'I Killed My Baby... It Ruined My Life'

Woman Claims She Bombed Abortion Clinic

PENSACOLA (UPI) — A woman sent an anonymous letter to a Pensacola newspaper claiming she had helped firebomb three clinics Christmas Day because she regretted having an abortion and wanted to "put an end to the murder of babies."

The letter writer said the violence was "justifiable in saving innocent lives."

The Pensacola News-Journal received the typewritten letter Thursday and turned it over to the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, which is investigating the explosions that destroyed one clinic and highly damaged two others.

ATF agent Dan Conroy said "appropriate" laboratory tests will be made on the letter, which the bureau is taking seriously.

"We're taking everything seriously," he said.

The letter hinted that if the clinics are reopened, there may be more violence.

"I did not act alone," the writer said. "And if these clinics are opened again, we will see that they are closed again."

The writer said that as a single woman stationed in Pensacola with the Navy, she became pregnant and underwent an abortion. She later regretted the action, and did not want "what happened to me to happen to anyone else," she said.

She said she was nearly six months pregnant when she had the abortion and that she was told the fetus was "just a shapeless blob."

"Later after it was too late," the letter said, "a friend gave me some literature one day showing how the baby developed at different stages. I never realized that at that stage, a fetus is so much a baby that some of them that have been born at that point and lived!"

"Well, you cannot imagine what that did to me, knowing that I had not just

"had an unwanted intra-uterine growth removed," but had killed my baby? It just about ruined my life. Even today, several years later, I lay awake at night sometimes crying about it," the writer said.

"So maybe you can understand my reason for doing what I did.

"It was not because of religious fanaticism... I don't even go to church.

"It was because I had seen for myself what the psychological effects of an abortion can do to a woman, and I didn't want what happened to me to happen to anyone else," said the undated letter.

The writer also justified the use of violence, saying it was necessary to "stop the slaughter of the innocent."

"We used a lot of violence in World War II to stop the killing of the Jews. It is a well-established principle of justice that force, even deadly force, is justified in order to save innocent lives if necessary. So, I do not feel that I have done anything wrong," she said.

"We will put an end to the murder of babies. And we will prevent any more lives from being ruined," concluded the letter, signed "A Woman Who Knew What She Was Doing."

Judge's Wife Gets Top Job; 'No Conflict,' Berrien Says

By Deane Jordan
Herald Staff Writer

A circuit court judge's wife who worked in the political campaign of Seminole County clerk of court-elect David Berrien will receive a top post in Berrien's administration.

Berrien

Mona McGregor, wife of Seminole Circuit Judge Robert B. McGregor, will be appointed supervisor of the criminal records division when Berrien assumes office Jan. 8, Berrien announced today.

Berrien said Mrs. McGregor, former assistant Seminole courts coordinator, was being appointed to the position because the job was open and because she has 20 years experience in working for county government, 15 of those years in Seminole County.

He said he did not think it was a conflict of interest to give her a job in the same circuit in which her husband is a judge. The position pays $15,080 to $21,340 annually.

Berrien confirmed that Mrs. McGregor was involved in his campaign but that was not why she was appointed to the supervisory position, he said.

"I appointed her because of her experience," he said.

Out-going clerk of court Arthur Beckwith said he did not know if Mrs. McGregor's appointment constituted a conflict of interest. He said he assumed the issue had been considered by Berrien before he made the announcement.

"I don't have any problem with it. It is a problem they will have to address."

Mrs. McGregor's appointment is not the only change Berrien has made since defeating Beckwith for the clerk's post last month. The appointments of two new employees and the reinstatement of a supervisor brings the total of changes in the office since the November election to six out of 108 positions.

Yvonne Ford, of Sanford, a legal secretary in the Public Defender's Office, will be appeals coordinator, Berrien said. She will be replacing Jan Cowley who will not be reappointed, he said. The appeals coordinator handles and files all Seminole cases that are being appealed to a high court. Berrien said the move was, as with other appointments, an effort by him as the new administrator to install people he wanted in various positions.

Another appointment, which will also cause an internal transfer, will be that of Eve Crabtree as supervisor of the civil division which records and stores civil suits, divorces, support and child custody cases.

Mrs. Crabtree was supervisor of the division until she left in September. She said today that she left because she was not allowed to use her expertise

Uplifting Experience

The simple ladder couldn't quite get Richard Mazzola up to the top of an evergreen tree to take down Christmas decorations Thursday at Rhodes and Sons Nursery on U.S. 17-92 in Longwood. So he relied on more mechanical means of elevation. The company sold 2,800 of its 4,089 Christmas trees. But company didn't let the other 1,289 go to waste. They were ground up as mulch.

Medicare Freeze Plan Worries Area Hospitals

From Staff and Wire Reports

President Reagan's proposal to freeze Medicare payments to doctors and hospitals has administrators at two Seminole County hospitals worried the quality of health care will decline.

Jim Tesar, administrator at Central Florida Regional Hospital, said today that hospitals can't afford to absorb the costs Medicare won't pay. With the cost of salaries and supplies skyrocketing, a freeze in Medicare payments would force the hospital to pass on those costs to middle and upper class consumers, he said. The only other choice would be to cut back services and that means the quality of health care would go down, he added.

"You can only offer so much service for a dollar," Tesar said. "There's no such thing as free health care."

Robert Blumentritt, administrator at South Seminole Community Hospital in Longwood, agreed with Tesar that if payments are frozen the amount and quality of health services could go down in the long run.

The effects of a freeze may not be that damaging, Blumentritt said, because fewer people are checking into hospitals for treatment. He said because people are doing more to stay fit, hospitals are saving money.

He added that he had no problem with taking money from Medicare to pay for the federal deficit, "as long as money is also taken from other areas... like defense."

'You can only offer so much service for a dollar... There's no such thing as free health care.'

Reagan's proposal is also being opposed by officials worried that some hospitals will be forced to close and care for the elderly may be threatened.

Reagan confirmed Thursday that "we are thinking about" asking Congress for a one-year freeze in Medicare payments to hospitals and doctors, with no allowance for inflation, plus an increase for the base amount Medicare recipients pay for medical care.

The story first appeared in The Washington Post, and Reagan was asked about it as he prepared to leave for a California vacation.

"Medical care is the fastest increasing service that we have with regard to inflation," Reagan said.

A freeze would be a continuation of present guidelines, he said. "It's something we're talking about as part of the whole budget process — the deficit process. It wouldn't be a further cut; it would be a continuation of the freeze."

He said it would be approved as part of his deficit reduction package "if that's what we need."

Longwood Audit Sought

Smerilson Has Best Shot At Mayor's Post

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Second-year city commissioner Harvey Smerilson is thought to have the votes necessary to be named Longwood Mayor next week.

Meanwhile Smerilson said Thursday results of a upcoming budget review and independent audit, spurred by an apparent budget surplus of $350,000 could lead to criminal action against a city official.

With newly elected commissioners Larry Goldberg and Perry Faulkner scheduled to be sworn in at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at city hall, the new regime is not wasting any time.

Following the ceremony, a special meeting to name the new mayor and deputy mayor and take care of other organizational business will be held. The session was instigated by Smerilson.

Poll on their choice for mayor, the commissioners preferences were as follows: Ed Myers — Goldberg for mayor and June Lormann, deputy mayor; Mrs. Lormann — she has served as mayor and would take the job again; Goldberg — Smerilson for mayor; Faulkner — Smerilson; and Smerilson feels he best meets qualifications for the job.

Although not on the announced agenda, Smerilson, Goldberg, and Faulkner have vowed to seek the immediate dismissal of City Administrator David Chacey, who has already submitted his resignation effective March 1, with his last working day on Feb. 7 to allow him to use up the 15 days of time he has coming to him.

Chacey, 66, who has been employed by the city for 10 years, first as building inspector then as city administrator with the city, was a factor in the Dec. 4 city election and the Dec. 18 run-off. The winners campaigned on the promise to oust him from the post. If Smerilson has his way, Chacey will need a ride home from Wednesday night's meeting as he will be told to turn in the keys to his city car.

Smerilson has been the commission's most vocal critic of Chacey and, while other commissioners evaluated Chacey's performance highly in a review required by a recently passed charter amendment, Smerilson rated him extremely low.

Smerilson charged that Chacey had listed the city's projected budget surplus as $295,000 in October, while the November budget report listed it at $562,000. He then wondered why taxes and sewer and water rates had to be increased.

"I have all kinds of questions about the $350,000 in uncommitted funds," he said, indicating his proposed audit could lead to criminal action if improperly found.

Chacey said today Smerilson's criticism of the size of the city's carryover from the 83-84 fiscal year, is "just a deliberate lie and another one of his harrassments."

He said that the carry-over was due to projects that had been due for completion in 1984, but were carried over into the next year's budget. They include paving of Range Line Road and drainage amounting to $202,000; extension of the No. 1 fire station, $15,000; and drainage in the West Lake area, $10,000. Unexpected increases from gasoline taxes, sales tax, building permit fees and occupational licenses accounted for much of the surplus, he said.

Chacey said Smerilson and the other commissioners had been informed of the expected increase after the budget revisions were approved on Nov. 7.

Four of the presently seated commissioners have unofficially accepted his resignation as of March 1, but the city attorney Frank Kruppenbacher has given the opinion that action on the resignation can only taken officially at a commission meeting.

'Big Brother Failed To Appear'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The year 1984 will pass into history without George Orwell's "Big Brother" on the scene, regardless of the technology now available to pry into people's privacy, says World Future Society President Edward Cornish.

"Despite global troubles since World War II, events have turned out to be much more favorable than Orwell anticipated" in his novel "1984," Cornish said.

Taking parts of Orwell's political satire on totalitarianism, Cornish said the world is not divided into three warring super powers called Oceania, Eurasia and Eastasia. Huge pictures of Big Brother do not appear on every wall. No telescreens keep watch on people in their homes. And there have been no atomic wars since the 1940s, as Orwell's novel stated.

Cornish said recent progress in technology has provided all kinds of means to invading people's privacy such as electronic "ears" to eavesdrop on private conversations, videocameras and credit bureaus with electronic dossiers of people's financial habits.

Burned Boy's Treatment Expected To Begin

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Doctors at the Shriners Burn Institute for Crippled Children expected to begin treatment today on 11-year-old Paul Edward Jewell of Orlando, who was critically injured when a homemade bomb exploded Christmas Day.

The boy arrived at the Cincinnati hospital Thursday night after a 3-hour flight from Florida and was placed in the hospital's intensive care unit, said hospital spokeswoman Sandy Shackelford. He was in critical but stable condition early today.

"He will be evaluated tonight, and that evaluation probably will continue through the night," Shackelford said. "His treatment will begin immediately after that evaluation."

Jewell, who celebrated his birthday on Christmas Day, was putting air in a bicycle tire when the bomb attached to a coin-operated air compressor exploded. He suffered third-degree burns over about 60 percent of his body and his right leg was nearly severed. Doctors in Florida operated for eight hours and said there is a 20-percent chance the limb can be saved.

At Shriners, he is expected to undergo synthetic skin grafts and other specialized treatment.

"It's a horrible injury," said Dr. Harry Tucker, one of the Florida physicians. "It's the same as what you see when you step on a land mine."

All of his expenses will be paid for by the Bahia Shrine Temple in Orlando. Paul's mother, Sinda Aisept, accompanied her son to Cincinnati.

Meanwhile, Orange County, Florida, authorities searched for clues in the bombing. However, investigators had not established a motive or come up with any suspects.

Orange County Sheriff's Capt. John Guemple said the bomb was made by "someone who knew what he was doing."

"We're working on all leads and we're doing the best we can," said Joyce Drazen, spokeswoman for sheriff's department. "But that's about it."

Funds have been set up for Paul at Sun Bank and Pan American Bank. Nearly $20,000 had been pledged by late Thursday.

Meanwhile, two rewards — $5,000 from the Shop & Go store chain and $1,000 from the Orlando-area CrimeLine program — were offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the bomber.

IN BRIEF

Child Sex Abuse Spinoff May Be Closed To News Media

SHAKOPEE, Minn. (UPI) — A judge will have to rule on whether to allow reporters inside the courtroom to cover a controversial child custody suit that stems from the Jordan, Minn., sex abuse investigation.

Principals in the case failed to reach a compromise late Thursday, leaving Chief Appeals Court Judge Peter Popovich to rule sometime today on the legality of a gag order issued by Scott County family court Judge John Schmidt.

Schmidt's order bars the news media from the courtroom, as is customary in family court proceedings, and also bans disclosure of the names of the children, their parents or attorneys for either side.

The custody hearing involves three children of a Jordan couple, once charged with sexual abusing two of them, who are trying to get them back from foster homes.

Criminal charges against the parents and 19 other adults were dropped in October.

Nine sets of parents are seeking the return of 22 children in family court proceedings.

Another Implant Patient Sought

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — As artificial heart patient Bill Schroeder continues his slow recovery from a stroke, doctors have scheduled tests to screen candidates for another mechanical heart implant.

Schroeder, 52, took his first shower Thursday since receiving his plastic and metal heart Nov. 25, and "really enjoyed" it, said Linda Broadus, a spokesman for Humana Hospital Audubon.

Polly Brown, the director of the Humana Heart Institute at the hospital, said "several" candidates were to undergo the tests after New Year's Day at the hospital.

Brown said because doctors were still waiting for records on some patients, she did not know how many candidates would undergo the test to become the world's third permanent artificial heart recipient.

First Family Making Up

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — President Reagan, at long last, looked forward to meeting his youngest grandchild today as part of a summit meeting with his son, Michael.

The all-star family feud that broke out just before Thanksgiving — when Nancy Reagan said there was an "estrangement" with Michael — was working toward resolution.

A source close to the Reagan family said Michael, 38, a Los Angeles area businessman, would visit the president's suite at the posh Century Plaza Hotel at 4 p.m. PST.

Michael, who has complained that the family problem was due to his stepmother's jealousy and resentment of him, would not comment on the meeting.

OPEC Nears Accord On Oil Pricing System

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — OPEC oil ministers pressured lone hold-out Nigeria today to accept a special monitoring committee to enforce production and pricing agreements.

Creation of such an auditing group was approved Thursday night by 12 of the 13 OPEC countries in a bid to prevent cheating on output quotas and prices and thus restore credibility to the cartel.

Nigerian oil minister Tam David-West, however, demanded a package deal which reportedly would allow his debt-ridden country to produce more oil at a lower price.

Ministers also were haggling over price differentials — the range of prices for low-quality heavy and top-quality light grades above and below the $29 per barrel OPEC reference level.

Palace Drug Trafficking Probed

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) — Four people were reportedly arrested on the first day of President Betancur's military investigation into drug trafficking in his palace, from which shipments of cocaine were sent to Spain.

Betancur launched the investigation Thursday, a day after Foreign Relations Minister Augusto Ramirez said the cocaine had been shipped to the Colombian Embassy in Spain from the press office inside the presidential palace.

The second secretary at the Colombian Embassy, Gustavo Jacome, was arrested in Madrid Monday and accused of using his diplomatic privileges to smuggle the drug from Colombia to Spain.

The privately run radio station, Caracol, reported two employees of the government prosecutor's office in Bogota and two from the palace press office were arrested Thursday night and taken to a military facility.

Vietnamese Target Rebel HQ

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — Cambodian guerrillas today battled Vietnamese troops for control of a key rebel base as thousands of civilians fled another border camp thought to be Vietnam's next target.

That military sources and leaders of the rebel Khmer Peoples National Liberation Front said the guerrillas had regained control of about half of the KPRLF base at Nong Samet, which fell to Vietnamese forces on Christmas Day.

That military sources and guerrilla leaders agreed that Ampil, the KPRLF military headquarters, was the prime target of the current Vietnamese offensive, which began in mid-November with Hanoi's capture and burning of the guerrilla base at nearby Nong Chan.

5 Others Died When Plane Cracked Up

Crash Victim Still Missing

BRADLEY JUNCTION, Fla. (UPI) — Searchers fanned out on horseback in the rugged terrain of a phosphate mining complex today, looking for the body of a man apparently thrown from a disintegrating airplane as it plummeted to earth.

The bodies of five victims were recovered Thursday from the main portion of the single-engine Piper Cherokee, which landed upside down at International Minerals and Chemicals' Kingsfort mine Wednesday night.

The recovered bodies were identified as those of the pilot, James B. Long Sr., 45, a stockbroker from Bloomington, Ill., his children, Vickie, 14, James Jr., 12, and Susan, 8, and his sister-in-law, Barbara Long, 49, also of Bloomington, Ill.

The missing man was identified as Long's brother Gerrold, 50.

Authorities said Long was divorced and his children lived with their mother Linda Long in Chicago. She had given him the children over the Christmas holidays and he was flying them and his brother and his wife to Naples, Fla., for a vacation.

National Transportation Safety Board spokesman George Praelzo said late Thursday investigators had not determined an exact cause for the crash, but said the initial investigation showed it did not crash in one piece.

"An examination of the area shows that the airplane actually broke up in flight," he said. "There are many things that could happen to cause that."

He said that could include the pilot's loss of control, or airplane failure.

The right wing was missing and debris was scattered on a straight line for about two miles. A golf bag was found a mile from the impact area and golf clubs were found several hundred yards from the crash in all directions.

The plane did not burn after impact.

"It fell flat to the ground," said Polk County Sheriff's Lt. Grady Judd. "There were no skid marks."

The Federal Aviation Administration said the plane — which was registered to Swartz Restaurant Corp. of Decatur, Ill. — left Columbus, Ga., for Naples at 5:45 p.m. Wednesday and disappeared from the radar screen at Tampa International Airport, about 35 miles northwest of Bradley Junction, at 8:35 p.m. The pilot had filed a flight plan with the names of the six passengers.

"The plane was flying under instrument flight rules and we just don't know at this point what happened," FAA spokesman Jack Barker said in Atlanta. "It lost radar and radio contact almost immediately and there was no indication of problems by radio. It just disappeared off the radar screen."

Authorities said the plane was flying at an altitude of between 8,000 feet and 9,000 feet when it disappeared from the screen.

"The aircraft came down very fast," Barker said. "Whatever happened, happened very suddenly. It will be up to the National Transportation Safety Board to determine why the aircraft went down."

Court: Man Had Right To Die

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — An elderly man who waged an unsuccessful legal battle to be disconnected from a respirator before dying had a right to be removed from the life-sustaining mechanism, a state appeals court has ruled.

"The right of a competent adult patient to refuse medical treatment is a constitutionally guaranteed right which must not be abridged," the 2nd District Court of Appeal ruled Thursday.

William Bartling, 70, died last month, the day before the appellate court heard arguments on whether he should have had the right to order doctors at Glendale Adventist Medical Center to remove the life-support system.

The unanimous decision by the three-judge panel reversed a ruling by a Superior Court judge denying Bartling the right to order his doctors to disconnect the respirator.

The appellate court ruling said that Bartling knew he would die if the respirator was disconnected "but nevertheless preferred death to life sustained by mechanical means."

Man Out To Buy Marijuana Beaten, Robbed

A Sanford man reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies that he was beaten and robbed by four men when he got out of his car to make a marijuana buy.

Paul Roland Bolduc, 24, of 2013 Washington St., said when the men approached his car as he drove on Brissson Street at about 9 p.m. Thursday, he got out of his car and was knocked down and beaten. Bolduc told investigators he had hoped to buy pot from the men, sheriff's Capt. Jay Leman said.

The assailants took Bolduc's wallet containing $100, a $50 watch and his .357-caliber revolver which is valued at $450 and fled, a sheriff's report said.

Bolduc refused treatment for injuries he received in the attack, Leman said.

TWO SHOTS FIRED
A woman who reportedly fired two shots at a man during an argument has been charged with aggravated assault with a firearm and was being held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Sanford police report the pair were arguing and fighting Wednesday in the woman's apartment when she fired a shot at Tyrone Redding. As Redding fled to the parking lot, the woman again fired the .32-caliber pistol, a police report said.

Patricia Ann Holder, 25, of 2850 Ridgewood Apartments #127, Sanford, was arrested at Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford, at 4:25 a.m. Wednesday.

—8:32 p.m., 3301 S. Sanford Ave., rescue. A patient needed a ride to the hospital.

Murderer: 'Killing Is Wrong'

Victim's Parents Celebrate Execution

ANGOLA, La. (UPI) — The stepfather of a high school graduate who was raped and stabbed to death four years ago celebrated with a drink early today after a seemingly defiant Robert Lee Willie was executed.

Elizabeth and Vernon Harvey, the mother and stepfather of Willie's 18-year-old victim, Faith, watched the execution but refused comment until they passed through the prison gates about 30 minutes later.

"Do you want to dance?" a smiling Harvey asked a reporter. Lounging in his van, he said he was going to "have a drink, then go home and relax."

Willie, pronounced dead at 12:15 a.m. after four alternating 2,000- and 500-volt currents of electricity passed through his body, directed his final statement at the Harveys.

"I would just like to say, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey, I hope you get some relief from my death," he said tonelessly.

His final plea for clemency was denied by the state Pardon Board last month.

The Harveys continuously voiced their support for the death penalty, often appearing outside the prison for other executions.

The victim's sister, Elizabeth, 14, awaited Willie's execution — Louisiana's sixth since last December — with a small pro-death penalty group outside the prison gates.

"We hope to tell the murderers that if they shoot, stab or kill somebody, they're going to face the electric chair," the sister said.

Asked whether she thought Willie would be uncomfortable having the Harveys watch the execution, she said, "He saw my sister die. She asked him to leave her alone and let her die. Why should he have the right to die by himself?"

Warden Frank Blackburn said Willie, appearing quite and reserved, was visited Thursday by his mother, four brothers and a spiritual adviser.

Willie, who confessed to other unrelated killings, winked at his adviser just before the execution hood was lowered over his head.

Blackburn said he asked Willie hours before the execution whether he wanted to relay any messages to the news media.

The warden said Willie replied, laughing, "Tell them I'm still alive."

Two Killed When Plane Crashes In Tomato Field

HOMESTEAD (UPI) — Two men were killed when their small private airplane skimmed a row of pine trees and crashed into a tomato field several miles south of the Homestead General Aviation Airport.

"The plane was apparently trying to land in a field, but struck trees bordering the field, resulting in the crash," said Metro-Dade County police spokesman William Johnson.

Farm workers discovered the mangled four-seater Piper PA28 in the field about 8:30 a.m. Thursday. Its two occupants were already dead, police spokesman Larry Chilson said.

The plane's engine was cold, and the craft appeared to have been downed for several hours prior to the discovery of the wreckage, investigators said.

The crash is believed to have occurred sometime between 3:30 p.m. Wednesday and 7 a.m. Thursday, police said. The plane was registered to a Miami man, but identities of the victims were withheld pending notification of their relatives.

Hackers Face Phone Charges

COCOA (UPI) — Teenage "hackers" accused of using their home computers to access codes for a discount long-distance telephone service and running up thousands of dollars in illegal calls could face state and federal charges.

Officials with the Transcall America long-distance phone service said Thursday the company plans to press charges against the hackers following the conclusion of their investigation.

Joe Rudd, security chief for Atlanta-based Transcall, said five teenagers used their home computers to learn the access codes and put them on computer "bulletin boards" so others could use them.

Rudd said Transcall investigators have identified 18 juveniles who used the codes to make illegal calls. He said they made $12,000 worth of illegal long-distance calls, but the dollar amount could rise as the investigation continues.

'Messenger To The Dead' Dies

FORT LAUDERDALE (UPI) — A terminally ill man who promised to deliver messages to the dead for $20 each has died and is to be cremated with the 30-odd notes he "guaranteed" to distribute in the hereafter.

Ken McAvoy, 42, died of a brain tumor Christmas Day. Realizing that his death was near, he placed a newspaper ad four months ago offering to carry messages to the dead.

His wife, Missy, said McAvoy lapsed into a coma a week ago and died Tuesday at 7 p.m. in North Broward Medical Center. All his personal belongings were returned to her except the papers containing about 30 messages he had collected for the dead.

"They're with him, and I think he'll deliver those messages. I know he remembers them all," Mrs. McAvoy said.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Travelers were stalled, stranded and killed by fog, rain and snow that dotted the nation today from California to New York. A thousand people spent the night at Detroit's fog-shrouded airport and seven died in plane crashes. Freezing drizzle and fog made roads treacherous today from the Dakotas to New England, as much as a foot of snow blanketed the Rockies, dense fog pushed up from the Gulf Coast and rain pelted Arizona and California. All four people aboard a light plane were killed Thursday night in a crash during a heavy rainstorm near Upland, Calif. Three died in Arkansas when their plane hit a mountain obscured by fog that reduced visibility to 50 feet. About 1,000 travelers were stranded early today at the Detroit Metropolitan Airport because of fog, said Charles Howell, a Wayne County sheriff's deputy.

AREA FORECAST: Partly sunny and warm today with a high in the low to mid 80s. East wind 10 to 15 mph. Tonight and Saturday fair except for a few areas of late night and morning fog. Mild with low near 60 to mid 60s. High near 80 to mid 80s. Light wind tonight and southeast 10 mph Saturday. Outlook through New Year's day continued fair and mild.

AREA READINGS (9 a.m.): temperature: 67; overnight low: 64; Thursday's high: 81; barometric pressure: 30.41; relative humidity: 100 percent; winds: northeast at 7 mph; rain: .02 inch; sunrise: 7:17 a.m., sunset: 5:37 p.m.

SATURDAY TIDES: Daytona Beach: highs, 12:48 a.m., 1:10 p.m.; lows, 6:49 a.m., 7:21 p.m.; Port Canaveral: highs, 12:40 a.m., 1:02 p.m.; lows, 6:40 a.m., 7:12 p.m.; Bayport: highs, 5:31 a.m., 6:29 p.m.; lows, 11:56 a.m., 12:09 p.m.

BOATING FORECAST: St. Augustine to Jupiter Inlet out 50 miles — Small craft should exercise caution. East wind 15 to 20 knots becoming east to southeast 15 knots tonight and Saturday. Sea 4 to 6 feet decreasing to 3 to 5 feet tonight.

...Freeze

"We're still going over it and discussing all of those things," he said.

An official with the Iowa Hospital Association warned that the proposed freeze could force many smaller hospitals in Iowa out of business.

Association spokesman John Ellerbach said a Medicare freeze would be "punitive" to smaller hospitals that derive nearly 33 percent of their revenues from Medicare patients. He said some rural hospitals rely on Medicare for more than 50 percent of their income.

Limiting Medicare increases would put a heavy burden on states like Iowa that have large populations of senior citizens, he said. "We're not at all happy about a proposed freeze," he said.

The Federation of American Hospitals warned immediately that "severe reductions in payment may result in the unavailability of services or rationing of care to the elderly."

Lower Interest Rates Boost Housing Sales

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Association of Realtors had a Christmas present for homeowners — sales of existing single-family homes soared in November following six consecutive months of decline.

The association said Thursday the median price of a home also increased to $72,500, up $500 from October, reflecting the increased demand.

In its monthly report, the group noted a 9.1 percent sales gain from October to November, bringing the seasonally adjusted annual rate to 2.89 million units.

"The main reason for the increase in sales is because of lower interest rates," said Frank Kutasak, vice president and director of Economics and Research for the association.

"The (mild) weather has also stimulated people to get back into the housing market which allows them to act on their housing needs prior to the springtime," he said.

The increase in resales follows a downturn that began last May and became progressively worse during the summer.

But, Kutasak said, "When interest rates began to fall we began to see resale activity pick up."

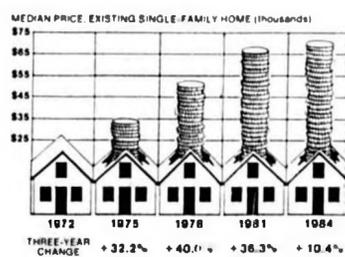

The healthy increase still was 6.5 percent below the 1984 peak sales rate of 3.09 million units recorded in April, and 30.4 percent below the 4.15 million annual sales rate of November 1978, the highest rate recorded by the association in the 16 years it has been keeping detailed records.

November resales were 7 percent above the sales rate of November 1983.

The South showed the largest gain — sales jumped 17.7 percent for the month. The Northeast reported an 8.5 percent gain, and sales were up 8 percent in the West. The only decline was in the Midwest, where existing homes sales were down 1.4 percent from October.

Median prices — the point at which half the prices are higher and half lower — showed the sharpest increase in the Northeast last month to $83,700, up $2,600 from October. Prices increased in the South

Costs go through the roof

The rate of increase in the cost of buying a home has slowed. But the median price of a single-family house has nearly tripled in the past 12 years, rising from $26,700 in 1972 to $72,500 in 1984.

The West, which has had the most expensive homes, saw prices fall $2,300 to a median price of $95,100. In the Midwest, median prices fell $400 to $55,600.

Kutasak said the strong showing "should translate into an improving economy in 1985," since "housing is a leading indicator of economic activity."

Agent Orange Vietnam Veterans Sue Government Seeking Compensation For Exposure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vietnam veterans, in a last ditch effort, have filed a $1.8 billion lawsuit against the federal government in an admittedly uphill attempt to win compensation for damage caused by exposure to Agent Orange.

The suit, filed Thursday in U.S. Claims Court in Washington, charges that the government forced the veterans to settle an earlier lawsuit for much less than they deserved.

The class action suit was filed by Houston attorney Benton Musslewhite, who said he has a "novel but viable case" against the government.

"Through the course of the tragic Vietnam conflict, and in particular that portion of it involving the spraying of our own servicemen with a highly toxic chemical, the United States government has undertaken a course of action that should make us all ashamed," Musslewhite said.

At the same time, he said: "If I were a betting man, I would not be betting a whole lot of money on myself."

The case stems from the settlement last May of a class action suit against the chemical companies that manufactured Agent Orange, a defoliant widely used in Vietnam. Veterans exposed to the chemical have reported a number of medical problems, including birth defects in their children.

In the settlement, the veterans and chemical companies agreed that the Agent Orange manufacturers would establish a $180 million fund to compensate the veterans.

Musslewhite said approximately 100,000 veterans have filed claims and the number could go as high as 125,000 by the Jan. 15 deadline.

The new suit claims the government, by having placed the contracts with the chemical companies under the Defense Production Act, enabled the companies to assert "derivative immunity" from lawsuits.

Thus, Musslewhite argued, veterans were forced to settle their $2 billion lawsuit for an amount substantially less than the true value of their claims.

Musslewhite's argument is based on the "Tucker Act," which provides for suits against the government based on breach of contract, or on the Constitution.

He said his suit is based both on breach of contract and a "taking" of the veterans property — their causes of action against the chemical companies — without due process of law.

"It's my view ... we're plowing new (legal) ground," Musslewhite told a news conference. "I would agree it is a difficult case. I realize its going to be an uphill battle."

The damages sought in the suit against the government are based on the difference between the original $2 billion suit against the chemical companies and the $180 million settlement.

You Should Be Getting Your Tax Form Soon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Without so much as a Happy New Year, the IRS has begun sending out federal income tax forms and instructions to some 94 million Americans.

The forms are sent out each year from Dec. 26 to Jan. 14, with most of them received by taxpayers by mid-January, said Wilson Fadely, a spokesman for the Internal Revenue Service.

In an effort to save postage, about 1.3 million business proprietors and others whose returns are prepared by professional accountants will receive postcards asking if they need tax forms.

Fadely said about 97 million returns were received for tax year 1983 and more than 100 million were expected for 1984.

The IRS will mail about 39 million packets containing the short forms — 1040A and 11-line 1040EX form, the latter tailored for single taxpayers — and about 53 million 1040 long forms.

The 1040 long forms will have these changes:

—Up to half of Social Security benefits will be taxable if total income exceeds $25,000 for single people or $32,000 for a couple filing a joint return.

—A higher limit for contribution deductions for those who do not itemize, amounting to 25 percent of the first $300 of contribution up to a limit of not $75.

—The "1 percent rule" for medicines and drugs is eliminated and a number of drugs that can be claimed are eliminated. Only drugs that are prescribed and insulin can be claimed.

—The disability income exclusion is replaced by a credit.

—A fuel credit for owners of diesel cars, light trucks and vans in model years after 1978.

—A general business credit on business-related items.

The final 5 percent of the three-stage 25 percent tax cut enacted in 1981 will be included in the tax return but filers will not be able to see it. Fadely explained the cut will be included in the appropriate schedule or table where the tax bill is provided.

Taxes are due on April 15, a Monday.

Indicators Strongest In 10 Months

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government's index of leading indicators, sensitive to improvements in the economy, registered a 1.3 percent increase in November, the biggest jump since February, the Commerce Department said today.

An increase in building permits and more money pumped into the economy by the Federal Reserve were the major positive factors for the month.

A total of nine of 11 available indicators contributed to the increase in the index, which has declined three times in six months.

The index is designed to anticipate what the economy will be doing in the future. Up until now the index has been reflecting the abrupt slowdown in the economy during the second half of the year and was down a revised 0.5 percent in October.

But economists hope that the latest decline in interest rates has improved the outlook for early next year, a scenario now reinforced by the leading indicators.

In addition to November's increase in building permits and the money supply, there also were substantial improvements in new orders for factory machinery, an increase in raw materials prices that suggested increased demand and a small increase in the formation of new businesses.

Smerilson, who said that even though the books were being audited Thursday by the accounting firm of Hartsock and Hartsock, he will seek another audit by an "independent auditor."

"I'm not accusing anyone of any criminal action or wrongdoing, but we need to investigate to see if there was any," Smerilson said. Hartsock's report is due March 30. The firm was reappointed at the Dec. 17 commission meeting over Smerilson's objection.

As to the demand for his immediate resignation, Chacey said it was okay with him but would be "an injustice to the city as none of the commissioners know all the projects going on in the city. I have invited the new commissioners in for a briefing, but didn't get any reply."

Members of the commission will also establish rules and procedures at the special meeting and appoint the mayor, deputy mayor and city clerk to sign checks (it takes signatures of two of the three on city checks) rather than wait until the first regularly scheduled commission meeting on Jan. 14.

gained after 8 years of working in the clerk's office. While she declined to cite specific instances as reasons for leaving, she said her rehiring was prompted by her knowledge of the various functions and procedures of the office and her value in the training of office personnel.

Donna Creamons, who is supervising the civil division, will return to the probate office where she worked before Mrs. Crabtree left. Berrien said he believes Mrs. Creamons' experience in probate is needed in that office rather than in the civil division.

Of a total of seven deputy clerk positions, Berrien has decided to replace three persons who worked for the man he defeated in the election, Arthur Beckwith.

One deputy clerk not being reappointed is Eloise Pfeiffauf, chief deputy clerk. She will be replaced by William A. Jacobs, of Winter Springs. Jacobs, according to Berrien, works for the Chelsea Title and Guaranty Co., of Sanford, and has several years experience in management and local government.

Another deputy clerk being replaced is Virginia "Ginny" Huff, financial services director for the clerk of court to the county commission. Her replacement is Bradley W. Lang, an accountant from Altamonte Springs. He will leave an Orlando accounting firm to take the position.

Billee L. Rozansky, of Winter Springs, has been chosen to take over as administrative assistant from Ashby Jones who is retiring in six months after 24 years of service to the county.

Berrien said Jones asked to retire in six months and was not, as previously reported, denied reappointment.

Four supervisors who will stay on after Berrien takes office are: Cheryl Greer, director of finances for the clerk of court; Barbara Swaggerty, director of computer services; Joan Wilke, director of court services, I; and, Jean Wilke, director of court services, II.

Learn To Deal With Terrorism

Secretary of State George Shultz should have toned down his rhetoric but remained ready to move against fanatics such as those involved in the recent hijacking of a Kuwaiti airliner in Iran.

Terrorism is a form of psychological warfare. It is suited for an era of almost instant communications in which a terrorist's demands can receive worldwide attention.

When a top U.S. official publicly promises unspecified "strong action" against a particular group of terrorists, he runs the risk of giving them status, of turning a group of previously anonymous extremists into an acknowledged foe of the United States. For some terrorists and would-be terrorists, that could be an incentive.

Other than expressing outrage, the United States has done little to respond to some acts of terrorism. The bombings of the U.S. Embassy and the Marine barracks in Beirut remain unavenged, despite talk by the United States of retaliation. And Shultz's aides said they knew of no specific plans to move against the group responsible for the Kuwaiti airliner hijacking.

The United States could learn a thing or two from the Israelis about combatting terrorism. Quiet — but deadly — force has been used to undermine the strength and the leadership of some groups trying to destroy Israel.

A serious campaign against terrorism could start with its most prominent sponsors, Libya and Iran. Countries practicing state-sponsored terrorism should have to pay a price in diplomatic or economic sanctions.

Still other terrorism is caused by free-lancers who are trying to advance religious, ethnic or personal causes. Beirut has become virtually a clearinghouse of international terrorism. The United States and its allies should have the capability to identify terrorist groups, to locate their hideouts and to take covert action when advisable.

Terrorism should end if it no longer works. Some terrorists seem to think they can carry out their attacks with little danger of reprisal. Talk without action doesn't hold much promise for improving the situation.

Priorities

Who says the United Nations suffers from muddled priorities? Why just the other day, the General Assembly voted 122-5, with 16 abstentions, to spend $73.5 million for a lavish international conference center in (you guessed it) Ethiopia.

Henceforth, the conference center will accommodate occasional meetings of the Economic Commission for Africa, a U.N. agency. But don't blame the commission alone. It was willing enough to make do with something more modest than the palace that $73.5 million will buy in East Africa. It was Ethiopia's Marxist government that insisted on a center lavish enough and large enough to host all sorts of international conferences.

To its credit, the United States voted against this ego-polishing extravagance at a time when millions of Ethiopians are starving. Richard Nygard, a member of the U.S. Mission to the United Nations, spoke against it in the General Assembly and then offered examples of what $73.5 million in U.N. funds could accomplish if spent properly:

— Inoculate 1 million Ethiopian children against all of the most common childhood killers in Africa.

— Drill 25,000 wells complete with pumps, providing fresh water to 12.5 million Ethiopians.

— Provide cash grants sufficient to feed 125,000 Ethiopian families (perhaps 1 million persons) for an entire year.

— Supply the impoverished African nation of Chad with all of its cereal import needs for a year.

But first things first. It just would not do, apparently, for the gang running Ethiopia to be embarrassed, along with its Cuban and Soviet chums, by international conference facilities below world-class standards. It is all a matter of priorities; something obviously well understood these days at the glass tower on the East River.

Major Budget Cuts Can Still Be Made

WASHINGTON — It took the Grace Commission just 18 months to come up with 2,478 specific, budget-cutting recommendations that would save federal taxpayers about $100 billion a year.

Many of the commission's recommendations to improve the government's efficiency, streamline its management and sharpen internal accounting procedures are being implemented by the administration. Panels were set up within the government to review their findings and administratively implement them wherever possible.

But the bulk of J. Peter Grace's sweeping deficit-cutting proposals require legislative action by Congress. To date, unfortunately, Congress has ignored most of the commission's major recommendations.

But Grace is a hard-headed, persistent businessman with a fiery, competitive spirit and he's determined to keep the pressure on Congress to take his commission's proposals seriously.

One of the ways to do this is to pepper the American people with his commission's disturbing findings in the hope that taxpayers will become angry enough to make their voices heard in Congress when budget-making time rolls around next year.

The following examples, from the Grace Commission report, will make you angry. But they are not recommended to anyone with a history of high blood pressure:

— It costs the Army $4.20 to process a payroll check compared to $1 on average for the private sector.

— There are, among the government's weather-service facilities, 63 offices that perform non-essential functions costing taxpayers $4 million annually. Last year, Congress not only voted to keep these unneeded offices open but increased their funding.

— Within the Department of Energy there are three employees for each supervisor compared to seven employees for each supervisor in the private sector. The difference costs taxpayers $19 million over three years.

— It takes the Veterans Administration 56 days longer than the private sector to process a medical claim — costing taxpayers an additional $272 million over a three-year period.

— Too much sole-source contracting in the Pentagon led to paying $100 for 5-cent aircraft simulator parts, $511 for 60-cent lamps and $114 for 9-cent batteries. Taxpayers could save $1.4 billion over three years if defense pro-urement contracts were opened up to more competitive bidding.

— The most common retirement age among civilian federal employees is 55, among military retirees it is 40, but in the private sector it is 63. The difference costs taxpayers $8.2 billion over three years.

— Uncle Sam "forgave" $1.2 billion in foreign military-sales loans last year and plans to "forgive" another $3.9 billion next year.

— Lenders in the private sector make from 24 to 36 attempts to collect their overdue accounts while the Department of Housing and Urban Development makes an average of three attempts.

— There are some 4,000 military facilities throughout the United States, but only a few more than 300 of them are considered vital to the defense of this country. If Congress were to approve the Pentagon's proposals to phase out the unnecessary ones, we could trim the defense budget by $2 billion a year.

So the next time you hear your representatives say that the budget has already been "cut to the bone," send them this list and tell them there are many more where these examples came from — in the Grace Commission report.

Selling American Guilt

In the aftermath of the tragic poison gas accident at the Union Carbide pesticide plant in Bhopal, India, understandable and proper efforts to determine the cause of the disaster and responsibility for it are being submerged in a wave of emotion and scapegoating.

Undoubtedly, there will be numerous investigations and a tremendous number of lawsuits.

It suits the convenience of the Indian government to blame Union Carbide. The Indian government is hostile to the United States, and this hostility has been evidenced anew in the government's initial reaction to the tragedy. While the causes of the accident are unknown at this time the development of a large slum area around the plant was something that should have been controlled by local Indian authorities.

What's most disturbing, however, is not the Indian government reaction but the treatment of the incident by the electronic media in this country. The kneejerk reaction of the networks was "Well, big business has done it again."

Jane Pauley of NBC had a bigger target in sight of her questions. She asked the Union Carbide official whether he thought America had any "moral responsibility" for the accident.

Why should the American people as a whole feel moral responsibility for the Bhopal accident? India is a sovereign nation and has responsibility for enactment and enforcement of its own safety laws.

The NBC approach to this situation is typical of the networks' handling of the Third World. They are quick to blame American companies that do business there and reluctant to criticize officials in the backward nations. They also are unwilling to probe the intentions of Third World countries. In the case of India, it's clear that the Indian government wanted a large pesticide plant built in the country, otherwise the plant wouldn't be there. The officials also say that the Union Carbide plant is shut down for good. Maybe. But it's hard to believe that the Indian government intends to deny Indian farmers the use of pesticides. Without pesticides, the farmers may not be able to produce the food needed by India's 680 million people.

Why don't the networks discuss that particular reality?

Poor Choice For Consumer Job

WASHINGTON — The White House's choice for the new chairman of the Consumer Product Safety Commission has a disturbing record of dissent from attempts to take dangerous children's products off the market.

In his 20 months as a commissioner, Terrence M. Scanlon has been the lone dissenter opposing several enforcement actions the agency has taken against industry-wide defects in design or construction of children's products.

Scanlon favors a cooperative approach, working with industry groups to develop voluntary safety standards for their products, and then cracking down on individual manufacturers who violate the standards. In short, Scanlon prefers the sniper rifle to the shotgun.

Scanlon defends his record on grounds that his approach would result in fewer industry lawsuits against the commission. Not surprisingly, the children's product

Protesting Apartheid

NEW YORK (NEA) — The current wave of protests against South Africa in this country is remarkable for two reasons: It was launched for purposes that have nothing to do with South Africa, and its effects will run directly counter to the wishes of the people it is allegedly designed to help.

In the wake of Walter Mondale's overwhelming defeat by Ronald Reagan, liberal spokesmen have understandably been casting about for a viable issue —

South Africa is a "safe" issue, since apartheid is so widely condemned here, and recent riots have given it high visibility. Best of all, the Nobel Peace Prize was recently awarded to Bishop Desmond Tutu, a black Anglican prelate who was chairman of the South African Council of Churches.

Bishop Tutu, who, by coincidence, was in this country when the award was announced, promptly obliged the liberals by denouncing the Reagan administration's policy of "constructive engagement," under which progress on South African racial issues is sought through quiet negotiations rather than loud public condemnations.

That was all the liberals needed. Within days the South African embassy in Washington and its consulate here in New York were being besieged by all sorts of moral exhibitionists.

The only possible sanction the United States could apply against South Africa, in response to all this hoopla, would be the suspension of trade and the withdrawal of U.S. investments there — and these steps are opposed by virtually every responsible opponent of apartheid in South Africa itself. From Helen Suzman, who was for many years the only Progressive Party M.P., to the South African Institute of Race Relations, the message is the same: U.S. withdrawal from South Africa would only hurt its blacks economically, and slow further progress toward the elimination of racial barriers.

Columnist Anthony Lewis writes that, listening to South Africa's ambassador at a press conference, it suddenly occurred to him that the basic injustice of white South Africa's position could be revealed by a single question: "Why don't you let Bishop Tutu vote?"

If only it were that simple! Ambassador Bernard Fourie would undoubtedly reply that, if Mr. Lewis proposed to restrict the black franchise to people with the cultural background of Bishop Tutu, there would be no problem whatever.

But a few years ago, in Eastern Pondoland on South Africa's Indian Ocean coast, I saw a native driving a team of oxen that was dragging a sledge piled with goods. The principle of the wheel, you see, is not yet fully trusted by the Pondos — and it is they, not Bishop Tutu, to whom South Africa's whites are reluctant to grant equal political rights in a unitary state. Tony Lewis ought not to make South Africa's problems sound easier than they really are.

The Free Market Cop-Out

CLACKAMAS, Ore. (NEA) — The recent decision by the nation's biggest timber companies to become welfare clients of the federal government didn't attract as much attention as the earlier financial bailouts of Chrysler and Lockheed, but otherwise there's little difference.

In early 1983, the Forest Service calculated that timber companies held contracts to purchase 36.1 billion board feet of lumber. But almost half of it — 16.6 billion board feet worth $5 billion — was estimated to be unprofitable under terms of the inflated contract prices agreed to in earlier years by the forest-products industry.

A contract is supposed to be a binding agreement, but the timber companies turned to Washington for special treatment rather than honor their commitments.

Abandoning a strict no-modification policy, the Forest Service agreed to a series of one- and two-year contract extensions accompanied by relaxed payment terms — but the industry insisted that those concessions were inadequate.

The timber companies then pressed for passage of the Federal Timber Contract Modification Act — a shameless piece of special-interest legislation approved by Congress in the closing days of its 1984 session.

It allows the industry to abrogate 55 percent of the contracts signed with the Forest Service in the late 1970s, although nominal penalty payments will be required.

Even after the government receives the revenues from the penalty payments (variously estimated at $150 million to $400 million) and from the resale of the timber, the loss to the treasury — and the taxpayers — is estimated at $400 million by the Office of Management and Budget and $1 billion by the Congressional Research Service.

A final note: The White House initially opposed the legislation because it violated Reagan's free-market principles, but the bill reached the president's desk in the final weeks of the 1984 presidential campaign.

At the time, White House political strategists were concerned about the president's popularity in Oregon and Washington. Rejecting the advice of policy advisers that he veto the bill, Reagan signed it — and carried both states.

repeat of this (the letter), if possible, in the future."

In a Nov. 28 letter to Schmeltzer, Locker also objected to the imposition of a ban on the babygates "by letter of a single agency official." He said it was an example of "backdoor rule-making."

In a telephone interview, Scanlon reiterated the point, saying that Schmeltzer "in fact ordered a ban" and "doesn't have that kind of authority."

The gate makers agreed to correct the design hazard, and Schmeltzer has since written to Locker that if they hadn't done so voluntarily "it would have been my recommendation that corrective action be compelled by the commissioners to stop the production and distribution of these gates."

Schmeltzer added: "If consumers were aware of the serious nature of injury that could result from entrapment in the accordion-style gates, I doubt they would continue to purchase them."

Scanlon's record of lone dissent included commission votes on enforcement actions against the following children's products:

— Mesh-sided cribs associated with at least 11 infant deaths, and other cribs with faulty parts such as loose mattress supports, machine screws and guide rods. Since 1980, these crib "hardware hazards" have claimed 27 babies' lives.

— Wooden-slatted infant "corals," similar to the expandable babygates, associated with at least two infant deaths in 1980-1982.

— Latex rubber pacifiers containing high levels of cancer-causing nitrosamines.

How To Choose Materials For Greenhouse

Last week, you learned about the joys of having your own greenhouse in your yard. I emphasized that before you start on such a project, you should decide whether or not a greenhouse is really practical for you. I mentioned some considerations for deciding where to locate your greenhouse, and some of the most common greenhouse designs. Other considerations you will want to consider are the construction materials and equipment you'll need.

The materials you select will depend on the use, size, and location of the structure you have in mind. How about initial cost, maintenance costs, such as heating, lighting and ventilation, equipment costs and environmental flexibility?

Most backyard gardeners choose wood for the frame, rafters, sides and ends of their greenhouses. Make sure you use only high-grade treated wood. The interior of a greenhouse is quite humid. Untreated wood will warp and decay in a short time. Since a greenhouse is under a great deal of stress from the force of winds, and the weight of beams and rafters, only the highest grade wood can be expected to perform well.

If plywood is used for gussets on a rigid-frame structure, it should be exterior grade and be treated with a preservative. The edges should be painted to prevent moisture from entering and delaminating the plywood.

You can use steel for the quonset or Gothic types of greenhouses. If so, all surfaces should be painted or galvanized. If steel is used, keep it painted and the greenhouse should last a long time.

Aluminum is used extensively,

Alfred Bessesen

Ext. 181

too, because of its light weight and excellent durability. It hasn't been used much for home-built greenhouses, perhaps because it tends to be rather expensive.

Whatever material you choose for the frame, you'll need some way of putting it together. For steel or aluminum, this means cutting and welding or bolting. For wood, glue is used to join posts and rafters. Casein or "white" glues should never be used because the high humidity will cause them to deteriorate. Use a material called resorcinol resin. This is resistant to moisture and will set firmly at a temperature of about 70° F. This adhesive is actually stronger and more durable than the wood itself.

After you build the frame, you'll need to think about a covering. For wooden frames, plastic film or corrugated fiberglass are commonly used. Steel and aluminum structures are usually covered with fiberglass or real glass.

Now that you've completed your greenhouse, you'll need something on which to place your plants. Raised benches are very common. They elevate plants and flowers so they can be more easily tended and observed. And, benches eliminate the need to stoop or bend over.

Air circulation in the greenhouse is very important. Plants tend to dry out more quickly on benches. But, this can be an advantage as you have more control over watering. Good air circulation around the benches helps minimize root and foliar diseases.

There are many designs available for greenhouse benches. They may be flat or stepped — flat meaning simply tables upon which plants are placed. Stepped benches resemble ladders or stair-steps. These are better for displaying your plants. But, the plants tend to receive light from one direction only. Unless they are rotated periodically, growth will be irregular.

Open benches with a bottom constructed of wood slats or wire mesh, provide the maximum amount of air circulation. Thus, insect and disease problems are greatly reduced. Closed benches have solid bottoms.

A flat bench with a solid bottom containing a few inches of sand or gravel provides a sturdy support on which pots can be placed. However, closed benches with a solid bottom reduces air circulation considerably, and disease and insects can breed in the moist sand layer. These closed benches must be built from strong materials to withstand the weight of the sand or gravel, and the potted plants.

If you plan to install raised benches, be sure you make them at a comfortable height — usually about a yard up from the floor surface. Make sure the plants you want to place on the benches have enough room at the top to grow. And, be sure to arrange the benches so the plants derive the maximum benefit from heating, ventilation, and available sunlight.

Happy gardening!

UDC Ends Year With Festivity

The Norman Devere Howard Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, met at the home of Mrs. Charles (Tony) Hobson for the December meeting. A luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Martha Ashby, Mrs. Rupert Strickland and Dr. Sara H. Irtgang.

Decorations included a festive Christmas tree, garlands of greenery and tables covered with red cloths and appropriate green napkins and candles.

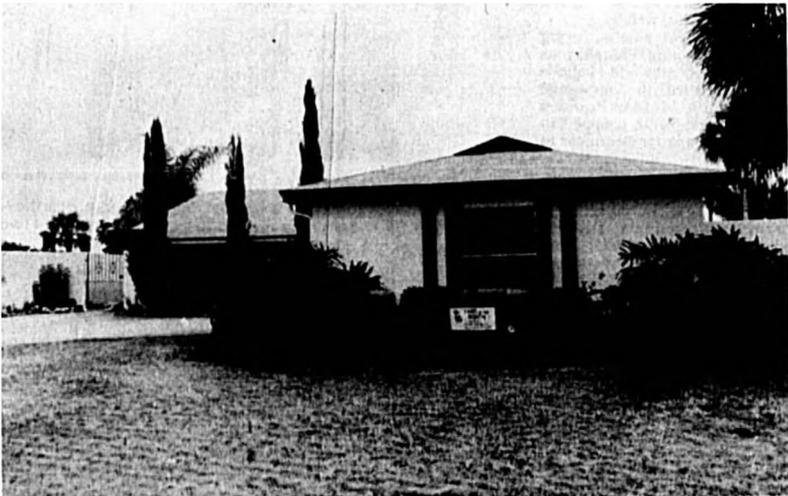

Following lunch, a brief business meeting was held. Presided over by the president, Mrs. Hobson, the chaplain gave the opening prayer with response by the members and a salute to the American flag and to the Confederate flag.

A poem, "Christmas and the Meaning," was presented by Mrs. Domartous Varn, stressing the love and trust dominant in the Christmas spirit.

After a reading of the minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer's report, gifts were exchanged.

Those present in addition to the above mentioned were Mines, Linda Garavano, Gracy Wallace, Kate Corley, Virginia Jones and guest, Mrs. Mildred Taylor, Juanita Miller, Hazel Cash, Carolyn Cornelius, Lillian McCall, Minnie Strickland, Eloise Wimblsh and guest of Mrs. Hobson, Drew Dean.

Grown Children Have Found There's No Place Like Home

DEAR ABBY: Please say something in your column about grown children who choose to live at home. I am a widow with a large house and three grown children who live with me because their jobs are in this area, and so are their friends, their church and a university where they take advanced courses to enhance their careers.

Every day some busybody (usually a woman my age whose children have all left home) asks, "Why are your children still living at home?" Such astonishment is expressed that one would think there was something wrong with adult children living at home. My children tell me they often find themselves trying to justify their living at home, as though it were some kind of abnormal lifestyle.

We hope that one day they will all have homes of their own, but in the meantime, living together offers each of us financial and emotional support. Besides, there are four of us to share all the household chores, and that ain't bad.

A MOTHER WHO LIKES HER KIDS

DEAR MOTHER: When grown children want to live at home, and their mother wants them to, I would say it's an ideal arrangement.

Three cheers for you, Mother. (Make that four.)

DEAR ABBY: "Charlie's Pal" wrote to say that Charlie was hit by a car while crossing the street listening to music on his headset. So Charlie winds up in the hospital with two broken legs and a broken arm. "Charlie's Pal" told Charlie to sue the manufacturer of the headset for failing to warn the buyers that headsets could be dangerous if worn in traffic.

Abby, following that kind of logic, manufacturers of paper bags should be required by law to put a warning on their product stating that if the paper bag is worn over the head while walking in traffic — or operating machinery — it could cause serious injury or death.

If we could only protect the fools from the world, we could have a world of fools.

DIK BROWN

DEAR DIK: I received a ton of mail on that one. Hear this from Chelsea, Mich.:

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine (I'll call him Charlie) was walking down the street reading your column when a car hit him. The driver said Charlie had walked against the light, right into the car's path. Now Charlie is all banged up.

If it hadn't been for your column, Abby, Charlie would have blamed himself for not paying attention. Instead, he hired a real sharp lawyer to sue you. After all, you should have put a warning in your column to let people know that it's dangerous to read "Dear Abby" in traffic. Right? Sorry.

ANOTHER CHARLIE'S PAL

DEAR ABBY: For two years I have struggled with this question: Should I turn in a woman I believe to be guilty of welfare fraud?

The case: A woman who is perfectly capable of working has been receiving welfare assistance for over eight years. Every time I pay taxes, I think of this homeowner, whose teenager attends a private school, and whose four dogs and two cats eat better than some people.

I made my decision while watching the news on TV and saw people in our nation going without Thanksgiving dinner, while this woman and her children ate heartily.

Sickened, I realized how many families would go without help on Christmas because of glut-tions like this woman and her family, so I turned her in this morning.

Abby, that woman is my mother-in-law! I did it so that those who really need assistance might receive it by Christmas. Please encourage your readers to do the same so that legitimately needy people will have a Happy New Year.

A NOT SO DEVOTED DAUGHTER-IN-LAW

DEAR DAUGHTER-IN-LAW: I have no sympathy for welfare cheats, but did you discuss your suspicions with your mother-in-law and warn her that you'd turn her in if she didn't stop?

If so, then I would say you were motivated only by your desire to help the needy.

April's 1st 2 Lift Seminole Past Brantley

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

They've got to stop meeting like this.

Sanford's Lady Seminoles and Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots have faced each other twice in the 1984-85 season. Both times in the opening round of a tournament.

Thursday's Lake Brantley-Seminole clash had all the excitement of a tournament final and, had the brackets been constructed differently, the two Seminole County foes could very well have met up in the final.

Instead, one of the two had to be eliminated in the first round and it took the entire 32 minutes to decide the outcome. And for the second time it was Seminole that came out on top as the Tribe came away with a hard-fought 49-47 victory before 350 fans in the Lady Hawk Tournament at Lake Howell High.

Seminole, the fourth-ranked team in the state, improved to 9-1 with its seventh straight victory. The Lady Seminoles go up against eighth-ranked Edgewater tonight at 6 in the tournament semifinals.

Lake Brantley, which now stands at 7-2, had a seven-game winning streak snapped. The Lady Patriots only other loss was at the hands of Seminole in the opening round of the Hoop-De-Doo Thanksgiving Tournament.

From the opening tipoff to the final buzzer Thursday night's game was nip and tuck. Seminole's biggest lead was five points and Brantley's biggest cushion was four.

The big guns for both teams had their moments but one notable difference from the first game for the Lady Seminoles was 5-9 forward April Peterson. Peterson just became eligible after transferring from Apopka and she came through with a fine performance in her debut for the Lady Seminoles.

Peterson, also an outstanding track heptathlete, scored just two points, but it turned out to be the eventual winning basket and she also made her presence felt inside with nine rebounds and four blocked shots.

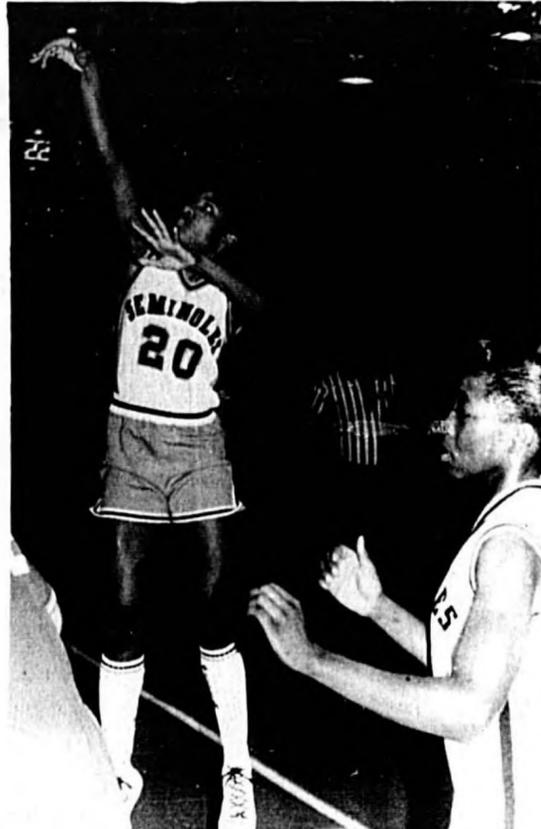

"She (Peterson) did an exceptional job for her first time playing with us," Seminole coach Ron Merthle said. "She's going to fit in real well."

Lake Brantley came out firing in the early going Thursday as both Kim Lubenow and Michelle Brown swished in long-range jumpers for a 4-0 Lake Brantley lead. Beatrice Smith dropped in a pair of layups for Seminole to tie it at 4-4.

Seminole went up by four, 11-7, midway through the opening quarter but Lake Brantley scored six straight points to take a 13-11 lead. Seminole came back to take a 15-13 lead before 6-1 Kirsten Dellinger scored the last three points of the quarter to give Brantley a 18-15 lead.

Seminole took the momentum in the early going of the second quarter as it reeled off eight straight points, four each by Mona Benton and Catherine "Kitty" Anderson to take a 23-18 lead with 5:36 left in the half.

Lake Brantley used impressive free throw shooting to work its way back within one point, 31-30, by halftime. The Lady Patriots made 8 of 8 free tosses, including 4 of 4 by Sherry "Ice" Asplen. In the last four minutes of the second period.

Dellinger's pair of layups enabled the Patriots to take a 34-33 lead early in the third quarter and the two teams traded the lead the rest of the period as Seminole took a 41-40 lead into the final eight minutes.

Beatrice Smith hit a layup to open the quarter and Andell "Soul" Smith banked home a jumper as Seminole took a 45-40 lead with 5:33 left in the game. Cammie Twaddell's layup trimmed the lead to 45-42.

Dellinger then swatted away a pair of Seminole shots to keep the Patriots within three points but she missed the front end of a kept the Greyhounds relatively close with 13 points in the first half.

Williams then exploded for 24 points in the second half as she broke the tournament record for most field goals in a game with 15 and tied the record for most points in a quarter with 14 in the fourth.

Behind the play of Forsyth and Latonya Johnson, Lyman managed to stay within 10 points in the third quarter but could get no closer as Evans took a 51-35 lead into the fourth quarter.

But Lyman still fought with all it had left in the fourth quarter and the Greyhounds pulled within nine points, 57-48, with 1:51 left to play. Evans then stepped up its defensive pressure and pulled away in the last minute.

Along with her 30 points, Williams also ripped down 15 rebounds and had six steals.

Forsyth led the Lady Greyhounds with 27 points and she also added 16 rebounds and seven steals. Johnson added 16 points for Lyman but the rest of the squad managed just five points combined.

In the second game Thursday, Lake Mary's Lady Rams fell behind early and just couldn't get going in a 44-point loss to Winter Park.

Winter Park jumped out to a 9-0 lead with Pinkney dominating inside for eight of the nine points. Lake Mary finally scored with 2:04 left in the first quarter when Alleen Patterson hit one of two free throws. The Lady Wildcats went on to take a 13-3 lead at the end of the quarter.

The Wildcats reeled off six straight points in the second quarter to take a 19-3 lead. Karen DeShetler found the outside touch for the Rams in the second quarter but that was about all the offensive firepower Lake Mary could muster.

Adding to Lake Mary's woes was the first half foul trouble of Courtney Hall (four fouls) and Alleen Patterson (three). Winter Park went on to build a 20-point lead, 32-12, by halftime.

The Lady Wildcats outscored Lake Mary, 13-5, in the third quarter to take a 45-17 lead. Hall, who went in averaging 14 points per game, fouled out with

Jackson's 88, Turnovers Butcher 'Hogs

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Too much Bo Jackson and too many Arkansas turnovers carried Auburn to its 21-15 victory over Arkansas in the 26th Liberty Bowl.

Jackson, the Tigers' junior halfback, missed much of the season with a shoulder injury, but was in condition Thursday to rush for 88 yards and two Auburn touchdowns, earning most valuable player honors.

Auburn's victory capped the Tigers' season with a 9-4 record. Arkansas, in its first year under Ken Hatfield, finished at 7-4-1.

The other Auburn score resulted from one of four Auburn interceptions, as cornerback Kevin Porter returned a stolen Brad Taylor pass 35 yards in the first quarter.

Auburn's 14-3 first quarter lead, built in a span of less than 2 minutes on Jackson's 2-yard run and Porter's return, held up for more than two quarters. The stalemate was ended when Arkansas rover Nathan Jones blasted the ball free from Eddie Fullwood and recovered the miscue at the Auburn 6, 26 yards behind the line of scrimmage.

College Football

Marshall Foreman, who won offensive honors for the Razorbacks, scored three plays later. The Hogs had a chance to take the lead on their next possession, but faced fourth and 1 at the Tiger 45.

Arkansas called time out to send in a passing play, designed to hit halfback Bobby Joe Edmonds behind the Auburn short-yardage alignment. The call worked perfectly, except that Edmonds failed to make the catch, and Jackson romped in from 40 yards out five plays later.

"It was a lack of concentration," Edmonds said later. "It looked like the pass would be long, then I thought I'd have to dive for it. Then the ball was there and I knew I was in trouble when I felt it go in the air.

"Maybe I was too open," Edmonds said. Auburn coach Pat Dye said the four interceptions, two each from Razorback passers Brad Taylor and Danny Nutt, were the key. "Arkansas did not do one thing to surprise us in any way, shape, form or fashion," he said. "The only thing that beat Arkansas was four turnovers."

Taylor, who said he underthrew James Shibest on Porter's interception, said the fourth-quarter surge was not surprising.

"We're a second-half team. We figured out their game plan and tried to do the best against it that we could," Taylor said.

Foreman said the Auburn defense surprised him. "They were big, but they were quicker than I thought they would be."

Gator: Gamecocks, Cowboys Seek Poll Boost

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — South Carolina and Oklahoma State have a similar goal for tonight's Gator Bowl game — boost their national ranking.

The Gamecocks, 10-1, are No. 7 after posting their best-ever record and the Cowboys, 9-2, are No. 9.

Both had hoped to be in the Orange Bowl, but the Gamecocks were relegated to the Gator Bowl after being upset by Navy. The Cowboys are in Jacksonville instead of Miami because they lost to No. 2 Oklahoma in their closing regular-season game.

Football

"I'd be lying if I said we weren't disappointed about not winning the (Big 8) conference and going to the Orange Bowl," said Oklahoma State quarterback Rusty Hilger. "But playing football, you have to have a short memory. You have to forget the past and get on to the next ball game."

The Cowboys, who were eighth nationally on defense, are a three-point favorite for the contest which begins at 8 p.m.

EST. A crowd of 80,000 is expected for this national televised game.

"I honestly don't believe that disappointment is going to affect how either team plays," said Oklahoma State coach Pat Jones. "I don't believe it will diminish the attitude of either team at all."

The Cowboys feature a tailback oriented offense that alternates freshman Thurman Thomas, senior Shawn Jones and sophomore Charles Crawford — plus the passing of Hilger.

South Carolina, expected to alternate Mike Hold and Allen Mitchell at quarterback, will use numerous running backs with its option offense.

Jones and South Carolina coach Joe Morrison said the similarity between the teams offers a prospect for one of the better of this year's post-season games.

"Both clubs have quickness and speed — a real treat for the fans," said Morrison. "I feel their defense is their strong point, but I don't know if either team has an advantage."

Spongers Absorb Rams, 2-0 — Fall Lifts Hornets, 2-1

By Chris Flister
Herald Sports Writer

ORLANDO — Lake Mary's Rams are playing as well as any soccer team in Central Florida. The only problem is the Rams are having trouble scoring goals.

Lake Mary had a number of golden opportunities Thursday but just couldn't score as the Rams dropped a 2-0 decision to Tarpon Springs Spongers in the Pizza Hut Classic Tournament at Bishop Moore High.

"We had our typical problem scoring goals," Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkle said. "We had so many good chances but it was either poor shooting or good goalkeeping that kept us from scoring."

Lake Mary, which fell to 8-3 with the loss, will go up against Lyman today at 2 p.m. in a consolation bracket game. In another consolation game at 12 noon, Lake Howell takes on Orlando Edgewater in semifinal action at 4. Clearwater Central Catholic battles Miami Killian and Tarpon Springs, the defending JA State Champions, take on Bishop Moore at 6.

Soccer

Lake Mary's first chance at a goal came early in the first half on a penalty kick but Jerry Meyers couldn't put it in. Another chance at a goal went by the wayside when Meyers had a one on one with the keeper but kicked it right at him.

Tom Reasoner then gave Tarpon

Springs a 1-0 lead with 10 minutes left in the first half when he fired in a free kick.

The Rams had a few more threats early in the second half but again couldn't get on the board and Sponger keeper Bill Pattides then took over and absorbed most of Lake Mary's shots the rest of the way.

"He (Pattides) made three incredible saves in the second half," McCorkle said. "He's the best keeper I've seen. He punted the ball 85 yards at least twice. But we still had a few chances in the second half that we should have scored on regardless of the keeper."

"One of these days we're going to break loose and score four or five goals against a good team," added McCorkle.

Mike Hully sealed the victory for the Spongers with 17 minutes remaining when he drilled in a penalty kick.

Lake Mary keeper Greg Griffing had another good outing with 14 saves. Pattides turned away 14 Lake Mary shots. Tarpon Springs took 22 shots on goal while the Rams took 16.

Two other Seminole County teams were defeated on penalty kicks Thursday night. Lake Howell and Miami Killian fought to a 1-1 tie in regulation but Killian came out the 2-1 winner on the overtime penalty kicks. Lyman and Bishop Moore also battled to a 1-1 tie before the Hornets pulled it out, 2-1, on penalty kicks.

After a scoreless first half, Eric Reesman's goal gave Lake Howell a 1-0 lead but Killian came back to tie it at 1-1 and send it to penalty kicks. Killian made its first four kicks to sew up the win.

Bishop Moore and Lyman also battled to a scoreless tie in the first half. Sanford's Tim Fall, brother of Major Indoor Soccer League star Mike Fall, then gave Bishop Moore a 1-0 lead when he scored with 30 minutes left in the game.

Bishop Moore seemed to have the game wrapped up in regulation but Lyman came back to tie it with two minutes left. Pat Howard rifled a shot off the post and it caromed off to George Kourits who put the rebound in the goal.

The host Hornets then came back to win in penalty kicks.

In other action Thursday, Clearwater Central Catholic opened Orlando Evans, 4-2.

IN BRIEF

Fernandez, DuPont Lead Hatters Into Finals Against Ohio State

ORLANDO (UPI) — Jorge Fernandez and Michael DuPont scored 12 points each Thursday night to lead Stetson to a 66-56 victory over Florida A&M in the opening round of the Florida Citrus Tournament.

A&M held a 17-12 edge with eight minutes remaining in the first half, but the Hatters took the lead 18-17 within two minutes after putting three guards and two centers in the game. Stetson, 4-7, led 33-26 at the half.

The Rattlers cut the lead to 52-50 with 4:38 remaining but that was as close as they would get.

Mervin Jones had a game-high 15 points for A&M, 3-8.

In the second game, Troy Taylor scored 18 points Thursday night to lead Ohio State to an 84-62 victory over Tennessee-Chattanooga in the Florida Citrus Tournament.

The win puts Ohio State into the championship Friday against Stetson. Tip-off is 9 p.m.

With the score tied 50-50, Taylor scored 12 of his 18 points in a 10-minute spurt as Ohio State outscored the Moccasins 22-2 to take a 72-53 lead.

Joe Concheck added 16 for the Buckeyes. Gerald Wilkins led UT-Chattanooga with 16 points.

Jordan's 45 Points Propel Bulls

United Press International

Michael Jordan's game was out of this world. But then again it had to be because World B. Free was hitting shots from any place closer.

Jordan scored a season-high 45 points to offset Free, who set a Chicago Stadium record for 3-point field goals. In leading the Bulls to a 112-108 victory over the Cleveland Cavaliers.

Free, who has been nursing a groin pull, hit 5-of-8 3-point attempts and scored 30 points in all. But even the veteran guard is learning about the sensational rookie from North Carolina.

"He's in a class of his own," said Free of Jordan. "He's going to be great and he's got a lot of years to go."

Jordan was instrumental at the critical point in the game. Cleveland had moved within 80-79 with 1:32 left in the third quarter. But Quintin Dailey scored and Jordan registered a 3-point play to give the Bulls a 5-point lead entering the final 12 minutes.

Elsewhere, San Antonio clobbered Portland 141-120, Kansas City outlasted Houston 96-92, Golden State downed Seattle 101-98 and Boston thrashed the Clippers 118-103.

Capitals Trim Islanders In OT

By United Press International

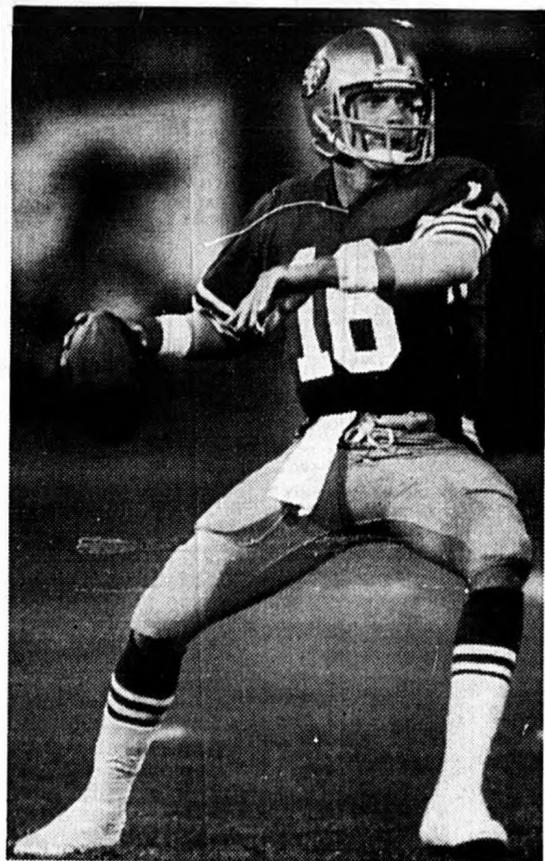

For Washington, Thursday night's 5-4 overtime victory over the Islanders was more than just another win. To the Patrick Division leading Capitals. It was an indication that they are ready to seriously challenge New York's perennial supremacy.

At Uniondale, N.Y., Doug Jarvis' second goal of the game at 4:10 of overtime lifted Washington and increased the Capitals' lead in the Patrick Division to 4 points over the Philadelphia Flyers.

Goalie Billy Smith stopped Gaetan Duchesne's initial drive, but Duchesne picked up the rebound and poked it through Smith's pads. The puck fell behind Smith in the crease and Jarvis tapped it in for the game-winner.

It was the Capitals third win ever in Nassau Coliseum. The Islanders hold a 23-3-1 advantage in the building.

Elsewhere, Montreal beat Quebec 5-3, New Jersey defeated Toronto 4-1 and Boston and Los Angeles played to a 6-6 tie.

Joe Montana cranks up for Saturday's battle with the New York Giants. San Francisco is a big favorite to move into the NFC's title game.

49ers Won't Take Giants For Granted

NFC Playoffs

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco 49ers are taking nothing for granted when it comes to their meeting with the New York Giants Saturday in an NFC playoff contest. The game will be carried by Orlando's WCPX-TV, Channel 6 at 4 p.m.

The 49ers, 15-1, set a regular-season record for victories, including a 31-10 Monday night victory over the Giants. San Francisco also has a 4-1 record against New York at Candlestick Park, including a 38-24 triumph in the 1981 playoffs.

So you would think with that historical background, the 49ers may be breathing a little easier going into Saturday's game. Think again.

"That Monday night game has no relevance with this game," said San Francisco offensive tackle Keith Fahnhorst. "We had a good night and they had a bad night. Once you line up to play ball, the past is forgotten."

Center Fred Quillan, like Fahnhorst an All-Pro, pointed to the Giants' 16-13 upset victory in the wild-card game over the Los Angeles Rams last week as a sign of what overconfidence can bring.

"It just goes to show you what can happen when you play a team that you had beaten badly earlier (the Rams beat the Giants 33-12 during the regular season)," he said. "The Giants are coming into this game on a tremendous high after the Rams game."

Quillan thinks the Giants' reliance on the blitz may work in the 49ers' favor.

"The blitz is a double-edged sword," he said. "It's either very successful or a disaster."

However, he also spoke very highly of man New York brings on that blitz — linebacker Lawrence Taylor.

"He's not every place, but pretty near," the 49ers center said. "But if you key on him too much that frees up other players."

San Francisco defensive back Ronnie Lott, who will play safety instead of his usual cornerback, echoed his teammates' concerns about the winner-take-all nature of the playoffs.

"This is the second season, anything can go," he said. "If you lose, you go home."

Easley Won't Be Easy For Marino

AFC Playoffs

SEATTLE (UPI) — If the Miami Dolphins are the kings of the forward pass this year, then the Seattle Seahawks are the lords of the interception.

Miami quarterback Dan Marino made some major alterations in the NFL record book this year in only his second professional season. He set league records with 48 touchdown passes and in becoming the first to pass for 5,000 yards in a season.

But the Seahawks also wracked up some impressive numbers of their own — primarily on defense. Seattle led the league in both interceptions and fumble recoveries. The Seahawks' total of 63 takeaways is the second highest in league history.

The two teams meet Saturday in an AFC playoff game in Miami's Orange Bowl. Seattle strong safety Kenny Easley, the leader of the opportunistic Seahawk defense, says unequivocally turnovers will be a key if his club is to pull an upset.

Orlando's WESH-TV, Channel 2 will carry the game, beginning at 12:30 p.m. The NFL Today begins at noon.

"Playing against a fine team like Miami, turnovers are a must," said Easley, who led the NFL with 10 interceptions. "People have been saying all week that we cannot afford to allow Marino to be on the field all day long.

"That's very true. Because of the capabilities of their offense, it would be important that we create turnovers and give ourselves a chance to win the football game instead of giving Marino the chance to throw the ball up and down the field all day."

A year ago, Seattle had only one turnover to five for Miami when the Seahawks stunned the Dolphins 27-20 in the playoffs.

Easley thinks the Seahawks could be in big trouble if they get into a high-scoring game this time around with the Dolphins and their high-powered offense.

"I don't think we have the scoring capacity on offense to involve ourselves in a shootout," said Easley. "We want to keep this game a low-scoring game. That's when we've had our success, not when teams have scored 30 or more points against us.

"Very rarely do we have the opportunity or the ability to score 30 or 40 points a game. We don't want to involve ourselves in that, no way. The chances are greater for them winning the game if it's a shootout."

The offensive shootout feared by Easley is a distinct possibility even if Marino has only an average game — average for Marino that is. In his record-setting season, the former Pitt star averaged 318 yards in the air and three TD passes per game.

Easley said he isn't worried about Marino's numbers.

"We're in trouble if they win the football game," he said. "We're not in trouble if he passes for 500 yards and we still win. That doesn't mean anything to us."

Easley isn't even concerned about Marino's growing reputation either.

"We're not in awe of Marino or (Mark) Duper or (Mark) Clayton or the Miami Dolphins," said Easley. "You don't win 13 games in this league by being in awe of people."

2:03 left in the quarter with just one point.

In Thursday's final first round game, Lake Howell stayed close to Edgewater in the early going but the Lady Eagles broke the game open in the second quarter.

Edgewater jumped out to a 6-0 lead as Phillips scored all six points before Patti Rae broke the ice for the Lady Hawks to make it 6-2. Edgewater went up 8-2 on Phillips' free throws.

Jolee Johnson then dropped in a layup to pull the Hawks within 8-4 and the determined junior then came up with a steal and fed Rae for a layup to make it 8-6.

The Eagles then scored six straight points and they went on to take a 17-8 lead after the first quarter. Edgewater pulled away in the second quarter.

one-and-one with 3:21 remaining.

Seminole then went to its four corners offense and ran the clock down to three minutes before it turned the ball over. Dellinger was then fouled and made one of two free throws to pull the Lady Patriots within two, 45-43.

The Lady Tribe again missed an opportunity to increase its lead and Asplen popped in a baseline jumper to tie the score at 45-45 with 2:21 left to play. Anderson came back to make a free throw to give Seminole a 46-43 lead with 1:42 left and the Seminoles got the ball back after a Brantley turnover.

Again Seminole went to the four corners but this time

Benton penetrated the Patriots' zone and dished off to Peterson who converted the layup for a 48-45 lead with 1:01 remaining.

Lake Brantley then turned the ball over again with 53 seconds left and Seminole went back to the four corners. The Tribe ran the clock down to 35 seconds before turning the ball back over to Brantley.

Lubnow then popped in a jumper on an assist from Trwaddell and Lake Brantley trimmed the lead to 48-47 with 21 seconds left.

Asplen then immediately fouled Andell Smith on the inbounds pass and Smith missed the front end of the one and one. Dellinger hauled down the rebound and the Patriots called a timeout with 17 seconds left.

Brown threw a length of the court pass to Asplen on the inbounds pass and Asplen made a nice play to run it down before it went out of bounds. Asplen then dished off to Brown who tried to dribble through a pair of defenders. But Temika Alexander picked Brown's pocket with five seconds left and she was fouled with one second left. Alexander made one of two free throws and Seminole celebrated a 49-47 win.

"We had everything going our way the last 17 seconds," Lake Brantley coach Renny Betris said. "But there was so much pressure on that the kids didn't stay calm and started jumping around."

Benton led the way for Seminole with a game-high 15 points while Soul Smith tossed in 10. Alexander added nine and Beatrice Smith contributed a season-high eight points and six rebounds.

"Beatrice (Smith) and April (Peterson) really helped out on the boards," Merthie said. "And Temika (Alexander) did a good job when Mona and Soul got in foul trouble."

Dellinger paced the Patriots with 12 points, 11 rebounds and seven blocked shots. Lubnow also tossed in 12 points and Asplen added eight points, seven rebounds and five assists.

"We shot well in the first half (10 for 20 from the field), but we slacked off in the second," added Betris. "Free throws kept us in the game."

LAKE BRANTLEY (47) — Asplen 8, Brown 6, Dellinger 12, Hagan 0, Lubnow 12, May 4, Thomas 0, Trwaddell 5. Totals: 17 & 47.

SEMINOLE (49) — Alexander 9, Anderson 5, Benton 15, Peterson 2, A. Smith 10, B. Smith 0, Wallace 0. Totals: 217 & 49.

Halftime — Seminole 21, Lake Brantley 30. Fouls — Lake Brantley 13, Seminole 17. Fouled out — none. Technical — none. A — 350.

Oxygen System Frees Patients From Tanks

DEAR DR. LAMB — We saw a TV program about a woman who had a bad case of emphysema and was confined to bed. Her doctor invented a small tube that was inserted into the throat. It was sort of L-shaped and was not noticeable when worn, and was used with a small can of oxygen.

With this device, the woman was able to go back to work. All we know is that the device was developed either in Columbus or Cincinnati, Ohio.

DEAR READER — I can't vouch for what you saw on a TV program, but I can tell you that Dr. Henry J. Heimlich at Xavier University in Cincinnati did report developing an oxygen system to free patients with lung disease. Many patients with advanced emphysema get so little oxygen through their damaged lungs that they are bedridden or must use large tanks of oxygen just to stay alive. These patients usually get oxygen through a face mask or a catheter inserted in the nose, and neither of these methods is very efficient.

Dr. Heimlich merely made a hole (tracheostomy) in the windpipe (trachea) and inserted a catheter through the hole directly into the trachea. This enables much more efficient use of oxygen, since less is lost than with a face mask.

As a result, patients with this adaptation could use small portable bottles of oxygen. This enabled them to be active again and not literally chained to immovable oxygen tanks. This was reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association, Volume 248, page 154 (1982). In case your husband's doctor wants to see the original report, such a saving of oxygen also saves a lot of money, because those large tanks of oxygen are quite expensive.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I run about 25 miles a week and I stopped getting my period about a year-and-a-half ago. I hear that a lot of women runners stop menstruating. Is there a limit to how much women can run without losing their periods?
DEAR READER — Any

woman who has an unexplained loss of periods needs to see her doctor. You can't assume in your case that it is simply from running. Many women who run and have menstrual disorders have an underlying medical problem.

In runners, this can be from excessive thinness. A weight loss of 25 to 30 pounds will sometimes cause a loss of hormones from the pituitary, which normally drives the ovaries, and the hormone pattern reverts to about what it was before puberty. That means no, or abnormal, menstrual periods.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Today's declarer had a severe attack of insomnia after mangling the play of the hand in four spades. After the opening lead of an obvious singleton diamond, he rose with the ace and quickly played the A-K of hearts, shedding a diamond. He could count nine tricks, and the apparently easy tenth trick would be via a club ruff in dummy. Accordingly he led a club.

East won the king, played the king of diamonds, on which West threw a heart, and led another diamond. Declarer ruffed high, as West threw still another heart. South led another club to East's ace and East led still another diamond. South trumped high once again, ruffed his third club in dummy and played A-10 of spades. But now when declarer came off dummy with a heart, he was left with K-8 of spades in his hand, and West was able to take the setting trick with the nine.

The key to the hand is so simple and apparent that if the solution were a snake it would absolutely bite you. After the A-K of hearts, declarer should merely trump a third heart from dummy before leading clubs. The play will then go just as before, with the difference that at the finish, after cashing dummy's A-10 of spades, declarer will be left with the lone king. He will make his contract and have no trouble getting to sleep at night.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY DECEMBER 29, 1984

A number of pleasant changes are in store for you in the year ahead. There will be added funds in your purse, as well as a rise in prestige and status.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Try not to be too demanding of others today. You'll be disappointed if you expect them to drop what they're doing just to cater to your whims. Major changes are in store for Capricorns in the coming year. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Insincerity will be easily discerned by your companions today, so do not praise another lavishly if it doesn't come from your heart.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you find yourself in the company of friends who are better off financially than you, don't feel you have to spend on a par with them just to be accepted.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Targets must be clearly defined today if you hope to achieve your goals. Concentrate on trying to do one thing best, instead of taking scattered shots.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It will greatly increase your level of difficulties today if your attitude is doubtful or negative. Don't see yourself as a loser or fall guy.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be extra cautious today in any commercial dealings you have with people whose motives you suspect. Chances are that your suspicions are correct.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Guard against tendencies today to do things against your better judgment. Don't let companions pressure you into doing something you know you shouldn't.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It will turn out to be more work for you in the long run if you try to get unskilled help to do something for you today that you can do better.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It will prove wise today not to allow yourself to be drawn into a complex financial or business problem with a friend. Your input won't help anyway.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Be very selective regarding who you go to for advice today. An ineffective counselor could really steer you wrong and cause additional woes.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Normally you're the type of person who doesn't dillydally when there is work to be done, but today you may get off to a slow start even ignore your duties.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Exercise self-control today over expenditures. Later, when it comes time to pay the bills you'll regret your extravagant splurges.

New Year's On TV: Have A Happy Kickoff

By Joan Hanauer
UPI TV Reporter

NEW YORK (UPI) — People who plan to spend a safe, sane and possibly sober New Year's Eve in front of their television sets will get some extra network entertainment with which to ring out the old and ring in the new year.

On New Year's Day football freaks will get a kick out of all those bowl games, which are enough to curdle the eggnog of less dedicated fans.

New Year's Eve on ABC will be a blast of rock music.

"Dick Clark's New Year's Rockin' Eve '85" will air from 11:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. Clark will watch Times Square in New York and count down the seconds to 1985, the network will pan to downtown Las Vegas, and the music will emanate from Los Angeles where Jermaine Jackson, Barry Manilow, Ronnie Millsap, Night Ranger, Scandal and John Waite will perform.

Priscilla Barnes and Adrian Zmed from ABC's "T.J. Hooker" will be co-hosts.

Over at CBS, Andy Williams hosts a musical show ranging from rock to pop, with a stop at country, to air 11:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m.

Williams, based at the Plaza, will be joined by Gladys Knight and the Pips. Just before midnight, he will join Lily Tomlin to provide on-the-spot coverage of Times Square. CBS won't tell how it plans to buck New York gridlock and get him there in the scheduled 14 minutes. Last year they rented a private subway train.

The show also will go on the road to catch the Charlie Daniels Band and Louise Mandrell at Billy Bob's Texas in Fort Worth, and to Florida, where Chaka Khan will perform with Kool & The Gang from the Epcot Center.

On NBC, Toni Tennille and Joe Garagiola will host the 51st King Orange Jamboree Parade live from Miami, with Bob Hope as grand marshal, from 8-9 p.m. That's it for NBC, which follows with the rerun of a two-hour Robert Conrad series pilot, "Hard Knox," and then regular programming.

New Year's morning starts on CBS with the Cotton Bowl Parade, 10-11:30 a.m. The parade is in Dallas, but the stars are from "Falcon Crest" — Ana Alicia and Lorenzo Lamas — and Kevin Dobson from "Knots Landing." The theme is "fairytale of the world" with floats depicting Cinderella, the Wizard of Oz, the Three Little Pigs and the Tortoise and the Hare.

Monte, the Arabian stallion that has marched in every Cotton Bowl Parade for the last 12 years, will prance again this year.

CBS and NBC both will cover the Pasadena Tournament of Roses Parade, with NBC hosts David Hasselhoff, Sarah Purcell and Pat Sajak beginning at 11 a.m., and CBS hosts Bob Barker, Mary Frann, Gerald McRaney and Joan Van Ark starting at 11:30 a.m. Coverage runs until 1:30 p.m.

Lee Iacocca will be grand marshal of the march, the theme of which is "The Spirit of America," represented by Rose Queen Kristina Kaye Smith, the first black queen of roses. The parade will boast 59 floats, 22 marching bands and 270 equestrians.

As a sidelight on the Rose Parade, the rules state that all visible parts of a float must be "completely covered with fresh flowers or plant material." Float builders have used anything from roses to rice, beans, peas, onions, carrots, crushed walnut shells, bran flakes, pine cones and lemon peels.

Thom Callas, of Jubilee Parade Float Co., said that "you try to do something new with vegetation other than flowers and it begins to look like the tournament of seeds and cornhusks."

Finally, there are the football games.

Or, Why Can't Those Computer Types Talk English When They're Trying To Teach The Rest Of Us How To Use The Damn Things?

BASICally, You Boot And Interface, Maybe Using The Port

Have You Talked To Your Computer Today?

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

St. Nick's visit to your house this Christmas may mean you're now grappling with a new language, the jargon necessary to mastering the computer dropped down your chimney. If that's the case you'll find that familiar words have taken on bizarre new meanings.

If you didn't plan ahead, you may begin to think you were naughty instead of nice and Santa left the modern-day version of a bundle of switches in your stocking.

"Once you have a computer you have to practice and get used to it before you can program it," according to Michael Holmes, supervisor of the instructional computer lab at Seminole Community College. He strongly recommends taking "a course and getting familiar with computers before you purchase one. You will have a better idea of what the salesman is talking about and what you need if you are computer literate."

Rob Sessions, a systems analyst for an Altamonte Springs software services outfit, said that if you take a computer course before shelling out $1,000 or so for a personal computer you may learn that computers aren't for you.

"If you aren't logically oriented you probably won't have fun with a computer," he said.

But if your computer mode is turned all the way on and you're trying to figure out the computer Santa brought you, the 26-year-old Sessions says there is a certain logic behind computer language.

That may be open to debate. Every industry uses its own jargon as a way to separate the insiders from the civilians. But in dealing with customers, the marketing instinct usually takes over and everything is written in English.

Not in the computer industry.

For instance, instruction manuals are referred to as "documentation." "Access" used as a verb is another example. Such as, "I have to access the hardcopy database."

Translation: "I have to go to the library and look up some stuff in books."

To help you work your way

'Once you learn computer language for one brand of machine it's as if you have learned English. But when you move onto a machine of another make you will realize you "speak" with a "dialect". You still speak the language, but it's like you have a Southern accent.'

—computer instructor Michael Holmes

through this ordurant obfuscation. Sessions outlined a list of common terms that have different meanings to the computer literate.

A simple word like basic becomes "BASIC" and although it loses its meaning as "simple" when it becomes an acronym for Beginner's All-purpose Symbolic Instruction Code, BASIC is the program language that "Joe Blow will use with his personal computer. It's a very simple language," Sessions said. But even simple computer language can confuse the novice.

When you have a "bug" in your computer system or program you don't call an exterminator you call a technician who can determine what the problem is.

A bug, you see, is a glitch. You do see, don't you? It's all becoming clear, right?

"No one knows where it came from, calling computer problems or something wrong with a program a bug. Some people say that it comes from the early days when computers had mechanical parts. If they had a problem they thought a moth had gotten between two of the mechanical parts and was causing the problem," Sessions said.

If you "boot" your computer that doesn't mean you've given it a swift kick out of frustration. Boot, in computer talk, Sessions said, means to turn on the disc drive and start the system. A "cold boot" means a beginning start and a "warm boot" means a quick restart in a system that was momentarily shut down.

The term boot may have come from the idea of kicking the system on or from pulling it up and running "by its bootstraps," which would refer to starting from nothing, Sessions said.

A "port" is not only a place for ships to dock it is similar to a telephone jack where a computer terminal can be attached to another machine.

There are "serial" and "parallel" ports, Sessions said, the differences being that a serial port connection will allow bits of data to be transmitted one after another in a series, while parallel ports will send up to 16 pieces of information at one time, all leaving together and arriving together.

Makes sense ... sort of.

When you speak of "compatible" computers it doesn't necessarily mean they work well together. If computers or programs are compatible it means they work in the same way, but not quite. If one manufacturer's computer or program is too "compatible" with another that can lead to a multi-million dollar lawsuit for patent infringement, Sessions said.

Despite all this apparent confusion, computer language is evolving and becoming standardized, he said. In the beginning every manufacturer had its own machine codes and language. The American National Standards Institute (ANSI) has worked to make it easier for computers of different makes to understand each other when transferring information over telephone lines and to develop new more

Miss America 1983 Writing Book About Pageants, Good And Bad

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — As Miss America 1983, Debbie Maffett has a couple of claims to fame. After her term, it was Debbie who placed the Miss America crown on the head of Vanessa Williams. And Debbie was one of the oldest women ever to win the title — she was 25 when she won, and is now 27.

She may also have tried the longest to be crowned. She had entered the Miss Texas pageant five times — always a finalist, but never a winner — and then, after she moved to California to become an entertainer, she tried again. This time she became Miss California and, ultimately, Miss America.

Obviously, she is pro-pageant. She is so pro-pageant that she presently is writing a book about pageants and how a woman can help her life by entering and competing in them.

"My book will call attention to the bad ones as well as the good ones," she says. "and I've been in my share of bad ones. But generally I think they are very positive."

In her case, she entered so many and won so many scholarships and so much money that her entire college education was financed in that way. She was already a college graduate when she became Miss America, and used her $55,000 in scholarship money to study acting in California.

Now she is working here, doing interviews for a local Los Angeles "PM Magazine" program. Some of the pieces she does are syndicated nationally to other "PM Magazines," so those of you in the rest of the country may be able to see her at work.

Debbie Maffett

...entire college education financed through beauty pageant winnings

Debbie comes from Cut-'n'-Shoot, Texas, which is near Conroe, which is west somewhere. Her father is a schoolteacher and he built the Maffett home with everybody, including Debbie, pitching in to help.

Growing up, she had no particular ambition, except to stop building houses. But in college — Lamar University — she zeroed in on broadcasting as a career. And, now that her career as a beauty-pageant contestant is over, that's what she will do.

DAVE MADDEN has made a good, steady, but hardly luxurious living out of TV sitcoms. He's been part of various TV series for 15 out of the last 19 years. But he feels he might have gone further if he had been "a party fellow."

You know Madden, these weeks, as Earl Hicks on CBS's "Alice." The character started out originally as Polly Holliday's boyfriend, when she was on the show, and subsequently

Everything You Wanted To Know About TV Syndication

DEAR DICK — Can you tell me what is the difference between prime time and a syndicated show? I heard Ed McMahon is going to have a syndicated show in the fall. What does it mean? M.R., Birdsboro, Pa.

You are comparing apples and oranges. Prime time refers to the hours between 8 and 11 p.m. That's when there are the most TV viewers. Therefore, advertisers pay more to have commercials on programs during those hours.

Syndication is a method of distributing programs. There are three major networks — ABC, CBS and NBC. But there are hundreds of companies that syndicate TV shows beyond what the networks decide to supply to affiliates. These companies sell programs (or try to) to individual stations. Ed McMahon's show, for example, will be sold to various stations. It will be seen in your area only if one of your local stations buys it. The networks, by the way, are also in the syndicate business, selling their old TV programs after their first run is over.

Would you know how a person could get the address of Tom Selleck's fan club? Mrs. P.B., Moncton, New Brunswick, Canada

Tom Selleck's International Fan Club, as it is called, can be reached through its president, Phyllis Schooley, at 1115 Brewster St., El Cerrito, Ca., 94530.

While watching the Olympics, I saw a preview of a new show on ABC. It was about a man and a high tech motorcycle. Would you tell me if it is coming on, and, if so, when? A.W., Baytown, Texas

"Street Hawk" is its name and the network held it back until now. Since ABC has the lowest ranking of the three networks, they're finally bringing it on. It will start airing on Friday, Jan. 4.

Ask Dick Kleiner

In Stephen King's book "Danse Macabre," he states (on page 210) that Marilyn Chambers was one of the stars of David Cronenberg's 1975 film, "They Came From Within." I have seen this film twice and do not recall her in the film. Was she in it and, if so, what role did she play? R.D.R., Gasport, N.Y.

No, she wasn't in it but it is possible that King confused a couple of Cronenberg's films. Marilyn Chambers was in his later film, "Rabid," which came out in '77.

I recently saw a sportscaster on ESPN named Gumbel. He looked a little like Bryant Gumbel of NBC Sports. Are the two related? Also, what is the make of the red sports car on "Hardcastle and McCormick"? Is it specially made or are there similar models available for sale? M.I., Houston

Gregg and Bryant Gumbel are brothers. The "H&M" car is custom made, so it is unavailable to the general public. It includes parts from DeLoreans and other exotic vehicles.

I am writing about "Dreams," the CBS series with John Stamos. When I heard it was coming, I waited for it. Finally it came on, but only three or four shows were aired and then it went off. Why was it taken off? M.S., Sterling Heights, Mich.

Basically, because not enough people watched. And probably that was because it wasn't very good.

...Computers

more user-friendly, standardized languages that make it easier for the uninitiated to talk to a computer, Sessions said.

Once you learn computer language for one brand of machine it's as if you have learned English, Holmes said. But when you move onto a machine of another make you will realize you "speak" with a "dialect". "You still speak the language, but it's like you have a Southern accent," he said.

But no matter how simplified and familiar computer talk may become, to get the most out of your machine, Sessions said, you should "go to school, take a course before sitting down at your own machine. It can be a non-academic class from the store that sells the computer.

"You can't escape computers nowadays."

Pish posh. (That's old-fashioned, pre-computer terminology for, "You're wrong.") Holmes said he knows "a lot of people who don't want to have anything to do with computers."

If you run into trouble trying to communicate with your computer, Holmes said there are computer support groups whose members get together and talk over problems with other owners of the same types of machine, a sort of group therapy for computer freaks. If you need this type of help, he said, your computer dealer can match you up with a group.

Kate Smith Recovering

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — Kate Smith, the singer most remembered for her rendition of "God Bless America," is showing signs of recovery from a diabetic coma that left her confined to a wheelchair eight years ago.

Helena Smith Steene, the singer's sister, said that Smith, 76, is walking about three blocks with assistance and her memory appears to be coming back.

"It's created a tremendous amount of stimulation to her blood and to her thinking process," Steene said. "Her reactions are much better. I think she's doing beautifully."

She said Smith last week heard a version of "White Christmas" she recorded 18 years ago played on Raleigh radio station WPTF. Smith quickly recognized the tune and her voice.

"That may sound trite to you, but it's really wonderful to us," Steene said.

WPTF disc jockey Lowell Shumaker said he met Smith recently at a Raleigh charity auction where a Cabbage Patch Kid doll bearing her autograph sold for $300. He asked her at the auction which of her Christmas songs she would like to hear during the holidays, and she requested "White Christmas."

"She's really something special," Shumaker said.

In 1976, Smith was hospitalized for two months when she slipped into a diabetic coma, a condition that led to brain damage and glaucoma. Smith, once a robust 235 pounds, moved to Raleigh in 1979 to be near her family and rarely is seen in public.

During a singing career spanning almost 50 years, Smith recorded numerous Christmas songs, including "Ava Maria," a favorite hymn she once sang in New York's St. Patrick's Cathedral, Steene said.

Smith's rendition of "God Bless America," first sung at the start of World War II, helped generate $600 million worth of bond sales. The money went to the Boy Scouts of America.

In 1982, President Reagan gave Smith the Presidential Medal of Freedom, the highest national honor for a civilian. Reagan, who first met Smith when he was an actor, and his wife, Nancy, sent the singer a Christmas card this year, Steene said.

"It's been a long road and a beautiful one," she said. "It's unfortunate that she can't be telling you herself about it."

Pro Football Just Isn't Entertaining Enough

By David Handler

It happened to me last New Year's weekend. The day of the AFC and NFC championship games arrived. Kickoff time got nearer. And then this amazing thing happened:

I went out for a long walk. I actually didn't care who won.

I still don't. I skipped many Monday night games this season. Heck, I watched no pro football for a whole month and didn't miss it.

This is a major development. You're talking to a guy who, before this season, missed maybe two Monday night games ever. A guy who never leaves home on Sunday during football season. Period.

I'm not alone in my disenchantment. Football ratings are down across the board this season. Experts have written article after article on the whys — the strike, drugs, high salaries, parity, oversaturation, the USFL.

I can only comment on the entertainment value of the telecasts. But I think that's a big part of the problem. Face it, the games are longer and duller than they used to be.

Herewith three culprits:

Too many penalties. Officials now throw flags for the slightest infraction. Flags on kickoff returns and deep pass coverage are now the rule, not the exception. It's gotten so that you look around for the dreaded flag after every big play, and heave a sigh of relief when there isn't one.

Officials are there to keep the game under control, not to be the stars. Plus, every flag they throw leads to a long, boring powwow that stops the clock and makes the game last that much longer.

Too many commercials. It's become absolutely absurd. Here is the standard opening commercial, kickoff, penalty, penalty discussion, commercial. It's a quarter past the hour before we actually see our first play from the line of scrimmage.

I stopped watching "Monday Night Football" one night because there were five commercial breaks in the first half-hour. Coupled with all of those penalties, that stretches a game out to three and a half hours. On the East Coast, the second half of "Monday Night Football" doesn't start until around 11 p.m. How many people are still awake when it's over? Three?

Too many boring announcers. This doesn't apply to the Sunday telecasts. CBS has some fine teams, led by Pat Summerall and John Madden. NBC has Dick Enberg/Merlin Olsen, Marv Albert/John Brodie and Charlie Jones/Bob Griese.

This is however, a big problem on Monday nights now that Howard Cosell has left. Frank Gifford is a stiff. Dandy Don sometimes doesn't seem to know what game he's covering. O.J. Simpson is improving but he can't cut it in prime time. There are too many other viewing choices.

And that's what it comes down to. Football telecasts must compete with the other entertainment that's available. Right now, the NFL product is too slow to hold a fan's interest. At least this fan's interest.

Warden And Rubinstein Team Up To Make Sunday Grownups Night

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sunday has become grownups night on CBS.

First there's "60 Minutes," followed by Angela Lansbury and selected guest stars, mostly chosen from Nostalgia Casting, Inc., in the classy, campy "Murder, She Wrote." Now add to the lineup Jack Warden and John Rubinstein in "Crazy Like a Fox."

Warden plays Harry Fox, a rumpled, off-the-wall private eye who keeps involving his prim and preppy lawyer son, Harrison K. Fox Jr., played by Rubinstein, in his zany cases.

In the first episode, to air Sunday at 9 p.m., the show opens with the private eye talking to a client, a personable chap for whom he has just located a missing person. The client says he needs a lawyer and Fox senior expansively refers him to the best — his son.

Fox junior is wary of his harum-scarum father's referrals. He is pleasantly surprised by this fellow, well-mannered and well-dressed right down to his penny-loafers.

The client explains, still smiling, that he has just served 12 years in prison for the murder of his wife. He didn't kill his wife, he says, although he planned to do so. His wife found out he planned to murder her, pretended to be dead, hid out and let him go to jail. Now that he has been convicted and served a sentence for killing her, he wants to commit the crime. He says he's got a freebie coming.

His question for the lawyer — can he now legally get away with murder?

"Crazy Like a Fox" replaces "The Jeffersons" and "Alice" on Sunday nights. Those veteran sitcoms have been shifted to Tuesday nights. In the 8-9 p.m. slot starting Jan. 8. For those who worry about such things, that was the time slot occupied by the cancelled "AfterMASH" and "E-R," which currently resides on the Wednesday night schedule.

...Madden

has been many things — Phillip's coach and Mel's friend.

He's been on the show for seven years now. Before that he was Reuben Kinkaid for five years on "The Partridge Family." Earlier, he had been on "Laugh-In" for a couple of seasons and he even had his own series, "Camp Runamuck," for one heady year.

"I might have done more," Madden says, "and maybe I still could do more if I were a party fellow. I just don't know the Hollywood establishment people socially, and I guess that's a drawback.

"But the thing is — I hate parties."
