Dale: No apology for trying to lure Tony VanDerworp

By Russ White
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SEMINOLE COUNTY - The tug of war for the services of Tony VanDerworp has begun. Will he continue to work for Seminole County or for the City of Sanford?

VanDerworp, the director of Economic Development and Special Projects for the county, applied for the city manager's job on Friday just as the deadline was drawing to a close. He is considered to be far and away the one to beat among 135 applicants.

With his resume and application, VanDerworp wrote a short note that read in part:

"Throughout my career with Seminole County, I have gained in depth experience in various Sanford initiatives such as economic development, road building, airport expansion and community revitalization

"The City is poised to build on its own unique assets, and I would be honored to be part of the challenges and rewards ahead," VanDerworp said.

SCC, Magic, battle in scholarship basketball

By Jeana Hughes
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SEMINOLE COUNTY - Cutley Neal and the Orlando Magic Wheels return to the court to defend last year's victory over Dr. E. Ann McGee and her Seminole Community College Dream Team. The two teams go wheel to wheel to raise scholarship money and awareness for disabled students attending SCC.

"The Orlando Magic Wheels charity game is a great event for everyone," said Dr. E. Ann McGee, SCC president. "Players from both teams have a lot of fun entertaining the community while helping a worthy cause."

Former Magic center Greg Kite will play for the SCC Dream Team this year. Kite is SCC's new volunteer assistant men's basketball coach.

SCC hopes to double the $650 raised for scholarships during last year's event. Money raised is eligible for State of Florida matching money on a dollar-for-dollar basis.

In addition to raising money for scholarships the game helps to increase the community's awareness of the services SCC has available to students with disabilities. A wide variety of academic support services are provided at no charge to students with various special needs.

Half-time activities will include drawings for prizes donated by local merchants. Among the prizes to be given away are an Orlando Magic cap autographed by the team, $50 gift basket from AT&T Office Products, $25 gift certificate from Fazoli's, Spaulding basketballs, and leather attaches.

Tickets for the drawing are available in advance or at the game. Please See Game, Page 3A

A new plan to boost business?

By Shari Brodie
HERALD FEATURE EDITOR

LAKE MARY - One opponent of the Economic Incentive Program may have found a way to make the "corporate welfare" program more palatable to the residents of the city.

Community advocate Doug Forner fought for and won an amendment to the city's EIP policy, adopted at the last city commission meeting. This amendment to the original policy, which expired in March of 1997, includes a paragraph which will allow the city to set aside "15 percent of all revenues received which exceed the city's return on investments" in the EIP. Forner has a plan for what the city can do with that income.

Lake Mary wants representation on airport board

LAKE MARY - Only one of two resolutions regarding the Orlando Sanford Airport received approval last night during the Lake Mary City Commission meeting. On a split vote, the city only approved sending a communication to the Sanford City Commission requesting a Lake Mary citizen be named to the Aviation Authority.

Naming persons to the 11-member authority is the responsibility of the Sanford City Commission and at present there is no vacancy on the board.

was on hand for the Lake Mary meeting. "I wanted to be on hand in case they had any questions they wanted to ask me," he said, "but no one said anything."

The resolution regarding the membership request was approved on a three to two vote. Opposed were Mayor David Meador and Commissioner George Duryea. Commissioner Gary Brender, a resident of Timacuan, who has been a leader in trying to resolve noise problems indicated he was generally against the proposal but felt his constituents would prefer that he approve it.

Others voting for approval were Commissioner Thom Please See Notice, Page 3A

Community Day: Meet police, fire officials, politicians

By David Frazier
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - In an effort to familiarize citizens with local and county police, employees of the local fire department and city officials, the Goldsboro Community Day has been established.

This event was developed in connection with the new Community Oriented Policing program that law enforcement agencies are using to replace traditional methods of fighting crime. Formerly, police have taken calls, written reports and made arrests. But, before now, there has been no integration with police and the community.

With the Community Oriented Policing program, officers will be assigned to an area full-time. This will give the officer an opportunity to hear from citizens with their concerns. "The idea is to have law enforcement join with the community to fight crime," said Commander Ray Bronson of the Sanford Police Department.

Goldsboro is one of the areas in the city targeted for the new Community Oriented Policing program. Georgetown and the Downtown/Historic area are the other two. These areas do not have full implementation of the program as of yet. They are currently in the planning and targeting phase. The City of Sanford was recently awarded a Universal Hiring Grant to employ four new police officers which will go to help the program.

Service volunteers help clean up after the storm

By Debra Wood
HERALD CORRESPONDENT

SANFORD - When the most deadly tornadoes to ever hit the state roared through Central Florida in February, teams from the national service program AmeriCorps came to the aid of Seminole County survivors.

AmeriCorps was created by the National and Community Trust Act of 1993 to build stronger communities through service to others. Recruits pledge to "get things done for America" during their one year tour of duty. They receive a small living allowance and, after a year of service, an education award.

AmeriCorps VISTA recruit Brant Dotts has been coordinating volunteer activities at the county mobile command post on South Sanford Avenue since March 10. Dotts and Jody Lewis, another VISTA volunteer on site, normally work with Habitat for Humanity but were temporarily called on to relieve Seminole Volunteer Center staffers, who had manned the command post since the storm.

In addition, more than 20 members of AmeriCorps Florida State Parks, based in Gainesville and Dunedin are working in Seminole County, at the request of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA). The Florida Commission on Community Service administers AmeriCorps Florida State Parks and direct benefit from the city's Economic Incentive Program," said Forner.

The small business owner is proposing a Benefit Sharing Initiative, a two-pronged plan "earmarking a portion of the projected EIP proceeds to directly benefit people who might otherwise feel corporate incentives have no relevance to them."

According to Forner, the premise of the initiative is position Lake Mary as a model community and strengthen the city's relationship with its businesses and citizens, at no cost to the taxpayer.

The plan includes two assistance programs: Growth Impact Relief-To address concerns of residents and neighborhoods directly affected by growth.

Buy Lake Mary First-A directory of city-based businesses, distribute community-wide, strongly encouraging recipients of EIP funds to make their purchases close to home.

The plan also makes provisions for outreach programs which would promote community spirit and quality of life.

The initiative would be regulated by two new city boards, a Citizens' Quality of Life Enhancement team and a Business Advisory Team. Both board would report to a member of the city staff. Forner suggests someone hired to do this job or assigning it to someone on the existing staff. The salary would be paid out of the EIP funds.

Forner has yet to meet with City Manager John Litton, to outline his plan. Litton, who is out of town this week, would have to recommend the plan to the mayor and city commissioners for approval.

"This really began during my campaign for commissioner in 1996," said Forner, "and part of what I hoped to bring to the citizens of Lake Mary."

"What I wanted to do was put direct and verifiable benefits into a proposal which directed benefits into what I call now a benefit sharing initiative and this is where the 15 percent has come from. Through meetings with commissioners, then and now and the city manager the proposal was made and received favorable response from all of them."

"We've secured the funding, we've gotten consensus we have arrived at the precipice of the single greatest opportunity for citizen participation and of life enhancement and city-based business involvement than we've ever had."

During disasters, AmeriCorps members switch their focus to take on whatever tasks most need doing. From coordinating relief efforts to rebuilding fences, AmeriCorps teams strengthen Florida's communities through their service to others.

Crews are still assisting Seminole property owners with individual projects. By weeks end they expect to begin a systematic sweep of every street hit by the tornado, clearing debris and fallen trees from right-of-ways and fence lines. Property owners are urged to call as soon as possible if they still need assistance. Donis and Lewis are scheduled to be on-site through April 10. The numbers to call are: 302-0631 or 324-7058.

"We can't work on a property unless (the owner) asks for help," Musen said. "They need to come forward or we can't help them."

The crews know how to wield a chain saw to clean up Mother Nature's mess, because they have been trained in forestry techniques by the parks department. When not providing disaster relief they work to restore and protect Florida's natural resources, and to improve state park accessibility for the disabled.

"We're out in the parks every day, planting trees, doing controlled burns and removing non-native species. Whatever a park ranger would do," said Don Musen, project coordinator for AmeriCorps Florida State Parks District 2, in Gainesville. "We get people involved in Florida's environment."

Greene, who presented the two resolutions at last night's meeting, and Commissioner Al Crump.

The second resolution presented by Greene was tabled for 30 days. It would have requested the City of Sanford to require noise abatement prior to allowing any additional growth at the Orlando Sanford Airport.

Sanford Mayor Larry Dale said he believes there is a continuing lack of communications. "Lake Mary is concerned over this," he said, "but why don't they come to us and let us discuss it. Communications should be the key to any problem of this type."

There was no indication regarding when the Sanford City Commission would take up the resolution request from Lake Mary. The next regular commission meeting will be held on April 13.

The Airport meanwhile, continues to pursue the complex steps required to help alleviate the noise problem. One of them is the financing for the ILS system (Instrument Landing System) which would be built east of the airport, to allow instrument landing approaches from the east, thus avoiding Lake Mary.

Another step will be taken Tuesday in Palatka. St. Johns River Water Management District will consider a request submitted by the Sanford Airport Authority for construction of a surface water management system associated with construction of a general aviation runway and to extend the taxiway. Both of these projects would deal with efforts to help move air traffic to more suitable locations.

Also included in the SJRWMD consideration will be a new fire station, a new road and a new control tower.

In addition to noise from aircraft utilizing the Orlando Sanford Airport, Lake Mary citizens have also mentioned noise from aircraft using the Orlando International Airport. Aircraft approaching that location often fly over the Lake Mary area.

Now the Greater Orlando Aviation Authority has announced it has received FAA grants totaling over $3 million to fund several expansion projects. The money is part of a $1.2 billion expansion program at the airport, most of which will also help move approaching aircraft to reduce flyovers in heavily residential areas.

Day

Day was conceived around the first of this year by Sanford Police Ofc. Terry Murray and Ofc. Alan Smith with Goldsboro Elementary Principal Hardy Blake. "This will not be the last meeting [with the community]," said Bronson.

The event will be held at Crooms Academy Saturday,

April 4, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. During the day there will be demonstrations on bicycle and helmet safety and there will be a bicycle and helmet safety check provided by Lake Mary Cycles and the Seminole County Sheriff's Department.

At 3 p.m., there will be a basketball game between the Crooms Mens League and the Crooms Varsity team in the gymnasium. In addition, there will be police and fire equipment and helicopters, Alert 1 and Aircare, on display. There will also be a K-9 demonstration. Hot dogs, sodas and popcorn will be served for lunch. "This gives a chance for police and others to meet the community," said Bronson.

year veteran in Seminole County government who is well liked and respected. It's downright impossible to find anyone who doesn't respect the man. "This guy is our franchise player, a Seminole County treasure," said County Commission Chairman Randy Morris, who is trying to talk VanDerworp out of leaving.

"I don't apologize for actively trying to recruit Tony VanDerworp," Mayor Larry Dale said Thursday. "We realize exactly how qualified he is to succeed Bill Simmons."

Dale commented openly about VanDerworp at a Mayor's Roundtable session which VanDerworp attended this week.

"Tony VanDerworp would be the city's gain and the county's loss," said School Board Member Larry Furlong. "He's honest and smart and he won't be the type to get smothered by Larry Dale. If he disagrees with Dale, he'll say so."

Furlong scoffed at the city's national search for a manager. "Sanford can have a national and international search and not find anyone better qualified than VanDerworp," he said.

VanDerworp, who has a master's degree in Regional Planning from the University of Michigan, has served the county in a number of roles. He was the director of Planning & Development before being picked last year to oversee an embroiled Public Works Department.

The instant Sanford began its search for a manager to succeed Simmons, who retires late this summer, the buzz at City Hall was that Tony VanDerworp was the ideal candidate. Three weeks ago, VanDerworp told the Seminole Herald "As with any other change, I would have to look at the vision and the goals of the city and see how they match my own."

Dale said that a special committee headed by Sanford attorney George Wallace will go through the list of applicants and select a top 10 within the next month or two. "There's a 60-day time plan but I expect the committee will not need that long," Dale said.

The top candidates will be interviewed, and the city commissioners will decide whom they want as city manager. Most insiders expect that the name will be Tony VanDerworp.

"We'll call the sheriff and have him block all the roads from County Services Building to City Hall to keep from losing Tony VanDerworp," County Chairman Morris said.

Easter's history & traditions

From the River Oaks Presbyterian Church Review, Lake Mary

Easter history

Easter and Pentecost, two of Christianity's most important holy days, have their origins in the Jewish festivals of Passover and Shavuot. Indeed, many early Jewish Christians continued not only to observe the Sabbath, or Saturday, as a holy day, they also continued to celebrate the Jewish festivals. In time, however, these festival observances were transformed into commemorations of New Testament events.

When the church began to celebrate Easter in the second century, there was disagreement over whether it should be kept on Passover or consistently on a Sunday. But the Council of Nicea in A.D. 325 fixed the date as the Sunday after the first full moon following the vernal, or spring, equinox. Thus, the Jewish and Christian holidays were separated, though they continued to fall close together and occasionally on the same day. The link between Passover and Easter is preserved in such names for the Christian holiday as Pasqua (Italian), Pascua (Spanish), and Paques (French).

Holy Week

How are the days from Palm Sunday to Easter Sunday linked to Jesus' story? Hearing that Jesus was coming to Jerusalem (JN. 12:13) Passover pilgrims "took branches of palm trees and went out to meet him." Mark relates that on Jesus' arrival (MK. 11:8-9) "many spread their garments on the road, and others spread leafy branches which they had cut from the fields," and cries of "Hosanna!" filled the air. So began the first day of Jesus' last week, observed today as Palm Sunday. Gradually, the commemoration of Jesus' death and resurrection expanded to an entire holyweek that starts with Palm Sunday, Maundy, or Holy Thursday, marks the Last Supper; Good Friday, Jesus' death on the cross; Holy Saturday, a day of vigil; and Easter Sunday, His resurrection, the joyous confirmation of Christ's divinity.

Good Friday

Why is the Friday before Easter called Good Friday? There is no single, widely accepted explanation of why the most solemn day of the Christian liturgical calendar commemorating the death of Jesus on the cross - came to be called Good Friday. Some claim that good is a corruption of God and that the name was actually God's Friday. Others hold that good refers to the belief that Christ died for the good of mankind, for human salvation from sin. A third theory states that good is an archaic term for holy; a fourth, that good was a euphemism for bad. Not until the fourth century was Good Friday observed apart from Easter. Early names were the Festival of the Crucifixion and Day of Salvation. Today in France, Italy, and Spain, it is called Holy Friday; in Greece, Holy, or Great, Friday.

Easter traditions

Many Easter customs come from the Old World. The white lily, the symbol of the resurrection, is the special Easter flower which stands for purity. Artists for centuries have pictured the Angel Gabriel coming to the Virgin Mary with a spray of lilies in his hand, to announce that she is to be the mother of the Christ Child. The lily is also the sign of the Resurrection. The lovely white Madonna lily was used for years as the Easter lily. It often failed to bloom in time for Easter, however, and so Bermuda lilies were substituted.

Rabbits and colored eggs have come from pagan antiquity as symbols of new life. Easter Monday egg rolling, a custom of European origin, has become a tradition on the lawn of the White House.

In many churches Easter is preceded by a season of prayer, abstinence, and fasting called Lent. This is observed in memory of the 40 days' fast of Christ in the desert. In Eastern Orthodox churches Lent is 50 days. In Western Christendom Lent is observed for six weeks and four days. Lent may be preceded by a carnival season. The origin of the word carnival is probably from the Latin carne vale, meaning "flesh (meat), farewell." Elaborate pageants often close this season on Shrove Tuesday, the day before the beginning of Lent. This day is also called by its French name, Mardi Gras (Fat Tuesday).

Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent, gets its name from the practice, mainly in the Roman Catholic church, of putting ashes on the foreheads of the faithful to remind that "man is but dust".

Throughout the world religious communities will be reminding the resurrection of Jesus on Easter Sunday, April 12. Although the tragedy of His death causes one to reflect on the pain and suffering He experienced the triumph of His rising brings joy.

Can vitamins prevent illness?

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 2-year-old grandson is in daycare. He usually catches something, like a runny nose...

DEAR DR. GOTT: Children in daycare, school and college are constantly exposed, in close physical quarters, to viruses...

One of my responsibilities is that of medical director of a prestigious New England preparatory school. I am particularly aware of how readily viruses (and bacteria) are spread in a "closed" environment...

I'm a great believer in vitamins, but I doubt that they would help your grandson. Either he has antibodies to a particular virus or he doesn't...

However, they will help people who — for one reason or another — fail to eat a nutritionally balanced diet. Such people include the elderly...

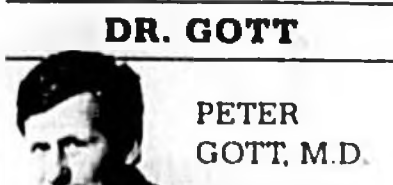

I'm being facetious. Most adolescents eat balanced diets, but — I must admit — in some instances, I doubt whether these kids even know what a balanced diet is.

Enough sermonizing. I doubt that your grandson's frequent infections would be helped by vitamin supplements. But, in all fairness, you should ask his pediatrician about this.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have chronic constipation that has not responded to the usual therapy, including increased bran and fluids in my diet...

A friend suggested that I try Laci Le Beau Super Dieter's tea. I've been drinking a six-ounce cup every day and it seems to help. Any risks?

DEAR READER: This herbal tea is completely safe to drink on a daily basis. I am not aware that it contains...

DR. GOTT
PETER GOTT, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: How long does a germ stay on an inanimate object? For example, if my husband has a cold and uses the telephone, how long is the receiver contagious?

DEAR READER: The answer to your question depends on the microorganism and the state of the inanimate object.

To answer your question about your husband's cold, his viruses could remain infectious on a telephone receiver or a doorknob for hours...

STUMPED?

WIN AT BRIDGE

Does this ring a bell?

By Phillip Alder

Presumably, when you are playing bridge, Jerome S. Bruner summed you up perfectly when he wrote, "The shrewd guess, the fertile hypothesis, the courageous leap to a tentative conclusion — these are the most valuable coin of the thinker at work."

It is a fact of life that, unless watching certain sitcoms, you must think. And at bridge, the more you think, the more likely you are to find the winning move.

In today's deal, you are in four spades. West, who has overcalled in hearts, starts with the heart ace, six, nine, four. He continues with the heart king, queen, two, five.

king, queen, two, five. Then he leads the heart jack. How would you continue? After receiving a single raise, South felt that he was too good to pass...

Clearly, East started with a doubleton heart. So, should South ruff the third heart with either dummy's 10 or queen?

As the declarer realized, the answer was neither. He shrewdly discarded the diamond two from the dummy.

West switched to the diamond six, but declarer won with dummy's ace, drew trumps, and ruffed his diamond loser in the dummy when there was no risk of an overruff.

Watch out for the loser-on-loser play. It is easy to overlook.

HOROSCOPE

Saturday, April 4, 1998
Constructive alterations are in the offing for you in the year ahead. Situations that were previously negative can now be spun into something positive and gratifying.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A friend of yours who knows how to play people might try to operate in a way today that will make you feel responsible for him/her. Don't dive for the hook.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Subdue your opinions today in order to operate harmoniously with the will of the majority. Even if your ideas are better, others won't appreciate your aggressiveness.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Persons with whom you'll associate today will have a strong influence over your outlook and attitude. If they are negative thinkers, you're likely to slip into that mode as well.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Some undesirable changes might be imposed upon you today which you'll have strong inclinations to resist. This could prove to be counterproductive. Play the hand you're dealt.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In a development in which allies are required, use your best judgment to determine how much support they can really offer. Don't waste time or effort on those who are ineffective.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You must be extremely careful today about to whom you delegate a critical assignment. For the sake of expediency you might select persons who are unable to cut the mustard.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Sticking your nose into situations where it doesn't belong could be a big miscalculation today and penalize you both socially and monetarily.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Family issues could be the most problematic ones today. If you see the storm signals in your household, do all you can to help quell the winds of discontent.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) There are indications you might not have too many accomplishments about which to boast today. This is because you could scatter your forces so thinly that nothing will get completed.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Usually singleness plays an insignificant role in your generous nature, but today this trait might dominate in ways that could tarnish your image.

THE WEEK IN PREP ATHLETICS

Games of the Week

You're no sports fan if you miss...

By Jeff Berlinicke
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

Tonight: Lake Brantley at Oviedo, baseball, 7 p.m.

This should be one of the biggest baseball games of the year. Even though everyone in the county is bunched together in the standings, these are probably the two favorites to go to states.

Each team boasts a strong pitching staff, and some of the top players in Seminole County including Lake Brantley's Felipe Lopez and Chad Hall and Oviedo's Ben Knapp and Jeremy Frost.

Lake Brantley's Robbie Sitz pitched seven innings Wednesday in a 4-2 win over Lake Mary but Knapp is expected to go for Oviedo.

Tonight: Pine Ridge at Seminole, baseball, 6 p.m.

Saturday: Deltona at Seminole, Baseball, 1 p.m.

Tonight's game was an away game on the original schedule but the teams traded sites for their home-and-home series earlier this season.

It's a big district game for the Seminoles who are currently undefeated in district play.

Saturday's game is also a huge district game as Deltona may be the only team in 5A-5 that can challenge the Fighting Seminoles.

Seminole started the year slowly after being ranked 17th nationally, but have rebounded with some strong performances before getting clobbered by Oviedo Wednesday.

The Noles Chaz Lytle didn't make it past the second inning against Oviedo, so he along with several other aces on Mike Powers' staff may answer the call.

Tim Raines, Lytle, C3 Williams and Paulo Silva are only a few of the Seminole sluggers that lead the team.

Patriots scare Lions

Oviedo LAX girls survive battle with Lake Brantley

By Jeff Berlinicke
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS - Oviedo girls lacrosse coach Lynn Calkin had no voice left, but she still had a chance to talk about her undefeated Lions.

The Lions struggled to a 6-4 win over Lake Brantley last night, suffering one of their biggest scares of the season, but on the heels of major wins over Bishop Moore and Cypress Creek, she seemed more relieved than anything.

"Our defense is usually a little bit better," Calkin said. "But after beating tough teams like Bishop Moore and Cypress Creek, we just played a little tired tonight."

One player who got through the tiredness was junior Melissa McDermott who led the way with three goals. Calkin said McDermott is already being courted by colleges and, even though lacrosse is relatively new in Florida, the Oviedo team has been together for quite some time.

"We've all known each other since we were little," McDermott said. "We played okay tonight but we weren't fielding ground balls well."

Oviedo came in as one of only two undefeated teams in the state, but Lake Brantley had only two losses, so it ranked as a major matchup.

The Lions' offense stalled throughout the game but goaltender Erika Whitherspoon stopped several point-blank shots early before Oviedo took control.

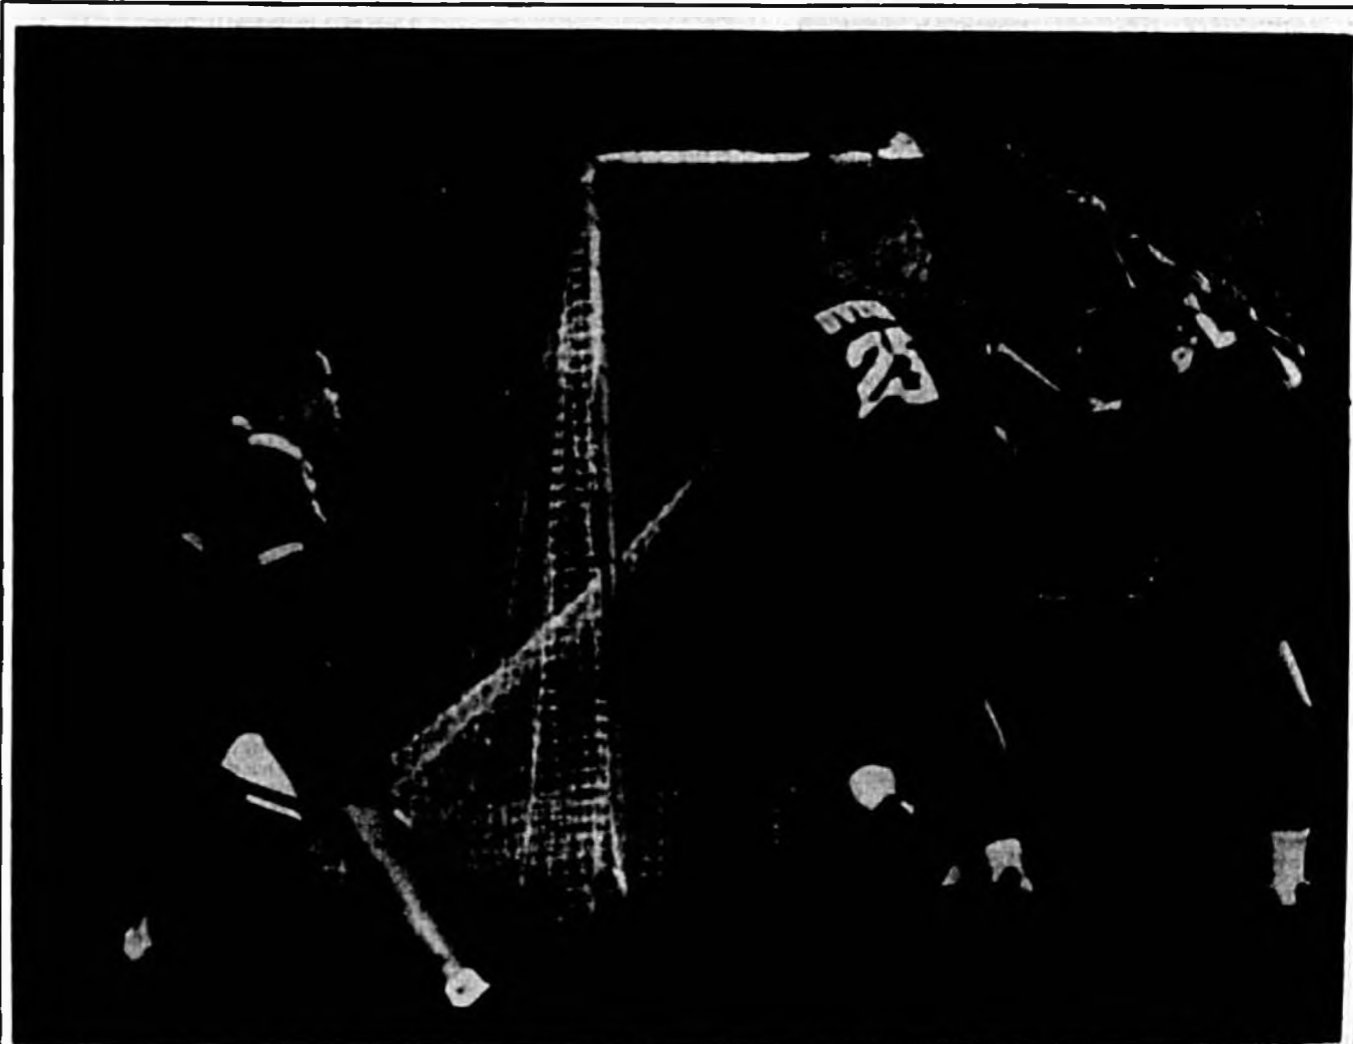

Heather Cox scored the first goal of the night to give Oviedo the lead, but Lake Brantley sophomore Kelsy Hill scored unassisted to tie the game at one.

Oviedo controlled the ball but Patriots' goaltender Robin Wolfe kept things close with several strong saves.

Oviedo took the lead for good with a Kim Carberry bounce that made it 2-1. Lions, and Oviedo extended it to 3-1 when Carrie Wright made a perfect pass from behind the goal to McDermott who was alone in front of the crease.

Lake Brantley fought back as Hill scored again seconds later, but, within a minute, McDermott scored again in front of the goal to make it 4-2 at the half.

Oviedo was dominating faceoffs

and ground balls and Whitherspoon was doing her job clearing the ball every time Lake Brantley got close.

Oviedo made it 5-2 at the start of the second half when McDermott broke away from the Lake Brantley defense and scored unassisted, but the Patriots fought back.

Lisa Danun took a feed and went the length of the field to make it 5-3 and Hill scored again to cut the lead to one before Oviedo called a timeout with 14 minutes to go.

Soon after the timeout, Lucy Young went the length of the field and Oviedo controlled the ball the rest of the way.

The Lions will host West Orange High School for Senior Night at John Courter Field on Tuesday starting at 7:30 p.m., while the Patriots will be at Cypress Creek on Tuesday for a junior varsity varsity doubleheader starting at 5:30 p.m.

From ancient times, "the egg, which carries new life, has been a symbol of hope and renewal". Decorating eggs for spring, then, echoes the new life nature is presenting. "Easter and Passover are marked by the eating of foods rich in tradition and symbolism".

The ceremonial foods in the Jewish Seder or Passover celebration mark milestones in the Hebrew escape from Egypt more than 3,000 years ago.

Based on herd-raising patterns, spring lamb was the traditional centerpiece of Easter meals for people in the Mediterranean, as it still is for many Americans of Mediterranean descent today.

The lack of refrigeration probably determined that ham for Easter became traditional for many of us. When most Americans lived on farms, hogs were butchered in the fall so the meat could be safely cured over the cold winter months.

The first hams, ready by early spring, were a logical choice for Easter dinner.

That's a very quick history of some of our more common spring foods. It's the sensory aspects of spring foods--the colored Easter eggs, the smell of brisket roasting in the oven, the smoky flavor of ham--that we like to savor. But what we need to remember is that these special foods also need proper handling.

Food safety

Since perishable foods like meat, poultry and eggs can be the source of bacteria that cause foodborne illness, they must be carefully handled.

CONSUMER FOCUS

BARBARA HUGHES/GREGG

Follow these tips for safe handling: Buying ham or lamb

There are a variety of hams on the market today, so it is important to read the label to know how to handle and cook whatever you buy. For example, some canned hams are shelf-stable meaning they do not need to be refrigerated, but some canned hams do need to be refrigerated.

Most lamb purchased for Easter is labeled "spring lamb" or "genuine spring lamb". The term "spring" does not necessarily refer to the season the lamb was born, but to its age (less than a year old) at the time it is sent to market.

When purchased, lamb is covered with a papery whitish membrane called the fell, which should be removed before cooking as it tends to make the flavor of the meat strong.

Cooking ham, lamb and brisket

All meat and poultry should be cooked in an oven set at no lower than 325 degrees F. Lower temperatures may not kill bacteria present in the food.

Another important factor in keeping food safe is thorough cooking. All perishable foods must reach an internal temperature high enough to kill bacteria.

Handling leftovers

All perishable foods should be refrigerated as soon as your meal is over, but no longer than two hours after removal from the refrigerator or oven.

For ham and lamb, carve the remaining meat off the bone and store it in small shallow containers in the refrigerator or freezer for later use.

The egg issue

Raw eggs like raw meat and poultry, may be contaminated with foodborne bacteria. Salmonella enteritidis is of particular concern.

Consumers should avoid eating raw eggs or foods containing them. Raw and cooked eggs should remain refrigerated at all times. How does this affect your Easter celebration?

Easter egg hunt

Hard-cooked eggs for an egg hunt must be prepared with care to prevent cracking the shells. If the shells are cracked, bacteria from your hands could seep through the shells, contaminating the inside. The eggs should be hidden in places that are protected from dirt, pets and other sources of bacteria. The total time for hiding and hunting eggs should not exceed two hours. The "found" eggs must be re-refrigerated until they are eaten.

Raw egg frosting

Many recipes for bunny-

shaped cakes call for using a raw egg white in the frosting. But any time raw egg whites are eaten, there is the risk of salmonella food poisoning.

It's possibly wise to find a frosting recipe that uses hot syrup and egg white. If the egg white mixture reaches 160 degrees F. on a thermometer, it should be safe.

You may also be able to use a pasteurized powdered meringue available where cake decorating supplies are sold.

"As our knowledge of food safety expands, it is reassuring to know that traditional recipes can be updated, resulting in meals that are both safe and delicious", said USDA's Conley.

Consumers with questions on food safety or nutrition can call USDA's Meat and Poultry Hotline. The number is 1-800-535-4555. Washington, D.C. area residents call 202-720-3333. The Hotline is staffed Monday through Friday, 10:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m., Eastern time.

When your teen thinks you are the meanest parents in the world...

Dear Mary,

Our daughter is 14-years-old and to hear her tell it, we are the meanest, strictest, most demanding parents any kid ever had. We used to laugh it off, but now I'm beginning to wonder if maybe we are too hard on her. We discipline her by taking away privileges or "grounding" her. We never hit her. So, what am I missing here?

I guess she thinks we should just let her do her own thing and never put any limits on her, but I'm not about to go along with that. I don't want to be too hard on her, but I'm even more scared of not putting enough limits on her and allowing her to get in some kind of serious trouble that could ruin her life. I'm willing to look at all the options and change if I really am being too tough, but my problem is, I don't know how tough is too tough.

Confused Dad

Dear Confused,

I'll bet you're doing it just about right. My experience has involved punishment. When this type of discipline is over-used or used too harshly, the child often becomes angry, belligerent, and attempts to retaliate through acting out behavior, sneaking, lying, etc. Negative discipline teaches a child to react negatively to authority.

Whenever possible, try to reward appropriate and positive behavior through additional privileges, freedom, or in some cases, money. When you must punish, be consistent and fair and as unemotional as possible. Wait until you are under control before you attempt to discipline your teen. Let her know that when you say "no", you mean it.

Finally, pick your battles. You'll only exhaust yourself by arguing, threatening, and punishing every minor misdeed. Save your energy for the big issues--you can be sure that they will come.

been that when kids feel like their parents are the meanest parents in the world and are trying to destroy the teen's social life, and those very same parents feel that they are usually too lenient and aren't nearly as tough as their parents were, everyone is probably walking down a middle road. But I appreciate your willingness to evaluate your actions, so let's look at the goals of discipline.

Most parents hope that the discipline they enforce will help their child develop self-control and self-discipline. When that happens, one of the most positive functions of parenting has been achieved. Negative discipline primarily

Teen boys, girls share responsibility for sex

DEAR ABBY: As the mother of a teen-age girl who has chosen to have sex, I urge other parents to look at the reasons their teen is going outside the family for affection and attention. Perhaps instead of feeling devastated by the fact that their daughter is no longer a virgin, parents should explore the other things going on in her life.

The girl should be made aware that because she has said "yes" once doesn't mean she has to say it again and again. There is a growing movement for "secondary virgins."

I urge parents to have meaningful discussions with their sons about their responsibility in the matter. Teen-age girls should not have to accept the entire responsibility. Not only are 13- and 14-year-old girls having sex, 13- and 14-year-old boys are also having sex. They, too, need information and responsible advice.

DISAPPOINTED BUT SEEKING HELP

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: Your daughter did not become sexually active because she was lacking for the kind of affection and attention she could receive from her family. The reasons that teen-age girls start having sex can range from wanting to be popular, to thinking it will "hold" a boyfriend, to loneliness or curiosity.

However, I wholeheartedly agree that because a teen-ager has sex once does not mean that she (or he) must do it again.
