

AMERICAN FEDERATION WANTS LAW REPEALED THAT PROHIBITS LIQUOR

Would Permit Light Wines and Beers In- stead of Liquors SAYS BIG FAILURE

AND THAT ENFORCEMENT MAKES CONTEMPT OF LAW AND A FARCE

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Repeal of the Volstead prohibition enforcement act and substitution of a measure permitting sale of light wines and beer was urged yesterday by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor in a statement which called upon all citizens to join with labor organizations in a campaign with these objects in view. The statement denounced the Volstead act as "a social and moral failure," and "a dangerous breeder of discontent and contempt for all law."

The council, which concluded a week's session Saturday night, previously announced its intention to participate in the congressional elections through a non-partisan campaign committee which will endorse and oppose candidates of major political parties, or enter independents if that course is considered most effective.

"Before this decision was reached," the council's announcement said "there was caused to be made an exhaustive investigation of the Volstead act. It was shown by this investigation that there had been:

"A general disregard of the law among all classes of people, including those who made the law.

"Creation of thousands of moonshiners among both country and city dwellers.

"Creation of an army of bootleggers.

"An amazing increase in the traffic in poisons and deadly concoctions and drugs.

"An increased rate of insanity, blindness and crime among the users of these concoctions and drugs.

"Increase in unemployment.

"Increase in taxes to city, state, and national governments amounting to approximately one thousand million dollars per year."

The federation did not protest against the constitutional amendment embodying the prohibition policy, the statement emphasized, but considered the Volstead act "an improper interpretation of the amendment" and stood instead for "reasonable interpretation in order that the law be enforceable and enforced."

No charges against Frady have been made but a deputy has been stationed in the hospital and he is technically in custody. Guests at the hotel said Frady seemed unusually jealous. Twenty-Five Thousand Loss and Many Business Houses

THEATRE IS SAVED

(By The Associated Press)
MOUNT DORA, Feb. 27.—The loss from yesterday's fire in the business section here was placed today at $25,000, with practically no insurance. The fire started in a pressing shop and destroyed among other concerns the local telephone exchange. Women of the town assisted the fire fighters battling blaze and Leesburg and Eustis fire departments sent aid. Six business concerns were destroyed.

Early estimates place the other losses as follows:

Silas & Thayer's City Market, meats, etc., $2,000.
Simpson's Mount Dora Bakery, $2,500.

Lake County Telephone Company, telephone exchange, $1,500.
Parker's Cafe, Restaurant, $1,500.
Frank Rutherford's O. K. Barber Shop, $1,000.

The Sutorium, pressing and cleaning, $500.
A. D. Donnelly and James Simpson, buildings of doubtful value.

From the ruins of what was the worst looking of the city business section, it now appears probable there will rise fine new business blocks. It is probable also that the old theatre-town hall, another old building that has detracted from the appearance of the business district, will be moved to make room for making the improvements.

Women and children joined the bucket brigade that started in to fight the fire, and the Leesburg fire department made the run in quick time, headed by Mayor W. A. McKenzie. The big pumper lifted water from Lake Dora, an elevation of seventy feet, sent it three blocks to the scene of the fire and with enough force to carry a full stream of water to the top of the fire.

The combined efforts saved adjoining buildings on both ends of the fire zone and compliments were heaped on the woman and the Leesburg fire fighters.

The telephone company moved to the town hall and last night was functioning, though under some handicaps.

MEMBER THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wonderful prospects for the crops.

Weather could be cooler and we are looking for it this week.

The American Legion is looking forward to a big time at Palm Beach. Wish we could be with the boys down there.

That sermon about "millions now living will never die" would not go so big at Hollywood. They kill people there most every day.

While talking about good investments what is the matter with home investments? There are plenty of good things here to be exploited, but because they are local affairs nobody wants them.

There are still several dilapidated old buildings on many of the streets of Sanford. Others were condemned and torn down. Just why are these other buildings allowed to stand, Mr. Commissioners?

Radical Russia will go to the Geneva conference ready to grant all the concessions asked provided they can negotiate a loan. In other words, they are starving now, but once they get fat again they will tell the nations of the world where to go.

There is good hotel stock for sale in Sanford—stock that is gilt edge and means so much to the community. Home people run over good investments at home looking for something further away. Where is that money that was coming here for new buildings?

Plenty of clear water lakes, plenty of springs, plenty of pure water in and around Sanford—yet we are compelled to pay for water that is not the kind Sanford should demand. It is high time that something was being done looking toward a water supply of better water—soft water.

Other Florida cities seem to have no trouble in getting all the money they want for new buildings. Here in Sanford, where the need is great, there seems to be a dearth of money for investment in real estate—the most solid and substantial investment in the world. We can never build a city here unless we invest our money in home enterprises. It is high time the home people were paying more attention to home affairs.

Sanford has some of the best factories in the state but the home people know very little about them. We take them as a matter of course, just as the average man looks upon the daily newspaper. They never stop to think what the local factories are putting out here every week in pay rolls. We should do more toward the support of home industries and find out what they need in the way of support—support of money and support by helping them in many ways.

And so a submarine can't sink a battleship and isn't permitted to sink a merchant ship. Well, well, they can still play havoc with friendship.

WE HAVE SPACE TO SELL.

The public knows so little about the making of a newspaper that the people are prone to attempt to ride free space notices to death or rather to ride the newspaper to death. We have spoken of this several times but it seems that we have to speak of it again. While we want all the local news that we can get and are ready at all times to publish anything of local interest there is no reason in the world why a column or so of something that only interests one person in Sanford should be given space. It costs money to set type, it costs money to put it into print and yet the general public seems to think a newspaper should be printed for nothing, should accept every long-winded article thrust upon it, should print free notices all the time, should serve the public without pay. There is just as much sense in asking a newspaper for free space as to ask the groceryman for free groceries, the clothing man for free clothes, the auto man for a free auto. Space is the newspaper's stock in trade and while the newspaper is willing to go the limit with free notices it is a lead pipe cinch that there must be a stopping place and whenever we say stop you can stop and regardless of whether it makes the public mad or not the stop will be right there. The editor of the Herald reserves the right to accept or reject any and all matter that goes into the paper and regardless of whether it suits the "free spacer" or not this rule will be adhered to at all times. Space is our stock in trade and we sell it. The Eustis Lake Region has been rode also and says the following regarding the "free rides."

"Lest you forget, we will take time again to remind you that the Lake Region's space is its stock in trade and as such has a monetary value. It is priced the same to all, irrespective of politics, creed, class or condition, provided it is not used to advertise something illegal or undesirable. Editorially, we boost everything we consider legitimate and which redounds to the upbuilding of our town, county and state, but we must reserve our advertising space for those who advertise as a business proposition and who are willing to pay a dollar for value received in advertising."

CAPITAL SITE REFERENDUM

The Tampa Tribune takes up the question of the referendum vote of the people on the capital site. The Palatka Chamber of Commerce has taken up this idea and the Tampa Board of Trade has endorsed such a move and it seems that at last this question of capital removal may be taken up seriously and in a business-like way. A year ago The Tribune and the Tampa Board of Trade called on the people of Southern Florida, meaning by that term, all Florida south of the 30th parallel of north latitude, or thereabout, to decide among themselves where they wanted the state capital in case of its removal could be obtained. It pointed out, then, and repeatedly since, that unless some place was decided on and the rest of the peninsular part of the state pledged to support that place, the capital would stay in Tallahassee. The Palatka Chamber of Commerce has called for a convention to be held March 13th.

"For the purpose of formulating and completing a capital removal association, entailing memberships, drafting of constitution and by-laws, electing officers, and appointing requisite committees, we invite you to select a delegate or delegates to attend a convention to be held at a point pleasing to a majority on March 13, 1922. Your delegate should be employed to act fully in behalf of your organization." That is an excellent idea. Let the convention be held in Tampa, a city which is strictly neutral in the matter of a site, though persistently demanding for capital removal. Here would be no possible advantage to be taken of any place in the running; and even this convention could not fix the place for peninsula Florida's choice in the removal election which would have to be held, it could thresh out all problems and make the necessary arrangements for the next, and proper step, a referendum of the site question to the voters of Peninsula Florida.

And here steps in the Tampa Board of Trade with a resolution which the Tribune most heartily endorses:

"Whereas, There is every year renewed agitation, particularly in peninsula Florida, for state capital removal, and,

"Whereas, no progress has been made because of the several cities demanding that they be the new proposed state capital, and,

"Whereas, the apparent demand of at least 80 per cent of the voting strength of the state appears to be insisting on legal steps being taken this year toward settlement of the question, and,

"Whereas, the apparent demand of at least 80 per cent of the voting

strength of the state appears to be insisting on legal steps being taken this year toward settlement of the question, and,

"Whereas, until some specific city town or locality has been agreed on by all contenders for the proposed new honor, any steps taken will be leading only to the nowhere of past efforts, therefore be it

"Resolved, by the Board of Trade of the City of Tampa, that proper arrangements be made at the approaching primary election for a referendum to the people of Peninsula Florida on the question of location of said proposed new capital and the place selected shall receive the support of all peninsula Florida in any state-wide capital removal campaign, and,

"Resolved further, that "Peninsula Florida" as referred to in this resolution shall be all of the state extended between the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic ocean, south of the north boundary lines of Dixie, Alachua, Putnam and Flagler counties." Call the convention. Meet in Tampa, settle the preliminaries of expense, bearing, getting the campaign well before the people, and arrange properly for the referendum which can be taken at the time of the June primary by having a separate box for the capital site ballots. Then we will be ready to arouse the proper interest in this vital matter to all the state.

For, until, and unless, Southern Florida is agreed on one site, and unless the various contending cities, towns, and localities pledge themselves to stand by the place named in the referendum vote, and then do actually stand by it, there is no use wasting space in papers, breath in meetings, or effort in personal endeavor for capital removal, when it will result as did the former attempt years ago, in a divided vote keeping the capital where it is.

There is no use talking now of "state division"; of fairer apportionment of representation in the legislature; of an equitable division of the political offices and the state tax money, with control in the hands of those in power; but a question of capital removal can be forced, and it will be then up to the people to do what they want, provided they are solid in their demand for a particular place, and so numerous in their whole voting strength as to show the legislature where the real power lies behind the throne.

By all means let us have the convention; and let the referendum be arranged.

CAN'T AGREE AMONG THEMSELVES.

We note that Palatka is peeved because of a resolution that Tampa has approved which might change the proposed site of the new capital of the state to Tampa. Palatka wants the proposed convention as well as Tampa and because of so much jealousy between the different towns, the issue that should be most prominent—that of bringing the state capital into Florida proper—is being lost sight of. The first thing is to bring enough pressure to bear through the election of men who favor a capital change and then next to quit squabbling over where that capital or convention shall be.

South Florida pays 75 per cent of the taxes of the state; Polk county will this year pay almost $60,000 into that automobile tax fund and most of that money will be used in building roads in north Florida counties, while we get nothing and it has been proven that regardless of the fact that north and west Florida have the edge over South Florida by way of representation and can out vote us on any measure, yet they have never recognized or appreciated that fact and never will, until forced to do so. Their gratitude for paying a majority of the taxes and for doing the road building for them as well as being responsible for the progress of the state in every way, has been expressed more in the way of sarcasm and bulldozing than anything else and we don't believe that anything will ever be accomplished until enough men in the legislature go to the halls of the capital at the next session determined that they will never give north or west Florida another favorable vote until the constitution of Florida is lived up to and absolute reapportionment given. The trouble today is that too many of the lawmakers go in to play politics and they do it to a fare-you-well, sitting around about four weeks working up trades and bickers with the north and west Florida gang, so that they can work through some personal or selfish measure of their own and when the real time comes for getting down to law-making they find that the deals have been closed and nothing can be accomplished unless it absolutely favors the political gang of the state.

North and west Florida politicians have always controlled the state affairs. They absolutely dictate the policies and the laws that Florida has. We believe that the time has come to put a stop to such bickering with the people's interest and for the South Florida bunch to organize and sit tight at the next session and refuse to budge, thus giving those ungrateful and selfish fellows a dose of their own medicine. It is certain that the results cannot be any worse than they have been.—Lakeland Star.

WONDERFUL INCREASE IN PER CAPITA WEALTH.

What considerations guided men to the 2,673 per cent, increase in the wealth of the United States during the 62 years between 1850 and 1912? Our per capita wealth was estimated at $307.69 in 1850. It was estimated at $1,965 in 1912. There has been a steady increase since that time, yet the above figures should be sufficient to reveal the great increase that has taken place and cause us to pause and ponder the principles which have guided men to this remarkable achievement.

If we analyze the situation carefully, we find that sound investments have played a leading part. Under the froth of more conspicuous investments of a speculative nature has been steadily growing a less conspicuous body of investments in which are present most, if not all, of the elements essential to a steady increase in per capita wealth. These elements, as Lawrence Chamberlain has pointed out, are as follows:

- 1. Security of principal—the certainty that the money invested will be returned some time in the future.
2. A fair income return.
3. Stability of income—the assurance that the income will be paid promptly at stated intervals, and that the rate of income will not decrease during the life of the investment.
4. Marketability—the quality which makes it possible for the investment to be converted into immediately available funds.
5. Value as collateral—value sufficient to make the investment useful as security for a loan.
6. Exemption from taxation.
7. Freedom from care—simplicity of administration.
8. Acceptable duration.
9. Acceptable denomination.
10. Potential appreciation—the chance that during the life of the investment its market value will be increased.

STATE DIVISION.

The question of the removal of the state capital from Tallahassee, to some more centrally located point seems to be taking concrete form since the Palatka chamber of commerce issued its invitation to other civic bodies in South and Central Florida to send delegates to a conference to be held at some convenient place on the 15th of March to discuss and formulate plans to carry on the fight for capital removal, or rather for a referendum vote on the question of where the new capital should be located. Half a loaf is better than no bread at all, but as long as there are grounds upon which to stand and fight the Lake Region is going to stand by its guns and battle for state division. If the question narrows down to one of the removal of the capital ten, yes twenty years from now will find us in the same position we are occupying today. The questions of capital removal and state division are the off-springs of two things: Failure of the legislature to reapportion the state and an unequal distribution of the state taxes for road building. It is admitted that North and West Florida have the advantage over peninsula Florida in the matter of representation and that they have not hesitated to use that advantage in refusing a reapportionment. Then it stands to reason that the same advantage will be used to balk any effort to remove the capital from Tallahassee. The same forces that have heretofore prevented reapportionment, contrary to the express provision of the constitution, it is claimed, will use their advantage more relentlessly than ever, to keep the capital at the same location, and will still oppose reapportionment for the same reason. That the same influences will oppose state division there is no doubt, but not to the extent they would capital removal. If the state were divided, leaving Tallahassee the seat of government of North Florida the opposition would not be so determined nor so tyrannical on the question of removing the capital. There are many other reasons why the state should be divided, many of which have been discussed before, but the question of feasibility alone should be sufficient to govern the acts of those who are dissatisfied with the present regime.—Eustis Lake Region.

Wonderful prospects for the crops.

Weather could be cooler and we are looking for it this week.

The American Legion is looking forward to a big time at Palm Beach. Wish we could be with the boys down there.

That sermon about "millions now living will never die" would not go so big at Hollywood. They kill people there most every day.

While talking about good investments what is the matter with home investments? There are plenty of good things here to be exploited, but because they are local affairs nobody wants them.

There are still several dilapidated old buildings on many of the streets of Sanford. Others were condemned and torn down. Just why are these other buildings allowed to stand, Mr. Commissioners?

Radical Russia will go to the Geneva conference ready to grant all the concessions asked provided they can negotiate a loan. In other words, they are starving now, but once they get fat again they will tell the nations of the world where to go.

There is good hotel stock for sale in Sanford—stock that is gilt edge and means so much to the community. Home people run over good investments at home looking for something further away. Where is that money that was coming here for new buildings?

Plenty of clear water lakes, plenty of springs, plenty of pure water in and around Sanford—yet we are compelled to pay for water that is not the kind Sanford should demand. It is high time that something was being done looking toward a water supply of better water—soft water.

Other Florida cities seem to have no trouble in getting all the money they want for new buildings. Here in Sanford, where the need is great, there seems to be a dearth of money for investment in real estate—the most solid and substantial investment in the world. We can never build a city here unless we invest our money in home enterprises. It is high time the home people were paying more attention to home affairs.

Sanford has some of the best factories in the state but the home people know very little about them. We take them as a matter of course, just as the average man looks upon the daily newspaper. They never stop to think what the local factories are putting out here every week in pay rolls. CAPITAL SITE REFERENDUM

The Tampa Tribune takes up the question of the referendum vote of the people on the capital site. The Palatka Chamber of Commerce has taken up this idea and the Tampa Board of Trade has endorsed such a move and it seems that at last this question of capital removal may be taken up seriously and in a business-like way. A year ago The Tribune and the Tampa Board of Trade called on the people of Southern Florida, meaning by that term, all Florida south of the 30th parallel of north latitude, or thereabout, to decide among themselves where they wanted the state capital in case of its removal could be obtained. It pointed out, then, and repeatedly since, that unless some place was decided on and the rest of the peninsular part of the state pledged to support that place, the capital would stay in Tallahassee.

The Palatka Chamber of Commerce has called for a convention to be held March 13th. "For the purpose of formulating and completing a capital removal association, entailing memberships, drafting of constitution and by-laws, electing officers, and appointing requisite committees, we invite you to select a delegate or delegates to attend a convention to be held at a point pleasing to a majority on March 13, 1922. Your delegate should be empowered to act fully in behalf of your organization." That is an excellent idea. Let the convention be held in Tampa, a city which is strictly neutral in the matter of a site, though persistently demandant for capital removal. Here would be no possible advantage to be taken of any place in the running; and even though this convention could not fix the place for peninsula Florida's choice in the removal election which would have to be held, it could thrust out all problems and make the necessary arrangements for the next, and proper step, a referendum of the site question to the voters of Peninsula Florida.

And here steps in the Tampa Board of Trade with a resolution which the Tribune most heartily endorses:

"Whereas, There is every year renewed agitation, particularly in peninsula Florida, for state capital removal, and,

"Whereas, no progress has been made because of the several cities demanding that they be the new proposed state capital, and,

"Whereas, the apparent demand of at least 80 per cent of the voting strength of the state appears to be insisting on legal steps being taken this year toward settlement of the question, and,

"Whereas, the apparent demand of at least 80 per cent of the voting

strength of the state appears to be insisting on legal steps being taken this year toward settlement of the question, and,

"Whereas, until some specific city town or locality has been agreed on by all contenders for the proposed new honor, any steps taken will be leading only to the nowhere of past efforts, therefore be it

"Resolved, by the Board of Trade of the City of Tampa, that proper arrangements be made at the approaching primary election for a referendum to the people of Peninsula Florida on the question of location of said proposed new capital and the place selected shall receive the support of all Peninsula Florida in any state-wide capital removal campaign, and,

"Resolved further, that "Peninsula Florida" as referred to in this resolution shall be all of the state extended between the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic ocean, south of the north boundary lines of Dixie, Alachua, Putnam and Flagler counties."

Call the convention. Meet in Tampa, settle the preliminaries of expense, hearing, getting the campaign well before the people, and arrange properly for the referendum which can be taken at the time of the June primary by having a separate box for the capital site ballots. Then we will be ready to arouse the proper interest in this vital matter to all the state.

For, until, and unless, Southern Florida is agreed on one site, and unless the various contending cities, towns, and localities pledge themselves to stand by the place named in the referendum vote, and then do actually stand by it, there is no use wasting space in papers, breath in meetings, or effort in personal endeavor for capital removal, when it will result as did the former attempt years ago, in a divided vote keeping the capital where it is.

There is no use talking now of 'state division'; of fairer apportionment of representation in the legislature; of an equitable division of the political offices and the state tax money, with control in the hands of those in power; but a question of capital removal can be forced, and it will be then up to the people to do what they want, provided they are solid in their demand for a particular place, and so numerous in their whole voting strength as to show the legislature where the real power lies behind the throne.

By all means let us have the convention; and let the referendum be arranged.

CAN'T AGREE AMONG THEMSELVES.

We note that Palatka is peeved because of a resolution that Tampa has approved which might change the proposed site of the new capital of the state to Tampa. Palatka wants the proposed convention as well as Tampa and because of so much jealousy between the different towns, the issue that should be most prominent—that of bringing the state capital into Florida proper—is being lost sight of. The first thing is to bring enough pressure to bear through the election of men who favor a capital change and then next to quit squabbling over where that capital or convention shall be.

South Florida pays 75 per cent of the taxes of the state; Polk county will this year pay almost $60,000 into that automobile tax fund and most of that money will be used in building roads in north Florida counties, while we get nothing and it has been proven that regardless of the fact that north and west Florida have the edge over South Florida by way of representation and can out vote us on any measure, yet they have never recognized or appreciated that fact and never will, until forced to do so. Their gratitude for paying a majority of the taxes and for doing the road building for them as well as being responsible for the progress of the state in every way, has been expressed more in the way of sarcasm and bulldozing than anything else and we don't believe that anything will ever be accomplished until enough men in the legislature go to the halls of the capital at the next session determined that they will never give north or west Florida another favorable vote until the constitution of Florida is lived up to and absolute reapportionment given. The trouble today is that too many of the lawmakers go in to play politics and they do it to a fare-you-well, sitting around about four weeks working up trades and bickers with the north and west Florida gang, so that they can work through some personal or selfish measure of their own and when the real time comes for getting down to law-making they find that the deals have been closed and nothing can be accomplished unless it absolutely favors the political gang of the state.

North and west Florida politicians have always controlled the state affairs. They absolutely dictate the policies and the laws that Florida has. We believe that the time has come to put a stop to such bickering with the people's interest and for the South Florida bunch to organize and sit tight at the next session and refuse to budge, thus giving those ungrateful and selfish fellows a dose of their own medicine. It is certain that the results cannot be any worse than they have been.—Lakeland Star.

WONDERFUL INCREASE IN PER CAPITA WEALTH.

What considerations guided men to the 2,673 per cent, increase in the wealth of the United States during the 62 years between 1850 and 1912? Our per capita wealth was estimated at $307.69 in 1850. It was estimated at $1,965 in 1912. There has been a steady increase since that time, yet the above figures should be sufficient to reveal the great increase that has taken place and cause us to pause and ponder the principles which have guided men to this remarkable achievement.

If we analyze the situation carefully, we find that sound investments have played a leading part. Under the froth of more conspicuous investments of a speculative nature has been steadily growing a less conspicuous body of investments in which are present most, if not all, of the elements essential to a steady increase in per capita wealth. These elements, as Lawrence Chamberlain has pointed out, are as follows:

- 1. Security of principal—the certainty that the money invested will be returned some time in the future.
2. A fair income return.
3. Stability of income—the assurance that the income will be paid promptly at stated intervals, and that the rate of income will not decrease during the life of the investment.
4. Marketability—the quality which makes it possible for the investment to be converted into immediately available funds.
5. Value as collateral—value sufficient to make the investment useful as security for a loan.
6. Exemption from taxation.
7. Freedom from care—simplicity of administration.
8. Acceptable duration.
9. Acceptable denomination.
10. Potential appreciation—the chance that during the life of the investment its market value will be increased.

Let us cast about for opportunities to invest in a manner that secures to us the benefit of these fundamental considerations.—Tampa Times.

STATE DIVISION.

The question of the removal of the state capital from Tallahassee, to some more centrally located point seems to be taking concrete form since the Palatka chamber of commerce issued its invitation to other civic bodies in South and Central Florida to send delegates to a conference to be held at some convenient place on the 15th of March to discuss and formulate plans to carry on the fight for capital removal, or rather for a referendum vote on the question of where the new capital should be located. Half a loaf is better than no bread at all, but as long as there are grounds upon which to stand and fight the Lake Region is going to stand by its guns and battle for state division. If the question narrows down to one of the removal of the capital ten, yes twenty years from now will find us in the same position we are occupying today. The questions of capital removal and state division are the off-springs of two things: Failure of the legislature to reapportion the state and an unequal distribution of the state taxes for road building. It is admitted that North and West Florida have the advantage over peninsula Florida in the matter of representation and that they have not hesitated to use that advantage in refusing a reapportionment. Then it stands to reason that the same advantage will be used to balk any effort to remove the capital from Tallahassee. The same forces that have heretofore prevented reapportionment, contrary to the express provision of the constitution, it is claimed, will use their advantage more relentlessly than ever, to keep the capital at the same location, and will still oppose reapportionment for the same reason. That the same influences will oppose state division there is no doubt, but not to the extent they would capital removal. If the state were divided, leaving Tallahassee the seat of government of North Florida the opposition would not be so determined nor so tyrannical on the question of removing the capital. There are many other reasons why the state should be divided, many of which have been discussed before, but the question of feasibility alone should be sufficient to govern the acts of those who are dissatisfied with the present regime.—Eastis Lake Region.

350,000 Vehicles, Mostly Autos, Pass Over This Street Daily

Two Thousand Autos in a Mile of Asphalted Fifth Avenue During the Afternoon Rush Hour.

Initial cost, length of service, cost of upkeep and length of time required to effect the necessary repairs are the vital factors in selecting a paving material, according to Clifford M. Pinckney, head of the Bureau of Engineering, New York City. And the consideration of all these factors has made the New York Bureau of Engineering reach the decision that asphalt gives the best service for city roads, where the traffic is heavy and practically constant, and where closing a street, when a new pavement is required, for any length of time, leads to loss of time and money to the traveling public and causes great annoyance. "We have found that when repairs are necessary in one of the streets, we do not have to close that block to traffic in many instances, or if we do that we can repair a block a day and open it for traffic when the men finish their work at night. If the pavements are of asphalt," says Mr. Pinckney. "When the street is paved with another material, it is different. Then we have to close the block to traffic until we can remove the old and worn-out pavement and replace it with new. "Careful compilation of costs show as that our repairs are considerably less than half of what they formerly were when we had to tear up the old pavement and lay the new. There is also the factor of speed in making these repairs, which counts for much when such repairs are necessary on Fifth Avenue, or some other of the main arteries of the city. "We repair 150,000 square yards of pavement every year with our asphalt heater at a saving of more than $200,000. We can cover from 1,500 to 2,000 square yards of pavement surface per day, so we are able to complete all repairs in a block before it is noticed we are working there. I know no other pavement material with which we can do the same." Every twenty-four hours 350,000 vehicles pass over the sheet asphalt pavement of Fifth Avenue, according to Mr. Pinckney. This pavement has to be cut open every forty hours in order to reach the city's great underground lines of communication. The base under the sheet asphalt surface is now cement-concrete. Hereafter, however, Mr. Pinckney announces, every opening in the pavement will be restored with "black base," a course of mineral aggregate bound together with asphalt cement, forming with the surface an integral structure cemented with asphalt.

WORLD'S GREATEST EVICTION.

Lecturer Says It Will Be the Last and Good Times Will Follow.

Lecturing on the topic "Millions Now Living Will Never Die," yesterday Mr. Grover C. Powell, of Nashville, Tenn., stated that a discourse on the same subject would be delivered in thousands of cities throughout the world on the same day, February 26th. A brief report of the lecture is given:

"To many people the Bible is an uninteresting, dry old book because they think it is merely the record of the lives of a people who died thousands of years ago, and of events and conditions which happened when business men shipped their freight by ox-cart and dictated to stenographers who wrote their notes on chisels of stone with a hammer and chisel. If people only knew it is full of news about the 20th century they might be willing to cancel a visit to the 'movies' and read it a little oftener. Even a curiosity seeker can find out what it says about the present day methods of travel and transportation; the marvelous increase of knowledge on every subject; the disputes between labor and capital resulting in universal unrest; the World War of 1914-1918; the 'influenza' epidemics; the famines of 1920; the revolutions in Europe; the restoration of Palestine to the Jews, etc., etc.

The Original Program. "But, to the earnest student, the Scriptures reveal that God has a plan, a system if you please, in connection with the human race. He had this plan all lined up before man ever appeared. The original plan is plainly set forth as follows: Man should be a perfect being, physically, mentally, morally; should live forever; and have a perfect home on this globe throughout eternity. And so God created him—upright, perfect, in his own likeness. Some are inclined to think that Satan threw the monkey-wrench into the machinery and that the whole scheme has been a mix-up ever since. But just because man deflected, God's plan has not changed. If that was God's plan six thousand years ago, it is his plan still. We know this to be true because Jehovah gave his oath to Abraham that it would be carried out; because he reiterated the promise to Isaac and Jacob and to their descendants; because Jesus told us that was the reason he came to live and die on the earth; and because the apostles preached the same message of joy. We have the statement of the apostle Peter for authority that every prophet who ever gave a message from Jehovah to man spoke of a time of blessing for man when his original estate of everlasting life, health and home should be restored. (Acts 3:19-21) Yet, strange to say, scarcely a word of this real gospel of happiness for the people is being preached in our modern churches.

Eviction Proceedings.

"When Jesus was here he told his followers that his kingdom was not of this world, because Satan is the god of the present world (cosmos—order of arrangement) but when he came the second time, he would replace Satan as the ruler and render him powerless. In a parable he speaks of the world as a house, the human race as 'goods', Satan as the 'strong man' or 'house-holder.' The lease on the property has expired and the tenant is given quit notice but objects to the effort of the sheriff to turn him out. But the sheriff slips in quietly, unawares, 'as a thief,' binds the strong man and ejects him. The binding of the invisible Satan by the returned but invisible Christ is the cause of the greatest disturbance in history—the World War, famines, pestilences, revolutions, threatening universal anarchy—which is completely wrecking and overturning the present order of things. This binding of the 'strong man'—Satan—in preparation for the seizing of his goods meets with great resistance on his part, manifesting itself in the upsetting of everything in the dwelling and general roughhouse, such as we see throughout the world. But Jesus (through the severest of any in the history of the race) would be cut short in order that all the human family should not die. Various of the prophets, speaking of the present period of transition, explain that those who seek meekness and righteousness will have a chance to live through the time of great trouble, which only began in 1914, and thus will actually never experience dissolution. When Satan is completely bound and Christ, the Messiah, or the new householder, takes possession of the world, a new order of things will commence. Judgment he will lay to the line and righteousness to the plummet; nothing will hurt nor destroy under that holy government, and mankind under a process of instruction and judgment will be brought back to conditions of perfection. Those who refuse to avail themselves of the blessings provided and deliberately oppose the righteous rule shall be absolutely blotted out of existence says the Apostle.—Acts 3:23.

"Then the original purpose of God will be carried out; then all will realize that God is a God of Love, of Justice, of Power and of Wisdom, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning."

"But how many are willing to take him at his word now."—Adv.

FIND HAPPINESS IN BRINGING JOY TO OTHERS

A national figure of much prominence, a former congressman, a builder, operator and owner of railroads, a gracious host and philanthropist, are concealed, though not deeply, in the person of Hon. Chas. D. Haines of the nineteenth congressional district of New York, now residing for the better part of the year on his magnificent estate at Altamonte.

Mr. Haines is wealthy, immensely so, and because in his own words, "the pleasure to be found in possessing wealth is not in having it, but in benefiting others with it," he has constructed a theatre on his estate with a seating capacity of about 150, where moving picture shows are given, for the entertainment of his friends and his friends' friends, on an average of two shows a week. Yesterday there were two different shows at the Jassamine, for such is the appropriate name of the theatre, one in the afternoon and one at night.

In conjunction with the moving pictures the guests were entertained with a vaudeville show given by the negroes in the employment of Mr. Haines. The Jassamine chorus of twelve voices sang some of the now famous old plantation songs and the "Blind Curuso" was brought back on the stage time after time to sing to the accompaniment of his guitar those old negro melodies. The Orange City orchestra of nine pieces furnished the music for the picture. Cruise on Lakes.

After the show in the Jassamine, the guests went to the lake and boarded the large power boat and set out on a cruise of the four lakes and incidentally a basket picnic.

Mr. Haines has left the supervising of the theatre and entertainments in the hands of Captain James A. Cotting, of Winter Park, and Captain Cotting always acquits himself with honor.

The grounds around the home of Mr. Haines are underlaid with over a half mile of wire and a private power plant is kept in readiness in case the main plant in town is damaged. There are hundreds of electric lights which can be turned on or off from the house. All of these things have been installed for the convenience of the guests who come often to accept the hospitality of the Haines'. All of the land is under-irrigated.

Seven of the 180 acres are utilized in the growing of ferns. This tract is screened under a lattice work of baths so that the ferns can get the proper amount of sun and shade. Eighty-six negroes are employed at the Royal Fernery and they are all given free lights, rent, water, etc. A co-operative store is run by the company for the benefit of the employees.

Big Fernery.

The fernery and grove in Altamonte is a hobby of Mr. Haines. He does not in any way supervise it, but keeps it to give employment for the men who work for him. He makes money in this project, to be sure, but not at the expense of making any one poorer. None of his wealth was obtained at that expense.

The immense wealth of Mr. Haines is a result of his own efforts, dating back to the time he was sixteen years old. At that time he was employed in a train dispatcher's office as operator and he was made supervisor of another road with a better salary at the age of eighteen. A year later he built the Medina Valley road in Texas and was president of that road at the age of nineteen. Eight years later he was elected from the nineteenth congressional district of New York to congress, and was probably the youngest man who ever gained a sent in that body. All of this and more was a result of his own personal endeavors and ambitions, as he started penniless and had no position or influence behind him. Mr. Haines, with his brother, has owned thirty-six different railroads and transit companies and today, though retired from all active work, owns 380,000 acres of mahogany timber in Santa Domingo and three large manufacturing plants in Massachusetts. He owns three daily newspapers and eight smaller papers in New York State.

As Congressman. During his term as congressman, he was conceded to be one of the brainiest men in public life. Few people know that in the last two or three years William Jennings Bryan has been the guest of Mr. Haines on three different occasions, and Mr. Haines has been host to four governors. Many other people of national fame have visited Mr. Haines at Altamonte.

He was, during the war, president of the National Council of American Patriots, which had a membership of several millions, and of which organization General J. J. Pershing was a vice-president. He was also chief guard of the Guardians of Liberty in which many prominent admirals and generals had membership. Admiral Dewey was a member at the time Haines was at the head.

Praises given him by the newspapers all over the country and written compliments extended him by every member of the of the fifty-third congress have filled the pages of seventeen large albums, and these are among his most prized possessions.

Doing good, always ready to help humanity, brilliant in thought and deed, Charles D. Haines is in all the sense of the word "an asset to Florida and to his country."

What about building several hundred more homes in Sanford?

Celery is keeping on the top wave but the warm weather is not so good.

Willie Stringfellow is in the city for a few days from his home in DeLand.

Now is the time to subscribe for The Daily or The Weekly Herald. You get all the news of the world, of the state, of the city and county.

The many friends of Frank Gonzales are glad to see him in Sanford today on business. He is now located in Miami in charge of the Miami branch of the Baker Holmes Co., and while they like Miami they will never cease being Sanford folks.

David Speer has gone to Columbus, Ga., on official business of the sheriff's office and will come home by way of Americus, where he will settle up his father's estate before returning home.

Mrs. H. A. Neel this morning received a message telling her of the death of her sister, Mrs. Edwin Stevens, which occurred yesterday at a hospital in St. Paul, Minn., following an operation for appendicitis. The funeral will take place Wednesday, and Mrs. Neel, on account of the distance, will be unable to attend the last sad rites over the remains of her sister.

H. P. Smith, vice-president of the Peoples Bank, is happy today over the arrival of his brother, Attorney R. D. Smith of Tifton, Ga., who is here on a two days' visit. Mr. Smith is a prominent lawyer of Tift county but thinks that Sanford is about the finest place he has ever seen and he is carried away with the city and the wonderful winter gardens. When he goes fishing one time he will never want to go back to Georgia.

The band concert yesterday afternoon attracted a big crowd despite the showers that sent them to cover once in awhile. The band was great as it always will be under the able leadership of Mr. Ball. The specialties were solos by Charles Brady and a xylophone solo by James Robson. The band played several very difficult pieces and demonstrated that the Sanford band is making great progress and is now as good as any of them. The City of Sanford never did a wiser thing than to engage the services of Mr. Ball to place a real local band in the field.

MONTEZUMA HOTEL HAD NEW OPENING SATURDAY NIGHT

ONE OF SANFORD'S FINEST HOTELS OPENED AGAIN FOR BUSINESS WITH NEW MANAGEMENT

The Montezuma Hotel, one of Sanford's finest hotels, opened Saturday night after being closed about one week during which time new furniture and furnishings were added to the house. Manager Grose decided to open the hotel to the public again Saturday night in order that the hotel could start off Sunday morning and the public was invited to attend the opening and inspect the house. An orchestra furnished music for the occasion and those who wished to dance were invited to take the floor while others went over the hotel and enjoyed the broad porches and the lobby. Salads, punch and cigars were served during the evening and the occasion was a pleasant one in every way.

The Montezuma starts the new regime under most favorable circumstances as Manager Grose is an experienced hotel man and knows the tourist and the commercial trade. The Montezuma is one of the best equipped hotels in this part of the state for the number of rooms it contains and bears a fine reputation among the tourists and commercial men. That it will be maintained upon a high standard goes without saying and Sanford people are rejoicing over the opening and the fact that Mr. Grose will be in charge.

The new owners, H. P. Smith and E. A. Douglass, can be depended upon to assist Manager Grose in keeping the Montezuma among the high class hotels of Florida.

DR. HYMAN CALLED TO FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH AT TAMPA

The ranks of Tampa church-workers will probably be considerably strengthened shortly as the result of a call extended by the First Baptist church to Dr. George F. Hyman, of Sanford, to accept the position of director of enlistment in that church. The Sanford pastor has not yet given his final answer, but Dr. Claude W. Duke, pastor of the First Church, stated yesterday afternoon that he felt sure Dr. Hyman would accept.

"If Dr. Hyman comes to us—and I feel sure that he will—he will take up his new duties about April 1," said Dr. Duke. "The work in which he will engage will be to carry on an aggressive campaign for completion of our new church plant, work on which has been started; to enlist the younger people in more active church work, especially in the Sunday school. You know, we are to have a Sunday school building to accommodate 2,000. It is probable Dr. Hyman will teach a large Bible class of men. He will also organize the church for evangelistic work in a more aggressive way. And he will be assistant pastor, taking my place when I am away."

"Dr. Hyman is the son of a Georgia business man and for some years he was employed in a bank and received a very thorough business training. Later he felt the call to preach and studied for the ministry. His first pastorate in Florida was at Jasper. Later he received a call to the Brooksville pastorate, and about six years ago one from the Sanford church. When America entered the world war he requested and received leave of absence from his pastorate and became chaplain in the army and served first in a training camp and then overseas, where he was frequently exposed to the greatest danger. He was very popular with the soldiers, and is a member of the American Legion. When the war ended he returned to his pastorate at Sanford. His work there has been very successful. The membership has doubled, and the congregation has built a splendid church edifice, which is a credit to the city and the denomination.

"With the addition of director of enlistment the First Baptist church will have four all-time paid workers. They are Mrs. Leila M. Clayton, Sunday school worker; Dr. J. R. Williford, financial agent; myself as pastor, and the director of enlistment.—Tampa Tribune.

ALLEN TO INVOKE NUISANCE LAW FOR PROHIBITION

(By The Associated Press) TAMPA, Feb. 27.—A. L. Allen, federal prohibition enforcement director for this state, has announced that he intends to invoke the so-called nuisance section of the prohibition law in his efforts to break up the illicit whiskey trade in Florida.

This section, Mr. Allen asserts, is aimed at places where liquor is sold by persons other than the proprietor. In such cases, the federal courts are empowered, he says, to imprison the proprietor, close his place of business or impose a heavy fine. In places where the "nuisance" charge can be proved against business houses, hotels, soft drink establishments, or similar places, he intends to proceed accordingly.

"In Missouri," he said, "a federal judge recently closed a hotel for a year under that section of the law. We will do the same thing here, to close them up, whether they be big or small."

SPECK CAMPBELL HAS DONE WELL IN THE OLD TOWN

(By The Associated Press) DELAND, Feb. 24.—The old home town has done well by C. H. Campbell, its recently elected mayor under the commission form of government, and in turn Mr. Campbell has never been influenced by the adage that a man is not appreciated in his native environment.

Mr. Campbell decided to cast his lot with the home folks in the days of his youth rather than to seek other fields. When he graduated from high school he did not go "off" to college but entered John B. Stetson University here. It was with the Stetson team that he won laurels of the football realm. As "Speck" Campbell at half-back, he was the mainstay of the squad.

With the completion of his schooling he entered business here, finally landing in the automobile game. He is just completing a $20,000 garage.

And then he went in for "politics" and was elected city commissioner. He was the choice of the other two commissioners for mayor under the new form of government which calls for the popular election of three commissioners who in turn name one of their number to serve as mayor.

HIGHWAY WORK FOR 1922 WILL COST A BILLION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—More than a billion dollars will be spent on city street and rural highway construction in 1922, according to the latest estimates of highway engineers. Of this, more than $600,000,000 will go for rural highways and the balance for city streets.

Because of the rapid increase in the use of motor vehicles, both for passenger and freight transportation, state highway officials estimate that it will be at least five years before the country catches up with the demand for improved roads.

FIRE INSURANCE COMPANIES CHARGED BY GOVERNOR WITH GRAVE CRIME

(By The Associated Press) JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 27.—Governor Lee Russell, in a special message to the legislature today, charged the old line fire insurance companies, which withdrew last year from the state following institution of anti-trust legislation, with fostering the $100,000 seduction case filed against him by Miss Francis Birkhead, of New Orleans, his former stenographer.

The governor demanded an investigation by the entire legislature into the lobby which he declared the insurance companies were maintaining at Jackson to secure the enactment of laws establishing a rating bureau.
