

THE NEAR EAST SCRAMBLE MAY BE SETTLED TODAY AGREEMENT TO BE REACHED

KEMALISTS HAVE EVACUATED THE NEUTRAL ZONE ALONG STRAITS

Of the Dardanelles and United States Dreadnaught Utah Arrives on the Scene

(By The Associated Press) CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 3.—Military matters will be taken up at a conference of the Allied and Turkish Nationalist leaders at Mudiana today. The aspects of the situation are expected to be discussed at later meetings. According to Henri Franklin, whose recent trip to the east he conferred with Kemal Pasha was reported for summoning today's conference. Two important questions to be discussed today, he said, are demarcation of neutral zone on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles and at Ismid and Thrace. He is confident an agreement will be reached.

At the headquarters of the United States Navy, it was reported today that the United States dreadnaught Utah, which is en route to the Dardanelles, will arrive in the straits at the end of the month. The dreadnaught Utah, which is the largest ship in the world, is being sent to the Dardanelles to assist in the evacuation of the neutral zone.

The United States Navy, it was reported today, is preparing to send a fleet of ships to the Dardanelles. The fleet will include the dreadnaught Utah, the battleship Oregon, and the cruiser Florida. The fleet is expected to arrive in the straits at the end of the month.

It is believed that the conference at Mudiana will result in a settlement of the Near East situation. The conference will be attended by representatives of the Allied powers and the Turkish Nationalist leaders. It is expected that an agreement will be reached regarding the demarcation of the neutral zone and the evacuation of Thrace.

AMERICAN BANKERS GATHER IN GOTHAM TO WORLD FINANCE

(By The Associated Press) NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Seven thousand representatives bankers from all over the United States, will gather here tomorrow at the opening of the 48th annual meeting of the American Bankers Association.

The gigantic machinery necessary to handle so great a gathering has been under way for months, with 100 hotels, 300 local bank employes, and a committee of 100 prominent bankers co-operating. The meeting is the first to be held by the association in New York for 17 years, and in addition to matters of a strictly business nature, adequate entertainment has been arranged for the visitors, including private fashion shows and shopping tours for women guests.

Notable among the speakers who will place first hand information in regard to the financial problems of the world, is the Right Honorable Reginald McKenna, chairman of the London Joint City and Midland Bank and former Chancellor of the British Exchequer. Mr. McKenna is known as one of the chief-figures in European finance, and his addresses on inter allied debts, reparations, and the other problems that baffle Europe are of international interest.

Thomas W. Lamont, of J. P. Morgan and Company, who recently returned from the financial conference in Paris, and who has been active in studying American financial affairs in Europe, Mexico and China, will also address the bankers.

Financial problems purely local to the United States will not be overlooked in the work of the delegates but because of the intricate relationship of our affairs with Europe, it is expected that the larger phase of international conditions will be the keynote of the convention work. In the banking and financial circles, the convention is considered the most important business conference of the year.

There were returns by 160 corporations in 1920, which reported net income of $5,000,000 and over; 836 reported from $1,000,000 to $5,000,000, and 1,142 from $500,000 to $1,000,000. CENTRAL LABOR UNION DEMANDS REMOVAL OF ATTORNEY-GENERAL

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Resolutions demanding the removal of Attorney General Daugherty were adopted today by the Central Labor Union, at a meeting at which Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, charged the attorney-general with violating the law in seeking an injunction against striking railway shopmen.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS' ATTENDANCE SETS RECORD IN STATE

Record for the largest attendance at any one Sunday school meeting of any Florida church was attained yesterday by the First Baptist Church of Tampa, when 1,190 of the students of that institution gathered at the Victory theatre building in the morning for the annual promotion day rally exercises of the church.

Dr. George Hyman, director of expansion for the local church and former general state secretary of the Baptist churches of Florida, is authority for the statement that yesterday's rally is the largest ever held. For three years the state record has been held by the First Baptist church of Lakeland, with a high total of 1,020 for one meeting. Dr. W. J. Bolin is pastor of this church and H. C. Stevens is superintendent of the Sunday school.

On May 21, last, the Main Street Baptist Church of Jacksonville reported an attendance at a Sunday school meeting of approximately 1,000. This meeting was held during the Southern Baptist convention, however, and when the delegates in attendance were discounted it was found that the day's attendance, including all Jacksonville people who were present, was 936. Pastor of this church is W. L. C. Hahn, and the director of expansion is Harold Ingraham.

According to Dr. Hyman, the Sunday schools' largest attendance records of the state have always been held by the Baptist churches. In the main school at the rally of the local church yesterday there was an attendance of 1,057 students. It-

lian members in another school of the church totalled 186, making the total attendance 1,196.—Tampa Tribune.

Near East question is, brighter says papers. Hold the scoundrels off until after the World's Series, anyhow.

Some fellow writing in Tampa Times sighs for Florida "as the north wind blows." Well, old sport, they are not exactly blowing in Florida, as yet.

In an article written by an American woman the "Turks are Charged With the Torture of Christians." Impossible. The dear old Turks would not do anything of that sort. Arnt we sending them money and food.

Another big fraud discovered in the prohibition forces. Officers with drew stored whiskey for their own use. This contraband whiskey sure does have a powerful influence over people who would otherwise be honest.

Tampa's payroll was the fourth in the south during the year of 1919 says the Tampa Times. Well, that is something of which we can all be proud. Tampa's payroll is a large one and it has been making Tampa great for many years.

One of the finest sports and one of the healthiest sports is to get up early in the morning and go out to the golf links and play a round. Take a cool shower, bath, and then break fast and down to work. Oh boy, it is there with the goods. That is what the fellows who are trying it say.

Bob Holly has consented to meet us on the links at 10 o'clock, and from the way he spoke, he is confident of a victory. Well, there is nothing like being a champion. He is a star.

Come on, Basile. And we will take a lemon and make an orange out of it right on the greens. But wait until after the World's Series."

The greatest thing in life is to be happy and to be kind hearted and to pass up the dark spots and let the blessed sunshine into your soul every day. Gee, if we so wished what a grouch we could be with all the pet worries and troubles that beset the path of an editor every day. It pays to look on the bright side even if you have the dengue fever.

This is fire prevention week, clean up and paint up week in Sanford. Let us observe then to the letter. Most of us can prevent fires and clean up, not all of can paint up until we get the money. But we can have the spirit and do the work later. And every week ought to be fire prevention, clean up and paint up week. It is good stuff. Try it on your piano.

The Herald takes objection to all the talk about our detours in Seminole county. They are detours all right and everyone knows that detours in wet weather are bad in any county in any state in the union. But every time you make a detour you should remember that it means better roads and you should be willing to take some of the bitter with the sweet. The roads would never be fixed without detours.

TIME FOR A CRUSADE

According to the people who have been investigating the selling of liquor and the jazz-boozie parties and other latter day vices it is time for the good people of every community to get together and start a crusade against vice in every form. And vice nowadays does not mean the exposed vice of former days when everyone knew where it was and what it was. Vice now travels under cover and is hardly ever exposed until it is too late and some of our boys and girls have gone wrong. Vice now is of the gilded type that creeps into a community ere we are aware of its influence and it has obtained a strong hold on those in power before they recognize the hideous head of the old arch enemy. But the good people of Florida and of every other state are getting together—they are beginning to investigate and find out who is who among their neighbors and they are finding out who is giving support and aid to the enemy. Orlando is taking it up and the Lakeland Star-Telegram has the following about it:

"A perusal of the Orlando newspapers affords interesting reading. During recent weeks and months that city has been the scene of acts of lawlessness that have occasioned considerable uneasiness among those who stand for good government and the observance of the statutes. A few days ago a meeting of about one hundred representative citizens was held at which some astonishing statements were made bearing on the situation. Boiled down to a few words, the ever-prevalent trade of booze running is at the bottom of all the trouble. Mayor Duckworth started something when he made the assertion 'that if the so-called Christian people and church members would quit patronizing the bootleggers in and around Orlando, the trade would stop. But that statement was tame compared to one made by a hotel manager who told the meeting he had been informed that 'every morning that on a long list prepared by one of the leading liquor dealers near the city of his patrons, there were included a number of Orlando's leading business and professional men and among them one minister."

"Of course the statement brought forth a storm of protest and no end of argument but the man who made the statement, stood his ground. Orlando is probably no worse than almost any other community of like size but that does not excuse the situation nor make less urgent the need for combatting this and similar evils. It is the people themselves who are to blame. There cannot be any widespread moral lapse without the wilful connivance of those interested. Some times we are led to think that too much emphasis is being placed on the wrongs of what is supposed to be a small minority but some how or other those wrongs are magnified to such an extent that the good things done in everyday life are overshadowed. The remedy would seem to lie in the creation of the proper moral atmosphere in the homes. If parents are lax and indifferent the harvest must inevitably be a bad one. A generation whose moral sense is blunted and perverted. The next half dozen years will make a great difference in the future welfare of this country. Right now is the time for stressing the worth-while things of life in our schools, our lodges, our clubs, our churches and Sunday Schools and of course in the homes."

HOW FORD BEAT THE COAL PROFITKERS

It is a fact that to get the people of Florida to stop buying of coal is necessary for the heating of our homes in winter, that we republish the words of Henry Ford below. We could get along very well, thanks to our balmy climate, if the mining of soft coal were to stop altogether. As it is, we spend a good part of the winter on the porches, and if we do need a little extra heat for a few days in the winter, a trip to the nearby woods and the gathering of a few lightwood knots will furnish all the fuel that is needed.

Of course our factories need coal for the production of heat, light and power. We have not yet reached that point where we shall draw those universal necessities from the exhaustless fount of nature, but eventually we shall.

So did Henry Ford need coal to keep his great factories running to their full capacity, tons and tons, even trainloads of it. But when he went into the market to buy he found the profiteers in full control. He could have plenty of coal—on their terms. He refused to be held up. Then he shut up his great factories and gave 100,000 men or so a vacation, while he went down to the coal regions and took a look around, and the dealers held on to their coal. It paid. Let him tell the story:

"We bought coal from the brokers" he said, "for $2 a ton less than they paid for it, and could have bought it for less if we had cared to jam them."

"There is no shortage of coal," said Ford. "Nor has there been. On the contrary, there is enough coal above ground to last the country a year, with economy. Coal brokers simply engineered a squeeze in an attempt to plunder the country. There was so much coal above ground that in order to prevent competitors from battering down prices, the conspirators obtained an order from the interstate commerce commission that restricted the shipment of coal to automobile industries on the ground that such industries were 'not essential.'"

"An soon as we closed our plants, public sentiment began to concentrate upon the coal situation with the result that those who control the interstate commerce commission caused the ban that had been placed upon coal shipments to be removed. The moment the ban was removed, the price of coal came clattering down. We bought coal at $3.50 a ton and were offered all we wanted at $2.50 if we would make a contract for a year. But we make no contracts for coal.

"Anybody who buys more coal than he needs for the moment is a fool, and this applies to the householders as well as to manufacturers. People who fill their cellars in the fall help the brokers to maintain robber prices."

"The mine owners are not to blame for the coal situation. The brokers are the robbers and they are financed by a group of bankers who participate in the robbery. If these grafters were cut off, the price of coal could be reduced 50 per cent without reducing either the miners' wages or the profits of the coal companies."

"If we had not closed our industries, the price of coal to householders would have gone to $25 a ton this winter. It might have gone to $50 a ton. I know a domestic consumer in a city near Detroit, who was informed by his coal dealer last week that the price of anthracite would be $25 a ton. The customer was required to make a deposit of $10 a ton before the dealer would book the order."

"I do not know how others feel about such grafting, but I will not stand for it. I would have kept our plants closed 16 years if necessary to break this artificial coal shortage. I am fighting for a principle. We could have paid $3 or $4 a ton more for coal perhaps, without adding more than 50 cents to the cost of a car, but if we had paid the graft, the people would have been plundered of millions. There is no use of our paying high wages to our men if profiteers are to take it away from them the next moment. We closed our plants to protect the public. The public welfare was the only consideration that moved me when I decided to shut down."—Tampa Times.

THE BEST WAY TO ABOLISH STRIKES

There have been many disputes between railroad managers and their employes in late years. The United States commissioner of labor has studied the history of railway strikes, from 1881 to 1905, and gives out the following information, which gives ground for serious thought, if nothing more. In that comparatively short period, which no more than covers the duration of a laboring man's active service, there have been 506 strikes of the railroads alone. Of course there have been many others in no way connected with the railways—strikes in the coal and textile industries, and in many other branches of industry and manufacturing. Probably the railroad strikes form but a small proportion of the great aggregate of these interruptions to industry and prosperity. For no strike record is so successful in securing the ends aimed at, can be called completely successful. If long continued, it means loss of wages to the strikers, which sometimes amount to large sums; stoppage of production, and an increase of ill feeling between managers and men, which is something to be regretted.

If it is accompanied by lawlessness, and even murder at too many times for men in their resentment at being deprived of what they believe to be their just rights, will sometimes become desperate and resort to desperate deeds, which they would condemn in their saner moments—it is infinitely worse. It affords an opportunity for agitators of all sorts, who delight in lawlessness, to counsel and promote disorder, and they do not fail to take advantage of it. They join the ranks of the strikers, and many times, no doubt, are responsible for much of the law-breaking for which the strikers are compelled to accept the approbrium.

But aside from all this, it is a fact that a large proportion of strikes result in failure. The figures of the commissioner of labor prove this beyond all doubt. Of the 506 strikes investigated and classified since 1881 only 13.68 per cent can be called successful; 10.56 per cent were called partly successful, while 75.78 per cent were failures. If the total in wages, unemployment, stoppage of production and destruction of property, could be summed up, the balance against the strike would be much greater. The investigation covers only the most notable strikes, and does not include the recent ones of the railway shopmen and the coal miners, but it goes far enough to prove that the strike is more often a failure than a success.

Taking all these things into consideration, the question inevitable comes up, why should we worry? —Tampa Times.

of settling differences, which involve thousands of innocent people, bringing them deprivation and suffering, stagnates all business and blocks the wheels of prosperity. It is merely a contest of force against force, in which the strongest wins. It belongs to the middle ages, and is out of place in modern America. If we cannot devise a better, more equitable and just way of settling these disputes between capital and labor, we should cease our boasting of our superior civilization.

The strike, with all its evil consequences to so many innocent people, must be abolished, and the way to do it is to provide a remedy for the causes which produce it. There are, or should be, enough men of fair minds and sufficient intelligence in this country to form a commission or board in which all the people might have confidence, to adjust, without stopping production, all those disputes which are certain to arise between the managers of industries and their employes. It is certainly worth trying.—Tampa Times.

OCTOBER HAS ITS COMPENSATIONS

October is with us once again. We approach the dying days of the year 1922. We shall soon be casting up the accounts in the efforts to strike a balance that shall, at least, have as many favorable aspects as possible. Doubtless, like all the years that have gone before it down the corridors of time, humanity began this year 1922 with high hopes and great ambitions. The scars that had been left by the most horrible of all wars, were healing, and the world was alive with hope and ambition for the future. There have been disappointments, many of them, political disappointments, but we have lived through other disappointments in the past ages, and we shall weather these.

Entire peace has not come to a war weary world, and even now the war clouds hang heavy and threaten over the east, but the very fact that the great nations of the earth are exhausted and tired of war is a guarantee of a fact that there will be no war at present.

Business has not revived with the rapidity and completeness that we had hoped for, but the skies are brightening in all directions, and there is much of encouragement and helpfulness in the near future. Nature has been kind to us, and has rewarded the industry of the farmers with bounteous crops. Their barns and granaries are filled and overflowing with their garnered harvests, the labor troubles have been settled, and the men are working at their accustomed tasks. There will be enough to eat and to wear in America, with a surplus for the hungry and suffering ones of the old world.

And October itself brings its compensations. Its crisp, pure air brings welcome relief from the enervating heats of summer. It inspires the man in the country with new energy and greater ambitions, and quickens the steps of the man whose life is spent in the city streets. It paints the forests of the northland in gorgeous colors such as no artist ever dared to put on canvas. It brings to Florida premonitions of greater crowds than have ever visited our state before, and that means greater profits for all our people. Our prospects for a great output of citrus fruits have never been excelled. Our truckers are busy with their fields and seed beds, preparing for a record crop of winter vegetables new crops and new methods of cultivation, and transplanting old crops to new locations. In short we are learning how to utilize the advantages with which nature has so bountifully endowed us.

Our schools and colleges are filled to capacity, which is an insurance of an active and intelligent citizenry in the future.

Baking Powder—that's the big thing successful baking

It determines failure or success in baking, more than any other ingredient.

If you do not always have satisfactory bakings, change to Calumet for just one trial. It is pure: containing only such ingredients as have been officially approved by U. S. Food Authorities.

Within the Calumet factories—the largest and most sanitary on earth—hundreds of skilled workers clad in white are busily engaged in producing the baking powder that is used by millions. Human hands never touch it. Its sale is 2 1/2 times as much as that of any other brand. Pure in the making—pure in the baking.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

ERA TO RECORD WINNER

of Timing Rate is Declared to Be Beyond All Possibility of Error.

A moving-picture camera is to be used in a new way; it is to time exactly the winners in a race. When two competitors come in very close together it is extremely difficult for the umpire to say which was first, and often two men are an hour that result is declared a dead heat. In cases probably one of the men is in front of the other, but the eye is unable to note such minute differences. A clock is to be erected at the starting post, and as the winner comes by will be photographed with a camera, which will time their race to the hundredth part of a second. If the winner breaks the tape one eighth of an inch in front of the nearest competitor the camera will note the fact. The camera will be focused simultaneously on the clock at the winning post and on a mirror reflecting the race. Both clock and camera will be set working before the race starts. The flash from the camera will be reflected in the mirror and recorded on the film with the time of the clock to a hundredth of a second. The time can then be subtracted from the time of the finish, and the time of the race for each runner determined. There will now be very few dead heats in running matches.

WALL'S WALL IS CRUMBLING

Wonderful Structure, Built 200 B. C., Believed, However, to Be Good for Many Centuries.

Recent visitors to the great wall of China, which is accessible at Nankow, 150 miles from Peking, describe it as crumbling. Many of the towers which contained its sentinels are in ruins and tourists and natives alike wrench the stone blocks in the superstructure to throw into valleys below. Yet it is maintained that the structure, extending 5,000 miles on the sea almost to the Indian Ocean, has many centuries to live, although no efforts are being made to repair it. A quarter of a century ago many committees made determined efforts to kill off sparrows. State and county authorities offered bounties of one cent a head for the birds. Boys made considerable pocket money shooting the creatures and in places men made a business of trapping them. They spread great nets over the roofs of barns and then took the birds from their roosts. "But it was no use. Organized warfare on the birds made inroads only in the county treasuries and the bounty was declared off. Now they feed the sparrows. Times sure do change."—New York Sun.

Black Snakes Good for Golf.

Black snakes, besides a comfortable rest and a free, are invited to the golf courses of the Conteeville club in Conteeville, Pa. Along the sides of the course underbrush has been permitted to grow thick, and spring traps with full southern snakes have been placed to lure snakes from adjacent lands. An annual campaign has been inaugurated to get rid of them with an average of 100 snakes a day. It is believed that there may be a connection between the deaths by violence of two of the organizers of the club and the fact that it is the most snake-infested of any of the grounds. It is generally believed that the future of golf grows. Not only does the snake get into the mole's hole, but the mole gets into the snake's hole, and the snake gets into the mole's hole. Land Reclaimed From Lake.

Montenegro will gain a navigable outlet to the sea and nearly 30,000 acres of rich new land by negotiations pending between Jugoslavians and Albanians, which have as their objective the lowering to sea level of the ancient lake of Scutari. The project involves a cost of $2,000,000 and will lower the level of Scutari lake by eight feet through the deepening of the River Bojana, from Scutari to the Adriatic. The draining of the lake shores will increase Montenegro's territory 20,050 acres of rich land. This addition will make Montenegro self-supporting for the first time in its history.

BOYS DON'T WANT THRILLERS

Tales of Wild Adventure Seemingly Only Interest the Middle-Aged Man of Today.

No longer do the tales of "Little Sure Shot," "Deadwood Dick" and other old-time terrors of the prairies interest the youth of the rising generation, observes the New York World. This has been demonstrated since the collection of Beadle's dime novels was placed in the public library. It had been expected that there would be a rush of young people to see the old thrillers, and at least one society that takes upon itself the care and supervision of public morals was moved to rise in protest against debauching the mind of youth. However, in the month in which these books have been on show, less than 10 per cent of the visitors has been under the age of sixteen.

Attendants keep a tally, and during the time the Beadle books have been displayed there have been 1,427 persons to see them. While the tally as to ages is not kept, it is the consensus of attendants that hardly more than 100 have been minors. In the next room, however, where the baseball collection has been displayed, more than half the visitors are children. During July there were 9,643 who visited the display.

The Beadle collection has been attractive chiefly to the middle-aged. Men of dignified bearing, often in pairs, have gone the rounds of the showcases, chuckling over the titles. "It's like renewing youth," is a frequent comment.

PERSECUTION OF NO AVAIL

Oldtimer Tells of Efforts to Exterminate Sparrows, Which Were Worse Than Useless.

Watching an elderly man scattering cracked corn to City Hall park sparrows the other day stirred a reminiscent vein in one of the bench occupants.

"They treat sparrows differently than they did twenty-five years ago," he said. "Guess they discovered they couldn't get rid of them and decided to make them comfortable."

"A quarter of a century ago many committees made determined efforts to kill off sparrows. State and county authorities offered bounties of one cent a head for the birds. Boys made considerable pocket money shooting the creatures and in places men made a business of trapping them. They spread great nets over the roofs of barns and then took the birds from their roosts.

Buttermilk "Spree" Is New

The buttermilk spree is a late sport. There are several places downtown where a person can drink buttermilk to repetition upon payment of a nickel a perfectly safe venture for the vendor so far as the writer is concerned by the way. This has been the impulse for a daring venger during the last few weeks.

Two neighbor hollers recently engaged in a sewing match, each collecting a shirt for her husband the last to finish her task to buy the buttermilk for both.

Truly those be degenerate days, when respectable matrons can disport like that, unmodified and unimproved. But, of course, the innocent husbands have to suffer the real penalty. They have to wear the shirts.—Portland Oregonian.

DEATH OF BONUS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—The death of bonus legislation makes easier the problem of the man who is dealing with the government's finances, but it does not offer a full solution of this problem by any means. It does enable Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, to go forward with a financial program which he has worked out. The first item in this program demands a further reduction in expenditures.

The message of President Harding vetoing the bonus bill did not go into details and, therefore did not tell the whole story of the government's financial situation. The president referred to the fact that congress has made provision for the expenditure during the present fiscal year of $650,000,000 in excess of probable government receipts.

He might have gone farther and pointed out that the estimates for the next fiscal year, as they now stand, are in round number $470,000,000 excess of possible receipts. Thus the government is actually confronted with a paper deficit of $1,320,000,000 for the next two years, or for the balance of the present year and the full fiscal year beginning July 1, 1923.

If bonus legislation had stood up the secretary of the treasury would have been compelled to request the president to ask congress to levy additional taxes. With bonus legislation dead, he will not have to make this request, but obviously he will have to do some skillful financing. Within the next few days President Harding, at the request of the secretary of the treasury, will ask the various branches of the administrative end of the government to co-operate in an effort to save $650,000,000 between now and July 1, 1923, and thus overcome the deficit which confronts the government this year as a result of congress making appropriations that exceed the estimates of the budget bureau.

The director of the budget bureau, Gen. Herbert M. Lord, has notified the various departments that they must reduce their estimates. He takes the position that the $670,000,000 difference between the estimates as they now stand and the probable receipts of the government, for the next fiscal year must be wiped out before the estimates go to congress on the first Monday in December.

This order from the head of the budget bureau interferes with some important expansion plans that had been made by members of the cabinet. Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover had planned an extension of the facilities of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. Secretary of Interior Fall and perfected a plan for a broadening of the work of the reclamation service. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace had asked for money with which to increase the activities of the newly created bureau of agricultural economics and nearly every other cabinet officer had hoped to get additional funds for new activities during the next fiscal year. President Harding has said to the members of the cabinet that, much as he regrets it, they will have to put aside some of their ambitious plans for the present.

The secretary of the treasury is now contemplating a long term bond issue. He hopes to make this a 4 per cent issue. The failure of bonus legislation, he believes, will enable him to fix the rate at 4 per cent. The treasury must refund approximately $2,000,000,000 before the first of next January. The tentative refunding plan points to an offering of at least $1,000,000,000 in notes maturing in ten years.

OFFENSIVE STRENGTH LITTLE TO CHOOSE BETWEEN CONTENDERS

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—In offensive strength there is little to choose between the possible contenders in the 1922 World's Series, as they appear grouped upon paper, and only with the aid of the fates that decide that some players shall hit when a hit is most needed or that another shall fall when failure is most costly can a preference be made.

Of course it is by the arrangement and distribution of the batting strength that a manager obtains the most possible out of his team, and the actual attacking value of a ball club must be gauged by what the line-up produces. In evaluating the teams, moreover, consideration must be given to their offensive abilities in relation to their defensive character.

An instance of this is an infield that they may lead all the other infields of the league in batting, yet be so poor in fielding that its rating would place it third or fourth among all the eight clubs. The maximum offensive power of an infield, which includes the three basemen, shortstop, catcher and best hitting pitcher, is their average batting strength.

On the latter basis the New York Yankees lead the Giants by one point, having a total of 319 to the Nationals' 318. Considering the St. Louis Club, which had a fighting chance to win out in the American League up to the close of the season, the Giants are still one point under the club that will represent the younger league. The Browns, too, hit 319.

These figures are based on the hitting of Kelly, Frisch, Bancroft, Groh, Smith, Snyder and Nehf of the Giants; Pipp, Wards, Scott, Schang and Bush and Dugan of the Yankees; and Seaver, McManus, Gerber, Foster, Severed and Van Gilder of the Browns.

In outfield strength the Giants are superior to either of the American League Clubs, a mid season average of .355 being tallied by Meusel, Young, Cunningham and Stengel of the Giants, to .324 for Tolm, Jacobson and Williams of the Browns. The Yanks are third, Witt, Ruth and Meusel hitting .316.

FEW YOUNG PLAYERS HAVE BEEN DEVELOPED BY JOHN MCGRAW.

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—In late years Manager John J. McGraw, of the Giants has almost ceased to develop young ball players, and due somewhat to the local competition of the Yankees for the city's patronage, has been forced more and more to go into the market and buy his pennant winners with the coin of the realm.

McGraw has developed marvellous players and has combined them effectively in his time but of the present team only four of those who can be classified as "regulars" received their tutelage from John J. The others were bought or traded from other major league clubs or picked up as virtually finished products from the minors.

Of the first string pitchers Arthur Nehf and Jess Burnes, veterans of last year's series, and Hugh McQuilhan, were obtained from Boston. Catcher Frank Snyder was taken from St. Louis several years ago. Earl Smith made a record in the International League but he bears the trademark of a McGraw product.

At first base George Kelley learned most of what he knows from McGraw, as did Frisch, the regular second baseman. At shortstop Captain Davy Bancroft came from Philadelphia and at third base, Heine Groh, one of the Giants, has spent too much time in Cincinnati to be included among the home-grown.

Nor is McGraw's record bolstered by the insertion of Johnny Rawling into the infield. He has been there much of the summer, due to the series of injuries to Groh. Frisch has gone from second to third and Rawlings has substituted at second, but, like his mate at shortstop, Rawlings came from the Quakers.

In the outfield only Ross Young is considered a McGrawite. "Irish" Meusel came with the troop from the Quaker City, as did Casey Stengel.

The quartet of men that McGraw trained who are on the team, however, are near to the top of the league at their positions.

About Jan. 1, the Co-operative Fruit Co., recently formed by C. L. Tillman and E. C. Stuart will begin planting the 200 acres or more they cleared this summer south of Twin Lakes about a mile from Lake Wales. The work will be in charge of Major J. M. Tillman who will move here from Winter Haven.

MICHIGAN AND OHIO WILL BATTLE ON GRID AT NEW STADIUM

(By The Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 3.—When the rival eleven of the University of Michigan and Ohio State University trot out on the field here Oct. 21 to dedicate Ohio's new $1,500,000 stadium, indications are that a record breaking crowd of 63,000 spectators will be in the huge structure to witness the game and dedication ceremonies.

Advance orders for tickets point to a complete sell out of the 63,000 seats, and if this results, the attendance will set a new record for football in the middle-west. Last year the Buckeyes and Wolverines played before a record crowd of 42,000 in the dedication of the enlarged Ferry Field at Ann Arbor.

Simple but impressive ceremonies will mark the dedication of the new stadium, with color raising ceremonies and a parade of notables comprising the pre-game program. Governors H. L. Davis of Ohio and A. J. Groesbeck of Michigan, Ohio and Michigan men in public life, educators and athletes will participate in the parade around the field.

Amid strains of alma mater songs to be played by the 110-piece Ohio State band, representatives of Western Conference Universities will pull 18-foot pennants presented by their respective schools, up 30-foot flag poles atop the walls of Ohio stadium. Michigan colors will go up first, the Scarlet and Gray of Ohio State last.

With thirty huge pennants of the "Big Ten" universities snapping in the breeze above the 100 foot concrete and steel wall of the stadium, Miss Eloise Fromme of Urbana, O., Stadium girl during the fund-raising campaign of 1920, will hoist the national colors on the field flag pole while the Michigan and Ohio State bands play "The Star Spangled Banner," following which Artillery pieces manned by University cadets will bark a salute of twenty-one guns.

As part of the preparation for dedication day, the first attempt in his history to reunite every Ohio State grid squad since the original eleven in 1899, is being made by former captains. Each captain will head his colleagues in a parade down the new Stadium field.

Dedication of Ohio Stadium will add something new to the architecture of modern stadia. In being horseshoe shaped the Ohio plant resembles that of Harvard, but in having two decks the Ohio Plan is unique. The advantages ascribed to the double deck feature include bringing of what would be rear seats much closer to the playing field and the sheltering of 21,000 seats in the lower deck.

Nearly ten acres are covered by the Ohio Stadium, which measures one third of a mile from end to end and towers 107 feet high. Intramural facilities for 10,000 students will be provided by 100 tennis courts, twenty three baseball diamonds and 11 gridirons to be laid out on the recreation area to be developed adjacent to the Stadium proper.

SMITH NAMED BY DEMOCRATS OF NEW YORK

(By The Associated Press)
SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 30.—Former Governor Alfred Smith, of New York city, and Mayor George F. Linn, of Schenectady, were unanimously nominated tonight by the Democratic state convention for governor and lieutenant governor respectively.

The withdrawal of the name of William Randolph Hearst, as a candidate, during the afternoon smoothed out the only issue that threatened to precipitate a conflict in the convention and the program prepared by the state leaders went through without a hitch at the closing session of the convention tonight.

Dr. Royal Samuel Copeland, of New York, was nominated for United States senator.

The platform adopted condemns both state and national administrations of the Republican party. It calls the national administration a failure and "bankrupt of ability or achievement." The new tariff bill it declares, means increased living costs and higher profits for monopoly. The federal attorney general and the department of justice are blamed for "blunders that culminated in the Daugherty injunction." The state motion picture censorship law is condemned.

Of the 29 principles, great applause was given to that calling for a modification of the Volstead act so as to legalize the use of beer and light wines under state regulation.

It is also announced that the Coast Line is erecting barracks at Florence, S. C., to replace the Pullman cars being used there to house shopmen.

METHODIST NOTES

Last Sunday was a record mark in the life of our Sunday school. Especially in the lower grades was there great interest and enthusiasm and both pupils and teachers started the new year with a determination to make it the greatest year we have seen in Sanford.

Each department shows a marked increase in attendance. There are 11 classes while up to this time there has never been more than seven classes and these classes range in numbers from nine to eighteen in each. Another department has had to add two classes and another one, so we are growing.

Rev. J. F. Bell, our presiding elder, preached two good sermons Sunday. He is well known here and the people love to hear him.

Mrs. Jack Adams and son have returned from the north where they have been for several months.

Mrs. A. S. Monger and grandson, Arthur, returned last Wednesday from Louisburg, N. C., having spent three months there.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Spurling spent Friday in Kissimmee visiting relatives.

Mrs. C. O. Bradbury and son, Max, who have been spending the summer at points in Georgia, returned last week.

Miss Gladys Adams, one of our faithful Sunday School teachers, leaves today for Lakeland to enter Sutherland College. We wish her great success.

Mr. and Mrs. Hicks were visitors to Sanford Sunday.

The Central Florida Epworth League Union will meet at Kissimmee Thursday, October 6th. All those desiring to attend, meet at the Methodist church here and provision for transportation will be made. Come on Leaguers, let's go.

Mrs. Herrin, of Lake City, is visiting her sister, who is pleasantly located at Mrs. Savage's on Park avenue.

Mrs. Hattie Tate has returned from DeLand where she has been visiting her son, Charlie.

Wednesday night preparation is being made for the best prayer meeting yet. Special music, Trio, Miss Lilie Ruth Spencer, Mrs. Boyd, Miss Laing and some other specials. We are trying to have good, helpful prayer meetings, true to name. We want to build our church on the sure foundation. Come and help us. We need you. The Wesley Brotherhood will have charge.

Among our sick are Mrs. F. M. Elder and Mrs. Goodspeed also Mrs. Ivy Stringer. All have dengue fever.

Mr. and Mrs. Lot Allen and family have returned from points in the north. They motored up in their car and have been gone two months, having a great trip.

Sunday School Conference and Wesley Bible Class Federation will meet at DeLand this week beginning Wednesday night at 7:30 and continuing Thursday and Friday. Every member of the Wesley Bible Classes should attend. Then in addition to this there will be a school conducted for the benefit of Sunday School workers and teachers, specializing in each department. Sessions Thursday and Friday. These workers are all workers of wide experience and knowledge and every Sunday school teacher and worker should avail herself of this opportunity.

Miss Driggers, of Leesburg, is spending some time at Dr. Holtz' and is taking treatments while here.

Facts about Orange county emanating from the office of Karl Lehmann, Secretary of the Orange County Chamber of Commerce, will appear in a select list of large dailies in the cities of New York, Philadelphia, November, December and January, also on the dailies of Florida during the tourist months of January and February.

The development of Polk county has only begun. It leads all other counties in the state in the matter of citrus; it is well toward the top as a producer of truck; it is destined to lead as a producer of grapes, and present indications are that it may prove to be one of the sections of the state where avocados may be grown with profit.
