Nation's Weather

storms today.

Tornadoes which ripped through six Southern states killed one school girl and injured 40 persons.

High waters still plagued areas in Nebraska, Montana and Iowa. But a cold snap checked, at least temporarily, the flow of flood waters. Many, however, remained homeless.

Snow and rain fell over many areas in the South, Midwest and Plains states. Temperatures dropped to below zero in parts of Montana, the Dakotas, Minnesota and Michigan. Pemina, N. D., reported a low of -10 and the mercury dipped to -8 at Miles City, Mont.

Below freezing weather extended from the Oklahoma-Texas panhandle across most of the Central states and northward to eastern Wyoming.

A heavy band of snow fell from Springfield, Mo., northward to St. Louis and there were fairly heavy falls in parts of southern Illinois and in Indiana. Light snow fell today in parts of the Dakotas, Wyoming and Nebraska and there was rain or snow in areas of California, Oregon and Nevada.

The tornadic winds swept from Berdiller, in southeastern Louisiana, through Mississippi, Arkansas, Tennessee, and then struck at Columbus, Ga., and at Birmingham, Ala. At Terry, Miss., part of a five-room school was demolished and one pupil killed and 23 others hurt. Heavy rains accompanied the high winds in many areas.

Rain fell today over most of Kentucky southward across western Tennessee into parts of Georgia and North Carolina. Temperatures were lower in most of the west Gulf states.

representation.

"Remove the growing fear of eviction that haunts over millions of American families," he pleaded. As debate on the 15-months extender was ready to start in the House, Democratic leaders, aware of strong opposition, began talking of possible compromise. Such a compromise might stress "reasonable" profits for landlords.

The Senate filibuster is being engineered by Southern members and proposed new rule which would make it easier to curb filibusters. They fear if their right of unlimited debate is removed, President Truman's "Civil rights" program may be enacted.

Democratic Leader Senator Lucia said if today's big move fails, President Truman's civil rights program could be effectively blocked for some time to come.

Trans-Jordan, Israeli Sign Battle Truce

Agreement Is Pre-lude To Armistice; Pact Pledges Both Nations To Peace

RHODES, Mar. 11—(AP)—Israel and Trans-Jordan signed a formal cease fire agreement today for their entire front in Palestine.

The agreement is a necessary prelude to a full armistice. It pledges Israel and her neighbor across the Jordan not to attack one another.

There was no immediate indication of the effect of this upon the Aqaba situation. United Nations observers were intensifying a check into reports from Amman, Trans-Jordan's capital, that Israeli troops were attacking in the area between the Dead Sea and the Trans-Jordan Red Sea port of Aqaba. Israel has denied this.

Reports from Amman quoted the Trans-Jordan government as saying early today that fighting still was in progress in the Aqaba area.

The cease fire agreement signed here does not include the triangle of eastern Palestine, the Nablus-Tulkarm-Jenin area, where Iraqi troops were stationed. U. S. officials here still awaited a reply from Iraq whether Trans-Jordan delegation is authorized to negotiate in Iraq's behalf.

The Iraqi premier said in Baghdad Monday the Trans-Jordan delegates did not represent Iraq at the talks.

No map accompanied the agreement, but it is understood that it freezes the present lines in Palestine. The Arab Legion holds the old walled city area of Jerusalem, and the Jews the modern city. The Trans-Jordan Arab Legion controls the area east of Jerusalem and the Trans-Jordan frontier.

The cease-fire agreement, ordinarily just a formal prelude to an armistice, took on increased importance in the light of Trans-Jordan's complaints that a strong Israeli force has been on the move in the Aqaba area and had to be "stopped" by Arab Legion troops.

Col. Moshe Dayan and Beuben Shiloah signed the cease fire here for Israel, and Col. Ahmad El Jundi and Lieut. Col. Mohammed Maynay signed for Trans-Jordan. These are the points of agreement:

1. A general cease fire between the armed forces of two parties shall be effective as of date of signing of this agreement.

2. The general cease fire shall be complete and enduring and shall apply to all elements of military forces under the command of the signatory parties, land, sea and air, wherever located, and shall extend to all sectors in which armed forces of the two parties are found in proximity to each other.

3. No element of ground or air forces of either party shall advance beyond or pass over lines or positions now held by the foremost elements of its ground forces and no element of air or naval forces of either party shall enter or pass over water adjacent to the coastline now held by the other party for any purpose whatsoever.

4. Complete supervision of the truth by United Nations observers shall be allowed and facilitated.

5. Movements of civilians shall not occur from one side to the other except by mutual agreement of the parties.

6. This general cease fire agreement (Continued on Page Eight)

Miami Hotel Is '49 State Citrus Robbed By Four To Be 6 Million Masked Bandits Under Last Year

Police Report Cash, Gems Valued At $26,000 Are Stolen

MIAMI BEACH, Mar. 11—(P)—Four masked bandits tied up the Florida citrus crop estimates for the year are 6,000,000 under guest at the Embassy Hotel early last year, but remain unchanged today and calmly looted the cash drawer and safety deposit boxes of $26,000 in cash and jewelry, police reported.

Robert Metcalf, the clerk, said he was busy when the bandits entered the lobby shortly before 5:00 A. M.

The bandits forced Metcalf, the lobby boy and a young woman guest to lie down on lounge in the lobby and bury their heads in pillows and took more than an hour to systematically loot the hotel office, Metcalf told police.

Metcalf said he examined the hotel's safety deposit强boxes and found 43 of the 48 boxes left there by guests were missing. He (Continued on Page Eight)

Italy Okays Atlantic Pact Participation

Cabinet Accepts Invitation To Help In Final Draft Of System Of Defense

ROME, Mar. 11—(AP)—Italy's government has approved participation in the Atlantic Pact. Premier Alcide De Gasperi told Parliament today.

He said the Cabinet unanimously accepted an invitation to help in the final draft of an Atlantic Defense System. Foreign Minister Carlo Sforza had informed the Cabinet earlier in the day of the principal conditions of the projected alliance.

The chamber of deputies was crowded as De Gasperi made his announcement.

The premier said the clause of the new treaty is not yet public, but said they included provisions for mutual assistance, consultations if any member of the alliance is attacked, collective measures and contributions to defense.

The collective defense measures, De Gasperi added, do not automatically bind a signatory nation to wage active war.

When the premier ended his talk, Pietro Nenni, leader of the Socialist Party's pro-Communist wing, launched an attack on the government and the pact itself.

This intervention, he said, was obtained yesterday when he and U. S. Senator Strom Thurmond, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, met in Washington.

The two men, who have been close friends since the days of Mussolini's regime, had dinner together at the Hotel Savoia.

Both men agreed that the new pact would be a good thing, especially if it included Italy.

De Gasperi, however, said that the new pact would be a good thing, especially if it included Italy.

BIBLE VERSE TODAY

But your offering is quite as acceptable as that of the king.
The widow's mite was magnified by Christ to first importance.
2 Kings 10:12: The king approached the altar and offered thereon.

The little island republic of Cuba takes the hide off the Russian bear which gives us some idea of what little Finland or Czechoslovakia would have to say if the Russian bear weren't so close at hand.

President Truman deplores the misuse of the word democracy as frequently found in the propaganda from Russia which seems to imply that true democracy can only be achieved when the people are the servants of the state. We too deplore the growing misuse of time-tested words. We deplore the misuse of the word liberalism in this country which has been twisted from its original meaning of freedom from too much governmental regulation to implying such centralized regulation, supervision, and control as to make the politicians masters of the people.

Northern politicians who denounce the loudest the Southern filibuster to preserve the right to filibuster against federal interference in the South's handling of its racial problems are those who know the least about the problem. Young, inexperienced leftist Representative Humphrey of Minnesota, serving his first term in the House of Representatives, is one of those who has all the answers on how to get the white people of the South to get along with the negroes. He would allow all to vote, whether they can read or write. He would abolish segregation, putting colored children into white schools, white children into colored schools. This, he thinks, would solve the problem.
Coming from a state where they have 9,928 negroes in a total population of 2,792,500 people, he knows all about the racial problem.

There were seven automobile accidents recently in one night on the Deland-Daytona Highway. Four people were killed in similar accidents in Miami the other day. More and more accidents are daily occurring almost everywhere in direct proportion with the more ready availability of automobiles and trucks. What makes matters infinitely worse is that in the "this brave new world" we are creating, many a person is driving an automobile today who never drove one before, never even dreamed of driving one.
That may be all right when the new automobile drivers, a youngster of 17 or 18, with good eyes, quick reflexes. But when you take an old goat of forty, who doesn't know a clutch from a throttle, or put him behind a steering wheel, trying to teach an old dog new tricks, as it were, look out.

At exactly what point does it cease to be a virtue to abstain from the use of force, and become a duty? The question often arises when someone refers to you as an S. O. B., or questions your integrity, in which case the charge should always be accompanied by a smile, as "The Virginian used to say."
Woodrow Wilson once insisted, when he was telling people how he was out of war, that "There is such a thing as being too proud to fight. But we got over that quick enough once the election was held."
Now comes John Foster Dulles, U.
S. delegate to the United Nations, world's greatest peace organization, who says that the United States has a responsibility to use force to prevent terrorism. "Force may be un-Christian," he admits, "but sometimes it is better to use force than to stand silent and let your own country be undermined." Whether we like it or not, force is more a part of our world's daily diet than ham and eggs. The more we're wrong, the more we're in a starving world.

Intelligence Quotient

Nearly always there is a good argument going on in educational circles about the value of intelligence tests in classifying school students according to their ability to learn. Critics claim, among other things, that the intelligence quotient, or IQ, is not really a measure of ability to learn, but only of what already has been learned.

One of the defenders of the IQ test is Dr. Lewis M. Terman of Stanford University, who has published the findings of a long study of a group of children whose IQ scores put them in the "genius" class. His study, covering about 28 years, followed these extraordinary children to learn how they made out in life. He found they fared better than average, not necessarily in making money but in the matter of income they did a little better than average, indicating that genius at least is rewarded with its keep, if not with its due.

Dr. Terman suggested, however, that both society and the individuals would reap more benefit from unusually good minds if the children with high IQ scores were given special schooling. This can be done most simply by permitting such children to progress through their schooling as rapidly as they can, and he said that, contrary to general opinion, speeded-up schooling for brilliant children does not harm them either physically or socially. His idea invites consideration. We have plenty of use for the abilities of our best minds.

Easy Money

The lure of easy money always seems strong enough to push common sense into the background. The spread of the "Pyramid Club" scheme is the latest general illustration of this fact. The "Pyramid" plan is a get-rich-quick scheme like the old chain letter racket, using personal contacts in place of letters. Postal authorities keep such a sharp watch for chain letters these days that there is no longer enough profit in promoting them to justify the risks. So a new one has been thought up.

Why do people fall for such rackets? A few minutes in detached thought—detached from rosy dreams of how the jackpot is going to be spent—will show that they just can't work out except for the few people who originate the chain. Common sense is against it. For those who prefer statistics to common sense, mathematicians offer the fact that a single "pyramid," to operate for thirty days, would have to find membership as many people as there are in the United States. The same cold facts apply to all chain letter and chain membership get-rich-quick schemes.

If it is impossible to win, who gets the money? The answer is that the promoters of the idea, the few who get together and get a chain or a club going, reap the profits. The rest are just suckers, and the chuds will come to an abrupt end for want of more suckers. This has been shown by the shortness of life of the "Pyramid Clubs" in my given locality.

The Right To Work

In these days when one hears so much talk about civil rights, it is refreshing to get such a viewpoint as that expressed by a Southern Negro, J. L. Alexander, a junior at Duke University in Durham, North Carolina. "People talk about equal rights," he remarked. "Well, I say we've already got equal rights where they matter most: The right to help ourselves be better citizens."

And to that goal J. L. Alexander is devoting his utmost energies. His story is related in the Chattanooga Times. He had been concerned about the unwholesome lack of recreational facilities in his neighborhood in which he resided—a lack that forced children to play in the streets, a breeding place of irresponsibility and delinquency. He held to the philosophy that happy, well-trained children today are the makings of good citizens tomorrow. He determined to do something about his belief, and the result is a fine community project which he has undertaken in Durham's Walfountain district, where more than 1,000 Negroes reside.

He began an uphill fight for his project—uphill because of the difficulty of convincing his own people of the need for recreational facilities—in 1941, with the total of $11; and today there has been constructed a community center, complete with building and spacious grounds. He and his helpers built up the porches and a variety of equipment for wholesome, character-building recreation. Some of the yard men at Duke university, the Times story reports, gave generously of their free time in working on the grounds at the center and created there a fine athletic field. As soon as sewage facilities have been provided, there will also be a kindergarten where preschool children can be cared for while their mothers work.

What J. L. Alexander has achieved is in the category of great things; and it would behoove us all to look more closely into the philosophy which made the attainment possible. If more people practiced it, we would have more "better citizens" of both races.—The Atlanta Journal.

Most Dangerous Of Lobbies
(Charleston News & Courier)

The most dangerous lobbies are measurably increased, operating in Washington today are not financed by labor unions, or by Wall Street, or by farmers, or by those bad old octopuses, the public utilities.

The most dangerous lobbies are financed by the taxpayers themselves, and are headed by bureaucrats who use public funds and the Franking privilege for propaganda purposes. In almost every instance, in almost every industry, in almost every branch of government, the powers of the bureaus themselves.

The situation has been clearly outlined by Representative Forest A. Harness, Indiana Republican, in an article in The Reader's Digest. The article has been reprinted in the Congressional Record.

Mr. Harness, as chairman of a congressional subcommittee on publicity and propaganda by government agencies and employees, looked into the lobby for compulsory health insurance.

He found "startling evidence of attempts by federal officials to make Big Government bigger and to extend by another vast grant of power, the authority of the state over the lives of all of us."

Government employees, specifically employees of the Federal Security Agency, are in back of a campaign to pressure Congress into passing a sustained medicine law. Mr. Harness' committee agreed. There are existing laws prohibiting federal employees from using public funds to influence legislation. The Department of Justice and the Federal Bureau of Investigation has 25,000 employees.

The FSA already has 25,000 employees.

Manager Casey Stengel Eyes Injury List Of Yankee Club

ST. PETERSBURG, Mar. 11—(AP)—The New York Yankees open their exhibition schedule against the St. Louis Cardinals tomorrow and Manager Casey Stengel already is looking over his injured list.

He said after yesterday's session that Joe DiMaggio may not appear at all and that if he does, it will be as a pinch hitter. Charley Keller, another of his outfield stars, may play a few innings late in the game, he indicated.

VERO BEACH, Mar. 11—(AP)—Manager Barney Shotton led his Brooklyn Dodgers on a safari to Miami today where they will tackle the Boston Braves in a week-end exhibition set.

ORLANDO, Mar. 11—(AP)—GH Coan and Al Evans hit home runs yesterday as the Washington Senators A team beat the B squad 13-4 in the first training game of the season.

SARASOTA, Mar. 11—(AP)—Two Boston Red Sox pitchers, Chuck Stobbs and Frank Quinn, are making strong tries to stick with the club.

Stobbs, 20-year-old bonus player from Norfolk, Va., gave one run in four innings in an intrasquad game yesterday. Quinn, former Yale star, also worked four frames and allowed one tally. He struck out three and walked only one.

WEST PALM BEACH, Mar. 11—(AP)—Mike Guerra, the Philadelphia Athletics' missing catcher, has telephoned from Cuba, but Connie Mack says "he was so excited I couldn't understand a word he said."

"At the end," said the A's 36-year-old manager-president, "I spoke very slowly to make him understand. I told him to stay in Cuba as long as he wanted and not to report here until he was ready."

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Mar. 11—(AP)—Ralph Kiner will be his own boss at the plate again this year. Manager Billy Meyer continues to let the big boy swing freely and makes no effort to have him change his tactics and hit to right field.

LAKELAND, Mar. 11—(AP)—Aaron Robinson's hopes of making the Detroit Tigers' right field stands a target this summer seem to have some promise. The big catcher belted one so far out in right in a squad game yesterday that the boys immediately started making comparisons.

TAMPA, Mar. 11—(AP)—Two rookies, Second Sacker Johnny Lane and centerfielder Lloyd Mervin, will get their first test tomorrow when the Cincinnati

COMMENTS From The SIDELINES

By ARTHUR HECKWITH, JR.
Herald Sports Editor

Florida Gators

Joe Sherman's sports brochure on spring sports for the University of Florida reached our desk yesterday and we immediately thumbed through it to see if there were any Sanford men included on the Gator baseball, golf, track, tennis, swimming or football rosters. There is one Sanford man listed.

Glenn Lingle, Jr., outstanding athlete for the Seminole High School Celery Feds during the war years, is on the Florida track team, and will compete in 100 and 220 yard dashes.

Sherman has done an excellent job of putting the information together. The booklet contains rosters, schedules for 1949, results of 1948 contests and information on the coaches of the different sports.

Here's a thought:

Bill Stanton, the righthanded pitcher for the 1947 edition of the Sanford Celery Feds, is getting a try-out with the Syracuse Chiefs of the International League. Stanton turned in a 19-7 record for Sanford in '47 and pitched 20 victories against 12 defeats for the Miami Tourists in the Florida International League last season. Stanton came to Sanford to learn to amire, and was enrolled in the George Barr Umpire School. Barr told him to stick to baseball, but work on the hill instead of behind the plate in umpires' regalia. Stanton is a fine fellow, and we wish him luck.

Travis Jackson, former New York Giants player and coach, who is now manager of the Tampa Smokers says the Braves, Cardinals and the Giants will be fighting it out for the National League pennant in '49. He also says the Giants have in Bobby Thompson, Whitey Lockman and Willard Marshall the best outfield combination in the senior circuit.

Bob Rucker was the first Daytona Beach Islet player to report for spring training drills. Rucker started practice sessions all by himself in City Island on Wednesday. Manager Sam Demina and several rookie players from the New Orleans area are scheduled to report today. Rucker played third base for the Islets last year and topped out a fat .295 batting average.

Basketball Scoring Title May Be Set In Tourney Games

N.Y.—The national major college individual basketball scoring championship will be decided in tournament competition this year for the first time in history.

The winner will be either U.S. American Tony Lavelli of Yale or Paul Arizin of Villanova.

Lavelli has a minimum of three games left to play; Arizin has two.

The Yale hotshot is the current leader. In 21 games including Wednesday night's tussle with Cornell, he has averaged 22.7 points. Arizin has averaged 21.7 points through games.

Both Yale and Villanova are entered in the Eastern division of the NCAA playoffs at New York, Mar. 21-22. Yale also has an Ivy League game left with Harvard Saturday.

This season will also be the first since 1946 that a player with a 20-point average has been in either of the major post-season tournaments—the NCAAs and the National Invitation.

George Mikon of DePaul was the last one. This time there'll be three—Lavelli, Arizin and All-American Alex Gross of Kentucky. Gross will play in both the NCAA and the NIT. He currently ranks sixth with 20.1 in 30 games.

Rollins Crew Wins Rookie Pitcher Of Lakeland Crew Race

LAKELAND, Mar. 11 (Special) Rollins College rowed to a half-length victory over Florida Southern College in the one mile Founder's Cup Regatta here yesterday. The University of Tampa was third in the three-crew contest, two and a half lengths behind Rollins.

The host Moccasons led for three-fourths of the course, but then broke became ragged and choppy in the face of a gusty March wind. The Rollins Tars forged ahead and finished in five minutes, 26 seconds.

Southern won the junior varsity race, with Rollins second and Tampa third.

In the varsity boat was SanBurchers, stroke; George Franklin, No. 7; Herman Brumley, No. 6; Charles Knecht, No. 5; Pete Shute, No. 4; Ed Motch, No. 3; Don Brinegar, No. 2 Chap MacDowell, bow.

By MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK—the writer was sitting in the pleasant gloom of the Commodore's cocktail lounge listening to the story of Bud Carter and thinking all the while of the story of Angelo Izzo.

He was sitting with Donald Urquhart, who directs the famous George Junior Republic, the self-governing youth community at Freeville, N.Y. Urquhart an upstanding man himself did not flinch when the writer ordered a gigantic rye highball.

The writer cited Liza Doolittle in Pygmalion. "I feel just like she did," he said. "It's like mother's milk to me."

Mr. Urquhart nodded pleasantly and told the story of Bud Carter, in an effort to show just what the George Junior Republic did for problem kids and why it should receive funds for expansion.

Bud Carter was a Bronx boy of about 14. Well actually he was born down on the lower East Side, but he was raised in the Bronx and like most problem kids he had a turbulent home life. His mother was fine, but he never got along too well with his old man.

Just why Urquhart did not want to say Bud Carter is not the boy's real name but still he felt some things were better left unsaid.

Anyway Bud was kind of emotionally unstable when he reached his early teens and he was beginning to adopt that what-the-hell attitude that so many kids from poor New York families have.

Bud stayed away from school for days at a time. He hadn't reached the point where he had begun on a life of crime, but he took to drifting down to Grind street—42nd between Seventh and Eighth avenues—where the fifth-run movie houses.

Young Carter liked to sit in the dirty, stuffy auditoriums and watch the Hollywood make-believe, and I suppose a psychologist would have called it clear-cut escapism. Bud Carter to sum it up, wasn't headed anywhere.

The one thing Bud did that was of any value was to go to church regularly. Finally the pastor of his church started the bell rolling and Bud ended up in George Junior Republic.

"OF COURSE, YOU CAN'T FIT THE GROWTH OF A BOY into a rigid pattern," Urquhart said. "But it was a fact that Bud developed just about the way most boys and girls at George Junior do."

"It took Bud about three months to get out of that indifferent, well-nobody-cares-what-I-do mood. It took him about another three to begin 'telling' life at George Junior."

"That is when he learned of a rule that wasn't to be broken—he promptly broke it—not drastically but just enough to find out if anyone cared if he did break it. And after six months he began to become a useful citizen of the Republic."

"Bud is a very bright boy, and he gradually worked his way up the ladder. He was an arresting officer in the president's cabinet for a while, then he took his bar exams and became an aide to the district attorney."

"It wasn't too long before he was elected president of the Republic by the boys and girls, and after a couple of terms he stepped down to become a judge."

"The way I tell it, it sounds easy. Actually, it wasn't all ups and no downs. But is human. He would fall back once in a while and a couple of times he was going to leave the Republic and maybe get himself a job back in New York."

"However, young Carter is too bright just to take any job. He finally got that through his head. Next fall, he's going to leave us—but for college, not some sweatshop job with no future."

In a way, I guess George Junior Republic has a rough resemblance to the late Father Flanagan's Boys Town. If anything, it's even more in the hands of the kids, and a big difference is that it's co-educational.

It's run exactly—not almost exactly but exactly—like a typical American community. They have their own money, their own stores, their own courthouse and their own banks. Every boy and girl has a part in the community life and maybe that's the big thing about it. It makes them feel they belong."

THE STORY OF BUD CARTER, as we said, made the writer think of the story of Angelo Izzo. It happened a few years ago and there's nothing new about it, but it's the story of another New York boy. It just stuck in the writer's mind.

Angelo was arrested at the age of 18 for having counterfeit money. A couple of months later it was vagrancy. A year later, he went up for auto homicide and three years later it was second-degree assault.

One night in 1941 he and three other New York boys tried to hold up the Spring Arrow Social and Athletic club downtown in Broome Street.

One of the card players was a cop off duty. He reached for his service revolver and Angelo yelled "Take your hand out of your pocket!" He did, and the gun came with it.

The four young guvna raced for the door and the cop fired six times. One bullet broke a window, two went wild and three went into Angelo Izzo. The three others got away but Angelo ran about a hundred feet and then fell.

They found his gun at his side, estimated at least $25,000 in cash and jewelry was in the 43 safety deposit boxes.

The bandits took all the contents of the hotel cash drawer—about $1,000—Metcalfe reported.

The 100-room hotel is in the heart of the resort hotel district, on the west side of Collins Avenue.

MAMI BEACH, Mar. 11—(UPI)—A man who was shot during an apparent attempt to rob a home and a woman believed to be his companion in crime were questioned today in connection with a series of robberies that netted $120,000 in cash, jewelry and furs.

Detective Capt. C. W. Pierce said Vahine Rejebian, 48, known by partner as the "California Phantom," was under guard at St. Francis hospital after being shot through the arm by Detective Arthur H. Leonard at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. McAdam.

Pierce identified the woman, arrested a block from the shooting scene, as Margaret Krug, 46, and said she had a record dating back to 1926.

Leonard and Detective Jack Farrell answered a call from neighbors who reported two persons in an automobile cruising "mysteriously" about the McAdam home. They found the door open, the residents obviously not at home.

Leonard said they ran into Rejebian, who ignored a "halt" command and slammed a door in their faces. Leonard fired through the door. Rejebian was taken to the hospital and a warrant issued charging him with breaking and entering.

Detective Bernard Kaplan arrested the woman a block from the scene, in an automobile marked with the motor running. Pierce said she had in her possession a "little black book" with the names, addresses and telephone numbers of wealthy Miami Beach residents, including Warren Wright, Salling Baruch and others. She was held for investigation.

Pierce said they will be questioned about a series of Miami Beach robberies, including $87,000 taken from the home of Alvin Grief on Jan. 30, a $20,000 burglary at the home of Mrs. Harry L. English Feb. 3 and the recent $13,800 burglary at the Harvey Fruhauf home.

McAdam told the House "the great majority of landlords accept rent control" as necessary but a small group is fighting it.

Soviet Makes 2 More Shifts In Leadership

Chairman Of State And President Of Supreme Court Are Given New Duties

MOSCOW, Mar. 14—(AP)—New major shifts in the top Soviet leadership were announced today in a decree of the president of the Supreme Soviet.

Nikolai Voznesensky has been relieved as chairman of the state planning commission. This job placed him at the head of the U. S. S. R.'s industrial production. He also has been released from duties as a deputy prime minister.

Ivan T. Golyakov was relieved of his duties as president of the supreme court of the U. S. S. R.

The changes were announced to the council of nationalities, one of the two equal houses of the Supreme Soviet, now in session. The council approved.

Then planning job went to Voznesensky's vice-chairman, Maxim Z. Saburov, who was the commission's chairman once before, in 1941. Saburov became a deputy prime minister in February, 1947. He is one of a dozen vice-chairmen of the council of ministers, the Soviet cabinet, of whom V. M. Molotov ranks first. Soviet industries were sharply criticized at the opening meeting of the new Soviet current and Finance Minister A. G. Zverev blasted certain industries for meeting their goals by masking the goods easiest to produce. (Continued on Page Four)

Terminal Costs May Be Reduced Little

City Manager Clifford McRabb today announced that he had conferred Friday in Jacksonville with the engineering firm of Smith and Gillespie over possible reduction in cost of the proposed waterfront terminal building, but learned that very little in structural cost can be saved.

The only reduction, he said, could be made by eliminating certain railroad trackage that had been planned. With the same cost, the project would be about $200,000 less, it is estimated. The problem of installation of a new sewage disposal plant here was discussed, he declared.

Every citizen or resident with income of over $800 in 1948 must pay a return on time or face penalties ranging up to 25 percent of the tax for delay.

Some of them also must file returns on their 1948 income tax and begin paying it in quarterly (Continued on Page Two)

Florida Growers Expect Early Spring Vegetable, Fruit Season

JACKSONVILLE, Mar. 14 (Special)—"Though the recent cold snap slowed production of fresh vegetables and berries in some of the State Market areas, the condition has not proved harmful and unless we have a more serious cold spell, Florida producers will probably experience the earliest and longest spring vegetable deal they have had in many years," said William L. Wilson, Director of State Markets in his weekly market review today.

In quoting reports from various markets he said, "Manager Alvarez of the Market Market reports that market is still enjoying an unusually good strawberry deal, smaller than usual, but good quality and prices satisfactory in spite of the recent cold which caused production to some extent. During the past week 1,048 crates were sold at an average price of $10.50 per crate. An established 110 acres of cumberbush are expected to be ready for marketing in May." The potato market continues fair at the Front Street City Market report Manager Phillips, who says 100 bushels daily average $4.50; 30-high for the period was $6.50. A fair volume of vegetables passed over the market during the week with squash selling from $2.50 to $6.00; pole beans $3.50 to $6.10; black Valentine $3.00; tendergreen $2.50; peppers from $2.00 to $3.50 and eggplant $1.75 to $2.25. White potatoes, while not handled over the market are available at packing houses nearby.

The vegetable movement on the Pompano Market is reported by Manager Warren to be on the decline. Only 440 cars moved out during the past week consisting of 100,755 bushels of beans, average $2.17; 115,470 bushels of poppers, averaging $2.25; 4,665 bushels of lima beans averaging $4.50; 30-

Southern Rail Dining Rules To Be Probed

Supreme Court Agrees To Decide If Regulations Discriminate Against Negroes

WASHINGTON, Mar. 14—(AP)—The Supreme Court today agreed to decide whether dining car rules on Southern railroads discriminate against negroes.

Specifically, the tribunal promised to review a lower court's finding that there is such discrimination now.

In other actions today, the court:

1. Set aside as "unjust" a decision by the New Hampshire Supreme Court that the Taft-Hartley Law supersedes a New Hampshire law regulating union closed shops. Today's ruling meant that developments have left nothing pending for decision, but the high court's brief order did not indicate the nature of the developments.

The New Hampshire law forbids closed shop contracts unless three-fifths of a company's workers vote their approval. The Taft-Hartley Act outlaws the closed shop, under which only union members may be hired.

2. Held that Hawaiian territorial courts should have the first say as to the validity of an island law regulating the teaching of foreign languages.

The tribunal reversed a special

Many Companies Announced Record Gains During 1948

NEW YORK, Mar. 14—(AP)—The profit parade steps out lively today.

Record high earnings or impressive gains for 1948 are announced by auto, oil, railroad, shipbuilding, mining, textile, tobacco, and retail chain and shoe companies.

But beneath the lively new record drumbeat rumble almost to a standstill, the earnings were flat.

1. Either that prospects look poor now for a repeat performance.

2. Or that the earnings, big as they were, aren't sufficient to meet the company's growing needs if it is to go on getting bigger and bigger.

General Motors leads the day's parade. The motor giant had record sales—in dollar volume, although it didn't sell as many vehicles as in 1947—and record earnings. Profits equaled $9.72 a share last year, compared with $2.21 in 1947, which was by no means a bad year.

The owners and developers of the new community are Frederick L. Spots, a former Jamaica real estate operator who as President of Plantation Estates, Inc., has charge of the company's activities at its offices at 500 Fifth Avenue.

Joseph Schmeier, a former Suffolk county real estate broker and Sal Dulciano, Patchogue builder, live on the estate and have families who have recently moved into their new homes are from New York City vicinity.

The company is selling 40 percent of the nation's cars and 35 percent of its trucks.

General Motors expects things to go pretty good in 1949—demand will continue high, it thinks, and production will be even better.

But the giant motor company professes to be unhappy about the way it has to spend its record gains.

It gets more for its cars, but it has to spend more for its

Tomorrow Night Is Deadline For Income Tax Return

WASHINGTON, Mar. 14—(AP)—Tomorrow midnight is the deadline to file 1948 income tax returns and penalties await those who delay beyond that time.

GOP Heads Try To Settle Row On Filibuster

Southern Admin. Democrats Hold Meetings In Quest Of Formula

WASHINGTON, Mar. 14—(AP)—Leaders in the three-ring Senate filibuster battle reported some progress today in efforts to work out a compromise formula to end the 11-day talkathon.

Chairman Left (R-OH) said the Senate Republican Policy Committee held a forenoon session and approved behind the scenes negotiations to reach a settlement.

Left said GOP leaders gave "encouragement" to the idea of an amicable solution without taking a stand on any particular proposal.

Administration Democrats and Southern Democrats also stated separate meetings in quest of an acceptable formula.

Majority Leader Lucas (D-IL) said he had "hope" for an agreement but said Administration leaders had rejected one proposal and ended any debate by a three-fourths majority.

The Dixie legislators, fighting to preserve the right of filibuster to prevent passage of so-called "civil rights" measures, were reported "hopeful" of a truce but in words, "we're determined to fight to the hilt."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy (D-MA) said that Senator Left (D-IL) told him that the Senate committee on education and labor had voted to accept a proposal by Senator Strom Thurmond (D-SC) to end the filibuster by a simple majority.

Before the meeting, O'Mahoney said he had told reporters he thought Lewis' action made it certain the committee would recommend that the Senate would condemn the amendment.

Senator Reed (D-Vt.) put into writing the feeling carried among some Senators that the bill would be voted down.

Senators from both parties were reported to be in agreement on the measure.

Before the meeting, O'Mahoney said that Senator Left (D-IL) told him that the Senate committee on education and labor had voted to accept a proposal by Senator Strom Thurmond (D-SC) to end the filibuster by a simple majority.
