Your Carrier Boy

We hope you read that article in Friday's Times-Union about your carrier boy. It's hard to get good carrier boys these days and if you have a good carrier boy he deserves all the more credit because so many of his friends are wasting their time and making fun of him for working.

"I'd call these fellows soldiers in the general fight," writes Bill Cunningham. "I'd call them war workers too. The public would be in a bad way without them, and the war has increased their problems in ways the public ought to know about before it's too late."

Speaking of the manpower shortage, Cunningham goes on to say that the older and huskier kids are more in demand than ever before for after-school and weekend jobs and this automatically forces the age limit of the newsboys downward.

But these carrier boys are doing their bit and they have a tough job. "I never realized before that there was anything more to delivering a paper than just waking up close and tossing it in."

"Your greatest contribution, however, can be made in the department of seeing that he gets his money the first time he calls. He's the collecting agent for the company and he can't settle up his accounts until all his customers are duly accounted for."

"Keep the change in a pot for him. Tell him where he can find it, under the mat, or somewhere, if you're not going to be home on his collection day. Don't make him make extra trips. Bicycle tires aren't as easy to get as they once were, and shoe-leather worn out in these times unnecessarily is war effort waste."

"This is a job that requires some real manhood. It takes a good man to do it, and to do it punctually every day in the year. It takes moral courage to stick to the job, regardless of weather, but that's the stuff of which worthwhile manhood is made."

"As a soliciting and a collecting little merchant, he's learning to interview people, to answer their questions, to develop his powers of persuasion. Out of all this, of course, he makes his week's pay. Thus he's learning about money, that priceless feeling of making your own and of being respected for it."

"This is citizenship at the source. This is building for America. It's fine work for any boy, and more of them are needed in it, here and all over the Nation."

Boys At War

What stories those fighting boys have, as they filter back home on leave after a few months at the front! It isn't all blood and dirt and death by any means, although there is plenty of that sort of thing.

A lad from Ohio named Phillip Badalamenti, on furlough from the Guadalcanal front, tells this yarn among many. He and seven other young marines found a three-inch Japanese naval gun on the beach. The sights were gone and it had been badly smashed up, but after a few hours' work they got it into commission. The captain found some ammunition and they were ready for action.

A submarine appeared in the offing and began shelling them. The lieutenant estimated the range with his binoculars and they fired back with their old cannon. After a couple of rounds there were signs of excitement on the sub, with deck hands running about wildly. Then it sank, spilling some of the men into the water, and was found later beached on a neighboring island.

In such a life the men seem to acquire a delicate taste in ammunition. This lad prefers bombing to shelling, because it doesn't last so long. His baseball experience gave him an advantage when the Japs started throwing hand grenades. He and his pals fired them right back. He says the Japs fight so fanatically because they're doped with opium. His outfit found it on their bodies and in captured supplies.

"GIDDYAP, NAPOLEON!"

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By RUSSELL KAY

Maybe it is a little late to be talking about Christmas greetings and New Year's messages, but I received the following from E. W. Lina, division manager of the American Fruit Growers at Kendall, Florida, which I feel deserves passing on. He writes:

"I sent no Christmas greetings this year. I tried but I couldn't find Christmas in my heart. 'Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men' seemed as far away as my mother's voice singing 'Silent Night' many Christmases ago. I'd make a miserable soldier, I fear. Perhaps I'm too old to develop that 'killer' instinct. Perhaps there are a few more jobs I'd like to do before I die myself or perhaps it's that sissy streak that prevents me from shooting a deer."

"I hate Hitler, Mussolini and their ilk. I hate 'em as much as I can hate anybody because I'm selfish, probably. They have caused so much to be taken from me. My friends and my friends' friends. Indirectly they have taken from me the material things that I enjoy—the things that have perhaps made me soft, such as enough gasoline to visit folks I like, that little extra bottle of radio, that additional spoonful of sugar, the extra thick pillow when I was in the notion, or that trip to my shack in Maine. How I enjoyed being soft like that! It was so much fun to know that when you worked like hell and earned a few dollars, you could spend it as you wished in being just as soft as you desired."

"I guess I was an isolationist. I didn't want us in this war. Maybe I just didn't understand that it had to be. So what? Here we are in it up to our necks, so let's do all we can to win it—win it in such a way that we, the people of the United States of America, can have the peace table and justice dictate the terms. Let's dictate them in such a way that all the world can also be just a little soft and enjoy the things that you and I have enjoyed. They can't have them right away, of course, for first we have a world to feed and rebuild and nothing is too difficult for a people who have a constructive goal and don't have to worry about the fellow next door knocking a chip off their collective shoulders."

"I love America. I like to see pussy-willows and white fields of cotton. I like the hoot of the screech owl and the rattle of the morning freight. I like the leap of the tarpon, the sagebrush of the desert, the peaks of the Rockies and the yellow of the wheat fields. I like the sanctity of my church and the good fellowship of my favorite tavern. I like corn on the cob and the World Series. I like the quiet of the Maine woods and the bodiam of Broadway. Your daddy and mine helped make these things mean what they do. So did you, and so did I. You are willing and

I want everybody in this world—white, black, red or yellow, to have a fair break, to get well and live well if they work for it. I am willing to do with less if that will mean they can have more. So are you. I am not willing to have my life regimented or my habits changed for the benefit of political theorists, leaders or racketeers. I am not willing to work 80 hours a week while my neighbor—only works 40 and has handed him on a silver platter the things for

LAKELAND LEDGER

It seems that the soldiers in training at Miami Beach are sufficiently enthusiastic over the day ahead of them that they burst forth spontaneously in rousing songs each morning.

The officers took the complaints about the singing with a good nature and a little sympathy. They said the officers in his written reply to the complaining civilians: 'The singing will continue.'

'Moreover, please arise at the first sound of military activity each morning and get down on your knees with all the members of your household who are disturbed thereby and offer thanks to God Almighty, with me and all the rest of us, that those are Americans singing American songs for you and me and not Germans or Japanese singing vile victory war songs in American streets.'

If the civilians don't want to jump into the Atlantic, they have the privilege of joining in the singing, which would do them a lot more good than complaining. It's good to know that the soldiers go singingly about their work of preparing for contact with the enemy.

How can a genuine American male shave each morning without indulging in a little singing, even if it frequently is off-time?

of commendation for the 1st Infantry, now at Fort Benning, Georgia, and formerly a part of the Florida National Guard. Headquarters of this outfit are all in Sanford.

The General said, "The 1st Infantry has been used for concentration purposes at the Infantry School at Fort Benning. It has done such a good job that many people regard it as one of the best in the army."

General Hutchison's military background includes 22 years in the National Guard, and overseas service in the first World War as a second lieutenant in the artillery. While in France, he attended the Artillery School at Saumur. He was born in Cass Hill, South Carolina, which he described with a twinkle in his grey eyes, as a "wide place on the road". He is a graduate of Wofford College where he played football and baseball. When he entered active service with the United States Army a little over two years ago, he was the active head of the J.C. Hutchison Company, celery shippers.

General Hutchison's wife, an active Red Cross worker, was before her marriage, Anne Whitner, daughter of a pioneer Florida family. His two daughters, Elizabeth and Helen, are students at the Seminole High School, are excellent shots and can both notch their gun handles for many a wild turkey. General Hutchison is a member of the Toxahatchee Hunting Lodge, and although he has hunted pheasant in Dakota and deer in Canada, his favorite sport is quail shooting in the Florida woods. After the war, his pet ambition is to bring home one of those land and water game jobs, an amphibian "peep" to use for fish and hunt on the St. John's River.

Sure it's fun to Chat!—

But—Sacrificing Non-Essential Calls Helps Clear Lines for Vital War Calls

You bet it's pleasant to talk with friends over the telephone, just as it was pleasant to take those long Sunday afternoon rides when we had plenty of tires and gasoline.

But social calls must be handled over the same local telephone facilities as war calls. There is a definite limit to the number of calls these facilities can handle at the same time, and when more calls are made, some must wait.

With telephone equipment already burdened with war calls, non-essential calls may delay necessary calls, so we are requesting your voluntary cooperation to reduce unnecessary calling.

Under normal conditions we would expand our facilities to care for the increased volume of calls, but we cannot do that now because the needed materials are going into war weapons.

So won't you help by making fewer local calls? And when you must make a call, won't you please try to make it as short as possible?

S. H. S. Glee Club Will Present Variety Program At Chapel Time

The S.H.S. Glee Club, under the direction of Mrs. Tom Jackson, will present a variety program next Thursday morning, Feb. 18, in the Chapel of S.H.S.

The Glee Club, as a whole, will present the following numbers:

"Smoke Gets in Your Eyes"
 "Little Big Echo"
 "The World is Waiting For The Sunrise"
 A boys' trio, composed of Emmett Herndon, Ed White, and Billy Brumley, will sing two numbers:

"Carolinella"
 "Pickin' Cotton"
 A girls' trio, composed of Lois Meriwether, Alma Grantham, and Mariel Hubler, will present one number:

"Glamira Mia"
 A girls' trio, composed of Marthe Parkins, Ann Wiggins, and Mildred Robson, will present one number:

"In My Solitude"
 There will be two solos on the program:

"Indian Love Call"—sung by Betty King
 "One Alone"—sung by Lucy Ward

The girls' Glee Club will sing "Chirberlin"; and the Boys' Glee Club will present their version of "Heart Hearted Men".

There will also be a novelty fantasia, "Down on Our Farm," presented by S.H.S.'s Orchestra.

Mechanics

Well one semester is gone and mechanics is still as popular as it was when it began at the first of the year.

The autos, which were contributed to us to be torn down and all the parts cleaned, are just about completely demolished.

Ernest Brotherson and Adrian Stacy are the ones to whom the credit should be given for the tearing the Ford V-8s body from the frame. This work was finished Feb. 10 with the help of Rabbit Daniels, Sam Thurmond and Jimmy Ridge.

Billy Southwards new convertible coupe has received most of his attention this week. He has been fixing it up to suit his taste and is now ready to be taken out because some studs had been left out and they had to be put in before the engine could be placed on the chassis.

"Cracker" Donaldson is leaving school to attend defense school Monday. We will all miss his clowning and remarks. Best of luck, Cracker!

"Mimi" Altman and I have been cleaning the plates to go back over the valves. We have been buffing the sides of them. It is very interesting to work the buffing machine.

W. L. Hines had been in charge of the tools. He is the official keeper of the tools for a week. A new tool keeper is appointed by Mr. Hoffman each Monday and keeps the tools for that week. It isn't as easy as it sounds.

Many of us who are taking this course this semester work in an air plane factory as a mechanic.

Vocational School

HARRY E. BEASLEY

MRS. HALL had a surprise when her son, Gordon, now in the navy, came home for a short visit this week.

The following students have been working at Mr. Kirchoff's Office, addressing cards, this week. MIRIAM SPIEHL, the former reporter of this column, is working part time at the Welfare Office in the Meisch Building. WINIFRED LOVELL has passed a Civil Service test and is going to work at the Naval Station soon.

The total number of students from Vocational School who have secured regular jobs since school closed in July 1942 is about 60. The total number of those who have held temporary or part-time jobs is about 20.

The following students took the Civil Service test this week: MRS. E. B. SMITH, RUTH WELBOLIT, some of the others are going to take it next week.

The school has been busy this week cutting stencils. We had such a rush that Mrs. Hall had to help out.

We are sorry to lose the following students: MRS. GAHAN who is moving to Orlando, MRS. RANSBOTOM who is moving to Mt. Dora, and all the students who are skipping school. We hope those who have been skipping will soon come back.

The new pupils are: Mrs. FANSHIEB KEENER, MRS. PAUL BROWN, MRS. TEMPLERMAN, MRS. MARGIE TILLIS, JOYCE WHIDDON, and RUSSEL CLELAND.

MRS. MAXWELL's "Victory Class," which was organized last Fall for a stream-lined course in shorthand has now completed the course and nearly every student is working. The new class, which is being organized, is another "Victory Class."

MRS. MAXWELL would like to have all borrowed books returned by the borrower without her having to write them.

The new classes, which started Monday, are in Filing and Office Practice and also Shorthand. If you care to join one of these classes please do so this week if possible.

MRS. McINTYRE has finished second year bookkeeping and is now ready for a job.

It is very interesting work interesting we give you a few of the jokes that got around up here, as here are this week:

Mrs. Maxwell, correcting Winifred in her grammar: "You don't know the king's English." Winifred: "Oh yes I do, and so is the queen."
 Editor: "No; begin!"
 Mrs. Hall: "Why does the whole class blow for a fire?"
 Helen: "It doesn't blow for a fire, it blows for water.—They have the fire."
 Helen: "It doesn't blow for a fire, it blows for water.—They have the fire."
 Helen: "It doesn't blow for a fire, it blows for water.—They have the fire."

Community Service

Jean Whigham, captain of the Community Service Division, announced in order to qualify a student should be planning and have begun preliminary preparation for work in the community or other service occupations, such as: teaching, social work, medicine, stenographer, typist, bookkeeper, saleswoman, or other distribution or commercial service. At least three of the following will serve as evidence of plans and preparation:

(a) Must have pursued or be pursuing a program which includes courses definitely pointed to preparation for service occupations at the professional level.
 (b) Must have pursued or be pursuing a program which includes courses definitely pointed to preparation for commercial distribution, homemaking, or similar community service occupation to be entered upon leaving high school.
 (c) Must be engaging in some form of part time work, either paid or voluntary in some form of community service.
 (d) Must be participating in a program of military drill.
 (e) In addition to these they must be participating in a program of physical fitness which is required for General Membership.

What Would S.H.S. Be Without

There were more teachers like Doctor Root.
 There were more smiles like Jean Whigham's and Wesley Jackson's.
 We had more dependable boys like Walter Anderson.
 We had more cute girls like Marty Perkins and Ann Wiggins.
 S.H.S. opened at 10:00.
 We had more "gods" like Warren Daniels, Jimmy Ridge, and Billy Fleming.
 There were more girls with figures like Marjorie Hodges.
 There were more good dancers like O.D. Landress, Lillian Walsh, and Bobby Proctor.
 There were more good singers like Lucy Ward and Emmett Herndon.
 There were more "regular girls" like Helen Hutchison.
 There were more students with Sylvia Meisch's personality.
 There were more blondes like Audrey Bach.
 There were more boys in circulation.
 There were more good-looking brunettes like Shirley Eick.
 There were more cute seniors like Mary Rabun and Jean Harper.
 There were more good chapel programs.
 There was a Sadie Hawkins' Day to look forward to.
 Graduation came anytime you wanted it to.

War Bonds & Stamps

This week Seminole High School has reached its half-year goal of $4,000 in War Bonds and Stamps.

During the first four days of February, the five persons that have completed stamp books and received bonds were: Lois Meriwether, Florine Trawick, Emmett Herndon, Thorton Madden, and Robert Mincy. We hope that each of us who buys stamps each week will fill our books and receive our bond before June. After all, stamps don't pay interest and bonds do.

It is to our advantage to exchange our stamps for bonds as quickly as possible. During January the following exchanged their stamps for bonds or bought bonds: Billy Brumley, Billy Johnson, Charles Dawson, Harold Hall, Helen Quarterman, Billy Epps, Miss Riser, Mrs. Fort, and Miss Karis.

For ultimate Victory we must continue to purchase War Bonds and Stamps.

ARMY NURSES IN INDIA

AMERICAN ARMY NURSES are on duty in widely-scattered parts of the globe. Wherever U. S. soldiers are stationed you will find the untiring nurses who care for them. They are in Australia, England, Africa, and New Caledonia, to name a few of the lands in which they serve. They were at Bataan and Corregidor, too. Not all of their day, however, is spent in the arduous duties of their calling. Occasionally, they find time to go on sightseeing tours and have dates. In the photos below, a number of these American girls stationed in India are shown having a bit of recreation between working hours.

Grammar School Red Cross

Mrs. McKinnon was very proud to have 12 girls of the Junior Red Cross stay after school to help make bannages.

She had only five girls to begin with. Now other girls have gotten interested in making them. People can salute the flag and sing the Star Spangled Banner, but that isn't enough to win the war. They should make bannages for our soldiers. The Red Cross Room at the Sanford Grammar School is open until four thirty in the afternoon.

Foye Mae Cogburn Room 8

Room 8 has a new pupil who is Sue Smathers. She came to Sanford from Marianna. She came to Florida from California. Her father was stationed in Honolulu for four years before they were sent to California. Ensign Smathers was in Honolulu Dec. 7, 1941 when Pearl Harbor was bombed. At present, Sue's father is instructor at the Sanford Air Base. Room 4 has a new pupil, Carol Bohannon. He came from Georgia. Room 6 has a substitute, Mrs.

S. A. B. Wilkinson. Miss Campbell's father is sick and she has to be away. But we all hope she will be back soon.

News Notes

S.H.S. welcomes George Halman from Jacksonville as a Junior.
 Joyce Harrell attended the wedding of her brother Sgt. Robert E. Harrell from Sanford, who is stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., to Margaret Bolly, also from Sanford. The wedding took place at Phoenix City, Ala. last Friday.

The count taken Monday showed that a total of 254 students and teachers attended some church activity during the weekend.

The Student Council had its regular luncheon in the Home Economics room last Friday.

Valarie Wells left today for Tampa to take her final examination for enlistment into the W.A.A.C.s.

Martha Carraway, a former student of Sanford Schools, wrote "The Life of Samuel Johnson" in verse which was published in Seminole County School News last week. Martha, who is a Senior, attends Oviedo School.

Mrs. Brownlee, wife of the Presbyterian minister, will be at the High School each Thursday, beginning this week, to give advice to those students who wish it.

Allies Take Back Few Lost Positions On Tunisian Front

Forces Meet Rommel's Challenge And Hit Hard Under Fighter Plane Protection

Nazi forces moved into Gafsa at the southern flank of the Allied central Tunisian battle line today forcing American forces to abandon their position there.

Allied forces met the Rommel challenge for a major battle, striking hard under an umbrella of fighter plane protection, with the veteran British eighth army striking north of Gafsa and threatening to put out the German forces occupying that place in peril.

Rommel, cornered, struck back hard at the pursuing Allied forces, but part of yesterday's advances by him were reported taken back today.

Flying fortresses battered Palermo in Sicily, and Naples was subjected to a daylight raid. The Italian radio admitted heavy casualties and damage.

American and German forces, identified as part of Marshal Rommel's Africa Corps were locked in violent fighting Monday along the southern end of the Axis corridor in Tunisia, where the powerful initial Nazi drive had broken through for more than 20 miles and imperiled the American anchor position at Gafsa to the south.

Noland Hayward, Associated Press correspondent with American forces in southern Tunisia, said that the American 1st Army had advanced and cut the Gafsa-El Hedra Road in a drive from the Maknassy area, which carried to a point nine miles west of Gafsa.

He said an elite Panzer division of veterans of Rommel's Africa Corps, refitted with the newest German tanks in Tunisia, was being hurled against American tank units, many of which were in battle armor for the first time.

The Germans attacked west of Fald Pass in central Tunisia, with tanks, infantry, artillery and dive bombers in such force as to indicate to officers here that armored forces from Rommel's army were in the action, and thus that an effective junction had been made with the Axis Tunisian army of Col. Gen. Jürgen Von Arnim.

Elks Celebrate 75th Anniversary Of Organization

1,400 Lodges Observe Founding Of Club At Special Meets

Sanford Elks this week join their half-million fellow members of the United States, Alaska, the Canal Zone, Puerto Rico and Hawaii in celebration of the 75th Anniversary of the founding of the Order on Feb. 16, 1868, in New York City.

Kept in the spirit of the times observance of the Diamond Jubilee will be marked here and throughout Elkhon by intensification of the mystic rites of the order, by playing in winning the war and by special meetings in every lodge to pay tribute to the founders of the order.

In connection with the observance of the Diamond Jubilee Anniversary, Dr. L. T. Doan, Exalted Ruler of the Sanford Lodge, issued the following statement to the Herald:

"The Order of Elks was kind Providence's gift to the American people. Following the Civil War, shattered sectionalism needed a conciliator and clashing immigrant groups seeking a haven needed a harmonizer. From the ranks of the mystic rites of the Order of Elks was born the spirit of American unity."

The Order of Elks was destined to be a leaven in the life and thought of the American people. Through the 75 years of its existence it strove to make truly one in heart the diverse human elements of the United States.

Of special significance tonight will be the traditional "Eleven O'clock Toast" which will be dedicated not only to the "Absent Brothers" as is customary elsewhere, but to the members of the Order serving in the Armed forces and to the 546 members of the lodges at Manila, Philippines Islands, and Agaña, Guam, who were taken captive or perished when these two American possessions fell to the Japanese.

Dr. Doan stressed the part Sanford Elks have played in the war effort, by recruiting for the United States Army, by contributing to USO, distribution of 'G' Boxes, War Bond purchases, scrap metal and rubber drives.

John Farina Starts On First "Cruise"

GREAT LAKES, Ill., Feb. 16. (Special)—John A. Farina, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Farina, Route 2, Longwood, has started his first "cruise" in the Navy as a recruit at the U. S. Naval Training Station here.

British Navy Gets New U. S. Built Scout Plane

AMERICA'S NEWEST WARPLANE TYPE to enter the services of the United States is this new, fast, far flying Curtiss Seagull scout observation plane designed and produced by the Curtiss-Wright Corporation for the U. S. Navy. It is now being delivered to the British Royal Navy. The two-place monoplane is designed to be operated on long far flying scout missions. It will be known as the Seagull (International).

Effort Made To Complete Book 2 Registration On February 22

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (AP)—The nation books children who were 14 years old when the books issued may be used for buying coffee, the OPA announced today. Purchases are limited to those actually 14 under the OPA rules, but those 14 when books were issued are now becoming 15.

One member, only, of each household will register Monday between the hours of 9:00 A.M. and 7:00 P.M. for War Ration Book 2 at the school which is nearest the residence.

Reports of serious damage to tender plants such as tomatoes, potatoes, peppers, squash, beans and eggplant, are continuing to come in according to Mr. Miller.

The consumer declaration form which appeared in The Herald last night should be filled out by the person representing the family. One form is all that is required for each family.

He went on to add that the family representative must bring to the rationing board War Ration Book 1 of family necessities and a sample of the frozen canned products, over five in person, the applicant must be prepared to disclose the amount of coffee on hand as of Nov. 25 when coffee rationing began.

Three simple steps should be followed in filling out the form: 1. Report how many cans, jars or bottles, 8 ounce or larger, which the household has of the product.

Washington Men Cannot Agree On Farm Policies

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (AP)—Wickard said today he may ask the Army to release farm workers in order to meet production goals. He made a similar request for gathering again last fall, but the Army took no action. Mr. Wickard said he would have no better luck reconstituting request if found necessary.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16. (AP)—Differences of opinion between the Administration and Congress over farm policy today made it doubtful the 1943 and 1944 production program will be passed in time to meet the needs of the farm belt.
