WOODROW WILSON AT HOME, GREAT IN WAR, GREAT IN PEACE—MUCH GREATER

LEADS QUIET LIFE IN WASHINGTON TWO YEARS AFTER FIRST BREAKDOWN

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Woodrow Wilson fell a sick man two years ago Monday. Since then he has passed under the shadow of death and out of the White House. Thousands of Americans of whatever political faith recalled the anniversary of the beginning of the former president's illness and wondered what he was doing. Although he no longer figures in the daily headlines as he used to, Mr. Wilson still is "news."

Therefore it seems appropriate on this occasion to tell the latest news about him. Mr. Wilson, besides following the ways of a retired gentleman with a lively interest in the world's affairs, lives by the eight hour day which he once told congress was "adjudged by the thought and experience of recent years a thing upon which society is justified in insisting, as in the interest of health, efficiency and contentment." He aims to have eight hours for sleep, eight hours for work and eight hours for relaxation, and keeps to the schedule pretty fairly. The morning work is done in the library. The old desk and chair and table Mr. Wilson used in his study at Princeton are there. Thousands of volumes which were packed away while he was in the White House are there. Through the windows may be seen the indigo blue strip of Virginia Hills where he used to go golfing and not far away hangs a bag of golf sticks, a reminder of a better day. Attached to "Used Car." The former president and his inseparable companion always have their luncheon served in the dining room. Then comes a nap of an hour, and then, unless the weather is most inclement, a motor drive. Mr. Wilson while in the White House, became attached to a certain automobile. It went back, as is the custom each year to the manufacturer, from whom Mr. Wilson bought it as a "used car." He had it painted black with orange trimmings—Princeton colors—and in this car which he regards as an old friend, he goes driving into the countryside. He dislikes exploring new routes, but rather enjoys driving over the same ground at about the same time. The party is always home before dark. Dinner is an informal affair; sometimes there are guests, always old friends or associates. Mr. Wilson (Continued on Page Three)

SANFORD AND ORLANDO HAD SECOND LOVE FEAST AT ORLANDO LAST NIGHT

FLORIDA GROWERS SEEK FEDERAL AID TO MARKET CROPS.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 28.—Relief for the Florida citrus growers is sought by a delegation that arrived here yesterday and presented Florida's claims to the war finance corporation. Financial aid in packing and marketing the crop was sought. Senator Fletcher appeared with the committee before the war finance corporation.

About Sixty Members From Sanford Were There HAD A BIG TIME

EARLIER IN THE EVENING THE CENTRAL FLORIDA WATER TRAFFIC LEAGUE FORMED.

While the proverbial Pipe of Peace was not in evidence last night, its modern counterpart, in the form of good cigars, were lighted after a very excellent meal, served in the Orlando Chamber of Commerce headquarters, to a gathering of 150 people. The mental, financial and commercial heavyweights of both Orlando and Sanford were present as was also that "we're with you" spirit which was so much in evidence at the Sanford banquet.

In the same respects that "some men are born great, others make themselves greats, etc." the citizens of some communities are born with a civic spirit while others get theirs from bottles. Inasmuch as there were no bottles in evidence last evening, it is safe to assume that the spirit of enthusiasm, which permeated the gathering was that born within the progressive individuals from both communities.

The speakers of the evening stressed the inestimable benefits which would accrue to Sanford and Orlando provided they continued and further developed the amicable relations which now now existed between them. The Hon. M. J. Daetwyler, president of the Orlando Chamber of Commerce, presided as toastmaster. Mayor Duckworth, J. L. Giles, Flowers & Vorhees, Sam Johnson, Howard Lynear, Franklin King, Mrs. Fuller and S. J. Slygh, were speakers (Continued on Page Five)

FLORIDA FOOTBALL TEAM
GETTING INTO SHAPE.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Sept. 27.—Florida's football squad is rapidly being worked into shape for its initial game with the United States Infantry School at Columbus, Ga., October 1.

Considerable material has turned out for practice and the men are said to be in excellent shape for this stage of the season.

Florida will tackle Rollins College at Orlando, October 8, for its second game of the season.

Its schedule thereafter, as announced, follows:
Mercer University at Gainesville, October 15.

University of Tennessee at Knoxville, Tenn., October 22.

University of South Carolina, at Tampa, November 5.

University of Alabama, at Tuscaloosa, Ala., November 11.

University of Mississippi, at Gainesville, November 19.

Oglethorpe University at Gainesville, November 24.

It was originally planned to play the Mississippi game at Jacksonville, but it was transferred to Gainesville when local citizens guaranteed the expenses of bringing the Mississippi club to this city. The game with Rollins at Orlando, takes place of the game planned with Stetson University at DeLand. No game has been arranged with Stetson, but it is considered likely that the two elevens may meet later in the season.

TENNESSEE UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT WILL ADDRESS LIVE STOCK MEN AT ROUNDUP AT GAINESVILLE

"Need of Team Work in Agriculture" Will Be His Subject

"The Need of Team Work in Agriculture" will be the subject of an address by Dr. H. A. Morgan, president of the University of Tennessee, at the Livestock Roundup, University of Florida, on October 6th. This is information just made public by officials who are arranging the program and will conduct the meeting.

Dr. Morgan is one of the foremost leaders in the agricultural world. Few men have devoted so much time and effort to the upbuilding of the South, agriculturally, as has he; his services to the farmers of the South cover a period of thirty-three years.

Beginning in 1889 he was state entomologist of Louisiana for sixteen years. In 1905 he became director of the Tennessee Experiment Station. He filled this position so successfully that in 1919 he was also made president of the University of Tennessee, which position he now holds as well as being director of the Tennessee station.

It was while located in Louisiana as state entomologist that Dr. Morgan made critical investigations which brought much new light to bear upon the life history of the cattle tick. He was the first man to learn how the tick develops and to discover that the tick actually could be eradicated. Much of the success of tick-eradication work of recent years has been due to the knowledge which he gave the world regarding this creature.

President Morgan was a member of the Commission for Study of Rural Credits and Co-operation in Europe and with other noted scientists made a critical study of agricultural conditions in the old world, bringing back many ideas that have been incorporated in the farming practices of this country.

GOVERNORS KILL 'EM OFF.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Sept. 27.—Death warrants issued by the Governors of Florida since January 1 1901, to the present time, number 192 and of the total 147 were executed. Governor Jennings issued 47; Broward, 30; Gilchrist, 44; Trammell, 42; Catts, 16, and Governor Hardee, so far, has issued four.

Of the 47 issued by Governor Jennings, eight were commuted to life imprisonment, one, Simon Williams, Jr., of Jefferson county, was killed while attempting to escape and another died in prison a few days before the date for his execution.

Of the 39 issued by Governor Broward, six were commuted, five revoked, one recalled and one died. Of the 44 by Governor Gilchrist, three were commuted, one revoked and one, Mack Morris, was lynched in Leon county several days before he was to have been hanged.

Governor Trammell commuted six of the 42 issued by him, recalled three and one sentence was reversed by the supreme court.

Of the sixteen issued by Governor Catts, two were commuted.

Three of the four issued by Governor Hardee have been carried out, Tom Brown, having been hanged in Hillsborough county and Putnam Ponsell and J. B. Martin having been executed in Okaloosa county, the last two having died last Saturday.

FEDERAL RESERVE BANK BUILDING.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Sept. 27.—Plans are being made to erect a building here to accommodate the Florida branch of the Federal reserve Bank, according to an announcement by officials of the sixth district with headquarters at Atlanta, who came here for the purpose of inspecting proposed sites for the building. The local branch is at present quartered in one of the down-town business buildings but the growing importance of the Florida branch has made it necessary to seek larger quarters, officials said.

Consideration of the plans for the building will be taken up by the governing board in Atlanta and later by the national board at Washington, it was said. The recent designation of the Florida branch as the currency base for the state and Cuba is taken in banking circles to mean that the Jacksonville bank is a permanent institution.

Members of the federal reserve board attending the meeting here included: M. B. Wellborn, governor of the sixth district; Joseph A. McCord, chairman of the reserve board, and, W. H. Kettig, of Birmingham, A's a director of the Atlanta bank.

There are coats and coats for little ladies, but the best of them all for play or school in cool autumn days are those knitted ones that fit her snugly and allow her so much freedom. Here's one in which she may romp as she will.

VANCE DOUGLASS HOME BURNS

The country home of Vance Douglass on Golden Lake south of the city burned to the ground last night being a total loss. Mr. and Mrs. Douglass had just finished many improvements on the home and it was one of the most comfortable and convenient suburban homes in this section. It is not known just how the blaze started but rumored that it might have caught from a defective wire as Mr. Douglass had his own electric plant and the entire place was well lighted. The sympathy of their many friends is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Douglass and family in their loss of home and furnishings.

no longer dresses for the occasion as he always did while President; it is on family. But no meal in the Wilson house ever proceeds until grace is said. Mr. Wilson has always said it himself, and months ago when he was so weak he could hardly stand without aid, and his voice was almost inaudible, he steadied himself on his chair and whispered the plea for divine blessing.

Evenings at home, however, are spent in the family circle. The former President and Mrs. Wilson read a book together, or perhaps Mrs. Wilson reads aloud. Sometimes it is one of the detective stories of which Mr. Wilson was said to be so fond.

Like Mark Twain, he does much reading and writing in bed. Propped up by pillows, and with a little writing board across his knee, he reads and makes notes, some of them voluminous and in shorthand. They are not notes for a book which may expect.

However, the evening may be spent, however tired he may be, there is one thing the former President never neglects. It is the reading of a few verses of the Bible. When he says goodnight he invariably reads aloud some short passage from the Bible which always rests on the reading table at his bedside.

Sends Attendant Away Friends and admirers ask, what is Woodrow Wilson's real condition now? He will be sixty-five years old next December and has passed through an ordeal which few men survive. The

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

SAYS A GLASS OF HOT WATER AND PHOSPHATE PREVENTS ILLNESS AND KEEPS US FIT.

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind incombustible ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infests the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and ptomaine-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before breakfast each morning drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the bowels the previous day's poisons and toxins, and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.—Adv.

measure of his progress toward health must be measured with those facts in mind. His normal weight in health while he was president was 180 pounds. He shows little departure from that figure now. His eyesight is as good although he has discarded his favorite nose glasses for spectacles. His hair has turned snow white, but has not thinned. His appetite is too robust to please his physicians. Last March when he left the White House with President-elect Harding, an attendant had to place his feet on each succeeding step from the portico. The other day he sent his attendant away and climbed alone, not without some effort, into his automobile, just to see if he could do it, and seemed pleased to find that he could.

Mr. Wilson is far from a well man today; he was far from a well man when he entered the White House over eight years ago. But during the last two years there have been times when his voice was inaudible and when he could not support himself alone. His condition today shows more improvement than his family and friends dared hope for.

Mr. Wilson brought with him to the White House the small savings of a life time, which he preserved. During his terms in the presidency his royalties from books previously written mounted into rather handsome sums. Singularly enough, they have shown a marked slump since he left the White House. While he was president circumstances helped him save money.

The war and the suspension of social functions and entertainment were quite a nitem. It has been estimated that the former president's pocket-book was at least $25,000 richer because he was not called upon to wine and dine numerous dignitaries and official persons.

Upon his modest fortune now he lives simply, with an establishment of only three servants and a "used car."

And Orlando did herself proud, as usual.

Well, Orlando can do that thing all right, and so can Sanford.

With the Orlando and Sanford spirit of boost and "do something," we can accomplish anything we have a mind to.—Reporter-Star.

Two of the greatest inland cities in the State, and yet they have the St. Johns river to back them up. You can't beat them.

Looks like the editor will have to get away for a few days and take that fishing trip to Coronado, where the sad sea waves are saying something.

Tomorrow is the great big Merchants' Gala Day and general good time for everybody. Let everyone get together and make it an occasion long to be remembered.

Hope they decided last night to build that trolley line from Sanford to Tampa. In that event, the present railroad rates need not bother this part of Florida any longer.

According to the Jacksonville papers, there evidently seems to be a man named Pope on trial down there. In fact, there is nothing else seems to matter to the Jacksonville reading public.

We hope Bob Holly can soon get his interurban trolley line in operation, if we can render any assistance, call upon us.—Reporter-Star. Just keep your foot on the exhilarator, old fellow, and get some capitalists interested.

Sherman said war is hell, and Sherman was right. However, there are other disadvantages in this world, and one of them is being unable to attend a banquet at Orlando. However, our friends came round with a big limousine, John Meisch, F. P. Forster and Dr. Stevens—the capitalist, the banker and the doctor—of take us down to Orlando and see that we were taken care of. But it could not be done. We know when we are knocked out, and nothing less than a knock-out will ever keep us from attending a Chamber of Commerce meeting or banquet. 'Tis good though, to know that you have friends and we will tell the world that we have plenty of friends in Sanford and Orlando, and we are proud of them.

WHY ALL THE FUSS?

Why is all the fuss about the unemployed? Why does President Harding want to call a conference of all the people everywhere on the subject of the unemployed? They are out of employment under the Republican administration—the Democrats cannot help matters any—the people called into the conference cannot help any—why call any conference? In fact, there is nothing anyone can do except President Harding and his cabinet, and just why President Harding and his cabinet do not solve the question, is what a lot of we little people down here in Florida, want to know. The unemployment question is not worrying us any at present, but when the north dumps a million or more unemployed on us this winter, we will have the problem with us, and we would like to have it solved for the simple reason that with the big business resuming everywhere there should be no unemployed.

The Jacksonville Metropolis has our idea in the following:

"We are merely depressed after the fever, and we want to know the way to speediest and dependable convalescence. When we know the way, everybody in America—capital and labor, employer and employe, captains of industry and the privates in the trenches will go over the top, in the advance drive of peace."

These are the words of President Harding, spoken before the conference to discuss unemployment, which opened its session in Washington Monday.

In the case of the individual, after the fever has passed and the patient has entered the period of convalescence, all the neighbors are not called in to air their views on the treatment of a victim recovering from fever, nor is a squad of specialists called in, but one or two capable and experienced doctors prescribe for the patient.

This nation is nothing more than an individual in it magnified a hundred or more times.

Mr. Harding has in his cabinet men who would—if the power was given them—accomplish more in solving the unemployment problem in this county than will ever be accomplished by this conference, which will develop into a free-for-all debating society before the session is ended. This is a prediction. We are willing to abide by it.

The secretary of the treasury, the secretary of commerce and the secretary of labor are the men who possess the information this conference is seeking. But the president has not given them the power to treat the patient. The administration has refused to supply the diet necessary to the recovery of the patient from the effects of war fever. This conference will merely emphasize it.

THE GREATEST CITY IN THE WORLD.

Somewhere we saw in print the other day the claim that London was the greatest city in the world, those who have this opinion should read what Dr. Frank Crane has to say relative to New York and London.

This is how he puts it: The world moves so fast it is hard to keep up with it.

And the United States move faster than the world.

As Andrew Carnegie put, it the nations of the Old World creep forward at a snail's pace, the Western Republic rushes past with the speed of an express train.

And the noise of progress is New York City. It is the prow of the Ship of State, which, with a bone in its teeth, sails ahead into the sea of the future.

We were brought up on the idea that London is the greatest city in the world. It's so no more. The western metropolis has outdistanced it.

New York is the largest centre of population on the globe.

Even four years ago five boroughs of New York City contained 5,618,752 inhabitants, while the 28 boroughs of London under one city government, had a population of but 4,517,172.

It is not only larger but it is growing faster. It is the healthiest of cities.

Although some one dies in New York City every seven minutes, a baby is born every three minutes.

Three hundred and ninety people are added to the population every day by new arrivals.

Every three months there is added to the city enough people to make another city as large as New York was at the beginning of the nineteenth century.

While London doubles its population every thirty years, New York doubles every eighteen years.

New York is a concern that does a larger business than any other corporation extant. It requires a cash balance of thirty million dollars.

New York is the wealthiest spot on earth. Its assessed value is greater than all of the United States west of the Mississippi.

Its income exceeds that of twenty states combined.

One American in every nineteen lives in New York.

One-tenth of all the products manufactured in the country is made in New York.

The assessed tax valuation of New York is almost double that of London.

New York has three times as many hotels as London.

And twice as many theatres.

The bank clearings of New York are nearly fifteen billion dollars a year larger than London's.

For first class job work—the Herald.

THE BAD CHECK LAW.

Merchants and others having occasion to handle the checks of customers should post themselves carefully on the provisions of the "bad check law" passed by the legislature at its last session.

Section 1 of this act reads as follows:

"It shall be unlawful for any person to draw or utter to another any check without there being at the time thereof sufficient funds on deposit or to his credit with the drawee named therein to insure the payment of same upon presentation within a reasonable time after negotiation, provided that this section shall not apply to any check where the payee or holder has been expressly notified prior to the drawing or uttering of same that the drawer did not have on deposit or to his credit with the drawee sufficient funds to insure payment as aforesaid."

This section applies to all cases, whether the check is drawn to meet an existing obligation or is given for goods purchased or money advanced.

Section 5, is important as supplying the foundation upon which a prosecution for giving a bad check can be started. It reads:

"Section 5. That it shall be the duty of the drawee of any and all checks as hereinbefore defined, before refusing to pay same to holder upon presentation, to cause to be written or stamped in plain language thereon the reason for the drawee's dishonor or refusal to pay same, and in all prosecutions under this act, the introduction in evidence of any unpaid and dishonored check, having the drawee's refusal to pay stamped or written thereon with the reason therefor, a saforesaid, shall be prima facie evidence of the making or uttering of said check, and the due presentation to the drawee for payment and the dishonor thereof and that the same was properly dishonored for the reasons written or stamped by the drawee on such check with the drawee named herein to insure the honored check."

Section 6, provides as a penalty for passing worthless checks a fine of not over $500 or imprisonment not exceeding six months, or both, in the discretion of the court, while, if restitution is made to the holder of the worthless check the fine is made not over $100 or 30 days imprisonment, or both.

Under these sections it is a dangerous thing to draw a check without being sure the funds are in the bank to meet it. At the same time, business men can not rely upon the mere existence of this law as full protection; but they must co-operate with its provisions in order to be in position to prove up their case, if they are swindled.

They should, therefore, if they have any doubt of the soundness of a check, present it to the bank on which it is drawn, at the earliest possible moment, and, if it is refused, see that the bank stamps on the check (not on a paper pinned to it its refusal to pay) and the reason thereof. Then, with this check so stamped as evidence, he can make the required affidavit for the arrest of the person issuing it, and the check itself, with the notation of the bank thereon, is sufficient evidence, unless the maker of the check sets up some collateral defense.

Passing worthless checks upon unsuspecting persons has heretofore been one of the most common methods of swindling in this state as it is elsewhere. But with the due enforcement of this law—and it is the victim's duty to see that it is enforced—the practice can be virtually broken up. The watchword should be prompt.

ness in presenting the check and in securing the warrant for the arrest of the guilty party, so that he can not get outside the jurisdiction of the state before he is apprehended

"BREEZE-WAY" HOUSES.

The trouble with many of our friends who come from northern climes to make their homes in the sunny south is that they are prone to bring their northern ideas with them. It is a great mistake. If they could leave the ideas and beliefs which they have been reared in and considered having the authority of Gospel truths, on the far side of the Ohio river when they cross that muddy stream, and forget them ever after their first few years in Florida would be easier and more satisfactory.

Perhaps we should say right here that the above remark is not intended to apply in any way to the settlers' religious or political beliefs. We recognize in the fullest degree the absolute right of every individual to order his own life as he pleases in those important particulars. We refer more particularly to those ideas regarding the construction of his home and the cultivation of his ground. He must know if he is a man of average intelligence, that conditions of soil and climate here are radically different from those in the north. He does know it, yet the old traditions of his boyhood days are so strong upon him that he often proceeds in the old way. We often see houses in the country districts, new and glossy with paint, that need no labels to prove they were built by northern men. One can find their duplicates in every northern state, in New England, and all through the middle west. Comfortable, home-looking dwellings they are too in the main, in spite of their narrow, skimpy porches, inevitable two stories, and numerous small rooms. But somehow they don't seem to "fit in" with the landscape. The southern man builds differently. He wants wide, roomy porches, extending around three sides, and possibly four, of his house. Experience has taught him that a large part of the life of the occupants of that house will be passed on those porches, and he wants them as roomy as possible. He leans to the bungalow style of architecture and rarely builds a second story, unless a sleeping porch may be called such. The two ideals are widely different. The northern man has been accustomed all his life to seeing buildings constructed with a main view to barring out the bitter cold of the long northern winter, and it takes him a few years to get rid of the old tradition. The southerner on the contrary, builds for protection from the fierce rays of the tropical sun. One builds for heat, the other for coolness.

W. E. Holles, president of the Pinellas County Board of Trade, has written an article for the Florida Real Estate Journal and Industrial Record, which is full of valuable suggestions for prospective builders. We quote:

"The chief hot weather consideration here, as everywhere else, is comfort, and that means abundant circulation of fresh air, plenty of doors and windows arranged in line so that the breeze will have a direct path to travel across the house in any direction it blows. Some extremists claim we don't need any windows at all—simply walls made of fly-screen wire cloth with adjustable roll curtains inside to keep out bad weather. Their idea is a roof for shelter, a floor to walk on, and everything else wide open."

He calls the plans which he advocates "Breeze-Way Houses" and the name well indicates the idea.—Tampa Times.

SANFORD AND ORLANDO HAD SECOND LOVE FEAST AT ORLANDO LAST NIGHT

Retrospect of the Orlando Meeting By A. Side Liner

The only regrettable feature of the whole affair was the absence of "Ye Genial Scribe, Bob Holly." Laid up with a bilious attack he did not feel that he would be physically capable of dispensing with the tasteful viands he knew would be served up by the Orlando bunch.

Glenn, of the Orlando Sentinel, presented a resolution expressing the regret of the meeting at not having Bob present and wishing him a speedy recovery.

Glenn and his contemporaries, the Brossier Twins, and Bob Holly usually have a great deal to discuss and imbibe when they get together. This probably accounts for the solitude shown by Glenn last P. M.

Col. Geo. W. Wright, who, when not engaged with his personal affairs, guides the destiny of the Ives Chamber of Commerce in Florida, made a talk that went over big, to use a theatrical expression. One of the lady speakers put a literal interpretation upon the following remark, made by Mr. Foster: "We have met our friends and we are yours."

D. A. Cheney, who regulates the prices and flow of gas, water and "juice" in Orlando, demonstrated that he has also been able to regulate his vocal organs and entertained the gathering with two songs. The last one, "It's Always Fair Weather When Good Fellows Get Together," left a feeling of sadness with a great many and the recollections of bygone days were probably responsible for the wonderful expression and technique he put in the lines, "With a Stein on the Table and a Song in the Air."

The facial expression of the self-appointed liquid survey committee reported no progress, and after adjournment, returned to Sanford to transact unfinished business.

Mrs. Johns sang an Italian classic. She is a little lady with a big voice and as sweet as "The tintinnabulation which musically wells from the bells." No fear of Mr. Johns ever deserting the family fires, and all Mrs. Johns need do is to exercise that wonderful voice of hers, for it is irresistible. Amongst those present were some who looked as though they enjoyed the Italian part of it.

Our Hon. F. P. Forster injected some political serum into the meeting which reacted in a most refreshing manner. It was to the effect that Florida would be the recipient of greater Federal patronage if we had two strong political parties.

You had three guesses as to which were Republicans and which Democrats. A look at the expression on their faces and one guess would suffice. Mr. Foster's remarks struck a responsive chord in the breast of "Inland Waterways Woodruff," one of the staunchest legionnaires of the Q. O. P. (Grand Old Proletarians) and as a result the suggestion of Mr. Foster was heartily endorsed by Mr. Woodruff verbally, and by the smiles and applause of Frank Miller. A believer in transmigration of souls stated that E. T. Woodruff, after shuffling off the mortal coil would, in all probability, take the form of a fresh water Neptun and haunt the St. Johns river, also the canal—when it is cut.

D. C. Marlowe, distant relative to the famous Julia, and Sanford's Deane Swift, in his inimitable style pulled his famous flag speech as delivered during the recent conflict by one of our prominent "mochants." D. C. believes in helping us "see ourselves as others see us." Some of the local high lights were hoping that D. C. would only be allowed two minutes, but he went the limit to the great delight of all present. Forest Lake was anchor man for
