CHALKING 'EM UP

With CHARLIE CHALKER

It Starts Tuesday Night

The long awaited badminton tournament gets under way Tuesday. If it proves a success, Director of Recreation E. M. Harbaker plans to hold others. Immediately after the conclusion of the singles tournament a doubles will be held. And then if enough players want it, a mixed doubles will be run off. This will be the first tournament held for the English game which has become so popular here in less than a year. Already many boys and girls have been taught the rudiments of the game during the play hours held at the City Hall during the past summer. One advantage of the tournament will be that it will be played on an indoor court at night and although it might be cold outside the participants can play in comfort and there will be plenty of room for spectators.

Playing who the winner may be isn't as easy as one might suppose. Badminton is a game that will catch a player just off his feet and he will find all his shots going just a bit awry—and he'll soon be a loser. Another might be that his touch is landing his shots just over the net and to the corners of the court in low trajectory or high bobs just as he wishes, and his opponent will be absolutely unable to cope with him. For that reason, the best players might not come through but on the basis of past performance, you'd say that among the women players Miss Dol Furell is most likely to come through on top, and among the men there are Clyde Parker, Jim Higgins, Richard Deas, Ralph Smith and one or two more who conceivably might win through. Parker, though, appears to be the favorite on past performances.

Coach Bruce Moore's statements about the University of Tennessee team that beat his LSU Tigers smack at something of a break in his little speech. According to Mr. Moore, the Tennessee eleven hasn't one of the best teams in the country, it's just the best by far, and a good defensive team could stop them. He said the best of his human racketeers comprising the LSU team, Feb. 19, Mr. Moore. We were under the impression that prior to the Tennessee game you thought the LSU Tigers were just the team that would stop the Yab.

New Radio Game To Be Sponsored By Bell Bakeries

Forty-five radio games and most interesting game, will be broadcast for the first time on W.D.B. at 8:00 o'clock Tuesday night in the spirit of the Bell Bakeries. The game will be played on the radio and the prize will be a set of radio equipment.

The game is a test of the listener's skill in correctly hearing and identifying sound effects.

Here's the way the game is played: First, you must get your mind ready. It's available, five, at any grocery store. For the convenience of the listener, during the first game, the game will be played in this issue of the Herald. Listeners may also use these entry cards from the newspaper for the first game. Thereafter, the game cards will be obtainable only at the grocery stores.

The listener plays the game in front of his own home on Tuesday night. Each person who plays must have a separate card. Each person on the entry card or card represents a sound effect. The listener must find a picture on the card that represents that sound. If you can find it, place a check mark in the square which describes the sound. When you have identified the sounds correctly by checking only the proper squares, you will be a winner.

Cash prizes will be awarded to winners and the first person to win five consecutive games will win $3.00, while the first person to win ten consecutive games will win $10.00.

All checked entry cards must be deposited at the grocery stores or mailed to this station before midnight Tuesday following each Tuesday's broadcast.

All-Breed Dog Show Scheduled At Winter Haven

WINTER HAVEN, Nov. 6.—A series of all-breed dog shows are being held at the Winter Haven Kennel Club all-breed show which began at 10:30 a. m. today.

Preceding the Palmers, Winters and Madison Square Garden Shows, the Winter Haven show last year attracted scores of many breed dog fanciers from the north and south. It is the second to be put here and the only one in the state so far to secure a date.

As in any other A. K. C. show, dogs are judged on their quality for their owners and their owners for their dogs. The show is a large show by taking place in the local show. Judges well-known in the dog world are being selected and will be announced later.

Miss Ruth Allen, president of the Winter Haven Kennel Club, has charge of arrangements.

Betty Jameson And Patty Berg To Head Women Golfers

ST. AUGUSTINE, Nov. 6.—Headed by Miss Betty Jameson, 1933 national champion, and Miss Patty Berg, six professional as the queen of American links, the outstanding women golfers of the country will begin tomorrow in the South the winter season in complete in the three major tournaments on the East Coast of Florida. The dates for this season of women's golf are announced here today officially as follows:

Feb. 3 to 5—Championship of Palm Beach, at the Palm Beach Club.

Feb. 17 to March 2—The South Atlantic Championship, at the Grand South Golf Club, at Palm Beach.

March 8 to 10—Florida East Coast Championship, at St. Augustine Links.

Miss Jameson, 29 years old and a native of San Antonio, Texas, has developed rapidly in her rise to the top position. Last March, she made her first appearance in Florida competition and was able to reach the final with Miss Berg in the East Coast Championship.

BIRLE VERSE FOR TODAY

But when thou dost slum, let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth: That thou shalt not be in secret; and thy Father which seeth in secret himself shall reward thee openly.—Matt. 6:3-4

ROSEWOOD

(From the New Yorker)
This square place knew the summer when the Danube still was blue
At Saratoga Springs.

The brightly danced that patterned on its apron
Set hooplike and mustachios in motion
When glances were the language of devotion.

Or on a rainy afternoon
That separated crinolins from June,
Upon the misty air
It sighed the fragrance of "The Maiden's Prayer."

Then when the night grew cold and autumn came,
It saw the gentleman and dame
With proper offspring, youth and maid.

Join in a decorous charade.
Now in the tinkle of its rusty strings
A quavering voice awakes and sings
Of how the Danube once was new
And beautiful and blue
At Saratoga Springs.

Children's Toys

The Toy Manufacturers Association which is already getting busy for Christmas, and is expecting at least a 10 percent increase in toy sales this year, announces that the emphasis will be placed, in spite of the war in Europe, on what is called the American way of life, on trains and tractors, little houses, farms, and furniture, dolls, Erector sets, and games.

This does not mean, the announcement continues, that there will be no war toys. There will be some tin soldiers, tanks, artillery of various types and sizes, and plenty of airplanes, but the aggregate of all these toys will be less than one percent of the whole.

Keying in with the intense desire of Americans to keep the peace, the toylands of 1939 will place dominant emphasis on purposeful replicas of the American way of life, it is stated.

But while we are training our youth in peaceful pursuits, English and French toy manufacturers are stressing toys more symbolical of modern methods for mass annihilation. Special emphasis is being laid on toy balloons which are constructed in miniature balloon barrages around miniature cities.

There are also tiny pursuit planes with little machine guns in their noses which spit real fire. And then there are the bombers which drop small caps which explode like firecrackers when they hit.

Germany and Italy are taking their youth problem even more seriously when it comes to making it war-minded. There little tots are taken from their cribs and taught to march in squads and do right face and left face almost as soon as they can walk.

At first they have wooden guns to carry but as soon as they are big enough to carry them they are given real rifles and taught to shoot them. Their training is done in the kindergarten.

This sort of thing has small appeal for most Americans. We regard it as something decidedly uncivilized, even barbaric, to lay so much stress on war and military training for youngsters. How can they expect their children to grow up and be law-abiding peace loving citizens, if they are instructed from infancy in the most advanced methods of slaughter and destruction?

And yet what good does it do to try to make our own children peace-loving, by giving them trains instead of guns to play with. If when they grow up they have to compete in a world made up of men who from infancy have been trained to kill? Merely being a peace-loving nation will not keep a country out of war, as China, Ethiopia, and perhaps the Scandinavian countries, can well testify.

Tough Times For Newspapers

Says the Key West Citizen: "Seventy-six daily newspapers in the United States have either suspended or merged with other publications since June, 1937, according to a recently completed survey. Increasing labor costs, higher newspaper prices and the growing burden of Federal and State taxation had their parts in forcing these newspapers to the wall, it is argued. As a result thousands of newspapermen and printers are out of employment, and publishers out of pocket."

When we come across a paragraph like that, we wonder if it would not be well occasionally for every newspaper to publish a list of the items that create the "overhead" in its publication, giving the amount that each of the items costs.

Our thought is that too many readers of a newspaper go take their paper for granted, they have no conception of the almost countless expenses that must be met, and of the amazing number and kinds of expensive demands that are made upon its publishers.

Probably those seventy-six daily newspapers that were suspended or merged did not receive the support of their communities. They did not receive the volume of advertising they needed to keep out of the red. Very likely too the advertising they published, they could not collect.

A newspaper publisher during this long-drawn out depression certainly must be a glutton for punishment, but most of them are perennial optimists, and somehow most of them just keep carrying on.—Melbourne Times.

Ex-Seaman Invents Device For Quick Lifeboat Release

MIAMI, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Richard Clarke Wilson, who grew up in steam, worried about disasters at sea such as those on the Vestria and the Horne Castle.

Ships indeed had advanced with the coming of steam, but it seemed to him means of abandoning ship remained in the days of sail.

No one apparently had spent much time figuring out how to harness steam to the secondary job of launching lifeboats.

Survey Is Being Made To Protect Supply Of Water

MIAMI, Nov. 7.—(AP)—They're spending about $300,000 to decide how best south Florida's supply of fresh water can be protected, and officials want to make the survey a model for other sections of the country.

Cities, counties along the lower east coast of Florida and the Federal government are sufficiently exercised about poor water supply, fires in the Everglades and too-rapid drainage to put up money for the survey over a four-year period.

Henry T. McIntosh, Albany, Ga., newspaper publisher, explained that the entire southern section of the nation would watch progress of the study as an example of what other communities could do in planning for conservation.

McIntosh, a leader in this work, declared only one such survey has been attempted and one now is starting, both in the west.

The issue, he said, boils down to one question: "How can we most intelligently safeguard what we have left?"

Dade, Broward and Palm Beach counties are backing the survey, but it also will cover the area of St. John's water valley, Lake Okechobee and will embrace Everglades drainage district lands in 11 counties.

ROLL CALL

WHAT IT MEANS

By MORGAN M. BEATTY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—(AP) What price the neutrality law? Listen to certain shipping men with long experience, and you hear that the first effect may be an uncover scramble by American ship owners to register their vessels under foreign flags.

That legal device might keep American vessels running on their regular routes in the minimum danger zones prescribed by the neutrality law.

But it also means they would abandon the protection of the American flag and the United States navy.

It's either foreign registry, say these shipping experts, or abandoning business built up against stiff foreign competition for the last 20 years.

The shipping experts are not, of course, attempting to pass on the question of whether it is right or wrong to have a neutrality law. That, they are quite agreeable, is for congress and the American public to decide.

But as a practical problem, they do insist that the law plays havoc with the world's trans-Atlantic run.

And in any event, the minimum danger zones required under the law will keep the American flag off the cruelest route in the world—the trans-Atlantic run.

But what if American ship owners should abandon their routes instead of taking chances under foreign flags?

In that case, the United States maritime commission says a big section of the already sick merchant marine would be tied up.

The commission's data show that 200 American vessels, totaling 651,719 tons would have to lie idle. That's about one-fourth of the tonnage we now have on the high seas.

In that case, the United States maritime commission says a big section of the already sick merchant marine would be tied up.

DIME NOVEL—Recently the Public Health Service in collaboration with the Office of Education has made available to the public a book entitled "High School and Sex Education." This booklet contains 130 pages and costs 20c.

OUR DUTY—Since the Neutrality Bill will have passed by the time this reaches the press, it is the duty of every American to study the bill.

ADJOURNMENT—At this writing, Nov. 1st, it appears that we will adjourn by the week-end and I hope that we will have passed a Neutrality Bill which will go far toward keeping us out of the war.

COME SEE ME—I expect to return to Florida just as soon as Congress is adjourned. I have spent very little time in the State this year because of this long regular session.

Frank Capra Scores Another Movie Hit

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 7.—There is another, and the best to date, reason for Frank Capra's super-emergence as a movie director.

In the talk of an underdog, a simple lad who goes to Washington with his unshakable American beliefs in justice and right and fights for them against the lawless efforts of a few, Capra's "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" is a homecoming feast of compelling movie entertainment.

"Mr. Smith" has everything—drama, excitement, abundant human interest, comedy, suspense, a hero who is a wholly sympathetic and likable hero (Cary Grant), who fights uphill, is beaten down, gets up and fights again, and except for the girl (Cheryl Chace), and finally wins over all.

It all goes on against the backdrop of Washington, D. C., with its high point on the floor of the Senate where Mr. Smith, led blindly but unshakably, ultimately wins.

It's a hero to cheer about in the American era.

Each attraction of the pledge to the Phi Alpha Kappa society will be held tonight at 8:00 o'clock on First Street.

Hull Opposed To Transfer Of Vessels

President of the United States, said that it would be impossible to supply Americans on the line's vessels when they are transferred to Panamanian registry for trade in bell-shaped zones.

One of the eight vessels he said, probably will be the President Roosevelt, 12,500-ton liner, because she is already loaded and ready to sail. The others are smaller vessels.

"Of course," Franklin was quoted, "because of American law it will not be possible to have American crews. We will have to use Panamanians."

It was believed in shipping circles here that the crews would be drawn mostly from Canada.

Badminton Tournney To Get Underway Tonight At 8:00

Public To Receive Free Admittance To All Matches

The first annual badminton tournament will get underway tonight at the City Hall at 8:00 o'clock. Two matches are scheduled to be played between 8:00 and 10:00 o'clock. Each match will be two out of three games.

Women's matches will run 11 points each game and men's will run the usual 15 points per game. Who the contestants will be tonight was not known definitely this morning. Due to the fact that some of the players will have to pick other times than those scheduled, there is the possibility that the players who will be matched on the regular playing nights cannot be announced until the night of the match.

In an effort to see that the tournament is conducted along the lines set up by the National Badminton Association, Director of Recreation R. M. Hardaker has announced that he will provide judges and a referee for the matches.

Thirteen entries have been recorded for the men's division while 12 have been recorded for the women's division. All matches will be singles. Doubles will be held later and it is expected that a mixed doubles will be held also.

The public will be admitted free.

Reel Softball Team Trims Florida Power By 8 To 4

Reel and Sons softball team tonight defeated Florida Power 8 to 4 in a game that was played at the City Hall.

However, Florida Power won several players failed to show up for the game. Florida Power had up several players and the two teams played anyhow.

The strong Florida Power was a match for Reel with several of their players absent.

Reel's first run came in the first inning when they scored over the seven-inning route. Kinlaw, tossing for Florida Power, permitted nine.

Reel scored three runs in the second inning. In the fourth, they scored two runs and in the fifth, and added their final tally in the seventh. Florida Power came through with one run in the third and in the fifth managed to push across three markers on one hit, three walks, and an error.

Florida Power rallied in the ninth but failed to score with three men being left on base.

T. Smith and "Mountain" Dumas each had a perfect day at bat with two hits out of two times up to head the Reel outfit. Miles led the Powermen with two doubles in two times at the plate.

Playing tonight are Kilgore and Osceola at 8:00 o'clock.

CHALKING 'EM UP

It's about time somebody reminded the world at large that Tennessee went to the Orange Bowl last year after being snubbed by the traditional and mundane Rose Bowl powers. And there is no reason why every press dispatch from points north and west should assert vigorously after each Tennessee victory that the "Rose Bowl bound." Who put 'em on the Rose Bowl trail? We remember correctly, we haven't heard a thing about the "Rose Bowl bound" being hot up about going to the coast where they were considered good enough last year. And the Sugar Bowl also was more than attentive to the pleading eyes of the mountain lads.

We know the Orange Bowl bigwigs—and we've met some of 'em personally—and the Tennessee Vols, Coach Bob Neyland's men will fight for the title of national champion under the sunny skies of Miami. It wouldn't surprise us at all if we learned from any authoritative source that the Orange Bowl already had the official consent of Bob Neyland and the Tennessee authorities, not to mention the members of the team, to play in Miami New Year's Day. There's one thing that gives the Orange Bowl more power than either the Sugar Bowl or Rose Bowl. The Rose Bowl is committed to the policy of playing the west coast team that wins the championship against some eastern college. The Sugar Bowl is committed to the policy of taking the champion of the Southwest conference and playing it against another team from the north. The Orange Bowl is committed to nothing but leans toward the Southeastern conference and will pick the opponent just as quickly from the South and West as from the North. We'll bet our bet on Miami to have the best bowl game on New Year's Day.

Celery Feds Take Day Off As Next Game Is Nov. 17.

Coach Leonard L. McLucas let his Celery Fed squad take the day off yesterday due to the fact that he has two weeks to prepare for the next game which will be with St. Augustine, Nov. 17.

Nov. 10 happens to be an open date on the Fed schedule as Coach McLucas was unable to match the Seminole eleven with another team. A tentative game for the Fed "B" squad with the Lyman Greyhounds Nov. 11 has been called off.

All the members of the squad came through the Orlando game unscathed save for bruises and scratches.

Whether there will be any change in the Fed lineup for the Saint game has not been decided by Coach McLucas yet. Much will depend on the practice sessions for the next two weeks, he indicated today.

The St. Augustine team is considered much stronger than the local outfit but there is a possibility that the local eleven may be able to prepare in the next two weeks a strong attack that may result in the second victory of the season for the Feds.

The local eleven showed a potent attack in the last half against the Orlando eleven and should they show the same form against the Saint eleven, chances are that they may come out on top.

Much will depend on the work of Danny Altman who appears to have clinched the quarterback berth after an up and down performance during the first few games. Altman was easily the best man on the field against Orlando and his drive and spirited play will be needed against St. Augustine. Jimmy Page is another back upon whom much depends. This speedy back will have to carry the brunt of the Sanford running attack along with John Angel, driving fullback who showed indications of real line-plugging ability against Orlando last Friday.

Gators Get Ready For Game With Bulldogs

GAINESVILLE, Nov. 7.—(AP)—Head Coach Josh Cody ordered "full speed ahead" in practice yesterday as Florida's football forces opened preparations for their all-important battle with Georgia Saturday in Jacksonville.

The Bulldogs and the Gators, perennial rivals, clash in Fair Field Stadium in Jacksonville's only collegiate grid tilt of the year.

Upset 6-0 by South Carolina last Saturday after winning three in a row by shutout scores, the Gators went right back to work this afternoon with Cody heading them a long scrimmage. The drill marked the second time since the season started the gridder have scrimmaged on the Monday following a game.

Miss Orange Bowl To Be Sought All Over Florida In Jaycee Contest

By GEORGE GALLET
MIAMI, Nov. 7.—All Florida will be combed to find Miss Orange Bowl of 1940. A state wide contest for the selection of the beauty queen in connection with the New Year's Orange Bowl football game and festival here will be held in 17 Florida Cities.

The winners of these elimination contests, throughout the state will come to Miami December 28 to compete for the final selection of Miss Orange Bowl to be chosen in colorful ceremonies in Bayfront Park amphitheater. Junior Chamber of Commerce organizations throughout the state will sponsor the contest.

Following are the cities of Florida in which elimination contests will be staged by the Jaycees: Jacksonville, Palatka, Tampa, Orlando, Apalachicola, Live Oak, St. Augustine, Sarasota, Bradenton, Winter Haven, Lakeland, Daytona Beach, Deland, New Smyrna, Vero Beach, Sanford and Leesburg.

Miss Orange Bowl will be Florida's most beautiful girl—outside of Miami, which is not competing. There will be a Miss Miami, however, who will act as hostess to the visiting contestants.

Ernie Selter, business manager of the Orange Bowl Festival, announced last night that the beauty pageant will not be a bathing beauty contest. Entrants will be judged in evening dress and judging will be graded upon the girls' ability to photograph and act before a movie camera.

A prize of $100 is being offered by the Jaycees of greater Miami for the Junior Chamber of Commerce organization of the state whose contestant is the winner.

A trip to Cuba and return will be given Miss Orange Bowl and her mother or other chaperon.

All girls of the state winning the right to compete in the final selection of Miss Orange Bowl in Miami will be participants in the huge Orange Bowl Festival parade downtown the night of December 30, riding on a float directly behind the queen, Miss Orange Bowl.
