European Capitals Enjoy May Day Free From Any Disorders

Day Characterized By Absence Of Strikes Throughout Europe And United States

Germany Reports Day One Of Peace Workers' Party Meet In New York Held Without Disorder

LONDON, May 2.—May day appears to be losing, if not its one-time importance as a labor festival, at least its reputation for disorderly demonstrations by the working classes. Advice from all the great capitals of Europe Friday night are to the effect that May Day passed quietly and without disorder, although everywhere demonstrations of one or less importance were held, some of them of an imposing character.

What chiefly distinguished yesterday's day from other May Days was almost complete absence of strikes. The 24-hour strikes in past years used to be a common sight of the May day demonstrations, which nowadays generally are confined to parades and brass bandings.

Some variation had been anticipated today arising from the fact that in some quarters the celebration would be taken of a common holiday to give public expression to these alleged feelings but everything passed off quietly in Germany, and even in Cologne where tradition to von Hindenburg is observed through the huge demonstration there here a communist assault.

In England the demonstrations were a festive occasion as in other days. A coincidence that during the day the house of commons debated and rejected the laborite bill proposing indication by Great Britain of the Washington eight-hour convention.

In France the demonstrations were comparatively orderly. The time was said of Vienna, Prague, Stockholm, Oslo (Christiania), Copenhagen, Madrid, Rome, Moscow and other cities. A feature of the day was the holding of meetings in those cities which were held in the afternoon and evening.

NEW YORK, May 2.—An idyllic day was the lot of the additional policemen and detectives today to keep a lookout for any disorders. No meetings were held and no arrests were made. Police on guard at the homes of prominent men and public buildings today were on their hands.

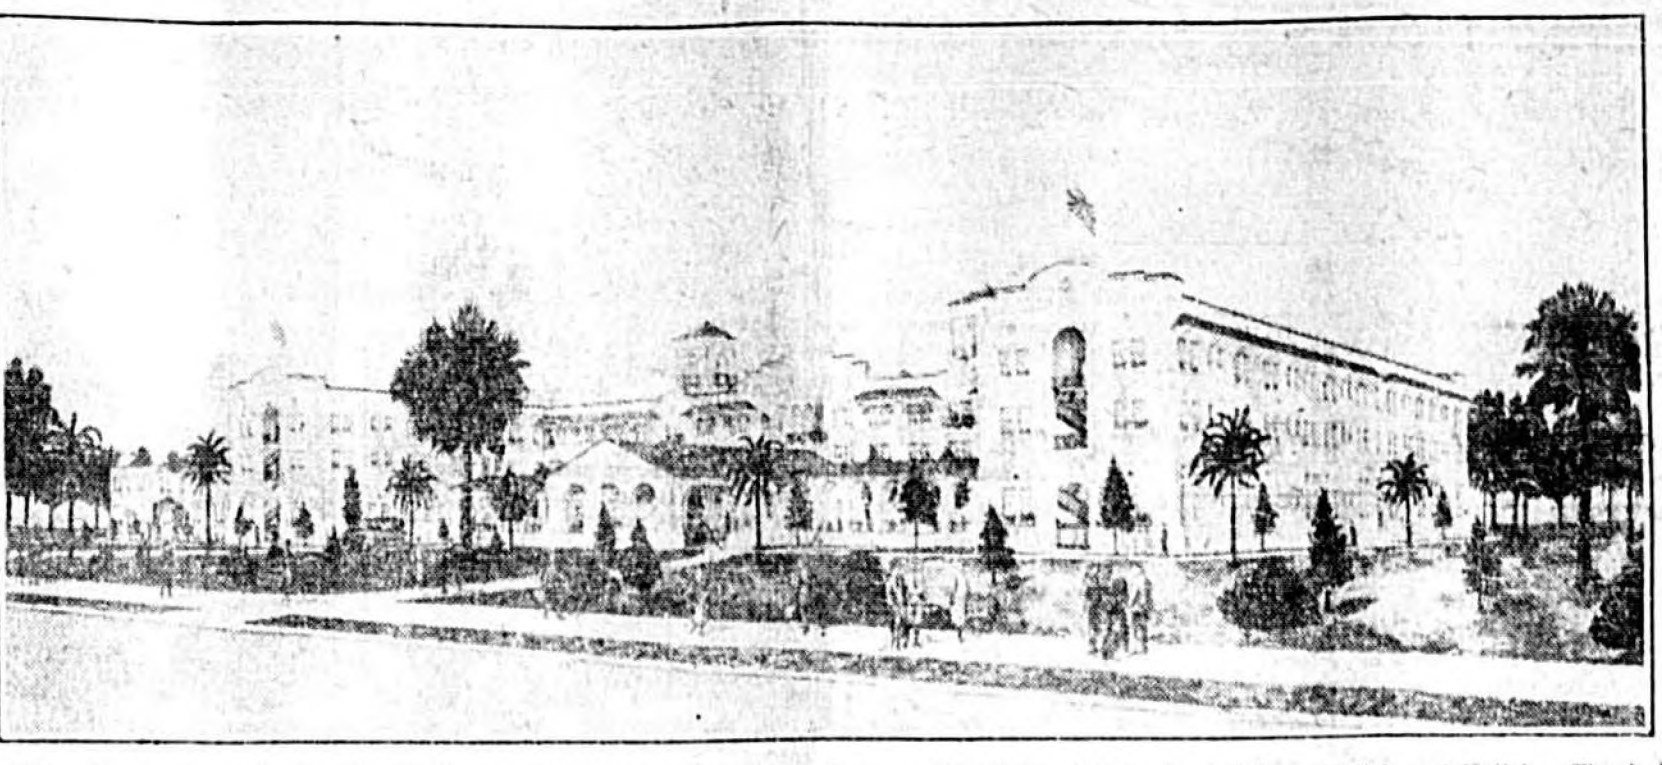

PHILADELPHIA, May 2.—Twenty-five hundred longshoremen, most of whom were said to be members of the International Longshoremen's union, failed to report for duty along the Delaware river waterfront Friday. Officers of the union which recently began recruiting the workers at this place, demanded an increase in their wages.

FAIRMONT, Va., May 2.—Virginia golf fields were a steady pouring in since Apr. 1, according to reports from the different districts.

STOKE NEWINGTON, England, May 2.—Miss Peggy Collett, former American women's golf champion, defeated Cyril Tolley, former British amateur champion, one up this afternoon. Miss Collett received a handicap one stroke over older hole.

Handsone Tourist Hotel Under Construction Here.

This picture shows the new Hotel Forrest Lake as it will appear when completed this fall by its builders, Hulick and Hulick. The hotel will be one of the finest in the state and will contain 158 guest rooms in addition to others such as grill, public dining room, private dining room, ball room and lobby. When completed and furnished the hotel will have cost upwards of $500,000. It will be finished in ample time for the next winter season, according to its builders.

RITCHIE ASSERTS Identity Of Slain Woman RIGHTS OF STATE ARE ENDANGERED Still Remains A Mystery; Five Men Are Being Held

MARYLAND EXECUTIVE IN SPEECH
Before Fraternity Meeting;
Scorned Federal Government's Attitude Toward the State

NEW YORK, May 2.—The eastern state is in danger of passing as a result of the attitude of the federal government on state's rights, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, declared Friday night in an address before the convention dinner of Delta Phi fraternity at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Calling attention to the temporary injunction obtained by federal authorities restraining the Indiana State Drainage Commission from building an irrigation canal across the Lincoln highway, Gov. Ritchie said:

"The government has started an attack upon the rights of the states in a field where until now no one has thought of questioning state supremacy and responsibility.

"The new highway is in no sense different from thousands of miles of roads in the other states in the country. It was built with state money and federal aid money just as more than half of the road along in my own state of Maryland was built.

"If my principle at all would seem to be clear, it is that the state of Indiana should decide for itself whether there shall be a highway where the state state crosses the state highway or whether there shall be a detour road, and in either case, which state department shall pay the cost if there is an inter-department controversy over the matter then the Indiana state courts are there to settle it.

"And yet the United States government steps in and, in total disregard of the clear right and duty of the state of Indiana in these respects, enjoining the state department to suspend from payment of the highway the state of Indiana with its state road.

"The government has its suit on the chain the dignity of the road across the highway, still in progress with interstate commerce in the interstate commerce clause of the constitution is held to be in jeopardy such a contention then the road has been given in the destruction of the right of the state.

Caillaux Says French Finances Must Also Have Gold Standard

Balanced Plan Would Guarantee That No Deficit Would Occur In French Treasury

Minister Asserts Situation Not Bad Doubt Still Expressed Among Englishmen Over New Standard

PARIS, May 2.—Explaining his recent statements that France must seek ways and means for returning to a gold standard, Finance Minister Caillaux, Friday told correspondents that the gold standard was one of the necessary elements of the French financial program. He said his proposals were divided into three categories, the first of which was a permanent and absolute balanced budget, that there could be no fear anywhere of a deficit in French finances.

When he was asked to be excused from detailing the rest of the program because, he said, it was proper that the French Parliament be informed first. He added, however, that when the necessary measures to provide for floating the French debt and other urgent requirements were effected, France must then follow the lead of Great Britain in placing her money once more upon a gold basis.

"The gravity of the situation arising from the heavy obligations coming due this year has been generally overrated, he said, expressing confidence that with careful handling the French Treasury would be able to meet all demands made upon it.

British Still Are Doubtful.
LONDON, May 2.—Resumption of the gold standard continues a prominent topic, and although the government's decision to raise the pound sterling to par has been generally commended, there are some doubtful voices raised as to the outcome.

The Spectator and the Nation fear the decision will mean a general lowering of wages. The Spectator feels that Chancellor of the Exchequer Churchill and his advisers have taken heavy responsibility upon themselves in risking an increase in unemployment and general financial depression.

Professor John M. Keynes, the economist, in an article in the Nation, admits that if a return to a gold standard was inevitable, Mr. Churchill, the Treasury and the Bank of England have contrived to ring in the new standard in a prudent and far-sighted line open to them, "since the plan protects us from being flooded with gold from the United States or elsewhere in consequence of prolonged cheap money or a changed reserve policy or in case of the war, in which we are engaged."

Professor Keynes fears, however, that Chancellor Churchill has committed the country to a policy of forcing down wages, which he says cannot be done without the gravest danger to industrial profits and industrial production. He thinks, therefore that Mr. Churchill has been ill-advised and runs great risks.

The Economist, whose editor was a recent visitor to the United States, says Mr. Churchill merits congratulations for his courage in taking such a decisive step and that acknowledgment also is due to the exceeding friendly cooperation by financial authorities in New York. It adds, however, that the real architect of the policy is Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England.

The arrangement of an American credit, the Economist thinks, was a wise one, since it makes assurance doubly sure.

HADLEY SCORES RICH WHO EVADE COURT SUMMONS

Former Governor Puts Them In Class With Fugitives From Justice; Gives Talk To American Law Institute

WASHINGTON, May 2.—Herbert S. Hadley, former governor of Missouri, now chancellor of Washington university, St. Louis, addressing the American Law Institute here Friday attacked "representatives of business interests" who run away to other countries to dodge court subpoenas.

He did not call names but it was well understood by those present that he was referring to the present Gov. O'Neil, H. S. Oiler and Col. Robert W. Stewart, who were sought as witnesses by the government in the recent oil case.

Mr. Hadley was telling of the grave defects in the administration of the criminal law in the United States. He pointed out that there had been a very recent notable impairment of justice in the fact that "representatives of business interests" had gone to other countries when they were wanted as witnesses here.

"The implication of Mr. Hadley's remarks was obvious. After the session, composed of approximately 100 judges, lawyers and professors of law, many of those present frankly discussed the speech and in connection with the names of the fugitives who were abroad when their testimony was desired in the Sinclair and Doheny oil cases.

"I regard a fugitive from service as second only to a fugitive from justice," declared Mr. Hadley. "The outbreak of applause that followed this assertion left no doubt in the minds of those who heard it that the speaker meant with the hearty approval of the learned lawyers assembled for the annual meeting of the institute.

Proposed New Legislation.
Mr. Hadley spoke the failure of persons to appear as witnesses as the first step toward the general adoption of a new system of procedure in trials. He hoped the next congress would pass a law authorizing treaties between the states under which the governor of one state might issue a warrant on the governor of another state for the return of needed witnesses.

Mr. Hadley spoke in explanation of a report which had been made to the American Law Institute by a committee of three, himself, chairman, and William E. McKel, dean of the University of Pennsylvania Law School, and John G. Milburn of the New York bar, on defects in criminal law and procedure.

ADDRESS MADE AMERICAN VIEW BY PRESIDENT ON ARMS MEET AT CONVENTION WELL RECEIVED

President Requests Materials To Aid in Solving Problems Arising From Heavy Traffic

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The annual convention of the American delegation to the traffic in arms conference will respond a humanitarian program, that it will not interfere with traffic, but will control it, and that it will not interfere with the sale of arms, but will control it, and that it will not interfere with the sale of arms, but will control it.

President Wilson, in his address to the conference, said that the United States was prepared to protect special interests, but that the general interest of the world was to make a humanitarian program.

TOTAL QUALIFIED TO VOTE IN BOND ELECTION IS 1,388

Official List Is Issued By H. C. DuBose, Supervisor of Registration Who Also De- fines Freeholder Under Law

Voters qualified in Seminole county to participate in the $1,740,000, roads bond issue election Tuesday, May 5, number 1,388, according to the figures compiled by H. C. DuBose, supervisor of registration and announced by him today.

Precincts one and three of Sanford have a total of 911 qualified voters for Tuesday's election. Out of the two local precincts, the next largest is number five at Oviedo, which has 105 qualified voters.

With nearly 1,400 citizens qualified to take part in the election, officials are of the belief that fully 90 per cent of that number will cast votes. For the past few days, the Sanford Chamber of Commerce has been waging an active campaign in the interest of getting as large a vote as possible.

The qualified voting list by precincts is as follows:

Precinct	Qualified Voters
Sanford (west side)	445
Lake Monroe	242
Sanford (east side)	465
Paola	116
Oviedo	105
Geneva	79
Clinton	73
Gabriella	24
Longwood	9
Lake Mary	31
Altamonte	11
Osceola	15
Total	1,388

A statement issued today by the supervisor of registration in the election Tuesday are:

1. Be a freeholder as above stated.
2. Have paid your poll taxes for the years 1923 and 1924, (less exemptions).
3. Be a resident and otherwise qualified elector within the boundaries of the district in which you are registered.

Mr. DuBose defines a freeholder under the election law as follows: "Freeholders are persons who own real estate in fee simple or for life."

Freeholders are also persons who have an immediate personal pecuniary interest, legal or equitable, in the title to a fee simple estate in land in the district, according to the decision of the Supreme Court of Florida, in the case of Deen vs. State of Florida, 74 Fla. 277, (first headnote).

"Electors who are at the time they vote, in possession of land in the county under a contract of purchase in fee simple, having paid a portion of the purchase price and having paid taxes on the land, have an equitable, freehold interest in the land, even though not fully paid for, and are entitled to vote on the question of the issue of bonds, according to the same decision."

British Schooner Is Seized After Libeling

MOBILE, May 2.—British auxiliary schooner Frances E., of Nassau, was seized today by the U. S. coast guard following the filing of a libel yesterday against the boat by the attorney general.

The vessel was captured on the West Coast of Florida a week ago by the coast guard cutter, Spaulce, of Key West.

CATHOLIC PRELATE DIES.

NEW YORK, May 2.—Word has been received here of the death in Rome this morning of Most Rev. Louis Thierling, Master General of the Dominican Order and head of the order throughout the world.

Police Get On Trail Of Stolen Car Before The Owner Reports Its Loss

The Sanford police department established what is believed to be a record Friday, when the owner of a stolen automobile had time to report the theft two arrests had been made, which led to the recovery of the machine within a few hours, and detention of Alfonso Santo and J. K. Mattox, of Orlando.

Friday morning an Overland automobile belonging to L. C. Leonard was taken from Rand Alton by near the Gonzalez store on First Street. Some time later the chief of the Sanford Used Parts Company telephoned the police station that two young men had sold him some tires which he believed had been stolen. He had them by check, it is said, and sent an employee to watch them go to the bank and keep them under surveillance while he was notifying his boss.

Before the officers on duty at the station could act on this information, however, Policeman J. B. Green brought in two young men, whom he had arrested at First Street restaurant, because they were acting suspiciously. Under an examination by Chief Williams they are said to have denied knowing anything about the tires but later claimed that they had purchased them in Orlando.

TRANSCRIPT OF SANFORD'S CENSUS IS RECEIVED AND RECHECK BEGINS SOON

Secretary R. W. Pearman, of the Chamber of Commerce, has received a transcript of Sanford's census figures from Commissioner Agriculture Mayor Forest Lake and the City Commission in a recheck at once he announced today. The recheck, he said, will be made, it is stated, in spite of the fact that the figures already in the office of the Commissioner of the Chamber of Commerce Friday stated that he had received a telegram from the commissioner of agriculture denying that Port Myers and Jack O'Neil had been allowed to make additions to their figures.

At the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, Mayor Lake further said that while Mr. Mayo's message showed that it was useless for Sanford to hope to have names filed to the lists already filed with the census bureau at Tallahassee. The Chamber of Commerce Friday stated that he had received a telegram from the commissioner of agriculture denying that Port Myers and Jack O'Neil had been allowed to make additions to their figures.

Washington Is Most Irresponsible Of Cities In United States, Says Stewart

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Washington isn't exactly a vicious city. That is to say, it isn't tough, in the sense that Chicago is tough. It isn't hard and cruel, like New York. It isn't desperate and dangerous, like San Francisco. Outside the prohibition enforcement service, the thug doesn't flourish here. And yet it can't be said that Washington is good.

It undoubtedly is the most irresponsible city in the country. Not that it means anything very wrong. It simply doesn't care. Nearly everybody here is away from home, with little or nothing to do, and interested almost exclusively in having a good time. These are ideal conditions for Satan's purposes and he makes the most of them.

What's become of the Scott divorce case, at Alpena, Mich? The testimony in the case told the story of life in Washington with beautiful accuracy. Not everybody is in having a good time. There are ideal conditions for Satan's purposes and he makes the most of them.

There isn't much depth to its moral topography—just the whole outfit bent on fun and excitement, and the devil take the consequences! This isn't assuming that Congressman Scott did all the things his wife said he did, or that his complaints of Mrs. Scott necessarily were well founded. Only both versions did sound so like Washington.

But, anyway, what's become of the Scott case? Washington was enjoying it immensely when they finished the first reel and is mighty anxious to see the second one start. What Washington's afraid of is that there won't be any second one.

However, that statement that Washington was enjoying it needs to be qualified a little. Not quite all Washington. The Washingtonians whose names were mentioned didn't like it a bit. And when Mrs. Scott announced she wasn't half through the probabilities are that quite a few more had cold shivers.

At any rate, it's been guessed, again and again, that a lot of pressure would be brought to have the rest of the performance cancelled.

The surmise now is that it will be postponed and postponed and postponed on into eternity, which will be extremely disappointing to all Washingtonians except those who were, or were afraid they were going to be sideswiped by it.

Vice President Dawes seems to be making a hit with his demand for a new set of Senate rules, to hurry up business. At all events, he gets plenty of applause when he discusses the question in after-dinner speeches. But that isn't the same thing as inducing the senators to change their own rules.

What the vice president forgets, maybe, is that he's speaking for the present Washington administration, which naturally wants rules that will enable it to get favorable action on its policies, but that the administration lacks a senate majority.

The Republicans have a majority, yes, if everybody counts as a Republican who calls himself one, but the administration, no—it's half a dozen short of a majority. The very fact that the administration wants the rules changed is a sufficient reason why this senate won't change them. Neither will the next senate, if there's anything in political prophecy.

After careful investigation, the agriculture department announces that very few women ever heard of more than two ways of cutting steaks and that a majority never heard of more than one kind of roast. The trouble is, they all know the same kinds and ask for them.

Result, there's a tremendous demand for those few kinds and the rest of the meat goes into the discard. The department suggests that housewives put up on meat cuts, in the interest both of variety and economy.

A tennis ball filled with nitrogen and chained to be airtight has been invented by a technical expert of one of the rubber companies.

The episcopo is an instrument that enables a surgeon to work alone in a perfectly quiet operating room, and at the same time permits an audience of medical students to watch the progress of the operation in a separate room.

Doomed Man's Life Was Not Spared By Governor Of Texas

AUSTIN, Texas, May 1.—Doomed man's last plea for life failed to swerve Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson from her announced intention to apply "a man's reason rather than a woman's sentiment" to the exercise of executive clemency.

Her action in the case of Sidney Welk, of Dallas, the first man to be executed under her administration, gives a key to the mental processes of the state's first woman governor in handling one of the most pressing and delicate problems of her administration. Welk, from his death cell in Huntsville penitentiary, sent the following telegram to Mrs. Ferguson a few hours before he was executed.

"My time is growing near. Please do not let me die."

Many predicted the emotions generally thought to rule a woman's mind and heart would break through the armor of reason the woman governor has constructed for all her dealings in pardon matters. But they judged her wrong. She declared she had been unable to find "any reason for interfering with the course of the law."

Her comment on Welk's telegram was: "I don't like to get messages from him."

Welk, sentenced to death for killing a Dallas officer in an attempted oil-break, went to his death a few hours later.

The record shows that up to early in April, Mrs. Ferguson granted 61 full pardons and 95 conditional pardons. Executive

Diplomat

After two years in the State Department at Washington, Miss Lucile Atcherson, 30, of Columbus, O., has qualified as a member of the diplomatic corps. She will leave soon for Bern, Switzerland, to become third secretary of the American legation.

Clemency was exercised in other ways as follows: Commutations, two; reprieves, one; paroles, 10; furloughs, 31; restoration of citizenship, 30; revocations of paroles and furloughs, 2; remission of bond forfeiture, 7; remission of fine and jail sentence, 7; suspension of service of the Court of Criminal Appeals, 2.

Recipes

Grapefruit and Strawberry Cocktail.
Remove pulp from two grapefruit and mix with one-half cup shredded pineapple, and strawberries cut in halves, using half as much pineapple as grapefruit and allowing four strawberries, to each serving. There should be two cups fruit. Pour over a dressing made of one-third cup fruit juice and one-half cup sugar. Chill thoroughly; serve in cocktail glasses and garnish with candied cherries and leaves.

Cucumber Salad.
Remove thick slices from both ends of a cucumber, cut off a thick paring, and with a sharp pointed knife cut five parallel grooves lengthwise keeping cucumber in its original shape. Arrange on lettuce leaves, and pour over French dressing.

Shrimp a la Newburg.
1 pt. shrimp, 3 tbsp. butter, 1-2 tsp. salt, few grains cayenne, 1 tsp. lemon juice, 1 cup flour, 1-2 cup cream, yolks of 2 eggs.
Clean shrimp and cook three minutes in two tablespoons butter. Add salt, cayenne and lemon juice, and cook one minute. Remove shrimps, and put remaining butter in double boiler, add flour and cream; when thickened add yolks of eggs slightly beaten, and stirrings. Serve with toast, or in patty shells.

Stop Moth Ravages!

CROCE'S DEFENSE OF LIBERALISM BRINGS CRITICISM

Italian Philosopher Is Center Of Vigorous Controversy Since Recent Publication Of An Article On Subject

ROME, May 2—Benedetto Croce, whose position as Italy's leading philosopher and foremost intellectual figure is seldom disputed, has brought down upon himself the wrath of Fascist leaders and has become the storm center of a vigorous controversy among publicists of culture by publishing a spirited defense of liberalism.

Rejecting the thesis that liberalism, political and cultural is dead, and that the present-day struggle is solely between socialism and communism on the one hand and ultra-conservatism, reactionism and Fascism on the other, Croce in a recent article, asserted that, Fascism notwithstanding, Italy would some day again have to turn to a liberal government and to a liberal culture.

Fascist culture, he asserted, was one-sided and superficial. Fascists were fond of talking of history and the historical significance of their cause, but they never had really learned the true lesson of history that only a decadent state would long tolerate an authoritarian regime and that a healthy one would eventually reject it.

Tong Leader Buried With Chinese Custom

Hundreds of Chinese, leaders of the On Leon Tong, attended the funeral at Pittsburg, Pa., of On Le Tong, former president, who died three months ago. The funeral was delayed because of a long wait which ended but recently. In the picture is a truck in the funeral cortege carrying a photograph of a dead leader, according to Chinese custom.

no serious answers and that his influence on the wane among younger Italians. The spokesman of the cultural aspect of Fascism condemn the philosopher's point of view as dry and pedantic, and assert that the living force of Fascist youth will create an Italian culture much more important than that which Croce has gleaned from German philosophy. One of these answers sums up the case in the sentence: "The true work of art and thought is born without preparation and without education."

The color of the dress is a deep rust and the embroidery is in shades of tan and brown.

Government Specialist On Nutrition Studies Methods Being Used In This State

TALLAHASSEE, May 1.—Miss Miriam Birdseye, nutrition specialist of the federal Bureau of Economics, at Washington, is visiting Florida studying methods used here in developing nutrition under nourished children.

Especially has this been true in Polk county where the work has been developed as a definite follow-up to the examinations of children made by the State Board of Health last fall. Soon after the examinations were made data was furnished the Home Demonstration workers who began a program of building up the under-nourished children. So satisfactory have been the results that several other counties have announced their readiness to take up the program next fall.

Upwards of 4,000 school children were involved in the work in Polk county, and the mothers and fathers of the children affected have announced themselves so well pleased with the results that Miss Richardson says they have asked that she work out something definite for the next school year.

One of the outstanding developments in connection with the work, it is stated, in addition to bringing underweight pupils up to standard requirements, is an increased number of gardens and more milk cows.

Citrus county also has carried on the nutrition program during this year, having it now half completed, and Collier is taking it up.

300 Girls Expected To Take Courses In Club Work In June

TALLAHASSEE, May 2.—The largest class in the history of club work in Florida is expected to take the short courses at the Florida State College for Women, June 12 to 19. Miss Flavia Gleason, in charge of the work in Florida, is expecting at least 300 girls from all sections of the state to enroll for the courses, she stated today.

During the short courses four contests will be conducted—consisting of two in canning, one in bread-baking, and one in health. An entrant is expected from each county in the health contest, the representatives to be selected by elimination contest, with the girl scoring the highest percentage to represent her county.

For canning contest No. 1 the county demonstration agents will select the best third or fourth year club girl who will have reached the age of 15 by November and who does canning and gardening. This group will can a vegetable. The girl making the best showing, provided she meets requirements she will be asked to meet by September 30, will become a member of the Florida Demonstration team which will give demonstrations in the conservation of Florida products during the International Club Congress to be held in Chicago next December.

Canning contest No. 2 will consist of team work. For this contest two girls, preferably selected by contest, whom the agents wish to represent their counties by giving a vegetable canning demonstration will participate.

Winners will be rewarded with prizes.

5 Killed In Storm In North Atlantic

HALIFAX, May 2.—The North Atlantic, heavily mantled with fog and lashed by a driving wind and rain, has taken a toll of five lives, two steamers wrecked and a three mast schooner sunk. The schooner Cape D went down Thursday night three minutes after it had been rammed by the steamer Clackamas off Sambro Lightship.

Mrs. Margaret Wilkie, wife of the captain and four of the crew were drowned. The steamer Azov went aground on southern end of Cape Breton and the coast steamer Moldogard went ashore off Penmont Point, both being pounded to pieces.

Moroccan Tribesmen Are Attacking French

FEZ, Morocco, May 2.—Moroccan tribesmen under orders of Abd El Krim, rebel leader, are attacking the French zone on a front of 60 miles at some points and are surrounding French posts, where small detachments are defending themselves in blockhouses.

French military authorities are of the opinion that the Rebel leader has a vast project in mind with Fez as his principal objective. Twelve thousand French soldiers are in the zone with reinforcements on the way which will bring the total to 20,000.

Cured of Hookworm Half Million Porto Rican Jibaros

"JIBARO" is the name given to the laborer of Porto Rico, and under modern methods more than half a million of these laborers have been cured of hook-worm, 200,000 by treatment provided by the Government, and 200,000 by treatment provided by private means. The treatment is not complex, but consists in the main of Thymol and Eosin Salts in proper proportions. Pretty nasty to the taste one would imagine; not so with Flapax-Laxative Links—about as good to the taste as candy. Even today many people in this great and glorious land are said to "have the hook-worm," when they are merely run down, and lack energy sufficient to supply the "go." Nearly all disease is traceable to derangements of the stomach or bowels, the most important organs, being the source of all energy. Almost all troubles—common cold, consumption, fever, etc., are due to a loss of vitality caused by imperfect stomach or bowel action. Indigestion and constipation form the starting point for a whole list of ills. Go to Laney's or Dean's Pharmacy today and get a 50-cent box of Laxative Links and see how good they will make you feel. Prove to your own satisfaction that they will assist in regulating the bowels more effectively than anything ever prepared. These druggists have them in stock and they carry their recommendation and guarantee. Be sure to get the Pink Candy Lozenges in the pink package. Should be used whenever "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

TO MYSELF, ON MY BIRTHDAY

I always have thought well of me. So many people say: I know I do especially Upon my natal day. Though many send no greeting cards, And wires and wishes and regards, And other things their love to tell, I also wish to wish me well.

I may have made a mess of life, Some people say I do; I've always had a lot of strife, And victories were few; And there were times, I must admit, I praised myself a little bit, And said that I was pretty good— But, if I hadn't, then who would?

We ought to practice modesty, Humility and such, And yet too modest we can be, Be modest much too much. Now, modesty is fine, say I, But, if your virtues you deny, Too much, the rest will think it's so, Because they think you ought to know.

And so I wish myself success As well as anyone, Though modesty in good, I guess, It CAN be overdone, It's well to be a modest man, Be just as modest as you can About your talent, place or self— But not so much you wrong yourself.

May Day was very much like any other day, after all. The Plant City Courier is one of the most interesting of our exchanges.

Post Card Week will probably be a failure now that it takes two cents to send them. It isn't the high cost of living that's running men down, it's the high cost of living high.

While the legislators are busying themselves with the spelling of Floridians, they might do some legislating on the correct pronunciation of that city on the lower East Coast. Can you bend this? The Key West Citizen tells about the young husband of a telephone girl who was recently presented with trip-lets and complained because he was given the wrong number.

Another attempt has been made upon the life of King Boris. "Un- easy lies the head that wears a crown." If we were the good King Boris we'd move to some nice quiet country—like Russia or Mexico. Which Design Speaks For The South?

Will the Daughters and Sons of the Southern Confederacy sit back in stupid quiescence and permit the destruction of Gutzon Borglum's idea for the Stone Mountain Memorial? Will the people of the South accept without protest the design for the Stone Mountain sculpture as planned by Augustus Lukeman, the new man on the job?

Gutzon Borglum's idea for the great memorial carving was a picture of a host of Confederate soldiers streaming across the sheer face of the vast granite cliff, a gigantic figure of Robert E. Lee riding "Traveler," his beloved horse standing out as the focusing figure.

Mr. Borglum desired to have the Stone Mountain Memorial speak for the heroes of the South, the men who fought for the defense of their homes against the invading forces that so tremendously outnumbered them. Mr. Borglum was thinking of those men of peace, men who had no training and no liking for war, yet who laid down all they had, and as common soldiers made up the valiant armies of the Confederacy. He wanted to depict these men in the heat of action, fearless, hopeful—triumphant.

The new sculptor, Augustus Lukeman, immediately announced that the work already done by his predecessor, Gutzon Borglum, would be "eliminated." His plan for the carving is to make a central group of the figures of Lee, Jackson, Davis, two other generals, "yet to be chosen," and a standard bearer.

Presumably the generals "yet to be chosen" will win the honor, according to the pressure brought upon the committee in charge. If politics are to be played, or money donations sought in exchange for preference in the selection of the two unchosen generals, it may be possible for some loyal descendant of a Confederate officer to have his family immortalized in the granite of that eternal mountain side.

But what do the people of the South, the children of the men and women who lived through those years of the war, and through the Reconstruction Days that followed—what do they think of the merits of the two designs?

There are hundreds of statury groups similar in idea to the one proposed by Mr. Lukeman. It has always been the fashion to erect statues to the memory of distinguished generals. The "Unknown Soldier" idea is quite new in the brains of men. And Borglum would have an entire army of "Unknown Soldiers"—the men were all and everything—carved into the living stone of the mountain, to speak for all time of the loyal sons of the South who fought at such heart-breaking odds for the Cause they loved, and lost.

No, not "lost." The New South is a better, happier South. It won its cause in spite of years of hardship and despair. It has lived down all its bitterness. It has forgiven all its enemies. It has even reached a place where it can look back with fair, impartial eyes and see where it was wrong. But the South remembers. It remembers its men in gray and for what they stood, and what they sacrificed. Just what does it think should be done in regard to that Stone Mountain Memorial?

Another Good Decalogue

Inasmuch as the famous Ten Commandments of the inspired Moses are not scrupulously obeyed by any of us, it is certain that the decalogues of one kind and another devised by modern men for modern living do not obtain faithful obedience from many people. But here is a set of commandments offered a former commissioner of health of New York City, Dr. Thomas Darlington, that all of us might follow most beneficially.

- The Darlington decalogue says: 1. Keep your mouth closed when breathing; also when angry. 2. Drink cool water with your meals; also between meals. 3. Bathe daily; a shower if possible. 4. Eat slowly; this leads to eating sparingly. Make your meal a ceremonial pleasure. 5. Exercise daily and breathe deeply while so doing, but avoid overexertion and never eat when fatigued. 6. Never read or transact any business while eating. 7. Work ten hours, sleep eight, and use the balance for recreation and meals. Always rest on Sunday. 8. Ever keep a contented mind. Equanimity means longevity. 9. Neglect no portion of the body. Employ a physician to examine you at regular intervals and so watch for the beginnings of disease and pay some attention to his opinion and direction. 10. Moderation in all things. And while we are on the subject of rules for better health, how about your daily walking? How far did you walk today, and how did you do it? Lung's full of air, chin up, smile in your mind, and a zip to your stride? How did you do it?

MY FAVORITE STORIES

BY IRVIN S. COBB

An East Sider of foreign birth and short term of residence in this country prospered to the extent where he graduated from the ranks of the Forsythe street sidewalk merchants and became a regular at your banks and tell me how showiness and everything. Also, for the first time in his life he was able to start a bank account.

One day he was engaged on the telephone by the assistant cashier of the bank where he kept his checking fund. "Mr. Abrams," stated the cashier, "I called you up to tell you that on the first day of this month your account appears overdrawn $108."

"So?" "droned Mr. Abrams. "Say, young man, would you do it for me a favor?" "Sure." "Then, please, you should look at your books and tell me how stood the account on the first day of last month."

In a minute or two the bank functionary was back at the phone. "Oh, Mr. Abrams," he said, "on the first day of last month you had a balance to your credit of $322.25."

"So!" shouted Mr. Abrams, "and did I call you up?"

PANTS AND FIGHTING

MIAMI HERALD

Two bandits in New York entered a grocery store the other day with drawn revolvers and proceeded at the task in hand. They did not yell "hands up!" They gave the command "Pants up!" and they saw that it was obeyed.

In commenting on the innovation The New York World refuses its unqualified indorsement as banditry is an unsocial profession, is prohibited by law and frowned upon by the police, but it says "the wrinkle must be regarded as a real contribution to the art of robbery."

The World sees efficiency in the methods of the robbers saying that a man with his hands up is only temporarily out of the fight and waiting at him is allowed to lapse in its threatening position, while the man deprived of his trousers is entirely out of combat. "He cannot run, he cannot fight," declares The World.

We dispute both these statements. Ihabod Crane made his getaway sans trousers and sans darn near everything else in the clothing line. When a man wants to run or has to run, losing his nether garments would tend to increase his speed. And why can't a man without pants fight? They can fight and they do fight. For proof, make inquiry of the German soldiers who were in front of the killed Scots in France. No one will ever convince "ritz" that those "Ladies From Hell" were not fighters.

Those New York bandits who compel their victims to remove their pants by showing dragon's teeth that "say come home to roost. The man without pants may be slow to start either a foot race or a fight but once he starts he is not likely to stop.

As Brisbane Sees It

To Stop a Hen Setting. Rare News for Farmers. Only Theoretical Victory. At Least He Liked Her.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1925)

THIS IS written in Florida, not far from Lake Okechobee. Here you meet Mr. Greenless, once a farmer and cattleman near Lawrence, Kan., now farming it in Florida, where he bought six thousand acres.

Four things will interest farmers and city people in Mr. Greenless's Florida farm.

First you notice his leghorn hens, evidently much annoyed, each with a feather that goes in the little opening on one side of the hen's nose and comes out on the other. An Italian takes care of Mr. Greenless's chickens, and that's his Italian plan to keep a hen from setting. When she wants to set he sticks the feather through her nose. Amusement and annoyance make her forget all about her desire to be a mother and she goes back to laying eggs. It really works.

MR. GREENLESS points to little yellow ducklings walking about with their mother in strange silence. Not a single quack from the whole family. "Those," says Mr. Greenless, "are known as quackless ducks. They are a cross between a turkey and the yellow runner duck." The meat is delicate. The duck makes no sleep-destroying noise.

Third, Mr. Greenless gets from his soil, which looks like white sand, fifty barrels of Irish potatoes to the acre; digs them in February and sells them for $12 a barrel. This writer shipped carloads of potatoes from Farmingdale, N. Y., to New York for $1.10 a barrel, from which had to be deducted freight, cost of barrel hauling and the wholesale commission.

Fourth, Mr. Greenless sells his tomatoes for $1 a crate, or about $200 a ton. This writer sold ripe tomatoes to the catsup factory at Farmingdale for $10 a ton.

If you must be a farmer, which is a hard life at best, select your climate with care.

YOU HAVE read about the theoretical battle of our great fleet, including submarines, cruisers, battleships, flying ships, etc., around Hawaii. That fighting ended in great victory for our battleships. The flying fields of the air force were seized, and the entire enterprise was a gigantic success for the battleship.

It's lucky for our noble ships that the great battle at Hawaii was a theoretical battle. If it had been real, with a fleet of five hundred properly managed Asiatic airships opposing us, our battleships and cruisers would now be lying peacefully on the bed of the Pacific Ocean, and the report would have a different wording.

CAPTAIN WURN is accused of keeping his young wife a prisoner on board his barge for five years. He would not let her meet or talk to other men. When he went ashore he locked her in the cabin.

We all despise such a selfish husband. But many wives will tell you they would rather have Captain Wurn than the kind of husband they actually have. Captain Wurn at least proves that he likes his wife. The worst kind of husband is one who doesn't care what his wife does or where she is, or whom she sees. No woman is really happy unless some man is "very particular" about her. How do you explain that?

IN THE Florida Legislature at Tallahassee, Representative Ives Branch proposed a law, reading: "It will be against the dignity of this state for any newspaper or other publication to refer to any lady within the confines of this State as a flamer." A few hours' residence convinces you that Florida ladies are dignified, self-respecting and entitled to such a law. In some other states you would suggest that if the ladies would pull their dresses up a little around the neck, in the back and in the front and let them down a little more at the knees, no anti-flapper law would be necessary.

SOMETIMES A real-estate is carried away by his own enthusiasm. One Florida concern, advertising a really admirable section of the State, says "The shades of Grover Cleveland and Joe Jefferson linger here. So will yours if you spend one season."

AS A warning to the victims of "get-rich-quick" schemes, a Florida editor offers this improvement on an old saying: "Take care of your pennies and someone will come along to take care of your dollars for you."

JUST IN PASSING

BY R. J. HOLLY

One never misses the well until the water runs dry and you never miss a friend until he stops doing something for you—or stops printing a newspaper or something of the sort—if you know what I mean.

Gainesville Sun seconds the motion to eat more "sour" kraut. Eat it, Bill with some Gezebreand—you know—and it will not be "sour" but will give you that rich and mellow complexion that goes with the men of Gainesville.

Goode Guerry has disposed of his interests in the Palatka Daily News to his partner M. M. Vickers who will "carry on" in the newspaper business while Goode makes good in the real estate business. Goode is one of the best newspaper men in the state and will be missed in the ranks but we wish Iro, Vickers the best of luck and know he will keep the News running full time.

St. Petersburg has a good ball team and a good umpire and all that but I cannot get up much enthusiasm over a Florida team that does not include Orlando. When I think of the wonderful game we played here and in Orlando when it took sixteen policemen and nine players to pull off a game it makes me feel that the human race is getting soft and we do not have the times of yesteryear.

The Bradenton Board of Trade has launched a campaign to finance an idea of bringing gasoline from 26 cents to 16 cents a gallon and they intend to put it over. Several thousand dollars have been raised for a pool to buy the gas wholesale and sell it for 16 and this is going after something important to every citizen of Bradenton. What is the matter with the Sanford Chamber of Commerce doing the same thing?

That splendid road meeting and barbecue at Geneva Thursday demonstrated that Mr. LeRoy and his able assistants know what they are doing in the way of getting together and putting over big things at Geneva. And if all the people out there will stand by these hostesses they will have a thriving city of several thousand people in few short years. All honor to them. They have the right idea.

The Florida Sun published at Ocala has come back to earth and is now called "Florida Earth." Some folks come down here to revolutionize the world and find Florida getting along pretty well while they are here and after they are gone. Now that the Sun is back to earth it will probably strike more oil and less sand.

Jacksonville and Tampa are having merry hell over the census reports and since Tampa found out she was the largest city in the state it seems that Jacksonville seems to have heard about it although Tampa kept the matter very quiet, with the result that Jax had another census and dug up several thousand inhabitants out of the St. Johns river and now Tampa will enjoy Jax from using them. All of which reminds us that we can "milk our lives sublime" by waiting until 1930 for a real census.

The rain and cool weather will have its effect on the tail end of the celery crop and we can expect better prices for the balance of the season despite the fact that it has been a serious problem for the past three weeks. But raising celery is no different from other lines of business. It takes time and worry by these hostesses they will have a thriving line of business a success and there are fewer failures in Florida farming than in other business say what you will.

As I write this column of stuff and nonsense in the fourth story of the First National Bank building it brings to my mind the fact that a few years ago I never dreamed that my old friend, Frank Forster and his distillers would have such a magnificent structure in Sanford in the year of 1925. It demonstrates that nothing is impossible in Sanford and before I pass away I expect to be sitting in my own twelve-story building some day right in this very city by the lake. We all seem to be getting closer to Heaven by various routes.

I understand that a beautiful arcade building will be the next big thing in Sanford business building and this will carry out my prediction made many years ago that a real arcade building in Sanford would be the thing. Sanford is getting to be a big city and new buildings of all sorts will be built here in the near future. All we need to do is keep pushing, quit knocking, pay more compliments and less disparaging remarks about our fellow townsmen and help each other in every way.

Three business men were here this week looking for locations for various lines of business and wanting store rooms and warehouses and homes. It all goes to show that Sanford is coming and the demand for stores and warehouses and homes has not been filled. But right here it is well to say that property in Sanford is property and you cannot buy it for a song. The days of cheap property have gone forever but good property is still cheaper in Sanford than in any city of similar size in the state when you take into consideration our many advantages.

All honor to Commodore Emory who recently organized the Yacht Club. With Commodore Emory and Vice Commodore Hulick and all their staff officers we can look forward to a fine yacht club here and the attendant amusements and the yachtsmen from all parts of the country. All of us will not have palatial yachts but most of us will enjoy the yacht club and we can entertain the visitors here next winter in the right manner. It takes yacht clubs, gun clubs and all kinds of clubs to give our visitors what they want in the way of amusements. We even need horse shoe clubs and checker clubs and we have those also if you ask me.

showeth His handiwork"—In the and other objects of the physical world we may see His beauty and His Majesty.

2. He is hidden in History. To find him in the stories of Greece, of Rome. We can doubt that many of these men had died, working out their own destinies and those of the people, entirely in ignorance of the fact that it was the finger of God directing them in their movements; that not they chose, but God, who moved through them, working out His will through themselves.

3. God is hidden in Jesus. Jesus was on earth in the form found it hard to understand that it was God among them. It was plainly who you are—those who they are. They hardly comprehend His presence. We ask ourselves why God hid from us. There are a number reasons, and we may be certain that one is for our development. We only grow through responsibility. It is said that the adult develops the wing muscles and ability to fly in young eagles thrusting the young birds out of the nest. Thrown on its own responsibility the young eagles fly in order to save his life, at least to avoid injury. In some such degree the parent detaches the child. And so God wanted to leave us on our own. He wanted us to develop us.

Another reason is that He wants us to trust Him. A story has been told about a Bishop of Durham who once lost a book-mark which had been made by his mother. It was found, but when he saw it he was at first so angry that he showed only a bad attitude toward God. When he found the first time the Bishop had tried the reverse side of the matter, and at first he did not turn it over, and on the reverse side was, "God loves me." And so some day we shall be able to turn the page of our lives over and see the other side; and when we have done so and are able to read the reverse and the history aright I do not doubt that we shall then be able to understand the meaning of what is hidden in the stars in the Heavens as we are told in the Nineteenth Psalm: "The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament

SACRIFICING THEIR FRIENDS

NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE

When the German people elected Hindenburg President they were absorbed with their own psychological reactions. They did not have their eyes fixed across the Reich's borders. That was a capital political error, since Germany will have to live for many years to come on her own self-sufficient efforts but on the good will and assistance of other nations.

The victory for reaction has affronted those elements abroad which have stood most resolutely by the Reich in its struggle to escape its treaty obligations. Radicals, pacifists and socialists in other countries have always had a tender feeling for the German republic. It was the fruit of a popular revolution, engineered by socialists. It overthrew an unpopular militarist state and supplanted the leaders in the revolution had been afflicted with European international socialism as it existed in 1914. They had cooperated with the British Labor party with the unified Socialist party in France and Marxian or near-Marxian politicians in Belgium and Italy and in the neutral states. Through the revolution Germany became the mind of radicals and international Socialists everywhere an advanced democracy of the Marxian type.

A powerful section of the British electorate saw nothing to fear in a liberal and Socialist German republic. Without the sympathy of this group and of similar groups in France and the United States the Reich could never have passed as far as it did the fight to defeat Versailles Treaty. But to most of these liberals and radicals the German monarchial party is as odious now as it was before and even during the war. It stands for everything that they abhor. A Germany that would hold out hope, however faint, of restoration to the Reich republic. It was the fruit of a popular revolution, engineered by socialists. It overthrew an unpopular militarist state and supplanted the leaders in the revolution had been afflicted with European international socialism as it existed in 1914. They had cooperated with the British Labor party with the unified Socialist party in France and Marxian or near-Marxian politicians in Belgium and Italy and in the neutral states. Through the revolution Germany became the mind of radicals and international Socialists everywhere an advanced democracy of the Marxian type.

By choosing Hindenburg Reich has cut off its nose to spite its face. It has repelled foreign allies who have done their best to annul the treaty for German benefit. Except for such a boundless hero worship and protest against the results of the Reich's German voters have been humiliated the most friends they ever had.

Dirigible Spies on Rum Fleet

Here is a picture taken as the giant dirigible Los Angeles went scouting for the "rum fleet" off the Jersey coast and in the vicinity of Fire Island. Pictures of the "fleet" were taken at the request of Secretary of Navy Wilbur, who said it would give the dirigible crew good scouting practice and that prohibition agents and coast guard might make use of the data in helping to snare wily rum-runners. The shadow in the picture is cast by the dirigible.

CHANGES IN TIME FOR LEGISLATIVE SESSION OFFERED

One Bill Introduced Provides For Meetings In June, Another Plan Is to Make Two Sessions of 30 Days Each

TALLAHASSEE, May 2.—Two measures are now before the Legislature proposing changes in the time of the biennial sessions of that body. Under provision of a House bill the date of convening would be set forward sixty days, fixing the time as the first Tuesday in June after the first Monday.

A Senate bill introduced by Senator Phillips of Columbia county, however, would provide for two half sessions of thirty days each, an arrangement somewhat similar to that existing in Alabama. The idea behind his bill, says Senator Phillips, is to bring the legislators together for thirty days during which they would confine themselves to the introduction of bills, then recess to reassemble at a later date for the passage of the bills.

Section one of the senate bill proposes "That the Legislature sit in regular session, hereby continuing section 2 of Article III of the constitution of Florida to mean that regular sessions shall be held biennially commencing on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in April, A. D. 1887, and on the corresponding day of every second year thereafter, and that the provision of that section to the effect that regular sessions may extend no days in the aggregate after once convening, but that no provision was intended thereby on the power of the Legislature to take a recess during the duration of any regular session and exclude from the computation of time for the duration of any such regular session, the time used for such recess."

Section provides "That upon adjournment of the Legislature by the effect of this act, it is hereby provided by the Legislature of the State of Florida that the regular sessions of the Legislature shall meet on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in April, A. D. 1927 and on each second year thereafter on said corresponding day, but not on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in April, A. D. of each legislative year, and shall continue until thirty days after the adjournment, during which time bills, proposals, resolutions, amendments and other matters of legislation shall be introduced by the Legislature."

"That upon the conclusion of said first session, the Legislature shall be adjourned for a period of 60 days, after which it would reconvene on the second half during which all bills, proposals to change the constitution, and other matters of legislation shall be introduced and all pending matters completely disposed of."

Senator Phillips believes his proposal, if adopted, would result in a recess of 60 days, during which time the members to meet would have time to the study of matters to be introduced before them, and that this would be in a better position to meet more intelligently upon the measures awaiting their attention after reconvening.

Forget the Back

Forget the back. That's not the thing on display this time. What she is showing off is the new Buddha turban, Hollywood's latest head covering, and Mae Busch, the film star who introduced it.

Bill Is Introduced For Protection Of Mortgage Holders

TALLAHASSEE, May 2.—Under provision of a bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Knight, it would become the duty of the tax collectors of the state at the time they advertise real estate for sale for unpaid taxes to give notice of such advertisement to the mortgagee or assignee appearing of record and continued on the lists of their offices.

The notice would contain a description of the land embraced within the mortgage and that being advertised for sale, the name of the present owner, and the mortgagee as well as the year for which the taxes were assessed, together with a statement showing the amount thereof and the accrued interest to date of the notice. It could be served on mortgagee or assignee, either personally or by registered mail, at the address given by such mortgagee or assignee.

Rights and interests of any mortgagee or assignee complying with provisions of the bill would in no wise be affected by a tax sale and a deed of conveyance made pursuant thereto unless provisions of the proposed act were complied with by the tax collector.

Flogs Father

NEW ORLEANS, La., Apr. 26.—Appearance of a girl wearing knickerbockers and riding a bicycle is not considered appropriate for women in the little town of Cedar Grove.

So when Miss Jewell Barker, 15, appeared in mannish garb with her appeal, Puritanical neighbors immediately objected.

Which led to a flogging that is unequalled even in Puritanical days. The innocent victim of a mob's fury was the girl's father, John Barker, 55 year old.

Advised to Ride.

Miss Barker, frail and unhealthy was advised by her doctor to try riding a bicycle. So she purchased a wheel and a pair of white knickerbockers and started exercising each day on the town and country roads.

The neighbors looked on astonished.

At first it was deep curiosity, then resentment that a father should permit his daughter to appear on highways and streets "dressed in like a man."

The men folk of the village were more concerned than the women. Mysterious warnings were received by the father.

"Keep that girl out of that rig," was one message, conveyed in a male hand.

The next tried to explain that the family physician had advised bicycling as the exercise the girl needed. And that to be comfortable on the daily rides knickerbockers were necessary.

Father Beaten.

One night, after repeated warnings had been sent to Barker, he was lured to a lonely spot in the country and given a severe beating.

He was warned that he would be flogged again if his daughter appeared any more in the knickerbockers and further threatened with death if he disclosed the affair.

Recently the father became ill and it was with difficulty he was able to provide the necessities for his family.

This came to the attention of welfare workers, who thus by chance discovered the ill health of the daughter, and the flogging. Two men are under arrest in connection with the beating of Barker. Four others are under surveillance, suspected of complicity in the attack.

Jewell has given up her daily cycling for fear she will be molested.

Cheering News

Dear Ed:
One of the pleasures of making out an income tax return blank is the uncertainty of knowing what to put in and what to leave out.
No man wants to cheat the government and no man wants the government to cheat him, not if he can help himself.
It will be cheering news, therefore to the average fellow to learn of a recent decision which was handed down by the high authorities in income tax matters.
It seems that one of the men from whom the government collects income taxes every year is a burglar by profession. He makes a large income by robbing people's houses, all of which he reports in due course to Uncle Sam in his income tax returns.
Now this fellow is a real burglar, not a bungler. He is efficiently equipped to practice his chosen profession, and his equipment includes the newest and most improved burglar's tools. These tools cost a lot of money, not only to the people against whom they are used, but also to the man who buys them.
The burglar in question happened to be in the habit of being interested in one of his jobs before he had finished his work, and he had left in such a hurry that he left his expensive tools and could not go back to recover them. In fact, they fell into the hands of the police.
The burglar deducted the cost of his tools, less the usual allowance for depreciation, from his income tax returns. He thought the officials were in a quandary as to whether to have the police return the tools to the burglar or accept the deduction. They finally decided to allow the deduction to stand in spite of the precedent that it established.
In the future, burglars who lose their tools on the job can figure the loss off their net incomes. Of course, the thought that really suggests itself to the income tax people would naturally feel a deep sympathy for the burglar, but it wouldn't say such a thing myself.
Personally, I admire burglars, who boldly take what they can, more than these friendly fellows who take all they lend them.
Fortunately, I know little about automobiles and I speak with authority when I say that for service and satisfaction there is no car at the price that will compare with the Essex Coach.
Yours,

PAINS ALL OVER

Lady Says She Took Cardui and Never Saw Such Improvement—Was So Weak Couldn't Stand.

Weatherly, Miss.—Mrs. James M. Hall, of this place, writes that she was "getting weaker all the time" when Cardui, the woman's tonic, was first brought to her attention. After she had taken Cardui a while, she writes that she "never did see such an improvement."

"I suffered all the time and had pains all over," says Mrs. Hall, "was so weak I could not stand. My skin was cold and flabby. I did not have any color. I had always been a very active woman—used to outdoor exercise, walking and going where I pleased, and to get down, not able to get myself a drink, was indeed a hardship."

"Nothing seemed to help me, till I began on Cardui. The first bottle seemed to strengthen me, and I sent for five more. By the time I had taken these, I was on my feet, going around, doing my work, gained in health and strength. 'I took two more bottles, and I am well and strong. Can work my garden. I haven't had any more sickness.'"
