, tanks and mobile gun divisions westward in the wooded hills of Berlin's Brandenburg province against strong German positions at Guben and Forst. More than 1,200 I.A.F. planes in the ninth straight day of Allied bombing, assaulted Dortmund, Dusseldorf, Berlin and other Reich targets during the night.

Mrs. Jules Colle Appointed Head Of Welfare District

Mrs. Jules Colle who recently resigned as director of the Winter Park Welfare Association will assume the position of supervisor of District State Welfare Board No. 13, Unit Four, located in the Meach Building.

Miss Joy Elliott, unit supervisor here since June, 1942, has been transferred to the Orange County Welfare Unit in charge of the intake department.

Mrs. Colle, a resident of Fern Park is a graduate of New Jersey College for Women at Rutgers University, and has done post graduate work at the University of Florida and Rollins College.

Children interested in social welfare work, especially heads of social work committees of various local clubs and civic organizations, are welcome to call on Mrs. Colle and talk over projects connected with this work.

Three new visitors have been added to the board's staff. Mrs. Collette announced Mrs. Thomas Reddick, one of them, has an A. B. degree from Williams College of North Carolina and has done graduate work at the University of North Carolina.

Mrs. Paul Olmstead, another visitor, is a graduate of Columbia Teachers College where she received a B. E. degree. She has been a teacher of art for five years.

Mrs. Charles Irwin, the third newcomer to the staff, is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University and has a B. S. degree in music and a Bachelor's degree in sociology. She served as a volunteer social worker at the Hiram Settlement House in Cleveland, Ohio.

Other visitors are Mrs. Troy Ray, who remains in charge of the intake department of Seminole and Volusia Counties and Mrs. Agnes Colley, visitor, who lives in DeLand and who does visiting work in Volusia County.

This makes five visitors on a staff which should number eight, and to suggest those there are no substitutes visitors. Mrs. Pearl Shambarger, and Mrs. Charles Emerson of Orlando.

Food Handlers Five Women Hurt Are Arrested On Health Charges

After repeated warnings by the Seminole County Health Unit and City Sanitary Department of a restaurant owner, and those who employ persons who handle food that all such employees must have health certificates, a number of warrants were sworn out last week against violators by City Sanitary Inspector Gray D. Coe, working in conjunction with E. H. Johnson of the Health Unit.

As a result a number of restaurant and drink stand owners and employees were each fined $5 in City Court Friday and Monday, and were told by Judge J. G. Sherron that a second offense would result in a year in jail.

Floyd Washburn Dies At Veterans' Hospital

Funeral services for Floyd Washburn, a veteran of World War I and resident of Sanford since 1920, who died yesterday afternoon at the Veterans' Hospital at Bay Pines, will be conducted by Campbell Leasing Post of the American Legion, of which Mr. Washburn was a member, at 10:30 o'clock Friday evening.

Mr. Washburn had been at the hospital since Feb. 10 and had been ill for some time. He was survived by the widow, Mrs. Leasing Washburn, who is serving with the W.A.C. in France; son, Robert H. Washburn of Sanford; daughter, Mrs. Robert Washburn, serving with the Army overseas; and two nieces, Marilyn and Carolyn Washburn of Sanford.

The body will be sent to the Erickson Funeral Home from Bay Pines at 11:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

Income Tax Men To Assist Public Soon

The Collector of Internal Revenue, will be in Sanford on Mar. 1, 2, for the purpose of assisting taxpayers in that vicinity in the preparation of their income tax returns and to advise those requiring information about their tax liabilities. It was announced today.

The Collector stated that, although the 1944 income tax return form has been greatly simplified, all persons receiving $500 or more gross income are required to file. The deputy collectors will meet with the people of Orlando at the Orlando post office, next Saturday.

Infant Daughter Of Mr. Mrs. Donk Dies

Red Cross Work Told Kiwanians By A. J. Kassay

Mrs. Livingston Describes Recreation Work Among Youth

Vital work has gone here and abroad by the American Red Cross and International Red Cross in order to aid and comfort the service and to explain their morale was today, typed in an address to Kiwanians at the Hotel Mayfair by Alexander J. Kassay, district director, chief of the American Red Cross. Anne Livingston, of the National Recreation Association of New York and former Jacksonville recreation director, who is conducting recreation training classes in Geneva this week, told of studies being made in Texas and Oklahoma which she stated recently and said that Florida's recreation programs were something to be ashamed of in comparison with the advanced methods of people more interested in youth centers and that was memorials should not be monuments but swimming pools and recreation facilities for the young men who returned and their families.

Mr. Kassay said that his particular work was visiting hospitals and camps in central Florida and told of the recreational needs of the men. He compared the Red Cross service to a funnel in which the red cross, in the needed supplies at the top, and the Red Cross staffs at the proper distribution.

He told of a recent order to a ton of paint from the Red Cross by men at Camp Blending in order to paint cheerful day rooms in which men could write letters home. Citizens of newly communities working through the Red Cross, provided containers for the paint, and in order to give cheerful boys in military camps the amenities of regular army quarters. Army hospitals want such things as recording machines, juke boxes, radio entertainments, and in all gifts, cards and many other services rendered the hospital staffs.

Mr. Kassay, who will give an hour of his time to the Florida P. O. and Light Company office in Sanford, was presented as chairman in charge of the sale of plants, bulbs and baskets at the coming of 14th Street and Park Avenue, starting at 1:00 P. M. Thursday, it was announced today by Mrs. J. H. Dickey, chairman in charge of the sale.

For the benefit of those not present, Mrs. Dickey announced that W. R. Jennings had been appointed administrator for Trip B. Jones, Jr. in the office of a great, L. C. Kieckhefer, of Stuart and tax collector of Meigs County. Adam Lande of the Key County was also a guest.

CITY BRIEFS

All members of Campbell Leasing Post of the American Legion who are able to do so, are urged to attend the meeting of the post to be held at 10:00 A. M. Friday at the Erickson Funeral Home in order to proceed to the funeral services for Floyd Washburn.

Mrs. Robert A. Winston, Famous Painter, Is Visiting Hendersons

Mrs. Robert A. Winston, portrait painter of note, and a member of the National Society of Arts and Letters, who formerly resided in Sanford and now lives in Washington, D. C., is the guest with her husband, her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Henderson, spending a few weeks' vacation here before returning to Washington, where she will hold an exhibit of her portraits, still lifes and landscapes in the Spring. At present she is painting a portrait of Mrs. J. B. Copburn, her childhood friend and college roommate, for the art show.

Painter of the portraits of Senator William Bankhead and Senator Lister Hill of Alabama, Mrs. Winston went to Montgomery, Ala., to paint the portrait of the unveiling of the picture. She designed the book plates adopted by the Alabama Dancers of the American Revolution for their official Ex Libris and collaborated with Miss Bankhead, Owen, state director of Archives and History, to design and paint the original Alabama Coat of Arms adopted by the state legislature.

Mrs. Winston, who studied with the renowned Wayne Adams of New York City, exhibited a portrait of her husband in the

Robert E. Tolar Completes Fifty Years On Rails

Robert Ernest Tolar, 52, veteran railroad engineer of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad and pioneer Sanford resident at 807 Magnolia Avenue, has put in his application for retirement after 50 "facinating" years of railroad work.

Veteran Coastline Engineer Had Many Narrow Escapes

"Yes I always lived railroad life—it had a fascination for me, and wrecks never had a bad effect on my nervous system," he declared the other day at his home. He chuckled as he added that he had been a lot luckier than the historic Casey Jones, whose real name he said was John Luther Jones of the Illinois Central Railroad.

"My husband was twice reported dead in wrecks," interposed Mrs. Tolar at this point. "Yes," mused Mr. Tolar, "I have been in several bad wrecks, in two of which my fireman were killed. The first one I can recall was in 1915 at Lundy, two miles south of Palatka. It was caused by a dark boy placing a switch on the wrong track."

BRADFORD ESCAPES

MacArthur Estimates 92,000 Japanese Casualties In Six Weeks Of Fighting

(By Associated Press)
Tank supported Marines crawled slowly uphill today toward the second airfield on Iwo Jima under incessant fire of the Japanese who knew their homeland would be covered by enemy fighter planes if the airbase island is lost.

The intensity of the fighting on Iwo Jima today, third day, since the last day of the battles of the Philippines, where General MacArthur's estimated 24,000 Japanese casualties were inflicted in six weeks. There were nearly 21,000 American casualties, 2,676 killed, 19,000 wounded and 245 missing.

The surviving Japanese on Corregidor were being pulled into the rough-like ruins of the Manila Bay island fortress. The U. S. Navy announced today that Japanese war ships were being pulled into the rough-like ruins of the Manila Bay island fortress.

By driving through to the west coast, the Marines isolated the Japanese on formidable Mount Suribachi as the rough-as-top from the main forces of the north. To the north the Marines started a fighting advance from the newly captured southern airfield, and the central airfield, advancing toward the
