60 Evacuated From Cell Area

Officials Investigate 'Suspicious' Jail Fire

By Susan Loden
Herald Staff Writer

Seventeen Seminole County jail inmates were scheduled to be questioned today by investigators to determine the cause of a fire in a communal area of their cell block.

The fire broke out at about 4:15 p.m. Wednesday in pod B on the south side of the Seminole County Corrections Facility and that cell block was evacuated as well as 53 prisoners, other inmates from adjoining sections of the jail. The prisoners were moved with to a central recreation area of the jail, according to Seminole County sheriff's investigator Theresa Jereczek.

The jail is located at Five Points on U.S. Highway 17-92, south of Sanford.

The blaze was confined to a mattress, with some damage to a wall and no injuries were reported, Ms. Jereczek said.

The mattress, which was destroyed, had been pulled by inmates from a cell into a recreation area of the pod where inmates watch television, Ms. Jereczek said. In that section of the cell block inmates are allowed to have cigarettes and matches, she said.

The cause of the fire had not been determined early today, but both Ms. Jereczek and Seminole County Chief Fire Inspector Ray Pippin called the blaze "suspicious."

They were scheduled to begin questioning inmates from pod B at 9:30 a.m. today.

Jail guards responded to a smoke alarm and extinguished the fire before units from the Sanford and Seminole County fire departments arrived on the scene, Pippin said.

The evacuees were returned to their cells at about 6:45 p.m. Wednesday, Ms. Jereczek said.

Sheriff's deputies and Sanford police officers were called in to help maintain security during the evacuation, Sheriff's Capt. Jay Leman said.

Both the smoke detector/fire alarm and sprinkler system of the jail functioned during the fire, Leman said.

In a Seminole County jail fire in 1975 a corrections officer and 10 inmates died in a blaze that swept the old jail facility, which was located in what is now the Seminole County Courthouse Annex in downtown Sanford. —Susan Loden

PUD Rezoning Approved

P&Z Favors Heathrow Tall Building Plan

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

The Seminole County Planning and Zoning Commission gave its blessing Wednesday night to requests from the Heathrow Land and Development Co. to waive the county's 35-foot height limitation to allow construction of a three-story (46 feet tall) office building and a five-story (68 feet tall) office building at Heathrow.

The board also recommended the rezoning of 529 acres to permit construction of a golf course, housing development and commercial center near the intersection of State Road 46 with Orange Boulevard and Oregon Street.

While the board recommended the rezoning from agriculture to planned unit development for the project, to be called Kingswood, a development of regional impact hearing must be held by the county and county commissioners must consider the actual rezoning.

The group of property owners, headed by Warren Williams, plans to construct 1,780 dwelling units, 195 acres of commercial and a 110.4-acre golf course.

The developer has promised to pay school, fire and sheriff impact fees and to install or fund all road, signalization and intersection improvements recommended by the county's engineering department.

The developers are also slated to build water and sewer plants at the site.

Three access points are planned by the developers into the property — SR 46, Oregon Street and Orange Boulevard.

With the Heathrow approval, the board also recommended a zoning change. Sixteen acres are to be added to the Heathrow PUD to become the site of the office buildings. The board recommended the land adjacent to Interstate 4 be rezoned from industrial to planned unit development.

In other business, the planning and zoning commission

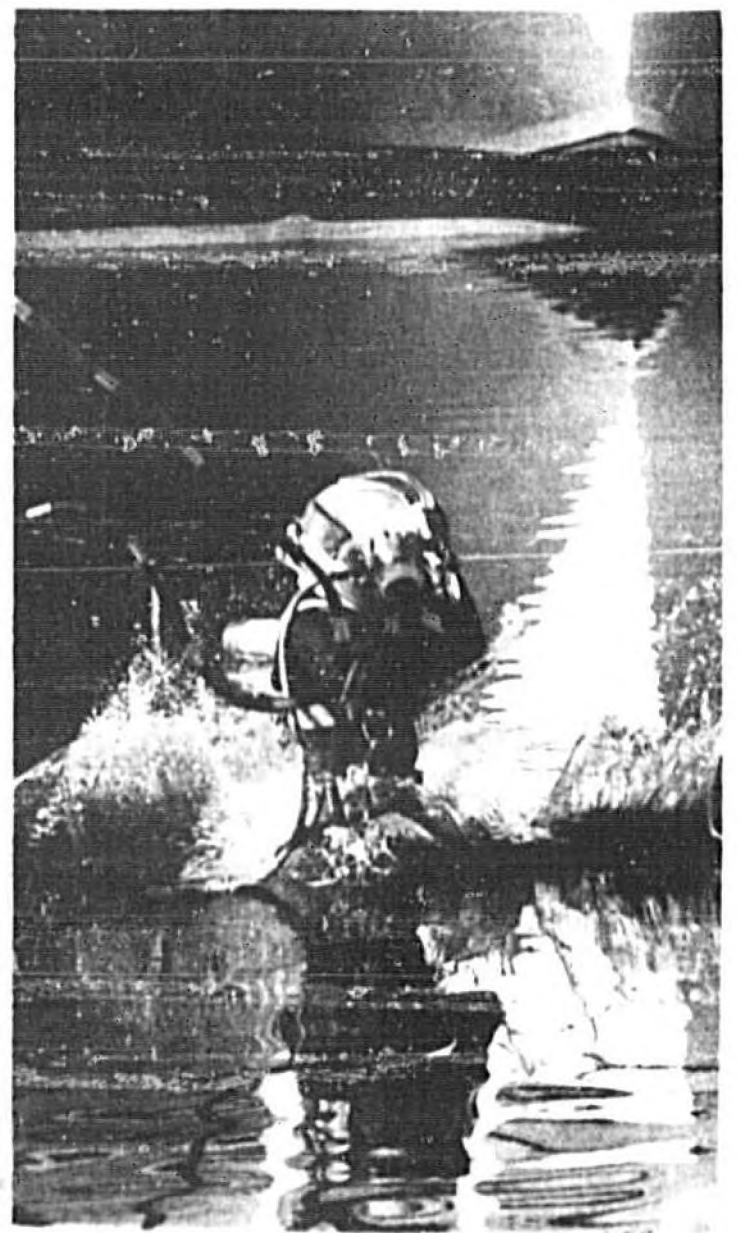

- Recommended denial of a request from Clara Ripley to rezone 3.7 acres at the southwest corner of Celery Avenue and Brissan Avenue from agriculture to commercial for a welding shop and trailer sales. Staff said the proposed use is not compatible with comprehensive plan policies discouraging commercial land uses from intruding into residential or general rural areas.

- Recommended denial of a request from Samuel Elser to rezone from agriculture to industrial an eight-acre tract on the north side of Florida Avenue near Winter Springs, to permit construction of an office and warehouse. Staff opposed the zoning because it would not be compatible with adjacent residential land uses.

Ready For Repairs

USS has a 45 day contract with the city to repair the boat ramps at the marina at a cost of $79,000. Divers are clearing out debris and preparing to remove broken concrete and steel reinforcing rods from the old ramps closed April 15 after marina officials discovered five foot dropoffs at the end of the ramps. Washouts were thought by officials to have been created by the propulsion from the Star of Sanford.

'I Knew It Had To Come Out'

Reporting Fatal Accident Was Matter Of Conscience For Miss Florida-USA

By Rick Brunson
Herald Staff Writer

Miss Florida-USA, Altamonte Springs' Kathy Rosenwinkel, said she told pageant officials about her 1984 auto accident during which a 75-year-old man was killed because not telling would have bothered her conscience.

"I knew it had to come out... that's just the kind of person I am," said the hazel-eyed, 110-pound brunette woman in a telephone interview from Fort Lauderdale where she was crowned Saturday.

Pageant officials ruled Tuesday that Miss Rosenwinkel, 20, could keep the title after she told them about the accident and they reviewed records concerning the case.

Grant Gravitt, president of Tel-Air Interests Corp., franchise holder for the Miss USA pageant, said the president of the Miss Universe pageant affirmed the officials' decision Wednesday. The Miss Universe pageant is where Miss Rosenwinkel, if she is named Miss USA, will compete for a world beauty crown and $500,000 in cash and prizes.

"She is a quality lady," Gravitt said of Miss Rosenwinkel, "and she's been honest and forthright with us."

Miss Rosenwinkel was charged with vehicular homicide and manslaughter in 1984 after an auto accident in Gainesville that led to the death of a Hawthorne man.

Court records say witnesses told police Miss Rosenwinkel's car apparently ran a red light at Main Street and Southwest Second Avenue on Feb. 27, 1984 during a rainstorm and slammed into another car. The vehicle she hit spun into three pedestrians, killing Samuel Goodbread and injuring his wife, Thelma, 76. The other pedestrian, Charlene Kezele, 51, also of Hawthorne, was seriously injured.

Instead of prosecuting Miss Rosenwinkel, the Alachua County state attorney's office put her into a pretrial intervention program requiring her to keep a job or attend school, perform 100 hours of community service, give up her driving privilege, take a defensive driving course, maintain contact with a program supervisor and pay $20 a month toward the program.

She is in the program for four years and if she fulfills the requirements the charges against her will be dropped. She has completed six months of the program.

After the accident, Mrs. Goodbread filed a civil suit against Miss Rosenwinkel and her insurance company. The company settled out of court in May for $200,000.

The accident and the charges weren't brought up until after Miss Rosenwinkel won her crown. When she saw Saturday night that part of her $25,000 prize was a 1985 Chevy Camaro she said she told Gravitt she couldn't drive.

"I mentioned I couldn't drive but I wanted to explain later," she said. Her coronation party was the "wrong place, wrong time" to tell Gravitt about the accident, she said.

She said Gravitt responded, "We'll discuss the details later."

The next day she told Gravitt's wife, Mary Lou, about the accident and on Monday she told a group of pageant officials, she said. The same day reporters who knew about the accident called Gravitt and that's when officials decided to go public with their ruling.

Miss Rosenwinkel, who was a student at the University of Florida at the time of the accident, said her friends knew about the accident and it was reported in Gainesville newspapers.

"I really didn't think it would come up but in a way I knew it would. I knew it had to come out," she said.

Miss Rosenwinkel said she felt remorse about what she called the "freak" accident but she doesn't believe it will hinder her reign.

Wanted Man Too Costly

A man wanted in Martin County for failing to appear in court was arrested in Lake Mary Tuesday, but police had to set him free. The Seminole County jail refused to book the man because Martin County deputies said they would not extradite him.

"We are very annoyed at this," Lake Mary Police Chief Harry Benson said Thursday. "If you are not going to extradite someone, why issue a warrant?" he said.

A spokesman for the Martin County Sheriff's Department said the man, Jeffrey Wayne Limbaugh, 20, of 221 W. Lake Mary Blvd., failed to show up in court in February. He was charged with driving without a valid license.

"The bond is too low for us to come and get him," the spokesman said. His bond was set at $81 by a Martin County judge.

Car Bomb Kills 2 At American Base

FRANKFURT, West Germany (UPI) — A powerful car bomb exploded as workers arrived today at the sprawling U.S. Air Force Rhein Main Air Base, killing two people and injuring at least 11 others, military authorities said.

"It was terrible," said base spokesman George Silla. "I saw a brilliant yellow tongue of flame and our office was suddenly full of debris. Furniture was blown all over."

George Wegmann, 58, a civilian base employee, said "I saw overturned burning cars and three blood-drenched people on the pavement."

Sgt. Dave McMahon, a base spokesman, said one person died in the blast and another, a woman, was dead on arrival by medical evacuation.

County To Designate Non-Smoking Areas

County staff had some good news for non-smokers this week and some bad news for land developers thanks to two new state laws.

County Services Director John Percy told county commissioners that smoking areas and non-smoking areas must be designated in all county buildings

She Fired At Robber, Then Was Fired

PASADENA, Texas (UPI) — A clerk who shot a gunman during a $40 service station robbery has been fired for carrying a weapon on the job.

Mary Woods, 56, said she was emptying trash behind the store early Tuesday when a man stuck a gun in her back, forced her inside and told her to put all the money in a paper sack.

Woods complied, but when the thief turned to flee, she pulled a .32-caliber revolver from her pocket and shot him once in the back. The robber shot back, hitting a nearby fire extinguisher.

"I was terrified," Woods said. "I just reacted automatically. I don't know what happened."

22-caliber gun and the money. He collapsed in a nearby yard and was later arrested and charged with attempted murder and aggravated robbery.

The manager of the Billups convenience store and gas station who fired Woods was unavailable for comment, but a spokeswoman at Charter Marketing's corporate headquarters in Jacksonville, Fla., said company policy is that employees should not endanger themselves or customers during robberies.

Woods, who was not charged, said she carried a gun because she feared working alone late at night.

Of her dismissal she said, "It's terrible but that's the way life is."

IN BRIEF

Reagan Gets Aid To Contras; Will Ask Congress For More

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan plans to sign a $14.7 billion foreign aid bill — the first one Congress has passed in four years — that is far less than he wanted but contains $27 million for Nicaraguan rebels, officials say. He was to sign the bill today at 1:15 p.m.

House and Senate conferees forged a compromise on the measure July 26. The Senate passed the bill July 30 and the House passed it a day later as lawmakers were winding up work to go on a monthlong recess.

The bill is the first foreign aid legislation Congress has passed since 1981. In the intervening years, foreign aid has been provided by separate bills.

The measure is $467.4 million short of what Reagan requested but provides $27 million in non-lethal aid for rebels fighting to overthrow Nicaragua's leftist Sandinista regime.

White House spokesman Larry Speakes said Aug. 1 that while the administration was happy about the aid to the rebel Contras, there was not enough money in the bill for other areas and Reagan probably would return to Congress to ask for more.

Attorney: Spying A Dirty Business

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The espionage war between U.S. and Soviet agents is a dirty business, and jurors hearing the spy trial of a former FBI man should realize that "unethical, dishonest and immoral" things happen in that war, a defense attorney said.

In his opening statement Wednesday in the trial of Richard Miller, the only FBI agent ever charged with espionage, attorney Stanley Greenberg said the charges can actually be interpreted as a vindication of Miller.

Greenberg said after Miller's superiors discovered he was sleeping with a blonde Russian immigrant, they went into their investigation with a preconception that he was a spy, when, in fact, the agent was trying to infiltrate the Soviet KGB.

Miller, 48, is accused of passing secret FBI counterintelligence documents to Svetlana Ogorodnikova. She and her husband, Nikolai, pleaded guilty and are serving prison terms for conspiracy to commit espionage.

Witness: Walker Sold Spy 'Bible'

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — His attorney says Arthur Walker is more of a bumbling sap than a Soviet spy but prosecution witnesses say military secrets Walker admitted to selling amount to "a bible for sabotage" against two Navy flagships.

Several top military officers testified Wednesday that documents Walker told authorities he sold to his brother, suspected master spy John Walker, jeopardized national security.

The prosecution said it expected to complete its case today, the fourth day of Walker's espionage trial. The defense said it hopes to present its case in one day but it has not decided whether to call Walker to the stand.

If convicted, he could face life in prison.

County Cancels Hearing For Adult Bookstore

A public hearing before the county on an appeal from New Wave Entertainment Inc. for a special exception to permit operation of an adult book store, the Connexion in Fern Park was cancelled Tuesday night because a notice announcing the time and place of the hearing was not posted at the store site.

The posting is required by county law.

The corporation was appealing to the county commission a denial by the county Board of Adjustment of the special exception on May 20. The special exception was necessary because county law forbids an adult book store from operating within 1,000 feet of a church. The Connexion was 680 feet from a church.

Even though the special exception had been denied, the shop was open pending its hearing before the county commission.

But Director of Land Management Herb Harden told the board earlier Tuesday that the corporation's attorney told him the Connexion closed its doors last weekend.

The shop had been operating on a parcel at the northeast corner of U.S. Highway 17-92 and the Matland-Interstate 4 interchange. Harden said the attorney told him the business closed for economic reasons and the property had been sold.

County Attorney Nikki Clayton told commissioners if the book store wants to try for the special exception again, it must start with another hearing before the Board of Adjustment.

Negotiators To Try Again Monday

Union, School Board Fail To Reach Pay Agreement

A 14-hour bargaining marathon at Lake Mary High school failed to close the salary gap for Seminole County teachers.

Marshal Ogletree, executive director for Seminole Education Association, said negotiations will not resume again until Monday. He said he was hopeful an agreement could be reached in one more session.

Monday's meeting is scheduled for 9 a.m. at Lake Mary High School.

Ernest Cowley, chief negotiator for the Seminole County School Board, offered to increase teacher salaries five percent, raising a starting teacher's pay to $14,397. A beginning teacher in Seminole County earns $13,712 per year.

But SEA is holding out for a seven percent increase. Ogletree said.

Ogletree said there is an extra $1 million in the budget that could be used for teacher salaries.

After negotiations reached an impasse last Friday, a federal mediator was called in.

SEA had originally asked for a 20 percent salary increase, but changed the request to 14.9 percent when the school board's tentative budget was adopted on July 18.

Ogletree said he would review the budget with Carey Ferrell, assistant supervisor for business and finance, before Monday's negotiations.

'Miami Vice In The Real'

Four Officers, Two Suspects Wounded In Shootout During Drug Deal

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — A doctor called it "Miami Vice in the real" — a hail of gunfire in a plush oceanfront hotel that left four undercover officers and two suspects wounded.

The shootout erupted on the 11th floor of the Dorai Beach Hotel when a drug deal went awry about 4:30 p.m. Wednesday, Miami Beach police said.

Two of the wounded officers were reported in serious but stable condition. The other two officers were released from Mount Sinai Hospital in Miami Beach after treatment for minor gunshot wounds Wednesday night.

"(I have) all the confidence in the world they'll do all right," said a doctor at the hospital. "It's like Miami Vice in the real." He was referring to NBC-TV's "Miami Vice," a popular crime show filmed in Miami.

Police identified the wounded officers as James Mahle, 27, suffering a head wound, officer Joseph White, chest wound, Sgt. Mike Lowe, 42, who walked into the hospital emergency room with a graze wound on the forehead, and officer James Scarberry, 34, wounded by a bullet that grazed across both legs just below the knees.

Lowe and Scarberry were treated and released. Mahle and White would probably be released by Friday, and neither officer was undergoing surgery, said police spokeswoman Johanna Straight.

Straight said five suspects had been taken into custody. One was in stable condition in surgery at Mount Sinai for a bullet wound in the leg Wednesday night. Another suspect was in Jackson Memorial Hospital, but Straight didn't have details on his injuries.

The other three suspects were being held by Miami Beach police. She did not know what charges they faced.

Straight said she could not release details about the drug deal because an investigation was underway.

"All we can say now is it's a large narcotics transaction," she said.

A detective said two undercover Miami Beach policemen were inside the room when shooting broke out. Other officers were outside the room and throughout the hotel to back up the operation.

The medical staff at Mount Sinai reported the four officers suffered wounds from .45-caliber and 9mm weapons, Straight said. She said it was not known what weapons the officers fired in the shootout.

Ex-Police Chief Gets 30 Years For Operating Drug Ring From Station

MIAMI (UPI) — Key West's ex-deputy police chief wept as he pleaded for mercy before a judge sentenced him and 10 others charged in the so-called "Bubba Bust Trial" to prison for operating a drug business out of his office.

Raymond Casamayor Jr. had joked throughout his 10-week trial but tears streamed down the 28-year police veteran's cheeks as he asked U.S. District Judge C. Clyde Atkins to be lenient. Casamayor admitted drug dealer Hector Serrano, who plea bargained with the government and received five years probation, was his drug informant.

"I made some mistakes, Hector Serrano was my informant," he said. "I took some things from him. I'm sorry I did and I ask for your mercy."

Atkins gave Casamayor 30 years.

Ten others received sentences of at least five years for running the cocaine and marijuana business out of the city police department while using bribes and threats to conceal the operation.

Casamayor's attorney, Alvin Entin, said his client was being made an example of because he was a public official and indicated the fact he is black was probably a factor.

Stified sobs of family members and friends of those sentenced echoed through the Miami courtroom at the end of a case called the "Bubba Bust Trial" because the defendants were all from Key West. Citizens of the island customarily call each other "Bubba."

Turner Forgets CBS, Goes After MGM

ATLANTA (UPI) — Cable television magnate Ted Turner has ended his CBS takeover attempt with a whisper, but announced a $1.5 billion deal to acquire Hollywood's MGM-UA Entertainment Co. with a roar.

Turner announced Wednesday he had reached an agreement to buy financially ailing MGM-UA and its vast library of movie classics to provide film fodder for WTBS, his cable-television "superstation."

At the same time, Turner Broadcasting System issued a terse announcement that it was "terminating and withdrawing" its bid to acquire CBS — a deal squelched by a federal judge last month when he allowed CBS to buy back 21 percent of its stock.

"The acquisition of MGM represents an excellent opportunity to improve the strength and stability of TBS," Turner said.

"We think the business of MGM is highly compatible with TBS's existing operations."

Turner offered $29-a-share for all of the outstanding stock in MGM-UA, which lost $66.2 million on revenues of $478 million for the first nine months of the current fiscal year.

Frank Rothman, chairman of MGM-UA, said the Turner acquisition was of "great benefit to our shareholders."

TBS officials have not disclosed how they will raise funds for the MGM-UA deal, but revealed they had retained Drexel Burnham Lambert Inc., to advise them on the acquisition and help arrange financing.

As part of the deal, MGM-UA will sell its United Artists Corp. subsidiary to financier Kirk Kerkorian's Tracinda Corp. for $470 million. Tracinda already owns 50.1 percent of MGM-UA.

Good Looks And Money, Too

Barnett Bank, 3094 Orlando Drive, Sanford, was recently awarded the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce Beautification Award.

Ted Turner

Turner said the MGM-UA deal "came about very, very quickly and is not finished yet."

"When it is finished, then we'll sit back and decide what we want to do with a movie studio," he said.

Among the unfinished work is arranging the financing of the Turner takeover and approval of the deal by MGM-UA stockholders.

Wednesday's announcement of Turner agreement to acquire MGM-UA caused a mild flurry on Wall Street that ended with MGM-UA stock advancing 12 1/2 cents a share to close at $24.12 1/2.

Among the assets of MGM-UA is a film library with more than 4,000 titles that could be aired over WTBS, which is available on cable in all 50 states.

But one of MGM's most famous films, "Gone With the Wind," will not be available to Turner. CBS bought 20-year rights to the film several years ago.

Cabinet Hears Mercy Killer's Appeal

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — A lawyer for the state told Gov. Bob Graham and the Cabinet today that clemency for Roswell Gilbert, who said he shot his "incubally ill wife of 51 years as 'an act of love,'" would amount to a license to kill.

"Roswell Gilbert will not kill again," said Broward County prosecutor Kelly Hancock during oral arguments in the clemency plea by Gilbert, sentenced to a mandatory 25 year-prison term for the death of his wife, Emily.

But a defense lawyer insisted Gilbert shot his wife on March 4 because he could no longer bear to see her suffer. And Gilbert's daughter told reporters her father deserves mercy from Graham and the Cabinet.

Graham and the Cabinet, considering the case as the Board of Executive Clemency, did not say when they will rule on Gilbert's plea.

Sanford Man's Search For Wife Leads To Burglary Charge

A 24-year-old Sanford man who was caught by a Seminole County sheriff's deputy with his head sticking through a window of a home where his estranged wife lives has been charged with burglary.

The man was being held today in lieu of $8,000 bond and is also charged with resisting arrest without violence.

Sheriff's deputy Brian Marcum reported he spotted the suspect at 8:50 a.m. Wednesday with his head inside a window at a home at 3410 Palm Way, Sanford. It was the second time within 30 minutes Marcum reported seeing the man. The screen of the window was leaning against the back of the man's head.

Marcum confronted the man and placed him in a sheriff's patrol car. The owner of the home Deborah K. Ransbottom, 26, arrived home and told deputies she had given Tammy Louise Offenberger, 18, refuge in her home. Mrs. Offenberger's husband did not have permission to be at that home, and Ms. Ransbottom told Marcum she wanted to press charges for burglary against him, a sheriff's report said.

The suspect was charged at about 9:15 a.m. Wednesday and after he was arrested he allegedly began kicking the windows of the patrol car. He was restrained and subdued and the resisting arrest charge was added, the report said.

POT IN CAR

An Oviedo man stopped by a Seminole County sheriff's deputy because the suspect's pickup truck was weaving on the roadway has been charged with possession of less than 20 grams of marijuana and drug paraphernalia.

After the man's truck was stopped on State Road 419 in Geneva at about 8:19 p.m. Tuesday, the deputy reported spotting a small bag of pot and a smoking pipe in the vehicle.

Ralph Timmy Billingsley, 26, no address given, has been charged in the case and released on $500 bond.

LOOKOUT NABBED

A 21-year-old Sanford man reputed to be the lookout in a three-man purse snatching attempt Wednesday was nabbed at the scene and charged with conspiracy and strong arm robbery.

Two other men reportedly approached the victim at 2303 French Ave. and grabbed her purse, but failed to get away with it, a Sanford police report said.

The two suspects who went for the purse fled, but the alleged lookout man was nabbed at the scene, police reported.

Sherman Leon Ware of 116 Anderson Ave. was charged at 2:45 a.m. He was being held in lieu of $8,000 bond.

DON'T SHOOT, HIT

A 44-year-old Sanford man who apparently listened to a woman's pleas not to shoot another woman he was allegedly threatening with a gun instead hit the victim in the face and shoulder with the weapon before fleeing, police reported.

A suspect has been arrested by Sanford police and charged with aggravated battery.

The suspect and his daughter reportedly arrived at #12 Cowan Moughton Terrace, Sanford with his daughter at about 6 p.m. Tuesday and began arguing with Venita Frison, of #47 Lake Monroe Terrace, Sanford.

The man allegedly pulled a pistol and pointed it at Ms. Frison. Patricia Blake told police she shouted, "Don't shoot around the baby," and, according to a police report, the man hit Ms. Frison with the gun and ran.

Ms. Frison was transported to Central Florida Regional Hospital, Sanford, where she again met the suspect in the parking lot and the argument resumed, police said.

Police arrived at the scene and arrested Charlie Morgan Jr., of P.O. Box 195, Lake Monroe Terrace. He was being held in lieu of $8,000 bond.

Fluoridation Nearly A Year Away

By Donna Estes
Herald Staff Writer

It could be almost a year before water supplied to some residents of the unincorporated area of Seminole County is fluoridated.

Fluoridation of the water supply to 6,306 county customers was approved Tuesday by the county commission on a 4-1 vote.

Only Commissioner Barbara Christensen voted against fluoridation, saying she wanted her colleagues to hold a public hearing on the issue before a final vote was taken. Fluoridation is widely believed to help prevent tooth decay in children.

Dr. Jorge Deju, director of the county's

Department of Health and Human Services, had recommended the program. Deju had told commissioners that the county health department, of which he is medical director, annually gives fluoride dental treatment to hundreds of Seminole County children and fluoridation of the water supply is a more efficient method of doing that job.

Environmental Services Director Jim Bible said his department in February printed a survey question on monthly water bills concerning fluoridation and 35 percent of the customers responded. Of those, 77 percent favored fluoridation while 23 percent opposed it.

At an information meeting on fluoridation at the county's health department in May, only five persons showed up, three of whom opposed the fluoridation. Three letters and a few telephone calls were received in opposition.

No one appeared at the commission Tuesday in opposition.

Bible said the county is requesting a state grant of $96,000 for the cost of the equipment, engineering fees and the first year's supply of fluoride. The state is also expected to pay for the chemical in the second year of the program.

Fluoridation could begin as early as June, Bible said.

Growth May Spawn 13 New Voting Precincts

At least 13 new Seminole County voting precincts are expected to be created by the county commission in early October.

Supervisor of Elections Sandy Goard told commissioners Tuesday that there are 13 precincts in the county, all but one in the south end, which have more than 1,700 registered voters. She said that is more voters than could be handled in one precinct on an election day.

There are a total of 72 voting precincts in the county.

The largest is Precinct 60, including the Springs, off State Road 434 and some other areas north of SR 434, which has in excess of 2,800 voters.

The only precinct in the north end of the county that falls into the over-1,700 category is Precinct 10, Lake Mary, with more than 1,800 voters.

If all of the 13 large precincts are split into two precincts, 13 new ones would be created to give Seminole 85 voting precincts.

Noting the difficulty her office has had in the past with finding new polling places for the various precincts, Mrs. Goard told commissioners new state law adopted by the Legislature during the 1985 session calls for public buildings such as schools, county and city offices, to be available for use as polling places.

While schools were used in the past, school officials have been reluctant to allow the schools to be used in recent years because of interference with classes. In addition, some poll workers have complained that school children milling around the polling place disrupt the voting process.

However, Mrs. Goard said she will propose to school officials that teacher work days be scheduled on election days to solve those problems.

Commissioners directed Deputy County Administrator Woody Price to work with Mrs. Goard in drawing new precinct boundaries, using natural boundaries — especially roads — as much as possible.

Price said the job should be ready for commission review by the end of September.

Meanwhile, Price was also instructed to conduct an analysis of the population in each of the county commission districts to determine whether new district boundaries should be created or at least revised.

An analysis of the commission districts shows that four of the districts are relatively equal in the numbers of voters and only district 5, held by Bill Kirchhoff, is slightly different.

District 1, held by Barbara Christensen, has 19,190 voters.

District 2, Bob Sturm, 20,583.

District 3, Fred Streetman, 20,947.

Sandra Glenn's district 4 has 19,020 voters, Kirchhoff's 5, 16,318.

Mrs. Goard told commissioners if new district boundaries are not drawn this year, they cannot be revised until 1991. She said state law forbids redistricting in election years — 1986, 1988 or 1990 — and also forbids districting in 1987 or 1989 because of the nearness of the 1990 census.

Commissioners agreed to make a decision on redistricting after the recommendations on redrawing the 13 voting precincts is submitted.

The commissioners last revised district boundaries in 1981.

While commissioners are elected countywide, they must reside within the boundaries of the district they represent.

Man Pleads Guilty To Cocaine In Cap

A Sanford man who concealed a vial of cocaine in his cap when stopped by police has pleaded no contest to possession of cocaine.

Homer Benjamin Comer, 48, of 1809 W. 18th St., entered the plea before Seminole Circuit Judge Kenneth M. Leffler who set sentencing for Wednesday.

According to a Sanford police report, an officer stopped Comer's car at 13th Street and Laurel Avenue at 10:56 a.m. March 29 and arrested him on a charge of possession of a controlled substance with intent to sell or distribute.

A vial of cocaine was found in Comer's cap. He could receive up to a year in the county jail.

In a second case, a Sanford man pleaded no contest to grand theft and burglary.

Stephen Howard Kendall, 19, of 1503 Terrace Drive, faces up to a year in jail on each count when sentenced Aug. 28 by Leffler.

According to court records, Tim McMahon, of 824 Catalina Drive, Sanford, reported to deputies that he saw two suspects burglarizing his car while the vehicle was parked on Vihlen Road, Sanford, about 5:30 a.m. on June 12. The pair carried a stereo, an equalizer, a tool belt and tapes from McMahon's car.

He pursued the pair as they fled in a 1978 Dodge and noted the license number. The following day, McMahon reportedly identified a suspect in a Seminole County sheriff's photo lineup, but the second suspect wasn't identified, a sheriff's report said.

In tracing the license plate number deputies found the car belonged to Joanne Smith, of 1503 Terrace Drive, Sanford. When questioned by investigators, Ms. Smith reportedly told deputies the suspect identified in the lineup lives at her home and on June 12 had taken her car without permission. She reportedly told deputies she didn't realize the car had been stolen until she was asked about the burglary.

Howard was arrested June 20. —Deane Jordan

A Tough One For Courts To Decide

KellyAnne O'Toole, a healthy, happy New York 3-year-old, was a mistake.

Harsh as that characterization might seem, it nevertheless forms the backbone of a lawsuit brought on her behalf that is making its way through the courts — a case that tests a loaded legal concept known as wrongful life.

For a concept of such great consequence, the explanation seems almost ridiculously simple: Wrongful life is just what it says — a life that shouldn't be. In contrast to so-called wrongful-birth suits, which are filed by parents, wrongful-life suits are filed by offspring, who charge that through negligence or malpractice they are alive, even though living is not in their best interests — or so they tell the court.

What does it mean to be "wrongfully alive"? For KellyAnne O'Toole, it meant being born to a mother who had been surgically sterilized at age 23 because her risk of dying in childbirth was so great.

Moreover, the O'Tooles already had three children and were just scraping by on take-home pay of $200 a week. Though ultimately loved and cherished, KellyAnne, through her birth, unwittingly strained still further her parents' limited resources.

So far no court has been willing to assess damages against the physicians who performed the sterilization to cover the cost that KellyAnne's family estimates it will incur to raise her, although a judge has ruled that the parents can recover certain expenses related to the birth.

For other children, being wrongfully alive has meant living with serious, uncorrectable birth defects that could have been — but for any number of reasons weren't — detected in pregnancy.

Courts in many states have recognized the rights of parents to recover damages in such cases, but so far have been understandably reluctant to extend the same treatment to children, reasoning that to do so would unlock a Pandora's box of lawsuits brought by aggrieved sons and daughters.

It's conceivable, for example, that if wrongful life came to be accepted as a ground for legal action, a boy with Down's syndrome could sue his mother for not having aborted him, since the condition can be diagnosed during pregnancy.

In such circumstances, doctors would be more likely than ever to order unnecessary and potentially risky tests to detect the 1 in 10,000 or 20,000 fetuses that might be defective.

Although attorneys for KellyAnne doubtless would argue otherwise, it may be that the American legal system has limits, that some perceived wrongs simply cannot be litigated.

The real remedy for wrongful life may be no life at all, but what judge or jury would so rule?

Honest Lie

It is too early to close out the competition but John R. Lakian, a former Republican candidate for governor in Massachusetts, is the clear front-runner in the 1985 George Orwell Memorial "War Is Peace" contest.

Lakian earned his lead by testifying in court recently that it is "honest" for political candidates to lie about their credentials because "everybody does it." Lakian is suing the Boston Globe for libel over an article that pointed out discrepancies between his campaign literature and his personal record — "Luff," Lakian calls them.

In 1979, for example, Lakian filed a sworn statement that he had a master's degree from Harvard University, though he had never attended classes there.

"It's a lie," said the Globe's attorney.

"It's a mistake," Lakian replied.

That's going to be hard to beat, fellow contestants, but do not despair. It's only mid-summer, so keep those entries coming in!

Reagan's 'Fine', No Need For Bulletins

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House is no longer issuing health reports on President Reagan. His spokesman, Larry Speakes, says they are not needed.

So far, none of the surgical team from Bethesda Naval Hospital, where Reagan underwent surgery for an intestinal tumor that proved cancerous, have been to the White House to check him over. But Speakes says that Dr. Burton Smith, the White House physician "sees him every day."

Reagan always says he is "fine" when he is asked how he is feeling. But his wife, Nancy, wants him to continue to take it easy, and his daughter, Maureen, brought him back a walking stick from Shannon, Ireland, on a stop from the Nairobi, Kenya, U.N. Women's Conference.

She says he will be doing more walking and no horseback riding or chopping wood when he goes to his California ranch near Santa Barbara for a summer vacation on Aug. 11.

Before heading for the West Coast, the first lady will spend a couple of days at Martha's Vineyard with the East Coast society set and then travel to Phoenix, Ariz., to visit her ailing mother, Edith Davis.

White House chief of staff Donald Regan has replaced Michael Deaver as the first lady's confidant. Aides say that Mrs. Reagan, who is watchful of her husband's schedule to make sure he does not overdo it, is on the telephone several times a day with Regan.

Regan has been accused of becoming the "prime minister" of the administration and has his share of critics on Capitol Hill who believe he lacks political skills. But he is philosophical. "It comes with the turf," he has confided.

Nancy Reagan told interviewer John McLaughlin on his television program "One On One" that she favors a summit meeting between the president and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev partly because she thinks her husband has been unfairly portrayed as a warmonger instead of a peacemaker.

"I think that my husband was portrayed as wanting to go to war right away and drop the bomb and so on and which was very unfair because that's not the way he feels at all," she said. "I think it's a good idea for the two men to sit down and talk."

Reagan, 74, recently indicated to Time magazine correspondent Hugh Sides that he is not concerned over his 20-year age difference with Gorbachev, 54.

"I'll try not to take advantage of his youth," quipped Reagan.

The White House made it clear that James Miller III, replacement for budget director David Stockman, will not be given the same spotlight that Stockman was given. Proof of that was when deputy press secretary Larry Speakes announced Miller's appointment to succeed Stockman he lumped it in a ho hum fashion with the routine appointments of ambassadors and other officials.

Third World Anger

Frustration and disappointment are factors in the spread of terrorism in the contemporary world.

The hijackings, bombings and other mad, bloody protests against the rules of civilized behavior represent, as columnist Flora Lewis of the New York Times recently wrote, "A shriek of frustration against the pains and human cost of joining the modern world." The Middle East in particular is full of surging anger against the West, though a number of Middle Eastern countries have drained hundreds of billions of dollars from the West since the first oil crisis in the early 1970s.

The extraction of these colossal sums from the West has brought only limited progress to the Middle East. Much of the money has been squandered. The new wealth has been accompanied by a new fanatical Muslim fundamentalism which calls for hatred of the countries that have provided the new wealth. Now, the oil wealth is waning. The West, especially the United States, is less dependent on the oil of the Middle East.

There's much talk in the media of greater understanding as an answer to terrorism. That isn't likely to work. Western comprehension of the traditions and mental outlook of Middle Easterners isn't likely to dissipate the anger and frustration.

In truth, the anger and frustrations among Middle East elements that spawn the terrorists are part of a much wider fury. Bitterness is growing throughout the so-called Third World which, until the 1970s, had expectations of sharing in the good life of the advanced countries of North America, Europe and Asia.

In Africa, famine promises to be a grim way of life for many years ahead, despite massive food assistance from the West. The infrastructure created in the colonial period is breaking down. Funds don't exist for its replacement.

Across the Indian Ocean, the Indian government faces a growing terrorist threat. For all its considerable resources, India is overwhelmed by sheer numbers.

Meanwhile, the United States is moving into the upper high-tech era, with the building of the new Saturn automobile plant which will revolutionize basic industry. Research engendered by the Strategic Defense Initiative, the so-called Star Wars project, is likely to have an immense technological spin-off effect for the United States and cooperating Western countries.

All this means that the gap between the advanced and the "downhill" countries is widening at a rapid rate. The fury in the disordered or incapable countries almost certainly will spill over into more terrorism directed at the West.

Abuses Found In Surplus Food Program

By Jack Anderson and Joseph Spear
WASHINGTON — While people are starving in Africa, rodents and thieves have been getting fat on a 4-year-old federal program intended to supply the needy with surplus food.

Agriculture Department investigators have learned that at least $1 million worth of food either spoiled or disappeared in just four states audited by the department. Here are some of the abuses uncovered by the investigators:

— In Chicago, six truckloads of Cheddar cheese worth $100,000 had to be carted to the dump; it had turned rotten because a malfunctioning refrigerator truck couldn't make deliveries. At the same char-

JEFFREY HART

Remember Pearl

Well, you know, nobody forced them to bomb Pearl Harbor. They did it all by themselves with their own little aircraft carriers. It was of course an assinine adventure from any standpoint, since the Japanese never possessed nearly the resources necessary to win a war against the United States, but several million people, soldiers and civilians, would have died in our climactic invasion of the home islands. President Truman deserves the gratitude of both nations for his gutsy decision to bring the whole thing to a welcome end with a couple of big explosions.

There has been the usual handwringing on this 40th anniversary of The Bomb. For a little reality, however, consider this recollection by Paul Fussell, who has just finished his first year as the Donald Regan Professor of the Humanities at Penn, and is also the author of many luminous books. Prof. Fussell is alive today because Truman dropped The Bomb. I quote Fussell.

"On Okinawa, only weeks before Hiroshima, 123,000 Japanese and Americans had killed each other. 'Just awful,' was the comment not of some pacifist but of MacArthur. One million American casualties was his estimate of the cost of the forthcoming invasion. And that invasion was not just a hypothetical threat, as some theorists have argued. It was genuinely in train, as I know because I was to be in it. When the bomb ended the war I was in the 45th Infantry Division, which had been through the European war to the degree that it had needed to be reconstituted two or three times.

We were in a staging area near Reims, ready to be shipped across the United States for final preparation in the Philippines. My division was to take part in the invasion of Hon Shu in March 1946. (The earlier invasion of Kyushu was to be carried out by 700,000 infantry already in the Pacific.) I was a 21-year-old second lieutenant leading a rifle platoon. Although still officially in one piece, in the German war I had already been wounded in the leg and back severely enough to be adjudged, after the war, 40 percent disabled. But even if my legs buckled whenever I jumped out of the back of the truck, my condition was held to be satisfactory for whatever lay ahead. When the bombs dropped and the news began to circulate that 'Operation Olympic' would not, after all, take place, that we would not be obliged to run up the beaches near Tokyo assault-landing while being mortared and shelled, for all the fake manliness of our facades, we cried with relief and joy. We were going to live. We were going to grow to adulthood after all. When the Enola Gay dropped its package, 'There were cheers,' says John Toland, 'over the intercom; it meant the end of the war.'"

Fussell is literary. Most of the men who would have had to run up the beach on Kyushu and Honshu were not.

James Jones, on the other hand, was an army man. About Hiroshima, he reflected on "What it must have been like to some old-timer buck sergeant or staff sergeant who had been through Guadalcanal or Bougainville or the Philippines, to stand on some beach and watch this huge war machine beginning to stir around him and know that he very likely had survived this far only to fall dead on the dirt of Japan's home islands, hardly bears thinking about."

Yes, on this anniversary of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, both Americans and Japanese should pause to remember Harry Truman, the "little man" from Missouri, who had a clear view of what needed to be done — and did it. I wish the same could be said of some of his successors.

DON GRAFF

Media Under Fire

It's no news that the news business in this country is not in such good repute with the people of the country these days.

The press, if we're to believe what we hear, is widely regarded as arrogant, overbearing, biased, obsessed with sensation and more interested in getting a story than in the rights of individuals and the interests of the nation. And more, much more.

It is not a pretty image for an institution that is also regarded — especially by itself — as a pillar of democratic society. This problem is addressed by Burns W. Roper, of the polling outfit, in the current issue of Freedom of Issue, the magazine of Freedom House, a New York based organization that keeps watch on freedom's ups and downs worldwide.

Roper, who is also a vice president of Freedom House, regrets to report that the negative public perception noted above is borne out by his organization's recent surveys. For examples:

On the question of fairness and balance, 80 percent of those polled believe the press doesn't care, 44 percent give it credit for trying.

Forty-nine percent think the press would knowingly break a story endangering U.S. troops, 41 percent would trust it to keep a secret to save lives.

The important point, according to Roper, is not whether the specific criticisms are right or wrong but the public perception that the press is out of line.

He does not, however, look for anything as drastic as a rewriting of constitutional guarantees. Rather, he sees as quite possible a succession of court interpretations that gradually narrow the application of those guarantees.

I would not be inclined to disagree with any of this. Comment, however, is called for on a couple of points.

One is the definition of "press," a term often used, as by Roper, as interchangeable with "media." Print and electronic journalism are, however, very different. Much of what the "press" is currently being taken to task for applies much more specifically to one than the other.

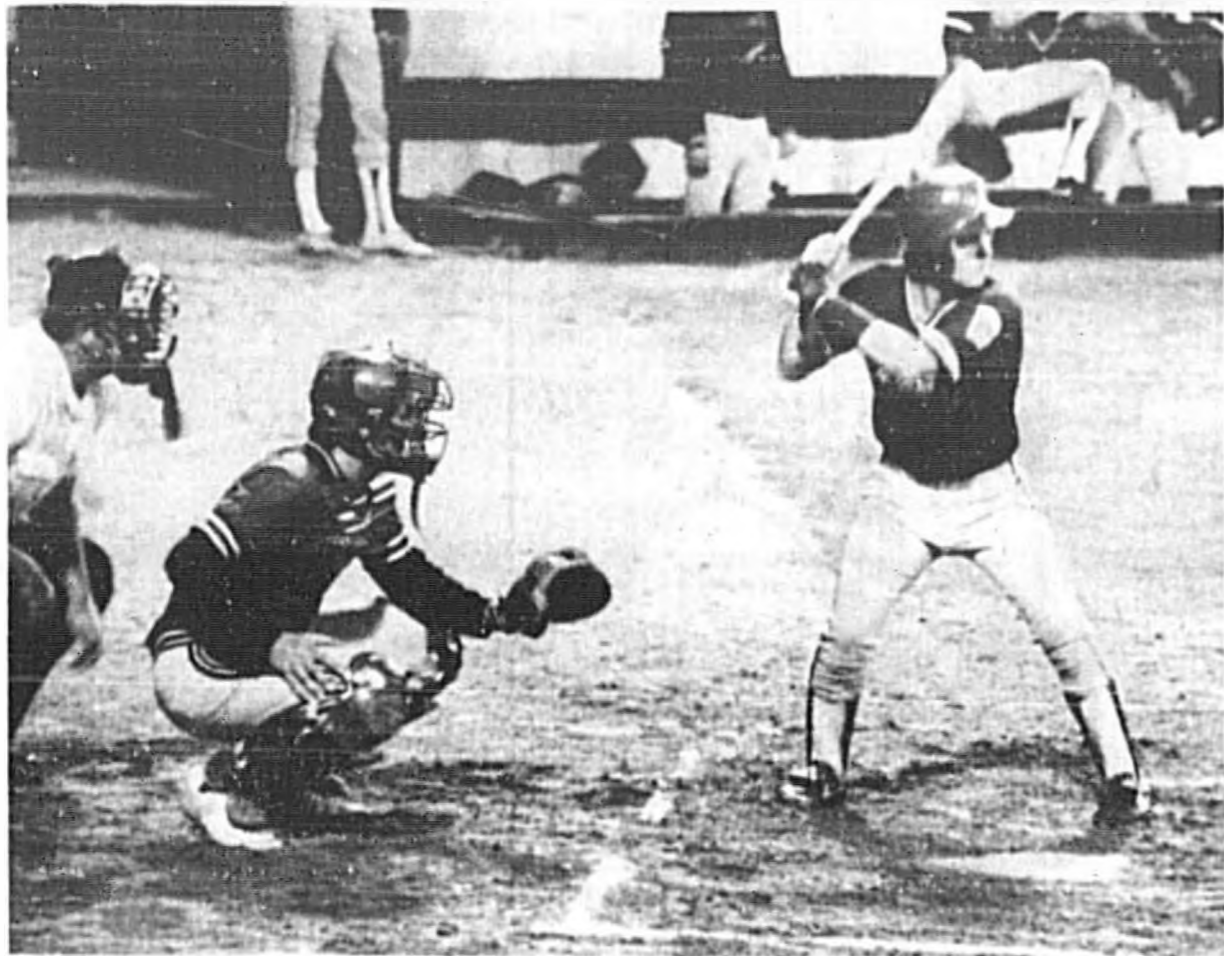

Lastly, in defense of the press it might be said that it best serves the public interest — which, in a healthy democracy, is by assuring a fully informed public — not by judging what should or should not be properly reported, but by reporting what happens simply because it happens.

Whether the press is performing adequately in this respect might make a good question for a Roper Poll: How does the American public know the American press is being widely criticized, and precisely why?

Think a bit about that.

District 14 Closes In On World Series Berth

By Chris Flster
Herald Sports Writer

There's a good chance that, by the time you read this article, the District 14 all-stars will already be preparing for a trip to Fort Lauderdale and the Big League World Series.

Or, the Central Florida stars will be getting ready for a second, winner-take-all, game Friday morning in the Southern Regional Tournament.

District 14 is one win away from a berth in the Big League World Series and, if it wins today's game, which started at 1 p.m., it will be on a flight to Fort Lauderdale tonight at 9:35 p.m.

Either Jacksonville or Bristol, Va., will be trying to prevent District 14 from taking off tonight. Jacksonville and Bristol met in the losers' bracket final, which was rained out last night, Thursday morning at 10.

If a second final game is forced, it will be played Friday morning at 10.

"Because of the backluck due

to the rain we're going to have to get it done as quick as we can." District 14 Big League Director Howard Mable said.

One benefit of Wednesday's rainout is District 14 will now have the use of all of its pitchers. In Big League, a pitcher only needs one day's rest before going again while in Little and Senior League you can't pitch in consecutive games.

District 14 probably went with either Joe Cardwell or Mike Passilla Thursday afternoon. Those two combined on the mound Monday in a 5-4 win over San Antonio. Craig Duncan, who tossed a three-hitter at Bristol on Tuesday, is also available as are three who have not been used yet, Randy Snodgrass, Kevin Bass and Chris Ellis.

Mable, the manager of the Ovidio High baseball team, was definitely satisfied with the performance of Duncan on Tuesday. Duncan will be a senior at Ovidio this school year.

"I was really happy for Craig," Mable said. "It's not the best game I've ever seen him pitch but he's a good competitor and came through well. He knows what it takes to win and he made a great effort."

District 14 actually is just beginning to gell as a team. It practiced for two weeks before the tournament but hadn't played a game together until Monday's meeting with San Antonio.

"It's tough for these kids to come right out having not played and play teams that have been together all summer," Mable said. "It's just a matter of timing and rhythm. If they can pull it out (Southern Regional), they can make the corrections of the mental errors. As they progress they can only get better."

"I'm really proud of this team," Mable said. "Central Florida is really represented well."

Owners, Players Reach Agreement, Strike Ends

NEW YORK (UPI) — Major league players and owners traded compromises on the deadlocked issues of salary arbitration and pension benefits Wednesday to reach agreement on a new contract, ending the players' two-day walkout.

The agreement on a five-year contract was announced shortly after noon, just 75 minutes after Commissioner Peter Ueberroth broke with the traditions of his office and went to the bargaining table for the first time since talks began nine months ago.

After the Commissioner's statement, lawyers for the two sides took 10 hours to hammer out the final contract language. A news conference to announce the agreement was delayed eight times and the official word that the strike was over did not come until 10:45 p.m. EDT.

The strike did not end in time to get players back to ballparks Wednesday. But some players were already flying to the site of Thursday's games. The National and American Leagues announced a full slate of games for Thursday with the AL scheduling five double-headers.

Baseball

"We have an agreement and we worked hard and we are going to work hard with this agreement for the next five years through the '89 season," said Don Fehr, the head of the Players Association.

Ueberroth took no credit for the settlement.

"Both sides were sincere. They had the players' careers and owners' futures at stake," he said. "We are returning the wires we received from Prime Minister Brian Mulroney (of Canada), President Reagan, Speaker of the House, Tip O'Neill and Senator (Bob) Dole with a little message: 'You asked for something to get done and it got done. Now please don't forget us when you are talking about your tax bill and baseball.'"

Ueberroth was referring to a proposed U.S. tax bill that would eliminate tax deductions on sports tickets.

"There has been integrity on both sides for a long time," he

Strike Context

Chronology of events in the 1985 baseball strike

— Nov. 14, 1984: Negotiations begin for a new contract.

— Dec. 31: Old contract expires. Sides remain far apart on such issues as salary arbitration, free agency, pensions and television revenues.

— March 12, 1985: Owners claim staggering financial losses, including $42 million in 1984, and say losses will get worse.

— March 31: Separate pension agreement expires; players have asked continuation of formula tying owners' pension contribution to one-third of their national TV revenues — $80 million a year.

— April 4: Owners and players agree to expand to 4-of-7 game league playoffs for additional $9 million in TV revenues but players want one-third. Money is to be put in escrow until overall contract is resolved.

— May 18: Players demand owners open books to demonstrate financial plight; owners agree.

— May 20: Owners, attempting to slow spiraling salaries, propose a salary cap for teams similar to NBA clubs; players balk.

— July 8: Players examine said. "That is why there's an agreement. Some people talk about my role. Well, I had no role. The teams headed by Don Fehr and Lee MacPhail (owner's negotiating committee), they put baseball back in the field."

MacPhail paid tribute to the commissioner, who kept the pressure on both sides the last several days.

"He urged us to keep going, to keep the rhetoric down," MacPhail said, "to stay at the bargaining table. He did everything possible one person could do. The only thing I could say is that when Bowie Kuhn was commissioner, he'd start his press conferences on time."

Terms of the agreement were as follows:

— Agreement to run for five years through the 1989 season.

— Players agreed to yield to owners' demand that players wait three years, rather than two, before becoming eligible for salary arbitration. This becomes effective 1987 and involves no active players.

— Owners gave in on their demand for a limitation on the amount of salary that can be awarded in arbitration. They had been asking for a cap which would limit the arbitration award to no more than twice a player's previous year's salary.

— Owners agreed to double their contribution to the players' pension plan, raising it from $15.5 million per year to an average of $32.6 million per year. Players had demanded $60 million.

— The free agent re-entry draft, which began in 1976 and led to several exorbitant contracts, will be abolished.

— Professional compensation for free agents is gone. Compensation for free agents will now be amateur draft picks.

— Minimum annual salary for major leaguers is increased from $40,000 to $60,000. Minor leaguers will receive a minimum of $20,000 annually.

— The agreement also includes a new requirement that deferred salaries be funded upfront.

MacPhail said owners were determined to seek a way of holding back the spiraling increase in player salaries, but did not entirely succeed.

"A lot of people had decided this wasn't going to be a 50-day strike," he said. "This doesn't go a great distance toward accomplishing the owners' goal of getting to a break-even point by 1986 — but it's a start. I am sorry we weren't able to do a better job for the clubs, to get more for the clubs."

Player reaction was mixed. "This contract expires in 1989," said Don Baylor.

Phillies Trade Diaz To Cincinnati

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia Phillies traded catcher Bo Diaz and a minor leaguer to the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday for shortstop Tom Foley, catcher Alan Kneisely and a minor leaguer to be named later.

The Reds also included an undisclosed amount of cash in the deal.

Diaz, 32, was hitting 211 with two homers and 16 RBI in 26 games for the Phillies this season. Following a knee injury last year that limited him to 27 games, he was replaced in the starting lineup by Ozzie Virgil.

Cincinnati manager Pete Rose said Diaz will be the club's regular catcher, beginning Thursday night in Los Angeles against the Dodgers.

"I played with him when he had that great year after he came over from Cleveland," said

Baseball

Rose. "I know what he can do, both offensively and defensively."

A native of Venezuela, Diaz began his major-league career in 1977 with Boston before playing with Cleveland and Philadelphia. His best year came in 1982 when he hit .288 with 18 homers and 85 RBI.

Phillies president Bill Giles said his club traded Diaz because catcher Darren Dalton has recovered from a shoulder injury.

"We had considered trading Bo Diaz for some time," Giles said. "With the development of Darren Dalton and the fact that he is now healthy, we now have three quality catchers and felt Bo Diaz was expendable."

Bo Diaz ...Dealt to Reds

Earlier, the club recalled Dalton from Portland of the Pacific Coast League, where he was sent on a 20-day rehabilitation assignment. For the time being, he will remain on the disabled list.

A team spokesman said Foley will report to the Phillies in time for Thursday's game with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Dorsett May Not Play In '85

United Press International

The rift between Tony Dorsett and the Dallas Cowboys has widened to the point where the running back isn't sure he wants to play for the club.

Dorsett, embroiled in money disputes with both his team and the Internal Revenue Service, alleges he has been "double-crossed" by the club and may retire.

"Right now I am prepared to sit for as long as I have to sit," Dorsett told the Dallas Times Herald. "If that means retiring, I might have to do that. If the Cowboys don't want to pay me what they've promised me, then they need to trade me so I can bargain in good faith with another team."

Dorsett said if traded, he would like to go to Pittsburgh or Miami.

Tex Schramm, Cowboys president and general manager, said he is willing to rework Dorsett's contract so that it resembles in structure the $6.4 million contract signed last year by defensive lineman Randy White.

But Schramm said he does not intend to trade Dorsett.

"Tony mentioned it to me when I talked to him one time," Schramm said. "He said, 'Maybe it would be better for me if I was somewhere else.' I said, 'I don't know if that would solve problems.'"

The IRS has seized two of Dorsett's Dallas-area homes and filed $414,000 in liens against the 1976 Helaman Trophy winner. It also has collected his monthly $21,000 paychecks since Oct. 1.

Dorsett has borrowed nearly $400,000 from the Cowboys, but he told the Times Herald the club owes him $552,000 of a $662,000 signing bonus from his original contract in 1977.

Schramm said Dorsett has received his full signing bonus.

"There is absolutely no basis for his statements," Schramm said.

Dorsett is looking for an annuity that would pay him $6.4 million over 20 years.

"I am not being greedy," said Dorsett, who complained that Randy White is paid 15 times what he earns. "It's just that I want some money."

Dorsett confirmed that he lost $600,000 in an oil investment in American Resources Inc. last year.

At Wilmington, Ohio, the Cincinnati Bengals Wednesday signed No. 1 draft pick Eddie Brown, a wide receiver from the University of Miami (Fla.).

Terms weren't disclosed, but the deal was believed to be a four-year contract for a total of $1.8 million.

Explorer Spirit Refuses To Go Away

Camping heads the list of favorite leisure-time pursuits in America. If you have never gone camping, or would like to rent or buy a recreational vehicle (RV), you may be surprised at the low cost, luxury features, and fuel efficiency of the models that are available today.

Maybe you would like to try out two or three different kinds of RVs before buying. Rentals are now available at many RV dealerships — from fold-down camping trailers to truck campers to travel trailers. Rates are usually weekly, and deposits are generally required to reserve a unit — then applied to the rental price when the unit is returned.

Fold-down camping trailers are the least expensive RVs to buy, ranging in price from $3,000 upward. They have many of the luxurious features found in full-size travel trailers. You will find furnaces, refrigerators, carry-out ranges, air-conditioners, brand name component parts, stainless steel kitchen sinks, real wood wardrobes and kitchen cabinetry, hot water heaters, showers with molded tub bases, quality upholstery, zippered for easy cleaning, decorate cabinet and table tops.

Fold-down campers are also the most fuel-efficient type of RV, according to a past certification made by the United States Auto Club. A new lightweight camping trailer was subjected to a grueling 1,479-mile test through the mountain grades and blazing desert heat of California, Arizona, Nevada, and Utah with a family of four and all their luggage. The results? Exactly 1.03 extra gallons of gas for every 100 miles driven compared to the cost for the same subcompact Pontiac J-2000 driven by the same family over the identical course. What's even better, they saved $77 per day with the camping trailer compared with motel and restaurant bills on the trip with the car alone!

With all the attraction, fancy hotels, planned tours, and cruises thriving, how can camping still remain one of the leading pastimes? The economy of camping is obvious, but there are other reasons, too. The do-it-yourself, explorer spirit born in every American refuses to go away; that spirit is renewed in camping.

If you have never been camping, or it's been some time since you've gone, you owe it to yourself to check out the latest in campers and gear. Then, if you decide a backpack with tent is your style, that's ok too! Make no mistake, camping today can be as effortless or as basic as the individual wants it to be.

SPORTS

IN BRIEF

U.S. Olympian Joins Women's Basketball Staff At Stetson

Lea Henry, a starting guard on the United States Olympic gold medal women's basketball team, has been named assistant women's basketball coach at Stetson University, according to an announcement by Nancy Nichols, head coach and coordinator of women's athletics at Stetson.

Henry played collegiate basketball at the University of Tennessee under head coach Pat Head Summit, coach of the U.S. Olympic team. She earned her bachelor's degree in physical education in 1983 and her master's degree in physical education in 1985.

Henry was a four-year starter for the Lady Vols and made it to the final four three of her four collegiate seasons. She finished her Tennessee career with 1,128 points (8.4 per game) and 593 assists (5.4 per game) which placed her second on the all-time Tennessee list.

"To say that I am excited and thrilled over the fact that Lea (Henry) will be joining us at Stetson is an understatement," coach Nichols said. "Her playing experience, in addition to working with a coach the quality of Pat Head Summit, is simply a plus we didn't expect to have. She will be a tremendous asset as we continue to build the women's program at Stetson."

Golfer Killed By Runaway Cart

HINGHAM, Mass. (UPI) — Authorities today investigated an accident in which a golf cart hit two people before striking and killing a woman as she was getting ready to tee off at a country club.

The cart, driven by Mary Gianferante, 72, of Hingham, went out of control Tuesday down a 7-foot-wide path after leaving the clubhouse toward the first tee at the South Shore Country Club.

Elizabeth Connolly, 67, of Medford was crushed when the cart struck her from behind, police said.

Police said the cart hit the club's pro shop, veered off and hit employee Michael Larocco, 15, of Hingham. The cart then hit a golfer, Joan Newell, 43, of South Weymouth, before swerving across the path and fatally striking Connolly.

The cart dragged Connolly about 10 feet before hitting a fence, toppling over and trapping her underneath, police said. Witnesses could not pull the cart off until police arrived 15 minutes later.

"It's a tragic accident. I've never heard of anything like it," said Hingham Police Officer Howard Arkell. "Now we have to determine how and why it happened."

Newell, Larocco and the driver were all taken to South Shore Hospital and treated for minor injuries. Newell and Larocco were both struck in the leg.

Police are checking the golf cart to see if it malfunctioned. The women were gathered at the golf course for a ladies-only invitational tournament.

Young Wins First PBA Title

WINDSOR, Ontario (UPI) — Billy Young Jr. edged three-time champion Bobby Jacks 236-228 in the title game of the $125,000 Canadian Open Wednesday night to capture his first Pro Bowlers Association Tour title.

Young, who rolled seven straight strikes late in the championship game, had to wait until Jacks failed to strike in the 10th frame to claim the title and $18,000.

Young, a 28-year-old from Tulsa, Okla., was bowling in only his eighth tournament of the year. The triumph earned him a spot in the prestigious Firestone Tournament of Champions.

Jacks, 38, of New Orleans, had defeated Jim Winklepleck, Gladstone, Ore., 199-182, and second-seeded Jim Tilton, Huntington Beach, Calif., 220-188, to reach the title game.

Winklepleck eliminated another Tulsa bowler, Mike Edwards, 212-169, in the first match of the nationally televised finals.

"I was so nervous that before the match I tried to cut a piece of tape to put in my ball and I couldn't because my hand was shaking too hard," said Young, who was making his first appearance in the televised finals.

Funderburk Powers O-Twins

Mark Funderburk slammed a two-run homer in the top of the eighth inning Wednesday to lead the Orlando Twins to a 8-7 victory over the Birmingham Barons in Southern League play at Birmingham.

After pitching well the first five frames, O-Twins starter Paul Mancuso was roughed up a bit in the sixth inning as he surrendered a pair of homers and four runs as Birmingham took a 6-5 lead.

Funderburk unloaded his league-leading 29th homer in the top of the eighth to give Orlando a 7-6 lead and a Birmingham error made it 8-6. Funderburk also remained on top of the league in RBIs with 103. Rick Colbert and Paul Felix also homered for the Twins.

Ozzie Alfonso, who relieved Mancuso in the sixth and went two innings for the win while Gorman Heimueller picked up the save.

Orlando, which has won two straight, stays on the road tonight as it plays at Memphis. The O-Twins have a one-game lead in the Southern League's East Division over Charlotte.

Sanford Soccer Registers

The Sanford Soccer Club will be fielding all girls teams in the under 19, under 16, under 14 and under 12 age divisions for the 1985 fall soccer season. For information and registration, contact Suzy Reno at 323-9087.

Registration for boys and girls ages 6 through 19 will be held at Pinecrest Elementary Friday, Aug. 10, from 5 to 6 p.m., and Saturday, Aug. 11, from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m.

Returning players must be accompanied by a parent or guardian and bring a current photo and $40 registration fee (fee is for both fall '85 and spring '86 seasons). Sam ruling applies to new players but they must also bring a copy of birth certificate.

Anyone wishing to be a coach or assistant coach for either a boys or girls team can attend the registration. The club needs help with its coaching staff.

Astros Can't Get Out Of Rain

The Osceola Astros wouldn't mind very much if there were a domed stadium in the Tampa-St. Petersburg area. For the past three days, the Astros and Tampa have been rained out in their scheduled Florida State League games. Both Tuesday and Wednesday were slated for doubleheaders since Monday's single game was washed out.

Osceola, which has a big lead in the FSL Central Division, will try again tonight, weather permitting, at St. Petersburg.

Biondi Sets American Record

MISSION VIEJO, Calif. (UPI) — Matt Biondi, a 19-year-old, 6-foot-6 power swimmer who shattered the world record in the 100-meter freestyle Tuesday, came back Wednesday to set an American record in the 200-meter freestyle in the U.S. Long Course National Championships.

Biondi, of Moraga, Calif., who enters his junior year at Cal-Berkeley this fall, was clocked in 1:47.87 in the 200-meter final, breaking the old American record of 1:47.92 held by Mike Heath of Dallas. Heath finished second in 1:48.87.

Third was Duffy Dillon of Fort Lauderdale, Fla. (1:49.30) followed by Richard Outel of

Swimming

Des Moines, Iowa (1:50.54) and Charley Siroky of Tucson, Ariz. (1:51.21).

Biondi had easily grabbed the No. 1 qualifying spot earlier Wednesday for the 200-meter final with a time of 1:49.37.

The world record at 200 meters is 1:47.44, set by West German Michael Gross in the 1984 Olympics.

The American record in the 200 fell to Biondi 24 hours after he broke the 100-meter world record twice on Tuesday. In a qualifying swim he was clocked in 49.24 seconds, bettering Rowdy Gaines' world mark of 49.36 set in 1981. Then, in the finals Tuesday night, Biondi cracked the 49-second barrier, finishing the 100 meters in a sizzling 48.95 seconds.

Three other individual finals and two relay finals were scheduled for later Wednesday night.

The first two finishers in the finals of each event qualify for the U.S. team which will participate in the Pan Pacific Games and the World University Games later this month in Japan.

Evert Lloyd, Mandlikova Roll

TORONTO (UPI) — Top-seeded Chris Evert Lloyd and third-seed Hana Mandlikova posted easy second-round victories Wednesday at the $280,000 Canadian Open Tennis Championships.

Evert Lloyd disposed of fellow American Tina Mochizuki 6-2, 6-0.

"I've just had two weeks off so I needed to get into the tournament," said Evert Lloyd. "I'm not too worried about not having a tough first match."

Mandlikova, of Czechoslovakia, defeated South African Rosalyn Fairbank 6-3, 6-3.

Evert Lloyd, who lost to Martina Navratilova in the finals at Wimbledon, earned the No. 1 seed because of her victory at a tournament in Newport, R.I., two weeks ago. The Canadian Open is Navratilova's first outing since Wimbledon. She plays her second match Thursday.

On Tuesday, Navratilova questioned her No. 2 ranking behind Evert Lloyd by saying, "You ask the players, they'll tell you who's No. 1."

When asked to comment on the ranking system, Evert Lloyd said, "That's a nice first question. Welcome to Toronto and then you ask a question like that."

"I've always gone along with the computer," she said. "If Martina wins this tournament she'll be back to No. 1. We are so close it's not worth nitpicking about."

Fairbank, ranked No. 31 in the world, credited the fleet-footed Mandlikova "for not giving anything away."

"She can hit great shots from anywhere so you have to be ready for anything," said

Tennis

Fairbank, a 24-year-old native of Durban.

Mandlikova said she was pleased with the way she played in her first match.

"It's my game to put pressure on the other player," said Mandlikova, who did so by frequently rushing the net. "I didn't play excellent, but I played well enough to win."

Fairbank, who last visited her troubled homeland in January, said the political unrest in South Africa does not affect her play, "but sometimes I wonder if some of the black players on the tour wonder if I'm prejudiced."

Because of South Africa's apartheid policy, Fairbank said she cannot play tournaments in Japan, Scandinavia or communist countries. She is also unable to obtain a visa to enter Holland.

"I'm a little worried about what may happen in the future," said Fairbank, who recently bought an apartment in California. "I've been thinking of trying to get a Green Card but I haven't decided if I'm going to try to take up U.S. citizenship."

In other second-round matches, American Kristin Kinney, ranked 122nd in the world, knocked off compatriot Elise Burgin the No. 15 seed, 6-2, 6-2.

Claudia Kohde-Kilsch of West Germany, the 5th seed, defeated Sabrina Goleš of Yugoslavia 6-2, 6-1, and Sylvia Hanika of West Germany, the No. 11 seed, defeated Canadian national champion Jane Young 6-3, 6-3.

Andrea Temesvari of Hungary, the No. 12 seed, defeated Rene Blount of the United States 6-2, 6-2.

Top Seeds Cruise In Second Round Play

STRATTON, Vt. (UPI) — John McEnroe, surrendering only seven points on his serve, ousted unseeded Bud Schultz 6-2, 6-1 Wednesday in a second-round match at a $315,000 men's tournament.

No. 2 Ivan Lendl eliminated Dan Goldie of McLean, Va., 6-4, 6-3, and No. 3 Jimmy Connors had little trouble with Slobodan Zivojinovic of Yugoslavia, winning 6-3, 6-1 in second-round action.

McEnroe, the world's No. 1 ranked player, demanded a net judge in the second game of the match while Schultz was serving. Play resumed after nearly three minutes and Schultz double-faulted the final three points of the game. He then lost nine consecutive points.

A net judge was provided at the end of the third game.

Schultz, from Newton, Mass., said McEnroe's arguing, which was booed by the crowd of more than 5,000, affected his concentration.

"I wasn't strong mentally and I blame it on myself. Quite frankly, though, it was disturbing," said Schultz, who double-faulted 11 times. "And when the crowd gets into it, it gets real distracting."

McEnroe, who claimed that a chair umpire "is too far away to hear a let," said no player should use an interruption of play as an excuse for losing.

"He (Schultz) could easily

Tennis

have thrown in two more aces instead of double-faulting," said the three-time Wimbledon champion. "Maybe he was flustered, but if that's all it takes to get him out of rhythm, jeez."

"I have to deal with a thousand times more distractions both on and off the court," said McEnroe. "That's just part of being a professional athlete."

Schultz, 26 and a tour rookie, said it is difficult for a player to request an umpire to impose fines on a complaining opponent.

"The umpires should take it upon themselves to impose fines. It's hard to go up to the umpire and ask him because the players have to live with each other day in and day out," he said.

McEnroe used his touch and steadiness to control the match with Schultz, ranked No. 70.

"You just try and play as solid a game as you can," said Schultz after his first-ever meeting with McEnroe. "He makes you feel like you have to hit a better shot than is needed to win the point."

Connors, aced four consecutive times by Zivojinovic, said: "He's big and strong and booms the ball in there, but he started trying to do too much with his first serve, and I was returning real well."

The tournament, known as the Volvo International, was played on clay courts for 12 years in North Conway, N.H. Connors said of the new hardcourts: "The surface is very slow but the ball moves very fast in this altitude."

The elevation at the ski resort community is approximately 1,500 feet.

In other matches, No. 5 Tim Mayotte eased past Jimmy Garbin of Great Neck, N.Y., 6-4, 6-2 and No. 6 seed Scott Davis scored a 6-3, 6-3 victory over Bill Scanlon in a match pairing two Americans.

Doubles specialist Robert Seguso, who beat No. 4 seed Johan Kriek in straight sets Monday, also advanced to the third round, via a 4-6, 7-6 (8-6), 7-5 victory over Wally Masur of Australia.

WORLD

Contra-Held Religious Activists Expected To Be Released Today

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — President Daniel Ortega ordered the army not to interfere with today's expected release of 29 American religious activists and 14 journalists reported held by U.S.-backed rebels in Costa Rican territory.

The boat — carrying 29 Americans from the "Witness for Peace" organization and 14 journalists, some of them Americans — was on a two-day voyage to protest U.S. policy in Nicaragua when it was reported captured Wednesday by Contras.

A spokesman for the activists, in radio contact with Managua, said they were captured by U.S.-backed rebels of the Democratic Revolutionary Alliance, or ARDE, near Las Cruces, the halfway point along the San Juan River that forms the Nicaraguan-Costa Rican border.

The spokesman for the captured group, Bob Armstrong, said over the radio that the group expects to be released today if the Nicaraguan army stays out of the area.

Israeli Planes Attack PLO Base

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Israeli warplanes bombed a Palestinian guerrilla base in Lebanon's Bekaa Valley today, wrecking a three-story building and wounding at least one person, Lebanese security sources said.

Christian Voice of Lebanon said four people were believed killed in the raid on the Syrian-controlled Bekka Valley and that their bodies were trapped under the rubble. The report could not be independently confirmed, Lebanese security sources said, at least one person was wounded and that other casualties were believed trapped under the debris.

The raid came hours before a scheduled meeting between the Lebanese President Amin Gemayel and Syrian President Hafez Assad in Damascus.

Gunman Killed In Ulster Violence

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Irish Republican Army guerrillas attempted to attack an army patrol and youths hurled gasoline bombs at British troops. One suspected IRA gunman was killed and another man was wounded when a rocket launcher exploded.

The attacks Wednesday came in areas visited by 116 American members of the NORAD fund raising group that arrived Sunday on a two-week "fact finding" tour.

Police warned that the IRA might stage "spectaculars" to impress the Americans, who British authorities accuse of funneling money to IRA fighters.

A suspected IRA gunman was killed and another man was seriously injured when their grenade launcher exploded during an attack against an army patrol in Londonderry, 85 miles northwest of Belfast, authorities said.

9 Killed In Mob Violence In South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Police today reported killing nine people during running battles with rock-throwing Zulu youths that spilled into Asian suburbs outside Durban, while hospital and radio reports set the death toll as high as 19.

Denis Dawber, deputy medical superintendent at the King Edward VIII hospital in Durban, said 10 bodies were brought from Umlazi and Kwamashu townships and another six from nearby Ntuzuma overnight. He said 102 people were admitted with injuries.

Dawber could not say if all the dead were victims of unrest, but Durban-based Capital Radio said 19 people died in 48 hours of racial violence, the first major clashes in the Durban area in 11 months of riots that have claimed more than 500 lives nationwide.

Authorities braced for a third day of rioting, apparently linked to protests over last week's murder of prominent civil rights lawyer Victoria Mxenge. Anti-apartheid groups blamed the killing on a government "death squad."

A police spokesman in Pretoria said officers shot and killed eight blacks in the clashes around Durban but could not confirm the radio report of the additional deaths.

Police Wednesday night sealed off Umlazi and Kwamashu and ordered journalists out of the areas as officers battled Zulu youths. The violence spilled over into nearby Asian suburbs. Hundreds of families fled the area to escape black mobs looting and torching their homes.

An Asian deliveryman died Wednesday of injuries suffered when his truck was stoned and set on fire by rioters Tuesday. And police were investigating reports that a 15-month-old child was killed when her home was firebombed.

In other violence, authorities said riot police fired pistols to disperse a crowd of blacks who were throwing stones at a community center in Kuttoanong, about 150 miles south of Johannesburg. No injuries were reported.

In Soweto, outside Johannesburg, police said the home of a black official was firebombed and extensively damaged. A school in the Kwaazakhele black township also was firebombed.

Police used tear gas to break up crowds of stone-throwing youths in Ackerville, near Witbank.

Authorities meanwhile said the number of people being held detained under emergency provisions invoked July 21 fell to 865. A spokesman said 1,481 people had been detained since the state of emergency was declared but that 616 had been released after questioning.

In Daveyton, family members prepared for the burial of 16-year-old Julia Mokgoba, one of three teenage black girls killed by police after a funeral July 24.

The Mokgoba funeral comes just two days after Nobel Peace Prize winner Bishop Desmond Tutu defused a potentially explosive confrontation between police and mourners at another funeral in Daveyton, 30 miles east of Johannesburg.

In Johannesburg, Tutu called for a special prayer meeting Friday at the city's Anglican Cathedral to pray for peace.

"I don't like to hurt anybody in any way. It was very unfortunate — a freak accident. I just wish it never happened but it did."

She refused to compare her case with Deanna Pitman's because she said she knows little about Miss Pitman's accident.

Miss Pitman, of Apopka, was allowed to keep her Miss Florida crown and to compete in the Miss America pageant in 1982 — the same year she was charged with drunken driving after she crashed her Datsun 280ZX into a mailbox. The charge was dropped and she pleaded guilty to a charge of reckless driving and was sentenced to 40 hours of community service.

As for former Miss America Vanessa Williams' decision to resign her position after nude photos of her appeared in Penthouse magazine, Miss Rosenwinkel said, "What she chose was the right thing to do because it worked out for her."

Since the accident, Miss Rosenwinkel has transferred to the University of Central Florida in Orlando where she is a junior studying marketing and communications. She also works in UCF's human relations office.

She lives at 1015 Woodall Drive, Altamonte Springs, with her parents and her 22-year-old brother. She said she is a Christian, adding that she is still pondering her religious convictions. When she can find time she enjoys riding horses, swimming, water skiing and aerobics.

She has a fiancé, Pete Butzer of Orlando, and is planning a career in modeling and television, she said.

Miss Rosenwinkel has taped some television spots for a show about Florida which is supposed to air some time later this year or early next year, she said. The show is yet to be named and has a format similar to "PM Magazine," she said.

Her interest in pageants and modeling were sparked by televised pageants she watched as a girl growing up in Chicago and later in Altamonte, she said.

She attended Teague Middle School and Lake Brantley High School, both in Altamonte. She was a "Gold Liner," a pep booster for the football team at Lake Brantley and an honor student, according to her father, Jerry Rosenwinkel. She graduated in 1982.

She has modeled in some fashion shows for J.J. Whispers, an Orlando nightspot, and won the Miss Winter Park pageant, which sprung her into Miss Florida USA competition.

Miss Rosenwinkel said winning the state crown was "wonderful." The pageant had three categories of competition — personality, swimsuit and evening gown. Like most beauty queen winners, she said she cried when she was announced the winner.

She said she is looking forward to the Miss USA and hopefully the Miss Universe pageants and touring the state as Miss Florida the next year.

As for the car she won, she said she may wait until after she completes her four-year term in the pretrial intervention program to drive it or return it to the pageant in exchange for something else.

The Miss USA pageant is scheduled to be held some time in May in Miami, Gravit said. The Miss Universe pageant will follow in July at an unspecified location in Europe.

smoking areas are required by the law.

Perey said he will be working with constitutional officers — Clerk of the Circuit Court Dave Berrien, Tax Collector Troy Ray, Property Appraiser Bill Suber, Supervisor of Elections Sandy Gourd and Sheriff John Polk — and the staff to designate appropriate areas.

When the policy is worked up, it will be brought back to the county commissioners for approval, he said.

Meanwhile, Deputy County Administrator Woody Price reported that commissioners can grant no changes in zoning that require amendments to the county's comprehensive land use plan between Oct. 1 and sometime in January 1986.

He said the comprehensive land use plan, according to the new state law on growth management, can be amended only twice a year. And the amendments have to be reviewed by several state agencies, cities in the county and the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council before they can become effective.

Price said the various agencies have 90 days after proposed changes are presented to them to comment on the changes and the county has to respond to those comments before actual changes are made.

The county commission has been severely criticized by environmental groups over the past year for its frequent amendments to the comprehensive plan. It is not unusual for the plan to be amended four or five times at a single weekly hearing. The commissioners hold at least three public hearings on rezoning monthly.

While the county is accepting rezoning requests that require changes to the comprehensive plan, Price said county hearings on those changes won't be scheduled until January.

WE WORK FOR SOUTHERN BELL AND SANFORD.

Though the last few years have brought changes in the way Southern Bell serves you, the most important aspect of our job hasn't changed.

Here in Sanford we are working to give our customers the kind of service they expect and deserve. We still work and live in your town, and we are committed to our community.

That means, first of all, reliable telephone service in a friendly manner at reasonable rates. It also means, for questions you may have, "We Can Help!" We will be glad to answer them any time, any place. Wherever we might see you—at the shopping center or at community club meetings.

We're not satisfied until you're satisfied. Because, after all, we're your neighbors. Continuing to serve Sanford is as important to us as it is to you.

ALREADY IN TOUCH WITH THE FUTURE.

Miss Haerich, J.H. Yarborough Repeat Vows

Kathleen Nicole Haerich and James Harmon Yarborough were married July 27, at 7:30 p.m., in the First Presbyterian Church, Maitland. Dr. Donn K. Langhin, head church minister, and Pastor Horace Walsh, retired pastor of the Forest Lake Seventh-day Adventist Church, Forest City, were the officiating clergyman for the traditional candlelight ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frederic D. Haerich, 1020 Broadway, St. Altamonte Springs. The bridegroom's parents are Mrs. Jewel C. Baucum Maitland and James L. Yarborough, Altamonte Springs. Given in marriage by her parents, the bride chose for her vows a white bridal gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and elbow-length puffed sleeves with lace and pearl motifs embossing the basque bodice. The controlled skirt gently flowed into a trailing chapel-length train. An alienen-lace cap enhanced with pearl trim, secured her fingertip veil of imported illusion. She carried a cascade of red and white roses interspersed with baby's breath.

Elizabeth Ann Maltby attended the bride as matron of honor. She wore a wine chiffon over taffeta gown with a draped bodice, tucked and draped short sleeves and a ribbon belt. Her headpiece was a wine-colored lattice hat adorned with wine silk flowers and matching illusion.

Bridesmaids were: Cindy Yarborough, Susie Yarborough and Judy DeSomma, sisters of the bridegroom; Jennifer Rolfs, Cindy Graham and Caroline Gall. Their dusty pink gowns and matching hats were identical to the honor attendant's.

The bridegroom's father served as best man. Usher-groomsmen were Paul Haerich, brother of the bride; Richard DeSomma, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Larry Nero, Charles

Mrs. James Yarborough

Lobianco and David Sullarant. Flower girls were Lauren DeSomma, niece of the bridegroom, and Crystal Maltby, Jonathan Jewett, cousin of the bride, was Bible boy.

The reception was held at Park Suite Hotel, Altamonte Springs. Master of ceremonies was Doug Hubbard.

Following a honeymoon cruise to the Bahamas, the newlyweds are making their home in Lake May. The bride is employed as purchasing agent by Sweeney's Office Supply, Sanford. The bridegroom is a sales representative for Simms Office Supplies, Longwood.

Local Arts Agency Gets New Name To Identify Services

The Council of Arts & Sciences for Central Florida, Inc., changed its name effective to July 1 to the Arts Council of Greater Orlando, Inc., according to Carolyn Reis.

The new name identifies more specifically with the service area of the agency and more precisely its activities, which are exclusively in the arts. Ms. Reis said. Also, the name change coincides with the dissolution of the Arts, Inc., partnership between the Council and Arts United Fund who recently merged with PESO, another local fundraising organization.

Established in 1967 as an umbrella agency for the arts in the tri-county area, the Arts Council has helped to start many programs in this community over the years. When those activities, such as the Igumuko Festival, Orlando, or the Young Artist Day at the Zoo, Sanford, developed sufficiently, the Council let them go on their own, operated by other organizations.

In this tradition, the Council was instrumental in creating Arts United Fund (AUF) in 1981-82 as a fundraising entity for local arts organizations, and the Council was assisted in this venture with funding from the Edyth Bush Charitable Foundation.

In October 1982 the Council's Board of Directors, under the leadership of president Vernon Swartzel, voted to form Arts, Inc., for Central Florida with the Council and AUF as its two divisions and with a higher Board of Trustees as the governing body of the full corporation. The Council Board continued to operate the Council's activities, as well as organizing and assisting in AUF's 1983 and 1984 fund drives while that division went through a rapid growth phase and began its search for an Executive Director.

In 1984, Arts United Fund hired Alan Spence as its Executive Director, and the organization reached a more stable and mature status. It is because of this continuing evolution that the Council believed it was now an appropriate time to separate from Arts United Fund and allow for AUF's subsequent merger with PESO. This change also allows the Council to concentrate more fully on its arts outreach and assistance programs and on its newest project, the Orlando International ARTSFEST, a street celebration of the rich ethnic heritages in Central Florida first presented in April of this year and is intended to be an annual event.

In regard to this announcement, Joel H. Sharp, Jr., president of Arts, Inc., for Central Florida and chairman of this year's Arts United Fund Drive, has stated that he and his board have been "quite grateful for the association over the past three years with the Arts Council and look forward to working with the Arts Council as a funded organization of Arts United Fund in the future. Additionally, Robert C. Wheeler, president of the Council of Arts & Sciences during the past two years, feels that the merger of AUF and PESO and the ARTSFEST project for the Council provides each organization with its best use of talents and focus of interest. For more information contact Dr. Joyce Chumbley at THE ARTS (843-2787).

Public Is Invited To Help Celebrate Zoo's Birthday

Ten Zoortific Years is the theme of the 10th Anniversary party at the Central Florida Zoo on Saturday, Aug. 10. The festivities begin at 10 a.m. with a birthday cake ceremony presided over by Maude, the zoo's 10,000 pound elephant. Rosie O'Grady's Good Times Band will perform the birthday song for the hundreds of guests and animals present.

Once Maude has completed cake duty, she will provide rides for the more adventurous until 2 p.m. Guests seeking higher forms of pleasure can take a hot air balloon ride, and look out over the park's grounds.

Other forms of activity will continue throughout the zoo including animal face painting, mime, special zoo items for 10¢ and entertainment throughout the afternoon. Educational displays with information about the various animals in the zoo will be on exhibit.

Coming less than one month after the Zoo Board of Directors voted to move the facility to Orlando's Turkey Lake Park, Executive Director Al Rozon, Board President John Smith and several board members will be available to discuss future plans.

The Central Florida Zoo extends an open invitation to come and join the anniversary celebration. For additional information call the zoo at 323-6471.

Pain, Numbness Require Thorough Medical Exam

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — In 1979 I had a myelogram for a neck injury. Since then I've had constant pain in my heels and parts of my hands go dead. Why is this happening and what can I do about it?

DEAR READER — If your hands feel numb after a neck injury, you may have a pinched nerve in the cervical spine. No matter what your myelogram showed six years ago, you need another neurological evaluation.

The heel pain is more difficult to assess. During the myelogram, the doctor introduced material into your spinal cord in order to achieve sufficient X-ray contrast to see the soft nerve structures in your neck. No matter how meticulous he may have been about removing this material after the test, some may have fallen to the lower spine. Because it is not reabsorbed into the body, it may be sitting there, irritating the nerves to your feet. When you ask your doctor about your hand problem, bring up the heel symptoms, too. However, I am much more concerned about your numb hands. That is the symptom that really needs investigation.

DEAR DR. GOTT — My husband had knee surgery although he had constant positive cultures for staph infection. Naturally, he got extremely ill. Now we are told he has osteoporosis. Could the staph have caused this?

DEAR READER — Operating on an infected knee is an extremely unusual practice, unless the staph infection involved the knee itself and had to be drained. Any bone infection can cause localized osteoporosis (loss of calcium). However, if your husband has generalized calcium loss from many bones, he is probably suffering from the type of demineralization that commonly affects both men and women as they age. It sounds to me as if he needs the services of both an endocrinologist (specialist in calcium metabolism) and an orthopedist. Perhaps there is still much that can be done to strengthen him.

DEAR DR. GOTT — About two years ago my heart sounded like it was playing the obbligator to "A Little Rosewood Casket." Three separate doctors were unable to help me. I self-treated with zinc and vitamin B and have been fine ever since. What do you make of this?

DEAR READER — I make of this that you are musically sophisticated. Other than that, you may have been zinc or B-vitamin deficient. As long as your heart doesn't mimic the percussion section of more modern music, you are probably OK.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, Ohio 44101.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
Here is a deal from Hugh Kelsey's book "Bridge: the Mind of the Expert." The bidding is interesting in that we see the use of the pass as a strong invitation to slam.

South made a strong response of three diamonds after partner's opening one no-trump, and then the bidding went fast and furious with West obviously holding great length in both majors. When East bid five spades, the pass by South was significant. That pass invited North to bid a slam. Although North had what seemed to be a minimum, he had the major suit ace and good club support, so he bid six clubs.

The lead of the two of spades was a little too telltale. Clearly West hoped his partner would win a spade trick and give him a

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY AUGUST 9, 1985

Involvements with clubs or social organizations will prove to be of benefit to you in the year ahead. You'll make many new friends who will be helpful to you in other areas.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't neglect your tasks or duties today, but also try to allocate some time for a pleasurable pursuit. You need a recreational break. Trying to patch up a romance? The Matchmaker set can help you understand what it might take to make the relationship work. To get yours, mail $2 to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) An important personal objective can be achieved today, provided you're flexible and able to change tactics as conditions demand.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It behooves you today to associate with people whose ideas and views you respect. Imaginative thinkers will stimulate your thought processes.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're likely to be more fortunate today by building upon something another has started instead of attempting a new venture on your own.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be open-minded if you're required to make an important judgment today. Weigh the alternatives carefully and you'll find more than one answer.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) This is a good day to discuss what displeases you with co-workers. Through a meeting of the minds, overall conditions can be improved.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Although it may be just temporary, there's a chance you'll find a new social interest today. It will provide a welcome change of pace and prove stimulating.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 19)

Something about which you've been disturbed is going to work out to your satisfaction. In fact, it'll have fringe benefits you'll least expect.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Events may unravel in an interesting manner today. People who you have been eager to contact will be getting in touch with you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Try to spend part of your time today putting your accounts and records in order. Re-evaluate your expenditures to see where you can trim off some of the waste.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Today you will require several active interests to keep you busy and content. The more you have to handle, the more efficiently you'll function.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) In an important discussion today use the oblique approach, sprinkled with humor, to get your points across so that you won't sting or offend your listener.

Marriage Means More Than Cooking And Housekeeping

DEAR ABBY: Please answer this as soon as possible. I have been living with this wonderful girl since last October. She is a

GLAD TO HELP

DEAR GLAD: Thank you for helping to solve this serious problem.

Dear Abby

good, clean housekeeper and a wonderful cook. She always has supper ready when I get home from work. She is 23 and I am 24, and she wants to get married. I have never been married and neither has she.

The problem is that she had been the same as a wife to four other men before she met me, but she promised to be faithful and true to me as long as we live. I love her very much and told her I would write to you and do whatever you said.

UNDECIDED
IN WHEELING, W. VA.

DEAR UNDECIDED: What's the hurry? A decision that you expect to live with for a lifetime deserves more thought than you have given to it. I have no way of predicting whether this girl will be true to you as long as you both live. (Nor have you — or she, for that matter.) Don't marry anyone because she's a good cook and housekeeper. You can hire someone for that. If you have to ask me whether you should marry her, I say don't. It's easier to get married than divorced. And much cheaper.

DEAR ABBY: Last week, a husband of us senior citizens went to Niagara Falls and Canada for an outing, financed by our town (West Edmeston, N.Y.)

There were 37 of us on this trip and we had a wonderful time except for one thing — the Falls on the American side were grossly neglected and looked terrible. But the Falls on the Canadian side were beautiful, bright with flowers and well maintained. The comparison made us Americans feel somewhat ashamed and therefore sad.

I know it would cost our government a few dollars to beautify our side of the Falls, but it would be well worth it to restore our national pride.

I sure hope I see this in print.

SAD SENIOR

DEAR SAD: And I sure hope Secretary of the Interior Donald Hodel sees it, too.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Tired of Wabbling," whose in-laws' graves are still unmarked after five years because one of their sons wanted to put something on his father's headstone crediting him with having served in the Army overseas but didn't know how to word it.

They should contact their local Veterans Administration office and apply for a monument, available in granite or marble. It is free to any deceased veteran who was discharged under conditions other than dishonorable. The servicemember's name, dates of birth and death, branch of service, last rank attained and war served in can be engraved on the marker or headstone.

The family need pay only for the installation, as even the

Dr. Robert J. Smith works with Sissy Dunning, SCC Medical Assistant student, at the Orlando Drive Medical Center. A Medical Assistant Class begins Aug. 26.

SCC Medical Assistants Work With Area Physicians

Seminole Community College Medical Assistant students are performing clinical experience externships with the Orlando Drive Medical Center and other area physician's offices. Students complete 240 hours of practice assisting the physician, administering medication, medical transcription and handling patient accounts after completing 600 hours of in-classroom training.

SCC will begin a new class in Medical Assisting, from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on Aug. 26, Monday through Friday, or 6 to 10 p.m., Monday through Thursday. The classes run for about 12 months. Registration is underway now. Scholarships and financial aid are available to those who qualify, according to Barbara Flynn.

For information, call Barbara Flynn at the college, 323-1450, or 843-7001.

Free Health Screening Program Set

The Seminole County Public Health Unit has initiated an exciting new Cardiovascular Screening Program to all Seminole County residents. This program will include not only hypertension screenings, but also EKG's, blood chemistries, and a health risk appraisal. The health risk appraisal provides a two-page personal computer printout. It identifies a person's health risks as compared to other Americans of the same age, race and sex.

The hypertension screening and health risk appraisals are free. The EKG and blood chemistries will be $25 to cover the lab fees and interpretation. This fee is very competitive as the usual fee would be over $100 in the private sector.

Dr. David Crane, Assistant County Health Officer, will be available for interview after Aug. 19.

Appointments for this service can be made, beginning in September, at 322-2724.
