

Potatoes a Good Crop

From every point comes the report that Irish potatoes will bring a good price this season. A man who is in the business in several large cities and is a well known authority on the subject writes as follows to The Herald:

If the people in Sanford section have a good crop of early potatoes this year, they can get their own price for them. The potato market is extremely high here, and there are less potatoes in this county now, than has ever been at this season of the year for years, in fact since it has been a heavy producing county. Up to January 1st, the various railroads had hauled about $9,000,000 bushels. The movement in January was something like 1,350,000, mostly seed. Up to the present, the movement has been in the neighborhood of 11,000,000 bushels, with the crop estimated at 15,000,000 bushels, outside of what is necessary for seed and home consumption. It is estimated conservatively that after the seed potatoes are moved which are sold, for future contracts, there will not be more than 24,000,000 bushels in Aroostook County. Southern Maine has quite a few yet, but not as many as Aroostook.

The buyers are paying the farmers $2.75 their weight, on the street for table stock in 165 lbs. bulk. The market on seed potatoes is very much excited, and the farmers are getting $3.50 to $3.75 and many holding for $4.00.

Fortunate Florida.

A popular magazine writer and social reformer, who is now associate editor of a monthly in St. Louis, in a recent number of her paper describes the condition of the idle workmen in that city, many of whom, after a day spent in fruitless search for work, seek shelter in the Four Courts building. These men have spent the summer in the harvest fields or in the railroad construction gangs. If the season has been good, and they have had no ill-fortune such as sickness, they go to the city when they are laid off in the fall and seek some cheap lodging house, where their little board of money will carry them through the winter. If the season has been bad, or if they have been harassed by sickness—God pity them—they must depend on the slim chance of getting a job in the slack season or upon charity.

Now, we in Florida are fortunate in that we have no bitter winter which brings enforced idleness and cessation of income at the time when the biggest outlay is necessary to keep comfortable. Here a man may work twelve months in the year. More might be written on this line, but a hint to the wise should be sufficient—Lakeland Telegram.

To Help Sanford

I have been in every state this side of the Mississippi river and I think that Sanford is as pretty a city as I have seen and prettily located.

There are so many opportunities to make this city one of the best tourist towns in Florida, because you have as beautiful a lake as you can find anywhere and an ideal climate, but it needs a little booming.

You must have some amusements to hold the tourists such as are offered at an ideal country club, where you can have bowling tennis, golf, base ball, and all kinds and classes of amusements, and you want to have some amusements on the water.

Of course we can't have all of these things at once, but if we all join together and push things forward we can accomplish wonders. I was talking with a gentleman on this line, and he said that everybody was engaged in agriculture and didn't have time to think about making a tourist city of it, but we have time for everything.

If we can hold the tourists here it will mean more business for the merchants such as groceries, meats, vegetables and dry goods, shoes, and in fact all kinds of merchandise, and when there is more demand for these things it is going to help the farmers, because they will be able to sell their crops right here, and of course it will mean an increased crop.

Now, let us all get together and boom the town and make it an ideal tourist town. I am going to make my home here and will do all in my power to help this place, and will write to my friends in the north and see if I can't induce them to come here and invest their money.

Hoping that this will bear fruit, I am,

Respectfully,

R. A. TERRY

Storm Strikes Florida

Part of the twister that has been tearing up Texas and Mississippi struck Florida Wednesday night and at Pensacola the wind reached a velocity of 60 miles an hour and did considerable damage. The wires were down in Florida on Wednesday and the big cities were shy on Associated Press reports.

Rain followed the wind and one of the heaviest downpours of the season fell here for about an hour. The rain was followed by a clear weather, but the growers do not anticipate any serious results from the sudden change.

HAPPENINGS DURING THE WEEK

Here the Readers Will Find a Brief Historical Spring Flowing For Hurried Readers

"I will accept the nomination for president if it is tendered me, and I will adhere to this decision until the convention has expressed its preference," is Col. Theodore Roosevelt's reply to the letter of seven Republican governors asking him to stand for nomination.

Political activities are heating the atmosphere to such a degree that it was freely predicted today that Democratic leaders of the house and Republican leaders of the senate soon would find themselves agreed that congress could not keep up the pace beyond the middle of June. Until now, it appeared to be an accepted fact that the session would be prolonged beyond the Chicago and Baltimore conventions.

President Taft soon may be clothed with authority to send American troops across the Mexican border to quell either conditions of anarchy or fighting which might threaten lives or property on this side of the line.

Two storms of rain or snow, or both, are predicted to cross the country this week by the weekly bulletin of the weather bureau. A disturbance central today in the southwest will advance to the Ohio valley and move to the St. Lawrence valley. It will be attended by general precipitation over the Mississippi valley and the regions east, the precipitations being in the form of rains in the southern and snow in northern parts.

The American Blue Jacket is not all that he might be physically or mentally, according to the report of the fleet surgeon of the Atlantic squadron. The average sailor is too young, and his physical condition is such that he would fall during a strain, being unable to stand hardship.

The details of a double tornado which Sunday devastated parts of three Arkansas counties, place the dead list at ten and injured at 25. The property loss is great. Handsome homes, plantation equipment, rice barns, etc., were reduced to wreckage and scattered miles in the path of the storm. Fire broke out in several homes after the wind, and only a torrential downpour of rain saved the people from burning to death.

Senator Gardner, of Maine, has introduced a bill under which the Government would take over the express companies, to operate them as the postal service, and extending the service to the rural districts.

Covered by from six inches to two feet of sodden snow, the Missouri Valley, the southwest and the west today face the worst traffic conditions of the winter. Practically no trains from the West are running on time, and wire service is demoralized. Railway officials say the storm throughout Colorado, New Mexico and Western Kansas is the worst ever experienced.

Winter Ball Schedule

The Florida colleges are getting out their diamond heroes and brushing them up for the spring games. Following is the schedule of games:

- February 22 and 23, Olympics at Gainesville.
- March 1 and 2, Stetson University at DeLand.
- March 4 and 5, Rollins College at Winter Park.
- March 18 and 19, Stetson University at Gainesville.
- March 22 and 23, Southern College at Sutherland.
- March 25 and 26, Rollins College at Gainesville.
- April 23, Jacksonville League Club at Jacksonville.
- April 16 and 17, Southern College at Gainesville.

Mrs. Allen in New Quarters

Williams & Milteer have divided off the east half of their two store rooms in Rand block and will rent this room to Mrs. M. J. Allen for her millinery parlors. This location is a central one and should make a very attractive store. Announcement of the removal will be made later. Meantime Mrs. Allen will offer some special bargains in millinery at the old stand in the Bishop block.

BIG TIMES NEXT WEEK

Moss and Marr's Shows Will Entertain the Big Crowd

All roads will lead to Sanford next week where the Moss & Marr consolidated shows will hold fort. Many new and novel features will be introduced during the engagement. The organization is a most stupendous one. Everything with it is truly magnificent. A feature is the refinement and morality that predominates. Parents can feel safe in attending and taking their children with them as they will learn something and enjoy the many interesting and wonderful sights. There are features which you and your neighbor have never seen, and yet there is nothing vulgar of course. It will surely be a gala week from start to finish with such attractions as this in our city. The grounds will resemble a miniature Coney Island. The place will be ablaze with illumination and color. Every place of amusement, exhibition, tent and booth will be elaborately constructed and decorated with bright and beautiful illumination. There will be continuous band concerts every afternoon and evening and a rapid fire of open attractions absolutely free.

The Moss & Marr's Consolidated Shows are doubtless the most expensive organization of its kind ever brought to Sanford and it is safe to say that a large share of the population will find its way to the grounds daily.

Thanks From Hospital

Resolved That the trustees of the Sanford Hospital Association tender to each and every member of the committee who were active in the recent Field Day Celebration their sincere thanks and that special mention be made of the zealous and efficient manner in which General Manager W. T. Fields preformed his duties.

Also that special mention be made of the good work done by Mr. H. R. Stevens and his assistants in preparing the grounds and booths for the celebration.

That the services of the Lend a Hand society and the Sanford Band, be specially recognized.

That special thanks be tendered the Holden Real Estate Co., for the use of Holden Park for the Field Day sports to the B. P. Order of Elks for the generous offer and use of their hall made necessary by the weather.

That these resolutions be placed on the minutes and also published in the Sanford Herald.

Potatoes Will Be Scarce

Under date of Washington, D. C., January 20, the following news item was sent throughout the country:

"Because the scarcity of potatoes in the markets of the United States has raised the price to a point almost prohibitive to the consumers, Representative Ayres, of New York, has introduced a bill in congress suspending for six months the tariff duty of 25 cents a bushel."

This is significant news to Florida farmers, and an invitation to all to plant as many potatoes as they can this month. Of course there is very little likelihood of the duty being removed for six months, but it emphasizes the fact of a potato shortage, and Florida should be the first potato growing state to take advantage of the situation and reap the benefit of high prices in a depleted market in April and May.

Delightful Evening

The Willing Workers assisted by Mrs. C. H. Summers, their Sunday school teacher, entertained the Sunday school classes of Misses Farnsworth and Hill, at the Methodist parsonage, Friday evening. The rooms were beautiful decorated with the National colors, various sized flags, green vines, pot plants and lovely cut flowers.

The young people entertained their guest with delightful musical selections both songs and instrumental; also a variety of interesting games. When the entertaining program was concluded, the delicious ice cream and several kinds of elegant home made candy, was very much enjoyed. Forto two happy young people, were the recipients of Mrs. Summers charming hospitality.

Kirkwood Facetious

Sheriff Kirkwood dropped in at The Herald office yesterday and when asked about the election said he would make them show their hand and would "karel more votes than any other candidate in the race which is not a bad daffydil at that."

SANFORD PLAYS BALL

Enthusiastic Meeting Held Last Night at City Hall

H. R. STEVENS TO MANAGE TEAM

Work of Polishing Up Raw Recruits Will Be Commenced On March First

The proper spirit was manifested last night at a called meeting of the Sanford fans and the Ball Association at the city hall.

The meeting was called to order by Vice President Holly, who stated the object of the call and the election of officers took place immediately resulting as follows:

- President, G. W. Spencer.
- Vice President, R. J. Holly.
- Secretary and Treasurer, Felix Frank.
- Ass't Secretary and Treasurer, R. C. Maxwell.

Directors, B. W. Herndon, W. D. Holden, E. E. Brady, Ed Rourke, D. G. Wagner, Geo. Fox, Jr.

Attorney, Geo. A. DeCottes.
Finance Committee, J. D. Davison, Ed Rourke, Robt. Newman.
Advertising Committee, James Harris, S. Runge, W. C. Palmer.

H. R. Stevens was elected general manager and stated in a few words his early plans for a good team.

It was decided to hold a Field Day in the near future at the park and the following ladies were appointed to take charge: Mrs. Parker, Mrs. F. W. Miller, Mrs. Roumillat, Mrs. J. W. Barnes Jr., Mrs. Peck, Mrs. Frank, Mrs. C. H. Dingee.

The Moss & Marrs Company have kindly offered the service of the splendid Italian band on Wednesday night for a dance in the city hall and the following committee was appointed to take charge: J. D. Roberts, Wallace, Purden, Leffler, Beatty.

The idea advocated last year by Tom Hawkins to start March 1st, and every one who could do so give one dollar per month was discussed and met with annual approval and a canvass of those present brought out a good list to start. Ed Rourke will take the list among the business men and the Dollar Club will mean a comfortable sum to begin the season.

The prospects for a winning team in 1912 are bright and every one interested will get down to hard work at once.

JOINT DEBATE AT SANFORD

Clark and Burr Will Speak in Sanford At An Early Date

Secretary Bates of the Commercial Club has received answers to his request for a joint debate from Burr and Clark and both signify their willingness to discuss the issues and pick flaws in each other's record for the benefit of the morbid crowd. This debate between two such well known orators and fire eaters will be a most interesting event and the Commercial Club might go further and make the time a regular convocation for the candidates. There are various and sundry candidates for the different jobs and each and every one of them ought to meet the greatest number of people, and the greatest number of people will be gathered here to listen to the harangue of Frank Clark against his opponents and vice versa.

Florida Crops

Some weeks ago C. J. Nathe harvested a potato weighing fourteen pounds. So far as we have heard this specimen is entitled to the blue ribbon. However, Mr. Nathe seems not to have been content with his record, and has again broken all records by bringing in a potato that tips the scale at twenty pounds. This specimen is only one of the hill, there being several others weighing two to three pounds.—Dade City Star.

Here are a few carload lots sales of celery made through the Florida Citrus Exchange. All these sales are strictly f. o. b. Manatee or Bradentown: $3, $2.75, $2.85, $3, $2.75; $3, $3. The Exchange delivers the goods and gets the prices whether it be celery or fruits.

Capt. Marks, City Treasurer

W. L. Morgan having resigned his position as City Treasurer, Mayor Spencer yesterday appointed Capt. R. H. Marks to fill the unexpired term. The appointment of Capt. Marks will be satisfactory to every one and the genial Captain is competent to hold it down.

PRIME CROP CONDITIONS

Sanford Crops Will Bring Top Notch Prices This Season

From all indications of a surface nature it seems that the celery crop this season will prove to be most profitable to the fortunate growers who are able to bring this vegetable to maturity. This season has been an enigma to the oldest growers here and also to the most experienced buyers. The copious downpour of rain from week to week has washed the fertilizers into the St. Johns river and at the same time caused the crop to scorch or turn yellow. The land has been soaked for many weeks and if it had not been for the ability of the grower to convert his system of subirrigation into a system of underground drainage the crop would have been entirely spoiled. But by the proper manipulation of the drainage system and care in providing ample ditches, the crop at this time looks fairly well. Nitrate of soda is being applied to overcome the yellow appearance and neutralize the effect of and prospective blight, thus placing the crop in a fairly normal condition.

The boards are now up on many an acre of Sanford celery and the product has already begun to move to market. Purchases are being made f. o. b. the field and in some cases the purchasers have to harvest the crop. Contracts have been made for entire crops standing in the field. The demand is strong and steady and the growers are in a position to dictate prices, on account of the scarcity and small acreage planted. As much as $3.00 per crate has already been netted and many sales have been made at from $2.00 to $2.75 per crate.

Sweet corn is now being planted extensively as well as peppers, tomatoes, watermelons, cantaloupes, egg plant, squash, Irish potatoes. The acreage for the spring products enumerated promises to be normal and from reports received it is believed that a steady market will be encountered for everything offered.—Times-Union.

Delightful Straw Ride

One of the most delightful out door society events of the season was the straw ride participated in by a merry crowd of young folks one night last week in honor of the Misses Lowe of New York who have been the guests of their uncle, F. W. Munson of Sanford Heights.

Chaperoned by Mesdames A. Frank and F. W. Munson the party enjoyed many of the good roads and several bad ones just to see if there was enough straw in the wagon. A fine lunch was served at ten o'clock at the Celery Ave. ferry and they Wad'na Ge Hame til the Wee Sma hours in the Morn.

Those participating were as follows: Misses Florence Lowe, Dorothy B. Lowe, Albine Frank, Jean Pope, Hilda Macey, Mabel Cowan, Messrs. Lyman Frank, Forrest Gatchel, Alberta Miller, McDowell Butts, Walter Skinner.

Cecilian Music Club

The Cecilian Club held their regular meeting at the studio of Mrs. Fannie Munson, Saturday afternoon.

A short but enjoyable program was rendered.

Zerny Study, Op 636, Miss Essie Purdon.

Schottische, Mary Howard.

Study, Arthur Footte.

Mrs. Munson entertained the pupils with stories of the worlds greatest singers Jennie Lind and the child violinist, Ima Seydel.

Meeting of Missionary Society

The Womens Missionary Society of the Baptist church, was delightfully entertained by Mrs. H. B. Connelly and Miss Allie Trafford at the home of Mrs. Connelly, Monday evening. A fine attendance of the society were present. Several new names were added to the membership roll. The meeting was opened with devotional exercises by Mrs. M. M. Stewart after which the minutes were read, and the business of the society was attended to. Japan and the work, that is being carried on in that interesting and promising field, was ably treated by Mrs. R. C. Maxwell. At the close of the program delicious sandwiches and coffee were served, after which the meeting soon adjourned.

Woodman Circle Attention

There will be a meeting of the Circle, at Eagles Hall Wednesday Feb. 28th, 2:30 p. m. Important business, don't fail to attend.

MRS. SARAH E. PARKER, Guardian.

The General News of The Land of Flowers.

CULLED FROM THE STATE PRESS

An Epitome of the Week's Most Important Happenings in the State's Domain.

The Board of Trade, place the census of Miami at 12000. There is no law against the placing at any angle.

Plans are being prepared for the erection of another skyscraper in Jacksonville. This building is to be erected by the St. Johns Insurance Company, and will be built on Laura street.

The Booster's Club of Live Oak and Suwannee county held a big banquet at the Suwannee Hotel in Live Oak a few night ago.

The dead body of James P. DePass, Jr., a well known young man of Miami, was found in his room at a lodging house in that city a few days ago. The body was badly decomposed, the man evidently having been dead several days. He had been a sufferer for several years from asthma and tuberculosis and the coroner's verdict was death from natural causes.

At a recent meeting of the executive of the Southern Methodist conference of Florida plans were furthered for the foundation of the chaupauqua and assembly at South Beach, opposite St. Augustine. The name that has been selected for the summer colony is the Anastasia Methodist Summer Assembly. From indications it is thought that things will have advanced far enough by summer to hold the first sessions during the present year.

Sewing Circle

The Sewing Circle was entertained by Miss Flora M. Johnson, at the residence of Mrs. J. W. Dickins Thursday afternoon. The fancy work with which the members of the circle entertain themselves at these pleasant meetings, was laid aside during the evening to join a word contest in the effort to make the largest number of words from George Washington's name. Then the words were all written in the given time; the contestants were requested to draw on the opposite side of their paper, a picture of "Washington crossing the Delaware," the best picture to share in the prize for the largest number of words, made from the name. Mrs. R. C. Maxwell, was declared winner of both contests, and received the prize a very pretty needle book. At the conclusion of the contests a delicious fruit salad, sandwiches and coffee were served.

Those present were Misses Mary and Carrie Essinger, Emma and Estelle Beard, Ernestine Crux, Lillian Gibson, Mell Whitner, Mesdames R. L. Peck, J. D. Langley, Geo. Fox, Jr., R. C. Maxwell.

In Honor of Washington's Birthday

Little Miss Maud Miot, her brother, Joe Miot, Morris and G. W. Spencer, Jr., entertained the girls and boys of Sanford Heights in honor of George Washington's birthday, Thursday evening, Feb. 22nd. The special feature of the evening's pleasure was the chicken pilau which the children prepared in camp style in the capacious and picturesque park, surrounding Mr. and Mrs. Miot's handsome home on the Heights.

While the pilau was cooking, the children and their guests sat around the camp fire telling interesting stories and conundrums. This form of entertainment was varied by several pleasant games which they played until the feast was ready to be enjoyed by the light of the camp fires, to which was added delicious cake and orangeade.

The young people who enjoyed the pleasant evening were Adeline Briggs, Reginald Holly, Alfred Robson, William and Erskine Pope Carolyn Spencer, Emma and Lillie Ruth Spencer, LeClare Jones, Morris and G. W. Spencer, Maud, Joe and Maurice Miot.

Four Feet of Snow

F. J. McDaniel of Owasso, Mich., is back in Sanford for a week or so and his many friends here are delighted to see him again. Mr. McDaniel is a great admirer of Sanford and the Florida climate and some day he intends to quit railroading and settle down here for a life of luxury and ease.

Mr. McDaniel stated to a Herald man that when he left his native city in Michigan there was four feet of snow on the ground and business was practically suspended.

One of the jokes of the campaign is that a would be politician conceived the idea of running against B. M. Robinson for Clerk. He asked the advice of some of his friends first however and they advise him that it would be political suicide. B. M. Robinson suits everybody in this neck of the woods.

I don't hear anything more from my friend Braxton Beachem. Is his life story ended and has he decided to retire on his newspaper notoriety or will he seek the voter on his native heath? We want to see him down here and find out how he stands on the question of building a jail on Sanford Heights and whether the Hospital ought to have a horse show next year or a bridge party.

If you are a kicker and see the shadow of failure in everything that is proposed to help the town, for heaven's sake go into some secluded canyon and kick your own shadow on the sand bank, and then give men who are working to build up a town a chance. One long-faced, hollow-eyed, whining kicker can do more to keep away business and capital from a town than all droughts, short crops, cinch bugs, cyclones and blizzards combined.

I rather favor Charlie Hand for Sheriff and I favor him because I have known him for twenty years and have watched his most interesting career. That boy just seemed to be fitted for an officer's job and as deputy sheriff, mayor of Sanford and every other position that he has held Charlie has always been the same honest, conscientious, industrious, discreet man. As a man of business he has forged ahead and made a success and I consider this a most favorable recommendation for a man who aspires to the high position of sheriff. A man need not be a man hunter a detective or an Old Sleuth. He has a corps of assistants for that. But the sheriff himself should be a man that commands respect, a man who has had experience as a deputy, a man of cool, keen judgment and yet a man of very broad minded views and one who can use his think-tank at all times. Charlie Hand is the personification of an ideal sheriff and my prediction is that he will be elected in the first primary.

There are some reckless automobile drivers in this city that need to face Mayor Spencer for a round or two. They chase their cars down the street at break-neck speed without lights at night and the way they turn corners is a sight. Right at the corner of Tenth street there will be a catastrophe some day. A rig coming up Park avenue cannot get over to the right far enough to avoid these crazy Mutts who drive buzz wagons and sooner or later there will be a wholesale killing here. This is a nasty turn and any driver with an ounce of sense in his coccoanut will slow up and hug the curb but at night most of these bug house drivers are hugging girls and have no time to hug the curb or attend to the wheel and they swing around here at a fifty mile clip, and a man who complained to me said he actually was compelled to make his horse climb over the curbing, and if he could would probably tried to climb a tree. The car had no lights and made no effort to keep the right side. I respectfully call the attention of the auto drivers to this danger. After that I will call the attention of the mayor and council to this most dangerous practice—a practice that not only pertains to the Tenth street crossing but to many others in the city.

I was out on Sanford Heights the other day and was struck at once with the beauty of the surroundings. I was also struck with idea that those people out there need a brick street from Tenth street to Hughey street. They also need city water, gas and sewerage regardless of whether the time is ripe or not. The old city council was not disposed to grant them anything and great things were expected of the new regime, but there is nothing doing and one of the finest residence sections in Florida languishes because of a lack of improvements. Every one in Sanford knows that the city needs a standpoint. Every one knows that said standpoint ought to be located on Sanford Heights, the highest point. Every one knows that at times the pressure in the water is very weak and so on ad finitum, ad nauseam. Why should I elucidate about our needs? What I started to say was that Sanford Heights needs a brick road and other improvements and while the council ducks behind the screen with the excuse of no funds I contend that a fifteen foot brick street would not cost the city any fortune because two thirds of it would be paid by the property owners. We are getting tired of this cry of poverty and we want results. This old economical idea is not working in the city government worth shucks and seems to be penny wise and pound foolish. Our city needs more good streets and we need them bad.

That was a nice genteel little meeting of the county executive committee the other day. They met and turned the meeting into a mutual admiration society and decided that since Orange county had held the senator's job for eight years and was strong enough to hold it for eight more, that therefore no agreement to divide with Osceola had ever been made and all bets were off. Of course the executive committee can endorse Mr. Massey for senator and can declare that he is the only man capable of holding this exalted position, but that does not mean that the people of Orange county will let it go at that.

Hon. L. C. Massey is one of the finest men in our midst and I have always voted for him, but Orange county is in duty bound to ask him to give up the position this time to a representative from Osceola and such an agreement was made verbally and is a tentative agreement between gentlemen, treat it as you please.

Mr. Massey can be a candidate if he so pleases, and his friends can have the privilege of supporting him, but really if won't be fair to your sister county of Osceola. It is your duty to give her a chance. Osceola comes to you this time with a clean, manly, honest, self made man in the person of Arthur Donegan. He has been successful in business, has made good as a legislator and county officer and can hold the position of senator with honor and credit to the counties of Orange and Osceola, and Arthur Donegan will be elected.

My friend Douglass of the Oveido Advance while not agreeing on all the candidates certainly seem to have the same dope on the aspirants for the Legislature.

Speaking about the various candidates in his last issue Mr. Douglass gets off the following:

Mr. Fox is a young man and a son of Mr. Geo. Fox, Sr., of Sanford. We have known his father for many years; he is from good old stock and we predict for him a brilliant future, but are inclined to think that he has budded too soon and out-of-season. We rather suspect that the frost will nip his untimely political aspirations.

As the campaign progresses we will treat him as we have all the rest and ask him a few questions. There are some things that we are for and some that we are decidedly against, and while we do not deem it necessary to fight any one we would do so if their views did not coincide with ours along these lines. That is a duty we believe we owe our readers and we are going to conserve their interests

First as best we can. When we ask a candidate a question our columns are open for their answer and silence will be interpreted to mean that they are against us.

As we have said before, Lake and Robinson have been tried and found not wanting. We have seen them under fire and believe in them, and we are for them. At our present rate of development we need men with experience in our legislative halls—they can do us more good than new men, and we cannot afford, at this stage of the game, to experiment. Here's for the old delegation.

Some Happy Sayings.

"Real etiquette," says Judge Pettigill in the Chanute Tribune, "is looking out of the window while your guest drinks out the finger bowl." Some other opinions handed down by the judge this week were these: "The short skirts the women are wearing make them look much younger. Some of them, in fact, will be run in by the truancy officer and sent to school, if they aren't careful." "The fellow who rates his friends by the size of their pocketbooks is about as good a judge of human values as the girl who won't look at anybody but pretty men." "What every town needs is not more men to make booster speeches at commercial club banquets or street corner orations telling how the city government should be run, but more men who will sprinkle salt on their sleety sidewalks."

Settled Their Rows at Home.

The sister of a wife who was being sued for divorce was on the witness stand. The attorney for the plaintiff asked her whether she had ever noticed any trouble between her sister and the husband. There never had been any trouble as far as she was able to observe. "Of course," said she, "they had their spats just like all married people do—just like me and my husband—but we always make up." "You don't have to come to divorce court, then, do you?" asked Judge Vinson Carter, smiling. "Nope," said the witness, glancing at her husband on the witness bench, "we always settle our troubles at home." "Well," said the judge, "I guess that's the best way," and he resumed his tedious task of sifting the truth from the evidence presented to him.

Reviving Old Mackintoshes.

Shabby old mackintoshes can be made as good as new at home for a small outlay, and by the exercise of a little care and patience. Boil a little linseed oil and add to this about 20 drops of terebene (to be had at any chemist's). While hot apply this mixture to the mackintosh with a brush. Allow it about 48 hours to dry in, and then wash the whole over with india rubber solution dissolved in methylated spirits to the thickness of cream. Leave this another two days to dry and the mackintosh will be found to have a smooth and hard surface, as calculated to resist all moisture as when the coat was new. The same process will, of course, do for rain hats, sponge bags and all water-proofed things.

Tired of Being Walloped

We are not knocking anybody. We are just tired of being walloped to a frazzle at every presidential election and want to see the man nominated by our party who has the best chance of winning...

New York and Indiana are not so difficult to wheel into the Democratic column. A strong man on a platform stripped of populist dogmas and with tariff reform as its cardinal plank can carry these states. The situation in Ohio is somewhat different. It has long been a Republican stronghold...

Count Eduardo Lambricht of the Tampa Tribune wants to go to Baltimore as an elector. He has our consent.

Teddy's hat is in the ring and the Democrats can name the next president. All they need to do is to lend their support to the nominee.

Congressman Frank Clark is getting a world of free advertising these days and from the amount of heavy faced type that is being used against him he ought to be elected.

Hon. Crowwell Gibbons, candidate for Governor, has arranged a platform that will appeal to every voter and The Herald will give it in full in a few days.

Mr. Smith will not be a candidate for comptroller for various reasons. Mr. Smith would have made an ideal comptroller and The Herald is genuinely sorry that he could not become a candidate for this most important office.

Albert Williamson of the Jacksonville Floridian says: "Don't ask us about any candidates for office. We are interested in the congressman at large only."

The Tallahassee Democrat announces that hereafter it will issue a twice-a-week paper instead of a weekly. That is the proper spirit, Bro. Smith. You can give your readers an interesting paper and have it right up to now.

HE IS UNKNOWN

Hon. Braxton Beacham for Congress seems to be a stumbling block in the path of the blatant politicians because they cannot bring out anything that will reflect upon his character or record.

Albert Williamson is more generous than the rest in his effusion as follows:

The time has come when the mask should be torn from the faces of the several candidates who aspire for the position of congressman at large, and to show them up in their real light.

When men aspire to such positions it is only meet and proper that their public records should be the property of the people they serve.

With this end in view, we shall refer to the personnel of the candidates now in this race.

Alphabetically considered, we have Messrs. Beacham, Brown, L'Engle, Martin, O'Brien and Williamson.

Mr. Beacham of Orlando we have found to be a most affable and polished gentleman, a successful business man, and one who doubtless could fill any position of honor and trust with credit and distinction to himself and with the utmost satisfaction to his people.

THE COUNTY SOLICITOR

The Herald is handling a few subjects politically because the law is out on candidates and it is distinctly a newspaper's business to talk politics in season. There are two candidates for the position of county solicitor. The present incumbent, Geo. A. DeCottes of this city and Eston Shine of Orlando.

The Herald has nothing to say against Mr. Shine. The editor has known him for a long time and his ambition to become county solicitor is a worthy one. His main handicap at the time is the fact that Mr. DeCottes as county solicitor has given satisfaction and he is entitled to a second term. There are some people who think that Mr. DeCottes should not engage in other business while he is a county officer, but his desire to make money through other channels should not reflect upon his ability as a lawyer and solicitor, providing his duties as a public servant are not slighted.

There are some people who do not favor Geo. DeCottes as solicitor. Every man in office makes enemies. There is not a man who can pick holes in his official record and all will admit that as a lawyer, as city attorney of Sanford, as attorney for the Building & Loan Association and numerous other positions of trust occupied by him, that he is capable and efficient. That is sufficient for the voter.

Summing it all up as a lawyer would do we rest our case with these few words: Unless you can find a flaw in a man's official record that will disqualify him from holding the position as county solicitor it will be your duty to find George A. DeCottes guilty of being the best man for the place and The Herald recommends him to your mercy.

Death of Mrs. Carter

Mrs. W. H. Williams was called to Lumpkin, Ga., Tuesday by the sudden illness of her mother, Mrs. M. A. Carter. A wire later to Mr. Williams conveyed the sad intelligence of Mrs. Carter's death. She had been ill with pneumonia and her advanced age was not proof against the attack.

THE UTILIZATION OF WASTE

products to the very fullest extent is, of course, the aim of every industrialist, and the Wood Waste Distilleries Co., Wheeling, West Virginia, U. S. A., certainly makes this possible in the case of the waste material of wood working establishments. By means of their distilling apparatus, ranging from a capacity of 5 to 500 gals., the industrial alcohol and turpentine contained in sawdust are effectively extracted, while the resultant fiber is ready for paper manufacturers.

The president of an eastern college is authority for the statement that the average salary of college professors throughout this country is less than the average wages of the drivers of ice wagons. It is to be hoped that the privilege of mentioning one's compensation as "salary" instead of "wages" is adequate solace to the pedagogic mind.

Ready for the Summons.

"Suppose you knew you were to die tonight at 12 o'clock," asked a lady of Wesley, "how would you spend the intervening time?" "How, madam?" he replied. "Why, just as I intend to spend it now. I should go through with my business, go to my room and to sleep at 10 o'clock, and wake up in glory."

Wedding Ring Lightning's Mark.

During a violent thunderstorm at Berwick, England, an extraordinary incident occurred. Mrs. Mason of Castlegate was in bed with her hand resting on the counterpane when a flash of lightning entered and struck her wedding ring, taking a small piece clean out of it. Her hand was unharmed.

An Ideal.

I will strive to raise my own body and soul daily into higher powers of duty and happiness; not in rivalry or contention with others, but for the help, delight, honor of others, and for the joy and peace of my own life.—John Ruskin.

Simple Test.

An infallible test of tinned fruit or vegetables of any kind is to open the tin and plunge into the contents a bright steel knife. Keep it there for a few minutes and if copper is present, even in the minutest proportions, it will be visibly deposited on the blade.

"How do you like this weather, Algernon," asked Mr. Topfloor as he got into the elevator one cold evening last week.

"I doesn' min' it sah. 'Tain' so bad, but it might be better," replied Algernon impartially. "Any ol' 'ting de good Lo'd likes suits me, sah."

"It is pleasant to find you so resigned and so cheerful," commented Mr. Topfloor.

AS A BEGGAR REMEMBERED

Remarkable Character Who Died in 1681 Left Bequest for Benefit of Poor.

Gifts of clothing are being made in many market towns and villages of Surrey to the poor from a bequest left for the purpose by Henry Smith, or "Dog" Smith, as he was more generally called, having earned the sobriquet from the fact that he was never seen without a dog at his heels.

This remarkable character lived about two and a half centuries ago, and was one of the best known figures in Surrey. He was originally a silversmith in the city of London, and, prospering in business, acquired estates in different parts of England.

Developing eccentricities as he grew old, he adopted the life of a beggar. His wanderings were confined almost entirely to Surrey, and he is said to have begged his way through every town and village in the country. At his death in 1681 he left all his wealth to the market towns and parishes of Surrey, and the endowments enabled each town to spend $250 and each village about $30 on the purchase of clothing for its poor.

Mitcham, however, was excluded from his benefactions, Smith's explanation being that on one occasion the inhabitants of Mitcham whipped him through the village as a common vagrant.—London Chronicle.

Where Women Rule.

Suffragists will be interested to know that women fulfil every public function in the French village of Froissy—from barber, postman and town crier to stationmaster and signaller, each post is filled by a woman.

Sweet Things of Life.

Life's sweet, brother—there's day and night, brother, both sweet things; sun, moon and stars all sweet things; there's likewise a wind on the beach.—George Borrow in Lavengro.

About Twenty Per Capita.

It is said that the people of Chicago consume 40,000,000 pigs' feet every year. Perhaps that accounts for a whole lot of Chicago's peculiarities.

Hungarian Custom.

According to the testimony offered by Bela Puky, a Hungarian banker, in bankruptcy court at Columbus, Ohio, it pays to be a father if you are a Hungarian and live on the south side. Every time a child is born neighbors give the parents from $50 to $80. According to Puky he became father five times in five years, which netted him in the neighborhood of $300. The money is said to have been invested in an insurance policy, which was surrendered a few months before the crash of Puky's bank.

The Governing Powers.

Everyone may see that a man is governed by the principles he adopts, be they ever so false, and that all his knowledge and reasoning favor his principles; for innumerable considerations tending to support them readily present themselves to his mind, and thus he is confirmed in falsities. He, therefore, who assumes as a principle that nothing is to be believed until it is seen and understood can never believe; for spiritual and celestial things are neither seen with the eyes nor grasped by the imagination.—Swedenborg.

For State Senator—Arthur E. Donegan

To the Democratic Voters of Orange and Osceola Counties

I am a candidate for state senator from the senatorial district composed of Orange and Osceola counties and will appreciate your support.

Ever since the creation of this senatorial district in 1887, each county has had a senator for the same number of years, the custom being to allow each county a representative for eight years at a time. Orange county has had the senator for the past eight years, and under the customs prevailing in the past Osceola county would be entitled to the senator to be elected in the primaries this year. The two counties have worked harmoniously under this custom for a quarter of a century and I see no reason why it should be broken at this time.

I have served the people of my county at various times as deputy tax collector, deputy clerk of the circuit court, member of the state executive committee and clerk of the circuit court, and I have discharged the duties of each office I have had in a manner which I trust has met with the hearty endorsement of my people, and if elected as your state senator I will use my best efforts to promote such legislation as is needed by the people and the varied interests in this senatorial district.

In asking you to elect me as state senator I believe that I know the needs in a legislative way of this district as well, perhaps, as anyone in the district, and I believe I can represent you in the state senate in a manner that will be entirely satisfactory to you.

ARTHUR E. DONEGAN

The Czar's Drive

NARRATIVE OF CAPTAIN ADAMS "Detective-Diplomat"

By H. M. EGBERT

(Copyright, by W. G. Chapman.)

"Thank God!" he cried. "I am from General Linievitch. The grand dukes have excluded him from the palace. But he has friends within and communicated with me. He knows of your presence here. It is rumored through the city that the czar went riding in a closed carriage this afternoon; Linievitch guessed by a miracle that you had come to rescue us and save the nation." He paused, painfully agitated; then resumed:

"Neither the grand dukes nor Kaulbars suspect that you are here. You must impersonate the czar. Philippe has tricked him into surrendering to the German party; but to make doubly sure they will send him on his ride this afternoon behind unbroken horses that will gallop far into the forests. Hide in his bedroom, sir—this way. They will be here in a moment."

I heard bugles blown outside, and surmised that it was a royal summons. The young officer half dragged, half led the prince into the czar's bedroom, adjacent. The monarch's family were at Tsarskoe-Belo; I knew that the prince could hide undisturbed in one of the wardrobes. The young officer beckoned him there behind an immense pile of clothing and hurried back with me just as the door of the apartment was flung wide open. "You are his English physician," he whispered, and stood like a statue at his monarch's service.

Bowing and clicking heels, the czar's finkies entered—to discover me bonding over him, my fingers upon his pulse. They lined up in a double row of six, and four more entered, bedecked with gold lace, carrying a sedan chair, lined with the same blue velvet that was a feature of the royal apartments. "Will your majesty deign to take your drive?" asked one, evidently master of ceremonies.

Through the open door I caught sight of the guards, hurriedly arraying themselves in helmets and corselets as they struggled into their places. But to all those present the czar said no word of their presence, he gave not sovereign in his strong bass.

"What the devil's this?" he cried, in English. "Won't drive, Nick? I say you shall drive. It's good for you to drive. You shall drive to hell if I command it. Curse you, Nick, are you going to make me lose my temper?"

The czar must have sprung at him, for a violent fight followed. Somebody shut the door of the apartment with a bang. I heard a table overturned and the czar's voice shouting shrilly in Russian. The guards sprang forward, threateningly, but Kaulbars, standing over me, shouted to them in volleying Russian. Suddenly they withdrew. And all at once the door opened and the sedan chair came out. Inside, the czar lay, trussed and bound and gagged, only his eyes shining with futile malevolence. The grand duke followed, flushed but smiling.

"I said thou shouldst ride, Nicholas," he cried. "Take him to his carriage, Philippe," he added, as the dapper Frenchman came mincing out. He saw me and stopped, while the cortege went on through the apartment and along the corridor. "Who the devil is this?" he demanded.

"Just what I wished to know," said Kaulbars. "Speak up, fellow," he continued in English.

"I am his majesty's physician," I answered boldly. "Why, these soldiers saw me enter in his company."

Kaulbars translated and the soldiers apparently confirmed my statement.

"Then why are you not with his majesty?" the grand duke demanded.

"Because in his fit of madness he refused to drive, and told his finkies to seize me—or it was Phil—that little Frenchman," I cried angrily. "I tried to make him drive—as you did."

"But I succeeded," said the grand duke, motioning to the men to untie me. When I had regained my feet he continued amiably:

"Herr Doctor, is it still your desire that his majesty go driving?"

"It is," I answered.

"Then, if I release you, you will doubtless gladly ride after his coach and see that he does not take too much air?" he asked.

"Besides," said Kaulbars, "though the equerry who attends him has orders to unbind him should the violence subside, he may fear to lay hands upon his sovereign. Will you not accept ten thousand apologies, Herr Doctor, and ride after your illustrious patient?"

"And see that he returns before the night air chills him," added the grand duke.

Would I? Let me but set eyes upon the czar's coach and I would warrant that the autocrat should not return before the following evening. Rather would I urge on the horses into the depths of the forest of Finland. For, should he return, in his condition of mind, I knew well that he would be completely docile toward the grand duke, and that Germany would triumph thereby.

"Ho, Captain Bresobrovitch!" shouted Kaulbars to the officer of the guard, "conduct the Herr Doctor to the stables and mount him on the swiftest horse, that he may ride after and overtake his patient."

"You shall accompany him, Bresobrovitch," the grand duke cried. "You know the road. Malediction! I hope he comes to no harm. Is not that foolish little page his equerry of the day? Hurry, hurry, and get the Herr Doctor upon the road."

Half running the captain preceded me down the corridor, down many winding flights of stairs, until we emerged on the flagged pavement of the stable courtyard. He shouted an order to a groom, and soon two magnificent stallions were standing, saddled and at our disposal.

"Ivan is thoroughly broken," said the captain, holding my stirrup. The creature stood stock still while I mounted him. Then the captain sprang into the saddle and we were off, through the back of the palace, through the streets, over the Neva and into the royal domain.

"This is the road his majesty has taken," said the captain, indicating the new ruts of the wheels. "We should catch up with him shortly, unless he has driven fast. Shall we trot?"

We pressed our horses' flanks and the animals broke into a trot. Now we were entering upon the great forest which stretches, almost without a break, clear to the Finnish border. For an hour or more we jogged along bridle paths. At last the captain drew rein.

"Malediction!" he cried. "The carriage must have returned by the alternate route. We may catch it at the cross-roads. Your girth is loose," he added. "The buckle is chafing your horse. Feel with your hand—so."

I placed my hand upon my horse's flank. Suddenly the world appeared to revolve—earth, forest and sky whirled before my eyes. When things grew clearer I was lying unhorried in the middle of the wagon road, and my stallion was racing madly homeward. Then, even as I watched in astonishment, the captain wheeled and, with a mocking salute, was off at a swift trot, leaving me lying there, half stunned and helpless.

A boor's trick, a typical grand ducal jest, to play with a trick horse upon a stranger, I thought. But at least our purpose had been accomplished. Every revolution of the carriage wheels only took the czar further from the conspirators and left a more sure vantage for Prince George. These thoughts consoled me as I limped on through the gathering darkness. The windings of the road appeared interminable. At last I realized that I was hopelessly lost. I staggered on in what I thought was the right direction, now falling into some ditch, now trapped in one of the numerous bogs of that region; then out and feverishly onward I went, too tired to attempt the road further, I lay down beneath a tree and slept.

When I opened my eyes it was broad daylight. The sun was high in the sky. My clothes were caked with filth and mud, and my body ached all over. I rose and painfully essayed the trail again. When I had limped some three-quarters of a mile the forest ended all at once and I emerged into a clearing, showing a peasant's cottage under the brow of a hill. Here at least I could obtain refreshment and perhaps clean clothing. I staggered toward it.

I was almost upon it when the door opened and a short man emerged with a basin of steaming bread and milk in his hand. The czar!

He saw me. He dropped the basin and, unheeding the spilled breakfast, discharged a stream of the most nautical English profanity that I have ever heard.

"They dumped me in a big ditch two miles away a little before midnight, and left me there," he concluded. "It's a quarter before eleven, we're fifteen miles from the capital, there's no conveyance to be obtained within the royal domain, and the council meets at noon. Adams, we've been a pair of babies in the hands of experts. They've apparently confirmed my statement. Know our plans all along from A to Z?"

And Prince George, alias the czar, again swore earnestly.

And that is why Russia backed down before the Austrians.

Danger of Gasoline Fumes.

In a letter to the New York Medical Journal Dr. T. D. W. Pinckney declares that public warning should be given in regard to danger from fumes where gasoline is burned and cites the case of a man who was found unconscious and near death after being for a short time in a small room in which an automobile engine was running.

"Some time ago," he says, "I was also called to see a plumber who was rendered helpless and almost unconscious by fumes from his gasoline torch. It appears that only a small amount of the fumes is necessary to cause helplessness and that there is little or no warning of danger in the feeling of the one affected."

"Persons working alone in their small private garages are in grave danger when they let their engines run for even a short time," says Dr. Pinckney. "Chance alone saved the men in the two cases I mention."

One Excuse for Chewing Gum.

After all the sarcastic comments on the chewing gum habit, it is interesting to note, in the recent issue of "American Medicine," a good word in its favor. Dr. La Grand Kerr writes that one of the most trying problems in infectious diseases of children is to keep the mouth clean, and that many of the secondary infections which occur as a result of infectious diseases in childhood occur because the mouth has not been kept clean. The use of gum is the best relief, because attractive, to a child.

LEGEND OF THE IROQUOIS

Canadian Indians Have Their Own Way of Accounting for the Five Races of Man.

The Iroquois Indians of Canada, in their efforts to account to themselves for the existence of the five races of men with which they are acquainted, have shaped the following legend: In the beginning the Great Spirit, in order to people the earth, went about making a man of each nation. He took a lump of earth and molded it into a man. This first man was a negro. Then he took another lump and molded another man. This was a Chinaman. Then he made an Indian in the same way, and gave life to all three.

But two men, a Frenchman and an Englishman, remained to be created, and no earth was at hand wherewith to make them. What was to be done? The Great Spirit reached out his arm and seized the first animal that came in his way. It was a butterfly. The Great Spirit clipped off its wings, added arms and legs, breathed upon it to give it a soul and set it down in a corner of the earth. This was the first Frenchman.

Again extending his arm, the Great Spirit seized another animal. It was an ant. It was treated as the butterfly had been; it was given the face and soul of a man, and was set down in another corner of the earth. This was the first Englishman.

This explains, says the Iroquois story, why the English and the French have always been able to make their way so easily about the earth. Made out of animals, and not from lumps of earth, they go everywhere, and surpass the poor negro and Indian and Chinaman in all things. This accounts, too, for the difference in the character of the Englishman and the Frenchman. The one has always preserved something of the industrious character of the ant, and the other something of the light ways of the butterfly.—Harper's Weekly.

Innocence Protected.

"I suppose," said Mrs. Oldcastle, "you saw the Champs des Capucines when you were in Paris?"

"Oh, mercy sakes, no!" replied Mrs. Bondlesnadds. "I had my young niece with me, you know, and I wouldn't of had her see any of them kind of things for the world."

Will Try to Outlive All Others.

The oldest member of Parliament in the world, the Hungarian deputy, M. Joseph Madarasz, who is now in his ninety-ninth year, issues a denial of the statement that he is about to retire into private life. M. Madarasz says that he means to retain his mandate till he has completed his one hundredth year, if not longer. He carries a list of all the centenarians in the world constantly with him, and marks them off as they die. He is determined to outlive them all, and some day to have the distinction of being the oldest man in the world.

Lightning Seemingly at Play.

That the gambols of electricity are most fearful and wonderful was illustrated in the month of June, 1878, when, according to Flammarion, the electric current entered a butcher's shop and followed the iron bars from which the quarters of meat were hung until it reached a hook on which the skinned carcass of a whole ox was suspended. This was galvanized, and for several seconds it was frightfully contorted as if in convulsions.

Book Circle
This delightful coterie of ladies were entertained in the charming home of Mrs. R. L. Peck, assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. J. Purdon Saturday afternoon.

The circle was pleased to have with them Mrs. Peck's guests, Mrs. F. L. Woodruff and Mrs. Charles Dingee, members of the Book Lovers' Club. Mrs. Peck varied the entertainment which their fancy work was supplying for the ladies, by giving to each one a pencil and sheet of paper with the name of one of the members present written at the bottom of the sheet, and requesting them to write at the top of the sheet their plain, honest opinion of the lady whose name was on their paper, suggesting that the views to be expressed could cover either or both the personality, characteristics or appearance of the lady in question. The written opinion to be folded so that it could not be read, and passed to their neighbor, until all present had been criticized. The papers were then read aloud and each lady present had for one brief moment the privilege of seeing herself as others see her. The circle were then to vote which criticism was most to be desired. Mrs. A. P. Connelly, Mrs. F. L. Woodruff and Mrs. Bowler received an equal number of votes. The easiest way out of the difficulty was to leave it to chance. In the drawing Mrs. Woodruff won both the golden opinions and the very handsome hand embroidered centerpiece. When the pleasant contest was over Mrs. Peck served delicious ice cream ornamented with red cherries and cake.

Morgan Will Leave

W. L. Morgan one of the best boys in Sanford's coterie of business men intends to leave in a few days for Philadelphia where he will be employed in laboratory work in the office of the largest manufacturing chemists in the U. S. Mr. Morgan has been identified with Sanford's business interests for several years being with L. R. Phillips for several years first as prescription clerk and afterward as a member of the firm. His health necessitated a change and he purchased the hardware business of Harry Wilson which he has successfully transacted for the past year. At the last election he was elected City Treasurer showing the high esteem in which he is held by the Elks and Masonic lodges and numbers his friends by his acquaintances.

He has gained a fine position, one that does not come to every one and while deploring his departure every one is glad to hear of his good fortune. But Morgan will not shake Sanford for always. One winter in the north will just about be enough for Walter and we predict that in about a year's time he will again be enrolled on Sanford's directory.

George Washington Birthday Party

Mrs. W. W. Abernathy most delightfully entertained the Missionary Society of the Methodist church and also a large number of other invited guests in her charming home Thursday afternoon, Feb. 22nd, in honor of the birthday of the "Father of his Country." The guests were received at the door by the "Hatchet Brigade," who pinned a small red hatchet on each arrival. The hall and rooms were artistically decorated with a profusion of national drapery and flags of various sizes. In the front parlor, over the archway between the two rooms was a handsome picture of George and Martha Washington, framed in American Eagles, from which their peaceful, benign faces looked calmly down on the patriotic American women, who were manifesting by their presence only a tinge of the reverence and love in their hearts for their country's father and greatest American. The portieres between the parlors were covered on one side with American flags, and on the other with drapery in national colors. The walls and curtains were also ornamented with smaller pictures of George Washington, scenes around Mt. Vernon and little red hatchets. In the center of the front parlor was a cherry tree with an old hatchet, lying on its side. The rooms were charmingly attractive in their gay decorations.

When the guests had arrived, short devotional exercises were held by Mrs. M. A. Miot, fourth vice president of the Missionary Society, who has charge of the social department. "Brazil and the Child at Work" was the subject to be considered and discussed at the meeting. "Notes on Child Labor in the United States" was read by Mrs. Geo. Fox, Jr. and Mrs. Albert Seigh. "The Child at Work in Brazil" was read by Mrs. Bowler. The short discussion on the subject was led by Mrs. Miot, at the conclusion of which Miss Mabel Bowler sang, "I Know a Lovely Garden," and "You Kissed Me."

It has always been customary at these social missionary meetings to have a silver offering. The hostess sent, little silk bags with her invitations and the request that a penny be put in the bag for each year of the age of the recipient of the invitation and be brought to the birthday party. A receptacle for the little silk bags was very conveniently placed on a table in the front room. The general response to the suggestion quite filled the receptacle.

Perhaps one of the most pleasing features of the afternoon's pleasure was the delightful singing of little Miss Margaret Davison, a little girl of eight years who sang, "I am Tying the Leaves," and "Better Be Good." The ladies were charmed with the remarkable voice of the child, which she seems to have quite under control.

With her usual delightful manner Mrs. L. R. Phillips gave three fine recitations: "The Twenty-Second of February," William Cullen Bryant; "Tis Splendid to Live So Grandly," Margaret E. Sangster; "An Order for a Picture," Phoebe Cary.

Another patriotic feature of the entertainment was the enthusiastic singing of "America" by everyone present.

Clarence Mahoney sang very charmingly two fine solos, "With the Tide," and "O Come Home." When the very entertaining program was concluded, delicious ice cream, ornamented with red cherries and miniature American flags, was served with dainty cakes, by the hostess, assisted by several members of the society. Although it was a very young looking assemblage of ladies; a nice sum, was realized from the pennies in silk bags.

Seventy two ladies enjoyed Mrs. Abernathy's charming hospitality, and assisted by their presence in celebrating George Washington's birthday.

Dr. N. deV. Howard has returned from the beach and can be found at his residence in the mornings and his office in the evenings.

OFFER SHEEP IN SACRIFICE

Animals Killed at Steps of Palace in Constantinople on Feast of Bairam.

The idea of animal sacrifice seems strange in modern Europe. But it must not be forgotten that Constantinople is Turkish, in spite of the numerous desires on the part of other nations to possess it—or rather because those are so numerous.

The new regime in Turkey is up to date in many things. It is establishing schools, planning railroads and hoping to take its place by right, and not by suzerainty, among the nations of the world. But the favor of the devout Mussulman is sought by strict observance of religious festivals.

The second feast of Bairam is the occasion of sacrifice. Its date is variable, since the Turkish year is lunar, and not solar. Last year came in December and it lasts four days.

In anticipation of this festival, droves of fat sheep were taken to the city from Roumelia and Asia Minor. The price varied from $4 to $5. In all the rich and even well-to-do houses these sheep were sacrificed, and the flesh in most cases given to the poor.

Naturally the most elaborate ceremony was at the royal palace of Dolma Bagtche. The sheep, picked for their whiteness and plumpness, were solemnly led to the palace. At the hour fixed the sultan, surrounded by his staff, descended the steps and read a prayer, while the first of the victims was led to the marble step that became the sacrificial altar.

The sultan made the motions of killing the sheep, but actually handed the knife to an officer, who waited until the sultan had withdrawn before completing the sacrifice.

In the last three years the custom has grown up that the skins and wool of all the sheep killed in Turkey that

One of the old rites of Bairam was to consign all Christians to massacre. This is now omitted in Constantinople. But it can be imagined that in the oasis of Tripoli this part of the ceremonies is carried out with emphasis.

A cow with 17 horns is the interesting monstrosity reported by a traveler from the south. The horns, we are told, protrude from the cow's back, each one resting on a joint in the spinal column. The farmer who owns the horned wonder is proud of her. She is proud of her gift, and out of thankfulness for her distinction produces more milk than any other cow on the farm.—Detroit Free Press.

Bert Franklin, the former United marshal, who was indicted for attempting to bribe jurors in the McNamara case, pleaded guilty in court here. He will be sentenced next Friday. The plea of guilty entered by Franklin is not so important in reference to him as it is in its probable effect on the chances of Clarence S. Darrow, who was chief counsel for the McNamaras and who is under indictment as having inspired the bribery and employing Franklin and others to do the actual work.

The house steel trust investigation committee today made public the result of the inquiry into the books and minutes of the United States Steel corporation conducted by Farquhar J. McRae, an expert accountant. The McRae report reaches the conclusion that the steel corporation operates in restraint of trade and prevents competition through a manipulation of prices, through the influence of the so-called "Gary dinners," by control of raw materials and through a system of interlocking directors in various companies. It also tends to contradict some of the testimony given by steel trust officials.

Friends of United States Senator Hoke Smith in Georgia are preparing for circulation a petition, to which already several thousand names have been promised, calling on the Georgia delegates to the democratic convention in Baltimore to cast their solid vote for Hoke Smith for the presidential nomination in case of a deadlock, and to stand by him until it becomes apparent that he has no chance.

President Taft will soon start a vigorous speech making campaign to explain his position on current questions and further his candidacy for re nomination. Before the Republican national convention meets in June, the President will spend many days on the road and is expected to deliver scores of speeches. He will travel as far west as Chicago, as far north as New Hampshire and south at least as far as Georgia. Other engagements may be made in the next few weeks.

The American Secretary of State, Philander C. Knox, Wednesday made his first formal appeal for a closer union of the American republics. The occasion was a state dinner given by the acting president of Panama, Rodolfo Ciani, in honor of Mr. Knox, and judging by the applause the secretary's remarks were received in a spirit that was markedly sympathetic and cordial.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, pure food champion, is seriously considering resigning his position as chief of the bureau of chemistry in the department of agriculture. Admitting this in an interview to night, Dr. Wiley said that while he had not yet determined to offer his resignation it seemed that he could not be successful in his efforts to secure harmony as long as there were "incongruous elements" in the department.

Helping Hand Society.
The Helping Hand Society of the Baptist church, held their regular meeting, at the residence of Mrs. R. C. Maxwell, Tuesday evening. The mission study class was conducted as usual by Mrs. E. E. Cox. At the conclusion of the study, several articles of missions and mission work was read by different members of the society, after which, those present enjoyed a very pleasant social hour together. Mrs. Maxwell entertained them with a very interesting reading. A good attendance of the members were present also three visitors.

Gainesville Doctor Disappears.

Monday, at midnight, some one came to Dr. Spencer's home and summoned him to Gainesville's serpentine skill, three miles distant, to look after a patient.

SANFORD GROWERS ARE COMING INTO THEIR OWN

Twenty Cars of Lettuce and Twenty of Celery This Week Will Total $30,000

There is a tide in the affairs of man which taken at the flood leads to fortune. This saying is true of every opportunity that meets the man today who is looking for fickle fortune. This adage hardly applies to the growers of Sanford for one year he may get the market in a strangle hold and shake a fortune out of it and next season the market may shake him. It has never been a question of raising the stuff but a question of distribution. This season Sanford was the lucky jade again and the cold wave that swept down through the Carolinas and Louisiana and Texas time and again and stopped on the border of Florida nipped all the tender vegetables, even put our California neighbors on the blink and now we are trading on our neighbor's adversity. The markets are bare of the succulent vegetables that are wont to tickle the palates of the northern epicure and right here is where Sanford gets on the Prosperity Special because our section has the stuff and all kinds and will continue to have it up to June first.

Just now we are concerned with celery and lettuce the two crops that made us famous and made so many fake lands infamous. This week Sanford ships 20 car loads of celery and 20 car loads of lettuce and at the lowest possible estimate the 40 cars will total $30,000. Can you beat it?

A. Dorner on Celery avenue cuts 20 acres that will bring him over $20,000.

One grower was offered on Monday $2000 for one and one half acres and accepted. Man backed up on the contract. Grower turned round and sold for more than $2000 to commission firm here.

Sanford celery yesterday was bringing $3 per crate in New York.

As soon as the celery is cut off the growers will plant spring crops on same land and ought to bring up the average to a sum per acre that would stagger the ordinary northern farmer.

Sanford was the first great vegetable growing section of the South, has always held that title and always will on account of soil, flowing wells, lake protection, cheap freight rates and other facilities.

Keep your eye on Sanford!

The Doctor responded promptly going in his automobile. When he did not return all day Tuesday and Tuesday night a messenger was sent from his home at an early hour Wednesday morning, who returned with the information that the automobile, with medicine cases, etc., intact, was found turned up against a fence but no trace of the missing man could be found.

The sheriff was promptly notified and a large posse searched all day without results.

Big Dance Monday Night
The Sanford Ball Association will give a dance in the city hall next Monday night. The celebrated Italian Band of the Moss & Marr's Show will furnish the music. Tickets for dance will be sold at 50 cents, ladies free and a good time can be promised to all who attend. The proceeds will go to the Association.

Thinks Well of Sanford
Joshua Powell of Hollis, Long Island is a conservative business man and owns some celery land near Sanford. In a recent letter to his friend, O. E. Walker, he states the condition here as he sees it as follows:

"I am still maintaining that it is the best opportunity I know of for a poor young man with a knowledge of agriculture to become independent in say ten years. Make haste slowly, study conditions, plant all the crops necessary for the family, stock, etc., and go into the 'get rich quick crops' cautiously, and spend all the year on the ground. Watch all expenses, work as hard as the average farmer on Long Island or New England. The greater success, to me, seems to me positively certain. So you see I am not entirely discouraged. I don't believe that additional land will be so rapidly broken, but that those that have will do well to hold on, that the problems of production and freight and distribution will be solved to the satisfaction of the deserving few that are willing to stand fast for success.

Professor Maris' Bible Class
Professor Maris is to open an adult bible class at the Congregational Church next Sunday morning. The purpose of Professor Maris is to take up John's Gospel from the beginning. His primary inquiry is, "What did Jesus teach?" In seeking the answer to this question there will be opportunity for the widest discussion. As Professor Maris puts it, "I believe in standing by the word of Jesus regardless of all else, and by the best that is in us." He expects to lead the class along these lines. The Professor has been teaching bible classes for the past twenty years always has succeeded in building up large classes. Come with your bibles to the Peoples Church next Sunday morning at ten o'clock.
