Major banks hike prime rate

NEW YORK - The prime lending rate has been liked from 11 to 11.5 percent by two major banks, marking the second raise in the key rate in less than two weeks and confirming the move toward higher borrowing costs.

Chase Manhattan Bank led the move Thursday to the higher prime rate and was quickly followed by Republic National Bank of New York. Both institutions said the new rate would take effect Friday. Other banks were expected to

On Feb. 10, the nation's major banks boosted their prime rates to 11 percent from 10.5 percent. The prime rate is used as a base rate to calculate interest on a variety of loans, including those to consumers and small businesses.

Navy captain reprimanded

SUBIC BAY NAVAL BASE, Philippines - A Navy Jury Friday convicted Capt. Alexander Ballan of dereliction of duty and recommended a reprimand for his fallure to rescue a boatload of Vietnamese refugees who later resorted to cannibalism. The Navy was embarrassed and I was the scapegoat," said Baltan, a highly decorated Vietnam War veteran. "I care for the refugees as I care for other people. We fought and died because we care for the Vietnamese.

Tower nomination shot down

WASHINGTON - John Tower, who for years has longed to be defense secretary, may be denied that coveted title, a victim of too many charges of heavy drinking that made Senate Democrats edgy about their former colleague. In twin votes of 11-9 Thursday night, the Senate Armed Services Committee refused to approve Tower for the job and then decided to recommend flatly to the full Senate that it too reject the nominee. The votes were stinging blows both to Tower, 63, and to President Bush. who is still trying to fill the final spots in his

Gas tax boost in the works

TALLAHASSEE - A Republican House member is preparing legislation to boost Florida's gasoline tax by 12 cents over six years to raise nearly $3 billion for the state's overburdened transporation system. The levy would be increased by 3 cents this year, with additional increases of 3 cents in 1991, 1993 and 1995. "I think the transportation problems will not go away." Huenink told a Tampa newspaper in a story published

Thursday. "The sooner we address them, the more cost effective it will be for the citizens of the state of Florida."

SANFORD - A hard freeze is forecast for Seminole County tonight, following last night's record cold temperatures

Temperatures dropped low enough last night to break 21-year-old area records for the date, but not low enough to damage citrus, according to a horticulturist for Seminole County.

The National Weather Service in Orlando reported that last night's low temperature of 31 degrees broke a 1968 record of 34 degrees for that date. Temperatures are expected to drop to the mid-20s tonight, with a possible hard freeze and scattered

The coldest February temperature for the area recorded over a 20-year period is 28 degrees. Temperatures In the Orlando area fell to that mark Feb. 4, 1970.

County horticulturist Celeste White said she expects few reports of damage to effrus from last night's cold, although growers are concerned about tonight's forecast. Severe damage to citrus trees is done by more than four hours of See Freeze, Page 5A

Toll funds may help finance local projects

By J. MARK BARFIELD Herald staff writer

TALLAHASSEE - State road officials recommended Thursday the Seminole County Expressway and portions of the Orlando Beltway be financed through Florida's Turnpike toll bond program.

Allen Potter, state operations administrator for the Florida Department of Transportation, said the Seminole and Orange County projects are among 13 submitted to the Florida Transportation Commission Thursday for review. The commission, which sets department policy, will decide which projects to recommend to the Florida Legislature

Potter said the road projects will be ranked according to their readiness. The Seminole County Expressway's final designs will be complete by August, making it one of the most advanced projects in the state.

Wallace found guilty

By BRAD CHURCH Herald staff writer

SANFORD - A Seminole Circuit Court jury found Joseph Carmichael Wallace guilty of manslaughter with a firearm after deliberating for more than eight hours Thursday.

Wallace, 60, of Geneva, was charged with second degree murder in connection with the shooting death of the Rev. Richard Conner last September, but the jury found him guilty of the lesser charge of manslaughter.

The jury also returned a guilty verdict on the charge of resisting a law enforcement officer, and an innocent verdict on the charge of tampering with evidence. Judge C. Vernon Mize Jr. set sentencing for April 17. Tom Hastings, the state attorney who prosecuted the case, said if Judge Mize follows sentencing guidelines. Wallace could received seven to 12 years in prison.

The jury began deliberating the verdict about 11 a.m. and at 6:30 p.m. reported to Judge Mize that one of the six jurors was in disagreement with the other five, and asked the judge what they should do.

After conferring with the defense and prosecuting attorneys, judge Mize told the jurors to take a dinner break, then return and try to reach agreement. They reported they had reached a verdict at 9:30 p.m.

Wallace was convicted of shooting Rev. Conner in the late afternoon of Sept. 11 after Conner drove into his drive in rural Geneva. Conner. pastor of the United Methodist Church of Geneva since June, was calling on members of the church's nominating committee that afternoon to get their signatures on some church papers.

Hastings told the jury that Rev. Conner's next stop was to be the Patricia Hoyt residence, next door to Wallace, and that he probably either drove into the wrong drive, or stopped at the Wallace residence to ask directions to the Hoyt residence.

Wallace's driveway entrance has four "no trespassing" and private property" signs on either side of it.

Wallace testified that he did not know who was driving onto his property past the "no trespassing" signs and grabbed a .44 magnum revolver when he saw the car drive in, and he ran outside, wearing boxer shorts and a tee shirt.

Both defense attorney Chency Mason and Hastings agreed that Wallace was holding the gun when it discharged into Rev. Conner's abdomen a few seconds after Wallace came out of the house

Pink shopping center could change colors

By SANDRA BOUCHAHINE Herald staff writer

LAKE MARY - The developer of The Oaks Shopping Center told city commissioners last night that he would change his yet-unfinished building in any way to make them happy.

Stanley H. Sandefur agreed to the terms set by the commissioners that 60 days after the certificate of occupancy is issued, he will change what one commissioner described as an outdated "60s" color scheme if they still don't like the way it looks after the building is finished. He said to charge the pink awnings and trim would cost him about $30,000.

Sandefur was recently criticized by some commissioners for painting a portion of the building a "hideous" pink and for constructing a gray concrete wall to screen the shopping center on Lake Mary Boulevard and Longwood-Lake Mary Road from a residential area.

When Sandetur signed the developer's agreement on March 16, 1987, he agreed to use "earth tones" and a stucco or brick exterior on all buildings constructed on the property, it also stated that he would use a tile roof over the walkway in front of the shops.

If we don't like it later, he'll change it." Mayor Dick Fess said. Sandetur further agreed to finish the concrete wall in stucco, to construct a tile tool and to fix a number of other stems the com-

Gator Lager Beer now on tap

ORLANDO - First there was the T-shirt depicting an alligator wearing sunglasses and holding a bottle of beer that read "Growlin Gator Lager. The beer with a bite. Favorite of Lounge Lizards Everywhere."

The beer followed. Bill Burrer, president of Gator Lager Beer, developed the logo in September 1987 for shirts, mugs and hats, but the design became so popular that customers started requesting the beer

"We had so many calls from people asking where they could get the beer," Burrer said Thursday. "We took the challenge." Gator Lager, introduced in November 1988, is distributed in more than 25 counties in Florida and in Louisiana and

"The beer wasn't produced because of the University of Florida," Burrer said, referring to the university's Gator mascot and adding it was created to fill a void in the market. "There wasn't a strong regional beer in the state of Florida." Burrer said he expects distribution to expand to Georgia soon and he has received interest from distributors in Japan, Oman, the United Kingdom and the Canary Islands. Gator Lager is distributed in St. Augustine, central Florida, Gainesville, Clearwater, Tampa, Sarasota and Fort Myers. South Florida is expected to be added soon. He said Gator Lager expects to produce 50,000 cases a month by the end of the year.

Hollywood gears for battle

HOLLYWOOD - in a battle of names, Hollywood, Fla., officials Thursday invited delegates from Hollywoods across the country to ban against Hollywood, Calif., in its effort to register "Hollywood" as a trademark.

"We're unequivocably and irrevocably opposed to their trademark application," said Chris Garrett, executive vice president of the Greater Hollywood (Fla.) Chamber of Commerce. "We are taking it very seriously and we're going to fight it tooth and nail."

Bill Welsch, president of the Hollywood (Calif.) Chamber of Commerce said his community applied with the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office to protect its marketing interests.

Hollywood, Fla., Mayor Mara Giulianti has invited key elected officials from more than half a dozen Hollywoods across the country to meet Tuesday at a two-day "Hollywood Summit" in

Among those invited are Hollywood representatives from Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Louisiana, Maryland, Mississippi, New Mexico, South Carolina and Texas, Garrett said, adding he has heard of other Hollywoods in Missouri. West Virginia and Washington.

All victims' bodies out of crashed plane

HURLBURT FIELD - With temperatures hovering around the freezing mark, rescuers Thursday located the last remains of the eight men who died when an Air Force transport crashed and burned in a violent storm.

Capt. Thomas Connell, a spokesman at Hurlburt Field, said all eight bodies were removed to Eglin Air Force Base Hospital to be identified by experts from Tyndall Air Force Base near Connell said three of the victims were found inside the fuselage of the C-141 and five were found "in close proximity" outside the four-engine cargo jet. Four victims were found Tuesday, two Wednesday and two Thursday.

The 168-foot transport assigned to Norton Air Force Base near San Bernardino, Calif., was en route from Colorado Springs, Colo., to Huriburt when it crashed in a heavily wooded area on its final approach around 8 p.m. CST and came to rest in 5 feet of water.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

Second primary called a 'relic'

United Press International

TALLAHASSEE - Florida's second primary election is "a relic of the past" and should be eliminated. Rep. James Hargrett, D-Tampa, said Thursday.

Hargrett plans to file legisla-tion to do away with the October primary runoff elections. He said he already has 19 co-sponsors for his bill, and expects to pick up even more support before the 1989 session begins in April.

Florida is one of only seven states that holds runoff elections for any primary race in which no candidate received 50 percent of the vote. Most states simply award their party nominations to the primary candidate who obtained the most votes.

"It's a relic of the past." Hargrett said. "It is a holdover from the days when Florida did not have a bona fide two-party

"Today Florida does have a two-party system, and it is no longer necessary to continue the expense and burden of holding this runoff.

The second primary stems from the days when Florida, like most of the South, was overwhelmingly Democratic. With the Democratic nominee all but certain to win the general election, a second primary was deemed necessary to prevent ity of the vote walking into chances in the general election.

Hargrett, who is black, de-

But with Republicans now a strong and growing minority. the second primary causes more problems than it cures, Hargrett said. Among other things, registered Florida voters living out of the country can miss their op-portunity to vote because the Division of Elections cannot get them final ballots between the October second primary and the November general election. The second primary can also turn campaigns bitter, Hargrett said. A candidate who knows he is in trouble may launch negative attacks against a fellow party member out of desperasomeone with only a slim plural- tion, ruining that party's clined to discuss claims that the runoffs can hurt black and minority candidates by creating a "second hurdle" for them to

Gov. Bob Martinez said by telephone from Frankfurt. West Germany, during a European trade mission that he sees no reason to change Florida's traditional primary system.

"Other states have done it, but just to go around trying to fix something that's not broken -I'm not sure that's the best concept of government," Martinez said. "I don't see any momentum for It."

Education awards presented

United Press International

TAMPA — The Florida Department of Education and the Office of Business and Citizen Partnerships honored 26 Florida businesses and organizations Wednesday night for contributions improving public education.

Commissioner of Education Betty Castor presented plaques to representatives of the businesses and organizations at the second annual Business Recognition Award Program.

Castor used the opportunity to announce she intends to form a task force to see if state employment policies encourage good parenting and said she would like to see a similar self-examination in the business sector.

"We are spending million of dollars on great programs to help children become good students, but the programs won't work if they are not reinforced at home," she said. "They can't be successful without the parents."

Castor said school involvement is part of good parenting and said employers have to start asking themselves if they are giving employees the chance to be good parents. She said this includes encouraging children to call their parents at work and to encourage parents to take time off from work for teacher conferences.

Keynote speaker James P. Comer, associate dean of Yale University School of Medicine and a specialist in parent education and involvement, DeLand Chamber of Commerce.

said teachers have lost the intimate connection with every part of students' lives because most now commute from suburbs and away from the old neighborhood school concept.

"We have to re-create the tle between home and school that used to be natural," Comer said. "Parents know their children and can supply important information about their needs."

Castor called the award program "a special event," saying she formed the Office of Business and Citizen Partnerships to initiate the state's business partnership challenge grant program.

"Our goals are to both strengthen existing partnerships and expand and initiate new partnerships throughout the state," Castor said. "To reach these goals, we need the support of the business community in improving public education at all levels. All of us who work in education realize that local business and education partnerships are a necessary and viable means of atrengthening the education process.

"I wanted to thank and recognize key corpora-tions, individuals and organizations who have so generously contributed their time, money and efforts in making Florida's public school system one we can all be proud of," she said. "I have made business partnerships one of the top priorities of my administration.

"I think the transportation problems will not go away." Huenink told the Tampa Tribune in a story published Thursday. "The sooner we address them, the more cost effective it will be for the citizens of the state of Florida."

Gov. Bob Martinez is firmly opposed to any tax increase this year. Leading lawmakers have been reluctant to take the political risk of proposing tax increases only to face a veto from the governor. However, business leaders have been fretting that clogged highways might slow the state's growth, and have been trying to build support for tax Martinez has proposed alicing the DOT budget until the agency solves its budget problems, caused when planners approved projects without making sure the money was there to pay for them. Huenink's bill would tie any gasoline tax increase after this year to evidence DOT has improved efficiency. 'I think that with the efficiency constraints that would be in the bill, it would address some people's concerns about the Department of Transportation," Huenink said.

"The problem is the threat of a veto," said Rep. Fred Jones, D-Aubumdale, "If [the governor) is going to veto it, why get bloodled over it?"

POLICE BRIEFS

Two charged with cocaine sales

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS - City County Investigative Bureau agents report the Wednesday night arrests of two men in rural Altamonte Springs after the men, in separate incidents, allegedly sold cocaine to an undercover agent.

Herbert Walker, 31, of 112 Dunbar St., Altamonte Springs. was charged with possession of a controlled substance and possession of cocaine with intent to distribute at 9:48 p.m. on Lake Howell Road.

Darrell Gilliam, 25, of 109 Desoto Ave., Altamonte Springs, was charged with sale and possession of cocaine at 10:36 p.m. on North Street.

Man accused of burning brother's car

SANFORD - A 33-year-old Sanford man is charged with arson in the Thursday morning buring of his brother's car following an argument between the pair.

Bruce William Hampton, of 1904 S. Summerlin Ave., was arrested by Seminole County sheriff's arson investigator Barry Brady at 2:50 p.m. Wednesday following questioning at the sheriff's department.

Brady reported Hampton allegedly had an argument with his brother as they rode in his brother's 1982 Ford Escort. The argument continued when they arrived at 2795 Richman Ave., rural Sanford. There Hampton allegedly got out and took a metal pipe and broke the car's windows. He then doused the vehicle with a flammable liquid and set it aftre, Brady reported.

Hampton reportedly called the fire depatment, and reported that his brother had been followed home by a man who damaged the car, Brady said. Bond is $4,500.

Handwriting leads to forgery charges

SANFORD - Sanford police report that a match of handwriting samples that linked a suspect to the passing of two stolen and forged checks in Sanford in August brought the arrest Wednesday of a suspect.

Mario Joe Capri, 31, no address, was charged with two counts each of forgery, uttering a forgery, theft and dealing in stolen property. He was arrested at 9:50 p.m. Wednesday after questioning at the police station.

The checks were cashed Aug. 26 and 29 at Sun Bank, police said. They were drawn on the account of Michael Doss for $230 and $400.

Auto dealership worker accused of fraud

LONGWOOD - Longwood police report the arrest of a repair order writer for Courtesy Pontiac, U.S. Highway 17-92, who is accused of writing bogus orders for transmission work on six

The work wasn't needed and wasn't done and the suspect allegedly collected payment for the work through his own company between Aug. 3, 1988 and Jan. 10. The cars all had extended warrantees and the authorizations on the work orders through Courtesy Pontiac were forged, police said.

Steven Dale Stigall, 36, of Deltona was arrested at the Longwood police station at 2:45 p.m. Thursday. He is charged with scheming to defraud, and six counts each of insurance fraud, grand theft and uttering a forged instrument. Bond is

Man accused of raping pre-teenage girl

WINTER SPRINGS - A 42-year-old Winter Springs man was arrested at home by Winter Springs police in connection with the rape of a pre-teenage girl numerous times during a three year period. The girl told police that it has been about one year since the last attack.

Thomas Alex Santilli, of 143 Hayse Road, was arrested at 8:25 p.m. Thursday. He is held without bond.

Three arrested on cocaine charges

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS - At two locations on Encine Way. rural Altamonte Springs, City County Investigative Bureau agents acrested three persons, including a 15-year-old boy, in a crack down on cocaine trafficking in the area.

Arrested along with the boy at 631 Encine Way, at about 9 p.m. Thurday, was Sharon Kay Reese, 22, of that address. Agents said they entered that house at the invitation of a resident and found Reese and the boy in a bedroom where there was a container of cocaine on a dresser. Reese is charged with possession of cocaine.

At about 10:30 p.m. at 607 Encino Way, Robert Charles Bellamy, 44, of that address, was charged with possession of cocaine and drug paraphernalia, after CCIB agents with a warrant searched his house.

Two arrested after traffic stop

SANFORD — City County Investigative Bureau agents arrested two men at 2401 Airport Boulevard, Sanford, after the men left that location after a suspected purchase of marijuana.

Agents made a traffic stop of the suspects' car on State Road 46 at Old Monroe Road and arrested the two occupants of the car at about 9:17 p.m. Thursday.

Charged with possession of more than 20 grams of marijuana are: William Henry Proctor, 20; and Robert Bryon Wood, 24, both of DeLand.

Agents said they saw a large plastic bag of pot of the floor of the suspects' car after the traffic stop for failure to use a turn

Stolen camera pawned, suspect arrested

LONGWOOD - A carpet cleaner accused of stealing a video camera from an Orange County house where he worked was arrested Thursday by Seminole County sheriff's deputies. The deputies recovered the pawned camera at a pawn shop in Altamonte Springs.

Christopher James Finn, 18, was arrested on State Road 434 at Wekiva Springs Road, Longwood at about 6:15 p.m. Thursday. He is charged with dealing in stolen property and transfer of property to a pawn broker. Bond is $1,000.

His employer at Best Carpet Care, of Altamonte Springs, reportedly told sheriff's deputies that Finn was the only company employee who worked at the house where the camera was found to be missing after the carpet was cleaned.

Man charged in burglary

LONGWOOD — Longwood police reported finding a suspect in a Feb. 3 burglary at 1510 Pelican St., Longwood, at that location again at about 5:30 p.m. Thursday.

The suspect, John Edward Pahel Jr., 18, of 1514 Ortole St., Longwood, is charged with burglary and grand theft in the case. Police said more than $300 worth of jewelry was taken in the Feb. 3 burglary

Bank sues county over road widening

By BRAD CHURCH Herald staff writer

SANFORD - First Seminole Bank of Lake Mary has asked the Seminole Circuit Court to negate its deeding some of its property to the county for the widening of Lake Mary Boulevard, claiming it did so under duress.

According to the sult, the bank applied for a certificate of occupancy from the city of Lake Mary last July 20, but was told it first had to obtain a driveway permit from the county.

When the bank applied for the driveway permit, it was told by County Engineer Jerry Mc-Collum that before the county would issue the permit the bank had to give the county a 30-foot-wide strip of land along its northern property line, and a 10-foot easement along its southern property line.

"The county did everything very routinely. After having the condition was placed on the developer to convey the right-of-way to the county. The developer had 30 days to appeal it to the Board of County Commissioners. He didn't appeal it. He didn't exhaust the available administrative remedy," Assistant County Attorney Lonnie Groot said. The bank planned to have a grand opening in a few days, the sult states, and could not afford to delay its opening by seeking administrative review of the demand for the property, which could take up to a year, the suit states. Consequently, it deeded the requested property to the county on July 28, and sent a letter of protest to the county.

The sult states the property transfer was made against its will and that McCollum had no prior authority to order the property transfer. The sult states the bank had already paid the county $11,281.60 in Impact fees, and the demand for the property amounts to an "arbitrary imposition of a double Impact fee.'

The sull charges McCollum "intentionally used the threat of delay in the opening of the bank" to force it to surrender the preperty without compensation

McCollum was not available for comment this morning.

The right-of-way takings set by the county for the Lake Mary Boulevard widening, proposed to begin by the end of this year, were established before the creation of the Lake Mary Boulevard Study Committee. The committee has an ordinance which is up for adoption by the county, Lake Mary and Sanford which addresses aesthetic improvements made to the roadway as it is being widened including landscaping and burial of utility lines.

The case is a nonissue regarding the Lake Mary Boulevard Study Committee. according to a spokesperson. because the ordinance does not propose further right-of-way requirements.

The bank sult also names the county supervisors as responsible for the loss of property because the county board approved the transfer of the property on Sept. 20,

The suit says the decision to widen Lake Mary Boulevard was made some time before the bank decided to construct its building, and the county purposely waited until it was about to open to demand the property. It also says it has not yet been told what the land deeded to the county will be used for or whether it will entail any changes in the property it retains.

A jury trial is demanded to hear the case.

Union condemns use of child labor in U.S.

United Press International

BAL HARBOUR - The AFL-CIO called on the Bush administration Thursday to use its economic and political muscle to stop the use of child labor abroad, and condemned the practice in the United States.

The executive council of the labor federation pointed to the growing use of such labor in Thailand and China, and the potential for such growth in the United States, and said, "Today

It is again necessary to mount a new crusade against child labor, at home and abroad."

The council, which is meeting this week in Florida, said the Reagan adminstration opened the way for more child labor abuses in the United States by lifting a 45-year-old ban on the manufacture of clothing at home.

The AFL-CIO said the Bush Administration should pressure the United Nations' Children's Fund to devote "significant resources" to climinate the problem.

Strangers who want to make choices for you

By now, most of the nation knows something of the tragedy of Nancy Klein, the pregnant New York woman who was in an auto accident in Decamber and has been in a coma ever since. A few days ago, believing an abortion might increase the chances of, a recovery, Martin Klein, her husband of nine years, sought, and finally obtained, authority for the procedure. But he didn't get it without a protracted legal battle, through four different courts, in which two anti-abortionists who had never met Nancy Klein and had no other interest in her sought to have themselves named her "guardians" so they could block the abortion.

in an appellate court ruling in the case, a five-judge panel declared, persuasively, that strangers "have no place in the midst of a family tragedy." As Martin Klein said during the course of his ordeal, he is a person who will have to live with the decision and its medical and moral consequences. The would-be intervenors would be there today. and gone tomorrow.

But the Klein case also is a prardigm for the larger issue. It dramatizes with unusual clarity the cruelty of an attempt by absolute strangers to make difficult moral choices for other people — to place themselves in the midst of a family tragedy.

There are times — in cases of child abuse, for example — when the state has to intervene in families to protect the lives or safety of individuals. But the Klein case demonstrates that where the existence of the "life" to be protected is itself a matter of moral and scientific dispute, no official wisdom can replace personal conscience. In the first months of pregnancy, the centrally responsible moral agent can be only the woman herself and those closest to her. All other are relative strangers.

The chances are small that Nancy Kieln will ever come out of her coma, even with the abortion. But in her inability to make the choice herself can anyone seriously suggest that for her, or any other pregnant woman, the state, the law or any collection of self-appointed "guardians" — how the world rings with Orwellian overtones — can ever make a more conscientious choice?

Jim Brady: An inspiration

James S. Brady, who was shot in the head during the March 1981 assassination attempt on Ronald Reagan, has suffered much and served his country honorably. We hope that all goes well for him as he formally ends his service to the federal government.

Brady has ben unable to carry out the duties of press secretary since he was wounded when John W. Hinckley Jr. opened fire on the presidential party in front of the Washington Hilton Hotel. Four people were injured, including the president. Brady never fully recovered. He often uses a wheelchair, and his speech is halting, although he still displays the wit for which he was known before the shooting.

Reagan, in a compassionate gesture that seemed to acknowledge that Brady had taken a bullet that was meant for the president, kept his press secretary on the payroll despite the injuries. In recent years, Brady has reported to the White House about one day a week to visit with associates, sign autographs and pose for pictures.

Now the title of press secretary in the Bush administration has gone to Marlin Fitzwater. President Bush helped the Bradys arrange a retirement plan.

Brady's personal fortitude and grace in the face of serious physical handicaps have been an inspiration to many people during the past eight years. May the years ahead be good for

More work, less honeymoon from Bush

Wasn't it nice that George Bush did all those swell things during the transition! He met with environmentalists; he met with minorities; he met with Congress; he went fishing; he went hunting; he went to so many neat events during inauguration week.

It was nice. It was necessary. There is a problem, however. What with all the hustlebustle, one gets the feeling that in certain key areas the Bush team forgot to appoint a government. This is not the end of the world; it is redeemable; there are reasons for it. Still, it hurts.

The idea of a transition — it was 72 days long this time - is to let a new administration hit the ground running. The Bush team has hit the ground with a plop.

This is most apparent in the realm of foreign policy and defense. As this is written, Secretary of Defense-designate John Tower is going through the Washington ritual firestorm of trial-by-scandal. Alas, with no chief at Defense. no lower-level appointments have been confirmed: No under-secretaries nor deputy secretaries nor assistant secretaries. They are the people who make the Pentagon run.

It's not a whole lot better at the State Department. Secretary of State James Baker has chosen a few long-time associates to perform mostly staff functions. But none - zero - of the regional assistant secretaries has been appointed.

Does this matter? It matters.

At Defense they have had to make five-year budget cuts amounting to $60 billion to meet congressional budget deadlines. These were decisions that will shape America's defense posture for decades to come. This was done with no plan in place, with no detailed Cabinet-level direction.

At State there is a Central American problem. Five Central American presidents met and decided something, or thought they did, about the contras. The original story was that the

The Bush team has hit

the ground

with a plop

contras were to be disbanded, and all the Sandinistas had to do was promise Utopia.

Later reports indicate that perhaps more will be required. We shall see. Meanwhile, in what is in large measure a contest of politics and image. our club in the closet - the contras - has been made to seem impotent and irrelevant.

Truth be told: There is no American policy team yet. There is no American policy yet. We have put the world on hold. But the world is on call-forwarding. Things happen with us or

At some point the Bush administration will have to choose a foreign policy. My sense has been that it will be a solid one. There are some few excellent people already in place, and more are in the wings. There are at least two obvious policy choices. First: Try to win the Cold War; be assertive. Second: Assume that the Soviets are crumbling; be in place to catch the goodies. (I like the first.)

But there is a third possibility, which may be the worst. Gridlock. Snafu, Dither. Fritter. Scandal. Media firestorm. Argument about ethics. Policy freeze. Attention Bushies: Counting the transition, almost 7 percent of your first term has already passed.

DAVID S. BRODER

Some Democrats form a national vision

WASHINGTON - Without much doubt, the most pregnant parenthesis floating around Washington is the title on the cover of the background paper Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's (D-Mass.) office gives reporters who inquire what he's up to these days. "Kennedy initiatives," it says. "Doing More Without Spending (Much) More."

The Kennedy parenthesis captures the tone congressional Democrats are taking as they search for the best way to advance their political and policy agendas in the altered atmosphere of George Bush's Washington. Ron Brown, the newly chosen chairman of the Democratic National Committee, has made it abundantly clear in his first round of speeches and interviews that he is not foolish enough to attempt to lay down the policy line for his party.

So it seemed to make sense to check in with Kennedy, the graying dean of the Democratic activists, and with two of the younger men who tried for the presidential nomination in 1988 and presumably will again: Sen. Albert Gore, Jr., of Tennessee and Rep. Dick Gephardt of Missouri.

It turns out, unsurprisingly, that they have lots of ideas on what the Democrats should do. They may even have the faint outlines of a vision and a strategy.

Alphabetically, and in brief outline, here's what they have on their minds. Gephardt, now freed from running the House Democratic Caucus and competing in the lowa caucuses. is funneling his excess energy into writing a book and learning Japanese - the latter an activity he thinks a lot more American students and businessmen should be pursuing. After visiting Japan and other Pacific Rim countries last fall, he believes "three times as strongly as I did in the campaign" that America is "on the back side of the slippery slope" when it comes to the international economic competition.

Speaker Jim Wright (D-Texas) has named Gephardt head of the House Democratic Task Force on Trade and Competitiveness. Wearing that hat, he's working on legislation to reorganize the way the federal government deals with those issues. He also wants to block Bush's proposed cut in capital-gains tax rates and instead use the tax code to punish "wasteful mergers" and "financial manipulation.

On the stump, that translates to an old-fashioned populist pitch: "We have to fight for economic justice ... take charge of our own economic future."

Gore, who has no significant opponent yet for his 1990 re-election race in Tennessee, is thinking globally, too. While Gephardt was in the Pacific, Gore's post-election travels took him to Antarctics and the Amazon rainforest. He returned with what he modestly terms "the World Environment Policy Act." whose provisions relate to such things as the "regulation and phase-out of anthropogenic emissions" and the conservation of biodiversity."

These are not tongue-tripping. mind-freezing concepts to the senator from Tennessee, who is at his most animated when describing the potential of building a national fiberoptics network to link supercomputers. It all sounds faintly Buck Rogersish to someone of my gerneation, but you quickly learn that Gore is driven by the same concern as Gephardt

They may even have the faint outlines of a vision and a strategy

How we gear ourselves for the international competitive challenge. That fiberoptic networking of super-computers, Gore says, will "let us leapfrog Japan."

Meantime, he has also done a load of work on a concept that's attracted a good deal of Republican interest: Expanding the carned income-tax credit (essentially a family allowance) to boost the working poor beyond the poverty line and keep them there with broader child-care credits as well.

Ending the anomaly of "the working poor" is also a top priority for Kennedy, the prime sponsor of the minimum-wage increase bill supported by Gore, Gephardt and almost all

Kennedy also has an ambitious education agenda, ranging from "Smart-Start" (ugh!), his plan for expanding Head Start, to literacy programs to tax-breaks for college savings

Two thing struck me about the three men's proposals. They have their roots in traditional Democratic values - a concern for "working people." But the approach is different. Each one clearly requires specific effort from the people being helped: Study, training, job-seeking, work, saving, or some combination of all four.

Almost all of them emphasize a diversity of approaches, using states, localities or the private sector. They fit within the Kennedy parenthesis, because not much of the spending would come directly from the federal Treasury and the Washington bureaucratic superstructure would be relatively small, in most cases.

Cowboy to be Mexican envoy

WASHINGTON — You could say John Negroponte is the G.I. Joe of the diplomatic

As U.S. ambassador to Honduras in the early 1980s, he reportedly directed a covert campaign by the charter class of contras to topple the government of neighboring Nicaragua. Negroponte gained a reputation as a military commander instead of a pinstriped peacemaker.

When George Bush won the White House, liberal Central America watchers feared

Negroponte would end up calling the shots again. Bush will repay Ne-groponte for past loyalty, but not with a Central America post. The president will, nominate Negroponte as am. bassador to Mexico.

The match is not made in heaven. always resented U.S. meddling in their government, and Negroponte is a natural-born meddier and not the type to spend his tenure in an armchair at the em-

The match is not made in heaven

His pending appointment is an example of the puzzling way in which the Bush administration is birthing its Latin American policy. Bush and Secretary of State James Baker are showing signs of a kinder, gentler approach to our neighbors. For example, they are quietly spurning the blind military support that Ronald Reagan gave the contras. opting for a more peaceful push for democracy in Nicaragua.

Yet Bush's choices for key diplomatic posts in Latin America show that the executive branch hasn't been cured of "contra fever."

Bernard Aronson is Bush's choice for assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs. In that crucial post, Aronson's precedessor, Elliot Abrams, was blamed for creating bad blood over Central American policy with Democratic leaders in Congress. Aronson is a Democrat, but like Abrams, he is a fervent contra backer, and that is likely to breed distrust among the members of Congress who want to throw the last shovelful of dirt on the dying contra war.

Negroponte, a career foreign service officer who served in Vietnam, is an even more peculiar choice. He was arguably the most controversial diplomat of the Reagan years. He never outright admitted to running covert military operations during his tenure as ambassador to Honduras. But media reports began surfacing in 1982 that Negroponte was the brains behind original contra forces and that he rounded up die-hard supporters of deposed Nicaraguan dictator Anastasio Somoza to make up the core of the contra

The covert operations involved training and arming Nicaraguan exiles to tie up the flow of arms to left-wing rebels in El Salvador and to undermine the Cuban-backed government of Nicaragua. Some news reports said Negroponte even had the Honduran military commander, Gen. Gustavo Alcofo Alvarez. answering to him like a lieutenant. U.S. aid to Honduras skyrocketed while Negroponte was the envoy there.

Negroponte is lying low until he is officially nominated and confirmed to the Mexican post. He did not return our phone calls. A State Department spokesman told us that it is unfair for critics to blame Negroponte when he was only carrying out Reagan administration policies in Central America. Watchdogs on U.S. foreign policy were raising the red flag about him even before his name surfaced as a potential ambassador to Mexico. Larry Birns, director of the Council on Hemispheric Affairs, said Negroponte is the "worst possible candidate for the job." The council lost no time getting the word out about Negroponie.

Potter said state transportation officials recommended paying for the 12-mile portion of the Seminole County Expressway between State Road 426 and U.S. Highway 17-92. The total project is expected to cost $148.6 million for right of way purchases and construction. Seminole County Expressway Authority (SCEA) officials said the toll road could be opened by Summer 1992.

SCEA executive director Gerald Brinton said the $148.6 million includes $21.5 million to repay loans advanced to SCEA by the county and the state. including $15 million approved by the Legislature last year. That $15 million has been used to complete final engineering designs and purchase about 30 percent of the right of way for the 12-mile section.

Officer ambushed during traffic stop

LOS ANGELES — A Los Angeles police officer was wounded in an ambush by someone in the back of a pickup truck who blasted out the officer's patrol car window with gunfire from what was believed to be an assault rifle, police said Friday.

Although wounded and being fired upon, the officer chased the pickup for almost two blocks before having to abandon the pursuit, officials said.

Officer Carlton Brown, 31, was trying to stop the small pickup for a routine traffic violation at 11:08 p.m. when the shooting occurred, Sgt. Jeff Hanson said.

The probationary officer in the final phase of his training was following the pickup in West Los Angeles when "the tailgate of the truck came down and what appeared to be an assault rifle was produced." police Chief Daryl Gates said.

At least four shots were fired, blasting out the patrol car's front window and leaving Brown peppered with fragments of glass or builets or both, Gates said.

"The officer continued for at least another block and a half attempting to pursue the suspects," Gates said. "But he was bleeding and it was difficult."

NEW YORK — A motorist fleeing a dozen police cruisers sped up the wrong side of Broadway early Friday on bare metal wheel rims, sending up a shower of sparks and forcing startled drivers to swerve for their lives.

The wild chase finally came to an end at the George Washington Bridge — nearly 10 miles from where it began, said Sgt. Pete Berry, a police spokesman.

AZT to be offered to AIDS workers

WASHINGTON — The National Institutes of Health said Friday it is offering the AIDS-fighting drug AZT to any government laboratory worker accidentally exposed to the virus that causes the deadly disease.

Dr. James Wyngaarden, director of the federal government's leading medical research center, announced the new strategy in a one-page memo sent Thursday to employees at 70 NIH-affiliated laboratories doing work involving the AIDS virus.

A Health and Human Serives Department official, who asked to remain anonymous, said the decision to offer AZT to employees exposed to "substantial" amounts of the AIDS virus was based on animal studies that indicate the drug may prevent AIDS infection if given soon after exposure.

Prostitute killer may be law officer

LOS ANGELES — Police and sheriff's deputies have arrested a suspect in a series of prostitute killings in South Los Angeles, and sources close to the investigation said Thursday night the suspect is a law enforcement officer.

The suspect is wanted in a series of slayings of South Los Anarles streetwalkers who sell sex in exchange for drugs, sources said. Los Angeles police have been investigating the slayings of at least nine streetwalkers who have been shot to dell'h with the same small-caliber gun since August 1985.

Various law enforcement sources said the suspect is a Los Angeles County sheriff's deputy, but that could not be confirmed late Thursday night.

The suspect was taken into custody late Thursday in the San Bernardino County community of Rialto after Los Angeles police and sheriff's deputies staked out a house north of the city limits, Rialto police Lt. Brian Hebbard said. He refused to provide more details.

Committee rejects Tower

United Press International

WASHINGTON — John Tower, who for years has longed to be defense secretary, may be denied that coveted title, a victim of too many charges of heavy drinking that made Senate Democrats edgy about their former colleague.

In twin votes of 11-9 Thursday night, the Senate Armed Services Committee refused to approve Tower for the job and then decided to recommend flatly to the full Senate that it too reject the nominee. The votes were stinging blows both to Democrat after Democrat cited the former Texas senator's drinking habits as a basis for rejection. GOP senators protested Tower was being tried by innuendo and was the victim of perception, not of fact, that he was unfit for the job.

Immediately after the vote, Democrats began sending strong signals to Bush — in Tokyo for the funeral of Emperor Hirohito — to start searching for another candidate.

Bush replied that he had not considered anyone but Tower, a former chairman of the Armed Services Committee, and an aide said the Texan would be back at his transition office in the Pentagon Friday, ready to take on the full Senate next week. Debate on the nomination is expected to begin Wednesday.

Administration asks Court to reverse abortion ruling

United Press International

WASHINGTON — The Bush administration wants the Supreme Court to reverse its historic decision legalizing abortion, and advocates on both sides of the divisive issue were quick to criticize or embrace the move.

The administration asked the court Thursday to overturn the 1973 Roe vs. Wade ruling, saying it "rests on assumptions that are not firmly grounded in the Constitution."

In a friend-of-the-court brief, acting Solicitor General William Bryson said the decision upholding a woman's privacy right to have an abortion was based on "unfounded premises" and, improperly, on "medical find-

The brief, co-signed by several other senior Justice Department officials, was filed in a case involving a Missouri antiabortion law that was struck down by lower courts.

Dawn Johnson, legal director for the National Abortion Rights Action League, said she was not surprised by the administration's move, but was disappointed that it would deprive women of a basic and important right.

"Without that right, millions of American women will be forced to resort to back-alley abortionists where their lives and health will be threatened," she said.

Douglas Johnson, legislative director for the National Right to Life Committee, the nation's most prominent pro-life organization, said, "We applaud this intervention by the Bush administration in defense of unborn children. If Roe vs. Wade is overturned, our elected representatives will take steps to curb the abortion epidemic."

The Missouri case marks the first big test of the legality of abortion that the court has accepted since returning to full strength last year, when the confirmation of Justice Anthony Kennedy gave it the strongest conservative majority in decades.

In the brief, administration lawyers argued that the decision dividing pregnancy into three trimesters "must either become increasingly arbitrary over time or change as medical technology changes."

As a result, it said, the high court has been put "in' the position of reviewing medical and operational practices beyond its competence."

"We therefore believe that the time has come for the court to abandon its efforts to impose a comprehensive solution to the abortion question."

The government's brief echoed recent statements by Attorney General Dick Thornburgh, who as Pennsylvania governor signed a tough anti-abortion law that was later struck down by the high court.

Calero: North was 'savior' to Contras

United Press International

WASHINGTON — Contra leader Adolfo Calero testified Oliver North was "sort of a savior" for the Nicaraguan rebels, and U.S. officials repeatedly said, "Let Ollie do it" when the guerrillas needed help in 1985 and 1986.

Calero, the second witness at the ex-White House aide's trial, also said Thursday he "gladly" gave North $90,000 in 1985 because "I had absolute trust" in the man who kept the Contras together when U.S. ald was banned.

North, Calero said, was so instrumental to the Contras' survival, "We're going to erect a monument for him once we free Nicaragua."

The rebel leader was called to testify on the third day of North's trial to prove prosecution charges that North illegally used $4,000 of the $90,000 he got from Calero in traveler's checks as his "personal piggy bank."

Friday, the prosecution was to call Robert Owen, who served as North's money courier to rebel leaders with whom Calero had no dealings.

Calero said he did not know North gave Owen $1,000 of the traveler's checks as a wedding present but said the money could be considered a payment for services Owen performed.

North is charged with 12 felony counts that include lying to Congress, destroying official documents, tax fraud and accepting an illegal gift. If convicted, he could face 60 years in prison and $3 million in fines.

Thursday, Calero, a prosecution witness, seemed in some discomfort while testifying against North — who he said "was the one who listened to all our laments, all our problems."

Emperor Hirohito laid to rest

United Press International

TOKYO - Emperor Hirohito was entombed Friday in a lavish. daylong funeral attended by more than 150 world leaders and marred by protests and a suspected leftist rocket attack.

The nation capped a day of solemn observances witnessed by television audiences around the world with the entombment of Hirohito, closing a chapter described as the most turbulent in Japanese history.

"The people will remember him forever," said new Emperor Akihito, 55, during the funeral which mixed ancient rites recalling Hirohito's reign as a god-king before World War II and Japan's rise to an economic superpower.

Prime Minister Noboru Takeshita said Hirohito's 62year reign, the longest in Japanese history, "were eventful and turbulent times for Japan, including the calamatics of that deplorable war.

"During all these years, Emperor Hirohito ardently wished for world peace and the wellbeing of the Japanese people, and he always remained at one with them in the effort to overcome the nation's difficulties," Takeshita said.

President Bush and other world leaders bowed to the ornate palanquin bearing Hirohito's remains, and then to the new emperor in a symbolic gesture to the past and present.

western Tokyo. In another incident, some 800 protesters marched Friday through downtown Tokyo, burning Japanese flags and calling for the government to apologize for war crimes committed during Hirohito's reign. There was a brief scuffle but no arrests were made.

Earlier, a 21-gun salute and the playing of traditional highpitched flutes, drums and gongs by costumed musicians set the tone for the daylong funeral as a 32-car cortege made a 4-mile journey from the Imperial Palace to historic Shinjuku in a near freezing rain.

The weather put a damper on the public turnout, with only 200,000 people lining the route compared with more than 800,000 expected for Japan's first royal funeral in 62 years.

After arriving at the sprawling Japanese-style gardens, the emperor's one-ton wooden coffin was placed inside an ornate palanquin with a peaked roof. It was carried by 51 pallbearers in gray costumes to a funeral hall.

Crash victims' kin demand resignation

United Press International

LONDON — Relatives of those killed in the Dec. 21 bombing of a Pan American World Airways jet have demanded the resignation of Transport Secretary Paul Channon, accusing him of ignoring a U.S. warning of a possible terrorist attack.

In a letter to The Independent, London newspaper, 22 relatives and friends said Thursday Channon had indicated after the disaster the advisory "was one of a large number of warnings and, in terms of quality, was so insignificant that he saw no need to inform the security authorities at Heathrow.' The families countered by saying the Dec. 9 warning from the Frderal Aviation Administration was one of "only 16" security bulletins from U.S. intelligence last year about potential terrorist threats to aircraft" eceived by Channon's depart-

"His resignation will not bring back the people we have lost; it will, however, case our sense of betrayal at the actions and omissions of our government," the letter said. "It might also ensure that a similar chain of events is not repeated."

Transport spokeswoman Penny Russell-Smith defended the department's handling of security warnings and said Channon has no plans to resign.

Pan Am flight 103 was blown apart Dec. 21 by a bomb in a radio-cassette player in the cargo hold of a Bocing 747 over the Scottish village of Lockerbie, killing all 259 people aboard and 11 people on the ground.

The tragedy came less than two weeks after the FAA notified the Transport Department that a Pan Am flight from Frankfurt, West Germany, to the United States could be a terrorist target. Flight 103 originated in Frankfurt and was bound for New York with a change of planes in London.

Even before the FAA warning. however, British airport security had already begun searching baggage for a radio-cassette player after West German police Yound a Toshiba Bombeat 453 that was filled with explosives and rigged to go off while an aircraft was in flight.

The same information led to a doubling of security at the Frankfurt airport, the letter said. 'We ask now that Mr.

Channon accept ministerial responsibility for failing to facilitate a similar response from Heathrow Airport," it said.

Russell-Smith said the Transport Department takes all warnings it receives seriously.

"During last year this department received copies of 26 accurity bulletins issued by the FAA, not 16," she said. "The bulletins contained information about a much larger number of

Rams look for sweep

Lake Mary High boy's soccer team will be looking for its defense to continue its strong work tonight when it travels to meet Tampa Gaither in the second of two semifinal matches of the Class 4A state tournament.

If the Rams are able to cop the state crown, it will be the second in as many weeks. Last week, the Lady Ram soccer team won its state championship match.

This year, the boys' 4A and 3A state tournaments are both being played at Pepin-Rood Stadium on the campus of The University

So far in the playoffs, Lake Mary has not been scored on in regulation and hopes its defense can

"I think we're ready to play." Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkle said. "I don't know how we stack up talent wise against this team but we've found ways to win games against teams that have more talent than we do.

McCorkle points to his defense as being the key factor tonight when his team, 23-2-3, takes the field. McCorkle also hopes his team doesn't have "jitters" as it did last season in the state semifinal against Orange Park where it dropped a 4-3 desicion.

"We're looking for our defense to come up with another strong performance," McCorkle said. "We have the attitude that if we don't give up a goal that we will be tough to beat.

come up with another strong performance against a team that has been putting a lot of thing for our offense. We want the pressure to be on them (Gaither) and I think it is, this is the first on them (Gaither) and I think it is. time at state for them, they're are playing at home and they're favored. We have nothing to lose and we've been here before so we should know how to handle the pressure."

Orange Park Jumped out to a 4-0 lead over the Rams in last years state tourney before holding them off in the final 20 minutes. Lake Mary pumped 12 shots on frame in the final 20 minutes of the game with three of them finding Tomorrow night's 3A-Section II girls basketball game between the host Fighting Lady Seminoles of Seminole High School and the Hernando High School Lady Leopthe first balf." said McNa ards will be like a wedding dance between a couple that just met.

"I'm trying to get a little informa-tion on them," said Seminole coach John McNamara about Hernando. "They're supposed to have a good inside player. To get where we are now, they must have something."

Lady 'Noles, who have won six in a row and 19 out of their last 20?

Kristi Poore is who the Lady Leopards will be counting on to control Seminole's Sheri Reddicks inside. If she is successful, then the other Lady 'Noles will have to contribute more, just as they did against Orlando-Jones and Starke-Bradford their last two games.

"I'm not worried about that," said McNamara about relying on his team's outside play. 'Adrian Hillsman, Koscia Kennon and Liz Long are all good outside players. They can hit the outside shots and them sooner or later."

One thing in Seminole's favor 8:30 p.m. on March 3.

Saturday night will be playing home. After their three-hour ride to Starke for the regional championship game on Tuesday night, the Lady 'Noles started slow, but were able to find a groove and take

"We were getting the kinks out in the first half," said McNamara, "It's hard to travel. It'll be rough for Hernando to come over and play. Maybe when they get to this level, the teams should be able to meet

McNamara can afford to be generous because the way his team is But will it be enough to stop the playing right now, he'd be confident putting them up against just about anyone in any gym.

"The girls are playing extremely well right now," said McNamara. "They're playing the best that they have all year. That's just what you want right now."

The winner of Saturday night's game will advance to the state tournament at the Lakeland Civic Center next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. According to the sched-uled drawn up by the Florida High School Activities Association, the Section II champ will play the winner from Section IV (Belle Hernando will have to come out on Glades Central vs. Hallandale) in a semifinal game at either 3:30 or DAYTONA BEACH - What more can someone with a serious Basketball Jones hope for than to see consecutive games go down to the wire like the trifecta Thursday night in the 4A-District 9 tournament at Daytona Beach-Mainland High School?

Advancing by the collective skins of their teeth were the Lyman Bulldogs (65-64 winners in overtime against Lake Mary), the Spruce Creek Hawks (62-59 victors over the Lake Brantley Patriots) and the DeLand Bulldogs (who dispatched the Lake Howell Silver Hawks

Tonight's semifinals pit DeLand (14-14) against Spruce Creek (21-4) in the 6 p.m. game and Lyman (14-11) against top-seeded Mainland,

Because Lyman and Lake Mary faced off in the opening round, it was guaranteed that there'd be one Seminole County team that would advance to the semifinals. And until Todd Patterson hit a jumper with two seconds left in overtime, those in attendance weren't sure which team it was going to be.

Lady Rams, Patriots to co-host tournament

From staff reports

Last week, Lake Brantley High School hosted a baseball tournament that brought some of the best talent in the state to Seminole County.

This weekend, Lake Mary will join Lake Brantley and host the third annual Early Bird Invitational softball tournament, a 12-team one-day event that boasts some of the state's top-slow-pitch squads. "The main purpose of this tournament is to promote good softball and good sportsmanship." said Lake Mary coach Karen Nolen. "It's a Santa Luces and defending tournament champion Palm Bay.

Play begins at 9 a.m. Saturday with four games: Lake Mary vs. Osceola, Merritt Island vs. Scabreeze, Lake Howell vs. Eau Gallie and Lake Brantley vs. Santa Luces.

The winners will advance to games at 10:30 a.m. versus the four teams that had byes: the Lake Mary/Osceola winner will meet Fletcher. Rockledge awaits the winner of the Merritt Island/Seabreeze contest, the Lake Howell/Eau Gallie victor takes on Wolfson and Palm Bay plays the Lake Brantley/Santa Luces survivor.

At noon, there will be four consolation games (a team must stay undefeated to win the tournament). At 1:30 p.m., the semtimals and a pair of consolation games will be played, followed mistakes. Hopefully Gaither will make the mistakes this year.

Lake Howell was to play Seminole on Thursday, but the game was postponed due to cold

Lake Mary will also try to press and pick up an early goal to really apply the pressure to Gaither. McCorkle feels if the Rams can pick up that quick goal that their defense is strong enough to stop the powerful Gaither attack 'It will take a real good team to beat us right now, there's no doubt about that." McCorkle said. If we score quickly we can make them force things and take them out of their game.

Gaither has a strong forward named Anthony Cilinti, who played on the national team but I can't believe that's all they have. They must be real good if they beat Tampa Leto 4-1 and 4-0 this season. We fied Leto and barely beat them 2-1, Orange Park and Miami Sunset will meet in the opening match with the finals to be held on Saturday at 7 p.m.

ning game going in the third period behind the play of their pressing defense. Seminole evened the score, 37-37, before Bernard Eady, who added 18 points, and Cash hit consecutive three pointers to give their team a 43-37 advantage.

Leesburg then gained some momentum when Kevin Honer fed Gerald Foster on Inbounds alley-oop pass that resulted in a thunderous slam that cut the lead to 43-39 heading into the final period.

Seminole continued to put the pressure on and Robert Moore, who completed the night with 12 points and eight rebounds, and Sean Roberts each came up with big offensive rebounds and stick backs to keep the lead.

The Tribe managed to sink their free throws late and Leesburg was unable to connect on its three point attempts to make the margin of victory wider.

Oviedo had two chances to send its game to overtime but missed on two three point field goal attempts in the final 14 seconds. The Lions led 30-25 at halftime and were seemingly in control most of the game.

The Hornets, though, rallied from a four point deficit, 43-39, to take a 49-43 lead midway through the final period. Bishop Moore never let up after gaining the lead but had to hold off a determined Oviedo team in the final moments.

Owen Busch led the Hornets with 21 points. with Dave Mayrofrides adding nine and John Guemple eight. Robbie Crager led Oviedo with 18 points with Phillips netting 15.

The Lions cut the lead back to three, 59-56, in the final minute and were helped by the poor free throw shooting by the Hornets late in the game (0 for 4 in the final 59 seconds).

Brad Bolton first missed a layup but Todd Tocco battled for the offensive rebound and the ball went out bounds off Bishop Moore. Bolton then took the inbounds pass and misfired on a three pointer that also went out of bounds and was also touched by Bishop Moore.

Bolton had one more chance that fell just short at the buzzer and Bishop Moore escaped with the narrow victory. The Hornets will now try to take on Jones who easily dismantled Edgewater.

Jones used its halfcourt trapping defense to confuse the Eagles and opened a 10 point lead early in the fourth quarter, 51-41, and never let it close to more than eight.

Tyrone Perry led the Tigers with 13 points with Clarence Anderson and Alex Mallory each chipping in 10. Alphonso Anderson and Donavon Williams each had 13 to lead Edgewater as Robert Hamiter and Darryl Wilson both chipped in eight.

Osceola placed four players in double figures and used a strong third quarter surge to run past St. Cloud. The Bulldogs hung tough in the first half but were outmanned by the bigger and quicker Kowboys in the second half of play.

Justin Thompson led Osceola with 18 points as Paul Shipe and Cortez Edwards each connected for 16 with Les Vermillion adding 11. St. Cloud was paced by Jeff Leaton with 14 points with Paul Kinsella adding 11 as Tim Gatz and Kevin Leaton each contributed 10.

'Hounds

"Patterson shoots 50 percent for us, so I had no problem with him taking the shot," said Lyman coach Tom Lawrence. 'We were pressing a lot and when we do that, Todd doesn't score a lot because he's giving the ball up."

Hooked up in an exciting give-and-take contest, the two teams alternated being in control. Lyman opened by taking an 11-8 lead at the end of the first quarter (Mike Whittington scoring all the points), an advantage that would grow to as much as eight in the second period before Lake Mary cut it to 24-23 at halftime. The third quarter was all Lake Mary as the Rams outscored the Hounds 17.5 to take a 40-29 lead entering the final eight minutes. But then it was Lyman's turn to surge again. going on a 26-15 run through the final stanza to tie the game at 55-55 and force overtime.

Again, Lyman went up early in the three-minute period, James Flint's bucket with 44 seconds left giving the Greyhounds a 61-57 lead. But back came the Rams as Bernard Mitchell hit one three-point basket and, after Mike Harden scored for Lyman, htt another three-pointer, was fouled and converted the free throw for a four-point play and a 64-63 Lake Mary lead with 13 seconds left. It wasn't over yet. In the final seconds, both Mitchell and Jeff Vaughon blocked Lyman shots before Patterson got the loose ball and drilled it home.

"It shouldn't have been that way," said Lake Mary coach Willie Richardson, "We just letthem back in it. We didn't take care of the ball. You have to protect the ball when you get a lead, but we weren't tough enough to do it and it cost us."

In Thursday's second game, the Lake Brantley Patriots were tough enough for three quarters. playing the No. 2-seed Hawks of going into the final quarter. But in the final eight minutes, the Hawks finally were able to put the Patriots in a position of having to play catch-up. Down the stretch, Spruce Creek's Mark Southall hit a pair of three pointers with his peculiar nojump Jumpshot. The Patriots pulled out all the stops to climb out of the hole getting to within two points twice. In fact, after David Bacchus hit a three-point attempt with 4:30 left in the game to pull the Pats to 56-54, neither team scored over the next 3:37 before Michael Pistoma scored for Spruce Creek. We put together a good half.

but we let them back into it just before halftime," said Lake Brantley assistant coach Frank Gooch. "When we have to play catch-up against a team like that, we're in trouble. We had to foul their shooters and they hit their shots." The same thing happened to Lake Howell in its game with DeLand. The Silver Hawks led 59-58 after Joseph Smith sank a free throw with 3:02 left in the game. But the Bulldogs scored the game's last nine points, five on free throws.

"We had three turnovers in a row late and that was the game," said Lake Howell caoch Steve Kohn, "That was it. We made three mistakes and they capitalized. They (DeLand) did a good job of taking Josh (Kohn, his son) out of the game in the second half and that hurt us, offensively.

Kohn the younger, who is just a freshman, was the game's leading scorer with 21 points, including five three-point goals. But of those 21, 16 came in the first half and the other five in the third quarter. With the game on the line, the Bulldogs through a defensive blanket over Kohn.

Mom upset that her thief got a reward

DEAR ABBY: Recently I was in a grocery store with my two daughters, ages 4 and 7. After we left. I discovered that my 4-year-old had taken some candy, so I made her go back in with me, apologize to the manager and return the candy.

To my amazement, the manager rewarded her for her "honesty" by giving her and her sister more candy than she had

Abby, please tell shopkeepers to reinforce parents' efforts to teach children that stealing is wrong. I'm alraid that shopkeeper gave the wrong message to my children. The 4-year-old felt like a hero in front of her big sister for getting even more candy than she had taken.

Please comment on this. MOM IN SNELLVILLE, GA.

DEAR MOM: You make a very important point. Rewarding a child lavishly for returning illgotten gains gives the child the Impression that stealing pays off. The shopkeeper should have praised the child for owning upto her wrongdoing and told her sternly never to take anything again.

Sanford museum has own history

By VICKI DeSORMIER Herald correspondent

SANFORD - In 1870, Henry Slielton Sanford stepped off a steamboat in what was then General Joseph Finnegan's land grant near Mellonville and liked what he saw. He liked it so much, in fact, that he bought the land.

Gen. Sanford the was given the honorary title of general) was an investor, diplomat, ambassador to Belgium and head of the U.S. Secret Service in Europe during the American Civil War. He never actually lived in the area year-round. However, he did winter in the area for many years.

The Florida Land and Colonization Company, a Londonbased company that he founded to bring settlers to the area, built a thriving town along the St. Johns River.

It was here that Gen. Sanford had his grove and experimental garden, Belair. At the groves he grew not only citrus, but bananas, guavas and other exotte tropical plants.

Gen. Shelton had hoped to retire and build his home in the town his vision had built. He never realized that dream, but his wife, Gertrude, willed his books and documents to the city of Sanford in 1901. After much trouble and

"It took several years to build," noted the museum's curator. Aliela Clarke. "At first, it was just a small room that was built to duplicate the library of his Connecticut home. But in 1974, they added the wings on either side."

Gen. Sanford left a legacy that Included some 55,000 docution, which was indexed and put works of William Shakespeare. on interofilm by the Tennessee State Archives, are letters from Clarke explained. "These were

IN HIS HANDS

Once upon a time, as the tale goes, there was an old man in a small village

After striking up a conversation with the old man, the child, noticing that he had Bearded and gray, he sat in the square watching children play. Occasionally, one of something cupped in his hands, finally asks, "What is that in your hands?" "A small bird," the old man replies. "Can I see it?" asks the child, He answers, "Before I open my hands, can you tell me is the bird alive or not?"

If the child says, "It is alive," then the old man would gently squeeze his hands together and as they opened, the child would see that the bird was trieless. If the child replies, "I hear no chirping, I'm sure it lant alive," men the old man would open his

Stories are a way to hold a congregation's attention

One summer when I was in the parish ministry in Boston, I read the story of Joseph and his brothers in serial form to my congregation on Sunday

This moving story of human passions and familial intrigue, of deceit and pathos, and ultimately of reunion and reconciliation takes up 13 chapters in the book of Genesis — too long to be read as a Bible lesson on a single Sunday. (There are 459 verses.)

So I broke the story up into parts and read a section of the dramatic narrative each week. One man who had come to church for the first time when I was just beginning the story told me at the end of the summer that he came each Sunday just to find out how the story was ! going to end.

I was not the first person to discover that storytelling is a good way to hold a congregation's attention.

In his new book, "The Protestant Clergy in the Great Plains and Mountain West, 1865-1915" (University of New Mexico Press). Ferenc Morton Szasz. professor of history at the University of New Mexico, tells about Charles Sheldon, pastor of the Central Congregational Church in Topeka. Kan., in the late 19th century.

'To holster his sagging Sunday evening services," writes Szasz, "Sheldon began reading to his congregation from chapters of a novel he had written. Like later TV serials, he left his audiences hanging in suspense when he broke off his narrative for the night."

He soon found his church filled to overflowing. When he wrote another novel. "In His Steps," in 1896, he continued the practice with the same good results. Not only that, "In His Steps" became a huge best seller, and Szasz says it is still in

The plot of the book is this: Rev. Henry Maxwell asks the members of his congregation to make a vow that for one year they will ask themselves, "What would Jesus do?" before undertaking any action. In the novel we learn how a TERPRISE ASSN.

Roman Catholic bishops prepare for their summit meeting with Pope John Paul II over Vatican concerns that the American church has become too unruly, the pontiff faces new outbreaks of dissent — this time in Europe.

The issue are similar to those that have racked the church in the United States, creating strains at all levels of the institution and not least between the bishops in the United States and church officials in Rome.

One of those issues rekindling the spirit of European dissent is the church's ban on artificial birth control. Another, which also resonates among U.S. bishops and theologians, is John Paul's heavy-handed use of papal authority.

The new challenge came first from the Rev. Bernard Haring, a West German ethicist, long considered one of the world's most eminent Catholic moral theologians.

Writing in the Italian Catholic magazine Il Regno (The Kingdom), Haring urged John Paul to reopen the church debate on birth control by calling a consultation of bishops, theologians and members of the Church opposition to birth control was most specifically spelled out in 1968 in Pope Paul VI's encyclical "Humanae Vitae" ("Of Human Life"). At that time, it was met with widespread protest and dissent, especially among laity, parish priests and theologians, and resulted in the alienation of large numbers of Catholics from the church.

In the United States and Europe, the ban was generally ignored by lay Catholica and left unenforced by local priests. John Paul, however, has in recent years began to put renewed stress on the teaching. prompting Haring's concern.

obedience of our intelligence." Haring said his call for a new look at the teaching was to prevent the abandoment of the church by lay Catholics "from assuming even more catastrophic dimensions."

In his article, Haring also objected to what he said were lists of "approved" theologians and "reliable" candidates for appointment as bishop that were circulated by Vatican conservatives.

At the same time Haring's concerns were being volced, 163 German-speaking theologians from West Germany, the Netherlands, Austria and Switzerland, issued a statement criticizing John Paul's use of papal authority, both in his appointments and the divisive Issue of birth control.

What prompted the new statement, known as the Cologne Statement, was John Paul's recent appointment of Cardinal Joachim Meisner considered a hardline conservative - to be archbishop of Cologne, one of the most influential posts in the European church.

"We are witnesses of a theologically very questionable attempt to overstep the papal jurisdictional and teaching competence and to make it unacceptably prevailing," the theologians said of John Paul's campaign to make the ban on birth control more central to church teaching.

They also charged that the pontiff violated what has become the accepted procedure of appointing bishops in the Meisner case, calling it "scandalous to change the ... rules in the middle of the procedure."

Because these issues are American as well as European, they will form a significant part of the backdrop when the 35 Last year, marking the 20th U.S. prelates thrash out the anniversary of the ban, John situation of the church here Paul said there can be no during the March 8-11 meeting.

WASHINGTON - Even as researchers reported "conthe Middle Ages, another setentist charged that dating tests did not consider possible radiation from Jesus's resurrection.

In an article Wednesday in three prestigious laboratories officially released results of radiocarbon dating tests on the shroud - a piece of cloth 14 feet long by 3 feet wide that appears to bear the scorehed image of a crucifled man - which some believe was used to wrap Christ's body.

Although the Roman Catholic Church has never declared the shroud to be authentic, it has been widely venerated by generations of believers. The results, which were generally discussed last year. provided conclusive evidence that the linen of the Shroud of Turin is medieval," most likely dating from between 1260 to 1390, the researchers wrote.

The radiocarbon dating generally agrees with the shroud's first appearance in the 1350s in Lirey, France, where a knight presented it to the local church. It was brought to Turin, lialy, in

In 1987, church officials finally permitted scientific tests to be run on a small piece of the shroud, leading to the report published by Nature.

But in a letter published in the same journal, a Harvard University physicist sought to keep the controversy alive by suggesting the scorched image on the shroud may have been made by energy emitted from a resurrecting body. Thomas Phillips, a researcher with Harvard's High Energy Physics Laboratory. contends if the shroud was Christ's burial cloth, it would clusive evidence" the Shroud have been present "at a of Turin only dates back to unique physical event: The resurrection of a dead body.

Phillips speculated that such a resurrection could have radiated light, heat or even neutrons, which are atomic particles that could the British journal Nature, change the chemical make-up of the shroud and upset the accuracy of radiocarbon dating methods.

But Oxford University's Robert Hedges, who was part of the dating efforts, criticized Phillips' scenario as "exceedingly remote."

In a written response, Hedges said Phillips offers no mechanism to explain why a resurrection would be accompanied by a flow of neutrons out of the body.

"If a supernatural explanation is to be proposed, it seems pointless to make any scientific measurement on the shroud at all," Hedges wrote.

Phillips said the radiocarbon tests are the first results from years of scientific investigation to indicate the shroud is not authentic. He said no scientist has been able to explain how an artist could create the three-dimensional image and other studies have shown that most of the pollen on the linen shroud came from "around Jerusalem."

As early as 1389, however, French Bishop Pierre D'Arcis reported to Pope Clement VII that the shroud was a forgery and that the artist who had created it had confessed.

Phillips said he thinks further tests should be performed to investigate his theory of neutron radiation. preferrably using cloth taken from a different area of the shroud.

"If we demand absolute certainty, we shall have to rely on faith," he said.

Bishops ask that Supreme Court overturn abortion law

United Press International

WASHINGTON - Saying lawful abortions have failed to solve medical and family problems, the nation's Roman Catholic bishops Thursday asked the Supreme Court to rethink its 16-year-old ruling that legalized the procedures.

"To be true to its constitutional roots and history, the court should courageously label excess for what it is and promise to begin a thoughtful reconsideration of abortion Jurisprudence," the U.S. Catholic Conference said in a friend-of-thecourt brief.

The conference is the social policy arm of U.S. Roman Catholic bishops, who number more than 300.

The brief was filed in connection with the abortion case Webster vs. Reproductive Health Services," which the court has agreed to hear and which activists on both sides of the issue believe could lead to significant crosion of the law legalizing most abortions.

The Reagan administration just two days after the November election - before the court had agreed to hear the case - also asked the justices to use the Webster case to reconsider its abortion rulings. More briefs are expected to be filed by opponents of abortion and pro-choice

The bishops asked the Supreme Court to review the 1973 "Roc vs. Wade" decision.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've had a sore throat for three years. Doctors say it's an allergy. Breathing and swallowing hurt. My tonsils were removed when I

DEAR READER: Chronic patellar subluxation simply means that the kneecap is too loosely attached to the knee joint and may tend to slip out of place, usually during strenuous exercise. I doubt that your daughter will have any major problems for years, at least until her bones and joints mature.

However, she may eventually have to be cautious during athletic activity, particularly sports that involve running and jumping.

You would be prudent to get an opinion from an orthopedic surgeon. Although such a bone-and-joint specialist may choose to do nothing for the time being, it's important that your daughter have periodic checkups to assess what effects her growth is having on her knees and — if the time should

Congressman indicted on delinquency charge

United Press International

COLUMBUS. Ohlo - Rep. Donald Lukens, R-Ohio, says he is innocent of a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor for allegedly having sex with a 16-year-old girl.

Lukens, 57, was indicted on the charge Thursday by a Franklin County grand jury, which rejected a prosecutor's request for a felony indictment because of conflicting testimony.

"I do categorically deny that I contributed to the delinquency or unruliness of a minor and I further categorically deny the accuracy of the alleged facts upon which the charge was apparently based. I am innocent of the charge brought forth today," Lukens said Thursday in a statement released by his Washington office.

The congressman is accused of having sex with Rosie Coffman at his Columbus apartment on Nov. 6, 1988, said Franklin County Prosecutor Michael Miller.

Miller asked the grand jury to return an indictment involving an alleged incident with the girl in 1985 - which would have been a felony because she was then 13 - but one witness gave conflicting testimony and another could not be located.

The contributing-to-delinquency charge, a first-degree misdemeanor, carries a maximum penalty of 180 days in Jail and a $1,000 fine.

A Columbus television station reported Jan. 31 that Coffman's mother said her daughter had sex with Lukens in 1985 - when Lukens was a state senator and the girl was 13 - in exchange for

Lukens, while denying the misdemeanor charge, expressed satisfaction that he had not been accused of a felony, saying, "I am equally pleased that the grand Jury found no evidence for the basis of serious charges.

"I am equally pleased that the FBI cleared me of wrongdoing from their perspective and that they came forward with their decision in a timely fashion."

The FBI investigation referred to whether he offered the girl's mother a government job in return for her promise of silence.

The television station placed a hidden microphone on Coffman's mother, Anna, when she confronted Lukens at a fast-food restaurant last fall. She told the station Lukens admitted spending time with her daughter and with other girls and that he offered her a government job as a bribe.

"I was angry that he might have been using my daughter," so she telephoned Lukens and arranged the meeting at a McDonald's restaurant. "I told him who I was and that he was messing around with a minor."

On the tape, Coffman can be heard saying, "I am concerned about my daughter, her welfare. I can't understand why a man in your position, why you are messing around with this teenager."

A man's voice, identified as that of Lukens, can be heard replying: "I didn't know she was under age."

It also is clear on the tape that the man knew Coffman's daughter and at least one of the girl's friends.

The grand jury heard from four witnesses, including Roste Coffman. but Lukens did not testify.

Lukens, a staunch conservative who represents several counties between Cincinnati and Dayton in southwest Ohio, was elected in 1986 and re-elected last November by a wide margin.

Jenrette to appeal shoplifting conviction

Trial was set for May 18 for the disbarred attorney who lost his seat in Congress after his 1980 conviction for accepting a bribe in the FBI Abscam Jenrette, 52, was sentenced Thursday to 90 days in jail on each of the two shoplifting counts, with 75 days suspended on each. Fairfax County General serve 15 days.

Jenrette also was fined $1,000 on each count, with $500 suspended on each for a total of $1,000.

He declined to comment on the verdict, which came after a three-hour, non-lury trial. Defense attorneys said the sentence was "outrageous" and requested a jury

Jenrette served 13 months in prison for his Abscam conviction, is on parole for that charge, and remains free on his Store detectives testified they saw Jenrette steal a pair of shoes and a tie and switch price tags on a shirt and a pair of pants.

Jenrette said he already owned the tie and brought it into the store to compare it with another tie he was thinking of buying. He also denied switching the price tags and said he intended to pay for the shoes.

Jenrette, who owns a public relations and consulting firm in Myrtle Beach, S.C., and is trying to regain his law license, said he left the store before he paid for the shoes because he was afraid
