NATIONAL REPORT: A massive winter storm, dumping snow in the north and freezing rain in the south, headed for the East Coast today, leaving behind at least 20 persons dead and communities buried or flooded. Three persons were killed in Oklahoma and another in Illinois. Two persons were missing and presumed lost when a private plane skidded off a slick runway at Chicago's Maigs Field and plunged into Lake Michigan. In Chicago, a steady snow caused a rash of accidents Wednesday and police put an emergency traffic plan into effect to help handle the problem. Officials at O'Hare International Airport said flights were delayed between five and 10 minutes. Six inches of snow in southern Indiana snarled traffic and forced many schools to cancel classes.

Lance Trial Postponed

ATLANTA (UPI) - Inclement weather across north Georgia forced the pestponement today of the bank fraud trial of former federal budget director Bert Lance and three co-defendants.

Gary Drake. G Gr U.S. District Judge Charles A. Moye Jr., said today a "bad situation" exists in many north Georgia counties where some of the defendants, witnesses and jurors live. In co-defendant Richard T Carr's hometown of Ringgold, near the Tennessee border, Drake said there were reports of no water, no heat and icing along residential streets.

Carr and one juror have been commuting to the trial, about 100 miles each day. Judge Moye had told Carr and juror James C. Collins, who lives in Blueridge, to call him with a weather report early today.

Dollar Must Be Strengthened, Too

International events have pushed America's domestic problems off the front page. Probably no one is more aware of this than President Carter. His low standing in opinion polls last summer reflected a decline of confidence in his ability to lead the country out of the mire of economic and energy problems which were then uppermost in

His resurgence in the polls has reflected sympathy and support for his efforts to deal with the Iranian hostage crisis and the new Soviet threat in the Middle East. This has set the tone for the president's political posture going into his reelection campaign, and we see it in the presentation of his annual State of the Union message to

We cannot fault the president for his sense of priorities, even if enunciating a new "Carter because party strategists are predicting Doctrine" in foreign policy amounts to playing his substantial gains on Capitol Hill. And not just Doctrine" in foreign policy amounts to playing his strong suit politically. The Soviet union is mounting a challenge to the free world that is immediate and dangerous. What the president intends to do about it does indeed over-shadow the domestic concerns treated in the rest of his of Representatives will go to the GOP come

Yet those concerns have not diminished at all in terms of their own threat to the weifare of our progress to the pro pols behind the scenes.
That's because House seats are won on local country and its future. We remain confronted, as levels, congressional district by we were last summer, by the question of the congressional district. It has nothing to do Carter adminstration's domestic stewardship - with who heads the ticket; instead, it reflects its programs and policies relating to our economic how the party is doing at the far more im-

We hear the president saying his "most immediate legislative priority" is the passage of a picking. In three cases, the Democratic in windfall profits tax on the oil industry which may inhibit rather than stimulate the domestic oil production the country sorely needs. Six of the districts are in California. There for states and cities — a sharing of "revenue" which the federal government obviously doesn't have since it plans to borrow $16.6 billion to cover

The State of the Union is that America needs to shore up its own defenses and provide new military aid to its allies while managing economic and energy problems that are staggering enough in their own right. The fact that the Russian bear effective campaign organizations. Special is gobbling up Afghanistan and may be hungering for more is a new crisis for Mr. Carter, but not a substitute for those which seemed to be overwhelming his administration six months ago.

If a "Carter Doctrine" is to succeed in mobilizing resistance to the Soviet threat, the leadership must come from a country that has the economic strength as well as the military strength to lead. The scramble to convert American dollars into gold makes one wonder if Mr. Carter's first problem is not still here at home, where there has been little progress in evolving federal policies that would restore the integrity of our own

Attorney William Tunkey, however, said the charges were blown up to conceal the real reason for arrests: Marcias led 27 people out of Cuba in a daring escape aboard a stolen 60-foot fishing boat in 1973. The other three men were arrested because they were friends of Marcias, Tunkey said.

Schools Need Extra Funds TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI)- Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington says public schools and colleges need another $178 million to get by in 1960-81 because of skyrocketing utility bills and more students Turlington asked Gov. Bob Graham Wednesday t include in the supplemental budget recommendation he will make to the Legislature Feb. 22 an extra $132 million for general operations and an extra $45 million for construction and purchase of school buses. School districts, colleges and universities also need money to raise teachers' salaries to keep pace with inflation, he said, but that's a problem affecting all public employees and one the Legislature may have to put off dealing with until the 1981 session.

School Borrowing To End?

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI)—House Education Chairman Richard Hodes, D-Tampa, says the state can stop borrowing for school construction "in a very few years" and handle new buildings on a pay-as-you-Hodes made the prediction Wednesday after hearing a report that public education officials at all levels have been over-estimating their building needs for As a result, the state has more classrooms than it needs in some areas and not enough in others.

Auditor: Control Paperwork

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Auditor General Ernest Ellison doubts that all 3,500 publications put out by the state last year were necessary and he want stricter controls on what is printed. Ellison listed the publications — which cost $7.1 million — in a special report released Wednesday and urged state agencies to cut down on the paperwork they're grinding out.
Only $935,774 of the total costs were offset by subscription charges or paid advertising.

Algae Grows In Test Lake

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI)- A central Florida lake where scientists are studying the effectiveness of the white amur fish in controlling aquatic weeds has developed a big increase in algae, it was revealed

But, because of intense population growth around Lake Conway near Orlando, a U. S. Army Corps of Engineers expert said the appearance of the algae may be attributable to man and not the water weed-eating Reporting on preliminary findings of a five-year Corps study, University of Florida environmental engineering sciences professor Dr. Thomas L. Crismen said the fish had "drastically reduced" aquatic weeds, which have hampered navigation in a growing number of waterways in the Southeast.

Families Get Help

ARRIVE ALIVE PORTSMOUTH, Va. (UPI) — A group of Navy chaplains, psychiatrists and psychologists will provide emotional aid to the families of those killed when a Coast Guard bouy tender sank in Tampa Bay. Eleven members of the Navy's Special Psychiatric Rapid Intervention Team - SPRINT - were dispatched early

Late Wednesday, the Coast Guard said survivors in the sunken vessel and the fate of some of the 23 crewmen lost when the tender collided with an oil tanker will never be known.

Twenty-seven of the tender's 50 crewmen survived after Monday night's collision with the 560-foot tanker S.S. Capricorn. The bodies of six crewmen have been found, but 17 "Basically, we're supporting the psychological needs of the survivors and families," said David Deliz, a spokesman at

'King Kong' Carlton Snaps Leash, Lake Howell Sticks Lyman 32-27

Herald Sports Writer It wouldn't have taken a sympathy card to feel compassion for Lyman's inexperienced Jeff Brannen as he faced off with Lake Howell's answer to King Kong - Carlton Blocker -

Wednesday night at Lyman. All Brannen, a junior varsity 223-pound wrestler all year, had to do was turn the cradle on Blocker to pull the Hounds within 32-30 and set the stage for Heavyweight Steve Schofield. Which would be like holding King Kong on a dog leash.

As expected the leash snapped, Blocker blasted Brannen to the mat and 53 seconds later Lake Howell had upped its lead enough to survive a last match forfeit and whip Lyman 32-27.

"I hadn't planned on wrestling him," said a discouraged Brannen about Blocker, the Five Star Conference champion. The man who was doing the planning though, was Hawk Coach Frank Schwartz, who claimed his first dual meet win over the Hounds. Howell is 9-2 for the year.

Prior to Wednesday night Schwartz reasoned that if necessary he would move the monstrous Blocker up a class to take on the mountain-like Schofield. When Schwartz saw he could end things early, he shifted David Manuel down a class to 170, forfeited 188 and sent Blocker in for the kill at his usual 223.

The strategy worked. Blocker's quick pin gave the Hawks an insurmountable 32-21 lead with only the unlimited division left. Howell was caught one man short in its upper weights when Brock Counts (UNL) went down with a dislocated elbow in the Brannen meanwhile, was subbing for two men. John Lawrence was shelved with an injury from a car wreck and his standin Scott Farmer had academic difficulties. Another Greyhound Todd Voeks (101) didn't have any difficulty getting Lyman out to a quick lead as he disposed of John Giertych with a second period pin for a 6-0 Hounds bulge.

Howell's Joe Butko (108) retaliated with a 22-10 major swamping of Steve Sears to make it 6-5 Lyman. Hawk Doug Lasley (115) gave Howell a premature 8-6 lead as the talented "At this stage of the season Lasley's westling better than anyone," Schwartz said of his four year grappler.
