HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Wednesday, May 7, 1980

YOUR BIRTHDAY
May 7, 1980

Instead of looking for new fields to conquer this coming year, seek ways to build on what you have already established. Your chances for success will be greater here than elsewhere.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) There is a possibility that you could make things harder for yourself today than they really are, by premature or impulsive actions. Don't step out of character. Getting along with other signs is one of the sections you'll enjoy in your Astro-Graph Letter, which begins with your birthday. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Others are likely to have more confidence in you today than you do in yourself. This is one of those cases where you should trust their judgment, and not yours.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A venture you're involved in could be severly hampered today if everyone pulls alone, instead of together. Set an example for harmony.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A fear of failure could cause you to postpone making an important decision today. More harm may result from indecisiveness than from making a poor judgment.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Those who share the work with you today must also be allowed to share the benefits. Keep this in mind when it comes time to slice up the pie.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This may not be one of your better days for taking gambles, especially the types where you are speculating in areas controlled by others.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your instincts regarding business or financial matters may be bit keener today than those of your mate or associates. Don't discount your hunches.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Treat coworkers exactly the same as you'd treat a treasured friend today if you hope to gain their full support. Anything less might cause problems.

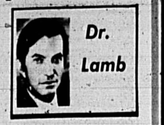
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Ambitions can be fulfilled today, provided you don't make others feel they are being used. Find ways to cut them in on your action.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be philosophical regarding any setbacks you may encounter today. Minimizing their importance will make them stepping stones instead of barriers.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) The end result is what is important today, and not whose ideas got you there. If another's thoughts are better than yours, use them.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Keep a close tab today on expenses for projects you're involved in. Unless you are very careful you could have some serious budget overruns.

Heart Could Skip Over Many Things



Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — Could you please tell me what is the cause of a premature heartbeat? I have been getting them for quite some time. I was told that they're mostly caused by some form of tension. I get them mostly after eating or when I cross my legs. It seems that my stomach is being pushed up into my chest organs. Could that be the cause ? Or could I possibly have a hernia in my diaphragm area?

DEAR READER — You seem to be a very observant fellow. There are many causes for premature heartbeats. Remember that the heart is an automatic organ and beats automatically. Practically all of the tissue in the heart is capable of initiating a heartbeat.

Normally, there is an orderly sequence in which the various parts of the heart are electrically excited before they contract. If you have a little spot that is excessively irritable it may fire off prematurely and stimulate the heart to contract early, causing a premature beat.

These can occur if you have chemical disturbances in the body. They occur if you have an overactive thyroid gland. They can occur from heart disease, including fatty-cholesterol deposits in the coronary arteries. They can occur from the build up of adrenaline in the heart muscle. And they can occur from tension. In short they are a symptom and not a diagnosis.

The doctor has to examine the patient carefully and relate the presence of premature beats to the total situation before he knows what causes them and what should be done about them. They can be of little importance if they occur in a young, healthy person or they can be quite significant if they occur in association with an acute heart attack.

To help you sort this out a little better; I'm sending you The Health Letter number 6-12, Heart Irregularities, Skipped Beats, Tachycardias. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send you request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

In view of your letter, I'm sure you'd like to know that problems of indigestion can trigger premature heartbeats. This could be because of an underlying ulcer, from excess gas in the colon or from a hiatal hernia (a hernia of part of the stomach through an enlarged hole in the diaphragm) as you have suggested.

I have seen many patients who have had attacks of heart irregularities when a portion of the stomach has herniated through the diaphragm into the chest area.

Why don't you see your physician and let him give you a good examination. You need to have him find out what causes you to have that feeling of your stomach moving into your chest anyway.

If you smoke cigarettes, drink coffee, tea or lots of colas, you should stop all of those habits if you want to stop your premature beats.

Should you get a complete clean bill of health from your doctor, you might start a physical conditioning program in a gradual, sensible manner. Such beats sometimes disappear as the level of fitness is improved.

In a book entitled "Secrets of Winning Bridge", Jeff Rubens devotes considerable space to the play of this hand.

He doesn't discuss the bidding because there is no logical way to get to six spades. So he gets you there and leaves you to play the hand.

You win the heart lead in dummy and play the deuce of spades. East follows with the four-spot and your correct play is the seven. This costs you an overtrick if West holds the singleton king since the play of the ace would drop it. But it protects you against going down if West were void of trumps.

Obviously, in rubber bridge the safety play is eminently correct. Why risk a slam in a chance to gain 30 points?

Now look at match-point duplicate. Should you employ the safety play?

The answer is a decided "Yes".

If everyone else were in the slam, the answer would be different since the overtrick would be worth as much as a slam. Not the bidding, however. There are other ways to get to six. But very few pairs would get to six, and just being in six and making it would give you a far above average score.

Marines To Relieve Guardsmen

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — Four hundred U.S. Marines were ordered into Key West today to relieve the weary Florida National Guard of some of its chores of caring for 5,000 Cuban refugees brought by the freedom sealift.

Military authorities said the Marines were expected to begin arriving about 4 p.m. from Camp Lejeune, N.C.

They also announced that a new Cuban refugee center will be established in an area of Fort Chaffee, Ark. Flights of refugees from Key West will begin as soon as it is in operation.

Processing facilities in the Florida Panhandle and the Miami area were already bulging with refugees. The total arrivals aboard the sealift have soared above the 21,000 mark in the 16 days of operations and thousands more were expected.

Maj. John Toner at Eglin Air Force Base said, "We're acting like a big sponge, absorbing everything."

An official at Key West lamented, "I can get all kinds of airplanes, but the limiting factor is — where do I send them?"

During the night, the Federal Emergency Management Agency reported eight flights by chartered Boeing 737s brought 1,000 refugees from Key West to Homestead Air Force Base, south of Miami. The refugees were hustled to an abandoned Nike missile base west of Miami, where a new processing center was established Tuesday.

Federal authorities at Key West reported 3,190 refugees remained at Key West at 6 a.m. Another 279 were en route to Miami by bus.

Toner reported the refugee count at the Fort Walton Beach fairgrounds tent city and in a gym and hangars at Eglin reached 4,473 this morning. None had been released since they began arriving last Saturday. He said he expected arrivals to continue at the rate of 2,000 daily until the camp reached a capacity of 10,000 by Saturday.

Since the sealift began, 719 boats have brought 21,141 refugees to Key West.

Radio Havana, in a broadcast monitored in Miami today reported 1,404 vessels remained in the harbor at Mariel as of midnight Tuesday. It reported a "record 4,003 antisocials left for the United States Tuesday."

Officers from the Defense Department's Joint Caribbean Command arrived at Key West and indicated federal troops would soon be available to take over chores from the Florida National Guard. A few National Guardsmen who had "a real conflict with their (civilian) jobs" were permitted to leave.

In Washington, White House aide Jack Watson said the Carter Administration would make a "massive" attempt to resettle the Cuban refugees outsic Florida.

Declaring a refugee emergency in parts of Florida, President Carter made available $10 million in federal funds and officials hoped things would improve.

"We're losing ground at a less rapid pace than before," said John Taylor, a state coordinator for the refugee processing operation.

Another 300 National Guardsmen were activated Tuesday to quell fighting and disorderly conduct among refugees becoming impatient at the long wait. The force now totals 700, but William Traugh of the Federal Emergency Management Agency said federal forces, including 75 U.S. marshals, would start replacing the Guardsmen today.

Justice Department officials said the marshals, from along the East Coast, were sent to staging areas in Key West; Tamiami Park in Miami, and Eglin Air Force Base.

SANFORD HONORS BRAVE SOLDIERS

Richard Graham, field supervisor for Sanford's Park Department, lowers the flag to half-staff at Memorial Park on the city's lakefront as a tribute to the eight American servicemen killed in Iran. President Carter has ordered the U.S. flag be lowered to half-staff on all federal buildings, grounds and naval vessels until sunset Friday. "The names of the eight American servicemen who died in a mission of rescue in Iran will forever stand among the names of heroes," Carter said this week in signing the proclamation directing the lowering of the flag. The bodies of the eight servicemen finally are home, but their long-delayed return was shrouded in secrecy. A C-141 Starlifter touched down at Dover Air Force Base at 6:37 p.m. EDT Tuesday, bringing home the bodies.

Hostages Told Of Rescue Try

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — The American hostages have been told of the unsuccessful April 25 rescue mission and warned they would be killed if the United States tries it again, a Tehran newspaper said today.

"Some hostages were frightened and upset at the news of the rescue mission and the threat," the newspaper Donya was quoted as saying. But other captives were indifferent, the paper said.

The Tehran Times quoted the Persian language Donya newspaper for the report, which gave no source for the threats.

"Each hostage has been told where he is now being held and the students who accompanied them to the outlying cities know English well," the newspaper said.

"The young students at the embassy remain in charge of the hostage holding operation and maintain daily contact with their comrades holding Americans in other cities.

"All letters for the hostages must be sent to the Tehran Embassy because the students do not want to divulge which hostages are in which city," Donya said in the report, without saying whether the "advice" to hostage families and friends was conveyed by a militant spokesman.

In another development, a top leader of the Islamic Revolutionary Council said today Iran's parliament will convene in six weeks but will give only second priority to considering the release of the 53 American hostages.

Ayatollah Mohammad Beheshti, secretary of the Revolutionary Council, said the first order of business of the parliament will be a vote of confidence in a new government.

"Then it may take up the hostage issue," the fundamentalist Islamic leader added.

The second-stage of elections for the parliament will begin Friday to complete the selection of the legislature.

County, City Settle Dispute Over Library

By DIANE PETRYK
Herald Staff Writer

After numerous proposals bounced back and forth between Sanford and Seminole County officials, both jurisdictions are now in agreement over how to handle the downtown Sanford County Library if the county elects to keep the library in its present building.

Acceptance of a city-edited version of the county's latest proposal by the county this week makes the deal official, City officials accepted the proposal with their minor changes April 28.

The proposal gives the county an option to purchase the library building from the city for $10 if a study shows it would be desirable for the county to continue operating a library at that site.

The agreement also provides that the county give the city six months notice if the county decides to pull out of the building, a provision the city needs to assure it will be able to fulfill an agreement it has with the federal government.

In order to gain ownership of the building, a former post office, the city must see it is used for library purposes until 1983. If the county leaves the city would need at least six months to make other library arrangements.

In its April 28 action, the city approved the county's proposal with the stipulation that the library be maintained as a general public library. City officials felt the stipulation was necessary because the county had once inquired about placing its law library in the building at East First and Palmetto.

County officials said they needed a commitment from the city that they would be allowed to remain in the building before they would do a feasibility study on keeping the library there.

The building, according to county officials, is in need of renovation and, as a library, is inadequate unless expanded.

County Commission Chairman Bill Kirchhoff said the county needs to do complete architectual workups to see if the building is worth renovating and if expansion is feasible, and would be cost effective as opposed to renting or buying a building to house the library at another location.

The hours are not the best in the world, but overall I am satisfied right here," Brooks said.

A letter from the Justice Department to the city in early March notifying the city was being investigated for racial discrimination was met with consternation by city officials.

The correspondence did not indicate exactly what was the basis of the charges against the city.

In mid-March the letter was followed by a questionnaire and a cover letter from the Justice Department notifying the city that it must answer the questions or face loss of federal revenue sharing funds and any federal funds from the U.S. Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA).

City Attorney Vernon Mize and City Manager Warren Knowles in telephone calls to the Justice Department told that agency the matters concerning Brooks and Moore had been settled with the execution of the EEOC agreement nearly three years ago.

Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Lakeland, has also contacted the Justice Department on the matter.

The city commission decided to give as much information as possible to the Justice Department. All questions which the city could respond to, it did, Mize said. A 144-page packet of documents was sent to the Justice Department last week.

Ex-Police Officer Filed Complaint Against Sanford

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Former Sanford Police Acting Sgt. John C. Moore refused today to reveal the full details of his latest complaint of racial discrimination against the city of Sanford which has been filed with the U.S. Justice Department.

"I'm not afraid. I just want to keep the peace," he said, adding he has been advised by persons in the Justice Department not to discuss the matter. "I am keeping quiet for right now," he said.

Moore did say, however, that he is not and never has been happy with the pre-determination settlement Sanford officials executed with the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) on June 21, 1977. At the time he was also a party to the agreement.

The agreement called for back pay to be given to Moore and Sanford Patrolman Tony Brooks and for their reinstatement with the department. Sums of money were also granted to several other persons who claimed they had been discriminated against because of race.

Both Brooks and Moore were reinstated with the department. Brooks was assigned to the federal-state Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA) and is still serving on that special assignment while he is retained on the Sanford Police Department roster.

Moore said today he had believed the settlement included provisions that he was to be promoted to a "full-fledged sergeant" and placed in control of a K-9 (police dog) unit.

He said instead he was named an acting sergeant and placed in charge of a "canine control." "I didn't know they were making me a dogcatcher," he said.

Moore said he was "terminated" by the city while he was a patient in a hospital, "and, some people are under the impression I'm being paid by the city of Sanford. I'm drawing 100 per cent social security disability," he said.

In response to Moore's assertions, City Manager Warren Knowles, who is in Tallahassee on city business, said today, "Moore knew the city didn't have a K-9 corps in the police department."

Of the ex-policeman's termination from the city, Knowles said Moore's name was carried on the police department roster for almost two months after his sick leave ran out. "And after that we gave him a medical leave of absence. He didn't notify us of where he was or what was wrong," Knowles said. "We asked EEOC what we should do and his termination was cleared by EEOC."

Knowles also said there was no agreement that Moore would be promoted to sergeant.

Brooks, meanwhile, said he had not filed a complaint with the civil rights compliance division, Office of Justice Assistance, Research and Statistics of the U.S. Department of Justice.

He said he received a questionnaire from the federal department about three months ago. "The questionnaire asked questions similar to ones asked the city of Sanford," Brooks said, noting among those questions was whether he had been given a promotion to sergeant.

Brooks has not been given a promotion to sergeant. He applied for the promotion and took a city civil service test in 1978. Two other men — one black and one white — were selected by a panel composed of five officers from other jurisdictions. Their recommendations were accepted by the department.

Brooks said he talked with Moore and that Moore told him he (Moore) submitted the complaint to the justice department. "His original complaint is still under investigation," Brooks said. "I don't know what is going on," Brooks said, adding he has filed only one complaint charging the city with racial discrimination and that was the one settled by EEOC agreement.

Brooks said he finds his assignments to DEA "challenging," "I gain a lot of satisfaction working

Huge Lakefront Complex Announced For Sanford

A multimillion dollar 264-unit luxury apartment complex is to be built on 27-acres fronting on Lake Monroe and First Street by a partnership of two Orlando men, known as Sanford Landing Ltd.

Trevor W. Hall Jr., partner and co-sponsor of the project with Robert Bobinchuck, said a contract for purchase of the property from the Ernest W. Southward family and the Bill Kirk family has been executed. He declined to reveal the purchase price or the construction value of the project.

Hall said he has received preliminary approval for a mortgage for the project through the Government National Mortgage Association, more commonly known as "GinnyMa." Under this federal program mortgages are purchased by the federal agency, which is a secondary mortgage money market.

He said final approval is expected from GNMA later in the year and groundbreaking is expected by the end of the year.

The apartment complex is to contain 264 units, a mixture of one bedroom, one bedroom loft, two bedroom and two-bedroom loft apartments. Complete amenities are to be provided at the complex, Hall said, including a pool, tennis courts, clubhouse, sauna and possibly a day dock in the lake.

The apartments rentals will not be subsidized or for low-income persons, Hall said. The units will be available to any qualified tenant in the moderate income range. The complex is to be built in a design of two-to 3½ stories.

Hall said the apartment complex property is located west of the proposed new hospital and has 168 feet of frontage on First Street and more than 1,000 feet frontage on the lakefront. The property will be kept "pretty much" in its natural state, he said.

The property is already zoned for apartment construction, Hall said.

H.A. 'Speed' Moreland Jr. Dead

By JANE CASSELBERRY
Herald Staff Writer

Funeral services for Retired Naval Commander H.A. "Speed" Moreland Jr., 54, of 109 Brentwood Drive, Sanford, who died early today at Seminole Memorial Hospital will be Friday at 11 a.m. at the First Presbyterian Church of Sanford with Dr. Virgil L. Bryant officiating.

Burial will be in the Oaklawn Cemetery with full military honors extended the U.S. Navy pilot of 23 years. Moreland died of leukemia following a long illness.

Retired from the Navy in 1964, Moreland was vice president and Sanford branch manager of the First Federal Savings and Loan of Mid-Florida until his recent retirement.

Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce Executive Manager Jack Horner called Moreland, who was active in the chamber, "a very special person with a dynamic personality and a man with inherent leadership qualities. We're going to miss him in the chamber in Sanford, and as for me personally — we don't get many like "Speed."

John Pierce, manager of the Mayfair Country Club and a friend for 30 years, said, "I've lost a good friend and the community has lost a good individual."

Capt. Jim de Ganahl, who served with Moreland for six years as a Navy flier in the A-3 program and the Vigilantes in Sanford, called Moreland "one of the finest officers I have had the pleasure of serving with."

A member of the First Presbyterian Church of Sanford, Moreland founded and served as president of the Christian Businessmen's Breakfast Club in Sanford. The group, organized in January, 1979, meets monthly at the Holiday Inn.

"Death doesn't bother me," Moreland, a man of deep faith, told a Herald staff writer in December. "I have a terminal-type disease but people can live 25 years and therapy is improving every day. I'm not worried about it. I'm not afraid to die because I know what's going to happen — but, of course, I'm not in any hurry. I've got a lot to do."

WORLD

Yugoslavs Upset Brezhnev, But Not Carter, To Visit

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI) — World leaders have begun streaming in for Thursday's funeral of Josip Broz Tito but many Yugoslavs are miffed that President Carter is not planning to attend although Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev will be present.

"The Soviets trumped us," an American journalist who has covered Eastern Europe for many years said, explaining Brezhnev's unexpected presence is aimed at driving a wedge between the United States and its allies."

Yugoslav officials, while saying nothing publicly, privately indicated they would have preferred to see Carter, the acknowledged leader of the West, at the funeral of a man who defied the Kremlin and tried to keep a carefully balanced position between East and West.

Chinese Premier Hua Guofeng arrived in Belgrade Tuesday afternoon as head of the first delegation for the funeral and laid a wreath on Tito's flag-draped coffin.

Mondale Heads Delegation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Carter's mother, Lillian Carter, and Treasury Secretary G. William Miller will join Vice President Walter Mondale in representing the United States at the funeral of Yugoslav President Josip Broz Tito, the White House said Tuesday.

Mondale heads the 24-member delegation.

Other members include: Reps. George Danielson of California and Raymond Kogovsek of Colorado; former ambassador W. Averell Harriman and his wife, Pamela; and former Rep. John Blatnik of Minnesota.

Thatcher Sees Crisis Hope

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, flushed with pride over Britain's dramatic commando rescue of Iranians from their London embassy, said the raid will be used as leverage to help the American hostages in Iran.

The daring commando raid Monday, televised live to millions, freed 19 hostages in a fierce 10-minute gun battle.

Mrs. Thatcher did not indicate how the raid would aid the 53 U.S. captives in Iran, but told Parliament Tuesday, "I believe the way in which it was carried out in this country will have an effect with regard to the future position of the American hostages."

Police today resumed their search for two or more bodies believed buried in the embassy debrise. Officials said they thought six Iranian-Arab separatists were involved in the six-day siege. Five were killed and one was captured.

Seniors Get 110 New Hot Meals

By DIANE PETRYK
Herald Staff Writer

Apparently satisfied that federal money will be available to continue the program next year, the Seminole County Commission has approved a transfer of funds that will allow the Federation of Senior Citizens to serve an additional 110 hot meals per day to needy persons.

The commission has also approved in concept a plan for an alcoholism detoxification facility to be housed in the county's existing alcoholism treatment center, but put off discussing where to get the $10,000 needed to implement the plan.

Earlier, the commission denied the transfer of funds for meals because the federation had not shown how the additional Meals on Wheels and Congregate Meals would be funded the following year.

But the commission was convinced at its regular meeting this week that the money would be available from the federal government. The transfer now of $3,538 in funds originally allocated for Community Care for the Elderly will allow the federation to accept $31,842 from the federal government. The $3,538 is the required 10 percent in local matching funds.

The money was allocated to Community Care for the Elderly programs but not used due to a delay in start up of those programs.

Before approving the alcoholism detoxification facility or "Sobering Up Unit" proposal, the commission asked for assurance from the Metropolitan Alcoholism Council that the facility would not be financially tied to the county's alcoholism treatment center, known as the Halfway House.

If the Sobering Up Unit should fail due to lack of funds or staff inability to undertake the added burden, the commissioners did not want the Halfway House threatened with closing.

The state funds alcoholism treatment programs for Seminole, Orange and Osceola counties as a unit under the Metropolitan Alcoholism Council District VII.

A similar tri-county program for mental health was also approved by the commissioners. It will provide about $1.2 million for mental health care.

But the commissioners expressed their concern that Seminole County was getting less than its share of the state funds.

"It seems that Seminole is getting the short end of a very long stick," Commissioner Bob Sturm said.

Sturm said he would vote for the plan, but indicated that if Seminole does not get a larger percentage of the state funds next year he will propose Seminole break away from the tri-county group.

Frank Burns, executive director of the District VII Mental Health Board said Seminole has about 21 percent of the population of the three counties and gets about 29 percent of the total funds.

But county officials said those figures do not give an accurate picture. They said several programs located in Orange County but designed to serve residents of all three counties are not practically available to Seminole County residents.

Police Arrest Stromberg Suspect

By DAVID M. GAZLER
Herald Staff Writer

Lake Mary police arrested another suspect today in the Jan. 17 theft of a one-ton safe from the Stromberg-Carlson electronics plant.

Lance D. Butler, 21, of 109 Sanora Blvd., Sanford, was arrested at his home just after midnight by police acting on a warrant. He was ordered held at the Seminole County Jail in lieu of $8,400 bail on charges of burglary and grand theft.

Police say they arrested Butler after three other suspects were arrested in the case.

On April 27 and 28, Lake Mary police arrested Robert P. Hughes of Sanford and two unidentified juveniles, charging them with helping steal the safe. Hughes was released after posting $1,500 bond.

Police said they are expecting at least one more arrest in the case. They were unavailable today to say whether Butler, presently unemployed, was ever an employee of Stromberg-Carlson.

Last month, law enforcement officers said they were expecting to arrest one or more Stromberg-Carlson employees in connection with the case. However, none of the first three suspects arrested was connected with the firm.

WRONG MAN THREATENED WITH GUN

A resident of an apartment complex outside Casselberry was threatened at gunpoint Tuesday night by a pair of men looking for a man owing them a large amount of money, deputies say.

Steven Weichert, 24, of 2714 Red Lion Apartments, Howell Branch Road, told deputies he answered a knock at his door at 11:54 p.m. to find two men demanding he produce "David Neal," a man Weichert says he does not know.

He shut the door on them and went into his bedroom for a shotgun, but returned to find the two had forced the door open, and that one of the men was holding a pistol.

After a short while, the two intruders told Weikhert they must have come to the wrong apartment, and left in a dark Cadillac, deputies say.

THREE MEN GRAB CASH

A produce stand clerk, who turned away from her cash register to help a customer recover a "lost" dollar, lost $300 to a trio of thieves who grabbed money from the register and ran, deputies say.

Gladys Collins, of Winter Park, told deputies she was working the register at Creech Produce, State Road 436 and Howell Branch Road near Casselberry, when one of three men who had entered the stand told her he had dropped a dollar bill.

As she turned to help him find it, the other two men scooped up about $300 in bills from the register drawer, and the trio ran from the area deputies say.

School Board To Meet

The Seminole County School Board will hold its regularly scheduled meeting tonight at 7:30.

Agenda items include a report on energy savings, a grant proposal for the Grove School, sick leave policy, new age limits for Kindergarten and the purchase of vocational equipment for Lake Howell High School and fencing for Seminole High School.

The meeting will be held at the school-board office, 1211 Mellonville Ave., Sanford.

Pam Russell New SEA President

The following teachers were recently elected as the officers and executive board members for 1980 to 1981 by the members of the Seminole Education Association. These teachers will assume office the first of June. The officers are: Pam Russell, president; Rick Johnson, vice president; Judy Sledge, secretary; Helen Goodson, treasurer; Pat Bohsancurt, Myra Elsencoff, Louella Rahming, John Masciantoni, executive board members.

Ms. Russell is a third grade teacher at Lake Orienta. She has taught five years in Seminole County and six years in Alabama. Ms. Russell has served on the SEA Executive Board, Instruction and Professional Development Committee, and the negotiating team.

Johnson is a sixth grade social studies teacher at Sanford Middle School. He has served on the SEA Executive Board, the Human Relations Committee and was recently appointed to chair the Negotiations Committee.

Senate, House Differ On Drinking Age

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — A movement to raise the legal drinking age is still alive in the House despite a major setback in the Finance and Tax Committee.

Citing several reasons, the committee killed a bill with a 15-5 vote Tuesday that would have raised the drinking age from 18 to 20.

But little more than an hour later, the House Regulated Industries Committee resurrected the issue by unanimously approving another bill that would hike the age of majority to 21.

From the viewpoint of persons 18 through 20, the new measure (PCB 31) is no use than the first for it would require them to be 21 not only to drink but also to sign contracts, gamble, hold certain public offices and otherwise enjoy the rights of being adults. The age of majority was lowered to 18 a decade ago.

Asked if the majority age bill would be sent to the Finance and Tax Committee because of its potential fiscal impact like the first measure, Regulated Industries Chairman John Rylas, D-Brandon, said, "Whether this one's pulled in there on a point of order, I don't know."

Across the Capitol, a bill raising the drinking age to 20 is pending in the Senate.

Last week the full House last week went on record in favor of a lowered drinking age when it approved by a 65-45 vote an amendment to a loosely related bill, but the bill then was yanked into the finance and tax committee because of its tax revenues implications.

A majority of that committee said they opposed the bill (HB 84) because it would be unfair to young persons otherwise considered adults, it would cost an estimated $15 million in liquor tax revenues and it would drive restaurants and bars catering to the young out of business.

"We had eight men killed in Iran," Rep. Carl Ogeden, DJacksonville, said of the U.S. servicemen who died on the aborted hostage rescue attempt. "Five of them wouldn't have been able to buy beer under this bill."

Rep. Fran Carlton, D-Orlando, who last week offered the floor amendment raising the issue, said, the decade of drinking at 18 "was an experiment that didn't work."

She said passage of the bill would save the lives of young people killed in alcohol-related traffic accidents.

The Rich Get Richer
Reagan, Carter Steamroll Foes In 3 States

By ARNOLD SAWISLAK
UPI Senior Editor

Both President Carter and Ronald Reagan rolled to within 200 delegates of the presidential nominations Tuesday with landslide primary victories in Indiana, Tennessee and North Carolina.

Their challengers, Sen. Edward Kennedy and George Bush, won the District of Columbia primary, smallest of the day, and fell even farther behind the president and the former California governor as the 1980 primary season went into its final month.

But neither Kennedy nor Bush was giving up.

"We continue the campaign," Kennedy said.

Bush, whose campaign manager said the former U.N. ambassador never entertained hope for Tuesday's tests, said in advance he was in to stay.

Reagan's reaction was controlled delight.

"Tonight I'm a little less cautious and a little more optimistic. It has been a tremendous day for our campaign. I'm very happy."

The results gave Carter nearly 89 percent of the 1,666 delegates needed for nomination and press secretary Jody Powell claimed the president lacks only 160 to lock it up. Reagan had 80 percent of the 998 delegates needed for the GOP nomination.

In terms of momentum, anything Carter and Reagan may have lost in Pennfylvania Texas was regained in the three states Tuesday.

Their vote percentages ranged from the mid-60s to the 70s, landslides by any standard. And for Reagan at least, the result in the nation's capital was no loss. He wasn't even on the ballot.

The Democratic delegate totals:

	Tues	Prev	Total	Carter	1611,2041,365
Kennedy	62	676.5	738.5

The Democratic total did not include the Texas or Colorado caucus results earlier this week. Carter is expected to get well over 100 more delegates from them.

The Republican total:

	Tues	Prev	Total	Reagan	108	695	803	Bush	32	145	177

Needed to nominate: 998

Individually, Tuesday's primaries looked like this:

Indiana: With 98 percent of the vote in, Carter had 396,911 or 67 percent and 53 delegates to Kennedy's 191,882 or 33 percent and 27 delegates. Reagan had 409,706 or 74 percent and 54 delegates to Bush's 90,355 or 16 percent and 0 delegates.

Tennessee: With 99 percent of the vote in, Carter had 218,588 or 75 percent and 44 delegates to Kennedy's 52,915 or 18 percent and 11 delegates. Reagan had 140,237 or 74 percent and 24 delegates to Bush's 33,909 or 18 percent and 8 delegates.

North Carolina: With 99 percent of the vote in, Carter had 517,945 or 70 percent and 56 delegates to Kennedy's 130,849 or 18 percent and 13 delegates. Reagan had 115,328 or 67 percent and 30 delegates to Bush's 37,114 or 21 percent and 10 delegates.

District of Columbia: With all the votes counted, Kennedy had 38,688 or 62 percent and 11 delegates to Carter's 23,095 or 37 percent and 8 delegates. Bush had 4,849 or 66 percent, John Anderson 1,952 or 29 percent. Bush was leading in all 14 delegate contests.

Drop In Sales Tax Collections Worries Graham

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Gov. Bob Graham is getting skittish about the economy, afraid the recession will be longer and worse than expected.

He called state economists back for another revenue estimating conference Tuesday after a revised report showed sales tax collections taking a nose dive in April.

Graham said he is not confident with the economists' findings reached last Friday that state revenues should remain steady for the next 14 months and there is no need to reduce the official estimate used in writing the budget, Graham said.

"The Department of Revenue reported a significant downturn in its April sales tax and corporate income tax collections. As a result, I am requesting the members of the revenue estimating conference to further analyze state tax projections."

Graham administration and legislative economists participating in last week's conference got a tentative report showing sales tax collections to be about $1 million below the expected level for April.

The consensus was this didn't amount to enough of a shortfall to be worried about even though Tony Huggins, Graham's chief economist, had recommended a $77 million reduction in the estimate.

The revenue department revised its figures Monday and reported sales tax collections for April at $223 million, significantly more than for April a year ago, but $6.1 million less than expected. Total state collections for April were about $5.5 million less than the estimate.

Firefighters Contain Blaze Set By Officials

MIO, Mich. (UPI) — Firefighters, exhausted from more than 30 hours of duty, finally succeeded in their battle to contain a deliberately set blaze that raged out of control and consumed 25,000 acres of northeast Michigan woodlands.

As Forest Service officials announced containment of the flames Tuesday, state officials questioned the judgment used in deciding to set the fire.

The blaze was started Monday to burn off 100 acres in the Huron-Manistee National Forest and was whipped out of control by shifting winds. One fireman was killed, hundreds of people were evacuated and 25 homes and cabins destroyed before Forest service officials were able to contain the blaze.

The fire stretched through parts of three counties along a front about 10½ miles long and 5 miles wide, officials said.

A forest service spokesman said containment was declared when a fire line completely circled the flames.

Father Releases Sons

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — A father released unharmed his three sons he had held hostage for 30 hours fearing they would be taken from him by his estranged wife.

Kim Lehman, 28, claimed throughout the ordeal he had a bomb strapped around his waist. When he surrendered Tuesday, the "bomb" turned out to be flashlight batteries.

Mrs. Jolene Lehman had taken the boys to her parents' home. Lehman invaded the home Monday, fired several shots and his wife and her parents fled to safety.

New Anti-Cancer Technique

BOSTON (UPI) — A new technique for treating cancerous eye tumors in test animals may some day enable human patients to bypass the unpleasant side effects of chemotherapy, the Eye Research Institute of Boston reports.

The government-funded institute said Tuesday scientists have devised a method of using a tiny silicone "balloon" to administer drugs directly to the diseased portion of a cancerous eye, allowing sustained release of anti-cancer drugs into the eye.

The technique so far has been used only on animals. Use on humans, if possible, is still years away, the institute said.

Mandel To Serve Sentence At Eglin Air Force Base

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The U.S. Bureau of Prisons has approved former Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel's request to serve his sentence for political corruption at a minimum security camp in the Florida panhandle.

Similar requests by Harry W. Rodgers III and Irvin Kovens, convicted with Mandel of mail fraud and racketeering and sentenced to three years, also were granted, bureau spokesman Mike Aun said Tuesday.

Mandel will begin serving his three-year prison term May 14 at Eglin Air Force Base Federal Prison Camp in Florida.

The former governor and five co-defendants were convicted in August 1977. Mandel accepted gifts and cash worth $350,000 from his co-defendants to influence race track legislation.

It's A Leap Into Nowhere

Having come from out of nowhere as a presidential candidate, John Anderson now runs the risk of disappearing into the nowhere that national politics seems to reserve for independent and third-party candidates. Americans tend to admire the spunk of their political mavericks but have shown a reluctance to follow up with their votes on Election Day.

What sustains Anderson's decision to run as an independent is that no presidential election is exactly like any that went before. If history were his guide he would have to conclude that the odds are too much against him. Even Teddy Roosevelt running with the stature of a former president in 1912, couldn't crack the two-party system with his Bull Moose movement.

But this is 1980, and things are always different. Anderson can only hope that they are different enough to keep his candidacy from being more than that of a "spoiler" drawing votes away from one or both of the major party candidates.

The presidential primaries so far have shown Anderson to be a vote-getter with greater appeal than the pundits at first believed, a Republican drawing impressive Democratic support in states that permit crossover voting. The primaries and opinion polls also have shown a striking degree of mixed emotion among Republicans and Democrats toward the candidates most likely to be nominated by their own parties. As Anderson and his supporters see it, there is a chance in November for a coalition of liberal Republicans, disaffected Democrats and traditional independents to put their man in the White House.

Whatever Anderson might accomplish as a campaigner between now and November, his first battles will be to clear the procedural hurdles in getting his name before voters in enough states to mount a credible three-way race for votes in the Electoral College. This means petition campaigns in some states and legal challenges of filing laws in other states.

Former Sen. Eugene McCarthy, who went the independent route as a candidate in 1976, is arguing in a book just published that the deck is stacked unfairly against independent candidates, especially under the post-Watergate election reforms and the policies of the new Federal Election Commission. Anderson, for example, presumably will be able to campaign only with money he can raise privately while his Democratic and Republican opponents will receive about $29 million each in federal funds.

The Anderson candidacy will provide a fresh test of whether our election laws are flexible enough to give a fair shake to independent candidates, or whether, as McCarthy maintains, they so favor the Democratic and Republican parties that even an independent with a popular following is beaten by the "system."

At this point, John Anderson cannot be regarded as anything but a long shot for November. But it is only May and 1980 is proving to be a volatile political year.

Around The Clock

By JANE CASSELBERRY

School will be out before you know it. As any parent knows the inevitable boredom soon replaces the euphoria of being released from the confines of the classroom and the kids are bugging Mom for something to do. There are various kinds of camping options available for Seminole County boys and girls.

Among these are activities offered by the Central Florida YMCA including a "Kinder Kamp" program for four and five-year olds, day camps for children 6-12, Camp Wewa, a resident camp for boys and girls 7-14 with four two-week sessions and one one-week session beginning June 22.

For those who crave real excitement there is cross-country Caravan Camping. A 30-day trip starting June 20 includes places such as the Grand Canyon, San Diego, Tia Juana, Mexico, San Francisco, Reno, and Salt Lake City. A 20-day trip starting July 25, visits Opryland, St. Louis, Rocky Mountain National Park, the Air Force Academy, Six-Flags at Dallas-Fort Worth and New Orleans.

For information and registration call Y Camping Services at 896-2220.

The Girl Scouts Citrus Council is planning a day camp in Centennial Park, Sanford, August 3-7. Day Activities are scheduled at the Celia Lane Little House in Orlando — Dramatics for Juniors, June 17-19; Brownie Fun-for-All, June 30-July 2. The schedule for resident camp at Mah-Kah-Wee in Chuluota is as follows: June 22-27, water sports, and homesteaders for Brownies; June 29-July 4, water fun for Juniors; June 29-July 4, Canoeing for Cadettes; July 6-11 general camp program for Brownies; July 13-18, general camp program for Juniors; July 13-18, primitive and survival camping for Cadettes; July 20-25, music, art and dramatics for Brownies; July 27-Aug. 1, music, art and dramatics for Juniors; July 27-Aug. 1, folk arts for Cadettes.

The Girl Scout camping program is open to all girls, whether or not they are Girl Scouts. The day camp is open to girls 6-17, the resident camp for 6-14 years and counselor-in-training program, 15-17. Brownies are girls, 6-8; Juniors, 9-11; Cadettes, 12-14 and Seniors, 15-17. Anyone interested in finding out more about the camps or registering should call the Girl Scout Service Center at 645-1020.

Many of the municipalities in Seminole County will also be conducting their own recreational programs this summer. Contact your local city hall for details.

Pollster George Gallup Jr., whose surveys have affected the American political scene, economy, education and social habits, will explore the effect of public opinion on business in a special 7:30 p.m. lecture on May 22 at the University of Central Florida's Village Center. The event is free and open to the public.

Ozzie Myers' Problem

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The Democratic voters in Pennsylvania's 1st Congressional District may never again match their 1976 performance — that's when they nominated a dead man to represent them in Congress — but they came close this year.

They've just decided to return to the House of Representatives a man whose only distinction during a decade of service in state and federal legislatures is his reputation for getting into trouble with the law.

He's Michael O. "Ozzie" Myers, whose legislative record in his first four years in Washington is as devoid of accomplishment as was his undistinguished performance during six earlier years as a member of Pennsylvania's House of Representatives.

In an era of supposedly sanitized elections aggressively promoted by "good government" organization, Myers' recent success is a reminder that old-fashioned scroundrels and big-city political machines still wield considerable influence in some of the nation's major urban areas.

Myers' congressional district, which encompasses the southern half of this city, is bisected by the Schuylkill River. On the west bank is the University of Pennsylvania campus and the heavily black wards of West Philadelphia. Although blacks comprise about 45 percent of the district's potential voters, their rate of electoral participation is far lower.

The political heart of the district lies east of the river, in South Philadelphia where Italian-Americans are by far the biggest ethnic group. It's the home of both Frank Rizzo, the city's controversial former mayor, and "Rocky," Sylvester Stallone's fictitious boxing hero.

Back in 1975, when Myers represented South Philadelphia in the state legislature, a Pittsburgh Democrat was sentenced to three years in prison after being convicted on federal mail-fraud charges stemming from an insurance-fraud scheme.

Pennsylvania's House is hardly a bastion of integrity, but its members knew they couldn't justify a convicted felon in their midst, so they voted 176-1 to expel him from the legislature. The lone dissenter: Ozzie Myers.

A rowdy party (the congressman danced in a gorrilla costume) was followed by a brawl in which Myers allegedly punched and kicked a female cashier and a male security guard. Originally charged with two counts of assault and battery, he later was allowed to plead "no contest" to one count of disorderly conduct.

Myers disappeared from public view after that melee, but resurfaced recently as one of eight congressmen allegedly being investigated in the Abscam scandal.

Although no charges have yet been filed against any of the legislators, Myers is reported to have accepted $50,000 from FBI agents posing as Arab sheiks.

Myers' presumed liabilities produced a crowded field of no fewer than 18 opponents in the recent Democratic primary. Although he received less than 27 percent of the highly fragmented vote, he won the race.

What about Myers' future, especially in the Abscam probe? "I don't worry me," says the 37-year-old former longshoreman. "I don't see no problems."

The Vance Resignation

WASHINGTON — Contrary to most news accounts, it was not President Carter's new militancy alone that drove Cyrus Vance to resign as Secretary of State. An even more compelling reason was the president's woeful ineptness in directing foreign affairs.

Vance was too much the gentleman to mention his real misgivings in public. These were expressed by a senior Foreign Service officer who resigned a few days earlier. Thomas R. Hutson quit as U.S. consul in Moscow because "the Carter administration doesn't have a clue how to conduct foreign policy."

Hutson declared out loud what many despairing Foreign Service officers have been saying privately. They deplore the lack of professionalism in Carter's exercise of diplomacy. As Hutson put it, "we have a bunch of amateurs running foreign policy." Here are just a few cases in point:

— The Israeli-Egyptian pact was a stunning blow to America's Arab allies. Whom did the president send to explain it to them? His son, Chip Carter, accompanied by national security advisor Zbigniew Brzezinski. Jordan's King Hussein invited Brzezinski to a luncheon, but dispatched Chip to eat with the children. In Saudi Arabia, the sophisticated Saudis included Chip at the meals, but excluded him from important discussions. Said one source gravely: "I do not send my child to negotiate important matters."

— The Iranian horror not only jeopardizes the western world's oil supply, but threatens world peace. Whom did Carter choose to negotiate a settlement? His hoscho, Hamilton Jordan, who has no diplomatic background. Jordan sneaked into Europe disguised in a gray wig and false mustache. He dealt with a couple of dubious backroom operators who claimed to have connections in Iran. This wasn't diplomacy; it was comic opera.

— The president dispatched boxing hero Muhammad Ali on a diplomatic mission to Black Africa. Sophisticated African leaders were incensed. Snorted one: "Carter sends his top diplomats to Europe, Asia and the Middle East, But whom does he send to Africa? a boxer!" Nigerian parlimentarians, meeting behind closed doors with American officials, protested angrily. Another African diplomat was more amused than angry. "We do not mix politics and sports," he quipped. "Isn't that what you Americans say?"

— Latin-American leaders with their machismo psychology, are uneasy about doing business with a woman. Yet the president repeatedly has sent his wife, Rosalynn, on important diplomatic missions to Latin America. "She's not someone that a head of state will discuss serious matters with," complained a congressional leader. The Brazilians were irritated when Carter selected Rosalynn the last minute to represent the United States as President Joao Figueiredo's inauguration. A White House official, informed of Brazil's displeasure, shrugged and said: "Who cares about Brazil?"

HALL OF HEROES — When hysterical Moslem mobs sacked the U.S. Embassy in Pakistan last November, hopelessly outnumbered U.S. Marine guards were forbidden to fire their weapons. Two of them did doing their job in the chaos.

They had help from two brave Drug Enforcement Administration agents, Bill Powers and Randy Sayles. The agents helped the combat-trained Marines delay the crowd and enabled embassy personnel to gain sanctuary in the embassy's third-floor vault area. They were exposed to intense heat, smoke and sniper fire.

I nominate Powers and Sayles, therefore, to this column's Hall of Heroes.

WATCH ON WASTE — Two years ago, the Comptroller General urged all government agencies to take advantage of the many discount fares available on air travel. Oddly enough, one of the agencies that has been less than enthusiastic about discount travel by its bureaucrats is the Department of Transportation. Odder still, a major offender is the Federal Aviation Administration. A DOT inspector general's report found that the FAA could save up to $25,000 a year by checking the discount possibilities.

JEFFREY HART

Liddy's Flying Circus

Back in its 1969-1971 heyday, the Nixon administration was thought to be competent but boring. The journalistic buzz word was "gray." These people were municipal bond experts and lawyers and accountants who wore three-piece suits and would eventually go home to Dubuque.

But, gadzooks, G. Gordon Liddy provides a whole new perspective in his new autobiography, "Will." The preparations for the 1972 campaign, as he recounts in vivid detail, included guns, poison, drugs, electronic surveillance, the prospective murder of Jack Anderson, prostitutes to trap leading Democrats, break-ins, a bogus fire engine, Cuban exiles, wigs, and you name it.

My favorite anecdote from Liddy's book, which, in its way, says it all, follows herewith:

"Not willing to let well enough alone, I pressed on. 'General (Attorney General John Mitchell), we've identified the exact suite McGovern's going to be using during the convention and we've got a little surprise cooked up for him. We've got the hotel people on the payroll, so just as the press arrives for one of his interviews, we're gonna have a bunch of really filthy zonked-out hippies — not fakes, these are the real thing — swarm in there, all wearing McGovern buttons and carrying his signs.' I leaned back, smiling. I had the full attention of everyone in the office, including Mitchell, who had stopped reading and removed the pipe from his mouth.

"'Then,' I said, 'just as the television and the press get their cameras going, and with McGovern standing there, helpless — the hotel people don't know about this, of course — every dirty hippie there is gonna whip it out and take a leak, right there in front of everybody. They'll never be able to get the stink out of the carpet so he'll have to move, and no way they'll be able to keep quiet why.'

"I laughed. The others laughed. Everybody laughed — except John Mitchell. He knew something I didn't. I knew, of course, that by this time the Republican convention had been moved from San Diego to Miami. I knew, too, that McGovern's suite was the best in the hotel. What I didn't know was that after the Democrats moved out and the Republicans moved in, John Mitchell would be staying in the suite just vacated by George McGovern.

"Mitchell didn't laugh, he roared: 'Goddamn it, Liddy, that's where I'm staying ...'

"Mitchell was glowering at the very idea. The others froze into silence. I couldn't help it; I started to laugh. The others picked it up, and soon Mitchell was laughing along with us ... Mitchell said, with a twinkle in his eye: 'I mean it, Gordon, keep those weirdos out of my hotel room.'"

So much for the "gray competence" of the Nixon administration.

Nixon probably didn't know much or anything about these Liddy-style capers, but in a way they stand in a metaphoric relationship to him.

In his public persona, Nixon always seemed deliberately "square." And he did have, at some levels, a deep sense of identification with ordinary Americans. But Nixon in fact is not ordinary at all. He is very bright, intense, cerebral and altogether unusual. Liddy's book, amazing and absurd, has a symbolic quality. To understand that administration, you need a double focus.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Let us resolve that government of the government, by the government and for the government shall not perish from the earth."

LEWIS GRIZZARD

Some Thoughts About That Junk Mail

One of the casualties of the attempt to balance the federal budget is almost certain to be Saturday mail service — which currently makes it possible for a letter or package mailed on a Monday, say, to be delivered two weeks from the following Saturday, if you're lucky.

The House Budget panel has recommended the $836 million subsidy the government pays the U.S. Postal Service be axed. If that measure is passed, we are down to five-days-a-week postal service, which will make it possible for a letter or package mailed on a Monday, say, to be delivered when the post office gets around to it, if you're lucky.

Such a drastic move really isn't necessary, however, and I come to that conclusion after going through a week's mail.

Have you ever seriously studied your mail? I'm not talking about the letter from Aunt Mildred, or about those rare occasions when somebody sends you money.

I am talking about "junk" mail. Most of the mail I get isn't worth the effort to open it. If we got rid of all the unnecessary and ridiculous mail being sent around, then the post office wouldn't have as much to do — and maybe we could not only help balance the budget but also get the latest gossip from Aunt Mildred before everybody in church already knows about it.

The high question, of course, is just exactly what sort of correspondence qualifies as junk mail? I'm glad you asked that question because I have compiled a list of the letters and packages I received in a week's time that were totally worthless, a nuisance, or downright offensive.

All the post office has to do is refuse to handle any of the following, and we can have our Saturday mail back, not to mention postal service befitting the 20th century:

— BOOKS: If you ordered a book, that's fine. But I don't normally order books through the mail. Yet, I get books. I am supposed to look over the book first, and then send the money for that book and others to follow, or, if I don't like the book, return it.

The other day I received a book on plumbing from Time-Life Books. I don't know a closet auger from a flue spoilator, and, furthermore, I don't care to know.

I tried to flush the book, which wound up costing me $28 — to get a plumber out on a Saturday.

— POLITICAL NEWSLETTERS: My congressman and my senators always are sending me newsletters. They are always addressed, "Dear Fellow Citizen:"

I know that scam. Some office flunkie writes the letters and then stamps a signature on the bottom.

I don't want to hear from my congressman or my senators unless they have cut my taxes, figured out a way to beat inflation or want my advice on how to vote on those words. If you want to flush something down your toilet, try a political newsletter.

— ANYTHING HAVING TO DO WITH INSURANCE: I have plenty of insurance, thank you, and if I want more, I'll be in touch. Insurance salesman will do anything to sell you a policy, including mailing you letters that always begin, "If you should die ..."

It shouldn't be against the law to shoot insurance salesmen.

— INVITATIONS TO WEDDINGS: Save your money, and invite me to the divorce party.

— CHAIN LETTERS: Anybody stupid enough to invest time or money in a chain letter would send a contribution to the George Bush campaign fund.

— OVERDUE BILL NOTICES: I get plenty of those the week I studied my mail. I know when my bills are overdue, so don't remind me.

I'll pay as soon as I get my check from the Reader's Digest Sweepstakes.

'The Memory Of Eva Ryker'

New CBS Movie Brings Back Larger-Than-Life Hollywood Memories

By JOAN HANAUER
UPI Television Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — The made-for-television movie has become as common as popcorn on the American entertainment scene — but very few of them are movies in the old larger-than-life Hollywood manner.

Then along comes a television film such as "The Memory of Eva Ryker" and it's like being back in the balcony with two candy bars watching beautiful people in glamorous settings living in the grand style complete with luxury and terror.

"Eva Ryker," which appears on CBS (Channel 6) from 8 to 11 p.m. tonight, stars Natalie Wood in the title role as the troubled daughter of fabulously wealthy Ralph Bellamy.

Miss Wood's Eva has spent years trying to get her psyche dried out after she and her mother were homeward bound aboard the Queen Anne, a luxury liner that was torpedoed by a U-boat in the opening days of World War II.

Robert Foxworth plays a cop who turned author after he panicked at the discovery of a corpse. Foxworth is investigating the sinking of the Queen Anne, while Bellamy is trying to salvage whatever can be brought up from the sunken ship.

Bradford Dillman, the blondly beautiful Morgan Fairchild, Jean-Pierre Aumont, Mel Ferrer and Roddy McDowall all help provide the very professional backing for the stars. So does that wonderful old retired lady, the Queen Mary, on which the flashback shots aboard the Queen Anne were shot.

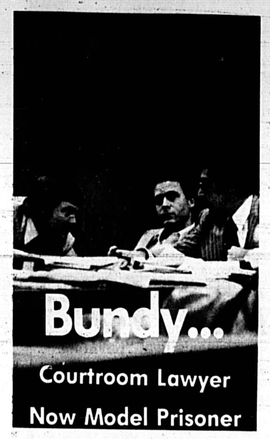
What secrets went down with the Queen Anne, and why are some very current murders being committed? It all hinges on Eva Ryker, who can't remember what happened aboard the ship on which her mother drowned. (Miss Wood also plays Mama Ryker in the flashbacks).

"The Memory of Eva Ryker" makes no pretensions of social significance. It just tells a good tale. The producer of the show is Irwin Allen, best known for his disaster films. This one is no disaster.

As almost invariably happens on television, one good show finds another in direct competition. "Eva Ryker" goes on the air at the same time the BBC production of Shakespeare's "The Tempest" appears on PBS (check local listings), in an impressive and magical rendition.

Michael Hordern makes a splendid Prospero, Ariel is blithe as a spirit could be, and I have to admit "The Tempest" is not my favorite Shakespearean drama.

What did ABC's Howard Cosell mean by calling Genuine Risk's Kentucky Derby time of 2:02 "disappointingly slow?" The lady was faster than Spectacular Bid last year.



Sometimes wild and almost always upset in the courtroom, sentenced killer Theodore Bundy (at center above) is now described as "polite and mature" by prison officials at Florida State Prison. Here's how the transformation took place...

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Once an obstreperous prisoner before trial, Theodore Bundy has become a model inmate of Death Row while awaiting the outcome of appeals on three murder convictions.

The latest Florida State Prison evaluation report on Bundy describes him as "polite and mature." It says he makes no demands, an about face from his behavior while in the Tallahassee jail awaiting trial for the strangulation of two Florida State University co-eds.

At that time, the 33-year-old former Utah law student demanded — and got — better lighting in his cell, almost unlimited telephone privileges, daily exercise, frequent meetings with his lawyers, law books and writing supplies delivered to his cell.

Bundy's court-appointed attorneys say it will be 1981 before the state Supreme Court hears Bundy appeals.

Bundy, who helped prepare his defense, was convicted at Miami in late July, 1979, for the Jan. 15, 1978 murder of the co-eds and given the death penalty. Seven months later, on Feb. 7, 1980, he drew a third death sentence for the February, 1978, kidnap-murder of Lake City schoolgirl Kimberly Diane Leach, 12.

He also is under indictment in Colorado for the slaying of a vacationing nurse from Michigan. Bundy, who has not completed a 15-year sentence in Utah for kidnapping a young girl, was a fugitive from the Colorado authorities when he arrived in Florida in 1978.

Tallahassee attorney Cliff L. Davis, who is working on the Tallahassee sorority house murder appeal, and Live Oak attorney Victor Africano, who is handling the Leach case, are still waiting for court reporters to finish transcribing the voluminous trial records.

Davis and Brian Hayes, Monticello, have until Oct. 10 to file their brief. The record is "knee-high," Davis said. The court had to extend for one month the April 10 deadline for the trial transcript to be ready.

"It could run 25,000 pages or more," Davis said

Africano said it will take six months for court reporters to transcribe the Leach trial transcript.

"It will be a year before we argue it before the court," he said.

And Bundy waits.

He has only one demerit on his Florida State Prison record — for refusing two orders to remove wall posters he hung in defiance of prison regulations. He argued he needed something to brighten his cell since he didn't have a television set. Authorities said he refused a tv when he arrived on Death Row Aug. 1, 1979.

A prison disciplinary committee took away his desserts and outside exercise privileges for 30 days.

Bundy is allowed regular visits from his "wife" Carole Boone, 32, who lives in Gainesville. They claim their marriage — in an unusual courtroom ceremony at the sentencing phase of the Leach trial — was legal and nobody has challenged it. The couple got a license and exchanged vows with a notary public, authorized to perform marriage ceremonies, present in the back of the courtroom.

He corresponds with his parents, who live in Washington State and haven't been back to Florida since the last trial.

Twice a week, he is allowed to play baseball and volleyball with his death row comrades in an outside yard, and he exercises daily in an inside area. He also can go out of his cell a couple of times a week to play cards and talk to other inmates.

He meets occasionally with Millard Farmer, controversial friend and attorney from Atlanta who is advising him on appeals to the state Supreme Court. His appeals to trial judges for new trials were rejected. "He must be satisfied," a prison spokesman said. "He doesn't complain or ask for anything."

Actress Glenda Jackson

Superstar Threatens To Drop Out

By GREGORY JENSEN

LONDON (UPI) — Two-time Academy Award winner Glenda Jackson is talking about her "disappearing act" again, so her current London stage appearance may be her last for some time.

Miss Jackson, surely the most independent superstar around, is threatening to drop out for a year. Meanwhile she's playing a dowdy primary schoolteacher in a sharp-edged new comedy called "Rose."

It's a flashy part so suited to Glenda Jackson she ought to be willing to play it forever.

For one thing, Rose is defiantly unglamorous, dressed in dumpy sweaters and sexless slips, virtually without makeup. That's how Glenda Jackson likes to look offstage.

"She was wearing her usual off-duty superstar's uniform," cracked a recent interviewer — "fawn baggy corduroy slacks, fawn wooly sweater and uncompromisingly fawn face."

For another, the title role in "Rose" is a gutsy, challenging part the kind Glenda Jackson says they don't write anymore.

"You get to a certain age and the parts aren't there," she says — she's 44, and characteristically wouldn't dream of concealing the fact. "There just isn't enough interesting work for women in the theater."

Yet in the past year alone, Glenda Jackson has played Shakespeare's Cleopatra for the Royal Shakespeare Company, starred in three Hollywood movies and now has the testing name part in a West End hit.

Rose is a witty, intelligent lady trapped in a mid-life rut. She is seldom off stage and narrates her own story directly to the audience — always the toughest acting technique to bring off. Her frustration is presented as comedy, which Miss Jackson says is always harder to play than tragedy.

But despite the play's satisfactions and success, Glenda Jackson plans to quit by September and take a year off to help her son adjust to his new bigger school.

She always has had a couldn't-care-less attitude to stardom, and has talked about quitting acting so often she makes wry jokes against herself about it. But this time she could mean it.

"Her spectacular success hasn't made acting easier, she says — quite the contrary. Instead of two or three weeks of stage fright she used to endure, she says she's nervous now before every performance, "even matinees."

"Rose," however, demonstrates the power which goes with fame. Playwright Andrew Davies was unknown outside television, and his script just dropped into her mailbox. But Glenda Jackson's wish to play it was enough to put a risky new play by an untried writer into the West End.

Bank Demonstrating Automated Teller

Flagship Bank of Seminole is holding demonstrations of the new Automated Teller JACK. The new Diebold Jack Machines may be viewed at the Central Office, 3000 Orlando Drive, Sanford, or at 1960 State Road 434 in Longwood through Friday.

Each participant in the demonstration will receive a free recipe file box, become eligible for other prizes by receiving a starred receipt, plus register for cash prizes to be given at the end of the week.

The demonstrations are open to everyone in Seminole County, and you need not be a Flagship customer to participate.

The installation of these two ATMs, with significant improvements in electronic funds transfer systems, is part of a statewide program implemented recently by Flagship Banks, Inc.

Carson Signs Contract

NEW YORK (UPI) — Johnny Carson has signed a new threeyear, multi-million contract with NBC which calls for him to appear on the air four hours a week, it was announced Tuesday.

The contract was signed Monday and made public at the RCA stockholders meeting by Edgar Griffiths, chairman of RCA, the parent company of NBC.

The "Tonight" show, under the new agreement, will come out in a new, one-hour edition from 11:30-12:30 p.m., Eastern time, starting in September, with Carson hosting at least four nights per week.

In Hollywood, Carson's attorney Henry Bushkin said television's richest performer will also be producing other specials for the network.

No money terms were made public, but Carson reportedly was earning upwards of $3 million a year under his old contract. The new NBC contract was signed after months of rumors that Carson was being wined, dined and wooed by ABC.

In addition to his four hours a week on "Tonight," Carson's new NBC contract also calls for him to develop new entertainment projects exclusively for NBC.

NBC will announce new programing to fill the 12:30-2 a.m. (E.T.) gap in its schedule at its affiliate meeting that opens May 18.

At the RCA stockholders meeting Griffiths also confirmed that NBC probably will not cover the Moscow Olympics because it now appears the U.S. team will not participate.

Griffiths told the stockholders NBC expects to recover through insurance 90 percent of the $70 million it has spent so far on the Olympic games, and will lose no more than $15 million after taxes in other Olympicrelated expenses.

Mustangs Blank Seminoles In Region 5 Championship

By SAM COOK
Herald Sports Writer

MERRITT ISLAND — Merritt Island's Lady Mustangs pulled off several key defensive gems in crucial situations Tuesday to turn back Seminole's Fighting Lady Seminoles 3-0 for the Regional Championship here at Kiwanis Island Park.

"That's the best game in the field I've ever seen," Mustang Coach Ron Taylor told his ecstatic girls in a postgame chat. MI has now won 29 of 31 games this year.

The Mustangs erred only once — shortstop Tracy Patterson played one sharp liner off her shin — as they turned away the Lady Tribe's three serious threats to score.

The first came in the fourth inning after the Mustangs had built a 2-0 lead on the strength of a two-out single by catcher Karen Twiss.

Left fielder Shari Patterson then followed with a line shot at Yourshaw which skipped past her allowing both Twiss and Patterson to score.

Down 2-0, the Tribe started its own rally in the bottom of the fourth. After Dee Dee Hogan lined out to short, Johnnie Bennett singled up the middle.

First sacker Robin Riggins followed with a base hit to right. The speedy Bennett headed for third only to find herself cut down by an excellent throw from right fielder Darlene Lemmon.

Dee Dee Reese then reached on the only Mustang error, but catcher Theresa Behrens grounded out to the pitcher to end the uprising.

Shortstop Patterson, however, promptly made up for her miscue an inning later to short circuit another Lady Seminole rally.

Gemma Nardello gave an omen of things to come when she made a spectacular, diving catch of Della Benton's sinking liner which led off the inning.

Yourshaw followed with her second straight hit, but Marcie Kona flew out to right center. Sherrie Bledsoe then lined a single over third for runners at first and second.

Liz Galm followed with a hard ground ball in the hole between short and third. T. Patterson though, ranged far to her right and nipped Yourshaw for a force out to end the inning.

"We've been doing those kind of things all year," an elated Taylor said about the Mustangs' defensive prowess. "It's that kind of defense which really turns a game around."

Merritt Island picked up an insurance run in the sixth inning when Wendy Hammack, Twiss and Shari Patterson all singled. Tracy Patterson followed with a sacrifice fly to left center to score Hammack.

Shari Patterson in one more nice running catch in the bottom of the sixth on a liner by Bennett, which Riggins followed with the last Seminole hit — a single.

"They're by far the best team we've played," said an impressed Tribe Coach Betty Turner following the game. "I guess lady luck wasn't shining on me today."

The Tribe managed eight singles off blonde-haired Heather Sarbry, but they couldn't string more than two together in an inning.

"They (Seminole) were hitting the ball hard," complimented the 5-11 Sarbry. "But our defense, I love it. They stopped about all of them."

Merritt Island got to sophomore Hogan for 10 hits, but the knuckle-balling right hander retired 11 of the first 12 hitters before the fourth inning breakthrough.

"These girls have been playing together since sophomores," informed Taylor about his veteran group. "I just hope we can go down to Miami and win the sectional and then come back and host the state tournament."

Dent's Homer Lifts Yanks

By United Press International

Dick Howser remembers Bucky Dent's "pop fly heard round the world" on that fateful day in October of 1978, when the New York Yankees defeated the Boston Red Sox in a playoff for the East Division crown.

This home run wasn't quite as monumental — it only gave New York its fourth straight victory, a 6-5 triumph over the Milwaukee Brewers — but Howser, the new skipper of the Yankees, has been quite pleased with Dent.

"He's hitting pretty well," Howser said of Dent. "He's hitting the ball like he was a couple of years ago. He's stronger and he's quicker. He dedicated himself during the winter."

Dent's solo homer with one out in the ninth off loser Reggie Cleveland, 1-1, helped reliever Rudy May, who pitched the final 1 1-3 innings, get his first victory Tuesday night. Reggie Jackson hit his seventh season homer in the second inning and Bob Watson added his second homer of the year in the third.

"I feel Howser has more confidence in me and won't take me out of a game in the late innings for more offense," said Dent. "It takes a lot of pressure off me."

In other AL games, Baltimore routed Minnesota, 10-3, Chicago stopped Kansas City, 2-0, Texas downed Boston, 7-2, Toronto edged California, 3-2, Cleveland nipped Oakland, 4-3, and Detroit defeated Seattle, 9-5.

In the National League, it was Houston 8, Montreal 4; San Diego 4, Chicago 0; Philadelphia 10, Atlanta 5; Pittsburgh 2, Los Angeles 1; Cincinnati 12, New York 10 in 14 innings and St. Louis 10, San Francisco 7.

Orioles 10, Twins 3

Benny Ayala slugged a two-run homer and Doug DeCinces doubled across a pair of runs during a seven-run second inning for Baltimore.

White Sox 2, Royals 0

Rangers 7, Red Sox 2

Doc Medich tossed a six-hitter and won his eighth straight game over Boston dating back to August of 1974.

Blue Jays 3, Angels 2

Pinch-hitter Roy Howell belted a two-run homer with two out in the seventh inning to lead Toronto to its fourth straight triumph.

Indians 4, A's 3

Ron Hassey and Gary Alexander hit run-scoring singles to snap a 1-1 tie in the eighth inning and Len Barker pitched a seven-hitter to help Cleveland end a four-game losing streak.

Tigers 9, Mariners 5

Champ Summers, the American League's leading hitter, had three hits and drove in two runs and Jason Thompson knocked in three runs with a pair of doubles to lead Detroit.

Reds Outlast Mets 12-10

By United Press International

They staged an old-fashioned marathon at Shea Stadium Tuesday night.

In a game that took four hours and 37 minutes, the Cincinnati Reds beat the New York Mets, 12-10, in 14 innings, and the game-winning hit was a blooper.

Pinch-hitter Harry Spilman blooped a two-run double to right field in the 14th inning for the game-winning blow off reliever Jeff Reardon — the last of 21 hits for the Reds in the game. The Mets had 19 hits as the two clubs used 39 players.

"I know what my job is on this team and I accept that fact," said Spilman. "I was just sitting there waiting for something to happen. I was lucky enough to get enough of the ball. It was a fastball that broke my bat. Give them (the Mets) credit. They just kept battling back."

The Mets fell behind, 7-0, early in the game but scored three runs in the eighth to send the game into extra innings.

"I'm happy we won it. I'm very happy we were able to come back and win. We were fortunate that Spilman's ball fell in," said Reds' Manager John McNamara.

"It was a good game. It's just a shame we lost," said the Mets' Joel Youngblood, who had four hits including a two-run homer. "Somebody had to win or the sun was going to come up."

Elsewhere in the National League, San Diego blanked Chicago, 4-0, Pittsburgh beat Los Angeles, 2-1, Philadelphia whipped Atlanta, 10-5, St. Louis defeated San Francisco, 10-7, and Houston downed Montreal, 8-4.

In American League games, New York edged Baltimore, 6-5, Texas downed Boston, 7-2, Chicago blanked Kansas City, 2-0, Baltimore walloped Minnesota, 10-3, Toronto nipped California, 3-2, Cleveland topped Oakland, 4-3, and Detroit defeated Seattle, 9-5.

Padres 4, Cubs 0

Randy Jones tossed a five-hitter and Bill Fahey drove in two runs with a single and a bases-filled walk to lead the Padres.

Pirates 2, Dodgers 1

Phil Garner bounced a baseloaded single over a drawn-in infield with none out in the ninth inning to score Bill Robinson with the winning run.

Phillies 10, Braves 5

Mike Schmidt drove in four runs with a double and a triple and Pete Rose slammed a pair of doubles to lead the Phillies to a comeback victory.

Cardinals 10, Giants 7

Ken Reitz and pitcher Donnie Moore delivered two-run doubles to highlight a six-run fifth inning that carried the Cardinals to victory.

Astros 8, Expos 4

Jose Cruz drove in four runs and Joe Niekro tossed a sevenhitter to lead the Astros to victory over the Expos in a game delayed by rain for 3 hours and 50 minutes.

Martin's Magic Works On A's

Sports Parade

By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Charlie Finley has hired 18 managers in 20 years, a few twice, and he finally has one now who suits him perfectly.

So far.

With his Oakland A's astonishing everybody by leading the American League West and playing better than .600 ball, Finley says Billy Martin is doing "a beautiful job."

"He manages the way I like to see a manager manage — aggressively. Very aggressively," Finley says. "This team has stolen home three times already. In the 12 previous years the A's have been in Oakland, they stole home only four times. Billy has every one of our young ballplayers believing in himself 100 per cent. Several of them have told me what a joy it is to be playing under the leadership of Billy Martin. Ballplayers, especially young ones, want to be led and Billy is a natural leader."

When Martin signed to manage the A's last February, much was made of the fact that Finley was constantly on the phone with his previous managers and there was general speculation over how much "interference" Martin would tolerate before he and Finley would clash. Finley hasn't bothered Martin, however. There have been no arguments between them, no headlinemaking blow-ups.

"We talk whenever we have something to discuss," says Finley. "We've had no disagreements. He's most cooperative and understanding with me."

Regarding the "interference" he has been accused of with some his past managers, Finley has this to say:

"If I 'interfere,' it must pay dividends because no other club has won five consecutive divisional championships and no other club has won three consecutive world championships since I've been in baseball. But why do I have to blow my own horn? It's all right there in the record books. I don't think I interfere at all. But if I do, it's my prerogative, and anything that's my prerogative is not 'interference.'"

"A lot of people stop me on the street and tell me I made the right move in hiring Billy Martin," Finley says. "All I can say is I'm very proud and happy with the job he's doing and he and I have a beautiful relationship. He certainly has been working extremely hard with those youngsters."

The A's present climb in the standings, where they finished seventh last year, has been mirrored by their showing at the gate. Through their first 14 home games this season, they have drawn 119,388. Last year, it took them 28 home dates to reach the 100,000-mark and they wound up playing before only 306,763 the entire season.

"The fans are not only coming out to see a hustling young ball club (averaging 23 years old), but Billy Martin, too," says Finley.

Martin is a lot more relaxed with the A's than he was managing the Yankees. There isn't nearly as much pressure on him and it shows with his being a lot calmer and not snapping at people. The players are all breaking their necks for him and that shows also.

At the time he signed with the A's, Martin promised they would win and he likes to remind people how everyone said he was "crazy" then. He has the A's playing well and winning now and sees no reason why they can't continue doing the same thing all season.

Back in February, Finley said he felt his team would be "competitive." Now he says the A's could surprise by going all the way.

"I'd be ecstatic if that happened," he admits.

Despite the club's success, Finley says it's still for sale.

Martin doesn't concern himself with things like that. All he's concentrating on is showing everybody what he's capable of doing with a ball club.

Upon agreeing to terms last February, Martin concluded his conversation with Finley by telling him exactly what kind of manager he could expect.

"You'll never find a manager who'll work any harder for you, work with you more or be more loyal than I will," he told the A's owner.

Charlie Finley says Billy Martin has kept his word on all counts.

Summer Boycott Update

U.S. Athletes Take Legal Action

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government lawyers have asked a federal judge to reject a suit by 18 athletes who are seeking to block the U.S. Olympic Committee from boycotting the Summer Games in Moscow.

Acting Secretary of State Warren Christopher said a court order setting aside the USOC's April 12 boycott resolution "would cripple our efforts to encourage other nations and national Olympic committees not to compete in Moscow."

In a court affidavit filed Tuesday, Christopher said a ruling blocking the boycott would "seriously harm" U.S. foreign policy. He called the USOC stand "the most effective single means of conveying international condemnation of the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan."

The Justice Department filed a friend-of-the-court brief in a suit filed April 23 by 18 athletes, a coach and an amateur sports official. The suit contends the USOC had no authority under the Amateur Sports Act to prevent U.S. participation in the games.

U.S. District Judge John Pratt has scheduled a hearing on their suit, which seeks to become a class action for an estimated 2,000 athletes, for next Tuesday.

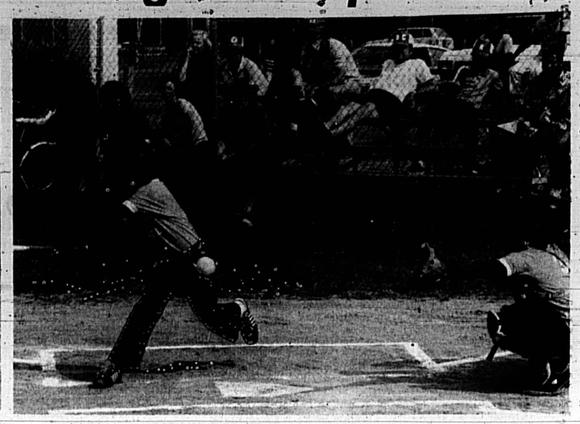
"Justice Department lawyers argued the Amateur Sports Act dealt primarily with resolving disputes between various amateur sports groups, not with the issue of U.S. team participation in the Olympics.

In addition, the Justice Department argued, the athletes' constitutional rights "to liberty, to self-expression, to travel" were not violated, because the boycott was approved by the USOC, not the government.

Defending Champ Adcock Roofing Wins Opener

GOTCHA

Catcher Sammy Edwards of Clem Leonard Shell is all business as he puts the tag on Seminole Sporting Goods' Eddie Adams trying to score at the plate. Edwards and his Shell teammates came up with a 17-6 win over Seminole Sporting Goods Tuesday in opening day action of the Sanford Pee Wee League.



STRIKE ONE

Clem Leonard Shell batter Eddie Charles takes a healthy cut but misses in Tuesday's opening day action of the Sanford Pee Wee League. Catcher Troy Rollins and his Seminole Sporting Goods' teammates came out on the short end of a 17-6 loss however.

Defending champ Adcock Roofing opened the 1980 Sanford Pee Wee League season with a victory Tuesday, dumping Westside Merchants 13-5.

In other opening day games, Clem Leonard Shell blasted Seminole Sporting Goods 17-6, while Ken Kern's Garage slipped by Butch's Chevron 10-7.

Adcock Roofing broke a 1-1 tie with five runs in the top of the second and then put the game away with a six-run fourth inning. Hubert Williams keyed the fourth inning attack with an inside-the-park grand slam home run.

Arthur Bradford also had a home run in the game for Adcock Roofing and Tim Graham added a triple. Burnett Washington, Chris Lassiter and Jay Adcock added singles.

Graham and Washington combined to pitch a no-hitter for the winners. Graham pitched the first three innings and fanned nine, although he walked four and hit two batters.

Clem Leonard Shell pounded 10 hits in the win over Seminole Sporting Goods, backing the one-hit pitching of Michael Merthie and Eddie Charles. Merthie pitched the first three innings, didn't allow a hit and struck out eight. Charles hurled the fourth inning, giving up one hit and striking out three.

Merthie also led his team at the plate with a double and single, while Jimmy Murphy and Sammy Edwards each had two singles and two RBIs. Bill Shaw and David Wright smashed triples, while Danny Lawrence and Charles each hit singles.

Jeff Blake had the only hit for Seminole Sporting Goods, a single.

After falling behind 4-1, Butch's Chevron battled back to tie the score at 4-4 with three runs in the top of the third. Ken Kern's Garage then scored a half-dozen runs in its half of the third and held Butch's Chevron to three runs in the top of the fourth.

Raymond Williams and Bernard Mitchell shared the pitching chores for the winners.

Mitchell led his team with an inside-the-park home run, while Permo Williams, Steve Dickenson and Adam Campbell each contributed singles.

Jerry Harkness slapped a double for Butch's Chevron and Bryan Barks added a single.

Little National Roundup

Clem Leonard Shades Sunniland

Clem Leonard Shell survived a 10-inning clash with Sunniland Corporation Tuesday, winning 10-9 to put the two teams in a tie for second place.

But in the process, the Railroaders defeated First Federal 11-4 and stretched their lead to three full games.

In Tuesday's other game, Cardinal Industries snapped a 10-game losing streak and posted its first win of the season, 17-12 over Poppa Jay's.

Clem Leonard Shell enjoyed a 5-2 lead going into the last inning of regulation play. But Sunniland Corporation pushed four runs across the plate in the top of the sixth to take the lead for the first time, 6-5. A triple by Dee Johnson and a double by David Reed were the key hits for Sunniland Corporation in the sixth.

Clem Leonard Shell opened the bottom of the sixth with four consecutive singles, but managed to push only one run across the plate, tying the score and sending the game into extra innings.

Both teams scored a single run in the eighth inning and both scored two runs in the ninth. Both teams stranded two runners in the eighth and left the bases loaded in the ninth.

David Daniels drew a walk to lead off the bottom of the 10th for Clem Leonard Shell and Leonard Lucas stroked a triple to win the game.

Lucas was the winning pitcher, hurling the final frame.

Richard Leonard, who pitched the first three innings for Clem Leonard Shell, was the offensive star of the game, cracking four hits in five trips to the plate. One of the hits was a triple.

Willie Brown, who relieved Leonard on the mound and pitched six innings, and Terrance Liggons both slapped a pair of singles. Alford Ayers had a double.

Donald Grayson pitched a one-hitter and struck out 14 to lead the Railroaders to their 10th win in 11 outings.

The Railroaders scored in every inning but the last as Albert Armstrong led a 13-hit attack with a triple, double and two singles. J. D. Paul smashed a double and two singles, while Grayson blasted a home run and a single. Herbert Dixon slapped a pair of singles. Terrance Carr hit a double.

Kirk Blocker had the only hit for First Federal, a single. Cardinal Industries scored seven runs in each of the first two innings and then held off a late charge by Poppa Jay's.

Darrel Wooden was the winning pitcher, with relief from Roosevelt Gaines.

Chuck Frison led Cardinal Industries at the plate with a pair of doubles and Tim Webb added a double and single.

Larry Lemon and Steward Gordon each smashed a home run and a double for the only Poppa Jay's hits.

Sanford Recreation Now Taking Summer Program Registrations

The Sanford Recreation Department is now taking registrations for the Summer program. You may register at any one of three locations: City Hall, the Youth Wing of the Civic Center located on the corner of Sanford Avenue and Seminole Blvd., or at the Westside center located at 919 Persimmon Avenue.

PLAYGROUND WILL BEGIN JUNE 9, and run through July 25. Both centers, Westside and the Civic Center will be open from 8:30-11:30 a.m. There will be special daily programs such as Hobo Day, Frisbee and Hula Hoop Trials, Basketball, Watermelon day, Shaving and Whistling contest, in addition there will be other such activities as jumprops, coloring, puzzles and quiet table games. Playground is for boys and girls ages 6-12.

BASKETBALL TRIALS WILL BE HELD ON Monday mornings at Ft. Mellon basketball courts and the Westside courts, starting June 16, at 9:30 a.m. Boys and girls ages 9-14 are eligible. Participants will shoot baskets from five spots marked on the court within a one minute time limit. It tests a youngster's speed, shooting, dribbling and rebound ability.

ARTS & CRAFTS classes will be held on Tuesday and Thursday at the Civic Center location and on Mondays at the Westside center. Classes will meet from 1:30-2:30 p.m. starting June 9. Students may be between the ages of 6 and 12. Classes at the Westside Center will be limited to 20 and Classes at the Civic Center will be limited to 15. There will be a $3.00 material fee.

CHILDREN'S TENNIS LESSONS for beginners ages 9-14, will start June 11, and run through July 24. Classes will be held at Ft. Mellon Tennis courts. Students will be divided into two age groups; 9-11 year olds will meet on Tuesdays. There will be three sessions, 9:00, 10:00 and 11:00 a.m.; 12-14 year olds will meet on Thursdays. There will be three sessions 9:00, 10:00, and 11:00 a.m. Each session will be limited to 10 students per session. Students will need to furnish their own racket and three balls. There will be a $7.00 instruction fee for the seven week course.

SUMMER CERAMICS for teens in the 8th grade and above will be held at the Cultural Arts building located on the corner of 5th and Oak Avenues. Classes will be held on Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, starting June 10 through July 24.

NBA Title Series

Jabbar, Doctor J Ready For Game Two

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar compared himself to a watch and Julius Erving said he'd revert to schoolyard basketball if necessary as the Los Angeles Lakers and Philadelphia 76ers square off tonight in the second game of the NBA championship series.

The game is scheduled for 11:30 p.m. EDT with the third and fourth games in Philadelphia Saturday and Sunday.

Abdul-Jabbar scored 33 points, grabbed 14 rebounds and blocked 6 shots in Sunday's series' opener to lead Los Angeles to a 109-102 victory. And it appeared the 76ers abandoned any hopes of shutting off the Lakers' 7-foot-2 center.

"He's going to get his 30 points no matter what we do," Philadelphia's 7-foot forward Caldwell Jones said Tuesday. "I honestly think we don't have the ability to prevent it."

In addition to his standout offensive performance, AbdulJabbar held Philadelphia's 6-11, 265-pound center Darryl Dawkins to 12 points and 3 rebounds in the first game.

Abdul-Jabbar, 30 pounds lighter than the massive Dawkins, said he doesn't care who is assigned to him.

"Darryl plays more physically and bumps and bangs a lot more, and Caldwell uses finesse. But both of them are physical. All the centers I play against use strength against me."

Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham said while he doesn't expect anyone to stop Abdul-Jabbar, and "he'll probably get his 30," he wants the Los Angeles center to have to fight for his points.

"But you can't devote all your efforts to stopping him," Cunningham said, "because the other four guys can really hurt you. (Norm) Nixon, (Jamaal) Wilkes and Magic (Johnson) are real threats to score. And Abdul-Jabbar is such a fine passer, he'll find them if we leave them open."

The other key to the second game will be the 76ers' ability to spring Erving into his patented high-flying game. In the first game, Wilkes and Michael Cooper stuck to Dr. J, holding him to just 9 points through the first three quarters and 20 for the game.

Not only did Wilkes and Cooper keep Erving under his scoring average, they shut off his passing game — in effect shutting down the 76ers' offense.

But Erving said that wasn't the reason for Philadelphia's loss.

Said the Doctor, "I don't remember one game this season when I wasn't doubleteamed. The idea is that when I'm double-teamed, someone is open. I just didn't find the open man enough Sunday."

"Our problem Sunday was defense. We expected to hold the Lakers under 100 points and we didn't. If it looks as though that's the case again Wednesday, we'll have to upscale our offensive attack."

Longwood Class A And B Roundups

Longwood Softball Action Continues To Roll

Last Thursday night, May 1, the first game between SNAFU and the Players was a good one. After one inning of play, SNAFU was leading 5-3, but by the end of the 2nd inning, the score was tied up 7-7.

The Players held SNAFU scoreless in the 3rd and then brought in one run of their own. The 4th inning SNAFU scored 1 run but the Players had a big rally bringing in 5 runs to bring their lead to 13-8.

The Players again held SNAFU to no runs in the 5th, while scoring 2. SNAFU then came back in the 6th inning scoring 2 runs, and this time they held the Players scoreless making the score 15-10. In the top of the 7th, SNAFU came to bat needing 6 runs to win, but couldn't produce any runs, and the Players won the game by a final score of 15-10. Leading batters for SNAFU were Rick Napierato 3 for 4, and David Lacinak, 2 for 4. Leading the way for the Players were Roy Robinson and Richard Prieser, both 2 for 4.

The second game pitted Exec. Consultants against David M. Co. in a short 5 innings. David M. Co. was unable to score until the bottom of the 5th inning, bringing in 3 runs, but it wasn't enough as Exec. Consultants had already accumulated 20 runs. Final score Exec. Consultants 20, David M. Co. 3 in 5 innings.

Leading batters for the game were from Exec. Consultants with Mike Newsome going 4 for 4, Daryl Pruitt and Paul Urshan both 3 for 4, and Don McKeel and LeRoy Cates both 2 for 4. Mike Newsome also had 2 home runs over the fence for the night.

The last game of the night was the most exciting and closest game so far this season between G.O.H. Inc. and the Confederates. G.O.H. Inc. jumped off to an early 1st inning 7-2 lead, but the Confederates bounced back in the 2nd inning scoring 7 runs and trailing by 1 run 8-7. The Confederates then held G.O.H. Inc. scoreless while bringing in 4 runs to take over the lead 11-8 in the 3rd inning. G.O.H. Inc. added 4 more runs in the 4th inning as the Confederates added 3 to the board to bring the score to 14-12, in favor of the Confederates. After no one scoring in the 5th inning, G.O.H. Inc. brought in a big 4 runs in the 6th and held the Confederates to only 1, to take the lead for a slim 18-15 margin. G.O.H. Inc. came to bat in the top of the 7th and brought in 3 more runs for insurance. The Confederates came to bat for the last time knowing they needed 5 runs to win, but couldn't produce a one. Final score G.O.H. Inc. 19, Confederates 15. Leading batters for the Confederates were Rich Dibartolomeo 4 for 4 and 2 home runs, Jim Ogden 3 for 3, and Mickey Kremer 3 for 5. Home runs for G.O.H. Inc. were by Jasper McDowell with 2; Jimmie Williams, Jim Moses, and Jim Pridemore all with 1 apiece.

MEN'S CLASS "B"

In the first game Friday night, May 2, BayCon General took on Calvary Baptist in an exciting contest. BayCon General lead 2-0 after 1 inning of play then increased their lead to 8-2 by the end of 2 complete innings. Calvary Baptist then held BayCon scoreless in the top of the 3rd while bringing in two runs of their own, and then they held them scoreless again in the 4th and brought in another run, but still trailing 8-5. BayCon General went another inning, in the 5th, without scoring but held Calvary to just 2 runs and held their lead 8-7. BayCon finally brought in 3 more runs in the top of the 6th inning, but so did Calvary Baptist with a big 6 run rally, and to take the lead from BayCon 13-11, for the first time. BayCon General came to bat one last time, but couldn't muster up any runs and lost a close and tough game. Final score Calvary Baptist 13, BayCon General 11. Leading batters for Bay Con General were Rick Alexander and Mike Lungford both 3 for 4 and Larry Perry and Wayne Hall 2 for 4. Rich Alexander also had a home run for the night. Leading the way for Calvary Baptist Skip Pletzer 2 for 2, Art Mitchell 3 for 4, and Jerry Sapp and Jim Stewart, both 2 for 4.

The second game pitted Longwood Travelers against Sanford Jaycees in a close game until the 7th inning. After being tied up at 2-2 in the 1st inning, and 6-6 in the 2nd, Longwood Travelers pulled ahead 8-6 by the end of 3 innings. Sanford Jaycees then held Travelers scoreless and brought in 1 run in the 4th and then they both scored 1 each in the 5th inning to bring the score to 9-8 in favor of Longwood Travelers. In the 6th inning the Travelers increased their lead to 11-8, before opening up in the top of the 7th with a big 13 run rally. Sanford Jaycees had their work cut out for them, and started a rally also, but only brought in 4 runs. Final score Longwood Travelers 24, Sanford Jaycees 11. Leading batters for the Jaycees were Gene Peltz and Mike Syrulinski 3 for 4, and Melvin Knight 3 for 5. Home runs for team were by Jim Ditterline with 2 and Gene Peltz with 1. Leading batters for the Travelers were Don Birle and Steve Borghesi both 4 for 5, and D.R. Birle 3 for 5. Steve Reed had a home run for the night.

The Honchos jumped to an early 3-0 lead in the last game against the Uglys. The Uglys then took the lead 4-3 after 2 innings, and increased it even more to 12-6 by the end of 3 innings. After no score in the 4th, the Honchos scored 1 in the 5th and held the Uglys. The Honchos scored 2 more in the 6th, but then the Honchos took off on a 8 run rally, and the Honchos couldn't catch up in the 7th. Final score Uglys 20, Honchos 9. Leading batters for the Honchos were Denny Boggs, Ron Webb, and Frank Grajeda, all 2 for 3, with Frank Grajeda also having a home run for the night. Leading the way for the Uglys were Joe Liakos and George Haralso, both 3 for 5. Mike Vaughn also had a home run for his team.

Mice Stay Undefeated

Angelo's Casselberry "Mice" continued undefeated and tied for first place in the Altamonte Womens Softball League as they topped the Rainbows, 19-4. This put Angelo's at 4-0 in league play and 9-2 overall, both losses coming in tournament play in Clearwater the previous weekend.

Sheila Dixon and Renea Dicarlo shared the pitching duties against the Rainbows, allowing three hits between them. Lisa Talasko batted in five runs with a triple and single for the Mice. She had lots of help on offense from Suzanne Young who went 4 for 4, scoring 3 times, Michelle Kuhrt with 3 hits including a pair of doubles, Dixon with a 3 for 3

Cycle Damaged By Police, Not Accident, Experts Say

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Edward Whittaker clutched his pocket magnifying glass and carefully examined the motorcycle Arthur McDuffie was riding the night he was fatally beaten in Miami.

Sometimes squatting, sometimes kneeling, sometimes on his hands and knees and once even lying flat on his back on the courtroom floor, Whitlaker testified Tuesday most of the damage he found on the motorcyle was not consistent with that encountered in a moving accident.

Dr. William Fogarty agreed with Whittaker's assessment and was more definite.

"The motorcycle was not involved in a moving type accident," Fogarty told the jury.

Whittaker, head of the Dade County Public Safety Department crime lab, and Fogarty, a University of Miami professor and accident reconstruction specialist, testified at the trial of five white former Dade County policemen charged with the Dec. 17 beating of the 33-year-old black insurance man and with an alleged attempt to cover the beating up as an accident.

Fogarty told the jurors the needle on the broken tachometer was stuck in a position which indicated the motorcycle engine was either in a very slow or stopped position when it was damaged.

He went on to detail nine areas of damage he attributed to nightsticks or heavy flashlights and one area where he said the damage could have been inflicted when a car drove up over the motorcycle.

The state contends McDuffie was pulled from his motorcycle after he stopped at the end of a high speed chase, was severely beaten and his motorcycle damaged by nightsticks, flashlights and a patrol car. McDuffie died four days later.

The defense contends McDuffie was beaten when he violently resisted arrest after wrecking his motorcycle.

On trial are Alex Marrero, charged with second degree murder and manslaughter; Ira Diggs and Michael Watts, each charged with manslaughter; and Herbert Evans Jr. and Ed Del Toro, each charged with being accessories after the fact.

Whittaker and Fogarty both testified the damage to McDuffie's clothing also was too minor to have occurred in a motorcycle accident and Whittaker said his investigation of the area of the incident showed no signs of such an accident having occurred.

Whittaker said some scrapes on McDuffie's motorcycle helmet could have been caused by having hit or skidded along the road but said one particular dent, almost undetectable at a casual glance, appeared to have been made by a blow from a heavy flashlight. He said one large dent on the gas tank of the motorcycle also was made by a nightstick.

Whittaker also said a piece of chin strap found at the scene had been cut from McDuffie's helmet.

"Undoubtedly the strap came from the helmet," Whittaker said. "The strap was cut from the helmet."

"You are excluding the possibility the strap was pulled out?" he was asked.

"Absolutely," Whittaker said.

New Jupiter Moon Sighted, But Program Falters

BALTIMORE (UPI) — America's planetary probes have produced another discovery — a 15th moon revolving around Jupiter — but a project leader says the future is bleak for the nation's continued exploration of the solar system.

The new satellite was detected by scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena, Calif., while examining Jupiter pictures to confirm the existence of another moon detected earlier by the Voyager 1 spacecraft. Voyager 1 and a twin probe radioed back thousands of spectacular photos of Jupiter and its four largest moons last year. The robots now are headed toward picture-taking flights past Saturn; the first one in November and the other due there in August 1981.

"We are at the height of a remarkable period," Dr. Bruce Murray, director of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory, said Tuesday after the space agency reported the new moon discovery. "But the process will shortly end."

Murray, whose center has directed American lunar and planetary missions for two decades, told the annual meeting of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics there is only one additional planetary project in the works. That is a program called Galileo to send a television satellite in 1986 into orbit around Jupiter and a probe into its dense, colorful atmosphere.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration, which supports the laboratory, has been restrained by the federal budget squeeze from seeking funds to initiate new projects to explore the solar system. Many ambitious plans such as further Mars exploration have been abandoned.

The new Jupiter moon, discovered by Dr. Stephen P. Synnott, is estimated to be 13 to 50 miles in diameter. It orbits Jupiter every 16 hours, 16 minutes at a distance of 93,900 miles above the planet's cloud top.

In examining Voyager photos to confirm the existence of the 15th moon, Synnott noticed a shadow crossing Jupiter's clouds where no shadow should have been. He calculated the orbit of the new satellite and confirmed its existence in seven other images.

Synnott also confirmed the 14th moon, first detected last October.

Murray, a planetary geologist, said the United States has received pictures from spacecraft exploring Earth's moon and beyond in every year since 1963.

"Now we're looking into a time, following the passage by Saturn of the second Voyager spacecraft, when it will be almost five years before any other U.S. picture-taking enterprise of exploring the planets will transpire.

"This planetary data gap, or blackout, is very serious," Murray said in an interview.

"We must renew ourselves," he said. "We must make some new commitments or the enterprise will falter and perhaps fatally so."

MR. AND MRS. JAMES ANTHONY MURPHY

Andrea Miller, James Murphy Exchange Vows

Andrea Kay Miller and James Anthony Murphy were married April 25, in the Altamonte Community Chapel, Altamonte Springs. Rev. Wayne Smith performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Miller, 1908 Winnebago Trail, Fern Park. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Theresa Fieldhouse, Hawthorne, N.J., and the late Mr. James Murphy.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose for her vows a gown of white organdy and lace of Queen Anne design. Her hat was made of lace and she carried a bouquet of daisies, miniature mums and yellow rosebuds.

Lori Miller was the bride's maid of honor. She wore a gown of light aqua blue and carried a nosegay similar to the bride's.

Bill Hires served the bridegroom as best man.

Following a wedding trip to St. Augustine, the newlyweds will make their home in Altamonte Springs.

The bride is a certified dental assistant and is currently employed in the office of Dr. Alan B. Kingston, Bramley Square, Altamonte Springs. Murphy is with the Edward J. DeBartolo Corporation, as security manager of the Altamonte Mall.

UDC Places 62 Flags On Graves

Mrs. M. R. Strickland and Mrs. W. B. Kirby were co-hostesses with Mrs. F. E. Roumillat to the recent meeting of the Norman deVere Howard Chapter of the United Daughter of the Confederacy held at Mrs. Roumillat's home.

In observance of Southern Memorial Day, the chapter conducted a "Magnolia Tree Planting" honoring Sanford Mayor Lee P. Moore, whose mother, Mrs. Lola Taylor is a chapter member.

Mrs. Kirby announced 62 flags had been placed on veterans graves in Sanford and Oviedo.

President Mrs. L. D. Hastings conducted the business meeting.

Officers who were elected will be installed at the May meeting, a covered dish event to be held at the home of Mrs. Allie Steenworth.

Cook Of The Week

She's Finalist In National Contest

By TOM NETSEL
Herald Staff Writer

A Seminole County woman was selected as one of the 50 semi-finalists in a national school food-service recipe contest.

Marge Wright, the lunchroom manager at English Estates Elementary School in Fern Park, was the state winner in the contest sponsored by the Florida Department of Citrus.

The national contest was open to school lunchroom employees and asked for recipes that were judged on flavor, originality, practicality and student acceptiveness.

Mrs. Wright, an 11-year veteran at English Estates, won $50 and the right to compete against other state winners later this month at Walt Disney World. Her winning entry was Tangerine Flare Up.

Made with a tangerine stuffed with sugar coated marshmallows, raisins or peanuts, with a fruit juice topping, the dessert requires no cooking — important to energy conscious schools — and was judged "very tasty and flavorful."

Mrs Wright lives on Wolf's Trail in Casselberry with her husband and two daughters, Rhonda and Maureen.

"They're both good cooks," Mrs. Wright said.

"I've been cooking since I was a mere kid," she said.

"My mother let me go into the kitchen and cook anything I wanted because I loved cooking." When Mrs. Wright was 11-years-old, she said she cooked an entire Christmas dinner for 16 people.

Winning a trip to Disney World is not too exciting for Mrs. Wright since she has been "about a dozen times," and she jokingly wondered if the judges would let her trade it for a trip to her native New Jersey so she could visit relatives.

TANGERINE FLARE UP

Peel tangerine and flare it out. Fill with cinnamon and sugar coated raisins and mini-marshmallows. Peanut granules or cherries may be substituted if desired. Finish by adding a spoonful of topping. Topping is made by beating 2 egg whites with 2 cups pineapple juice and 2 cups sugar. This makes enough for about 50 servings. Quantities may be reduced for home use.

STUFFED MUSHROOMS
Fresh mushrooms
Italian breadcrumbs
Melted butter

Wash mushrooms well and remove stems. Finely chop stems and mix well with bread crumbs and melted butter. Fill mushroom caps with mixture and bake for 45 minutes in 350 degree oven.

Lunchroom manager Marge Wright specializes in food.

AMERICAN CHOP SUEY

1½ lbs. ground beef, pork or veal
2 onions, chopped
2 cups cooked rice
8 oz. box of cooked sea shells
1 can peas
3 cans tomatoes
1 lb. fresh mushrooms
Brown meat and onions.

ITALIAN TOMATO AND ONION CASSEROLE

Canned tomatoes
Onion slices
Italian bread crumbs
Pats of butter

In a square baking pan or casserole, place a layer of tomatoes topped with a layer of sliced onions. Sprinkle with bread crumbs topped with a few pats of butter. Make two or more layers and bake for one hour in a 325 degree oven.

FUNNEL CAKE

4 cups milk
4 eggs
½ tsp. soda, dissolved in a little lukewarm water
2 tbsp. sugar
4 cups flour, sifted
¼ tsp. salt

Mix all ingredients well. Slowly pour small amount of batter through funnel into hot deep fat. It becomes quite an art as you start to fry them because all sorts of shapes may be achieved by giving twists and turns to the funnel. Brown on both sides and serve at once sprinkled with powdered sugar.

BARBECUE SAUCE

Catsup, (No. 10 oz. can)
Brown sugar, large scoop
1 cup Worcestershire Sauce
3 cups vinegar
2 cups minced onions
1 cup oil

Mix well and cook over low heat for one hour.

CROWNING GLORY

Mandarin oranges (11 oz. can)
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
½ cup water
2 cups miniature marshmallows
1 pint softened orange sherbet cream
1 loaf (11½ oz.) angel food cake, cubed

Drain orange sections reserving liquid. Soften gelatin in water and add orange liquid. Stir over low heat until gelatin has dissolved. Add marshmallows and stir until melted. Remove from heat and add sherbet, stirring until melted. Chill until slightly thickened. Mix well and fold in whipped cream, cake cubes and orange sections. Chill until firm.

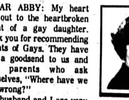
Organization Recommended To Other Parents Of Gays



Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My heart goes out to the heartbroken parent of a gay daughter. Thank you for recommending Parents of Gays. They have been a goodsend to us and other parents who ask themselves, "Where have we gone wrong?"

My husband and I are very grateful that our gay daughter has found a warm and stable relationship with a person she loves and who loves her.

Her roommate is as welcome and accepted into our family as the man who married our other daughter. Because being gay has caused our daughter so much pain, I will be the first to admit I wish she were not gay, just as I wish my hair wasn't curly and my husband didn't smoke. But there are things I cannot change, so I have learned to live with them.

I hope the parents of that gay daughter will accept her and the girl she loves, and get on with living the rest of their lives.

CONTENT PARENT

DEAR PARENT: Curly hair can be straightened and your husband can quit smoking if he really wants to, but in my opinion, the fundamental cause of homosexuality is biological — either genetic or hormonal. Otherwise, how can one account for the fact that homosexuals have brothers and sisters who are straight though raised in the same environment? However, it is possible for psychological factors to influence one's natural sexual preference after birth.

DEAR ABBY: I recently met a European-born gentleman (Hungarian) who, upon greeting a woman, always gently kisses her hand. I think this is a lovely gesture. Can you tell me where the custom of kissing a lady's hand originated, and the reason for it?

ANNETTE IN BURLINGAME

DEAR ANNETTE: It originated in France. And although there is nothing in literature explaining the reason for it, I suppose a man has to start somewhere.

DEAR ABBY: The other day you had a letter in your column from a woman who signed PRETTY FEET. She said her husband was crazy about her feet and was really turned on by them. She wanted to know if maybe he was some kind of "nut."

You told her that he was no nut; he had a foot fetish, and it was nothing to worry about.

Well, Abby, you'll never know how much that explanation meant to me. You see, ever since I was a little kid, I'd get real excited over girls' feet. I never understood why. I used to feel ashamed when I'd ask a girl if I could kiss her foot. I'm sure a lot of girls thought I was weird.

I'm a grown man now, and if still rather hold a girl's foot than her hand. Thanks for printing that letter. It's a great relief to know I'm not alone.

ANOTHER FOOT LOVER

DEAR ABBY: A very dear man I knew had a stroke while walking down the street. He lay on the sidewalk near a bar for nearly an hour — and nobody helped him. Most people thought he was just drunk, so they passed him by, not wanting to get involved.

He died the following day. That fine man had a young people's group in church. I am one of the young people.

The message I want to convey through your widely-read column, Abby, is this: Please, if you see someone in need, drunk, sick — no matter what — please call the paramedics or get a policeman. Don't just ignore him.

This fine man had a stroke and a cerebral hemorrhage. Maybe he would have died even if he had been taken to a hospital immediately, but at least he wouldn't have died all alone on the cold sidewalk. And he possibly could have been saved if someone had helped him sooner.

A 16-YEAR-OLD WITH A HEART

DEAR 16: If your letter changes the thinking of only one person who would deny help to a stranger because he doesn't want to "get involved," it's well worth the space in my column. Thanks for writing.

Officials Ready To Move Some From Tent City

FORT WALTON BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — While the tide of Cuban refugees rose to flood levels, resettlement officials said they were optimistic the Cubans could begin leaving the makeshift tent city near Eglin Air Force Base today.

"If INS (Immigration and Naturalization Service) has their clearances completed, we'll have some of them in their new American homes Wednesday night," said John Coleman, spokesman for the federal emergency management agency coordinating the tent city operation.

Echoing Coleman's sentiments was Janice Pittman, who is handling resettlement for the U.S. Catholic Conference and said Tuesday her goal is to move 100 out today and at least that many daily until all emigres are resettled.

Meanwhile, the tent city at Eglin continued to encounter severe growing pains as Air Force crews tried to double the pace of tent construction to 44 shelters daily to accomodate the never ending flow of refugees being flown from Key West.

Maj. John Toner said by Thursday night as many as 10,000 may have arrived in the panhandle as stepped up flights bring 2,000-3,000 refugees to camp daily. Many of them would have to be housed at Eglin Air Force Base until departures from the tent city make room for them.

Approximately 1,000 refugees airlifted to the panhandle processing site spent the night in a gymnasium and a vacant hangar at the air base and Toner said other facilities at Eglin will be used to handle the overflow.

Toner said the vast number of refugees can be handled, but for the next two weeks "the cot-people race will be neck and-neck."

He said the air base will act as a sponge for the refugees until May 23-24 when accommodations at the tent city will be ready for the 10,000 refugees.

The government is hiring an additional 140 carpenters and laborers, along with cooks, food service personnel and purchasing agences to build facilities and service the influx of refugees.

At the camp Tuesday, Le Libertad, a refugee newspaper came rolling off Air Force presses. The four-page publication carried news about church services, the weather and other camp information in English and Spanish.

Prostitutes Among Refugees

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — Among the 773 Cuban refugees who arrived Tuesday on the tugboat Dr. Daniels was a group of women wearing high heeled shoes and long, tightfitting dresses still in midthigh.

"We came from a prison for women called "Le Nuevo Amaneces" (new Dawn) in Havana said Juana Ibis Molina Segui, 24, who said she was serving a two-year term for "maintaining relations with foreign tourists."

Specifically, she said, the tourists were Americans and Italians, who she visited at their hotels in Havana until the night she was caught by police.

She also was convicted of wearing foreign clothes.

Some of the overdressed women — there were 54 in all released from the prison and taken to Mariel harbor, according to Miss Molina — wore heavy makeup, bright blue eyeshade and thick red lipstick.

While other refugees, mostly men, shuffled double file along the quay to the immigration and customs processing center, the women of the night sashayed with conspicuous panache.

Asked by a reporter why she was so richly dressed for the refugee voyage from Cuba, one attractive woman answered, "because I am beautiful and I like to dress well."

At the end of the brief interview, the woman, in her mid 20s, giggled in English, "thank you."

"We have a right of expression, too," said Miss Molina, who wore a long, geisha-style, black and white dress.

Referring to Fidel Castro's double standard on prostitution, which he claims does not exist in Cuba today, she said, "They like friendship with the Russians, but not with the Americans."

Miss Molina estimated there are at least 2,000 young women in Cuban prisons convicted of the same crimes as hers.

Imprisoned Americans Mentioned

NEW CITY, N.Y. (UPI) — Rep. Benjamin Gilman, R-N.Y., says the Cuban government has contacted him to discuss the possibility of returning 40 Americans now being held prisoner for violating Cuban sea and air space.

Gilman, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said he was contacted last week by the representative of the Cuban interest office in Washington, D.C.

"I've been in touch with the Cuban representative. We've been discussing the imprisonment of some Americans who are being held in Cuba," Gilman said Tuesday in a telephone interview with Rockland County radio station WRKL-AM from his Washington office.

The congressman said he has referred the Cuban inquiry to the State Department and has contacted the families of the 40 Americans.

Most of the 40 are serving one-to two-year sentences and are not considered political prisoners, Gilman said. But he cited the case of one prisoner who was given a longer sentence for flying over Cuba and dropping religious leaflets.

We are looking for the right individual to open and operate a Center in this area.

If you seek exceptional earning potential and the independence of self-employment; if you derive joy from helping others; if you are honest and ambitious; if you have overcome your own weight problem or would like to do so, you might be that person.

An investment is required.

THEY'VE GOT THE ANSWERS

Officials Ready To Move Some From Tent City

FORT WALTON BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — While the tide of Cuban refugees rose to five-month levels, resettlement officials said they were optimistic the Cubans could begin leaving the makeshift tent city near Eglin Air Force Base today.

"If INS (Immigration and Naturalization Service) has their clearances completed, we'll have some of them in the new American homes Wednesday night," said John Coleman, spokesman for the federal emergency management agency coordinating the tent city operation.

Echoing Coleman's sentiments was Janice Pittman, she is handling resettlement for the U.S. Catholic Conference and said Tuesday her goal is to move 100 out today and at least that many daily until all emigres are resettled.

Meanwhile, the tent city at Eglin continued to encounter severe growing pains as Air Force crews tried to double the pace of tent construction to 44 shelters daily to accomodate the never ending flow of refugees being flown from Key West.

Maj. John Toner said by Thursday night as many as 10,000 may have arrived in the panhandle as stepped up flights bring 2,000-3,000 refugees to camp daily. Many of them would have to be housed at Eglin Air Force Base until departure time from the tent city make room for them.

Approximately 1,500 refugees airlifted to the panhandle yesterday also spent the night in a gymnasium and a vacant hangar at the air base and Toner said other facilities at Eglin will be opened to handle the overflow.

Toner said the vast number of refugees can be handled, but for the next two weeks "the cot-people race will be neck and neck."

He said the air base will act as a sponge for the refugees until May 23-24 when accommodations at the tent city will be ready for the 10,000 refugees.

Toner said the military is hiring an additional 140 carpenters and laborers, along with cooks, food service personnel and purchasing agences to build facilities and handle the influx of refugees.

At the camp Tuesday, Lie Libertard, a refugee newspaper came rolling off Air Force presses. The four-page publication carried news about church services, the weather and other camp information in English and Spanish.

Prostitutes Among Refugees

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — Among the 273 Cuban refugees who arrived Tuesday on the tugboat Dr. Daniels was a group of women wearing high heeled shoes and long, tightfitting dresses slit to midthigh.

"We came from a prison for women called "Isel Nuevo Amaneces" (new Dawn) in Havana said Juana Ibis Molina Segui, 24, who said she was serving a two-year term for "maintaining relations with foreign tourists."

Specifically, she said, the tourists were Americans and Mexicans who she visited at their hotels in Havana until the night she was caught by police.

She also was convicted of wearing foreign clothes.

Some of the overdressed women — there were 54 in all released from the prison and taken to Mariel harbor, according to Miss Molina — wore heavy makeup, bright blue eyeshade and thick red lipstick.

While other refugees, mostly men, shuffled double file along the quay to the immigration and customs processing center, the women of the night sashayed with conspicuous panache.

Asked by a reporter why she was so richly dressed for the refugee voyage from Cuba, one attractive woman answered, "because I am beautiful and I like to dress well."

At the end of the brief interview, the woman, in her mid 20s, giggled in English, "thank you."

"We have a right of expression, too," said Miss Molina before she was led away.

Referring to Fidel Castro's double standard on prostitution, which he claims has virtually ended in Cuba today, she said, "They like friendship with the Russians, but not with the Americans."

Miss Molina estimated there are at least 2,000 young women in Cuban prisons convicted of the same crimes as hers.

Imprisoned Americans Mentioned

NEW CITY, N.Y. (UPI) — Rep. Benjamin Gilman, R-N.Y., says the Cuban government has contacted him to discuss the possibility of returning 40 Americans now being held prisoner for violating Cuban sea and air space.

Gilman, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said he was contacted last week by the representative of the Cuban Interest office in Washington, D.C.

"I've been in touch with the Cuban representative. We've been discussing the imprisonment of some Americans who are being held in Cuba," Gilman said Tuesday in a telephone interview with Rockland County radio station WRKL-AM from his Washington office.

The congressman said he has referred the Cuban inquiry to the State Department and has contacted the families of the 40 Americans.

Most of the 40 are serving one-to-two-year sentences and are not considered political prisoners, Gilman said. But he cited the case of one prisoner who was given a longer sentence for flying over Cuba and dropping religious leaflets.

Rivet All Eyes To Table With Edible Centerpiece

All eyes turn toward an edible centerpiece.

Like a work of art, it is colorful and eye-catching. And because it is so very appealing, you'll find it devoured before the meal is over. A banana salad, perfect for warm weather luncheons or buffets, makes the ideal decoration for the center of your spring or summer table.

Molded Banana Salad, for example, shimmers delightfully. Not many cooks would ever think to put mashed bananas into a gelatin mold. But that's just what this recipe imaginatively does. And the result is a salad with an incredibly pleasing fresh taste.

Citrus juices and walnuts add to its inviting aspect. To make for an exceptionally attractive buffet table, surround this easily served gelatin mold with an array of cheeses, cold cuts, and assorted breads and rolls.

For another novel salad idea, multi-hued Tossed Banana Citrus Salad can be prepared in a flash. Mellow, fragrant bananas make a lovely contrast to crisp radish slices, tangy orange segments, and crunchy toasted almonds. The mustard vinaigrette dressing has a winning flavor that is unusual enough to make them ask, "What's in it?" Altogether, the salad is an artful blend of sensational tasting ingredients.

When you feature bananas in a salad, you are adding more than a flavorful addition to the meal. Supplying a good balance of vitamins and minerals, this is an especially nutritious fruit.

Bananas are filling and satisfying, yet low in calories, with only about 100 in an average sized fruit. Thus, it is an ideal ingredient to include in any light luncheon menu.

MOLDED BANANA SALAD

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
¾ cup sugar
1½ cups boiling water
2½ cups orange juice
½ cup fresh lemon juice, divided
3 cups mashed ripe bananas (6 bananas)
¾ cup chopped walnuts
Salad greens

In a medium bowl, mix unflavored gelatin with sugar. Add boiling water and stir until gelatin is completely dissolved. Stir in orange juice and ¼ cup lemon juice. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Combine mashed bananas, walnuts and remaining ¼ cup lemon juice, fold into gelatin. Turn into an 8-cup mold. Cover with plastic wrap or foil. Chill until firm. Unmold onto serving plate lined with salad greens. Garnish with lemon twists and banana slices, if desired.

Yield: 8 to 10 servings.

TOSSED BANANA CITRUS SALAD

3 medium-size bananas, sliced
2 medium-size oranges, peeled and sectioned
3 cups torn romaine lettuce
½ cup sliced radishes
½ cup Mustard Dressing
one-third cup toasted, slivered almonds

Combine bananas, oranges, romaine and radishes in salad bowl. Add dressing, toss lightly. Sprinkle with almonds. Serve immediately. Yield: 4 servings.

MUSTARD DRESSING

3 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 tablespoons orange juice
1 tablespoon cider vinegar
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon sugar
¼ teaspoon pepper

CRUNCH-TOPPED BANANA PUDDING

2 teaspoons margarine or butter
¼ cup coarsely chopped nuts
1 tablespoon honey
1 cup sugar frosted flakes of corn cereal
1 package (3 ¾ oz.) instant vanilla pudding mix
2 cups milk
2 bananas

1. Melt margarine in small saucepan. Add nuts. Cook over medium heat, stirring frequently, until nuts are lightly browned. Reduce heat to low. Add honey. Cook 2 minutes longer, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add cereal, stirring until well-coated.

2. Spread on waxed paper or buttered baking sheet. Cool completely. Break into small pieces. Set aside.

3. Prepare the pudding according to package directions, using the 2 cups milk. Spread half the pudding in a 1-quart casserole. Slice bananas and arrange over pudding. Top with remaining pudding. Sprinkle cereal mixture over top. Chill. Yield: 4 servings.

Princess Grace Sends Tomahawk (Of Love) To Sir Alec Guinness

By KENNETH R. CLARK
United Press International

BURYING THE HATCHET: When Princess Grace handed 20th Century-Fox TV exec Jerry Greenberg a sealed box at Paris' Orly airport last month and asked him to deliver it to Sir Alec Guinness in Hollywood, he had no idea what he was carrying. It turned out to be a tomahawk. Greenberg — who had been working on "The Monte Carlo Show" — was pressed into courier duty to get the battle-ax to Guinness in time for Academy Award presentations. And he did. It wound up in Guinness' bed on Oscar night. Seems he and the princess have been swapping the tomahawk for 24 years — ever since she was Grace Kelly and they made "The Swan" together.

AMY'S LONG MARCH: Jogging addict President Carter isn't the only one in the family who's good on the road. Daughter Amy sets a mean pace herself. The 13-year-old first kid hiked 25 miles Sunday on behalf of the March of Dimes. Her proud mother says she put the arm on everyone in the White House — from switchboard operators on up — for sponsorship pledges of so much for every mile she covered in the walkathon. The effort netted $759 for the cause, but it wasn't without its toll. Rosalynn Carter said Monday her daughter "didn't want to get up this morning" to go to school. She was just too tuckered out.

HILLBILLY JANE?: Country house Dolly Parton found a real sophisticated city mouse for a mentor when she ventured out to Hollywood for her first film role. Jane Fonda — her costar in "Nine to Five" — showed her the ropes and gave her a wealth of coaching, and now it's Dolly's turn to reciprocate. And therein lies a tantalizing hint about La Fonda's next movie. Dolly says she'll soon take Jane on a tour of the South so Jane can learn all about Dixie. And she adds, "I'm going to introduce her to some people who do whittlin', since her character is supposed to be a real good whittler." Quite a change from the urbane TV anchorwoman she's played the last couple of times out.

NAKED TRUTH: Columbus, Ga., evangelist Dr. Michael Lord C... [illegible] ... [illegible] ... said, 'Go into the highways and the hedges to reach people.'" But it isn't hedges his 13-yearold evangelist son, Michael Lord Jr., is into this week. It's the vicinity of Penthouse magazine's centerfold as subject of an interview that has his father's blessing.

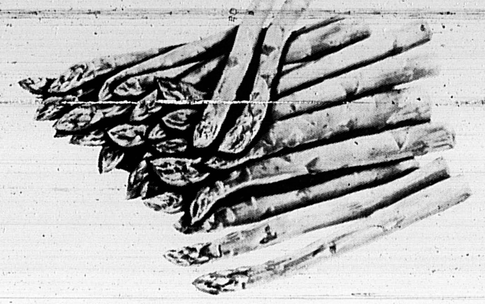
Asparagus Is Harbinger Of Spring



Truly the 'Prince' of all vegetables, Asparagus is a perennial plant and an exotic member of the lily family. It has been enjoyed for its delicacy of flavor and healthful nutritive values from ancient times.

Asparagus is an exotic vegetable of the lily-family enjoyed for its delicacy of flavor and nutritive values from ancient times. Known to have been cultivated before 600 BC, asparagus was propogated by the Greeks; introduced by the Romans to the Gauls, the Germans, and Britains.

Asparagus was popular in classical times as a vegetable (a potherb) and as having medicinal values — in fact, asparagus was probably a medicine long before it was a food. The second-century Greek Physician Galen described asparagus as "cleansing, dessicative and healing." Galen's teachings were law in the Western World for 1300 years and claims for medicinal benefits of asparagus persist to this day. Nutritionists know asparagus is an excellent source of Vitamins A and C and for the minerals potassium and phosphorus.

A delectable vegetable of diuretic nature, very low in calories averaging less than 4 calories per spear. A cup of cooked green asparagus has 1980 units of Vitamin A and 4.6 milligrams of iron, a mineral very difficult to amass without taking dietary supplements. It is one of the richest sources of rutin, a drug whose chief value is strengthening the walls of capillaries.

MICROWAVE COOKING: Place 1 lb. fresh asparagus in a shallow non-metalic baking dish or serving dish and add ¼ cup water. Cover dish tightly with plastic wrap. Cook on high 8 mins. & test with fork for tenderness. Continue method of cooking if necessary. When done, remove plastic wrap, salt to taste & top with butter, a favorite sauce, or use in casseroles, etc.

Microwave oven recipe — SCALLOPED ASPARAGUS
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup all-purpose flour
1½ cups grated sharp cheddar cheese
½ cup toasted slivered almonds
2 lbs. fresh asparagus cooked & drained
Paprika
1 TSP salt
2 cups milk
1. In a 1-qt. heat resistant, non-metallic measure cup place butter. Heat, uncovered, in microwave oven 1 min. or until melted. 2. Stir in flour & salt until smooth. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly. 3. Heat uncovered 5 mins. or until thickened & smooth. Stir occasionally. 4. Stir in cheese until melted. 5. Place half of asparagus in a deep, 2-qt. heat resistant non-metallic baking dish. 6 Sprinkle ½ of toasted almonds over asparagus. Pour half of sauce over almonds. 7. Repeat layers. 8. Heat uncovered in microwave oven 8 to 10 mins. or until heated through.

ASPARAGUS TOMATO SKILLET
3 slices bacon
¼ cup sliced green onions
3 Tbsp. vinegar
1 Tbsp. water
2 tsp. sugar
¼ tsp. salt
1½ lbs. fresh asparagus
2 med. tomatoes, cut in ¼'s
Make in Wok. Chop & fry bacon crisp, push aside — add green onion, cook a little and add asparagus, cook till tender crisp stage — push aside — add tomatoes & cook 2 min. Combine other ingredients & pour over vegetables, cover & steam for 2 min. more or until asparagus is fork tender.

PICKLED ASPARAGUS
3 qts. water
10 Tbs. salt
10 Tbs. mixed pickle spices
2 qts. white vinegar
Combine all ingredients & boil 15 min.
Blanch asparagus 1½ min. in boiling water. Cool fast and place in pint jars with slice of garlic. Pour brine over and seal.

HAM & ASPARAGUS ROLL-UPS
2 lbs. asparagus cooked & drained well
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup all-purpose flour
2 cups whole milk
2 cups grated sharp cheddar cheese
½ tsp salt & ⅛ tsp white pepper
Paprika
12 thin slices boiled ham or sandwich ham
Melt butter in saucepan over medium heat; stir in flour gradually, add milk stirring constantly. Add salt & pepper. When sauce is thickened, stir in cheese & blend well. Set aside. Boil four spears of asparagus up in each slice of ham with seam side down. Place rolls close together in oblong baking dish. Pour cheese sauce over all and sprinkle with paprika. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 mins. or until sauce is lightly browned. Serves 6.

ASPARAGUS EGG SALAD
5 cups cut up Fresh Asparagus, cook 10 min. and cool.
6 hard boiled eggs
¼ cup finely chopped onion
½ cup salad dressing
1 tsp. sugar
Cut eggs and toss with onions and asparagus. Mix salad dressing and sugar, pour over salad.

PEAS AND ASPARAGUS SUPPER DISH
2 cups shelled fresh peas, cooked
2 lbs. fresh asparagus slices, cooked
1 10½-oz. can cream of mushroom soup
¼ cup dairy sour cream
¼ cup real mayonnaise
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
4 eggs, hard-cooked and quartered
4 oz. sharp Cheddar cheese, grated
Heat oven to 375 degrees. Drain vegetables well. Mix together soup, sour cream, mayonnaise, and Worcestershire sauce. In a greased 8 in. square baking dish, pour a thin layer of soup mixture; layer ½ asparagus, ½ peas, followed by ½ eggs. Cover with ½ remaining soup mixture. Repeat layers ending with soup. Sprinkle with grated cheese and bake 20 to 30 min.

ASPARAGUS WITH CREAMED CHICKEN
3 cups cubed, cooked chicken
2 10¾ oz. cans cream of mushroom soup
¼ cup dry sherry or dry vermouth (optional)
¼ cup minced green onions
¼ cup minced celery
1 Tbsp. fresh lemon juice
1 Tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
2 Tbsp. butter or margarine, melted
1½ lbs. fresh asparagus slices, cooked
1 3¼ oz. can French fried onion rings
Heat oven to 375 degrees. Combine chicken, mushroom soup, optional sherry or vermouth, green onions, celery, lemon juice, and Worcestershire sauce. Place chicken mixture in a greased 9x13-in. baking dish. Add butter or margarine to cooked asparagus, coating well. Top chicken mixture with asparagus. Cover with foil and bake for 30 min.; uncover, top with onion rings, and bake 5 to 10 min. longer.

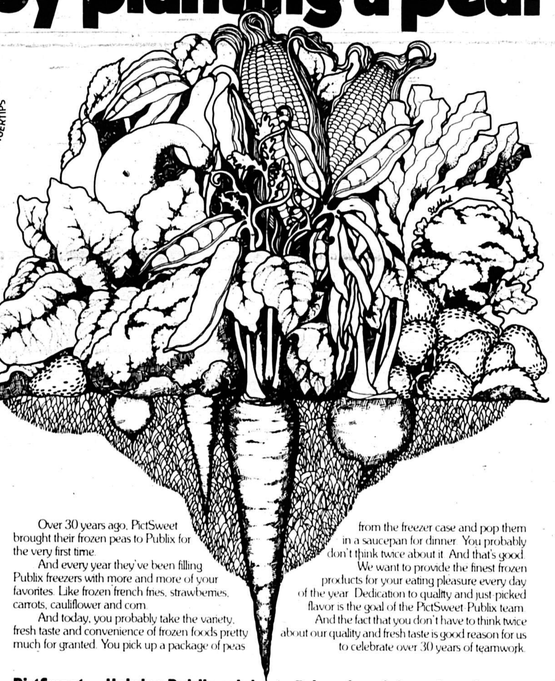
50 YEARS OF FROZEN FOODS · A WORLD OF FRESHNESS AT YOUR FINGERTIPS



Over 30 years ago, PictSweet brought their frozen peas to Publix for the very first time.

And every year they've been filling Publix freezers with more and more of your favorites. Like frozen french fries, strawberries, carrots, cauliflower and corn.

And today, you probably take the variety, fresh taste and convenience of frozen foods pretty much for granted. You pick up a package of peas from the freezer case and pop them in a saucepan for dinner. You probably don't think twice about it. And that's good.

We want to provide the finest frozen products for your eating pleasure every day of the year. Dedication to quality and just picked flavor is the goal of the PictSweet Publix team.

And the fact that you don't have to think twice about our quality and fresh taste is good reason for us to celebrate over 30 years of teamwork.

Bread: The Staff Of Life

HUTZELBROT
(Makes 2 large loaves)

6¾-7¼ cups unsifted flour
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon anise seed
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
¼ teaspoon ground cardamom
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
2 packages active dry yeast
½ cup (1 stick) margarine, softened
1¾ cups very warm water (120 degrees F.-130 degrees F.)
2 cups chopped mixed dried fruit
1 cup chopped blanched almonds, toasted
1 cup chopped walnuts
1-3rd cup finely chopped candied orange peel
Honey

In a large bowl thoroughly mix 2 cups flour, sugar, salt, anise seed, cinnamon, cardamom, cloves and undissolved yeast. Add softened margarine.

Gradually add very warm water to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add 1 cup flour, beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover bowl lightly with aluminum foil. Set bowl in Covection Turbo-Oven with temperature control knob set to left edge of 150 degrees F. (air should be warm, not hot, about 90 degrees F.), until dough doubles in bulk, about 1 hour.

Remove dough from convection oven; punch down, turn out onto lightly floured board. Knead in mixed dried fruit, almonds, walnuts and candied orange peel. Divide dough in half, form into round balls. Place in two greased 8-inch layer cake pans. Lightly grease tops of loaves. Let rise in convection oven until doubled, about 1 hour.

Bake in convection oven at 325 degrees F. for 40 to 45 minutes, or until done. Give pans ½ turn halfway through baking to insure even browning. Remove from pans and cool on wire racks. Brush with honey while warm.

In regular oven bake at 375 degrees F., 35 to 40 minutes, or until done. Remove from pans and cool on wire racks. Brush with honey while warm.

EGG CHEESE BRAID
(Makes 2 loaves)

6¾-7¼ cups unsifted flour
1 teaspoon sugar
1 tablespoon salt
2 packages active dry yeast
1 cup plain yogurt
½ cup water
2 tablespoons margarine
6 eggs, slightly beaten (at room temperature)
2 cups (8 oz.) shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
2 teaspoons milk

In a large bowl thoroughly mix 1½ cups flour, sugar, salt, and undissolved yeast.

Combine yogurt, water, and margarine in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquid is very warm (120 degrees F.-130 degrees F.). Margarine does not need to melt. Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Reserve 1 tablespoon beaten eggs for topping; add remaining eggs, 1 cup flour, and 1½ cups cheese. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in enough additional flour to make a stiff dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover bowl tightly with aluminum foil. Set bowl in Convection Turbo-Oven with temperature control knob set to left edge of 150 degrees F. (air should be warm, not hot, about 90 degrees F.), until dough doubles in bulk, about 1 hour.

Remove dough from convection oven. Punch dough down. On lightly floured board divide each half into 3 equal pieces. Shape each piece into a 15-inch rope. Braid 3 ropes together. Pinch ends together to seal and place in well-greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pan. Repeat with remaining 3 ropes. Lightly grease tops of loaves. Let rise in convection oven until doubled, about 1¼ hours.

Combine reserved tablespoon egg and milk; brush over loaves. Sprinkle with remaining ½ cup of cheese. Bake in convection oven at 300 degrees F. for 30 to 35 minutes or until done. Remove from pans and cool on wire racks.

In regular oven bake at 375 degrees F., 25 to 30 minutes, or until done. Remove from pans and cool on wire racks.

TWO GRAIN BREAD
(Makes 2 loaves)

3½-4 cups unsifted white flour
2 cups unsifted whole wheat flour
2 teaspoons salt
2 packages active dry yeast
1 cup water
½ cup honey
¼ cup (½ stick) margarine
1 cup cream-style cottage cheese
2 eggs (at room temperature)
¾ cup quick oats, uncooked
¾ cup chopped pecans

Combine 3 cups white flour and whole wheat flour. In a large bowl thoroughly mix 1½ cups flour mixture, salt, and yeast.

Combine water, honey, margarine, and cottage cheese in a saucepan. Heat over low heat until liquids are very warm (120 degrees F.-130 degrees F.). Margarine does not need to melt. Gradually add to dry ingredients and beat 2 minutes at medium speed of electric mixer, scraping bowl occasionally. Add eggs and ½ cup flour mixture. Beat at high speed 2 minutes, scraping bowl occasionally. Stir in quick oats, remaining flour mixture, and enough additional white flour to make a soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic, about 8 to 10 minutes. Place in a greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover bowl tightly with aluminum foil. Set bowl in Convection Turbo-Oven with temperature control knob set to left edge of 150 degrees F. (air should be warm, not hot, about 90 degrees F.), until dough doubles in bulk, about 1 hour.

Remove dough from convection oven; punch down. Turn onto lightly floured board. Knead in pecans. Divide dough in half. Shape each into a loaf and place in two greased 9½ x 5½ x 2½-inch loaf pans or into balls and place in two greased 8-inch layer cake pans. Lightly grease tops of loaves. Let rise in convection oven until doubled, about 1 hour.

Bake in convection oven at 300 degrees F. for 40 to 45 minutes, or until done. Remove from pans and cool on wire racks.

In regular oven, bake at 375 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes, or until done. Remove from pans and cool on wire racks.

Granola makes a good Apple Betty.

Make Your Own Granola

It is surprising to learn that "granual" or "granola" was eaten as a health food more than 100 years ago. It was then crumbly mixture of natural grains.

Today there are many version of granola. You can make a batch at home combining your favorite grains, fruits and nuts.

Granola makes an excellent high-energy snack to eat out of hand during outdoor activities.

This slightly sweetened and spiced version also goes well with your favorite cereals for breakfast, as an apple Betty ingredient or in muffins. (Add 1 cup of granola to batter for 12 muffins.)

SPICED GRANOLA

4 cups old-fashioned or quick oats
1 (4-ounce) can shredded coconut
½ cup sesame seed
½ cup sunflower seed
½ cup toasted wheat germ
1½ teaspoons ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
½ cup honey
½ cup oil
1 cup dark raisins

In large bowl, combine, oats, coconut, sesame seed, sunflower seed, wheat germ, cinnamon and nutmeg. Add honey and oil. Mix well.

Pour into 2 15-by-10-by-1-inch jelly-roll pans.

Bake in preheated 350-degree oven until golden, about 18 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool and crumble. Stir in raisins.

Store in tightly covered containers, preferably refrigerated. This kitchen-tested recipe makes about 10 cups.

GRANOLA APPLE BETTY

6 cups sliced, peeled apples
½ cup sugar
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 teaspoon apple-pie spice
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, divided
3 cups Spiced Granola, divided

In large bowl, combine apples, sugar, flour, lemon juice, apple-pie spice and salt.

Arrange half of apple mixture in buttered shallow 1½-quart casserole. Dot with 1 tablespoon butter. Sprinkle with 1½ cups of granola.

Repeat layering using remaining apple mixture, butter and granola.

Cover and bake in preheated 375-degree oven until apples are tender, about 40 minutes.

Let cool slightly. Serve with whipped cream or ice cream, if desired. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 9 portions.

PUBLIX SAYS, "THANKS, MOM" WITH MOTHER'S DAY VALUES.

Join us as we revisit five decades of shopping pleasure. Right now it's the Nifty Fifties.

At Publix, making shopping a pleasure has always meant making life easier for Mom. Back in the 1950's this included stocking the newly growing variety of prepared baby foods. Today you'll see many of those 1950 babies shopping at Publix with little ones of their own. Thanks to the loyalty and confidence of three generations of shoppers, we're celebrating our 50th anniversary.

Have A Fruit-Full Summer

Does breakfast time find you topping your ready-to-eat cereal with fresh fruit? Join the crowd of fruit 'n cereal lovers. And, find out how you can enjoy this combo at other times of the day, too.

Like dessert time. Ladle a sauce chock-full of peaches and blueberries over a biscuit-like cake, for Peach-blueberry Shortcake. Each wedge of cake is made golden and good-tasting with corn flakes cereal.

When there's no time to spare, make Crunch-Topped Banana Pudding for dessert. Nestle sliced bananas between layers of instant vanilla pudding. Then sprinkle on the crunch: sugar frosted flakes of corn cereal mixed with honey and walnuts.

Peach-Crunch Coffeecake fills in at break time. Chunks of fresh peaches are baked right into each square. Perfect with any hot beverage, the cake has a streusel topping made with rice krispies cereal.

PEACH CRUNCH COFFEECAKE

¼ cup sugar
¼ cup margarine or butter, softened

1 cup rice krispies cereal
1¾ cups all-purpose flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1-3rd cup sugar
1-3rd cup margarine or butter
2-3rd cup milk
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup chopped, peeled peaches

1. In a small mixing bowl, combine the first three ingredients, stirring until crumbly. Set aside for topping.

2. Crush the 1 cup cereal to fine crumbs. Combine with flour, baking powder, salt and the 1-3rd cup sugar in a medium-size mixing bowl. Cut in the 1-3rd cup margarine till mixture resembles coarse crumbs.

3. Stir in milk and egg until well combined. Fold in peaches. Spread batter evenly in greased 9 x 9 x 2-inch baking pan. Sprinkle with topping.

4. Bake in oven at 400 degrees F. about 25 minutes or until golden brown. Serve warm or cool. Yield: 9 servings.

MOCHA CREAM CHEESE PIE

¾ cup All-Bran cereal or Bran Buds cereal
1 cup all-purpose flour
One-third cup sugar
1 tablespoon unsweetened cocoa
½ cup shortening
1 tablespoon milk

1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons milk
1 teaspoon instant coffee crystals
1½ cups cold milk
1 package (3¾ oz.) instant chocolate pudding
Whipped topping

1. Stir cereal, flour, the one-third cup sugar and the cocoa together in medium-size mixing bowl. Cut in shortening. Add milk, stirring until entire mixture is moistened. Dough will seem slightly crumbly.

2. With back of spoon, press mixture first around the sides and then in the bottom of a 9-inch pie pan. Bake in oven at 400 degrees F. for 12 to 14 minutes or until lightly browned around edges. Cool completely.

3. In large mixing bowl, beat cream cheese, the ¼ cup sugar and the 2 tablespoons milk until smooth. Set aside.

4. Dissolve coffee crystals in the 1½ cups milk. Use to prepare chocolate pudding according to package directions. Add to cream cheese mixture, mixing until smooth. Pour mixture into crust. Chill. Before serving, garnish with whipped topping. Yield: 8 servings.

PEACH-BLUEBERRY SHORTCAKE

1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
½ cup shortening
1½ cups corn flakes (R) cereal, crushed to ½ cup
¾ cup buttermilk

1. In medium-size mixing bowl, stir together flour, baking powder, soda, salt and sugar. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add cereal and buttermilk, stirring until dough leaves sides of bowl. Spread dough evenly in greased 8-inch round cake pan.

2. Bake in oven at 450 degrees F. about 20 minutes or until lightly browned. Cut into six wedges. Serve warm with Peach-Blueberry Sauce. Yield: 6 servings.

PEACH-BLUEBERRY SAUCE

⅓ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 cup water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 cups sliced peaches
1 cup blueberries

In medium-size saucepan, combine sugar, salt, cornstarch and water. Bring to boil over medium heat, stirring occasionally. Continue boiling 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Stir in lemon juice and fruit. Serve warm.

Pork Chops With Sweet Peppers are laced with tantalizing sauce.

Marinated Pork Chops Add An Iberian Aura To Meal

The cooking of Iberia is as unique as our own, for it, too, is composed of a melting pot of different cultural influences.

Among the many distinctive flavors brought to Spain and Portugal that have now been combined and incorporated in to the colorful regional dishes of these countries are saffron, black pepper, nutmeg, lemons, oranges, rice and red bell peppers.

Iberian cooking is justly famous for its rich heartiness. The natural tastes of foods are revealed and emphasized, rather than disguised by complex sauces. All ingredients work together to produce a well-seasoned dish, with no one taste predominating.

Pork Chops with Sweet Red Peppers are marinated in an exciting mixture of red wine, orange juice, Tabasco pepper sauce and herbs, which tenderizes the meat and permeates it with a lovely fragrance.

Red bell peppers and orange sections provide an authentic and visually attractive garnish. For an equally delightful dish, use the same marinade for a boned pork roast. Either way, the meal is economical for serving to family, yet elegant enough to entertain any guest.

Portuguese Pork with Lemon has a delightful citrus tang, with wine and tantalizing spices adding to its subtlety. Served over plain or saffron rice, the quickly prepared dish takes on the aura of a special-occasion dinner.

PORK CHOPS WITH SWEET RED PEPPERS

¼ cup orange juice
1 clove garlic, minced
1 bay leaf, crushed
1 teaspoon dried leaf savory, crushed
1 teaspoon dried leaf marjoram, crushed
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
4 loin pork chops, about ¾-inch thick
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 medium-size red peppers, cut into strips
½ cup orange sections

In a flat, shallow dish combine wine, orange juice, garlic, bay leaf, savory, marjoram, salt and Tabasco sauce. Add pork chops, cover, marinate 1½ hours turning occasionally. Remove chops and pat dry; reserve marinade. In large skillet heat oil over high heat, brown chops well on both sides, remove chops from skillet. Saute peppers until tender. Return pork to skillet, add reserved marinade and bring to a boil. Cover. Reduce heat, simmer 20 to 25 minutes or until chops are tender. Remove chops and peppers to serving dish. Increase heat to high, boil sauce about 3 minutes or until slightly thickened. Pour sauce over chops, garnish with orange sections.

PORTUGUESE PORK WITH LEMON

2 tablespoons olive oil
2 pounds pork shoulder cut into 1-inch cubes
¾ cup dry white wine, divided
1 clove garlic, crushed
¾ teaspoon ground cumin
½ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon ground coriander
¼ to ½ teaspoon Tabasco pepper sauce
5 lemon slices, halved
Hot cooked rice

In a large skillet, heat oil over high heat; brown pork well on all sides. Add ½ cup wine, garlic, cumin and salt. Cover; reduce heat, simmer 25 to 30 minutes or until pork is tender. Stir in remaining ¼ cup wine, coriander, Tabasco sauce and lemon slices. Cook uncovered, over high heat, until sauce thickens slightly. Serve with rice and additional Tabasco sauce, if desired. Yield: 4 servings.

Beans, Rice Economical, Nutritious

Mexican foods, flavors and table settings have become popular in the United States. You need not travel to enjoy the specialties as well as the flavors so typical of our southern neighbors.

Traditional Mexican foods like beans and rice—both staples that go well with meat, vegetables, or fruit (a typical ingredient in warmer regions) could be a part of any dish on your menu.

Sausage and Golden Delicious apples add zest to chili-flavored beans in this recipe for Sausage and Beans Tampico.

Fluffy white rice is the perfect accompaniment. Both rice and beans, because they are so economical, are important foods to keep in mind these days to help stretch strained food budgets.

Apples add appeal to Tampico dish.

SAUSAGE AND BEANS TAMPICO

1 package (12 oz.) smoked pork sausage links, cut in 1-inch pieces
1 cup chopped onions
1 tablespoon oil (optional)
3-one-third cups drained, cooked or canned pinto or kidney beans
1 cup tomato juice
1 teaspoon each salt and chili powder
¼ teaspoon each garlic powder and pepper
2 cups peeled, cored, and thickly sliced Golden Delicious apples
3 cups hot cooked rice
½ cup sour cream

Cook sausage and onions in oil about 5 minutes; stir often. Add beans, tomato juice, and seasonings. Simmer, uncovered, 10 minutes. Stir in apples and continue cooking 10 minutes longer, or until most of the liquid has evaporated. Serve over beds of fluffy rice and top with dollops of sour cream. Serve with scallions and yellow chilies, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Potpourri

SCALLOPED POTATOES 'N ONIONS

5 tablespoons margarine or butter
⅛ cup corn flake crumbs
1½ cups thinly sliced onions (about 2 small)
4½ cups thinly sliced, pared potatoes (about 5 medium)
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon paprika
1¾ cups milk

1. Melt 2 tablespoons of the margarine. Mix with crumbs. Set aside for topping.

2. Place onion and potatoes in medium-size saucepan. Cover with water. Add ½ teaspoon of the salt. Bring to boil. Boil uncovered for 5 minutes. Remove from heat. Drain.

3. Melt remaining margarine in small saucepan over low heat. Stir in flour, the remaining salt, the pepper and paprika. Add milk gradually, stirring until smooth. Increase heat to medium and cook until bubbly and thickened, stirring constantly. Remove from heat.

4. Arrange one-third of the potatoes and onions in greased 10 x 6 x 2-inch (1½ quart) glass baking dish. Top with one-third of the sauce. Repeat twice, ending with sauce. Sprinkle evenly with topping. Bake in oven at 400 degrees F. about 35 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

LUSCIOUS LUAU BURGERS

¼ cup water
1 tsp. onion salt
¼ tsp. lemon pepper marinade
1 Tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
¼ cup minced or finely grated green pepper
1 can (20 oz.) sliced pineapple (10 slices), drained and juice reserved
8 Tbsp. cheese spread

MUSTARD SAUCE

1 cup mayonnaise
¼ cup Dijon-style mustard
¼ cup reserved pineapple juice
¼ tsp. lemon pepper marinade
4 English muffins, split

Combine ground beef, water, Seasoned Salt, Onion Salt, Lemon Pepper Marinade, Worcestershire sauce and green pepper; mix well. Shape into 16 equal-size balls and flatten into patties ½-inch larger than pineapple slice.

Place a pineapple slice on 8 patties and place 1 tablespoon cheese spread on top of pineapple slice. Cover with remaining patties, sealing securely by pressing edges of patties together. Set aside.

Prepare Mustard Sauce: Blend together mayonnaise, mustard, reserved pineapple juice and Lemon Pepper Marinade. Brush a little on each muffin half and brown under broiler. Keep warm.

Broil hamburger patties 8 inches from heat, 10 to 12 minutes or until done, turning once.

Place hamburgers on prepared muffin halves and top with remaining Mustard Sauce. Garnish with broiled pineapple slices, quartered. Makes 8 servings.

BARBECUED TROUT

6 pan-dressed rainbow trout or other pandressed fish, fresh or frozen
two-thirds cup soy sauce
⅓ cup ketchup
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons salad oil
1 teaspoon crushed rosemary

Thaw frozen fish. Clean, wash and dry fish. Place in single layer in shallow baking dish.

Combine remaining ingredients. Pour sauce over fish. Let stand 1 hour, turning once.

Remove fish, reserving sauce for basting. Place fish in single layer in well-greased hinged wire grills.

Cook about 4 inches from moderately hot coals for 5 to 8 minutes. Baste with sauce. Turn. Cook 5 to 8 minutes longer or until fish flakes easily when tested with fork.

This kitchen-tested recipe makes 6 servings.

BROILED LAMB CHOPS DE LUXE

6 lamb blade chops, cut ¾ inch thick
1 can (29 ounces) cling peach halves
1 large onion, cut in 8 slices
1½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon garlic salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Drain peach halves, reserving ¼ cup syrup in small frying pan. Add onion slices and cook slowly 10 to 12 minutes. Place chops on rack in broiler pan so surface of meat is 3 inches from heat. Broil 8 minutes on first side. Combine salt, paprika, garlic salt and pepper; sprinkle half of mixture over browned chops. Turn chops; place peach halves on rack with chops and sprinkle with nutmeg. Broil 6 minutes or to doneness desired. Sprinkle remaining mixed seasonings over chops. Place chops and peaches on warm platter; garnish chops with onion rings.

OATMEAL COOKIES
(Yield: approx. 6 dozen)

1 cup (2 sticks) butter
1½ cups firmly packed brown sugar
½ cup granulated sugar
2 eggs
2 tablespoons milk
1½ teaspoons vanilla
2 cups all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2½ cups uncooked oats

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Cream butter; add sugars and beat until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs, milk and vanilla. Combine flour, baking powder and salt. Stir into creamed mixture. Stir in oats. Drop by rounded tablespoonfuls onto buttered cookie sheets. Bake 12 to 15 minutes or until golden. Cool slightly; remove to wire racks and cool completely. Store in tightly covered containers.

SARDINE-ONION SALAD

1 small red onion, sliced in thin slivers
1 (4-ounce) can pimientos, chopped
½ cup lemon juice
¼ cup olive oil
1 tablespoon wine vinegar
1 clove garlic, crushed
½ bay leaf, crumbled
1 tablespoon dry mustard
Dash cayenne pepper
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper to taste
1 (3¾-ounce) can Norway sardines, drained
4 cups salad greens

Combine first three ingredients in bowl.

In another bowl, combine lemon juice, oil, vinegar, garlic, bay leaf, dry mustard, cayenne pepper, salt and pepper. Mix well.

Pour over vegetable mixture. Chill 2 to 4 hours to marinate. Serve with crisp salad greens and sardines.

This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 servings.

Easy-To-Make Meat Balls Take On Continental Air

Economical, easy-to-make meat balls take on a versatile Continental air when you handle them a little differently and serve with a tasty sauce and fluffy, hot rice.

Rice is economical — costing only about three cents a serving. The cost is deceptive because a pound of rice when cooked, makes 14 half cups! That can give you a significant savings and this can give you a spectacular meal.

MEAT BALLS WITH SAUCE VERTE

1 pound lean ground beef
½ cup finely chopped onions
½ cup soft bread crumbs
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese, softened
one-third cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons parsley flakes
1 teaspoon basil
½ teaspoon garlic powder
1 cup hot beef broth
1 teaspoon cornstarch
2 cups hot cooked rice

Combine meat, onions, bread crumbs, ½ teaspoon salt, and pepper; mix thoroughly. Form into 8 balls 1-½ inches in diameter. Brown on all sides in oil. Drain off fat. Combine remaining ingredients except cornstarch and rice; blend until smooth. Pour over meat balls, cover and simmer 15 minutes.

Stir 2 tablespoons water into cornstarch. Pour into sauce; cook, stirring constantly, about 1 minute or until thickened.

Serve over beds of fluffy rice. Makes 4 servings.

Peaches 'N Cream Take The Cake

Just try to say "peaches and cream" without your mouth watering! Satisfy that craving with this quick and easy dessert that combines those two compatible foods in a moist pudding and cake combination.

Peaches and canned pudding create a saucy base topped with cake. For an even creamier version of this dessert, cream cheese can be blended with the canned pudding.

PEACHES'N CREAM PUDDING CAKE

1 can (17½ oz.) vanilla pudding
1 can (16 oz.) peach slices
1 package (9 oz.) single layer yellow cake mix

Drain peaches, reserving juice. Arrange peaches in oiled 8x8-inch (or 7x11-inch) baking dish. Peaches may be cut into thinner slices if necessary. Spread pudding over peaches. Prepare cake batter according to package directions, substituting peach juice for water. Spread batter over pudding and peaches. Bake at 350 degrees F. (325 degrees F. if using glass pan) for 45-55 minutes or until cake tests done. Serve warm. Makes 7-8 servings.

Peaches 'n Cream Pudding Cheesecake: Combine 3 oz. package softened cream cheese with pudding before spreading over peaches in above recipe.

ENTERTAINING IDEAS

Blade Steak Tournedos Affordable

Tournedos, when served at expensive restaurants, usually are cut from the heart or middle of a filet or at least from the tip of the tenderloin.

This means a tournedo ("turn-NEH-dough") should be a very tender morsel of meat. Usually each is wrapped with bacon or prepared with salt pork for added moisture when sauteed or broiled.

You may prepare "brunch tournedos" for a small group of friends without leaving an I.O.U. at the bank. Select more economical chuck top blade steaks and marinate them in a steak sauce-flavored mix before broiling.

This could be an ideal entree for a special brunch on Memorial Day weekend.

BRUNCH TOURNEDOS

1 cup water
6 chuck top blade steaks (about 2 pounds)
1 small onion, finely chopped
4 tablespoons margarine
1½ tablespoons wine vinegar
¼ teaspoon tarragon
¼ teaspoon parsley
½ cup mayonnaise
½ cup sour cream
4 egg yolks
6 slices bread, toasted

In shallow pan, combine marinade and water. Stir well. Place meat in marinade. Pierce deeply with fork. Marinate 15 minutes, turning occasionally. Remove meat and reserve marinade.

In saucepan, combine reserved marinade and next 5 ingredients. Simmer 4 minutes. Set aside and keep warm.

Broil steaks 4 to 5 inches from heat, about 7 minutes per side. Combine mayonnaise, sour cream and egg yolks. Stir into marinade mixture and heat through. (Do not boil.)

Place steaks over toasted bread. Top with sauce.

NECTARINES AND BROCCILO TOMATO VINAIGRETTE

4 small (or 2 large fresh nectarines, sliced (about 2 cups)
1 small onion, thinly sliced
½ (10¾-ounce) can condensed tomato soup (or 17¼ ounce can low-sodium tomato soup)
½ cup wine vinegar
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon prepared mustard
Cut broccoli into small spears.

Drop into 1 inch of boiling salted water in saucepan. Return water to boil. Gently boil until tender-crisp, about 3 minutes. Drain and cool.

Place broccoli, nectarines and onion in shallow baking dish or salad bowl.

Mix soup with vinegar, oil, sugar and mustard. Pour over vegetables and fruit.

Refrigerate several hours or overnight, spooning dressing over occasionally.

This kitchen-tested recipe makes 4 to 6 servings.

NECTARINE SALAD DRESSING

2 tablespoons sugar
¾ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 small (or ½ large) fresh nectarine, cubed
6 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 teaspoon sesame seeds, toasted (optional)

Combine sugar, mustard, salt, lemon juice and nectarine in electric blender. Whirl until blended and smooth.

Gradually add oil while blending at low speed. Stir in sesame seeds, if desired.

This kitchen-tested recipe makes 1 cup dressing

NOTE: To toast sesame seeds, turn into lightly oiled skillet. Stir over medium-high heat until light golden.

DANDY DINNER STEAK

½ pound ground sirloin or ground beef
¼ cup soft bread crumbs
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley
1 envelope onion cup-a-soup
2 tablespoons water
1 envelope cream of mushroom cup-a-soup
1 cup water
2 tablespoons dry red wine

In medium bowl, combine ground sirloin, bread crumbs, parsley, instant onion soup mix and 2 tablespoons water; mix thoroughly. Shape into 2 oval patties.

In medium skillet, brown patties until done; drain. Add instant cream of mushroom soup mix blended with remaining water and wine. Bring to a boil, then simmer covered 10 minutes. Makes 2 servings.

Instant soup mixes take the guesswork out of seasonings for tempting Dandy Dinner Steak for two.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Thursday, May 8, 1980

YOUR BIRTHDAY
May 8, 1980

This coming year you could have the opportunity to meet a lot of new people. Take care, however, not to forsake old friendships by favoring the new ones. You might later have cause to regret it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't be pressured into overspending by a pal who wants to "hocking it" today. On top of costing you more than you can afford, you won't even enjoy it. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) An excessive amount of your energy is apt to be spent chasing insignificant goals today. Clarify your objectives if you want to have a productive day.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't be tempted to play the one-upmanship game even if you are subjected to one who thinks he knows everything. You'll look smarter if you keep quiet.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You have a tendency today to see your lot in life as you wish it would be, and thus could spend far more than your realistically can afford. Be careful.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Spur-of-the-moment decisions triggered by anger will have a bad effect on you today, not the other guy. Keep your temper in check.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you're not up to doing your work yourself, don't make the mistake of trying to persuade a coworker to do it for you. You'll only gain this person's hostility.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Taking activities with friends far too seriously could cause you to react in an unbecoming manner. It will hurt your social image.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Pushing too hard for something you think you need will get you branded as being bossy and dictatorial. Also, you may not attain your objective.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You don't have to prove yourself to anyone today. In fact, being boastful will be interpreted as arrogance and turn those you want to impress away from you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be certain you know what you are doing before you take another in on your plans. You could squander his or her resources as well as your own.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If someone tries to foist opinions off on you, you could let this person have it with both barrels. Before you do, ask yourself what you'd gain from such tactics.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Problems can arise today if you stick your nose in places where it doesn't belong, like other people's business. Stay out of everyone else's affairs.

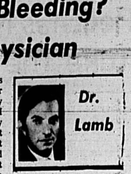
Unusual Bleeding? See A Physician



DEAR DR. LAMB — I was without good red blood for many years during my menstruation. Now at age 59 I had good red blood when my period started. I didn't think it was normal to menstruate at 59 so I went to the doctor and he did a D and C to scrape out the lining of the uterus. He said I had endometrial hyperplasia which he said was a thickening of the tissue. He said a number of women have this condition and if the bleeding recurred, that he would recommend a hysterectomy. I told him that I didn't want to have my uterus removed if there was nothing wrong with me.

I don't understand how the tissue got thickened and I'm writing to ask you what this condition is and if there's anything that can be done to correct it. Is there a special diet, I could follow or any corrective medicine I could take?

DEAR READER — You did the most important thing — seeing a physician to find out why you were bleeding. Any unexplained bleeding, which includes sudden onset of apparent menstrual bleeding in a woman in your age group, deserves immediate attention. It can be an early sign of cancer.

The lining of the uterus is called the endometrium. That lining is shed with each menstrual period. The large medical term your doctor used (endometrial hyperplasia) merely means that the lining has grown thicker than usual.

The examination you've had eliminates the possibility that there is any cancer of the uterus at this time. But I do believe that it is a warning that you may be at increased risk and you should carefully follow your doctor's advice and return regularly for checkups. And if there's any other bleeding or problem you'd be wise to follow his advice.

No one wants an unnecessary operation but if there is a danger that your endometrial lining is showing some abnormal changes, it's far better to have a hysterectomy than it is to suffer with the problem of endometrial cancer at a later date.

No, there are no reliable medicines and certainly no diet that would correct your problem for you.

You are right. It is not normal to menstruate at age 59. Any woman who bleeds then is either on medicines that induce artificial menstruation when they are supposed periodically or has a medical problem. Hormone imbalance can cause the cells lining the uterus (endometrium) to grow abnormally or cause overgrowth. The use of estrogens after the menopause have been linked to these changes and possible development of endometrial cancer.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 14-12 on Hysterectomies, Cystoceles and Rectoceles. Other readers who want this information can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

At his first turn, North didn't like his 10 high-card points and only bid two spades.

East, who had enough high cards and the right distribution, made a take-out double. South tried to block East-West by bidding three spades and now North came to life with four spades.

The contract would have been cold if West had led anything but a diamond. After the lead, South realised there was only one legitimate way to make the contract. The ploy of trying to sneak a small club past East is well known and was unlikely to succeed except against a very careless East.

South took the first diamond with dummy's ace and immediately cashed the heart queen, overtook the jack with his king and played his ace. On the third heart, to which everyone followed except dummy, South pitched one of North's small diamonds.

The fourth heart winner finished the defense. If West refused to ruff, declarer would pitch dummy's last diamond and lose only the ace of clubs and two high trumps. If West ruffed with his king of spades, dummy would discard the last diamond and South would only lose to the two black aces.

Finally, if West ruffed with his deuce of trumps, dummy would overruff. Declarer would then lead a round of trumps and East's ace and West's king would crash together.

Traffic Ticket In Sanford Leads To $160,000 Lawsuit

By DAVID M. RAZLER
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford Police Chief Ben Butler and City Attorney Vernon Mize Jr. will spend today in a federal courtroom defending a 1974 traffic ticket arrest which has led to a $160,000 lawsuit.

Trial of the suit filed by a North Carolina businessman, charging the arrest of one of his employees six years ago cost him her services and led to a business loss of $10,000 a year, began Wednesday before Federal District Judge John A. Reed Jr. in Orlando's federal courthouse.

Businessman James D. Sullivan, operator of the "Baby History Plan," claims the March 29, 1974, arrest of employee Linda Burnside, now of New York, caused her to quit his business a few months later. He is asking more than $160,000 be awarded him by the City.

Burnside was held overnight in the county jail on that date, when she was stopped by Sanford police officer Richard Bennett, who found she had only a New York driver's license.

When she admitted she had been working in Florida for more than 30 days, Bennett arrested Burnside on a charge of having an improper driver's license. Under state law, transient salesmen must obtain a Florida license if they are in the state 30 days or more.

Sullivan, who is representing himself before the court, says the arrest violated Burnside's civil rights. He claims the incident led Burnside to feel insecure about driving through the country alone, causing her to perform badly on the job and eventually leave it a few months later.

He says she would have brought his company $10,000 a year in sales and asks $60,000 for lost sales for the years since the arrest, 6 percent interest on that amount, and $100,000 punitive damages from the Sanford police.

The city's response to Sullivan's charges states the arrest was perfectly proper. Police had probable cause to arrest Burnside for violation of the state law, because she had no Florida license and said she had been in Sanford more than 30 days, it says.

Sullivan claimed federal, not local courts, had jurisdiction in the matter, because it concerns a civil rights issue and he is a resident of North Carolina suing a Florida municipal agency.

Burnside is listed as an "unwilling plaintiff" but would not profit from any of the money her former boss is claiming, court records indicate.

Burnside was employed to travel from state to state, selling the "Baby History Plan," an $89.95 package consisting of a photo album and a certificate good at several local photo studios for 16 portraits of a child taken over an eight-year period.

Several Sanford city officials said they had thought the suit, first filed in 1976, had died long ago. But court records say it simply sat dormant due to delays won by Sullivan.

The trial is expected to conclude Friday, when the jury of six men will decide whether anyone's civil rights were violated, and if so, how much Sullivan should be awarded.

Sealift Slows

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — Weary Americans got a breather from the Cuban refugee influx today, giving time for a scheduled takeover of security duty by U.S. Marines, but a Florida National Guard officer said the sealift lull was likely to be only temporary.

"It's slacked off, but we go into periods like this from time to time. Then they'll start coming at you again," said National Guard Maj. Raymond Daniel.

In the first third of the day, only seven boats reached Key West with 304 refugees. That brought the refugees total since April 21 to 24,451 aboard 333 boats.

Radio Havana, in a broadcast monitored in Miami, reported today that as of midnight Wednesday there were 1,381 boats still waiting to load in the harbor at Mariel. It reported 3,068 "anti-socials" left Cuba on Wednesday.

U.S. Customs inspectors counted 4,051 Cuban refugees arriving in Key West aboard 80 boats Wednesday.

Two detachments of Marines in camouflage uniforms arrived at Key West late Wednesday. Shortly before their arrival, National Guardsmen had broken up a series of scuffles among refugees at the old seaplane hangar of the Trumbo annex at Key West's Naval Air Station. Refugees were battling for places in the lines to board buses.

"They don't want to lose their place in line. They're not bad people. They just want to get out of here," said Lt. Col. Richard Capps of the National Guard.

The Miami Herald — quoting unnamed sources — reported in its Thursday editions the FBI has identified at least 20 Cuban secret agents among the refugees. Arthur Nehrbass, special agent in charge of the Miami FBI office, declined to say how many suspected Castro agents have been found.

Paid Job-Hunting Lessons? County Rejects Program

By DIANE PETRYK
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County Commission has turned down a proposal to sponsor a private firm's application for $195,881 in federal grant money to start a school to teach CETA-qualified workers how to look for a job and that would pay them by the hour for attendance.

But Seminole County Personnel Director Lois Martin said there is still a possibility the proposal will pass at a later date, when the commissioners become more familiar with Title VII of CETA, the federal Comprehensive Employment and Training Act.

Title VII, she said, is designed to get private industry involved in helping the economically disadvantaged get jobs. The county, however, must by law act as prime sponsor for CETA programs.

Martin said the commission has agreed to hold a work session to discuss the proposal further, but a date for the session has not been set.

Under the proposal, each student would be paid $3.10 per hour to attend a 30-hour-per-week, three-week course. The balance of the funds would be used for the private firm's administrative costs.

The grant became available due to a change in direction for CETA.

CETA was designed to help economically disadvantaged persons get public-sector jobs, Martin said.

But the proposal for a Self-Directed Job Search Program is designed to teach "CETA eligibles" who cannot be placed in public jobs how to seek jobs in private industry, she said.

Four county commissioners, however, did not see the need for it. Only Commissioner Bob French voted for the proposal.

French said he thought the program would provide a good opportunity for "some of the young people just coming into the labor market to be introduced to the realities of looking for a job."

He said the participants would be taught some of the "more subtle" things they need to know to get a job but don't always hear about.

Commission Chairman Bill Kirchhoff called the grant "candy" for the private firm hoping to obtain it and criticized the opinion he said was held by many that money must be spent just because it's there.

The firm, Southern Human Resources Company, is owned by Don E. Yontz of Altamonte Springs.

Yontz denied allegations that the firm was established just to take advantage of the grant, stating that the company was established in October 1979, before he had heard about the grant.

He said the Southern Human Resources was created primarily for consulting and recruiting professional people for salaried positions in major industries and business. He said he learned about the possibility of the CETA grant "from various people I know in the community" who could not think of anyone better qualified than myself and who I hire" for the grant. He declined to say who those people were.

According to a paper issued by Martin, the firm has not conducted programs for the county, so county staff "could not evaluate the agency's operational performance."

Despite that, county staff recommended approval of the proposal and Martin reported that the Private Industry Council, at its meeting on April 8, also decided to recommend it.

The Self-Directed Job Search Program proposed would "assist participants in developing motivation, positive habits and attitudes, and realistic expectations in order to increase their ability to obtain and retain employment, Martin wrote.

It was predicted that "at least 65 percent of the participants would obtain employment after completing the program, Martin's report added.

Yontz explained that the program would be designed to give people the positive attitude that they CAN find a job and at the same time provide them with the tools and techniques they need to obtain gainful employment in today's "complicated job market."

Legislation To Allow Sunday Wagering Passes

A bill to permit the operation of pari-mutuel wagering establishments on Sundays passed the Florida House of Representatives on third reading today and now will go on to the state Senate for further action.

Prior to its passage, State Rep. Bobby Brantley, R-Longwood, was successful in tacking on an amendment to the bill requiring local approval by referendum before the establishments can open on Sundays.

Despite his success in amending the legislation, Brantley voted against the measure.

Mystery

9 Coffins From Raid Arrive

DOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Del. (UPI) — Military officials estimate it will take several days for pathologists to identify the remains of the eight American servicemen killed in Iran and clear up the mystery of the ninth coffin.

Defense Department and civilian pathologists began the task of trying to identify the remains after the nine coffins were delivered to the base mortuary Tuesday night.

A Pentagon spokesman said Wednesday the pathologists did not know how long the task would take, but estimated identification would be completed in several days.

The bodies were contained in nine coffins, apparently because Iranian officials insisted nine Americans died in the aborted rescue mission. U.S. sources said only four of the bodies were intact.

The Pentagon said eight American soldiers were killed in an aircraft collision and fire on an Iranian desert April 25 as U.S. forces were ending an attempt to free the American hostages being held by Iranian militants in Tehran.

A base spokesman said the discrepancy between the number of coffins and the number of reported dead "will be reconciled during the identification process."

Armed guards surrounded the base mortuary, continuing the shroud of secrecy that cloaked the return of the charred remains to the United States.

President Carter will deliver the eulogy during a national memorial service at Arlington National Cemetery Friday for the American servicemen who died in the rescue attempt.

Families of the five Air Force men and three Marines killed have been invited to attend along with Defense Department officials, members of Congress, the Supreme Court and the Cabinet.

Flagship Bank Takes Option In Lake Mary

Flagship Bank of Seminole has taken out an option to purchase a five-acre parcel on Lake Mary Boulevard at Sun Street in Lake Mary for future development of a permanent banking facility, according to Irene Brown, vice president and marketing officer of the banking institution.

Mrs. Brown said construction of a permanent bank is not planned at the site this year.

"When we opened the 'storefront bank' in Driftwood Plaza, we anticipated within 18 months or so there would be a need to expand and found this property and tied it up," she said.

The Flagship Bank at the Driftwood Plaza opened Dec. 26, 1979. Facilities at Driftwood Plaza are leased.

Option to purchase the Lake Mary Boulevard tract must be exercised by February, 1981, according to Mrs. Brown.

The option was taken out with John Squires, president of Combank—Seminole, and Altamonte Springs attorney, Gary Massey.

Although he's president of ComBank-Seminole, Squires said he did not offer the site to his own firm because he felt it would be unethical.

"First of all, I would be the one to say yes for ComBank to purchase the site, having determined it's what we should be doing, and further I would be in charge of it for Combank, so I just feel personally it wouldn't be right," said Squires.

Squires said he and Massey bought the five-acre parcel more than a year ago "as an investment."
