Murder victim identified

SANFORD — The body of a man found lying in the parking lot of Eudell's Grocery Store, 2154 Beardall Ave. Friday morning has been identified as that of Isiah Cohen, 22, of 121 N. Jackson, Altamonte Springs.

Cohen died as a result of a single gunshot wound to the head, George Proechel, public information officer for the Seminole County Sheriff's Office, said today.

Investigators are continuing to question people in both the neighborhood where Cohen lived and in the Midway neighborhood where his body was found.

"So far all we can say is that the investigation is continuing," Proechel said.

A motive has not been established in the killing.

Investigators have little information on which to base any conclusions at this point in the case, but they are asking members of the public who might have helpful information to pass that along to the sheriff's office.

"If anyone has any information," Proechel said, "we hope they will contact us."

Bow-makers needed

SANFORD — A group of men and women who clothed downtown in yellow-ribbon support of U.S. troops are asking for help redressing the area with sturdier ribbons.

The group is inviting anyone interested to make bows Thursday from 6 to 10 p.m. at the American Legion Hall, 2874 Sanford Ave. The group, which was the foundation of the 120-member Operation Desert Storm Support Group, has replaced its downtown ribbons twice, said Sara Myers, who initiated the group last fall. Of 400 ribbons placed on trees and utility poles in December, she said, only about 15 remain.

Thursday's bow-making should yield about 400 bows, Myers said.

The ribbons will be made of a stronger material donated to the group by an Orlando man, Myers said. The material is thought to have been used in oil spill cleanups, she said.

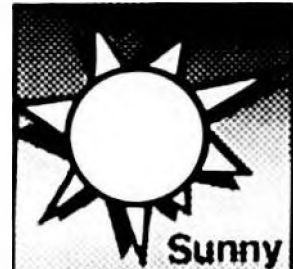

"These should stay there until the troops come home, we hope," Myers said.

SANFORD — The city commission last night approved the expenditure of $100,000 for the General Sanford Memorial Library renovation and addition, money that had previously been approved by the commission as part of the Tourist Development Council.

Also approved at the same time was $12,000 for the Beachfront Project that will eventually create a beach on a portion of Lake Monroe downtown.

Although the two projects were presented to the commission at the same time, they were divided into two separate subjects for the purpose of discussion and voting.

The money for the library is phase one of an original $1.5 million project. That phase would cost $275,000.

City Parks Director Jim Jernigan told the commissioners that, "Undertaking the total project at this time is simply not realistic."

During last night's discussion however, Commissioner Lon Howell said he saw the money for the library could produce a possible problem. "I can't see giving them $100,000 when they said they would raise the rest, and so far they've only come up with $25,000."

Seminole County had previously appropriated $150,000 of Tourist Development Tax revenues to assist in the building's renovation project and the addition of 2,000 square feet to the existing SANFORD — When Navy doctor Lt. Chris Kalkines joined the military, he thought he would never be sent to a potential war zone because "psychologists never go."

When he received standby orders for deployment in August, he thought it was all just a military "farce."

When he was being prepared for deployment at Camp Pendleton, Kalkines thought he had just been transferred to the California military base from the Orlando Naval Training Center because "some poor schmuck was being sent to Saudi."

When he was deployed with Marines in Saudi Arabia, he and all the others in his unit thought the United States would never attack Iraq.

And for a few days when he lived full of fear in a sweltering Saudi warehouse, he thought he would never make it home alive.

Nothing seemed to happen the way Kalkines had forecast it. But, he told a group of about 120 family and friends of local service men and women in the Persian Gulf, that is the uncertain nature of life in the military.

Kalkines was the first psychologist, with the first medical detachment, deployed to Saudi Arabia after the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait Aug. 2. He arrived in Saudi Arabia in August, and left two months later when his father

Furlong creates seven scholarships

By VICKI DeBORMIER

SANFORD — The Seminole County School Board today was expected to accept on behalf of the six high schools in the district and the Crooms School of Choice, the offer of seven scholarships from Larry Furlong, the county commissioner from District Four.

Furlong, who had promised during his campaign for office last fall, to donate a quarter of his salary as a commissioner to purchase parks and preservation lands. With the passage of the Natural Lands Referendum, he feels the need to provide more open space in Seminole County has been met.

Instead, he has decided to donate that money to help seven students continue their education after high school.

The Commissioner's Choice Award will be given to "the hardest working senior" at each school.

"The award is not intended for the star athlete or class valedictorian," Furlong said, "but rather for the individual who has made the most of his or her talents and earned a diploma through plain old hard work."

The award winner must be a resident of Seminole County and must be registered to vote or must be pre-registered if they are less than 18 years old.

The winners must also present proof of their acceptance to a college, a university, a community college or a vocational/technical school.

The scholarship will, however, be paid directly to the student.

Furlong said he will pay at least $2,800 in scholarships this year.

The scholarships will be presented at the individual schools during their spring awards ceremonies.

The scholarship winner will be chosen by a selection committee comprised of one guidance counselor

Third fire station dedicated for quicker service

By LAURA L. SULLIVAN
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — The city yesterday dedicated its third fire station, which is expected to provide quicker emergency service to residents and businesses in western Sanford.

The new station, located at 1300 Central Park Drive off Upsala Road, began operation one week ago. An official dedication took place yesterday.

Planning for the station began about 10 years ago when growth was foreseen for the city's west side, said Sanford Fire Chief Tom Hickson. Architectural plans were drawn up, beginning nearly three years ago, by reviewing plans of other Central Florida fire stations, he said.

Construction of the new station cost the city $375,811, Hickson said.

With the third fire station, Hickson said, response times for emergencies in west Sanford will be cut from about seven minutes to within two to three minutes.

City Commissioner Herbert "Whitney" Eckstein said the station will eliminate delays caused when trains backed up traffic for as much as 20 minutes. The Upsala Road station will serve the section of the city west of the CSX rail line from the Chase Overpass on State Road 46 to Interstate 4.

Emergency medical technicians (EMTs) at the new station have been trained in advanced life saving techniques that the city had previously relied on ambulance services to provide. Seven of the nine paramedics at the station were sent back

Man arrested for fondling youngster

Robert Leroy Mooney, 27, of 2813 Central Dr. in Sanford, was arrested on Sunday and charged with committing a lewd and lascivious act on a child under the age of 16.

According to the Sanford Police Department arrest report, Mooney was arrested after a woman called them to report that her daughter, a minor under the age of 16, had been staying at the house of a friend when Mooney had allegedly taken a seat next to her on the couch.

He then allegedly began fondling her. According to the report, she pushed him away, but he allegedly repeated his actions once more before she ran from the residence.

The alleged incident occurred at a house on Myrtle Avenue in Sanford.

Mooney is being held at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility in lieu of $10,000 bond.

Group steals cars

Shawnee O'Keith Riggins, 18 of 1701 McCarthy Ave. in Sanford, was one of three people charged in connection with the theft of two cars at gunpoint on Sunday morning. The other two who were charged were juveniles. Three other accomplices eluded police.

According to the report, Riggins and five others allegedly approached the occupants of two vehicles in rural Altamonte Springs and ordered them from the cars, a 1973 Chevy Impala and a 1978 Camaro.

The report also stated that the group allegedly shot at those from whom they were taking the cars. One shot, the report said, was fired into the bedroom of Lucille Cohen who lives in a house nearby.

When Seminole County sheriffs officers spotted the cars a short distance away and attempted to make an arrest, three of the suspects escaped before they could be apprehended.

Riggins and the two others who were arrested are being held at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility without bond.

One arrest brings another

Regina Ann Vallot, 23, of 1913 W. 18th St. in Sanford, was arrested on Sunday and charged with possession of cocaine, possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia. A computer check revealed that a felony warrant for her arrest on theft charges was outstanding.

Vallot, known also as Barbara Ann Williams, was riding in a car with Shirley Robinson of 106 Sterling Ct. in Sanford, when they were pulled over by police because of an equipment violation.

The report stated that Vallot was allegedly seen putting something under her seat when officers approached the car. The report also noted that she allegedly dumped the car's ashtray on the floor between her legs. Robinson was observed allegedly hiding something in the pocket of a jacket in the car.

An inspection of the car revealed cocaine residue, two partially smoked marijuana cigarettes and assorted pipes.

Vallot is being held without bond at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility.

Robinson was charged with possession of drug paraphernalia and is being held on $600 bond.

Burgler sleeps on victim's porch

Youman Persaud Mohammad, 20, of 609 S. Central Ave. #3 in Oviedo was arrested and charged with burglary.

He was arrested at 1903 1/2 McCarthy Ave. in Sanford after he allegedly released a hook and eye latch of the back door of the house and allegedly yelled threats that he was going to kill the victim.

The report noted that when the suspect grew quiet, the victim thought he had left, but she then saw him asleep on the porch.

When police arrived, he was still asleep there. He was awakened and arrested.

Mohammad was arrested and transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility. He is being held on $5,000 bond.

Investigators still searching for clues in suspicious fire

By VICKI DeBORNER
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — The suspicious fire at the All Saints' Deliverance Church, located at the corner of 8th St. and Maple Ave. in Sanford, is still under investigation.

"We do not have a definitive cause yet," Richard Cohen, Sanford fire marshal, said this morning.

Cohen added that a dollar figure has not yet been placed on the amount of damage done to the building, though he considers the structure a "total loss."

Cohen said that because the building, structurally unsound after the fire was extinguished, had to be demolished finding clues to the cause of the blaze will be a difficult task at best.

"We're going to have to draw our conclusions from a couple of sources," he explained.

Cohen said that investigators will have to dig through the piles of rubble heaped where the church once stood and they will have to talk to witnesses to the fire as well as former residents of the building.

Cohen believes that though the initial indications show that the fire is suspicious in origin, he is not connecting them to fires at other Central Florida churches.

Ten churches from Ft. Myers to the Georgia border have burned under suspicious circumstances over the last three weeks. Still Cohen isn't willing to say that the fire at All Saints' Deliverance is a part of the chain.

Even though the church, led by Bishop Elba Reaves and the Rev. Della Reaves, her husband, and the small apartments crowded into the second floor above were cited for many fire code violations on Friday, just two days before the blaze brought the building down, chances are that the fire was arson-related. Chances are not, he added, that it was related to the other fires.

According to Cohen, there has not been a pattern to the fires. They have struck the places of worship of all faiths. He pointed out, however, that most of the other congregations have been predominantly white, while the Reaves' congregation was predominantly black.

occupied about a third of the first floor of the 63-year-old two-story brick and mortar structure. The rest of the building was used as a "place of refuge for those in need," Bishop Reaves said yesterday. The Reaves themselves occupied one of the first floor apartments in the building.

She said that the building was not insured, but that she and her husband had paid about $49,000 for the building when they moved in about three years ago.

Since there was no insurance on the building, Cohen said that is the only number they can now place on the amount of the loss, so far.

As for the contents of the building, Cohen said he and his investigators will have to determine a value based on interviews with the Reaves and with other former residents.

"They'll have to tell us what was in there before we can determine a value for the loss of the contents," Cohen said.

He noted that the process could be an arduous one.

"It may be a long while before we wrap this up," he said.

County fields tree complaints

By J. MARK SANFORD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — The desire for tree-lined neighborhood streets clashes with the goal of Seminole County officials to provide safe roadways, county commissioners learned Monday.

The clash led a frustrated commissioner Bob Sturm to exclaim "Well, where the hell can we put trees? We're never going to have canopied streets like Winter Park."

Commissioners have fielded several complaints recently from neighborhoods where county tree crews have stripped whole sides of trees to open views for motorists. Commissioner Pat Warren said she was offended by the cutting practice in a subdivision near Oviedo, Lake Mills Shores.

County Engineering Director Jerry McCollum said roadsides need to have "clear zones" to allow room for a driver to swerve off the road to avoid hitting a child on a bike or an on-coming car.

Trees growing near streets should not obstruct the view of someone backing their car into the street from their driveway or someone driving to an intersection, McCollum said. Tree roots can also push up sections of sidewalk, creating a trip and fall injury liability for the homeowner, McCollum said.

McCollum added the large oaks and other trees that turn Winter Park's streets into leafy tunnels were planted long ago.

"Most of those were planted before there were standards for anything," McCollum said.

Under a policy being considered by the county, shrubs and some small trees may be allowed between a sidewalk and the street if their trunks are less than four inches in diameter, McCollum said. Some narrow streets with the gently-sloped "Miami curve" may not be suitable for any landscaping other than low-lying plants and shrubs, McCollum said.

Few trees close to the street in unincorporated areas were permitted as required by the county building code, McCollum said. While the county won't cut down trees in the county right of way unless someone has complained them, they may be cut down for a street or drainage improvement project, he said.

"We're not trying to do a 'retro' kind of thing," McCollum said. "I'm not our intent to go out and clear trees."

"We're not declaring war on trees," said Public Works Director Larry Sellers.

Commission chairman Fred Streetman agreed some restrictions are needed for new subdivisions, noting trees in some neighborhoods force motorists towards the middle of the street to have clear views.

"I wish we could be more flexible," Streetman said. "This plan's fine, but it doesn't solve the problem in older neighborhoods."

McCollum agreed to with Seminole County Urban Forester Mike Martin to prepare a list of larger trees that could be planted away from streets in yards.

Archbishop says continue sanctions in South Africa

By MICK FLORES
Associated Press Writer

DELAND — While praising South African President F.W. de Klerk, Anglican Archbishop Desmond Tutu says Western economic sanctions should remain in place until the white-dominated government completes the job of outlawing racial segregation.

Sanctions "have been effective" in efforts to eliminate apartheid, Tutu said. To lift them now, before full democracy is achieved, would be "an empty gesture."

Sanctions should not be removed "until Mr. de Klerk and his government show that they are serious... about removing all vestiges of apartheid," Tutu told students at Seton University on Monday.

De Klerk earlier this month announced a series of sweeping measures to eliminate some of the legal underpinnings of South Africa's racial discrimination. He also proposed an all-party conference to help design a multiracial legislative body to replace the white-dominated parliament.

Tutu told reporters he had a lot of respect for de Klerk.

Bob Thomas hospitalized but 'good'

By MICK FLORES
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — City Commissioner Bob Thomas was admitted to the Florida Hospital in Altamonte Springs late last night, suffering from what hospital officials termed as chest pains. His condition as of 10 am this morning was classified as good.

Thomas managed to be actively involved in the work session that began at 5 p.m. yesterday afternoon and the entire city commission meeting from 7 until 9 pm last night, but as the meeting ended, Mayor Bettye Smith noticed that Thomas did not seem to be feeling right, and asked if he was well.

Thomas replied that perhaps he was too warm and needed to take his suit coat off, which he did.

Thomas had just completed his final discussion of the evening, in which he commented that job opportunities in the city were not good. He called for consideration of the creation of a video tape that would show the many benefits of the city, one that could be distributed to possible businesses in the hopes of helping provide jobs for area residents. During his comments however, he hesitated a number of times, pausing between sentences.

From that point on, however, Thomas seemed to be suffering more and more from what appeared to be an apparent loss of strength.

As the commission chambers were cleared of people, emergency vehicles arrived from the Sanford Fire Department and the hospital. Although ambulance personnel worked with Thomas in the city hall chambers for a considerable length of time, he reportedly was driven to the hospital by Sanford Police Chief Steve Harriett rather than in an ambulance.

Hospital officials had not determined what caused the chest pains as of this morning, but they are continuing various tests and conducting continuous observation.

Chiles budget cuts programs, tries to enhance prevention

By CURT ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — In his $28.8 billion budget for next year, Gov. Lawton Chiles wants state government to do more with less.

Chiles on Monday released the details of a spending plan for the fiscal year that begins July 1. The plan includes $700 million in general revenue cuts and elimination of 3,428 state jobs.

"We have tried to take a hold of a government that was not meeting the people's needs," Chiles said. "We're trying to get the agencies to recognize that their customer is the taxpayer. We want them to improve that customer service."

Overall, the proposed budget is 6.4 percent higher than this year's and includes a $163 million working capital or "rainy day" fund. It is the main order of business for the Legislature, which meets in regular session beginning March 5.

Chiles said the budget meets increasing demands for services such as education — where 110,000 new students are expected to enroll in public schools — as well as Medicaid and prisons.

"We're locked into that, and it's got to continue," Chiles said. The budget balances on a $391.7 million package of tax and fee increases that should allow the state to meet a sharp increase in the Medicaid caseload and fund a $81.5 million health program for poor women and children.

Chiles was steadfast in his insistence Monday that the increases — including $171.5 million in higher assessments on profits of hospitals that don't perform much charity work, and a 20 percent university tuition hike expected to bring in $40 million — do not translate into higher taxes.

The governor said the fees the state hopes to collect will only help defray what the state spends for providing services such as indigent health care and higher education.

"Who is paying this money right now? That's a tax that all of us are paying," Chiles said. "We say when it's done here (with fees), it's the people that are actually seeking the benefit."

However, a group of 93 health providers, including the Florida Hospital Association, issued a statement Monday saying the higher assessment would wind up costing paying patients more on their bills and could result in cutbacks in important health services.

In their overnight forays, U.S. pilots reported seeing what appeared to be a Scud blowing up on launch. The raids came as Iraq lobbed more of the rockets at Israel and Saudi Arabia, causing damage and injuries in both countries.

Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir hinted that the Jewish state might not hold its fire indefinitely in the face of Iraqi missile attacks. But he said Israel was mindful of the interests of the United States — which has discouraged Israeli involvement in the Persian Gulf War because it could alienate

Who will reign as queen?

By LACY DOWEN
Herald People Editor

SANFORD — Who will be the Valentine Queen? Eight ladies from Beta Sigma Phi are vying for the title. The judging is done. One will be crowned Feb. 16 at Timacuan Country Club in Lake Mary at a banquet titled "Celebrate the Magic."

Maries McGibbon graciously opened her Sanford home and hosted a Valentine Tea at which the eight candidates from different chapters and the city council were judged by a panel of ladies from the Beta Sigma Phi City Council of another city.

Beta Sigma Phi, a cultural and community-oriented sorority, is celebrating its 60th anniversary, according to Carol Ann Smith.

All Valentine representatives have exhibited outstanding community spirit and sisterhood in their chapters. They are: Tammy Byrns, Altamonte Springs; Kitty Corley, Sanford; Marge Eakin, Winter Springs; Sally J. Gray, Sanford; Joyce Harvey, Sanford; Patricia Johnson, Sanford; Frances K.

McAdams, Sanford and Ann Teresa Nackino, Longwood.

Tammy, currently president of the Zeta Xi Chapter, is a mom and housewife who "stays busy with my children's activities."

She said Beta Sigma Phi has been a blessing in her life.

"It meant so much to have my wonderful sorority sisters for my friends when we moved here in this area," she said.

Kitty, who is self-employed, has held all offices and served on all committees during the 30 years she's been a Preceptor Beta Lambda Chapter. She holds her sisters in highest regard.

"It's worth it. It's been great," she said.

Beta Sigma Phi means learning to give of herself, Kitty said.

"Giving of my inner-self for the fulfillment of the heart means 'love' to me," Kitty said.

Although Marge stays busy as a computer instructional assistant at Red Bug Elementary School, she has made time to be vice president and corresponding secretary of Preceptor Beta Lambda Chapter. She holds her sisters in highest regard.

"My sisters have made my life richer, brighter, and more beautiful," she said.

Sally, an elementary school guidance counselor from Xi Epsilon Sigma Chapter, has served as both corresponding and recording secretary.

She said Beta Sigma Phi is an oasis of friendship in this fast-paced world.

"It offers camaraderie and support to our community and women and families in a time and world that seems to be moving along faster than most of us would like," she said.

Joyce, a schoolteacher representing Xi Theta Epsilon Chapter, has been both president and vice president for her sorority.

She said being a sorority sister is a great opportunity.

"The opportunity to be associated with outstanding women who are actively involved with their families, careers and communities is what Beta Sigma Phi means to me," she said.

Patricia is a housewife from the Laureate Alpha Tau Chapter. She has held all offices and is currently secretary.

Patricia took a leave of absence from the sorority, but has returned.

"Having just returned to my sisterhood, I am reminded of the loyalty, friendship, love and unity that we can all rely on. It doesn't matter which chapter you belong to, we are all sisters together," she said.

Frances, who works at the U.S. Postal Distribution Center, represents the Xi Beta Eta Chapter. She has held all offices and represented the city council.

Maintaining ties with people she enjoys and who allow her to just be herself is important to Frances.

"The sorority means working on projects to benefit others, communication with other women and receiving friendship and moral support when it's needed," she said.

Ann Teresa is a software support coordinator representing the city council. She has been president, vice president, recording secretary and council recording secretary.

She said her association with her sisters is magical.

"Beta Sigma Phi is truly a magical celebration. Through it we can make pain an sorrow disappear and materialize joy and happiness," she said.

Military wife asks friends to lend an ear

DEAR ABBY: Please address the following issues in your column soon. My husband, a physician, will be deployed to the Persian Gulf any day as a part of a fleet hospital unit for the U.S. Navy. It is a very stressful time for us, made even more stressful by some of the remarks we hear from friends and acquaintances.

Abby, please tell people not to ask those who are headed for the Persian Gulf whether they think we should be there. My husband is a reservist and he must follow orders. We have to believe that our experts in Washington know what they are doing and their decisions are based on information that the general public is not privy to for security reasons.

Second, it is all right to ask me how I plan to manage without my husband home. We haven't been apart for more than two weeks since we were married 32 years ago, and it will not be easy for either one of us, but with God's help, we will both survive. So, ask me, because I need to verbalize my feelings, fears and plans. Then be prepared to listen to what I have to say.

Offer to help me shovel my driveway, do some home repairs, or fill a lonely afternoon or evening. Also ask me for his address so you can write to him. Our men and women in the service love to get mail from home.

Abby, please pass this along to your readers. Military families need all the help they can get.

MILITARY WIFE IN LUMBOCK
DEAR MILITARY WIFE:
Thank you for an important letter. I hope it will be heeded — particularly your suggestion to ask for the addresses of friends and neighbors in the military. Mail from home is a tremendous morale booster for service members who are far from home.

caught my error and I sent out a correction, but alas, my goof had already gone to press in some areas. Mea culpa Numero Uno for 1991.

DEAR ABBY: This morning my daughter woke me at 6 a.m., saying she wanted to write a letter to Dear Abby. I thought, "What could a 5-year-old want to write to Abby about?"

"Well, enclosed is her question: 'Why isn't there a Truth Day?'"

Signed, "Nicole."

J.E. IN HONOLULU
DEAR J.E.: Your daughter is adorable. Please tell her that Abby said, "Every day should be a 'Truth Day' That's why."

DEAR ABBY: I live next door to neighbors who constantly and consistently dispose of their garbage in plastic bags days before garbage pickup. Well, rats tear open the bags and carry their findings up underneath my back porch and in front of my gate!

Because of the smell and the trashy mess, I am cleaning, sweeping, etc. constantly in front of my gate as well as theirs, disposing of the trash in the plastic bags and then into garbage cans.

I need help. What can I do? Talking to my neighbors would be a waste of time. My worst fear is to have rats in my apartment.

It has been very hard so far to control the mice!
G.S. IN BALTIMORE

DEAR G.S.: Call your Department of Public Health and the Department of Sanitation — this problem falls within their jurisdiction — and inquire about the local regulations for refuse disposal. The laws vary from place to place, but no one should have to single-handedly combat rodent infestation.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "DREADING THE FAMILY GET-TOGETHER"
Sorry your relatives are so boring. No one said it better than Ogden Nash: "One would be in less danger from the wiles of a stranger if one's own kin and kith were more fun to be with."

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column, you said that the U.S. Constitution specifies that no person born on foreign soil shall be eligible to hold the office of the presidency. That is incorrect.

The Constitution states that a candidate for the office of president must be a natural-born citizen of the United States, which could be interpreted to mean that an individual born of U.S. citizens in a foreign country is eligible to run.

This question was raised in the early 1980s when Michigan's governor, George Romney, was a candidate for the presidency. Gov. Romney was born in Mexico of missionary parents who were both citizens of the United States.

Sudden infant death strikes during sleep

DEAR DR. GOTT: Would you discuss SIDS (Sudden Infant Death Syndrome)? There is a great deal of misinformation, and parents of SIDS victims need help.

DEAR READER: Sudden Infant Death Syndrome is defined as the sudden and unexpected death of an infant or young child in whom a complete post-mortem examination failed to reveal the cause of death.

Thus, the cause of SIDS is unknown. The tragedy occurs most frequently during sleep between the second and fourth month of life and accounts for about 30 percent of all deaths in children under 1 year of age, a rate of approximately 1.5 per thousand live births.

SIDS is believed to reflect a severe malfunction of the nerves that control respiration; such nerves are often underdeveloped in youngsters. However, other factors also play a role; for example, SIDS is more common in the winter, in children whose mothers smoke cigarettes or use narcotics, in subsequent siblings of SIDS victims and in families at the lower socioeconomic levels. The reasons for this are unknown.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Do you recommend Monistat cream for the treatment of vaginal infections?

DEAR READER: Monistat (miconazole) cream is an effective treatment for yeast (candida) vaginitis. The medicine is also available in vaginal suppositories. There are no side effects.

However, Monistat and similar anti-fungal agents are not appropriate therapy for other types of vaginal infection, such as bacterial vaginitis. Therefore, before beginning treatment, doctors usually try to identify the source of the infection by examination and smears/cultures of the discharge, which always characterizes this disorder. Once the infecting agent has been identified, therapy can be prescribed.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Vaginal Infections and Disorders."

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

A logical way of bidding a strong hand with a long suit, after the opponents open the bidding, is to make a takeout double and later bid your suit. As South did in today's deal. He didn't need very much from partner to make a game. On the other hand, if North held no high cards, South might be able to take only eight tricks - his long suit plus the diamond ace. After South's takeout double, West raised East's opening bid to two spades. Although North was weak, he had some shape, so he bid three diamonds. South knew that if North held no honor but the diamond king, there was a play for 10 tricks, so South bid four hearts. The defenders cashed two spade tricks, and then East played K-A of clubs, ruffed by declarer. Declarer drew trumps, noting that West had started with three hearts, and then played a few more practice rounds of trump. As you might imagine, neither defender threw a diamond. However, declarer had a little something to work with. East had probably started with five spades; if East also had four clubs, he would be short in diamonds as well as hearts. It was a close call, since the diamond queen might well be with East for his opening bid, but eventually South decided that three-card diamond length was with West, so he played ace and jack of diamonds, finessing. That scored up the game. What about timid South players who simply overcalled with two hearts and bid three hearts later? In most instances, they allowed East-West to play three spades for minus 140 - a poor result.

HOROSCOPES

By Bernice Bede Ocol
YOUR BIRTHDAY
Feb. 13, 1991

Small things will add up marvelously for you in the year ahead. Step by step and line by line they will mark your forward progress. Your success will be enhanced by your patience.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19)
 In situations where you exercise authority over others, people will be more responsive toward you if you do what is requested and not demanded. Aquarius, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)
 It could be extremely difficult for you to keep secrets today. However, you must be sure that you do, especially regarding those where you promised you wouldn't reveal what you were told.

ARIES (March 21-April 19)
 A friend of yours is eager to talk to you about a matter that you've been as equally anxious to discuss. The opening for which both of you have been looking could present itself today.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
 The race belongs to the smart, not necessarily the strong or the swift, today. If you want to outdistance your competitors, you must be able to outthink them.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20)
 Things should work out extremely well for you today - if you treat events philosophically, especially those that produce adverse conditions. Losing won't be that bad and winning won't be that great.

CANCER (June 21-July 22)
 Keep in mind that a small profit is better than none at all. You won't be disappointed if you don't expect more than you are truly entitled to today.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22)
 Forego making an important decision today if you feel you haven't had adequate time to study all of your alternatives. It's better to be wishy-washy now than to be sorry later.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22)
 Techniques and procedures can be improved upon at this time where your career is concerned. As of today, start giving some thought to ways of doing things better.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23)
 You'll be a fun person to associate with today, because you're not apt to take yourself, or life, too seriously. Your attitude will be contagious and imitated by others.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)
 Let your instincts govern your timing if there is a business matter you hope to close today. When you sense your prospect is in accord, proceed to wrap things up.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21)
 Do not discount a bright idea that might come out of the blue to flash through your mind today. But, by the same token, don't act upon it prematurely. File it away for future use.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
 You might be able to make as much money buying an item and counting your savings than you can make selling something. Don't be too picky about where your profit comes from today. (C)1991. NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.
