The voting begins, the sniping continues

By Russ White HERALD STAFF WRITER

SEMINOLE COUNTY - There was sunshine on the shoulders of the early voters on this Election Day. From one end of Seminole County to the other. they came to fill in their ballots at 122 sites. The voting would last from 7 a.m. to 7

Supervisor of Elections Sandy Goard said she expected 18 percent of the eligible voters would exercise their right to vote. Her prediction was that the heaviest turnout would be in Oviedo where residents would be voting for city and county candidates.

Having moved recently from the County Services Building to 116 W. First St. in Sanford, Goard said there may be a glitch or two in this year's primaries. If all goes as expected, we should know the winners by 8:15 tonight," she Democrats being scarcer than three-eyed alligators, today's Republican primaries will determine who's who in the county - unless there's a runoff in one of the school board races. The races that have caught most of the attention and aversion - of the community are the District 2 and 4 commission races.

The latest episode occurred Monday when Commissioner Grant Maloy charged that "political terrorists" were ninning rampant in the county,

He spotted two of these terrorists on Sunday as they were zapping inappropriate political propaganda on the windshields of cars at a church in Casselberry. Maloy reported Operation Windshield to the Seminole County Sheriff's Office

What we have is a pattern of deceit," Maloy said, "These people are trying to mislead voters." The anonymous campaign ads supported incumbent commissioners Randy Morris and Win Adams. They, Maloy said, were the commisstoners who voted against an anti-nudity ordinance.

Since Maloy is backing Bob West and Carlton Henley, he said voters should be warned of the bad things the terrorists were doing. He stopped short of accusing Morris or Adams but he didn't praise them for being altar boys either. "I don't want any of these 10-

LAKE MARY - It's election day, and as the county, school board and judicial campaigns are winding down, Lake Mary's may just be getting started.

Qualifying for three city seats began at 8 a.m. this morning. those currently held by Mayor Mealor. commissioners Gary Brender and Thom Greene.

City Clerk Carol Foster said Monday that Mealor and Brender had picked up packets to qualify and that Mealor had indicated he would return his first thing in the morning Tuesday. Greene said he would pick his up later in the day, and vote at the same time. City Hall is one of the Lake Mary precincts.

The fee to qualify for the mayor's seat is $85; $73 for the commissioner's scats. Candidates have until 5 p.m. Sept. 11 to qualify.

Last year, seven candidates vied for two seats. Incumbent George Duryea took an unprecedented sixth term, and Al-Crump unscated Sawyer

The sixth elected mayor in the city's 25 years. Mealor is seeking a second term in that position. He is preceded by Margie Hess, Walt Sorenson, Dick Fess, Randy Morris, and most recently, Lowry Rockett.

This would be the fourth term for Brender, seeking reelection in Scat 1. Greene would serve a second term in Scat 3.

Those interested in running can pick up a packet from Foster at Lake Mary City Hall, 100 N. country Club Road. Candidates must be residents of the city and registered to vote. The primary election is Nov. 3.

Renovated nursing facility dedicated Building named for the late Ann Wiggins Moore

By Maria Orem HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - Local officials last week dedicated the renovated nursing facility at Seminole Community College in the name of Ann Wiggins Moore, the late wife of former Sanford Mayor and businessman Lee P. Moore.

Moore was a major contributor to the $501,510 project with funds also coming from the state. He has also established a scholarship fund for nursing students in his late wife's name.

More than 3,000 students have trained at the nursing center in the past decade and have gone on to health care careers ranging from home health aide to medical assistant, said Robert Lyles, college spokesman.

About 90 percent of those who graduate from the program remain in health-related jobs, Lyles said.

Improvements to the ground floor of the building include larger classrooms and prewiring for multimedia technology. Many of the existing walls were knocked down and extended by about 15 feet into an area that was previously used as an open walkway. "It's a better setting for students and more replicates the actual health care facilities,"

Lyles said. The renovations bring the facility, which has been used since the late 1960s, to current standards and allows the instructors to be more creative in their presentations. Lyles said. Smartscreens will permit

Lee P. Moore accepts a gift of appreciation from Seminole Community College President E. Ann McGee during a dedication ceremony last week of the Ann Wiggins Moore Memorial Nursing Center. Moore contributed funds for the renovation to the current nursing fa-instructors to make presenta- and mock IV's for hands-on tions through direct links with computers, videocassette recorders or laptop computers. In addition, classrooms are training. Students can practice different skills, such as dispensing medication, in various locations of the 8,032 squarefoot nursing center. equipped with hospital beds

The nursing center is the fourth facility at the college to be named after an individual. The others are: the Weldon Administration named for SCC's first presi-dent, Earl Weldon; the Jim Brantly Firing Range, named for the college's firearms instructor; and the Werner Von Siemens Technology Center, named for the founder of the international Siemens network.

Community policing grants renewed

By Nick Pielfauf HERALD STAFF WRITER

SEMINOLE COUNTY - U.S. Senator Bob Graham announced this past week that grants will be coming to Seminole County from COPS, (Community Oriented Policing Service). They are to help finance additional law enforcement officers.

The money is actually a continuation of a previous grant which has been coming to the local law enforcement agency and others in the state. The awards were granted by the Small Community Grant Program.

Of the 115 full time law enforcement positions for which over $8.5 million in federal funds has been granted, Seminole County is to receive eight positions. with a grant of $600,000. Orange County is receiving the lion's share of the awards with 81 new full time positions being funded at more than $6 million.

"Actually," said Barbara O'Hara, who handles grant writing for the Seminole County Sheriff's Office, "this is just an extension of the previous three-year grant. As for the eight officers, we are required to provide matching funds, and as a result we are planning for four additional officers rather than eight." The matching funds are requested in the fiscal year Please See Grants, Page 3A

Will you be able to say 'I voted' today?

Two words: "I Voted."

That's what Today Is in a nutshell. A day to dash to your assigned precinct and contribute to the county or state elections.

To me voting is our heritage," 100-year-old Ruth Hamilton says. "It is our ticket to live in a country that is so good to its people."

Hamilton a resident at Bram Towers in Sanford, remembers the age when women were not allowed to vote. The men who ran the country treated us very badly," she said. "They didn't want us to have a say in government."

After 1920, when women could vote there were big numbers who did so. We got all dressed up you know." Hamilton said. "We wore our Sunday best to the polls. It was a big occasion."

The local elections are just as important as the nationals to Hamilton, who was twice Hampshire State Legislature in the 1960s.

The presidential election of her lifetime, Hamilton says, was in 1948 when Harry Truman defeated Thomas Dewey.

That little guy with the mustache (Dewey) was celebrating before he should have been," Hamilton said.

The was so sure he was going to win but he didn't make it. I couldn't have been happier about a result than that one. We were good Democrats and we were wild about Harry Truman."

Today, the citizens of Seminole County can make a difference in the elections of commisstoners, judges and school board members.

Your lawn: The worms crawl in, the worms crawl out

Many homeowners are experiencing heavy infestations of lawn caterpillars. Different kinds of caterpillars have been identified to be present but, the tropical sod webworm and the fall armyworm, are the two more common caterpillars that are found on lawn grasses in Florida.

Sod webworm: Adults of the sod webworm are small, dingy brown moths with a wingspread of about 3/4 inch. larvac are small, greenish caterpillars with many black spots and range from 1/25 inch long when they first emerge from the egg to about 3/4 inch long when mature. The life cycle from egg to adult may take 6 to 12 weeks, depending on e temperature.

Fall armyworm: Adults of the fall armyworm are light brown moths with a wingspread of about 1-1/2 inches. The caterpillars are approximately 1-1/2 inches long when mature. When first hatched, fall armyworm larvae are more grayish-green than webworms and have a stripe along their sides. When approaching maturity, they are pale brown to black with large stripes along their sides. One of the more prominent features of this insect is a yellow inverted 'Y' marking on the front of the head. The length of the life cycle is about the same as that of the tropical sod webworm.

Damage: The newly hatched webworm larvae chew away tissue from the surface of the less, membranous area on the leaves. As larvae mature, the grass is progressively chewed off, and becomes ragged, and yellowish to brownish in color. Injury normally begins in a few spots with the injured areas being only 2 or 3 feet across. These spots enlarge, fuse, and may cover large areas of the lawn when heavy infestations are present.

Armyworm injury is similar to that of webworms; however, the damage is usually more scattered and not confined to patches as it occurs with sod webworm infestations. It is not unusual to have populations of armyworms, webworms, and other lawn caterpillars all feeding at the same time in the same location. Severely damaged grass under stress due to hot, dry weather may be killed. However, if infested grass is not allowed to suffer from lack of moisture, it can recover very quickly even after heavy defoliation.

Cultural practices: It has been determined that rapid growth, resulting from applications of water-soluble inorganic nitrogen fertilizers, sub-of lawn caterpillar attach. The lush succulent growth attracts egg-laying female moths. To reduce the incidence of damage from these pests, it is recommended the use of slowrelease nitrogen fertilizers.

Control with Pesticides: When it is definitely established that lawn caterpillars are the problem, a pesticide should be applied. Products containing either Bacillus thuringlensis (Dipel, Thurtcide). Diazinon, Dursban or Sevin are suggested for homeowner application. Bacillus thuringiensis is a bacteria that is used as a biological control agent to kill only caterpillars. Worms treated with Bacillus thuringiensis may require 2 to 5 days to die, but they are unable to feed after the first day.

Apply the insecticide properly. Read and understand all directions on the container label regarding dosage rates. application information, and precautions. When you use a spray it is important to apply the insecticide in a large amount of water. The jar attachment for a garden hose is the suggested lawn sprayer for homeowners. The type that requires 15 to 20 gallons of water passing through the hose to empty the quart-size far is recommended. Put the amount of insecticide in the jar as directed on the label for 1,000 square feet, fill the far with water, and spray the contents over 1,000 square feet. To insure even coverage, spray same area. Do not mow or irrigate for at least 24 hours after treatment. To further avoid environmental contamination and reduction of beneficial insects, spot treatments can be applied when infestations are first noticed and the damaged area is very small. Treat the off color area and about a 5 foot buffer area surrounding it. When damage is widespread or many infested areas are detected, the entire lawn should be treated.

West and Henley are banking on big support today from a group known as the Seminole County Citizens for Decency. This group gathered the signa-tures that led to a referendum in November that would ban nude dancing in the county if it is approved.

The issue, some say, is a distraction from other issues that affect far more people in the community - a case of the religious right trying to dictate its beliefs on everyone. Today's voting should offer an indication how the county feels as a whole. Have Morris and Adams been good leaders? Are West and Henley likely to be better?

The county judicial race between 8-year incumbent John Sloop and former Assistant State Attorney Jeannie Gold has a shade of controversy not because of any hostilities of the candidates but because of the efforts by the Seminole County Republican Executive Committee to endorse a candidate. A Circuit Court judge ruled against allowing an endorsement.

At 10:45 this morning, 3 percent of the registered voters had cast their ballots. Goard called the turnout "light".

Poll deputies Comine Jones and Molly Jackson, Precincts 19 and 20, wait outside the Seminole County Health Department on Airport Boulevard. Jones and Jackson can guide voters through the process for today's Florida Pri-

POLICE BRIEFS Traffic stop

William Joseph Paluso, 34. of 1015 Regal Point Terrace, Lake Mary, was stopped by Seminole County sheriff's deputies Friday morning near SR-436 and CR-427 in Altamonte Springs. He was charged with careless driving. and possession of crack cocaine.

Back in jail

Tim H. Kavanaugh, 33, of 104 Kaywood Drive, Sanford, was arrested by Sanford police early Thursday. Officets sald he had gone to the home of his separated wife's parents, refused to leave and broke telephones to prevent them from calling for help. He is also said to have been involved in a confrontation with a female resident of the home.

After police arrived, they charged Kavanaugh with burglary to a structure, assault & battery, battery, and false imprisonment.

On Monday, Kavanaugh had been arrested by sheriff's deputies in connection with the reported theft of over $300 in items from a residence on Lake Boulevard. At that time he was charged with grand theft of property.

Kavanaugh had just recently been released from the John E. Polk Correction Facility in connection with that case, but is now back in detention.

President Clinton's big mistake

Those that all of the hoopla surrounding our president is almost at an end. As I reflect on the term of Ronald Reagan and the Iran Contra mess. Citizen Forner endorses

I. like "Citizen Stelling", assure you that I have not consulted with the Republican party regarding the following political en-

I wish Mr. Stelling had gone on to endorse candidates for County Commission and the School Board, so we would know who to vote for in those races, as well.

Voters should ask themselves why the Seminole Herald would print a purportedly personal endorsement from the leader of a group which has been told it cannot issue endorsements itself, legally. If Stelling's opinion is truly that of a private citizen, then the Herald must publish personal political endorsements from everyone

Volunteers for progress?

One place to build the hotel/conference center would be the property at 300 N. French Avenue. I do not propose that The Herald donate its property to a developer, but that it--for the good of the community and downtown business--simply move out of the way of "progress". Or perhaps some other downtown business would be glad to give up something in the way of revenueproducing acreage so that the city could produce more jobs. Do we have any volunteers from those businesses so eager for

Not so easy to make the grand gesture when it is your ox that will be gored, is it? Every argument for giving away the peoples property contains the sub-argument that we do not need the land, and that therefore, we are being greedily obstructive because we do not want to give it away. The logical argument is never admitted that, if the hotel/conference center is such a money-maker, then the developers would be glad to build it on land that they buy and pay for up front. Instead, we are told that, only if we give away our park, can we ever have development in Sanford.

We are also told that leasing our park to destroy it as a park is not giving it away. That argument was used in Vietnam when I was there, when a general said. We had to destroy the village to save it." Well, rest assured that, if we lease it, it is gone forever as our park. If this scheme fails-and grandiose money-making schemes do tail-who is ever going to pay for its removal?

I have talked to people who, in knee-jerk fashion, have thoughtlessly bought the spiel of our developer/mayor and his Boosters Club and said, "I am for it." Larry Dale belongs to the breed that believes that, if it is not paved, it is not natural. And good-ole-boys Darryl McLain and Whitey Eckstein are not going to give away our park unless they get something out of it. Is there anyone in Sanford that does not believe that Mayor Dale will do some of the contracting, and that all three will get generous campaign contributions? It never hurts to have a large corporation grateful

Remember, it was McLain and Eckstein who wanted to push you and me off the lake so that they could do a little favor for their good-ole-boy buddy about three years ago. They were stopped only by your vocal disapproval and, because you disapproved, you and Lare still able to visit our lake in spite of McLain's and Eckstein's arrogant power play. Please remember these publicspirited individuals at election time.

And please remember that, once you allow the power elite to sweet-talk you out of our heritage, you cheat your children and encourage the next power-grab. If you say, "No!" loudly, they will try again, but you must keep saying, "No!"

Fiancé's abusive mother terrifies his bride-to-be

DEAR ABBY: I desperately need your advice about my soon-to-be mother-in-law. (I'll call her Kay.) She was a horrible mother to my fiance, "Frank." He and his brother grew up with severe physical and emotional abuse. I believe Kay must have a mental disorder that causes her to do these things. However, in recent years her behavior has improved. The verbal abuse isn't constant like it was when Frank and his brother were living with her, but its tone is as bad as ever. After Kay cools off, she acts as if nothing ever happened.

Four months ago, Frank got into a fight with his mother because we were five minutes late for a baby shower for "Bobby," our newborn son. The next day Kay called and proceeded to tell Frank how worthless he is, and that he'll be a loser all his life. Then she told him I was a thankless, fat slob

The last we heard from Kay was a message she left on our answering machine at 3:30 a.m., saying she had ripped up Bobby's pictures and never wanted to see any of us again Abby, I was horrified. Frank assured me that she would no longer be a part of our lives after having hurt us so badly. He said he was through tolerating his mother's

Since then, Kay has asked Frank's sister "Arlene" to ask us to let her baby-sit and then Arlene could take Bobby to Kay's house. Kay has also done many other sneaky things.

Abby, I have no room in my life for such a bitter, disagreeable woman who will only hurt our family if I let her back into our lives.

Our wedding is scheduled for November, and Frank thinks we should send his mother an invitation because it's the polite thing to do. I understand his attachment to his mother, but I'm terrified of her and what she may do I don't want her in our lives, and I'm afraid I'll eventually lose Frank because of my feelings about his mother.

Should I send Kay an invitation to our wedding just to be polite, and hope she doesn't show? Or should I refuse to send one and hope Frank understands? Please hurry your advice, Abby. The wedding is three months away and I'm getting

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

HURT BRIDE-TO-BE

DEAR HURT: Since Frank wants his mother to attend the wedding, she should be invited, and you should make an effort to mend fences. After all, this is Frank's wedding, too.

Now, I'm going to offer you a little more advice than you asked for. You'll save yourself untold grief if you tackle the issue of Kay's place in your lives now. You didn't mention whether Frank received counseling to deal with the abuse he received while growing up. If he didn't, he should.

You are marrying into a dysfunctional family, and I don't envy you the trials you'll be facing. Kay has shown herself to be not only abusive, but devious. Since she has abused her own sons, what's to prevent her from abusing yours? Even if Bobby were not the target of her abuse, for him to witness his grandmother treating you or his father that way would be traumatic. Be prepared.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "Alice," deriding her relative's accomplishment of graduating from college in her 40s, was so outrageous - and so touched a nerve personally — that I feel compelled to write my first-ever letter to express an opinion publicly. I interrupted college to raise three children. Thirty years later, I received an AA degree, with a 3 64 average and while working full time. It wasn't easy, and I was gratified by the expressions of support and congratulations from family and friends alike. I'm now 52, a grandmother, and have just returned to college for my bachelor's degree while working full time. I'm likely to be in my mid-50s before I

"Alice"s mean-spirited condemnation misses the point entirely. Whether the degree helps in the current job or whether one "needs" a new career is irrelevant. What's important is the personal fulfillment that education brings, and the enrichment of one's life and the lives of others, that is inherent in being better educated.

Abby, your response to Alice was right on the mark. She should be thoroughly ashamed of herself. Herrelative's accomplishment is indeed praiseworthy.

GRANNY IN COLLEGE AND PROUD OF IT

DEAR GRANNY: Yours was one in a barrage of mail I've received from readers offering heated comments about 'Alice'''s letter. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Alice," who thinks her relative should have pursued housekeeping rather than broadening her horizons and improving her mind by obtaining a college degree in her 40s.

Wake up, Alice! This is the 1990s, not the 1890s. The definition of a good wife no longer includes maid service. You should be congratulating your relative rather than trying to pull her down. I detect more than a touch of meanspirited jealousy in your letter. Shame on you! JANET IN ST. PETERSBURG, FLA.

DEAR JANET: Although many readers reacted angrily to Alice's comments, more wrote offering support and encourbecause, they, too, had entered college late in life. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: I still have one of your columns from years ago, in which you answered a 36-year-old college dropout who was considering entering medical school. The writer said it would take seven years to finish - at which time he/she would be 43 years old. You answered by asking, "And how old will you be in seven years if you don't do it?"

Well, Abby, I entered college as a freshman at age 38. At 41, I graduated magna cum laude with my bachelor's degree, and at 42 I finished my master's of education with honors. My college experience encouraged my out-of-work husband to enroll in college, too. Now we have both graduated and work in careers we love. We've just purchased our first nice home and are paying our bills on time for the first time in our 28-year marriage. Our parents and grown children are proud of us. When I saw them cheering at my graduation, I cried. Nothing could have been nicer.

You were right when you said the relative of the graduate should be ashamed to have diminished her happiness. I wish her well. Education makes all the difference. Thanks for suggesting it.
HAPPY ACGIE GRANDMA,
ENNIS, TEXAS

DEAR HAPPY: You're welcome. Your experience attests to the importance of completing one's education. My congratulations to both of you.

Why did Blake decide to stay with Bengals?

SANFORD _ It's natural for folks in Sanford to feel a little protective about hometown hero and Seminole graduate Jeff Blake.

So we have to wonder a little bit about his decision over the weekend to refuse a pay cut so that he could remain with the Cincinnati Bengals.

It's easy for me to play with someone clse's money, but by taking a pay cut from the $1.9 million he will make from the Bengals to $1 million. Blake guaranteed himself, for at least a little while longer, to be stuck in Cincinnati, a place where he is underappreciated.

It's time for a change of scenery for Blake and there are several NFL cities that would love to have him.

According to published reports, the way the whole thing worked out started when the Bengals benched Blake last season after the Bengals' typically atrocious start.

Boomer Estason came out of the grave to replace Blake and put up some incredible numbers, leading the Bengals to a strong Antsh.

After the season, Estason retired to join the gang at Monday Night Football and the Bengals could have insured their faith in Blake but, instead, signed another muchmaligned quarterback, Neil O'Donnell, who was recently east off by the Jets.

So it was up to Blake, the Bengals' one signature player, to fight for the starting job. The last thing any team needs is a quarterback controversy. It only causes a division in the locker room and an instability Cincinnati clearly doesn't need.

So Blake went out this pre-season and lost the battle for the job to O'Donnell. To make matters worse, the Bengals didn't even play Blake in their final pre-season game Friday night.

Reports say Blake and just about everyone else in the Bengals' family expected. Blake to be gone by Sunday, the day of the final Instead. Cincinnati offered the pay cut. And Blake refused.

Which leads us to now. Blake has an wfully large contract for a backup auarterback.

He also deserves to start, somewhere, not just based on being from Sanford, but because he's put up some great numbers over the past several years and still has berhaps the best arm in the game.

Instead, he's in a city where he has worn out his welcome.

Last year's controversy with the Cincinnati police isn't worth rehashing, but it's time for Blake to just get out of Cincy. He's even been enched by his former mentor, Bruce Coslet. the Bengals' head coach who has been with Blake since he was a free agent signed by the ets out of East Carolina.

Blake and the Bengals were a perfect

After efforts to work out a trade over the weekend failed, San'ord's Jeff Blake has been relegated to backup duties for the Cincinnati Bengals, at least for now.

Tribe boys win debut under Hibbard

By Jeff Berlinicke ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

SANFORD _ The Matt Hibbard era began at Seminole High School's Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium Monday night and, except for some minor problems, it turned out to be a great debut for the rookie boys volleyball coach.

Not everything was perfect for the Noles which played their first official game of the season. The team looked sloppy at times, but a 15-11, 15-13 win over Daytona Beach's Father Lopez was a nice way to begin the season for the older, yet inexperienced Fighting Seminoles.

Hibbard, a longtime fixture in Sanford recreational volleyball, made his debut last night after taking the reins from Bill Whalen who stepped down after two years at the helm.

Record field kicks off running season

By Dean Smith HERALD SPORTS EDITOR

LAKE MARY _ Greenwood Lakes Middle School looked like an ant farm on Saturday as 682 runners showed up for the 1998 Lake Mary Summertime Cross Country won.

So many runners registered for the event that race organizer Mike Oibson had to split the boys 13-18 age group into two divisions, 13-15 and 16-18, run an extra race and buy another team trophy.

In the boys 13-15 Team Race, the Dr. Phillips-Paws Track Club and the Flagler Doggs Track Club ended up tied with 85 points, but Dr. Phillips was awarded the trophy when Wube Tes came home first in the race.

Tes ran a 16:52.17 to finish ahead of Flagler's Matt Cianciuli, who ran a 17:04.69.

The Flagler Doggs Track Club claimed the victory in the boys 16-18 race, scoring 83 points to 104 for the runner-up Lyman Gold Track Club.

The Lake Mary Track Club's Nick Stuart was the race winner over the Lyman Gold Track Club's Nate The Lake Brantley Patriot Track

Club was the girls 13-18 team winner over the Ocala-Bellevue-Rat Power Track Club. Kelly Walker and Christin Chandler of the third place Flagler

Doggs Track Club placed first and second in the race over Lake Brantley's Stephanic Cornell. Other individual winners were Mitch Gammon, 8-Under boys; Carrie Barnes, 8-Under girls; Patrick Jackson, 9-10 boys; Bridget Hicky, 9-10 girls; David Virgets, 11-12 boys: Shannon Hickey, 11-12 girls; Jesse Thomas, 19-29 men; Marissa Maingot, 19-29 women: Kurt Oehl, 30-39 men; Bob match for awhile. Not any more. Coslet chose O'Donnell over his former protégé. So now, Blake is almost untradeable because of his contract. He'd be a perfect fit in Chicago where he could start almost immediately and, word has it, the Bears are interested.

So is Miami where Dan Marino is on his Tampa Bay would also be a good fit with Trent Dilfer struggling. Same with Atlanta which is also reported to be interested.

But nobody's going to pay $1.9 million for a backup quarterback. The Bengals will do all they can to make a deal to prevent a major quarterback controversy, but, for now, Blake is just a backup carrying a clipboard.

He deserves better, and so do the Bengals. Last Second Shot: Did you know Sanford has been a home to at least four current and probable Juture members of professional sports' halls of fame?

Neither did I until this weekend.

Everybody knows about famous broadcaster Red Barber and Yankee outfielder Tim Raines who should be a lock after he rettres.

Then there's tennts player Jim Courier who has several majors to his credit. We all knew those three.

What I didn't know is that NFL legend Steve Largent, one of the most sure-handed receivers in football history and a star in the 80s for the Scattle Scahawks, spent some time growing up in Sanford before moving to Oklahoma. He came from a military family that spent several years stationed in Sanford.

Just passing that along at no extra

Hibbard has coached most of the Seminoles since they were kids, and was called by one of his players. John Bryant, as "our best friend."

He is also a change of pace from the intense Whalen. Sometimes, maybe a little too relaxed. We're real comfortable with him," senior B.J. Pratt said. "He makes us feel that way." Monday night, Seminole seemed to be having too much fun at times. The team is senior-leaden: all six starters are seniors. But, at times, the team played without intensity and almost let a big lead slip away in the first game and struggled to wipe out a large deficit in the second. Seminole jumped out to an 8-2 lead in the first game, led by seniors Rick Mendez, Chad Whittman and Pratt at the net. Father Lopez then fought back and cut the deficit to 13-11 before Bennie Moayer stopped the Seminole bleeding with a spike and the 'Noles were able to close it out. In the second game, Seminole fell down by scores of 4-0 and 13-8 before scoring the match's last seven points. Pratt carried the team, dominating the net.

It wasn't always pretty, but it was a start to what Hibbard hopes will be a long relation-

"I felt a little tense tonight," Hibbard said. "Hey, it was my first game. But I liked the way we came back. It's been fun." It may not be as much fun Wednesday as Seminole travels to Oviedo to take on big hitter

Turner Elliott and the defending VolleyFest champion Lions.

GREYHOUNDS GROWL LONGWOOD _ In a thriller on Monday night, Lyman's boys varsity volleyball team narrowly edged Oviedo in the season opener at the Carlton Henley Sports Complex.

The Greyhounds won the first game 15-10, but lost the second 15-17. The hosts led by six points early in the final game, but

Oviedo, the defending Volley-

Fest champion, stormed back into the game. In the end, however, Lyman triumphed 16-Lyman coach Gina Bonaventure called the game "a total team effort." Bonaventure was proud of her team's performance in its first match. "Everyone kept their focus," said Bonaventure, "and continued to stay constant and strong as the game progressed. Oviedo coach Tim Dezego believes his team is at a building stage, and said, There were a lot of places where we saw we could use work. Bonaventure credited great efforts out of Kevin Graves, Kenny Wilson, Stuart Crager, Jose Roman, Mario Rivera, Saull Vizueta, and every other player in bringing Lyman home its first victory of the season. Earlier, Lyman's junior varsity defeated Oviedo JV team. Oviedo will try to bounce back Wednesday at home against Seminole, and Lyman will play at Lake Mary on the same day.

PATRIOTS POUNCE

WINTER SPRINGS Lake rantley defeated Winter Brantley Springs 15-1 and 15-10 in the opening boys varsity volleyball match of the season for both teams at Winter Springs High School Monday night.

The match gave Lake Brantley coach Jerri Kelly a chance to assess her team as every player got time on the court.

I'm very pleased at how the blocking and hitting are developing," said Kelly. Lake Brantley's next game will be at home on Wednesday against Lake Howell with the junior varsity playing at 6 p.m.

and the varsity at 7 p.m.

RAMS ROMP CASSELBERRY _ The Lake Mary boys' volleyball team opened its season with a 15-5, 15-10 romp over a tough Lake Howell squad on Monday night. Lake Mary will host Lyman on Wednesday, while Lake Howell will travel to Lake Bran tley, also on Wednesday. Var-
