Invalid husband's friends flee from carping wife

DEAR ABBY: As a 65-year-old, I am no youngster. I have a big problem. I have a friend, "Manny," who is 74; his wife, "Alice," is 73. Every time I visit their home, Alice beats up on Manny. Not physically, but mentally. She cusses and yells and puts him down. I am considered a family friend, so she does not ask me to leave or step out of the room. She just starts in on poor Manny.

Dear Abby

This is a terrible situation. Alice has driven away every friend Manny's ever had. I could go on and on. It makes me sick. I feel caught in the middle, and I don't want to be in the middle of a man-and-wife problem.

I don't want to tell Manny I can no longer be his friend because of his wife's behavior, and I also don't feel it's my place to protect him from his wife.

Manny has a lot of medical problems. He has emphysema and is on oxygen 24 hours a day. He also recently got a pacemaker. For obvious reasons, he's no longer handy around the house. I try to help, but sometimes I feel what's the point in visiting them? Any suggestions?

BILL IN PALM SPRINGS

DEAR BILL: Take Alice aside and tell her you are worried about HER. She seems to be experiencing caregiver burnout. Perhaps if she gets additional help and some time for herself, she'll be more tolerant. If she refuses, tell her you have no choice but to report her to adult protective services for elder abuse.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I separated three years ago, right after the birth of our second daughter. He said he didn't love me anymore and was no longer attracted to me.

We are now divorced. Abby, he never comes around to see the girls. He won't even call once in a while to find out how they're doing. The only time he sees them is the rare occasion when I call upon him to baby-sit.

As a single mom with a demanding career that takes me out of town on a regular basis, I am blessed to have two devoted baby sitters. One is my mother, and the other is a good friend and neighbor who happens to be male. His name is "Anthony." In the last year, the girls have grown very fond of Anthony and have started calling him "Daddy," since they spend far more time with him than with their own father. Anthony doesn't seem to mind. In fact, he says he's proud to be part of their lives, and has talked to me more than once about becoming a permanent part of ALL our lives.

Anthony is divorced with two children of his own. Would it be inappropriate for me to start something romantic with him, or should our friendship be left alone? Above all, I want what's best for my little girls.

CONFUSED BUT HOPEFUL,
SANTA MARIA, CALIF.

DEAR CONFUSED BUT HOPEFUL: There's nothing inappropriate about two single people dating. Start slow — dinner, movies, walks. Plan activities that include your children and his. Find out how you all relate to one another. If you have a romantic future with Anthony, you will know it soon enough. If there is no romantic spark, maintain your friendship and a good-neighbor policy.

The spirit of the season

Volunteers, including Dottie Burkett (far left), unloaded a truck full of turkey dinners that will be distributed to 200 needy families in Sanford and Seminole County. The meals were donated by Jeno and Lois Paulucci of Sanford. In a tradition now spanning nearly a decade, the Paulucci family will provide about 60,000 dinners for the area after a semi-trailer load of Michelin's and Budget Gourmet brands of frozen entrees, plus at least 200 oven-ready large turkeys, arrived in Seminole Wednesday. The meals will be distributed through 45 charitable agencies serving needy families in Seminole County.

Habitat raffling off playhouse

Some lucky little tot in Central Florida is going to get a wonderful present come Christmas morning with the help of Habitat for Humanity in Seminole County and the Lake Mary Home Depot store. Habitat's third annual Habi"tot" Children's Playhouse Holiday Raffle kicked off on Dec. 2, when the playhouse went on display in the parking lot of the Altamonte Springs Wal-Mart, located at 200 S. State Road 434. The playhouse will move to the Oviedo Marketplace through Dec. 22.

Home Depot of Lake Mary donated all the materials to build the sturdy 6 foot-by-6 foot playhouse, and several of its employees worked with Habitat volunteer Bob Lenders on the two-week construction project. The brightly painted playhouse is almost every child's backyard dream, complete with a front porch, windows, gingerbread trim and a working front door.

Tickets for the playhouse are $2 each, three tickets for $5, or seven tickets for $10. They can be purchased on site at the playhouse display or by calling the Habitat office at 407-328-9717. Drawing for the playhouse will be on Dec. 22, and the winner will be notified by telephone.

"It is so much fun to see the kids' eyes light up when they see the Habi"tot" playhouse on display," Habitat's Executive Director Helene Funk said. "And we are so grateful to Home Depot of Lake Mary for their continued generous support to make this annual event a reality."

All proceeds from the ticket sales will go toward building houses for needy families in Seminole County. Habitat for Humanity has built 47 such homes throughout the county since its creation in 1991, and its goal is to build eight new homes in 2002.

For more information about Habitat or to find out playhouse display location through Dec. 21, call 407-328-9717.

America's best

We now remember what's important in the United States

The subject was "President Bush — Before and After September 11." The venue was the American Enterprise Institute. The talkers were current and former big shots — the star of the current crop was the president's counselor, Karl Rove — from government, think tanks, universities and the press.

Richard Reeves

That is what we do on slow days inside the Beltway. I offered one of my standard lines: "The real job of a president is to bring out the best in the American people." I added that George Bush seemed to be doing that for all of us, with the possible exception of John Ashcroft.

William Galston, former domestic counselor to President Clinton, rose to differ, saying, "It is the people who are bringing out the best in the president."

He was right. That is what makes the United States a great democracy. I have rarely enjoyed a breakfast more than the next morning, on Wednesday, when I unfolded The New York Times and read the front page lead by Robin Toner and Janet Elder, which began:

"Americans are willing to grant the government wide latitude in pursuing suspected terrorists, but are wary of some of the Bush administration's recent counterterrorism proposals and worried about the potential impact on civil liberties, according to the latest New York Times/CBS News Poll."

Yes! Next to that was a report that the government had filed the first formal charges in the attack on the World Trade Center and the Pentagon, indicting a man named Zacarias Moussaoui, a French citizen, accusing him of conspiracy to commit murder. More important than the indictment was the announcement that Moussaoui would be tried in federal court, not in a secret military tribunal on an aircraft carrier or a small island somewhere. The decision to do that, said the White House, was made by Bush and Ashcroft over the objections of the Department of Defense.

Yes! Score one for the Constitution — and the American people. Knowing what happened and why on Sept. 11 is, in the long run, more important than swift and silent revenge. The purpose of military revenge is to warn and scare others inclined to take out their vicious frustrations on innocents. The purpose of open trials is not only to guarantee the rights of the accused, no matter what their citizenship; it is also to remind all the rest of us of our rights and responsibilities at home and abroad.

The Times/CBS numbers, which were sometimes contradictory, did not by any standard constitute an advertisement for the American Civil Liberties Union. But the polling did indicate that respondents understood the tradeoffs (and sometimes contradictions) between security and liberty. Sixty-four percent still said they thought that in wartime a president should have the authority to change rights usually guaranteed by the Constitution.

But more than 80 percent said, as does the Constitution, that such changes in the institutions and processes that are the criminal justice system should be made not by executive order but by normal consultation with Congress — "checks and balances" is what we have called that these past 212 years. And 51 percent of the poll respondents said that they did not like the president's idea of trying foreigners accused of terrorism in secret military procedures.

People are paying attention. That seemed, too, to be part of the consensus of the AEI program. One of the moderators, E.J. Dionne, who divides his time between The Washington Post and the Brookings Institution, said at one point that one result of wartime mobilization of Americans — if this is either — is that crises of state tend to energize the electorate. Once Americans begin thinking big about such things as the role of government in war and peace, they continue to stay interested and engaged after the storm.

Following that line, someone said that Tom Brokaw of NBC News — who may be remembered more for celebrating World War II veterans as "The Greatest Generation" than for his on-camera work — was reporting that younger Americans were stopping him now to say: "Now it's our turn. Watch our generation."

Sept. 11, 2001, was a terrible day in the history of the United States, but it does seem to be energizing many of us about the big things of being American — and I doubt we'll be shy for long about letting the president know what we think about all that.

Why some kids can read and other kids can't

To the editor:

It's simple, schools just don't do it right the first time for the bottom-quartile student. Children who have difficulty reading aren't in a vacuum. Their elementary teachers identify them within the first few days of class. It's what teachers have to do the rest of the year that's the problem. Most struggle to catch these kids up while trying to maintain the rest of the class's attention on the curriculum.

Do they fail? Of course they do. The recent Orlando Sentinel article on reading scores shows that. And because Superintendents and School Boards always think inside the educational box, they always will in every county and state.

Is there a way to stop this kind of educational failure? Of course there is! Just do it right the first time. Teachers are really sharp at identifying kids in their classes who need help. It's the system they teach in that isn't set up to provide help. If the child is ESE qualified, small classes are mandated, but under-funded, by IDEA. The in-between kids stay in crowded classrooms where teachers are struggling to motivate geniuses while remediating tomorrow's failures at the same time. Do you wonder why fewer young people are becoming teachers?

What would happen if all kids with educational problems got smaller classes and more attention — down to one-on-one if necessary? Can teachers teach the lower quartile to read with more time and attention?

Sure they can! But wait, I hear the administrators tuning out now — not enough money, they'll say! I would like to bring to your attention two points to ponder:

1. Has the school system maximized its funding potential? During eight years on the Seminole County School Board's Business Advisory Board, and four years as an elected School Board member, I was led to believe that the Board's income was set by DOE and the millage rate was unchangeable. This allows school board members and Superintendents to run for re-election on the fact that the millage this year is reduced from last year. However, Monroe County increased their millage last year rather than accepting the State's pre-election reduction, raising an extra $5 million. Sure, it's a tough choice for elected officials — but do you want school board members who favor jamming more kids in classes and firing teachers rather than providing basic education?

2. Speaking of tough choices, what about the emphasis school districts place on sports? What's more important? Every child reading at grade level and having the basics for a quality education or a perfectly manicured baseball field? Does every high school need 30 different sports teams? Or should school boards place reading, writing and arithmetic and its mastery first and fund sports if anything is left over?

No school board member who advocates the reduction of the sports programs will ever get re-elected. No superintendent will ever be retained. But you have to ask the question when budget cuts are facing schools.

Will administrators, most of whom have come up through the coaching ranks, ever change the face of repeated failure in education?

Sadly, the answer is no.

District working with agencies to minimize costs

To the editor:

As an agency responsible for ensuring that east-central Florida has an adequate supply of drinking water in the future, the St. Johns River Management District has placed an extremely high priority on developing ways to supplement our current water supply.

During the past several years, the District has been working with water suppliers throughout east-central Florida to identify and develop alternative supplies that will satisfy the increased demand for water. Without developing those alternatives soon, we can expect to see the demand for water exceed sustainable supplies.

While the outlook for water supply is grim without addition of new sources, I'm confident that with the cooperation of local governments and residents, we can prevent the problems from occurring.

One of the District's responsibilities is to prevent unacceptable impacts to water resources, so if requests for additional water would result in wetland systems drying up or spring flows diminishing, we would have no choice but to deny such requests. If we permitted all of the requests for future groundwater allocations that we have recently received, ecosystems in some areas of east-central Florida could be impacted as soon as 2006. While we're not suggesting that harm would begin to occur to our lakes, wetlands and springs if all these additional groundwater allocations were permitted as currently proposed. A complacent attitude would result in the District denying permit applications, which could result in lengthy, expensive legal battles.

Regardless of when the sustainable limits are reached, the bottom line is that we all must work together now to ensure that we have adequate sustainable sources of water for all future needs.

Alternative supplies, which could supplement groundwater sources, have been identified but require regional cooperation to implement effectively. These include treated water from the St. Johns River system, desalination of seawater and use of reclaimed water. In September, the District, along with several local governments partners, launched a project along Lake Monroe to design the optimal treatment process for water from the St. Johns River. This process will include treatment for any potential algae toxins. As the most cost-effective, naturally occurring alternative water supply, the St. Johns River is a source that local governments and water supply utilities can turn to in the near future. In January, the District will begin a feasibility investigation on the optimal location for a potential seawater desalination facility. The District is also working with local governments to increase the use of reclaimed water and storm water for irrigation purposes and for artificial recharge. Water conservation also continues to be a key component of protecting what we and reducing future demand.

As we work with local governments to identify the most appropriate and cost-effective alternative water supplies to supplement the use of groundwater, it's important to understand that water will become more expensive in Florida. However, if local governments and water suppliers work cooperatively, costs will be minimized.

Local groups commended for holiday events

To the editor:

I'd like to take this opportunity to commend Sara Jacobson, the Downtown Business Association, the City of Sanford Street Department, Teen Challenge, Sanford Electric and everyone else who helped make Light up Sanford and the Christmas parade a success. Sara did an outstanding job of coordinating all of this and making it happen. I don't know too many people who would have been willing to take this project on and work as tirelessly as Sara has for the past several months. I can't count how many times I heard people say that this year's Christmas Parade was the best ever. I am proud to live and work in Sanford and tell people so. I would like to suggest that the City of Sanford consider leaving the white lights up downtown year round. It improves the lighting downtown as well as gives a feeling of warmth and welcome when one drives through downtown.

Boat parade and laser show highlight of Saturday night

Have you seen it? Take a ride down-town after dark. Santa's big helpers (the folks in the Downtown Business Association) have completed lighting downtown for Christmas. There are more than 100 displays in a five block area. Some of the displays are animated, some are static. A huge, 9-foot Santa waves to you as he welcomes you into the area. Carousels revolve with six horses, helicopters fly, elves run up a ladder dropping presents into a stocking, reindeer are peacefully grazing round about, angels watch over us, and more.

Sara Jacobson

The lights begin at Sanford Avenue and continue on First Street to Myrtle Avenue. They will not be turned off until Jan. 2. Cars, lots of cars, pass slowly down the street as passengers gaze and audibly exclaim their delight.

Our most exciting Boat Parade will take place on Saturday, Dec. 15, at 6 p.m., on Lake Monroe. Station yourself just east of Monroe Harbour Marina. The viewing area is designated between San Juan Avenue and the tennis courts in Ft. Mellon Park. You will not be able to see the parade from any other position — and you just have to see it.

This is Sanford's first Christmas Flotilla in almost ten years. Twenty-four boats have registered for this outstanding event. They hail from all over Seminole County, Maitland, Apopka and DeLand. They will be decorated with Christmas lights and creativity and then cruise a course for your viewing pleasure.

Excitement will be at an all time high as the boat parade committee patrols the water, guides the parade Skippers, and supervises boating spectators. This stellar committee consists of volunteers from the Coast Guard Auxiliary, Seminole Power Squadron, Orlando Power Squadron, Sheriff's Marine Division, Sanford's Dive-rescue Unit, owners of the three marinas on the lake, Sanford's Recreation Department, and the Downtown Business Association.

The parade will line up (they call that "staging") west of the marina. It will proceed up the middle of the lake to an eastern marker where it will navigate a 180 degree turn and parade for you in front of Ft. Mellon Park.

Sanford has the mother lode of lakes outlining Her northern limits. A growing and glowing boat parade is part of Lake Monroe's destiny. The participants in this year's parade look forward to helping grow the parade in 2002. We already have a list of skippers who could not make this year's parade but want to be included in next year's event.

The boat parade will be followed immediately with a Christmas-themed Laser Show. For those of you have not yet seen a laser production, it is essentially a "light show." Light beams are refracted, controlled, and projected into shapes and forms to suit your fancy. The characters and images created by the light beams are set to the rhythm, story and beat of song — in our case, Christmas carols and patriotic tunes.

The show will be projected onto a humongous screen mounted five stories tall and sixty feet wide. A professional sound system will carry the music through the park (the same viewing area as the boat parade) and out over Lake Monroe. This show can be seen and heard from this viewing area only.

And that, that, that's not all folks — immediately following the laser show we will move to the clock (Magnolia Square), in downtown Sanford, where the Christmas Extravaganza has created Santa's village. There sits Santa in front of a stage. There will be a one-and-a-half hour performance of entertaining music. Sounds will range from choral music, to blue-grass to gospel to jazz.

homes to only one-story on the perimeter of the lot.
"This should be the format for all developers," said Tom Boyko, of the Red Bug Residential Coalition, to commissioners. "It sure would make your job a lot easier."
Pulte Homes even agreed to trap rats that may flee the farm land once construction begins for homes that are expected to cost between $160,000 to $180,000.

"It's not to often you come against a mighty corporation concerned with its neighbors," said Sandra Miller of the Deer Run Clubhouse Point neighborhood. "This is going to be a good thing."
Commissioner Grant Maloy said he was "glad to see both sides get together and talk about this plan." He also reminded residents still upset over the development that they should remember the owner of the farm has property rights too.

"I do remember when Deer Creek was just a field," he said.
County commissioners unanimously approved the rezoning request with a 4 to 0 vote. Absent was commissioner Carlton Henley, who is still recovering from heart surgery. Chairman Daryl McLain said his return to the board could be as early as the next meeting on January 8.

while in the traffic division. "It's just like a sixth sense" said Crapps, who won the department DUI award for most arrests four years in a row, "but it's also being in the right place at the right time too."

Last year, newcomer Erwin captured the DUI award, but this year the duo are neck and neck with both officers topping 115 arrests. A lot of their arrests are "fed to them" by other officers who pull over drunk drivers, said Erwin. Those officers turn over the investigations to the "Bills" because of their expertise in sobriety field tests and their ability to breeze through the sometimes daunting task of the DUI arrest paperwork.

Processing a drunk driver at the county jail can easily take three or four hours, said Crapps. By turning the cases over to the experts, it frees up all the other officers to continue patrolling the city.

New Wheels Make a Difference

Both officers also credit their recent surge in DUI arrests to their new squad cars. Unlike a traditional police vehicle, the "Bills" have cars with no bubble lights on the roofs. "It makes you a little more stealthier when you're running around," Crapps said.

The vehicle is also equipped with "fast track lights" in the back end to alert oncoming traffic on the officer's presence when stopped with a potential drunk driver. The different lighting setup also prevents the flashing lights from interfering with a suspect's response to the field sobriety tests.

The "Bills" are also equipped with a microphone on their lapel which, along with in-vehicle camera, records drunk driver's field sobriety tests.

"There's a microphone in the back seat too. Some of my best evidence I get from this," Crapps said pointing to the back seat mic.

Rounding out the special equipped cars are laptop computers, front and rear radar, a laser gun effective for stationary speeding checks and a plastic back seat for those alcohol-induced mishaps.

Plugging with the Judges

The department's next obstacle in cleaning the city's streets of impaired drivers could be persuading the local courts to accept one of the standardized field sobriety tests.

Sanford Officer Bill Crapps, right, makes an arrest Friday night for DUI. Crapps and Officer Bill Erwin are on track to make more than 300 DUI arrest for 2001.

All law enforcement officers conduct three sobriety field tests; the horizontal gaze nystagmus (hgn); the walk-and-turn; and the one-leg stand. In the hgn test, officers closely check a suspect's eyes by making them follow a pen back and forth in front of their face. Alcohol and drugs make normal quick movements of the eye more profound, which gives an impaired driver a "bouncing" eye effect.

"Some states have been very lucky getting horizontal gaze nystagmus in," Smith said.

"They say we're not qualified to evaluate because we're not doctors," Erwin said.

Statistics show in different studies that police only apprehend about 10 to 20 percent of drivers impaired by alcohol, said Smith. Officers are trained for the clues of impairment, but without hgn, Smith argues it's not always easy when determining a driver who is close to the legal limit of .08 blood alcohol content.

"It's easy to tell that someone is .300 (blood alcohol content) - they're unsteady on their feet, slurring their speech," Smith said. "But it's a different case with a .100 (blood alcohol content).

The "Bills" are trying to show their "reliability" in evaluating hgn to local judges by keeping a log of all suspected driver-impaired traffic stops. With the empirical evidence of hundreds of hgn tests from suspected drunk drivers they'll be able to illustrate the test's accuracy.

Passion Equals Success

What makes the "Bills" continue to work the hellish 6 p.m. to 3 a.m. shift? Tracking down drunk drivers is their passion.

"A lot of people don't like it because of the paperwork," Crapps said about making DUI arrests. "I love the traffic [division] and finding people under the influence."

"I love Sanford. I wouldn't go anywhere else — the area, my bosses, my job they're all great," Erwin said. "I'm here less than two years, and I'm on a special task force. I'll stay here until they tell me I have to go away."

The happiest of all could be Smith who is also relishing the "Bills" success.

"I'm proud of these guys," he said. "They deserve all the kudos they can get. The numbers back them up."

Christopher Patton can be reached at cpattton@seminole-herald.com or 407-322-2611.

unemployment grows. This year's operating budget for the school system was more than $500 million.

"At least we are floating," School Board Vice Chairman Jeanne Morris said. "Some school districts are struggling. We are in a much better place than some people."

The cuts range from adjusting the thermostats in school facilities to providing summer school — without providing transportation for students — at only four of the seven high schools in the county. Tentative locations include Seminole, Lake Howell, Winter Springs and Oviedo high schools.

The suggested sites were chosen as a result of Lake Mary and Lyman high school's planned construction and Lake Brantley's 28-credit hour curriculum system — other schools operate on a 24-credit hour system.

Lake Brantley teacher Suzy Behel voiced the concern of numerous teachers and parents during Tuesday's meeting and asked the Board to reconsider the locations. She said some students, especially ninth- and 10th-graders who don't drive, will not be able to find transportation to attend summer school.

In response, frustrated School Board Member Diane Bauer said, as the state continues cutting funds for education, more students will be affected by the reduction in spending.

"People, this is the reality," Bauer said. "We are going to be hurt. If our representatives in Tallahassee watch our meetings, they have to very much consider what we are doing and see the impact."

The Board also agreed to stop plans for its suspension center, which was initiated last year to keep students who receive out-of-school suspensions under some sort of supervision.

Field trips to the Student Museum and the Environmental Center will also be treated like other field trips. Schools will now be required to charge students — or find other ways to pay for — transportation to the two Seminole locations.

Besides the direct impact to programs within the school system, other organizations in Seminole will be hurt by the cuts. The Central Florida Zoological Park will have to wait for the school system's payments for its $30 million renovation plan. The School Board agreed to contribute $1 million to the zoo's project, and it has already given the facility $400,000. The remaining payments will now be delayed for at least a year.

Although several of the budget cuts may seem drastic, it could have been worse. Before the state Legislature announced its last round of cuts, the school system had already sequestered about $6 million in case of a reduction in funding, Seminole Schools Superintendent Paul Hagerty said. Earlier this year, the district announced a hiring freeze and a halt on traveling to respond to Florida's economic downside, which was made worse by the loss of tourism and hospitality revenue following the Sept. 11 attacks.

The school system also received some help earlier this year when it obtained an additional $1 million from the state as a result of an increase in enrollment.

Nevertheless, more revenue reduction options may have to be considered for the 2002/03 budget year. Future considerations may include pay to play extracurricular activities and the elimination, or charging a fee, for summer acceleration courses.

The dismal forecast could change if Florida's economy improves. If it doesn't, the school system may have to consider budget cuts that would double this year's decrease in spending. There won't be any simple solutions.

"None of these decision are going to be easy," Board Chairman Sandra Robinson said. "We are going to do what we have to do."

Bikes

can use now, and it's something they can even teach their kids."

While the course helps students remember safety during recreational riding, school officials want to make sure the children arrive unhurt to school. According to physical education teacher Michael Iseminger, many of Lake Orienta's students ride their bicycles to school each morning.

"We see a lot of kids riding their bicycles around the neighborhood, and they need to know how to ride safely, especially when they are riding to school," Iseminger said. "It's always important to think about riding safely whenever they are riding their bikes."

While the older students had the chance to ride bikes during the three-week course, kindergarten, first- and second-grade students learned about pedestrian safety. Topics included looking right and left before crossing a street and what the various road signs mean. All of the students also participated in games, including Red Light, Green Light — having fun while learning the importance of safety.

"Our first priority was safety, but we also wanted the students to have fun and enjoy themselves," Miller said.

The bicycles and helmets used in the three-week course are provided by Seminole County School System's Bicycle Safety Program. Teachers are required to be certified in the course before the "Bike Bus" is allowed to spend several weeks at a Seminole school. During the course, students spend two or three hours a week learning about state laws and safety tips.

The course offers instruction many students may not receive at home, Resource Officer Henry said.

"A lot of children receive bikes, especially around Christmas time, but they don't always learn about safety and the rules of the road," Henry said. "It's easy to give them a bike and say ride it."

On Thursday, the students got the opportunity to use their skills during their first off-campus ride as a group. Riding single file, the students traveled about six blocks around the school. Since it was an off-campus ride, students had the opportunity to ride their own bicycles.

The group was led by Lake Orienta Principal Kathy Phillips and officers Kristen Bates, Kristin Hill, Henry and Louis Torres from the Altamonte Springs Police Department. Numerous parents came along for the ride.

"The parents have been very supportive about the program," Miller said. "Many had to bring the students' bicycles to school and some stayed to ride along with their children. We've just had great participation."

Heard

Webber said the new vehicle was just another positive association for Bill Heard to the DARE program, the police department and the local kids. The new sporty vehicle will help her be more approachable to the DARE kids, she added.

"Since we came to the Sanford area on Highway 17/92 we started the relationship," said Anita Evans, marketing director for Bill Heard Chevrolet.

Next week, also marks a new beginning for the vacant Bill

Heard lot on 17/92. On Wednesday the vacant lot will reopen as Bill Heard's pre-owned outlet.

"January and February are going to be quite busy," Evans said as last minute car buyers try to take advantage of the zero percent interest incentive. Bill Heard Chevrolet is also gearing up for Daytona 500 gearways the week after Christmas.

quality Pentium processor machines.

"Education to me is a process," Suber said. "In my case, a lifelong process."

All of the computers were internally cleaned of foreign software and data and loaded with the school districts standard software and tested for proper operation, said Seminole Schools CIO George Kosmac. Twenty-two of the computers and several printers were installed in computer labs at Rosenwald Exceptional Student Center in Altamonte Springs, where the donation will equip two labs for the students and allow the current lab computers to be placed in classrooms.

"There couldn't have been a greater gift to the students," Rosenwald Principal Michael Pfeiffer said. "This totally revamped our program."

A small school, Rosenwald serves about 100 special education students, Pfeiffer said. Due to the small enrollment, the facility doesn't receive a large amount of funding from the state and elsewhere for equipment such as computers.

The school system plans to use the remaining computers at various schools for capturing voice call data, Kosmac said. The large-screen monitors will be given to high school graphics and video production labs.

Local builder breaks 4 percent barrier for financing

Engineered Homes, which has five developments underway in Seminole County, has gone very few production home builders have gone before — below the 4 percent mortgage interest threshold.

In a push to sell as much inventory by year's end, the Winter Park-based builder is offering 3.875 percent mortgage financing on all inventory homes at its six Central Florida residential communities, said Marilyn Anderson, the company's sales and marketing director.

Engineered Homes has approximately 40 inventory homes at its communities in Lake Mary, Oviedo, Casselberry, Clermont, south Orlando and just north of Heathrow near Lake Forest.

Home buyers could see savings of more than $3,500 during first year

The mortgage is a 2/1 builder buy down and is more than 3 points below the current 7 percent mortgage interest rate for a conventional 30-year mortgage. The rate moves to 4.875 percent the second year and to 5.875 percent for years three through seven.

"Even though they've inched up in recent weeks, mortgage interest rates are still very attractive to the average home buyer," Anderson said. "We've made them more appealing."

On a $150,000 mortgage, the monthly principal and interest (P&I) payment at 3.875 percent is $705.36, compared to $997.95 at today's 7 percent. That's a savings of $292.59 a month or $3,511 the first year. Even when the interest rate jumps a point the second year, the P&I only increases to $793.81.

"There's a lot of money to be saved during the first two years of this program," Anderson said, noting that the limited program enables buyers to purchase more home for their home-buying dollar.

"And, they have the option to refinance at any time for a rate with which they feel comfortable," she added.

Many local home builders are offering low interest financing programs of their own, but Engineered Homes is the first to crack the 4 percent barrier.

The 6-year-old company, which expects to build about 450 homes next year, is building the Sanctuary in Oviedo, Erget's Landing in Lake Mary, The Retreat at Wekiva near Lake Forest, Buckingham Estates north of Heathrow, Lake Griffin Estates in Casselberry, Weston Hills south of Clermont and Lake Gloria Preserve in south Orlando.

Central Florida Regional Hospital CEO leads Heart Association Gala

Matt Zavatsky, president of the Metro Orlando Division of the American Heart Association, announced that Rodney Smith and Tim Cook have been named co-chairpersons of the 2002 Heart Gala.

The event will be held on Saturday, February 9, 2002 at the Hard Rock Hotel.

Rodney Smith, CEO of Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford, and Tim Cook, CEO of Osceola Regional Medical Center in Kissimmee, have come together to fight cardiovascular diseases and stroke, the nation's #1 and #3 killers. Nearly one million Americans die each year from cardiovascular disease — one person every 33 seconds. Proceeds from the gala will fund life-saving cardiovascular research and public education.

"We are delighted and honored that Mr. Smith and Mr. Cook have accepted the important responsibility of co-chairing this year's Heart Gala," said Zavatsky. "Under their leadership, the American Heart Association will move closer to its mission of reducing cardiovascular diseases and stroke."

"Tim and I are both very excited to step forward and lead the community in the fight against heart disease and stroke," said Smith. "We believe in the American Heart Association's mission and through events like the Heart Gala we can make a difference in saving the lives of Central Florida residents. It is an honor and privilege to co-chair this year's event."

Each year, the Heart Gala raises funds to advance the work of the American Heart Association, a national not-for-profit health organization. For more information about the Heart Gala, contact the American Heart Association at (407) 843-1330 or online at www.americanheart.org/fl.

The American Heart Association spent about $382 million during fiscal year 2000-2001 on research support, public and professional education, and community programs.

Ace is the Place — for expansion

Sanford Ace Hardware Inc. purchases Oviedo store

By Dan Ping
Editor

SANFORD — What began as a dream for Bob and Inez Parsell in 1978, has become one of the region's most successful independent hardware businesses.

The Parsells own the Ace Hardware franchise in Sanford, Longwood, Casselberry and just recently added a presence in Oviedo.

"We are the largest independent neighborhood hardware company in Central Florida," Bob Parsell said. "In addition, the Sanford store has the highest sales volume of any independent neighborhood hardware facility in Central Florida."

The company's acquisition of Nelson Ace Hardware in Oviedo is the Parsells' most recent expansion of their company that began in 1978 with a 2,300-square-foot facility on Park Avenue in Sanford.

"Nelson and Company wanted to get out of the retail business and concentrate more on real estate," Parsell said. "We're always looking for good business opportunities. We felt that with the growth of the Oviedo area, this would be a great location. This rounds out our presence in Seminole County."

While the ownership of the store is changing, Oviedo customers won't notice any dramatic changes.

"The store has a good management team in place," Parsell said. "About the only thing we have done is add some inventory and change the pricing structure a bit. Cathy and Gary Gay manage that store and they are well established in the community."

Involvement in the community is important to Parsell. He is the past president of the Sanford/Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and served two years as the president of Sanford Main Street Inc.

"We try to get involved in all of the communities where our stores are located, especially in Sanford," Parsell said. "Sanford is very special to Inez and me. The residents of Sanford have embraced us, and we feel like Sanford is our hometown. Both of us left our hometowns when we were young, and we've moved around quite a bit working for large corporations. It's nice to settle down in one place. Sanford is a great place to live and own a business."

Parsell's devotion to community is part of his company's business philosophy.

"We are committed to having the inventory people want and the people to show them how to use that inventory," Parsell said.

That philosophy has allowed Parsell's Ace Hardware stores not only to compete but thrive against the "big box" national hardware chains.

"We've never looked at them as a threat," Parsell said. "In fact, our business has grown right along with them."

"Our basic business — our bread and butter, so to speak — is repair and maintenance for local home owners," Parsell added. "You've got a lot invested in your home, so you want to take care. We can help you do that. We have the inventory you need, and we have a high level of customer service. If you've got questions about how to do a home repair job, our employees have the experience and knowledge to help you get the job done right."

Parsell notes that his employees are a big reason for Ace's success, and he recently reorganized the duties of the company's officers and stockholders.

Parsell is the CEO of the company and he has named John Pezold as the company's president. Pezold is a hometown Sanford boy who has worked for Parsell for 20 years.

"John started working for us when he was 22 years old," Parsell said. "He was born and reared in Sanford. In fact, his first real job was with Dot Powell at Powell's Office Supply."

Inez Parsell is the secretary/treasurer and Greg Parsell is the vice president of operations.

who has 16 years of service at Ace, is the vice president of Longwood operations.

"Lori and Ben have been valuable employees for many years," Parsell said. "Ben started as a minimum wage clerk. Come to think of it, they all started at minimum wage as we began to grow the business."

Sanford Ace Hardware Inc. began in 1978 in the 2500 block of Park Avenue in Sanford (where the laundry is now located).

In 1981, the company opened a 2,800-square-foot facility in Longwood on State Road 427, and eventually built a 5,000-square-foot facility on State Road 434 in 1985.

The Sanford operations moved to 25th Street in 1983. That building now serves as the company's warehouse facility. In 1991, the Sanford operations were expanded with the construction of the store's current facility.

In 1993, Parsell purchased the Ace Hardware store in Casselberry when the owner retired.

The purchase of Nelson Ace Hardware in Oviedo was completed in August 2001.

The company employs more than 50 people at its four locations and operates more than 40,000 square feet of retail space.

"We're just a living example of the American Dream," Parsell said. "We borrowed some money to get started and went into business with a dream. It's been everything we've hoped for."

Counties roll out regional alliance

Government, business and institutional leaders in Central Florida have announced an alliance for the next three years on a regional development initiative that will help define and direct the region's future.

The initiative, called myregion.org, was officially rolled-out on Thursday, at the newly renovated Osceola County Courthouse in Kissimmee.

"Metro-Orlando is known throughout the world as a premier travel destination. But as we have all witnessed in recent months, times change," said Commissioner Randy Morris of Seminole County, a member of the myregion.org Initiating Committee. "It is now time for all of our leaders — government, business and institutional — to work together in ways that will help sustain a region that can succeed in the global marketplace."

The partnership among seven Central Florida counties — Brevard, Lake, Orange, Osceola, Polk, Seminole and Volusia — along with businesses and institutions is intended to galvanize the idea of regionalism, prioritize the importance of regional collaboration and problem-solving and clarify the region's natural strengths and weaknesses relative to other regions.

The program has four goals: organize, inform, and involve regional leaders; create a regional knowledge base; increase administrative and technical capabilities; and develop a widespread public understanding and consensus about regionalism.

By collecting existing data, and integrating it into a knowledge base, myregion.org will help individual communities better understand the broader context in which they deliver services to the region and how they relate to and interact with other major metropolitan centers. It will also give the region's decision-makers and citizens an understanding of the long-term implications of existing regional divisions and lay groundwork for making decisions for the mutual benefit of the region.

Michael Gallis & Associates, Inc., a Charlotte, NC, firm specializing in building globally competitive regions, will lead a major part of the myregion.org effort. The Gallis method of creating a regional framework to strategically shape the region's future has become a national model as a basis for effective regional planning.

"History shows that in times of great change, governments and other organizations flourish when they see change coming and prepare to capitalize on the opportunities it brings," Gallis said. "Those that did not recognize and prepare for change often missed significant opportunity."

"We want the Central Florida region to continue to be one of the top places to live and work in the United States," said Jacob Stuart, president of myregion.org.

For more information regarding myregion.org, contact Vilma Quintana at 407-418-4520.

Local company establishes tech support division

TEAM Information Services in Lake Mary has established a new division to offer outsourcing support for PC desktops, local and wide area networks. Matt Moore, founder and chief executive officer, said TEAM will provide Help Desk, Desktop and Network Services to clients. TEAM currently has 12 computer specialists supporting this division and expects to grow this to 40 within the next year.

"With more than 150 information technology experts on our staff, we have the capability to provide more and better support at significantly less cost than most companies," said Moore. "Frankly, it is typically a headache for our clients to manage, and they are very happy to outsource this functionality to a firm like TEAM. This service is not part of their strategic vision so they end up with low morale and lots of turnover."

TEAM Information Services is a 10-year-old information technology company that is part of a network of firms that includes Vereon Technology in Jacksonville and Dragon Development in the Washington D.C. area. The TEAM Group of IT companies has more than 150 professional employees, mostly computer engineers, software designers and systems analysts.

INCON Lighting negotiating to acquire Chinese company

INCON Lighting, Inc., the Sanford-based manufacturer of high-tech and energy-efficient commercial lighting systems, is negotiating to acquire a Chinese manufacturing company.

Mark Hudson, president of the firm, said he recently returned from China on a fact-finding trip and is currently negotiating to acquire the company, which is located in the city of Zhuhai.

Hudson said the potential acquisition target posts annual sales of more than $12 million and has 600 workers.

INCON is in final negotiations to acquire a California company, Hudson added. He hopes to have that deal wrapped up by mid-January. INCON recently acquired a Miami company and relocated at 14 workers to the Sanford area.

INCON reported sales of $753, 815 in November and the company plans to top $7 million in sales this year.

Florida Solar to build $3.5 million Sanford facility

Florida Solar, the world's largest and most active distributor of pool heating systems, will request bids for construction of a new $3.5 million headquarters facility in Sanford before the end of the year.

Florida Solar founder and President Skip West said the new facility will be built on S.R. 46 in Sanford. The new facility will accommodate the firm's pool heating pool service and maintenance and pest control division, along with administrative and assembly operations.

Manufacturer ships surgical gloves to postal workers

BarrierMed Glove Co., which recently offered to donate 150,000 pairs of latex-free surgical gloves to postal workers throughout the U.S. to ease fears they might come in contact with anthrax, has shipped the first batches of free gloves to postal workers in two regional service centers in Florida.

BarrierMed founder and Chief Executive Officer Victor Ragucci said news reports of his offer prompted requests from post office officials in Altamonte Springs and Longwood and he is in the process of shipping gloves to post offices in Lake Mary and West Palm Beach.

Ragucci said he offered to donate 150,000 pairs of gloves after learning that loose-fitting sanitary gloves supplied to postal workers can get caught in high-speed mail sorting machines. The surgical gloves were designed to fit like a "second skin," Ragucci said.

Ragucci said he has already shipped more than 800 pairs of gloves.

BarrierMed's offer of free gloves recently brought an unexpected response, Ragucci said. "We have received calls from four individuals interested in investing in BarrierMed," he said. All four calls were from postal workers, he added.

"We made our offer not to be charitable but because it's the right thing to do," said Ragucci. "The U.S. Postal Service obviously has enormous resources, and they are just as obviously interested in the safety and protection of their employees. We are prepared to help them in that effort where ever there is a need."

BarrierMed supplies latex-free surgical gloves to many hospitals and medical centers nationwide.

Millie's Barber Shop

Since 1964, Millie Murray has been a "cut above the rest" when it comes to stylish grooming. Her Lake Mary barber shop has been a popular spot for nearly 40 years, but now Millie wants to give the "younger generation" a chance to show their stuff.

Millie is turning her shop over to her son Ed. Ed's cut from the same cloth as Millie when it comes to mastering the perfect haircut. He specializes in all the latest cuts and coloring and can take care of the entire family — from little Johnny's fade to grampa's more mature style.

Giving Ed a hand will be Ted Reese, a new addition to Millie's Barber Shop. Ted's a master with the clippers, whether you need a haircut or a trim of that ZZ Top-style beard.

While Millie intends to let Ed and Ted run the show, she's won't be completely absent from the barber shop. She plans to still come in on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to noon to take care of a few long-time customers.

Mike Bisceglia ends 21 year reign as head football coach at Lake Howell

CASSELBERRY — All good things must come to an end, but this came out of nowhere.

The Seminole Athletic Conference football community was shocked on Tuesday as veteran Lake Howell High School coach Mike Bisceglia decided to step down from his post of 21 years.

Bisceglia was one of the most respected, well-liked and innovative coaches in the Seminole Athletic Conference and his departure will leave a void for many local football fans.

"Coach Mike Bisceglia has served Lake Howell High School in the capacity of head football coach since 1981. His contribution to Lake Howell and the Silver Hawks is immeasurable," said Lake Howell Principal Don Smith in a news release on Thursday. "Coach Bisceglia has been integral in the success enjoyed by the LHHS football team and through his efforts, numerous players have gone on to play at the college and professional level.

including being nominated for Coach of the Year honors. He is a well-organized coach who has worked hard and been extremely committed to the Silver Hawks."

Even though he is leaving the coaching ranks, Bisceglia is not leaving Lake Howell, as he will continue to be an instructor at the school.

Greyhounds do it again

Lyman boys rally past Seminole

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

SANFORD — It was deja vu all over again for the Lyman and Seminole boys basketball teams Wednesday night.

For the second time in as many meetings this season the Greyhounds rallied from a seven-point deficit in the fourth quarter to defeat Arrow Force X, this time by the score of 66-65.

Two weeks ago in the Championship Game of the Greyhound Invitational Tournament, the hosts had come back from seven-points down to force overtime and went on for a 59-55 victory.

Playing its first home game of the season at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium, Seminole hit its first two shots to take a 4-0 lead before Donovan Redden keyed an 8-0 spurt to give the Greyhounds the lead.

Arrow Force X then took over control of the game mainly on the scoring and rebounding of Marcus Robinson (14 first half points) and the defense of Lydell Williams (five first half steals), as the hosts led 15-12 after one period and 37-31 at halftime.

Seminole, in fact, led 23-12 with 6:25 to go in the first half and 29-14 with 2:50 left before intermission before Dan Vermiglio, the Most Valuable Player in the Greyhound Invitational, hit the first of his back-to-back three-pointers. Redden then buried Lyman's third consecutive three-pointer and the 'Hounds were back in the game.

Arrow Force X regained the momentum to start the third quarter, again scoring the first four points, to take a 10-point lead, 41-31.

At that point veteran Lyman coach Norm Reddy switched to a scramble type of pressure defense and the Greyhounds forced Seminole into a rash of turnovers as they scored nine straight Lyman's Dan Vermiglio (No. 30, top), who scored 13 points, goes over all five Seminole defenders to attempt a layup, while Arrow Force X's Marcus Robinson (No. 42, bottom), who scored a game-high 18 points off the bench, shows good form in shooting a jump shot over Marquis Johnson (No. 4) during the Greyhounds' 66-65 comeback from behind Seminole Athletic Conference victory at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium Tuesday.

Bulldogs, Patriots kiss, but do not make up

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

DeLAND — It's been said that a tie in sports is like kissing your sister, or brother, whichever the case may be.

If that is true, the Lake Brantley and DeLand soccer teams must be related.

On Tuesday, the boys' squads battled to a 2-2 tie and then the girls' game ended in a 0-0 deadlock on Wednesday.

Then to add another page to this strange scenario, the Patriot boys found their Thursday night contest also end in a 2-2 tie, this time with Seminole Athletic Conference foe Oviedo.

Vasil Hindalov scored both goals for the DeLand boys in the first half as the Bulldogs led 2-1, but Lake Brantley was able to come up with the tying goal in the second half to force the standoff at Tom Story Field.

Alfredo Charry scored one Patriot goal on an assist from Graham Zusi, while the other score came on an own goal.

On Thursday, Oviedo scored early and late to tie Lake Brantley.

The Lions' J.P. Raad scored the game's first goal on a penalty kick early in the game, but the Patriots (7-1-3) came back to take the lead on Fernando Patino's goal right before half-time and Zusi's score midway through the second half.

But Oviedo got the tie when J.P. Raad took a pass from brother Chris Raad with three minutes left in the game and found the back of the net.

Charry and Tommy Stavitzski had assists for Lake Brantley.

The girls' matchup between the Patriots and Bulldogs on Wednesday at Spec Martin Stadium turned into a defensive struggle with No. 1 State-ranked DeLand (10-0-1) outshooting Lake Brantley (8-0-2), 9-3. Cassie Keané had five saves in goal for the Patriots.

These two clubs are becoming quite the rivals as they played three 1-0 games last year.

In other boys' games this week:

Ricardo Perez scored a pair of goals, but it was not enough as Deltona edged host Seminole, 4-3 at Thomas E. Whigham Stadium on Tuesday.

Oscar Paniagua had a goal and an assist for the Fighting Seminoles, while Nick Thomas added an assist for the Tribe.

Cortes scored a pair of goals and Jerry Girard, Travis Rodgers and Javier Bermudez had assists as Lake Mary topped Winter Springs, 3-1, Tuesday night. Rusty Robinett had four saves in goal for the Rams.

Rams get leg up in girls basketball race

By Dean Smith
Sports Editor

LAKE MARY — They may not be in the same district anymore, but the rivalry is still hot between the girls' basketball teams at Lake Mary and Winter Springs high schools.

Tuesday night, junior star Alexa Kane and sophomore Meghan Chamberlain tossed in 12 points each as Lake Mary edged Winter Springs, 52-47, in a Seminole Athletic Conference battle.

The Rams, who remain in Class 6A, are now 10-0 on the season and are amazingly only getting votes in the FSWA State Poll despite winning most of their games handily.

The Bears got a game-high 13 points from Stetson signee Missy Guadagnino, while South Alabama recruit Jen Forst had eight rebounds and Sally Johnston dished out four assists.

Winter Springs fell to 5-1 with the loss, but are ranked No. 7 in the Class 6A State Poll despite the fact that the Bears are now in Class 5A.

Oviedo has also been shining in the early season and seems ready to challenge Lake Mary and Winter Springs for supremacy in the county.

The Lions waltzed past DeLand, 58-41, and clobbered Lake Brantley, 49-25, this week to improve to 8-1.

Sophomore Whitney Tossie scored 17 points and pulled down six rebounds and Justine Ellifrink handed out five assists in the victory over the Bulldogs on Tuesday and sophomore Irimar Hernandez had 12 points and four assists, while Tossie again hauled down six rebounds in the thumping of the Bulldogs on Thursday. Junior Michelle Smith led Lake Brantley with nine points.

And lest we forget, Lyman is having a very good season and is worthy of recognition. See Girls, Page 2B points to close to within one point, 41-40, with 4:15 left in the third quarter.

Arrow Force X coach Bob Traina then used a time out to settle his squad down and they responded with an 8-0 run of their own to rebuild a nine-point lead, 49-40, with 1:49 left in the period.

Seminole appeared to have weathered the storm as it maintained the lead and was up by eight points, 59-51, with 4:24 left in the contest.

But just as quickly, the Lyman pressure started to pay off again and the visitors went on a 9-2 run to get back to within one point, 61-60, on a three-pointer by Maurice Hall with 2:43 remaining.

Arrow Force X answered with a jumper by Williams, but Andreu Pieters knocked down a three-pointer from the left wing to tie the contest at 63-63 with 1:30 on the clock.

Seminole had a chance to regain the lead six-seconds later, but missed both free throws, and Pieters gave the Greyhounds their first lead since early in the first quarter when he hit the second of two free throws with 0:54 left.

Arrow Force X grabbed the lead back for the final time when Marcus Robinson scored on a layup with 30-seconds left.

Lyman then scored the game-winner with 15-seconds left when Redden got loose for a layup.

Seminole advanced the ball to halfcourt and called a time out with nine-seconds on the clock. The hosts then had to use another timeout with four-seconds left when the ball got trapped at midcourt.

Traina then set up the perfect play, getting a lob over the Greyhound defender toward the basket, but the layup rolled off the rim as the horn sounded and Lyman ran off the court celebrating its seventh victory with a defeat this season.

The difference in the game can be traced to ball control as the Greyhounds went from making 13 first half turnovers to only five in the second half, while Seminole had 12 turnovers in the first half and 13 in the second half, nine on errant passes.

Lyman's defense on Arrow Force X star Robby DuPre also had a major effect, as the 6-foot-

6 senior scorer who averages close to 22 points a game, only netted four points on 2-of-8 shooting from the floor. The Greyhounds had also held the forward down in the first game, holding him to nine points.

Redden had a big game for Lyman, scoring 17 points and also adding three steals and three assists. Vermiglio also had a big all-around game with 13 points, five rebounds, three steals and two blocked shots.

Pieters was also in double figures for the Greyhounds with 11 points, and also added three assists, while Mark Robinson pulled down eight rebounds and Neil Vaz had three steals.

Maurice Robinson paced Seminole with game-highs in scoring (18), rebounds (nine), and blocked shots (two).

Williams also had a big all-around contest with 10 points, eight rebounds, six assists and six steals.

Anthony Turner chipped in with 12 points and six rebounds, Marcus Fontaine had 10 points, and Jake Polk and Dan Taylor added five and four assists, respectively.

The young Greyhounds, two sophomore starters and a freshman as the sixth man, are now 7-0 on the season, while Arrow Force X falls to 2-3, with the three losses being by a total of six points, including back-to-back one-point defeats this week.

tion with the other three powers.

On Tuesday, University of Central Florida signee Celeste Hudson scored 18 points as the Greyhounds won a defensive battle with Seminole, 43-32, and then dropped in 18 more on Thursday as Lyman got past Lake Howell, 55-48. Brown and Segarra helped out Hudson with 13 rebounds and three assists, respectively, while Silver Hawks sophomore Mattea Codrey tied Hudson for game-high scoring honors with 18 points.

Also on Tuesday, Viviana "V" Stewart scored 10 points to lead a balanced Lake Brantley attack to a 40-32 victory over Lake Howell. Codrey led the extremely young Silver Hawks, only one senior and four juniors on the 12 player roster, with a game-high 13 points. Sophomore Leigh Ann Brown topped all rebounders with six and sophomore Abby Kohn handed out three assists for Lake Howell.

Lyman's defense got tougher as the game went on Tuesday night and is displayed by a pair of Greyhound defenders as they go after a shot attempted by Seminole's Lydel Williams (No. 30) during Lyman's come-from-behind 66-65 Seminole Athletic Conference victory over Arrow Force X at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium.

In maybe the biggest game on this week's schedule, undefeated Oviedo (9-0) opened its Class 6A-District 3 campaign with a huge 66-63 victory over last year's champion, DeLand, before 1,200 people at the Dog House on Tuesday.

The Bulldogs (4-2), which ended the Lions' 30-game unbeaten streak in the district finals in this building last February, looked like they might upset the No. 3 state-ranked team again as they raced to an 18-8 first quarter advantage.

But the second period belonged to Oviedo as it outscored DeLand, 19-9, to send the teams to the locker room tied at 27-27.

The hosts came out and controlled the third period, building an eight-point lead, 47-39, at the end of the eight minutes.

The Lions got rolling in the final period, putting 27 points on the board, and holding the Bulldogs to only 16 to pull out the victory.

Class 6A Player of the Year Shawn Witherspoon stepped up during crunch time and hit three of his four three-point shots in the final 1:41 to lead the Oviedo charge.

Witherspoon's final 'trey' came with 30 seconds remaining and put the Lions ahead to stay, 65-63. A.J. Hargrave hit one of two free throws with 19-seconds left to complete the scoring.

Witherspoon finished with a game-high 22 points, while Brad Rich added 11 points and Lamaer Smith eight points for the winner's.

In another game from Tuesday, freshman guard Kyle Fowler scored 12 points, but Lake Brantley fell to Apopka, 63-52.

On Wednesday, Ryan Exter had 20 points and four assists and Toby Smith scored 13 points and pulled down nine rebounds as Winter Springs topped Lake Mary, 55-47. Freshman Darryl Merthie led the Rams with 13 points.

Special to the Herald

LAKE MARY — Team Dalli's was the last team standing when the smoke had cleared at the Advanced EyeCare's First Annual Softball Tournament and Home Run Derby held recently at the Lake Mary Sports Complex.

Led by Tournament Most Valuable Player Bob Morse, Team Dalli's outlasted nine other teams in the double-elimination event to claim the first prize, which were individual $25 gift certificates at Advanced EyeCare for all members of the winning team.

"The tournament was a huge success and will definitely be held again next year," said Ben Larson, O.D., tournament director from Advanced EyeCare of Central Florida. "We had a total of 10 very competitive teams entered in the tournament, plus a special thanks goes out to major leaguer Dante Bichette for his tremendous hitting display during our Home Run Derby."

Bichette, who now calls Lake Mary home, played for the Boston Red Sox this past season and is a former National League Most Valuable Player as a member of the Colorado Rockies.

Octavio Torres, a member of Team Dalli's, was the winner of the Home Run Derby and received $100 a beautiful plaque.

Team Dalli's defeated RE/MAX Realty Resources in the Championship Game, with the Mississippi Mudcats winning the Consolation Championship.

Following the tournament a gala post-tournament party and award presentation was held at Gators of Lake Mary that evening.

All profits from the tournament and the Home Run Derby were given to the Lake Mary Rotary Club for their Seminole Community College Scholarship Fund.

pair of shots as did teammate Michael Benzer as Lyman (7-3-2) whipped New Smyrna Beach, 6-1, Thursday night.

N. J. Pavlovic had a pair of assists for the Greyhounds, while Steve Spangler had five saves in goal for the winner's.

A balanced attack saw Lake Howell have four different players have goals and assists to back the goalkeeping of Jason Chapman in the Silver Hawks' 4-1 victory over Mainland on Thursday.

In other girls' soccer games: Ovidio and Lake Howell battled to a 1-1 tie on Tuesday with Rylane Gonzalez scoring on an assist from Jennifer Mulvihill for the Silver Hawks and Rodriguez scoring on an assist from Carter for the Lions.

Lake Mary and Winter Springs also fought to a 2-2 on Wednesday with Weber scoring both Bears goals, one on an assist from Hilary Clamunden, and Silvera stopping 12 shots in goal.

An outright winner appeared on Wednesday, but unfortunately Seminole came out on the short end of a 4-1 score against Deltona.

Kathy Akin, Lyndi Stein, Andrea Tegeler and Gonzalez each scored one goal to back the shutout goalkeeping of Carolyn Richard as Lake Howell (9-1) blanked Mainland (5-5), 4-0.

Bisceglia

151-120 record, a mark that would have been much better had the talent pool for the school not virtually dried up in the late part of the 1990's.

After going almost winless for three seasons, Bisceglia got radical and went back to a 1950's style of offense, the Wing-T, in 2000 and the team responded with a 3-7 record in the tough District 4 of Class 5A.

But Bisceglia's best coaching job may have come this season as Lake Howell moved from Class 5A down to Class 4A and the Silver Hawks had not played many, if any of the teams before.

But the team had fun and went 4-6 despite playing in without a doubt the toughest district in Florida in Class 4A-District 5. Among the teams that Lake Howell faced in district play were defending Class 6A State Champion Palm Bay High School, highly state-ranked New Smyrna Beach, coached by Hall-of-Famer Gerald Odom, always tough Merritt Island High School and Satellite High School, which was a district champion in Class 5A just two years ago.

Bisceglia, originally from Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, received his undergraduate degree from Southwestern Missouri University and has a Masters degree in Education from Florida Atlantic University. He has been a football coach for 36 years, the last 26 as a head coach.

Bisceglia's Silver Hawks squads of the late 1980's and early 1990's were among the top two or three in the state of Florida and some were recognized nationally.

Among the players to excel under Bisceglia was running back Marquette Smith, who was the Gatorade National Player of the Year in 1991, current Denver Bronco defensive end Trevor Pryce, linebacker Ken Times, arguably the best defensive player ever in Seminole County, linebacker Tommy Demps, who started for four years at Arizona State, and offensive lineman Tim Hopkins, who started at Ohio State.

Bisceglia said he felt it was just time to get away from the rigors of being a head football coach, but that he might be back in a year or two because he was already missing coaching.

Jay Black is a relative newcomer to Lake Mary, but he enchanted the audience with two very beautiful Christmas songs. The final act of the evening was the Stardust Girl Scouts. About 100 girls crowded onto the stage to sing holiday favorites.

The Lake Mary Community Improvement Association had a table set up selling T-shirts and memberships. The CIA has been around as long as the city has been around. Their goal is genuinely community improvement. They have paid for the sign at city hall, a playground for the elementary school, trees for Arbor Day and much more.

The Lake Mary Historical Society was on hand selling cookbooks. The cookbooks have many family recipes including some from Lake Mary's original families.

The Lake Mary Woman's Club gave out cookies and a drink to people who donated non-perishable food. Even though all the flyers and the notice in the newspaper indicated that the food would be going to Safehouse and needy Lake Mary families, the Woman's Club changed their mind without informing anyone associated with Holiday in the Park and gave everything to the Good Samaritan. The organizers of Holiday in the Park would like to apologize to everyone for the unannounced change.

The Girl Scouts had a table where kids could color their own holiday card. They also collected toys at Holiday in the Park. The toys collected did go to Safehouse of Seminole County and needy Lake Mary families as promised.

Breakfast With Santa A Hit

Santa was at St. Peter's Presbyterian Church bright and early Saturday morning for Breakfast With Santa. Breakfast With Santa has been a tradition at the church for a number of years. The event is a fund-raiser for their pre-school program.

In addition to a hearty breakfast, there were lots of other things to do. Everyone sang Christmas carols with a guitar accompaniment as they enjoyed the hayride. Children played on moonwalks and slides while adults shopped at the various vendors. There was also a chance to get some great merchandise cheap at the annual silent auction.

the Toy Maker

Wooden creations come alive in Roberts' workshop

By Christopher Patton
Staff Writer

In an era where electronic gadgets, gizmos and gears are popular holiday gifts, one local man's hand-crafted wooden toys are still the odds end favorite to capture a child's attention.

Jack Roberts, the Lake Mary modern-day Gepetto, started his interest in the toy business 15 years ago while working as an executive at AAA Insurance in Virginia. Today, his business — Toys By Jack — boasts more than three dozen different hand-crafted toys.

"I called it mental therapy," he said. "I would come home from the office and this would help take my mind off my work."

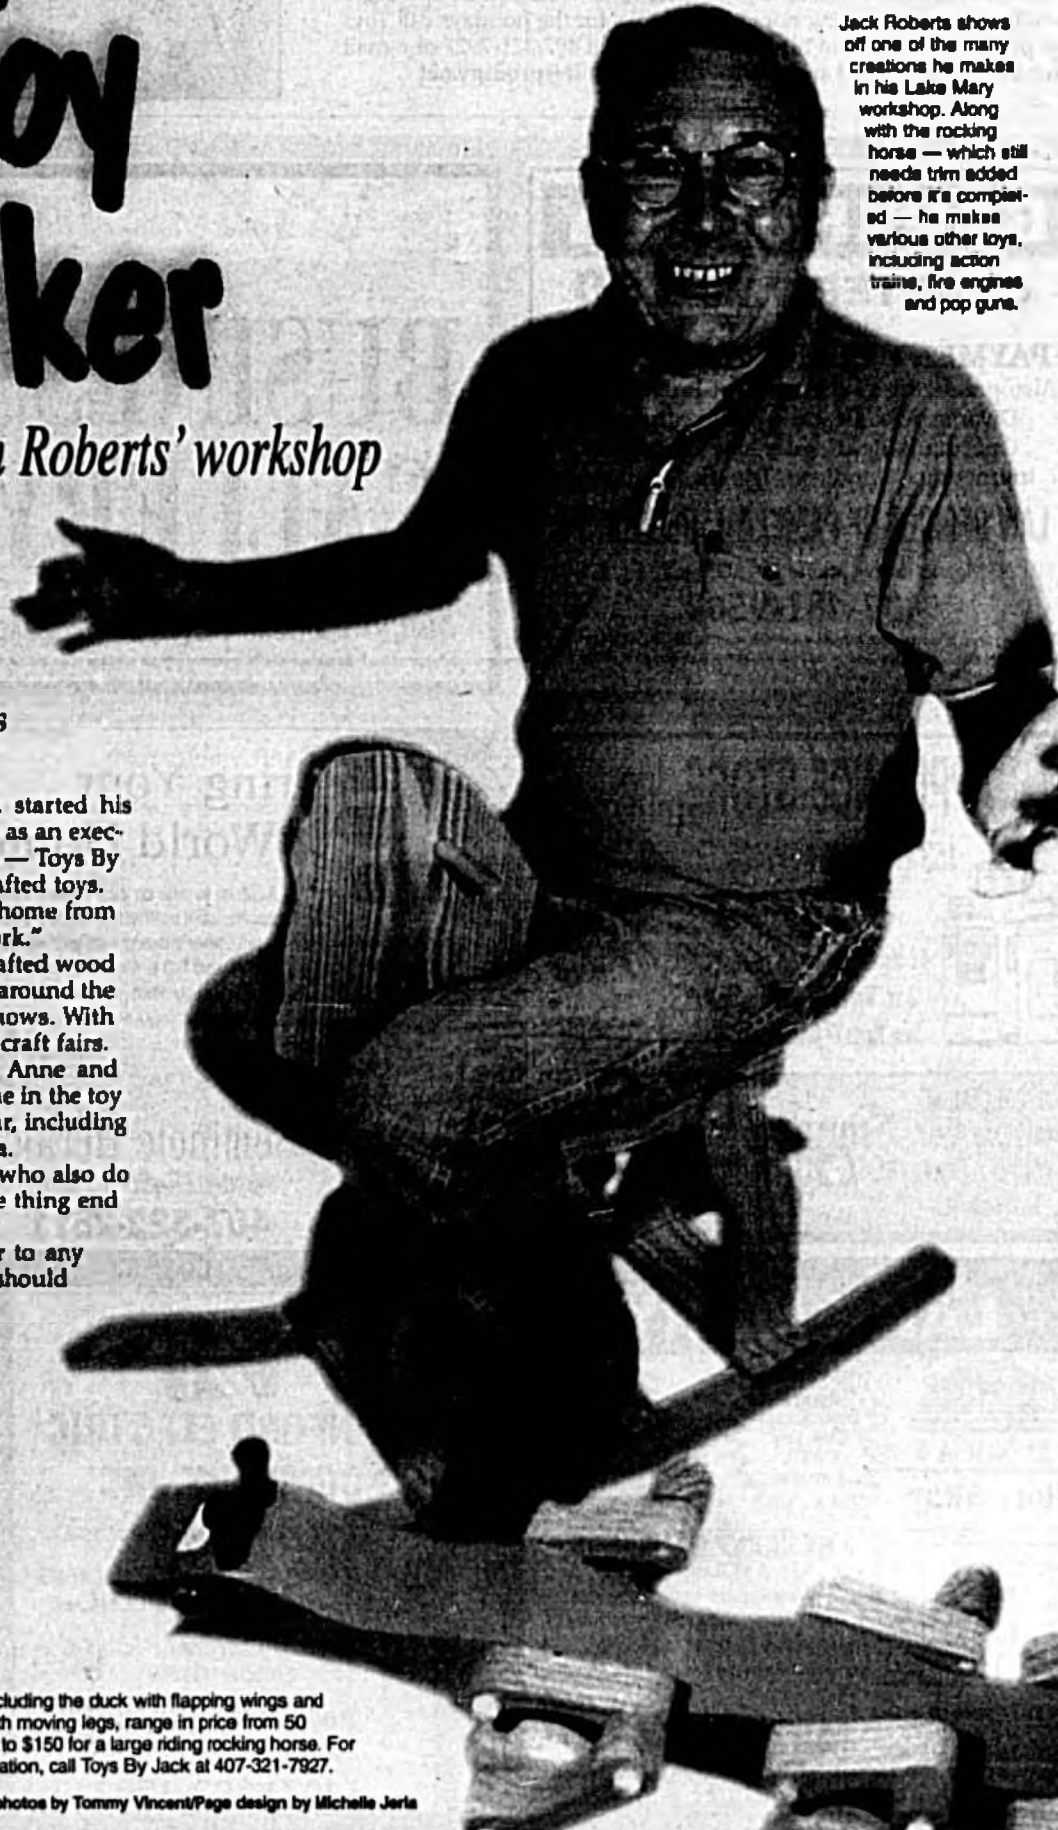

His escape quickly turned into a small headache as crafted wood projects littered the house. He had so many wood toys around the house, his wife suggested he try selling them at craft shows. With some success, he exhibited his classic toys at just a few craft fairs.

Then Roberts retired and moved his family, wife Anne and daughter Robin, to Lake Mary in 1990. Working full time in the toy business, he now does more than 20 craft shows a year, including events in Longwood, Oviedo, Lake Mary and Lake Eola.

"The problem with Florida is all the retired geezers who also do this for fun," Roberts joked. "But, people who buy one thing end up calling me again for something else."

From the outside, their humble abode looks similar to any other house in the area, but inside, where a bedroom should be, is his woodworking shop. Components of different

Roberts' toys, including the duck with flapping wings and the caterpillar with moving legs, range in price from 50 cents for a top to $150 for a large riding rocking horse. For more information, call Toys By Jack at 407-321-7927.

Jack Roberts shows off one of the many creations he makes in his Lake Mary workshop. Along with the rocking horse — which still needs trim added before it's completed — he makes various other toys, including action trains, fire engines and pop guns.

unfinished projects and sawdust cover the floor.

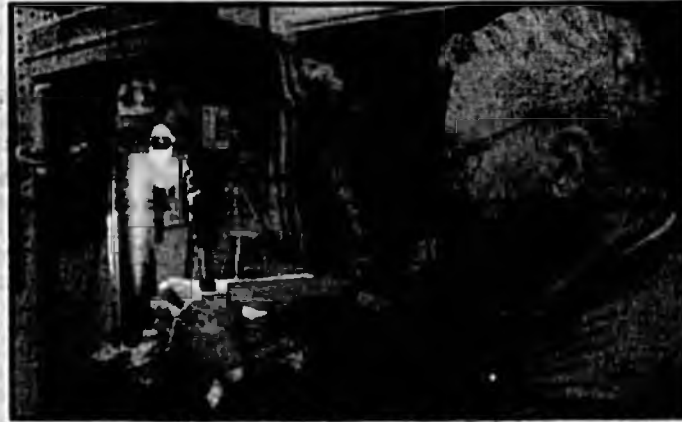

Similar to St. Nick, the fall season is his busiest time of the year. "You know it's funny people say to us 'kids don't like wood toys' — that's just not true," said Anne.

Some of his most popular toys include pop guns, rocking horses and pull toys. Most all of his toys have moving parts and are brightly colored, but interior decorators looking for novelty items to brighten up a child's room should probably look elsewhere.

"I don't make shelf toys," he sternly states. "My toys are functional — they're meant to be played with."

To learn more about his products or to order some hand-crafted toys for the holidays call Toys By Jack at 407-321-7927 or e-mail at tbjrobbie@prodigy.net

Jack Roberts creates a wood toy in his Lake Mary workshop. First as a hobby, Roberts began making wood toys full time in 1990 when he moved to Florida. He now does more than 20 shows a year, including most of the major ones in Central Florida. The list of toys he creates is long, and it includes such animated creations as an alligator with snapping jaws, a caterpillar with moving legs and a helicopter with a rotating rotor. Other toys include fishing poles, trains and tops.

Festival lights up Lake Mary

All the children assisted Mayor Thom Greene in the audience when he counted down from 10 to light Lake Mary's Christmas tree at Holiday in the Park. The children were all suitably impressed, as was everyone else in attendance at the event. This year, the city has put up more lights than ever before.

The evening started off with the arrival of Santa and Mrs. Claus. As reindeer only have clearance to fly over the state on Christmas Eve, the Lake Mary Fire Department helped out by offering the couple a ride. The entertainment for the evening was outstanding as usual. Mike Wlezbowski played holiday songs on his dulcimer. For the last song of his set, he invited everyone in the audience to join him in singing "God Bless America." No tree lighting can be complete without Country Joe Rosier telling the story "Twas the Night Before Christmas." A large number of children and at least one adult, came onto the stage to help him out with the story telling.

Mistletoe: A symbol of purity

Traditionally, mistletoe is collected and used as a Christmas ornament because it stays green in the winter and produces beautiful but poisonous white berries at this time of year. Mistletoe is also considered sacred by virtue of its occurrence on oak trees, a tree considered sacred and a symbol of strength and immortality.

When hung in the home, mistletoe symbolized purity and strength and promoted happiness, romance and peace. In fact, custom called for enemies meeting beneath the mistletoe to throw down their weapons and embrace. But probably the best known tradition for having mistletoes around is kissing under the mistletoe, a common tradition that has survived through the ages because of the belief that mistletoe's curative powers would cure a broken heart and soothe the differences between quarreling lovers.

Plant parasites? Mistletoes are parasitic plants that feed mostly from trees taking water, mineral nutrients, and probably some organic compounds from their water conducting vessels. The true mistletoes are only partially parasitic since they contain chlorophyll and through photosynthesis they can produce their own organic compounds.

The type of mistletoe found in Florida is the eastern mistletoe that occurs in about 110 host species in 50 genera of trees. Many hardwood trees are infected by this plant parasite but oak, hickory and pecan are most frequently affected.

The Plant

The eastern mistletoe have smooth-edged, leathery, green, paired opposite leaves. The stems are round and jointed. The stems and leaves sometimes have a yellowish-green or golden cast. The small flowers appear from October to late November and into January in Florida. Male and female flowers occur in different plants.

The flowers are pollinated by insects and the fruits develop about one year after pollination. The fruits are rounded, whitish or pinkish. The seeds are spread by birds which eat the fruits and digest the pulp, but the seeds retain the sticky covering that help them to remain attached to the stems of the trees. Seeds germinate in bright light but are inhibited by darkness. Once the seed germinates it can penetrate the host plant and produce a feeding organ that grows into the bark to the water conducting tissues from where it takes water and nutrients. The mistletoe seedling can only penetrate thin bark of twigs or small branches.

Mistletoes grow well in full sunlight, especially when growing high in the crowns of large trees.

Al Ferrer

Damage

Mistletoes are not considered a serious forest problem in Florida but the plant is reported to kill water oaks in Texas and Mississippi. Trees growing in the open are infected more frequently than under forest conditions. Signs of infection by parasitic plants are more noticeable during the winter months, when the deciduous trees shed their leaves and the dark green mistletoes can be easily seen on the trees.

Multiple infections can be promoted by constant bird feeding on mistletoe seeds, producing loss of vigor, die-back and often death of the trees. The parasitic association may last many years but they usually survive only a few years before being broken off or killed by freezing. When a mistletoe stem dies, new shoots may develop from the parasite tissues inside the host.

Toxicity

All the plant parts contain toxic substances that inhibit protein synthesis in the intestines of humans, but the toxicity is rarely fatal. Eating small quantities of berries from this plant will produce abdominal pains and diarrhea, but eating large quantities of berries or drinking tea made from the leaves of this plant, will produce a severe irritation of the intestines, followed by vomiting, diarrhea and cramps.

Control

Mistletoe infections can be controlled by pruning infected branches. Branches must be cut 1 to 2 feet back of the visible infection area. Cutting only the aerial portions of the plant can induce the development of many shoots in other parts of the tree.

Music adds magic as club celebrates season

The magical sounds of music drifted throughout the Sanford Woman's Club at the December meeting much to the delight of the members.

Doris Dietrich

Carol Kirchhoff, chair of the club's Arts Department, introduced Bob Maguire, director of Seminole High School's award-winning chorus, "Pizzaz." The director told the club all about the 48-member all-female chorus. Their brand of talent is so outstanding that they were invited to perform on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day at Walt Disney World.

Dressed in black pants and white shirts, the chorus sang, preened and strutted through a medley of songs. For the finale, the group sang "Silent Night" in German followed by the members joining the chorus for the English version of the longtime Christmas favorite.

President Betty Jack presided over the business session when routine reports were given. Mindy Tooley read an inspirational piece on "Faith."

Helen Hamner Polgar, first vice president and fund-raising chair, told the women that plans for the annual February "Italian Night" have been worked out. More info on this at a later date.

Peggy Mergo, chairman of the Education Department, announced that the club's November fund-raiser, "Food and Fashions for Education," was "highly successful."

Proceeds from the benefit are earmarked toward scholarships for deserving women to return to the classroom and Seminole County's "Take Stock in Children" program.

It was reported that the Helen Stairs Theatre needs volunteers to take up tickets and sell refreshments. Also, Beverly Boothe and Toby Troutman asked for a volunteer to help with an advertisement for the forthcoming Miss Sanford Pageant.

DeLores Lash announced that Safehouse of Seminole needs household items and toiletries. Betty Colbert, chair of Hacienda Girls Ranch, was elated that an anonymous donor presented $500 to the ranch. Members donated gifts to the ranch as well as a monetary donation. Members also brought canned goods for the Sanford Christian Sharing Center.

The clubhouse was festively decorated for the season. The tables were centered with vases of red and white poinsettias and other seasonal appointments and members were served ham and all the trimmings.

The hostess committee included: Polly Pezold and Phyllis Senkarik, chairs, Lisa Finnerty, Fran Hammerli, Charlotte Knowles, Shirley Millis, Terri Millikan, Eve Rogero, Frances Wilson and Roberta Zittrower.

Touchton Honored

Orville Touchton was honored during the Dec. 2 worship service of the First United Methodist Church. On behalf of the church, Orville was presented a plaque by Richard Barnett who told the congregation about Orville's church longevity.

Orville taught Sunday School at the church for about 56 years, led the devotional program for the Men's Prayer Group for over 25 years, and conducted the Wednesday Bible Study for 15 years.

"What I wanted people to see is the type and quality of spiritual life he (Orville) led," Richard said.

After serving in World War II,

Valerie Weld and Miriam Doktor take time to pose for a picture with Joshua McLamb. The 12-year-old won the title of Florida's Male "Rising Star" in competition over the Thanksgiving weekend in Orlando.

Orville returned to Sanford in 1945 where he had lived since 1920. He went to work for Stine Machine Co., which he later owned with his brother-in-law. The company was sold out in 1985 and Orville has devoted most of his spare time to the church.

Orville and his wife, Nell, make their home in Sanford where he is still very active in the church.

'Rising Star'

Joshua McLamb, 12, won the title of Florida's Male "Rising Star" in competition over the Thanksgiving weekend in Orlando. He is a student at Miriam's and Valerie's School of Dance Arts.

Valerie Weld said, "This is a solo competition involving dancers, ages 10-13, from all over the state, so it is quite an honor to be selected by five judges with major reputations in the dance world from across the country and Canada."

Joshua performed a tap dance to "Standing in the Corner" from the Broadway play, "Most Happy Fellow," choreographed by teacher Valerie.

He also studies under Miriam Doktor and Thom Lake.

In addition to his dancing expertise, Joshua is in the advanced placement studies at Sanford Middle School where he is a straight-A student.

"This fine young man," Valerie said, "has been in the Rising Star competition since he was 10, and was so excited to win this time."
