THE FIRST GIRL SCOUT Troop ever organized in Sanford. Many of the former members of this troop are now working closely with the efforts being made to form the Citrus Council, Girl Scouts. (Copy by Jameson)

JACK SCHIRARD, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Schirard Jr. of Sanford. Jack graduated this year from the University of Florida with a B.A. degree.

GS Fund Campaign May Be Extended

"It is possible," said Roy Noller, general chairman of the fund drive for the Citrus Council, Girl Scouts, "that the campaign for funds for the proposed Citrus Council, Girl Scouts, in Seminole County will be extended so that everyone in the county will have an opportunity to contribute."

The quota of just over $2,800 has not yet been met, Noller said today, in order to assure the Citrus Council, Girl Scouts, with its widespread plans for the youth and girls of Seminole County.

However, with an all-out campaign, officials of the local organization who have been planning the Girl Scout organization for this area are looking optimistically to the reaching of the small quota assigned to Seminole County to support the plans for expansion and added leadership for the girls.

In the meantime, Mayor F. D. Scott has proclaimed this week and the extended days for the campaign as "Girl Scout Week" in Sanford to provide an opportunity for those interested in the expansion of the Girl Scout activities here an opportunity to contribute to the financial success of the Girl Scout Organization.

Committees assigned various sections of the City, are hard at work completing their calls on the business leaders and civic leaders of the community in an attempt to reach the necessary quota to assure the Girl Scout organization for Seminole County.

Already, there are waiting lists for girls who wish to join Girl Scout troops in the City and county. However, leadership is limited until plans for the Citrus Council Girl Scouts of America are completed. The council, under the present plan, will take in a four-county area which includes Seminole, Osceola, Brevard, and Orange counties.

Hobbyist Makes N. Y. To Scotland 2-Stop Solo Flight

PRESTWICK, Scotland (AP)—Pete Gluckmann, 30-year-old San Francisco watermaster, flew in here today in his single-engine plane after a two-stop solo flight from New York.

It is Gluckmann's third solo Atlantic flight. Climbing out of his small yellow and brown plane, Gluckmann said the trip was uneventful except for bad weather on the 1,000-mile stretch between New York and Greenland. He left New York Monday and stopped at Greenland Island.

"I'm not tired," he said. "And I don't get lonely. There's plenty to do."

Gluckmann plans to fly to London to visit his parents and then on to Switzerland, Greece, Israel, Egypt, across Africa to Natal, over the Atlantic to Argentina and home.

"It's my hobby," he explained.

RATE INCREASES
TAMPA, (AP)—Pensacola Telephone Co. plans to ask a rate increase before the week is out, its president, Carl D. Bruner, told the New York Society of Security Analysts yesterday.

Bruner said the firm is earning about 8 per cent, substantially less than the 25 per cent allowed by the state utility commission. He said the utility commission is expected to raise the rate to 10 per cent.

A passenger car going completely out of control was declared a total loss by investigating officers yesterday.

The accident occurring shortly before 11 o'clock yesterday morning on West First Street about 700 feet outside of the City limits. Involved just one car.

Arthur Lee Overstreet, 36-year-old Negro of 408 East 8th Street, lost control of his car and smashed into a power pole which was snapped by the impact.

There were no injuries to the driver or to the occupants of the car other than Overstreet.

The car was a 1950 Ford green four-door sedan.

The arresting officer, Florida Highway Patrolman Carl Williams, charged Overstreet with operating his car with no driver's license.

Those investigating the crash were Patrolman Carl Williams, Constable J. Q. "Blim" Galloway, and Deputy Sheriff Denton Prout.

Parker Reported Planning To Quit Godfrey Shows

NEW YORK (AP)—Singer Frank Parker, one of the last veterans of the Arthur Godfrey shows, today was reported planning to quit the fold when his contract expires next month.

Parker, it was said, could have remained without a contract but would have been subject to call for appearances on the radio-TV programs on a nonexclusive basis.

"With no promise of work for the future, Frank feels he will be better off severing all future ties," the New York Journal-American quoted an unnamed CBS source as saying Parker had been with Godfrey 6 1/2 years, earning between $60,000 and $85,000 a year.

The Journal-American in its story, written by Jack O'Brian, commented that it was an unusual turn of affairs for anyone to quit Godfrey voluntarily, considering the conditions created in previous years by Godfrey's string of personnel.

In the current church year, the conference spent $10,927,880 of which $2,490,654 was for buildings and improvements and $1,488,334 for pastoral salaries.

Dr. Don A. Cooke of Jacksonville was re-elected secretary.

Latter Day Saints To Attend Confab

Members of the Sanford Branch of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints will attend a conference called by L. D. B. Antelias for June 17 in Orlando.

Berkley L. Bunker, now serving as president of the Southern States Mission of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormons), urges that all members of the Church try to attend this meeting.

President Bunker announced the general meetings on Sunday at 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. Several matters of importance to all will be brought up.

The Orlando Chapel is located on Lake Dot, corner of Trenton and Concord Sts.

President Bunker served as a Missionary in the Southern States under the late Apostle Charles A. Callis. After completing his Missionary Call he entered the Mortuary business in Las Vegas and later served as a U. S. Senator from Nevada.

Having no form of paid clergy, many of the Latter Day Saints serve as two-year Missionaries at their own expense and later when they are released they go into private business or otherwise obtaining livelihood. During the time of private business and while serving as a Senator much of President Bunker's spare time was spent in Church activities such as High Counselor and Ward Bishopric work.

The forthcoming meeting will include talks on the Mormons unique Missionary System of which President Bunker supervises in the South. All members and non-members are urged and cordially invited to attend either one or both Conference meetings at 10 P. M. and 2 A. M. on June 17 at the Orlando Chapel. The principal speaker is expected to be Henry B. Moyle, a member of the Council of the Twelve of the Church and a well-known individual and President Berkley L. Bunker.

Waiting for the Robert E. Lee" and "You're A Grand Old Flag" are the two curtain numbers by the entire cast.

Between curtains, special numbers will be offered and will include a trumpet solo, rainbow dance, guitar renditions, the Magic Baton, Black Face bob dance, and dialect readings.

Famous minstrel selections form a major portion of the program and Sanford minstrel and show lovers will hear again the singing of "The Birth of the Blues," "A Good Man Is Hard to Find," "Kentucky Babe," "Pray For the Lights to Go Out" and the "St. Louis Blues" just as they were heard on the original minstrel stage.

Waiting for the Robert E. Lee" and "You're A Grand Old Flag" are the two curtain numbers by the entire cast.

MIAMI (AP)—After July 6, electricity, gas and telephones will cost more in Miami.

City commission yesterday passed an ordinance raising the tax on utilities from 7 to 10 per cent on bills up to $25. Bills from $25 to $100 will continue to pay 7 per cent.

The new tax is expected to raise $200,000 a year.

Mediterranean Fruit Fly May Be In Seminole County

THE MEDITERRANEAN FRUIT FLY. Top, male; and bottom, female.

Grower Reports Infestation

There is a possibility that the Mediterranean Fruit Fly, causing havoc in the citrus industry in the southern part of the State, is now in Seminole County.

A report to The Sanford Herald yesterday from one grower indicated the possibility that the grove might be infested.

However, the infestation has not been identified up to the present time. The owner, reporting the possible presence of the Med-fly in the grove stated "the fruit, cut open, has an infestation of some sort. Every orange cut open has produced such an infestation."

It is expected that the infestation of the Seminole County grove will be examined and identified as early as possible.

In the meantime, reports have reached Sanford that the Central Florida area will be sprayed to combat the Mediterranean Fruit Fly in this area.

This morning, it was revealed that South Florida's campaign to wipe out the Mediterranean Fruit Fly will present a problem to automobile owners.

Federal experts, discussing the airplane spraying campaign to begin in Southern Florida next week, said yesterday that effect of the spray on paint is virtually nil if a hose is turned on the car immediately after the spray falls.

However, if falling drops are allowed to dry and bake in the sun, the spots will be hard to remove, they added.

Gov. Collins and Ervin L. Peterson assistant secretary of agriculture, were told that 80 per cent of the fruit flies are expected to be dead within 40 days after the campaign starts, but the other 20 per cent may require two years' effort.

Collins said there would be no question about adequate financing, with the drive expected to cost six million dollars during its first 60 days. The infestation covers 13 counties.

Peterson said it is general practice for a state to match federal funds dollar for dollar in a campaign of this nature. The federal government has made available 1 1/2 million dollars and will add $25,000 more July 1.

The Florida Cabinet has released only $200,000 but promised that all necessary funds will be made available.

Rotary Delegates Are Urged To Work Toward Friendship

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Delegates to the Rotary International convention were urged by their president-elect today to work toward "increasing the chain of friendship" among the people.

Giuseppe Paolo Lang, Livorno, Italy, in a speech prepared for the final session of the convention thanked the delegates from 88 countries for his election. The first Italian ever to head the organization, he takes office July 1.

"The whole world has had enough of the horrors of war," the 63-year-old Italian said. "All should live in peace, trying to understand each other's point of view, helping those who need help, and serving mankind."

"Let us give our wholehearted support in trying to bring people together, in joining men of different nationalities in the sentiment of mutual respect, sympathy and friendship."

Last night more than 370 Rotarians and their families in the Philadelphia area gave buffet suppers in their homes for groups of delegates before the convention's annual president's ball.

Talk On Juvenile Delinquency Heard At P-TA Course

Failure of some families to meet social changes realistically was blamed yesterday for the increase in juvenile delinquency, broken homes and mental illness.

Dr. Karl L. Kees, addressing over 1,000 Floridians including Mr. and Mrs. Carl Prescott from Seminole County, attending the 20th annual Parent-Teacher Assn. short course, said the family's role is more important than ever because of stresses of modern life coupled with emphasis on material rather than spiritual objectives.

The course was held at the Broward County Medical Center.

Ball Game Tonight To Benefit SHS Team

The Seminole High School baseball team will meet the Sanford Cardinals, a semi-pro team of the Lake-Orange League, tonight at Sanford Memorial Baseball Stadium in a benefit game slated to raise funds to carry the local baseball aggregation to the State Tournament at Fort Pierce.

Coach "Goose" Kettles is pitting his Seminole High School baseball players against a team composed of many former high school diamond stars including Ed and Ted Brooklyn, John Keeling Jr., and Lloyd Swain.

With a 16-1 record, the local high school team is given a more than even break to win tonight's diamond tussle. However, a greater optimism is being expressed in the outcome of the games to be played in Fort Pierce against State district champions in the contest for the statewide championship.

"Tonight's game is an important one for Sanford and Seminole County baseball fans, as well as those interested in the high school athletic program," said Athletic Director Fred Gans, "because funds derived from the gate receipts will mean that the local high school team's trip to the Fort Pierce State Tournament will be financed."

The Seminole High School's Colery Fed baseball team will play their first game in the State Tournament Monday afternoon at 8 o'clock when they meet the baseball aggregation from Gainesville in the Class A section of the playoffs.

The next game of the series will be played Wednesday night at 9 p. m. between the winners of the Seminole High-Gainesville and the Gainesville-Avon Park contests.

The championship game between the winners in the Class A and the Class AA sections will be played Friday night at 8 p. m. Seminole High School Colery Fed baseball team is expected to leave Sanford for Fort Pierce Sunday afternoon in order to be ready for their first game Monday.

Senate Recesses Until Monday

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—The Senate today recessed until 4:30 p. m. Monday after making another effort to call off the extraordinary reappointment session until Nov. 11.

The House quit until 4 p. m. Monday.

Immediately after convening this morning, the Senate again passed and sent to the House a resolution providing for an extended recess.

The House refused yesterday to vote the long recess and today again declined before learning from the Supreme Court whether the governor has authority to summon the legislators into special session to deal with emergency matters during a recess of the current session.

Professor Says 'Grapevine' Is Getting Respectability; Try It!

The "grapevine" — or rumor factory, or scuttlebutt — is getting respectability. For one thing, there's a Ph. D. college professor, who has made it his life's work. Like most other people, this college professor realizes that one of the most remarkable things about the grapevine is its reliability. But, he notes, the more commonplace the topic of the rumor, the more accurate it is carried over the grapevine. Big news tends to get distorted.

As capricious as it is, "the grapevine isn't anything to fear," the professor advises. "It's there working for you or against you, whether you know it or not. You might as well get in on it yourself."

He isn't advocating rumor-spreading just for the heck of it. "The grapevine serves a deep psychological need," the professor says. "It helps relieve pent-up feelings and gives a sense of security."

We presume he excludes rumors about how the boss is about to fire you in favor of his bright young nephew, or transfer you to the branch office in Alaska.

The best way to become convinced that the "grapevine" is worth while is to try one on yourself—start a good one of yourself and tabulate the results as the stories come back to you.

Bad Driving Habits

Men and women are as much creatures of habit in driving as in anything they do. This fact can be used to advantage. Unfortunately it also can lead to a lot of trouble. Not long ago, a man having coffee with a friend said something like this:

"You know, it's just occurred to me that I broke the law three times on the way over here from the bank. In the first place, there wasn't much traffic—and no police cars in sight—when I came out of the parking area, so I ignored the 'no left turn' sign and saved myself going around the block.

"Then I was barreling along maybe 10 miles above the speed limit when I noticed a speed check car parked nearby. That slowed me down a little and in a hurry too.

"And when I pulled up outside the drug store there really wasn't quite room for another car, but I parked with my rear end well into the no parking zone. Hope no one sideswipes me coming around the corner."

"Maybe you'd better move it before someone does," the other man said.

So the penitent driver went out, waved at his friend—and did a sharp U turn away from the curb, narrowly missing a car that rounded the corner just then.

This case history illustrates the point that man risks an accident four times within a few minutes because his driving habits were bad. His luck held. But if he had been in the habit of obeying traffic signs and observing traffic laws, he wouldn't have had to depend on luck.

Just recently, several incidents of "running a stop sign" have occurred at several important intersections here in Sanford. Parking in improper places is another bad habit here.

Good habits are just as easy to form as the bad ones. But when the habits become imbedded into our daily driving, it's hard to change them.

It's better to change, though—than risk your life.

There are about 10 million trucks in the United States. An afternoon on a Florida highway will convince a man that he's encountered all of them.

Anyone who thinks he is living dangerously can get a laugh at himself by watching the sparrow that frequents the streets and darts from the path of approaching autos a thousand times a day.

Weather

Few things reveal character and temperament more surely than reaction to the weather. Some people are enlivened by sunshine, angered by wind, depressed by cloudy skies, saddened by rain. Some, more phlegmatic, pay little attention to the weather; others philosophize about it.

Still others gripe no matter what the day brings. The weather rarely, if ever, satisfies them. If it's a fine day, then they figure may be that means a bum weekend.

Consider this bit of safe counter dialogue, which topped off a sparkling exchange of pleasantries about the weather on a dismal day:

First man: "Well, it's a slow spring, but we might have a late fall."

Second man: (With an air of hard-earned wisdom) "We might have an early fall, too."

Anyway, it looks like a windy summer.

Russians Settle Puzzling Question

By JAMES HARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Russians have settled a question which has puzzled Westerners ever since the mid-1950s when Stalin purged thousands of his Communist party comrades.

An astonishing parade of Old Bolsheviks continued in open court crimes against the state, knowing it meant they were not only signing their own death sentences but giving the whole thing an air of justice.

What made it amazing was that these old-time revolutionists were picturing themselves as betrayers of the Revolution to which they had devoted their lives. Had they really done it? Were they guilty at all?

Had they perhaps been induced through some strange Communist reasoning, into confessing what they had never done even though it seemed them? Had they been hypnotized or drugged? Or what had happened?

Westerners wondered and had no way of knowing. Novelist Arthur Koestler wrote a book "Darkness at Noon," which gave an explanation that seemed plausible to many people for whom the Communist mentality was strange anyway.

The Old Bolshevik in his story, subjected to endless questioning and suggestion by his inquisitors in the dungeons of Moscow, confessed even though he was innocent. Keeping his own life was needed, he thought it best to confess where the party wanted it and he wanted to do what was good for the party.

This kind of interpretation of what happened in the purge put the whole business on a kind of intellectual plane. It was unacceptable to a lot of realistic people who looked on Koestler as a romantic.

It was hard to believe these Old Bolsheviks hadn't been broken by single police brutality. Then after the Korean War revealed the Red Chinese brainwashing techniques it seemed possible that what happened in the purge. The Communist party had party Congress last February — told what did happen to "many thousands of Communists" when Stalin had them arrested in the 1950s.

In that speech — a version of which was obtained by the U. S. State Department and made public this week — Khrushchev said they were beaten and tortured in the "most cruel and barbaric and inhuman way" into confessing.

He said "innocent" Communists broke under the police treatment and charged themselves at the order of their torturers, with "all kinds of grave and unlikely crimes."

Khrushchev gave an example: 98 of the 120 Communists elected to the Central Committee — the party's controlling body — were arrested and shot.

Worse still, Khrushchev said that in beating a confession out of one man, they forced him falsely to accuse others. Then the police grabbed these others, beat confessions out of them, forced them to implicate still others. It was an endless bloody chain.

Khrushchev said Stalin gave instructions on how the arrested men should be treated. The instructions he gave Khrushchev said, usually were: Beat! beat! and once again beat.

Khrushchev blew all the Western romantics' high-sound theories about the Moscow purge out the window. Stalin's police didn't waste any time on intellectuality. They used force and persuasion to get what they wanted.

RED FORGIVENESS DOUBTED
RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The Richmond Public Library held what it termed "Forgiveness Week" — a whole week when the library charged no fines for overdue books.

One book which turned up was "Grammar of the Arts." It was borrowed from the library 21 years ago.

A bound file of 12 anti-Communist periodicals of 1936 vintage also was turned in. It was marked "Moose Public Library," but apparently the prankster didn't believe in "Forgiveness Week." The file, devoted to art and literature and published by Russian allies in Manchuria, had this written on it:

"Five rubles for each day overdue — Siberia. Twelve months overdue means public trial. Defendant furnished with complete confession."

Industry Finds New Lease On Life

By SAM DAWSON
PITTSBURGH (AP) — The once all-American coal industry first hit the comeback trail by meeting the needs of Western Europe. Now in 1964, the U. S. Coal Exporters Assn. says exports of American coal last year were around 33 million tons, more than double the 1954 volume. Domestic use is rising this year as the capacity output of the steel industry, the growing use of coal by the expanding electric power utilities, and by the

Two Fights Going On Over Defense Spending

WASHINGTON — After the Korean War, the military asked for 104 billion dollars. It got 60 billion, and it still hasn't spent all that.

For next year, it started out asking for 40 1/2 billion. That figure already has been trimmed to 35 1/2, and Congress still hasn't gone to work on it.

"If we had everything the war plans called for, we would have garrisoned states consuming 30 percent of the gross national product," says a top government economist.

Actually, there are two big fights going on in Washington today over defense spending.

One is the struggle between the services for a bigger cut of the defense dollar. This is the one which broke into open bickering among top military brass within the past few weeks, and which led to the first thorough public assessment in years of U. S. and which went before Congress to lay out the defense budget for fiscal 1967 of 35 1/2 billion dollars. The Air Force was to get $16,518,000,000 the Navy $10,382,000,000 and the Army $7,899,000,000. The rest would go to department operating costs.

Originally, the Air Force has asked Wilson for $18,881,000,000, the Navy for $12,288,000,000 and the Army for $8,810,000,000.

As cut, the Air Force budget would provide almost as much money as the Army and Navy combined. The fight was in the open. To the Army and Navy this appeared as a continuation of the "new look."

Essentially, the whole dispute boils down to this: The Army believes that it is being starved into insignificance, but that before any war is won, the man with the tommygun is going to have to root the enemy from his foxhole no matter how many bombs the Air Force drops.

Further, the Army believes that with the coming of the atomic shell it will have to disperse its units and therefore will need more men.

The Navy believes the Air Force is trying to strip it of its strategic bombing role. It does not want to be relegated to antisubmarine warfare and transportation of troops and supplies.

The Navy contends its carriers are capable of ranging the perimeter of Europe and Asia, bombarding Russia with surprise attacks—that the carriers are less vulnerable to guided missiles than fixed land bases.

As for the Air Force, it maintains that strategic bombing is strictly its department, that the Army would be mostly a mop-up police force in the next war and that the Navy is wasting money by building carriers which can be torpedoed and bombed.

Out of these basic differences has grown another quarrel over missiles. Each service claims superior missile. But in what category should the missile be? Is it an extension of the Army's artillery? The Navy's carriers? Or the Air Force bomber?

Nor is the Army happy over the present strategic picture. Ten of its 19 divisions are overseas, scattered from Japan to Germany.

Each faces a potential enemy, and both the Army and the Air Force acknowledge that they do not have the equipment to airlift a division of reinforcements overseas to meet an emergency.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF
AT A HOLLYWOOD BANQUET, the speaker quoted the late Will Rogers' famous dictum, "I have never met a man I didn't like." A guest, carrying the torch for a gal who just had left him, bound for Reno, nodded sadly and murmured, "My wife felt exactly the same way."

A red-faced cop caught up with a little lady driving in her coupe. "Didn't you hear me yelling for you to stop?" he demanded.

"Goodness sakes, officer, was that you?" asked the little lady innocently. "I thought it was someone I had run over."

A movie starlet was taken in hand by a clergyman who proposed to baptize her. "In yonder brook," he told her "I aim to wash away all your sins."

"Go 'long with you, Parson," chuckled the cheeecake deal. "In that it bitty old creek!"

Unightly Facial Scars Can Often Be Removed

By NERMAN H. DUNN, M.D.
DON'T doom yourself to a life of life simply because of what you see in the mirror. This usually takes only 30 facial scars caused by acne, or 30 seconds.

The cream serves as a local anesthetic and also solidifies the skin, presenting an even, hard workable surface.

Propelled by an electric motor, the steel brush whirrs around at 12,000 revolutions per minute. By slowly moving it up and down the scarred area, the doctor planes away the scars, much as you would plane a piece of wood.

Different width brushes are used, depending upon the size of the scars and the area being treated. Ordinarily, only about 12 square inches are treated at one time, although both cheeks and the forehead can be done in one sitting.

Generally, only one abrasive treatment produces excellent results. Healing is usually complete within two weeks.

If necessary, the procedure may be repeated in about six weeks.

Q: Are sebaceous cysts dangerous and should they be removed?

A: Sebaceous cysts are usually harmless. However, if they are infected and become inflamed, they should be removed surgically.

Herlong Reports

We are getting closer and closer to the completion of legislative action on the federal highway bill. The version passed by the Senate is a little different from the one the House adopted. This means that there must be a conference between the ranking members of the House and Senate Public Works Committee to iron out these differences. The principal area of difference is in the matter of how the funds will be distributed. I am contacting the conference urging them to support the House version of the bill. It will mean about $7 million more a year to Florida than the Senate version.

I understand there are no conflicts in the tax provisions where the money is raised to "pay as you build" on the program. This means that our Ways and Means Committee will not be involved in the conference. All of us are eager to get started on the program.

I took advantage of the fact that Memorial Day came in the middle of the week, sandwiched in between the Florida and California primaries, to spend a week at home in the district. The fact that no controversial legislation and no votes were scheduled for this time made it an ideal occasion to come home where I have had the opportunity to make some comment addresses. Ah, the beauty of a high school graduation!

On Jan. 24 Secretary of Defense (D) The young ladies were never more beautiful, and the boys matured the transition into men as gracefully as a 17 or 18 year old boy can—it is really wonderful. The determined look in their eyes when they get their diplomas leaves me with the feeling that things in our world are going to be all right when these young folks take up their responsibilities.

Even so, the United States in 1963 chose the policy of "massive retaliation," and the Air Force, which would be charged with delivering the big bomb, was given the leading role in defense.

Out of this background came this year's explosion before the House and Senate Appropriations Committee and Sen. Stuart Symington's special armed forces subcommittee to investigate air power.

With Korea, strategic thinking ran smack into the possibility that the most fearful new weapons, however necessary as a deterrent to all-out war, might never be used; that instead there might be a series of "little wars," fought with so-called conventional weapons.

Another lure for companies to build new plants along the Ohio is the cheap transportation afforded by river barges.

In Washington, defense planners smile on the projects, since they mean a dispersal of industries once concentrated in the older industrial centers, a goal of the military in planning for possible air attack.

Leher in an interview, "is war planning. A commander asks for what he needs to win. The requirements always exceed what possibly can be made available. After the start of the Korean War, for example, the military asked for 2 1/2 times as much as it was possible for the economy to produce if the civilians got nothing.

"The only way to solve this situation is to call in the civilians and have them take a look. You've got to figure in segments of gross national product and what per cent of industry can be devoted to defense needs. There is no point in asking for 'X' number of aircraft if industry can't produce them."

Farmers To Get Payments

BY OVID A. MARTIN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Farmers will get payments under the government's new $1,200,000,000 surplus bank program only for what they themselves do to reduce production of crops now in surplus.

They will get no payments on reductions caused by nature through drought, floods, hail, storms, insects and the like.

Agriculture Department officials said this will be the rule in fixing payments under the soil bank plan for 1946 crops.

The soil bank is designed to reduce production of such crops as corn, peanuts, rice and tobacco by the offer of government subsidies to farmers for planting other crops than are allotted them.

The farmer may plow under a crop immature and get a soil bank payment but only on the amount of the estimated production thus eliminated.

These rulings greatly narrow the 1945 program from that indicated by Secretary of Agriculture Benson at a news conference May 31. At that time, his comments and a press release distributed by his department were interpreted as indicating that any immature crop—whether it had good or poor prospects—would be eligible for full payment if plowed up.

Benson put a different light on the program in a speech last night at Beaver Dam, Wis.

"To the end that I am able to help to see that the nation gets a dollar's worth of surplus reduction or a dollar's worth of conservation for every dollar paid out," he said. "We should not add load upon the program responsibility for drought relief, flood relief and credit needs."

The administration has proposed to determine the size of payments for underplanting allotments by multiplying the normal yield of the idled acres by a crop rate. These rates have been set at 90 cents a bushel for corn, $1.20 for wheat, 15 cents a pound for cotton and $2.25 a hundred pounds for rice. No rates have yet been set for peanuts and tobacco.

Thus a farmer who ploughed up 10 acres of corn having a normal yield of 50 bushels an acre would get a soil bank payment of 500 times 90 cents or $450.

But under a payment method tentatively adopted for this year, the yield of ploughed-up land would not be based on the normal figure, but on an appraisal of the crop outlook at the time the farmer applied.

Thus if a field which normally produced 50 bushels was appraised at 20 bushels because of adverse weather, the payment for ploughing under each idled acre would be 20 times 90 cents or $18. That would be only $180 for 10 acres.

A series of gospel meetings will be held at the Church of Christ, Second St. and Elm Ave., starting Sunday and continuing through June 30, Minister Ralph Brewer, Jr., announced today. The guest speaker for the evening services to be held each night at 7:45 p. m. will be Sam Binkley of Pensacola, a former minister of the local church. Possibilities that the Lake Monroe Causeway connecting the French Ave. thoroughway with 17-92 across the river, and into Volusia County with the tie-in just south of Orange City will be constructed soon became eminent yesterday when the Board of Volusia County Commissioners passed a resolution, already mailed to the State Road Board and to State Road Department District Engineer Richie Greene, requesting a "survey of the costs and feasibility of the causeway."

Norman Bryant, a Jacksonville engineer who conducted a preliminary survey on the "possibilities of the causeway" said "if turned loose on the project we will be ready to award bids before the first of the year."

The total cost of the causeway and highway into the Sanford connecting link at French Ave. and Seminole Blvd. has been estimated at four and a half million dollars.

"Already in the budget," according to Road Board member William Dial of Orlando, "are the necessary funds for the highway north of Orange City to the St. Johns River."

John Krider, Sanford City Commissioner and Seminole County Commissioner-elect, said yesterday "Everybody's said on it."

At a meeting with the State Road Board, local officials were told that the causeway would be under construction within 15 months if the Boards of County Commissioners of both Seminole and Volusia counties desired it.

"Otherwise," Dial told the local officials, "the entire area will be by-passed with a road that will cross the St. Johns River above the present bridge."

"In addition," said Dial, "the proposed highway that would by-pass Sanford as well as other points in Volusia County would not be ready for construction for possibly four or five years."

Seminole County Board of Commissioners Chairman W. Brown Miller has called a special meeting of the Seminole County Board for 10 o'clock tomorrow morning to consider a similar resolution as the one passed by the Volusia County Board.

It was pointed out this morning that the causeway would be constructed at no cost to either Seminole or Volusia Counties. The entire construction cost will be underwritten by toll charges.

The cost of the survey, requested by the two Boards of Commissioners will be $25,000 which will be paid for by the State Road Board.

Father Will Induct Son In Rotary

The members of the Sanford Rotary Club at its regular weekly meeting next Monday noon at the Yacht Club will witness a rather unusual ceremony when Morton McDonald of DeLand will induct his son, Thomas R. into membership in the local club. Tommy, as he will in the future be called by his fellow members who customarily call each other by their first or some nickname, will be the fourth member of the McDonald clan to become a Rotarian. His father, a past president of the DeLand Club and a Past District Governor of Rotary International has two other sons, F. Morton McDonald and William R. (Bill) McDonald who are members of the DeLand Club. Both will be present at the Monday meeting to see Tommy inducted.

The senior McDonald, a past president of the Florida Title Assn. is at this time President of the American Title Association and is presently in Chicago attending a national convention of abstractors. He will fly home Sunday to attend the Sanford meeting.

An interested guest at the luncheon ceremony will be Samuel D'Ambrosia, of Longwood, well-known nationally as the Italian-American who, on coming to this country many years ago, vowed that he would show his respect for the American flag in a daily ritual of a flag-raising and salute and the depositing of five cents in a fund to be mailed yearly to the Treasurer of the United States in appreciation of his being permitted to dwell in the "Land of the Free and The Home of the Brave." His act of patriotism has been going on for over 37 years and has been acclaimed by press and radio. His appearance locally will be in connection with Flag Day which falls on Thursday, June 14.

Vocational School Awards Certificates

The Seminole County Vocational School completed the school year with the awarding of certificates in typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, office practice, commercial English, commercial law, and filing. Fifty-six certificates were issued to students satisfactorily completing these courses. During the year, the school placed 65 students in permanent office positions, and 25 students in temporary jobs.

On the last day of school, teachers and students enjoy a school luncheon. Laura Krueger and Rounette Sulplizio were in charge of planning the affair. Mrs. Gladys Hall, principal, presented each student with a miniature diploma. This closed another successful school year for the Seminole County Vocational School.

The evening department of the school will remain open during the summer months offering courses in bookkeeping, typing, and business arithmetic.

A meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Seminole County Court House will give every citizen of the county an opportunity to air their problems regarding water supply.

Called by the committee chairman for Seminole County, Bonner L. Carter and W. W. Lutz, the water problems will be aired and inventoried. Individuals and organizations, as well as municipalities, industries, recreational groups, or agriculture, and the problems they have encountered or they may face in the future are expected to voice their opinions regarding them.

Couple Celebrates 50th Anniversary; Reception Is Held

By MARY FOWLER
Mr. and Mrs. George Wakefield of De Bary welcomed guests to their Golden Wedding anniversary Wednesday afternoon, at the Chimney Corners near DeLand, Masses of gold roses, gladioli and chrysanthemums adorned the reception room centered with a beautifully decorated table holding a massive wedding cake and festive punch bowls.

Toasting the health of the couple, who were very young at their nuptial ceremony in Oxford, Mass., on June 8, 1906, friends gathered around to compliment them on appearing still much too young for this story of "half a century of wedded life." They backed up their assertions with descriptions of intensive landscaping and horticultural interests of the couple, followed by social afternoons at neighborhood parties and cooperation in civic endeavors; all this too fatiguing for the most hardy, but never wearying to the Wakefields.

George and Louise started living in De Bary six years ago when it was a tiny community and they have been most active in its growth and progress. Their lovely home, set in deep lawns, flower beds and backed with a flourishing young citrus grove, has been the

President Stricken With Inflammation; Taken To Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower was stricken today with an inflammation of the lower intestine, and will be taken to Walter Reed Hospital.

The White House said it was "a precautionary measure," and that there was no "indication of any heart trouble."

The White House announced at 12:25 p. m. EDT that Eisenhower would be taken to Walter Reed by ambulance shortly.

Asked whether the President's condition could be regarded as critical, White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, replied: "I have not used any adjectives."

The President was stricken early today, White House Physician Howard M. Snyder was called to his bedside at 2 a. m. EDT.

Hagerty said in his noonday report he was not going to attempt to reach any conclusion on his own as a layman. He said he would leave that to the physicians.

Hagerty said the President has had one intravenous injection by dextrose sugar. He said Dr. Snyder has called in Dr. Francis Reed, chief of medicine at Walter Reed, for consultation.

No Indication Med Fruit Fly In Grove

"There was no indication that the Mediterranean Fruit Fly had infested the Seminole County orange grove," John W. Wilson, entomologist at the Central Florida Experiment Station, said last night.

However, Wilson pointed out that the deduction was made only from the fact that was brought to the Experiment Station yesterday afternoon by the grove owner.

Although the appearance of the infestation in the fruit taken from the grove had all the indications of the Mediterranean Fruit Fly, it is evidently some other type of insect, Wilson explained.

"This deduction should not cause this grove owner or other grove owners in the county to relax," Wilson explained. "Neither should this grove owner discontinue efforts to ascertain whether or not the Mediterranean Fruit Fly exists in the grove from which the oranges were obtained."

The owner of the grove stated yesterday that the oranges from the grove were infested with a burrowing type of insect that had penetrated the rind of the fruit in which eggs appeared similar to that of the Mediterranean Fruit Fly that has been found in many of the groves in the southern portion of the State.

About eight oranges from the grove, in which there was a possibility that the Mediterranean Fruit Fly had infested, were taken to the Central Florida Experiment Station yesterday afternoon in order that the infestation be identified.

The exact type of insect has not yet been identified but it was brought out by the grove owner that every orange in the grove

Jets Need Landing Room

The Sanford Naval Air Station may be moved to another Seminole County site, according to unofficial and unconfirmed reports from Washington this morning.

A survey team recently looked over the Osceola strip in Seminole County and has taken into consideration the possibilities of using the long runways there for tactical operations of the local Navy Base.

Only one of the runways at the Sanford Naval Air Station is long enough to accommodate the huge jet planes that will operate and train here.

There will be somewhat of an expansion at the local base, according to news from Washington following talks with the Navy Department through the office of Congressman Syd Herlong.

This morning's release regarding the local Navy Station came from Congressman Syd Herlong following his commencement address at a Summerfield Fla. high school.

The Sanford Naval Air Station is not being contemplated as a complete move to the new base. Any part of a move would not be made in less than six years, according to information from Washington this morning.

The use of the Osceola Air strip is still being studied by the Navy Department and statements concerning its use, or any move regarding the local base, would not be ready for release before approximately six months.

Sanford and Seminole County citizens can be assured, said Congressman Herlong's office, that the Sanford Naval Air Station will not be reduced or closed—it will stay in operation with the Osceola strip could be placed in readiness.

There are possibilities that the Osceola strip would be used as a Satellite Base to the Sanford Naval Air Station and the local base maintained as a "homebase" and maintenance station with approximately the same number of men and size of operations as are now being conducted there.

Congressman Herlong could not be reached for comment today. He left Ocala this morning for Washington and is expected to arrive there sometime tomorrow.
