

Not A Man Left On Georgia's Football Team

But Fans Still Expect
James W. Butts, Jr.
To Produce Winner

ATLANTA. Ga.—On the word of James Wallace Butts, Jr., the University of Georgia couldn't beat the Bayou coaches at football next fall and maybe he's right. But no will convince Georgia's effervescent alumni until the last game is played (and lost).

James Wallace has been the big wolf-and-worry man for so long that friends nationally discount 97 percent of his wails. Now, when the wolf really is baying down the door, they still expect Wally to produce his annual miracle—and maybe pull the wolf inside to render it for waste-fall.

Not a man is left from Georgia's great team which won the Orange Bowl championship Jan. 1, 1942, and the Rose Bowl championship last New Year's. All-American Frankie Slinkwich, his sensational understudy, Charlie Trippi, the place-kicking specialist, Lee Costa, and all the rest are gone. Walking out in their places in the off-groundsmen of Sanford Stadium are to gangling 17-year-olds—the sub-draft-age boys who will carry on Georgia's football fortunes if football is played next fall.

Yet Georgia partisans are undismayed. They recollect Wally's way of doing the unexpected. They collect, for instance, how he started at Madison (Ga.) A & M back in 1928, when the only thing the school could brag about was having the reddest red clay in Georgia. Wally, lacking both players and equipment, returned to his home town of Millidgeville (Ga.), 50 miles away to raise money to buy shoes for his boys.

By 1931 he not only had fairly creditable equipment, but also some pretty creditable players—including four Cubans which he dug up on one of his scouting trips. Practically the only boy at Millidgeville for football was a one-legged kid, and he carried the water bucket. Result was a championship team.

"A fine business," remarked a Millidgeville man. "We buy his team shoes, and then he comes down here and whips hell out of us."

One of the legends still going the rounds is that Wally taught spelling, and most of the football players majored in the subject. That was the class-room where they got together to run over plays.

The next year, Madison A & M lost the state championship in play-off, but the following season the team won the Southern prep championship by beating Allen Academy of Texas and when Wally laid claim to the national schoolboy crown, nobody cared to dispute it.

Madison A. & M. Wally went to Georgia Military College, where legend has it he even induced the commandant to come out for football—and thence to Louisville (Ky.) Male High, where he continued his success in schoolboy football. His talent for finding and developing gridiron talent may have had something to do with it, but that is beside the point.

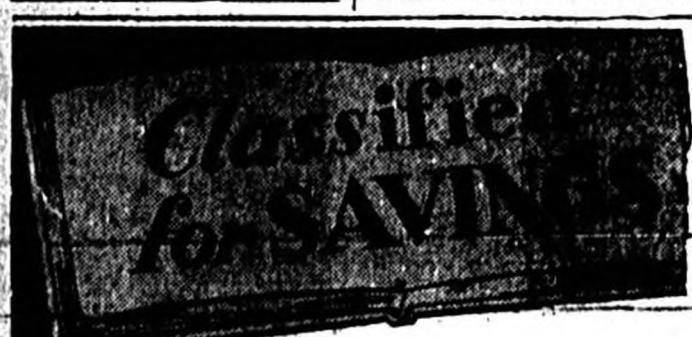

They tell a story around Louisville that Wally once considered importing some Chinese football players, but found so many promising gaunts in the mountains near home that he never got round to the experiment. Meanwhile he got off to the University of Georgia, where he has been doing business ever since.

His first season he was an assistant to Coach Joel Hunt. Then

END OF AMERICAN RUBBER DROUGHT IN SIGHT

This doesn't mean that you'll be able to buy that new set of tires for the old jalopy tomorrow, but the synthetic rubber program has reached the point where the United States now is assured of enough crude rubber to fill its own and Allied military needs and at least essential civilian requirements. There are now 40 plants in operation in this country which, by the beginning of 1944, will be producing at the rate of 850,000 long tons annually. That is no mean figure as indicated by a comparison with the peak year for crude rubber imports, 1940, when we brought in 814,608 long tons worth $317,711,000. Before the Japanese drive into the Malay States and the Dutch East Indies the United States will entirely dependent on these sources for this vital product. The Jap aggression has had one good effect—it has forced us to become self-sufficient in rubber, a fact which will have an important bearing on our industrial economy after the war. (International)

Agency Is Organized For Studying Brainstorms On How To Win War

By ARLENE WOLF
AP Features Writer

NEW YORK, July 7.—Sects like you go into a brown study and come out with a sure fire way of solving a problem don't sit down and let the President alone. Dr. Esther B. Roosevelt, daughter of Mrs. Roosevelt, or Paul V. McNutt, either. Just tell it to the Victory Center, national clearing house for ideas to lick the Axis.

You don't have to be a genius or a Ph.D. to come forth with a notion that some government agency can practice. Most of the 170 ideas received by the Center was organized last June came from housewives, plumbers, stenographers and busines-men who suddenly decided that news-papers on the eastern seaboard should print the dim-out every day. The girls suggested that all prizes offered by publications and radio programs be in bonds instead of cash. Both suggestions were forwarded to the proper agencies, and both were accepted.

Many from the 18 states comes from Victory Center's office at 715 Fifth Avenue, the city. Not all the ideas are practical, but we were sure we could win the war if the whole nation prided every other hour, and another sent a barrage of thirty post cards on why mothers should rule the world.

About ten per cent of the suggestions submitted are forwarded to agencies like the WPB, ODT, OPA, or Treasury Department. About one idea in ten is put into practice, says Mrs. Roosevelt. The girls of Columbia University organize the class of '37 who organized the Center because they couldn't join the armed forces is satisfied with the batting average, but wants more ideas.

"People are still sending ideas to the wrong places," says Dr. Theodore Abel, head of the Central Evaluating Committee. "Everytime they think of something they write the President, or the Department of Agriculture. Washington wants ideas, but it has no facilities for handling carloads. We are pre-sort and pre-digest the ideas here, evaluate them, and then transmit them to the right place."

Some of the ideas bear the mark of genius—extract precious copper and rubber from discarded radio aerials; use polaroid glass in airplanes so the crew can see enemy ships against the sun; establish telephone waking-up services for war workers who can't get alarm clocks.

When Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker was found lettered in from fishermen who knew just what kind of equipment a life raft should have. Somebody wanted to change the cross in dimmed-out traffic lights to a V. The notion of taking metal bumpers from automobiles orig-

Yet when mashed and properly prepared, these vegetables can be quite palatable. The natives seem to drive on them in restaurants, clubs, and auditoriums, and other public places you will often see women surreptitiously slipping their feet out of their shoes and wiggle them out.

"This is strictly feminine practice, and has no religious significance. Do not be taken in by it. ## Credit For Navy Plane Victories Laid To Training

Fitch Shows How Each Generation Of Airmen Instructs Next

WASHINGTON. July 14.—Basic credit for the continuing series of naval air victories over the Japanese, which began two months after Pearl Harbor and has been a feature in every subsequent engagement including the current offensive, is due to the current highly specialized training system, according to word received from Vice-Admiral Admiral Harry W. Fitch, Aircraft Commander of the South Pacific Force.

In a report to Rear Admiral John E. McCain chief of the Bureau of Navigation, Admiral Fitch said that the Navy's training program, based on a combination of years of scientific research and of combat knowledge imparted by battle-wise flyers, had resulted in the arrival in the South Pacific area of operational-trained Navy and Marine Corps pilots that are "demonstrating a high order of ability as combat fliers."

Under the Navy's training system the first "generation" fights, returns and teaches the next "generation" which then goes to the

Here's Word From Bill!

Fellows like Bill Jones—on the fighting front—know what they're talking about when they say that Victory depends upon an unceasing flow of supplies. And at home, those directing the war effort rely on the telephone to keep munitions and men moving forward.

These urgent calls pass through the same local telephone equipment you use. Yet facilities can't be expanded to meet demands fully, because the necessary materials are being made into planes, tanks and guns.

By avoiding unnecessary local calls—and by speaking briefly whenever you talk—you help relieve crowded lines and switchboards for war duty. In that way you help speed vital war calls.

plots we are putting into combat. The success of our boys is due to their typical American courage backed up by the well rounded and complete training they receive.

Well, the present "generation" of instructors has trained the present "generation" of pilots now in combat is vividly reflected by the smashing victories won in the air in the bitter South Pacific battles of the last few weeks.

On June 30, all U.S. Army, Japanese bombers and fighters attacked Guadalcanal, seventy seven enemy planes were shot down by Army, Navy, marine and New Zealand pilots, against a loss of six planes. Sixteen Zeros and four fighters were claimed by twenty eight Navy pilots. This battle followed shortly a skirmish in which four marine pilots, three of them lieutenants, broke up and drove off a formation of forty Japanese bombers and fighters.

On June 30, all U.S. forces had landed on Guadalcanal island in the opening phase of the current south Pacific offensive, 101 Japanese planes were shot down as they tried desperately to prevent the occupation. Naval air and surface forces of the Army aviators scored this victory.

Only a week ago seven Navy fighters intercepted force of 30 Zeros and 20 Zeros within a few minutes over Rendova and successfully dispersed them, shooting down six.

is made to go as far as possible through proper distribution, use and repair.

Depends On Distribution
"We need not have clothes rationing in the United States," he said. "We have a sufficient supply of textiles and textile products to meet all military and essential civilian needs. The major problem is to see that the production and use is made."

He said the manufacturing industry and the wholesale and retail trade had full cooperation in this program and have been most helpful in working it out. At the same time, he said the consuming public has an important part in the project and asked them to observe three simple rules:

1. Don't buy more than you need.

2. Don't buy it before you need it.

3. Make it last as long as you can.

"It goes without saying that the public will do its part in this program as willingly and patrioticly as other appeals which have really as it has respond to all been made in the war effort," Nelson said.

Six-Point Program
His six-point program calls for:

1. Greater production.

2. Orderly and adequate distribution.

3. More "volume" merchandise.

4. Allocation of materials to essential needs.

5. Increased burlap imports.

6. Consumer care.

Nelson said the policy is based on voluntary elimination of all retail practices which tempt people to buy more than they need—“fear of scarcity” appeals in advertising, salesmen, and other promotional activities which in ordinary times help swell the volume of sales.

Under the program's first point he said steps are being taken to maintain production of essential textiles at present record levels and to keep out put as far as ever possible without interfering with production for the military.

1. Adoption of a three-shift operation by all mills that can do so.

2. Protection of the industry's monopoly.

3. Action by the WPB to insure an adequate flow of materials to mills and a prompt attention to requests for repair and maintenance parts and equipment.

4. New adjustment of shipping methods is expected to bring a more rapid and equitable distribution of available goods.

Working Out Production Lines

In connection with producing more “volume” merchandise, he said a review of the trend away from mass production of low-priced clothing is being undertaken. It is to the valued field to offset an involves directing productions increase in the output of more expensive fabrics because of higher operating costs.

Working out production lines is also being studied that simplification of fabric construction already underway, is counted upon to increase further the available civilian supply.

Nelson said an industry-wide program is being worked out to channel production of fabrics to the fields where they are needed. First step is the specific allocation of yarns and fabrics to manufacturers of the most critical goods.

An increase in burlap imports, as a result of reopening of the Mediterranean, will ease demand on cotton goods for certain types of bags.

County Officer Lists Rules Of Fishing Board

DeLong Warns Sport- men Not To Violate Laws While Fishing

Fishing is fun—but not if you violate the rules; especially if you get caught doing so, according to L.V. DeLong, county fish and game conservation officer. In order to avoid this possibility of a costly fine, Mr. DeLong pointed out some of the rules and regulations of the Game and Fresh water Fish Commission of the State, as amended to the State Constitution and ratified by the people of the State on Nov. 3, 1942.

These rules and regulations he said, will be known as the "Wildlife Code of the State of Florida and shall be in full force and effect on and after July 24, 1943."

Fishing rules state that it shall be unlawful to take or to attempt to take any fresh water fish from the fresh waters of the state or small mouth trout in excess of 14 inches in length.

The bag limit for bass large and small mouth is eight, to a total weight of 10 pounds.

Exception to this rule is the use by permit to catch striped and grunts or shrimps, all ottles, set lines or any similar device except hook and line, rod and reel, bob, spinner or troll.

Fines used for commercial purposes are levied with the exception of shrimp, all

These rules and regulations will be known as the Wild Game and Water Fish Commission of the State of Florida shall be in full force and effect on and after July 24, 1948.

Fishing rules state that it will be unlawful to take or to attempt to take any fresh water from the fresh waters of the state of Florida by means of any device except hook and line, rod and reel, bobbers, spinners or traps. Tackles used for commercial purposes and baited with cut bait, crawfish or shrimp will be permitted. The use of gourds, bottles, set lines or any similar device by whatever name called, shall be considered unlawful methods of taking fresh water fish.

Exception to this rule is the use by permit to catch sturgeon and bass with nets in certain designated waters, also the use of cast nets in catching bait or minnows, sizes of which are specified.

Of interest to the sportman is the rule that it shall be unlawful to use minnows of brook charron, black trout, jack, perch, shad, trout, 20; perch, 20; stump knocker, 20; or any other species of bream, 20. The limit of catch of a mixed string of any minnows, sizes of which are specified.

Residents will be permitted to fish in the county of their legal residence with as many as three poles and lines for the purpose of taking fresh water fish.

Resident specialists in the county of their legal residence or for commercial purposes in the county of their legal residence or for sport or commercial purposes in any other county is confined to a single pole and line at any one time.

The bag limit for bass large or small mouth is eight, to each licensed person. Crew limit is 18 which is all that may be carried in a boat according to regulations. This means that although the individual catch limit is eight; if there were three people fishing from a boat, they would not be allowed a limit of 24, but only 18 bass. Other limits are specified.

THE SANFORD HERALD, SANFORD, FLORIDA

Clark Griffith Is Reported Almost Pleased With His 1948 Ball Team

By JOHN GROVES
AP Sports Writer

WASHINGTON — The only eyebrows in the capital that expect John L. Lewis' are cocked at a satisfied angle these days.

This is his team, Uncle Clark will yield to no man in his pride for can't make a team fault with a lone-wolf here and there it might meet a request for salary bones.

Uncle Clark's dirigibles currently are in second place, full of intent to knock off the league leaders. They won't. Don't let the rest of the country know that.

The Senators' team, however, after finishing a dismal 1947 last year, would call for a native test on any race track. Acting test is explicable by the fact that the Old Fox "did a little dickerin'" over the winter season.

On the Larvay Elsewhere,

Other club powers should have hired the P.T.B. to inspect goods and chattels when Griff filled his carpetbag with pictures of his athletes and set out to do a little trading after the '42 season. What Uncle Clark calls "trading" is defined as larceny and graft outside of baseball.

First victim of Griffith's alien tactics was the usually astute Joe McCarthy of the Yankees. The country boy from down Yonder was let the slink New Yorkers persuade him to accept Second Baseman Jerry Friddy and Pitcher Milo Candini for scattperson Bill Zuber, a character chiefly distinguished for the fine crop of bench pillars he raised in the seat of his pants while a member of the Cleveland Indians' menagerie in 1941.

It was one of the few times the Yankees took a trimming. Cardinal, supposed to be washed up with a home arm, has yet to lose a game for the Senators and leads the league with seven wins.

Presently, members instead of with the banks, behind a formidable double play for the Nats. (Last year the fatigued operating around 14-15, Washington second base rated a double play as a crime comparable to infanticide.)

Zuber, so eagerly acquired by Major Joe, did something by having pitched 40 so-so innings at last reports.

Then Griff snuck up on Connie Mack of the A's, who should know the "Old Fox" by now. Griff again satisfied with old Connie in his deal with outfielder Bob Johnson, who frankly said he'd leave baseball before returning to the Mackmen.

Just out of compassion, Uncle Clark offered to take his friend's burden in trade for Outfielder Bobby Glanella and Infielder Jimmy Pofahl. The yesterdays' Griffiths, incidentally, Pofahl had all the shortstop experience at shortstop except he couldn't hit or throw to first. Deltalella hit sometimes, but fielded like the ball was covered with diphtheria germs. Still, what could Connie expect for a display of what won't play?

Star Johnson is now favoring like a coot, is with the leaders in runs batted in, doubles and triples, besides being just about the best defensive Gardner in the league. Connie recently admitted he was stuck in the deal with Johnson, who didn't report, and Glanella still has the shortstop experience batted his way.

Giff combed the outlying provinces for a supporting cast. Mickey Hiefner, an adequate left-hander, was acquired from Minneapolis in trade for Ray Hartman, the pitcher nobody knows, and "two other players." His name is unknown. Eddie Pyle came up from Toledo via the draft. Some bit players were promoted from the Chattanooga and Charlotte circuit. Griff maintains Eddie Pyle closed file.

The old fox turned this aggregation over to a certified public accountant, a man of above-average intellect, he claims, doing the playbooks, the blue-eyed clam knows the game inside out, doesn't pass the buck, for leases, and they hustle for him.

The Nats are sixth in team better than last year, down the list in team standings, where last year was 10th.

Deck of uniforms, mostly top 10, first, second and third in plus two leading pitchers in the win-loss ratings.

The mid-season statement indicates Griff again has turned the other cheek into further trading with the Indians, who are now 10th.

Uncle Clark, however, is a good fellow, he got a crooked good record business and his outfit and the buyer's choice.

The citizens of Griff's judgment reached toward a balance in Washington, attending to rights.

It's no wonder that he occasionally admits, in a whisper at a safe distance from any greedy athlete, that "things could be worse." Sometimes he shouts but makes certain nobody is within earshot.

Liquor Rations For Entire U. S. Held Inevitable

Report To Legislator Sees Distiller Plan In Effect This Year

NEW YORK CITY, July 14. (UPI)—Nation-wide rationing of liquor is "inevitable within the next few months," the New York Joint Legislative Committee on Interstate Co-operation was advised recently at the final session of its three-day annual executive conference at the Hotel Roosevelt.

The committee's subcommittee on liquor control, in a report ready by its chairman, State Senator James J. Crawford, King County Democrat, pointed out that there has been a steady drain on the country's fixed stocks of liquor, which cannot be replenished because distillers are turning out only industrial alcohol for war purposes.

To assure fair distribution of dwindling stocks, the report indicated, rationing will be necessary. The subcommittee referred to a prediction by John H. Law, executive secretary of the National Alcohol Beverage Control Association.

Carrying full equipment, Allied amphibious troops march along a dock at a North African port before boarding the vessels shown in the photo for the invasion of Sicily. Some time later, they were down the main stormy the Sicilian shores to establish beachheads. The invading forces, it was reported, met "strong resistance." This is one of the first photos to show the Allied amphibious troops preparing for the trip across the Mediterranean to Sicily, carried by U.S. Army Signal Corps radiophoto. cation, that the majority of states have more stringent laws than the Federal government for the regulation of recreation centers.

The report said a number of states, including only the state of Connecticut, recently have begun to regulate distilled spirits.

Other resolutions urged Congress not to authorize at present a project to construct a dam across the State of New Jersey between Trenton and Bayonne in order to give New Jersey and Pennsylvania an opportunity to negotiate decisions in the proposed project, called in the New Jersey legislature to take action this fall to permit municipalities to finance sewage treatment works in New York Harbor and to assist in the pollution-abatement program of the interstate Sanitation Conference among the states of New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut. Measures were introduced to retain the authority of the state instead of retaining those powers which had been given to the federal government in its regulations of water projects for the protection of recreation centers.

In one of a series of group actions adopted by the conference, Senator Crawford's group was authorized to sponsor a regional conference among the states of New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut concerning the development of forest resources, timber cutting, war-time lumbering and reducing practices on problems.

Another resolution called upon Congress to call for a conference on Employers said in a January, 1942, survey by the United States Employment Service, she said, that they would consider women with 20 percent of 407,000 job openings as eligible participants in professional and managerial, skilled and semi-skilled occupations during the January-to-June period.

When the F.B.I. men caught up with Franklin in the furnished room where he lived with his wife and three-month-old daughter, they found in his room the collections of knives, pistols, bayonets and ammunition which Mr. Conroy described as equal to some of the most efficient weapons now used by the Army.

Pistol 9 Pistols and 4 Rifles were found to be nine pistols, one of which was made by Franklin himself; four rifles, including a German Luger mounted on a stick with a canister of threys rounds of ammunition; an assortment of knives, bayonets, and another 2,000 rounds of ammunition.

Called Parole Violator E.E. Conroy, special agent in charge of the local office of the F.B.I., said Franklin was called by his local board for a preliminary examination late last year. He failed to report and was arrested by the F.B.I. agents a month ago, according to Mr. Conroy. He was arrested as a parole violator.

Franklin was on probation as the result of his arrest early in 1941 for possession of counterfeit moulds which, according to Mr. Conroy, he used to make bogus half-dollars. By failing in compliance with parole provisions, he violated his probation.

Demand Made On Italians To Surrender

Churchill And Roosevelt Give Italy One More Chance To Get Right Or Pay Price

WASHINGTON, July 16, (AP)—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill in a virtual ultimatum told Italy today the time has come for her to "decide whether Italians shall die for Mussolini and Hitler—or live for Italy and civilization."

In a joint statement issued simultaneously at the White House and in London, they told Italy her sole hope of survival lies in an honorable capitulation to the overwhelming power of the military forces of the United Nations.

The statement signed by both leaders, which included the dropping of thousands of leaflets on Italy by Allied bombers in addition to beaming a message to the people of Italy by radio.

"If you continue to tolerate the Fascist regime which serves the evil power of the Nazis, you must suffer the consequences of your own choice," the statement said.

BERN, Switzerland, July 16, (AP)—Robert R. Farinacci in his Regia Fanfata, a lightning division, a charge of military leaders in Sicily and assignment of Italy's best forces to defend the island.

In a violently phrased front-page editorial, the former secretary of the Fascist Party in Italy attacked useless elements in the Fascist hierarchy, and demanded that the government of Sicily that knows how to give the people a little sunshines after so many fiascos and as much bitterness.

Most outspoken of the Fascist editors Farinacci declared that Italy would remain in exceptional circumstances, "but it is extremely dangerous to indicate the choices of men and decisions with the military annual as a yardstick."

"It is impossible that the Italian Army has only one Mass," he declared. "We know of men of valor and these should be entrusted with the tremendous responsibility to serve our Sicily."

He referred to Italian General Giovanni Messa.

Taking a shanty whack at the much-touted Fascist Squadrati, Farinacci asserted "enough of hysterical hyper-sensitivity, enough brutes, old age, exceptional merits won in penitence."

Divided Verdict Is Returned In Case Of Joe Vining

Joe Vining of 2108 West First Street charged by the State with unlawful exhibition of an unlawful weapon, and with open profanity towards a large group of high school students, was found not guilty of the first charge, and guilty of the profanity charge, according to the verdict of a jury in County Court, Wednesday afternoon. No sentence has yet been pronounced by Judge W.W. Ware.

The court room was crowded with young people, some of whom some of the 14 witnesses called upon to testify by Prosecuting Attorney George A. Speer, Jr.

According to the testimony of the witnesses, the high school group, numbering between 70 and 100, who were at the home of the party opposite his home on the night of June 8, was found not guilty of the first charge, and guilty of the profanity charge, according to the verdict of a jury in County Court, Wednesday afternoon. No sentence has yet been pronounced by Judge W.W. Ware.

The court room was crowded with young people, some of whom some of the 14 witnesses called upon to testify by Prosecuting Attorney George A. Speer, Jr.

On Aug. 16, 1941, he married Miss Helen Louise Leggett of Waycross, Ga. They have a daughter, Sarah Helen Williams, 10 months old.

Seminole Gun Club Will Hold Election

The Seminole Gun Club will hold its annual election of officers immediately after the get-together dinner at 7:30 P.M. Sunday, July 16, at Eddie's Banquet Room, following the regular monthly match of the West Coast Pistol League from 6:00 A.M. until noon on the GunClub Range east of Maytagne Woods.

All Gun Club members and friends who wish to attend the meeting are invited to do so. Eddie Gandy, owner of the gun club, officials of course, as well as other reservations can be made to take care of them for the dinner at Eddie's.

After this week's break, the gun club will be advanced to an advanced training school. His record here will determine which of the two final stages of instruction—single or double—will be given for fighter pilots, who are advancing to the gun club stage—the best advanced.

For gun clubs and individuals interested in the gun club, Eddie Gandy, owner of the gun club, is the man to see.
