

GERMANS MAKE GAINS BUT THEY ARE STOPPED BEFORE TAKING RHEIMS

FRENCH HOLD POSITION TO PREVENT FARTHER ADVANCE

Paris, France, May 30.—The battle along the fighting front continued all night with the French holding the western rail outlets of Soissons, the war office announced today.

Northwest of Rheims, the Franco-British forces broke all the German assaults and maintained the defensive positions.

French reserves are being sent to the front and the German advance is being resisted with great tenacity.

The Germans made repeated attempts to break through the defense in the Soissons region, but were each time held up by the determined French resistance.

In the center of the German advance, fighting is taking place in the neighborhood of Vezilly (approximately 18 miles south of the Chemin-des-Dames, where the German attack was launched on Monday).

Sweeping forward in dense masses, the Germans have advanced 15 miles in the center of the line between Soissons and Rheims. On the allied left Soissons has fallen, while Rheims on the right is in grave danger, the Franco-British troops having retired to within less than two miles of the famous city.

Desperate as has been the resistance of the French and British, especially the former, and the losses by the enemy, the German advance has not been halted greatly. Unofficial reports of the allied reserves being hurried up are not confirmed officially and there is no sign of their presence in the line.

Despite their forced retirement the allies have held together remarkably well, while contesting every foot of the way. Soissons fell to the Germans after a fierce fight in the streets of the city for several hours and the French were last reported holding tenaciously to the western suburbs. The enemy advance to Soissons has not yet affected greatly the allied line east from Montdidier which the Germans apparently hope to bend back by their success on the Aisne.

The curve on the battle line northwest of Rheims has been wiped out and from Soissons eastward the line runs southeast and then east into the Champagne. Into the center of the 45-mile front, where the German progress has been greatest, the enemy forces are near Loupeigne, four miles north of the river Oureq and 12 miles north of the Marne. The fighting is most entirely on territory untouched by the war since 1914. Berlin, in its latest report claims the number of prisoners has increased to 25,000.

Apparently the Germans used a large part of their reserves in the offensive across the Aisne, as they have not taken advantage of the movement here to strike elsewhere on the northern front, as might have been expected. The crown prince apparently intends to stake all on the present front.

The Americans who captured Cantigny have repulsed several German attacks. North of Mt. Kemmel, on the Lys battlefield, the Germans in raiding attacks were repulsed completely. Three counter attacks were made by the Germans against the American positions at Cantigny. Gen. Pershing's men, however, maintained their line unbroken and threw back the enemy with strong artillery and infantry fire inflicting severe casualties on the attackers. Berlin, which delights in officially announcing the capture of American prisoners, does not give the Americans credit for the success at Cantigny, but says the "enemy" carried out a local advance.

Hospitals far behind the Picardy line have been "skilled" by the Germans. Americans were in great danger, but few were injured. A French nurse and a few civilians were killed.

Fighting in gas masks, the American troops east of Lunville have checked a German attack under cover of gas waves. The Germans retreated under heavy artillery fire, suffering heavily. At one point 14 Germans penetrated the American lines. Nine were killed, one died of wounds and four are prisoners. The Germans apparently are preparing for another attack against the American sector northwest of Toul. The enemy artillery fire has increased considerably and German airplanes are very active. On the other hand the Americans are more than answering the enemy fire, and American aviators are keeping the German machines on their own side of the line.

RED ACTED WISELY

Young Man Probably Saved Girl's Life by His Action

Many people without thinking have severely criticized young Redd for running away from the girl the night of the assault and supposedly leaving her to her fate. The fact of the matter according to his own story and it has been corroborated by the girl is that Redd fought the negro all he could. He was sitting in the car when it stopped and the negro coming to the side of the car struck at him with an open knife and the boy jumped from the car and engaged in a tussle with the negro to save his life and allow the girl time to escape. He had nothing to defend himself with and he ran around the loading station thinking that in so doing the girl would have time to escape up the road. As he came back around the house he called to the girl and hearing nothing from her thought she had escaped and he knew that he could do nothing with the negro and knew that the train crew was at the ice plant and he ran there for help. The train crew immediately backed the switch engine down the track and found the girl and saved her life and saved her from the assault. Those who later saw the negro and came to grips with him know that this had could not possibly have beaten him or with his bare hands and they are giving the boy the credit for doing as he thought best and as the parents of the girl think was exactly right that he undoubtedly saved his life and that of the girl for had the negro killed the boy the girl would have suffered a worse fate and have been killed.

Remembered the Editor

The editor wishes to thank W. N. Culp and Ed. Putnam west side farmers for a contribution of sweet corn and tomatoes. Mr. Putnam has a fine lot of Yellow Bantam corn and it is just about right. Mr. Culp brought in some tomatoes that were the best, ever and to these gentlemen we wish to say that the corn and tomatoes were greatly enjoyed.

Woman's Club notes

The Music Department called off the meeting and program which had been arranged for May 21st on account of the four conflicting with the time set for the Red Cross parade and rally. A call meeting was held in the club house Tuesday, the 28th in order to transact the business of the regular meeting. During this meeting Miss Ellen Mahoney was elected secretary-treasurer of this department. Members reported that much interest has been manifested in the community sing idea and many of the song books have already been sold. After a pleasant discussion of ways and means of improving this department the meeting adjourned.

Drop It In The Box

In one of the front doors of The Herald office is a drop box for all news and business items. If you arrive at the office after it is closed drop your items in this box on the door. Sometimes you have an item that cannot get into the office in time with it and the box was made for your convenience.

Miss Nettie Maines, one of the Seminole county school teachers left Tuesday for a short stay with her father and mother near Lake Butler, after which she will go to Tallahassee to attend the school there for the summer.

AMERICANS SHOW THE REAL STUFF

WHEN ORDERED TO TAKE PLACE THEY DID IT

When the Americans were ordered to take Cantigny they took it just as Americans can be depended upon to take whatever they go after and the following official account makes all of us feel proud of our boys across the seas:

As the Americans started out across No Man's Land there were many jokes about "eating Boche for breakfast." The Americans fought as though they were veterans and there was no hesitation when the officer sprang forward and said "come on, boys." Several officers describing the scene said the thing that struck them most forcibly was the fine morale. The Germans poured machine-gun bullets all around the Americans as they were digging in but no attention was paid to them, as jokes and quips were handed back and forth.

Many of the American soldiers who took part in the attack around Montdidier also participated in repulsing the German attack Monday. An American was found today in a shell hole in No Man's Land with two wounded Germans as prisoners. He was unable to get back to the American lines last night, so he stood guard over them until the attack today ceased him, and he brought in the prisoners.

Lieut. Wood of Oakland, Cal., said he did not see one American falling during the day's attack.

"It was more exciting than a football game," he said. "We have the Germans on the run and all we need is more Americans."

The demeanor of the men wounded was similarly cheerful when the correspondent visited the field hospitals this afternoon. He stretched out on their cots a number of these Americans, for the most part only slightly wounded, who acted like school boys returned from a great day of sport, smoking cigarettes, eagerly relating their personal experiences and laughing loudly at the humorous incidents.

Lieut. George F. Butler, formerly an attorney in Indianapolis, who was slightly injured in the leg, said that going over the top was like a maneuver in the training trenches back home. The men were eager for it, he said and some of them remained in the trenches all night talking about the "approaching adventure with cheerful anticipation."

"When we reached Cantigny," he said, "it was only a pile of bricks and stones. Our artillery had leveled the town. The German machine gun bullets were buzzing around like humble bees but our fellows did not pay any more attention to them than if they had been confetti."

"It was the finest example of team work I ever saw. There was not a hitch or a whiff. The men cracked jokes and sang, but they were 'us-like in their work."

Albert E. Billings of Brooklyn, N. Y., who was also slightly injured was placed on a cot adjoining that of Lieut. Butler. As soon as their eyes met they clasped hands like brothers long lost.

"It was a great show, wasn't it?" asked Butler.

"Gee, I wish the folks at home could have seen it; I wouldn't have missed it for the world," replied Billings.

The Germans penetrated the German positions to a depth of nearly a mile. Their artillery completely smothered the Germans. The roar of the American guns could be heard for many miles in the rear. Several fires are burning behind the German lines.

Twelve French tanks supported the American infantry. The German prisoners include men from a Bavarian and a Silesian regiment, some of them as young as 17 or 18, and others between 45 and 60. All are poorly clothed and appear to be underfed.

The Germans trooped out of their dugouts when they saw the futility of resistance, their hands held up shouting "kamerad."

Apparently they were glad to sur-

YOUNGSTER SLACKERS PUNISHED

ALL WHO HAVE REACHED 21 MUST REGISTER

The Secretary of War authorizes the following:

With the signing of President Wilson of the bill and proclamation designating Wednesday, June 5, as the day on which all men who have reached the age of 21 since last June 5 shall register for military service, Provost Marshal General Crowder's Office immediately began preparations for the enrollment of the men. Instead of using the election machinery as was done last year, General Crowder will call upon the local boards. It is believed that their experience during the past year has peculiarly fitted them to handle the new registration economically and efficiently.

Gen. Crowder has estimated that probably three quarters of a million men will be added to the American army by the new registration. His estimate is based on the fact that almost 10,000,000 men registered last year. This number included all between the ages of 21 and 31, and statistics collected by Gen. Crowder's Office show that a little more than 10 per cent of these men were 21 years old. On that basis it is estimated by draft officials that the total registration will exceed 1,900,000, of which 750,000 will be available for military service. This makes proper allowances for physical defects, exemptions because of dependents and other bars to military service.

The law provides that every young man in the United States who has reached the age of 21 years since June 5, 1917, or will reach that age on or before June 5, 1918, must register. The only exceptions are in the cases of men who are actually in active military or naval service. All male persons, citizens or aliens born between June, 1896 and June 5, 1917, inclusive, except officers and enlisted men of the Regular Army, Navy, and Marine Corps, and the National Guard and Naval Militia while in Federal service, and officers in the Fleet's Reserve Corps and enlisted men in the Enlisted Reserve Corps while in active service must register. Some misunderstanding has been caused by the publication of reports that medical and vivifying students need not register, and General Crowder has issued the following statement:

"Divinity students and students of medicine must register. Under the terms of the law signed by President Wilson on Monday students who were preparing for the ministry in recognized theological or divinity schools and students who were preparing for the practice of medicine and surgery in recognized medical schools on May 20, 1918, are exempt from the draft. However, the law does not relieve such students from the duty of registering on Wednesday, June 5. Registration comes first, exemption afterwards. It is absolutely necessary that these students register."

The registration will be held in the office of the local board having jurisdiction of the area wherein the person to be registered permanently resides, or in such other place as by public notice is designated by the board between 7 a. m. and 9 p. m. on Wednesday, June 5, 1918.

It is necessary to go to the registration place in person. Any man who expects to be absent from home on Wednesday, June 5, 1918, should go at once to the office of the local board where he expects to be and have his registration card filled out and certified. He must then mail this card to the office of the local board having jurisdiction of the place wherein he permanently resides and in view of the fact that this card must be received by the home local board on or before June 5 it is essential that any one who expects to be away from home on that date arrange for his registration immediately.

Any one who is sick on June 5 and unable to present himself in person at the office of the local board may send some competent friend, who may be deputized by the clerk to prepare his card.

Any person in doubt as to where he should register should consult the local board in the place where he permanently resides, or he may obtain the desired information from the office of the mayor if he lives in a city of 30,000 population or over, or in the office of the county clerk or parish clerk if he does not live in a city of 3,000.

DAY OF PRAYER AND FASTING OBSERVED RELIGIOUSLY IN SANFORD

THREE MEETINGS WERE WELL ATTENDED HERE

The observance of the special day for fasting and prayer, as directed by congress and the President was loyally carried out in Sanford. Stores and places of business were closed all day.

The "sunrise" union meeting at 6 o'clock at the Methodist church was attended by 125 persons, a large proportion being men, and the spirit manifested was one of deep devotion.

The eleven o'clock services were well attended as was also the one at Holy Cross at 7:30.

At six p. m. nearly a hundred women gathered at the Congregational church, and the men at the Baptist.

At all the meetings many persons took part in earnest prayer and patriotic remarks.

It was a good day in Sanford.

OUR BOYS ARE HOME

Sanford Soldiers Take Farewell Before Going Overseas

The Sanford boys who have been at Camp Wheeler at Macon for almost a year are taking the last farewell before going overseas. That at least is the general opinion of those who know as our boys have been trained until they are ready for any kind of attack that the Hun can make. Among them are Arthur Dickins, Joe Chittenden, Oscar Speer, Ernest Gregory, Osban Williams, Joe Niblack, Henry Byrd and a number of others, all of them from this county.

The following numbers will be furnished by the different regiments for overseas service: 121st infantry, 867 men; 122d infantry, 196 men, 123d infantry, 1,054 men; 124th infantry, 723 men; making a total of 3,500 infantry men; 116th field artillery, 245 men; 117th field artillery, 255 men; 118th field artillery, 300 men. This makes a total of 800 artillerymen. The 118th field artillery is largely composed of Savannah boys.

Ten corporals will also be selected from each company for overseas duty. Every man will stand a rigid physical examination before he is assigned to the detachment to be sent away. While officers decline to make public the date the men will be sent to port of embarkation, it is expected they will move about the first of June.

Baptism Sunday

The ordinance of baptism will be observed on Sunday afternoon at Mussen's pool at 4 o'clock. Those who have joined the church during the recent series of meetings at the Baptist Temple will be baptized on that day.

In the Tank Corps

Among the husky and intelligent youngsters who appeared Tuesday at headquarters for recruiting in Florida, Bay and Laura streets, for enlistment in the tank corps were Reginald Holly, son of Robert Holly, editor of the Sanford Herald, and Carey Wight, also a Sanford boy. William Coulbourn, a chum of these youngsters preceded them in the tank service several days ago, and others of the same type are enlisting or applying for induction daily. Quite a number of these are college graduates, who have had first class military training.

Because the service is spectacular and guarantees an early trip overseas, the tank corps is the most popular branch of the army nowadays and is claiming an unusual number of men of volunteer age and draft subjects as well. Those wanted principally for this branch are machine gun mechanics, lathe hands, bench machinists, machine designers, oxy-acetylene welders, auto engine machinists, blacksmiths, auto electricians, chauffeurs, tractor drivers, heavy truck drivers, motorcyclists, topographers, wireless buzzer operators, telegraph operators and cooks.

Fellow Craft Degree

At the next regular communication of Sanford Lodge No. 62 F. & A. M., which will be held on Tuesday evening, June 4th, at 7:30 the Fellow Craft Degree will be conferred and every Mason is cordially invited to attend.

A special communication was held on the afternoon of May 21st when the Entered Apprentice and Fellow-Craft Degree was conferred by the Senior Warden W. C. DeCoursey, who was ably assisted by the officers and brethren of the lodge.

In the evening the Master Masons' Degree was conferred in a most approved manner. The District Deputy Grand Master, Right Worshipful F. L. Miller, appropriately presented the working tools of a Master Mason, and Past Master C. J. Rumph in a pleasing and able manner gave the lecture.

Sanford Lodge has adopted the splendid custom of presenting to its new members as mementoes of this sublime occasion suitably inscribed miniature working tools of a Master Mason. In presenting these miniature working tools Past Master L. R. Phillips described vividly the entrance of the novice into Masonry through the Entered Apprentice, Fellowcraft and Master Mason Degrees, enjoining the new members to study well the lessons that had recently been taught.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies the Rev. R. W. Thiot addressed the members. Bro. Thiot is a clever speaker and his remarks were received with keen interest.

Sunday at Congregational Church

The hours of service will be as usual this Sunday to permit of sufficient notice being given when a change is made. "New Experiences" will be the subject of the morning sermon—personal experiences of which it can be said "We have not passed this way before." "The River of Life" will be the theme of the evening service—"Every thing shall live whither the river cometh."

Next Sunday, June 9, Children's Day will be observed. A special program has been prepared.

The Big Gun Again

Paris, France, May 30.—The long range bombardment of Paris began again this morning.

Examination of the shells discharged by the Germans in the long range bombardment of Paris, which began again Monday, indicates that the new guns are being used. Larger shells are being used than formerly, the caliber of the guns being 4 centimetres (9½ inches) instead of 21. The explosions are louder but the force of the explosion does not seem to have increased. A shell exploded yesterday only a dozen yards from a man seated on a bench and did not injure him.

Mr. and Mrs. Hynes are now comfortably quartered at Daytona Beach where they will spend the summer with the baby.

A Few Things Prospective Auto Buyers Should Consider

This is one of the 36 different models you have to choose from in the Willys-Overland line.

The Willys-Overland Company are the largest manufacturers of autos in the world. $65,000,000.00 more cars than any other concern last year. They have the only factory branch in the state, at Jacksonville.

A complete line of parts are always available for the oldest models.

Every Overland and Willys Knight car has guaranteed free service for ninety days, and defective parts furnished free for a year.

Here in Sanford we have mechanics at your service that are good as any in the U. S.

Don't you think it is best to buy your car from a concern that is equipped to give service, rather than to buy some new creation with no standard and reliable firm back of them.

A few years ago some of your friends made the mistake of buying a car which was not one of the standard makes, and now they are trying to find some place to buy repairs for it. Think these things over seriously, call in and talk the matter over with us.

GAINESVILLE GETS PLANT

Government will Operate Castor Oil Plant There

Gainesville did not get a condemnation not being a seaport city it could not get a government ship-building plant, but the location of a castor bean plant, to cost $2,000,000, with the large payroll, the building of track equipment will mean as much to this section as the ship-building plant to Tampa.

Florida soil is peculiarly adapted to the growth of the castor bean, and the fact that this will be the only plant of the kind in the south will greatly stimulate the growth of the bean in this state.

For the purpose of the government has secured the plant of the Florida Industrial Incorporation, located just north of the city, and the story is told in the following dispatch from Washington:

Washington, D. C., May 27.—Major Bowyer, government contracting officer, has secured a contract for the construction of a castor oil plant at Gainesville, Fla., for government use in converting castor beans into lubricating oil for military airplanes. The mill will handle all castor bean crops east of the Mississippi river.

The United States will spend $2,000,000 remodeling the plant and making it the most modern in the country. Using an estimate of the number of acres of castor beans planted in the south, 66,000, approximately $7,000,000 worth of beans will be handled this year, including the crops of Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina and Florida and other states east of the Mississippi.

Contrary to the impression prevailing among cotton oil men, cotton oil plants cannot handle castor beans. While a first grade oil can be obtained through these plants, the castor bean residue, which makes a fine grade of ammonia for fertilizer, is lost.

D. C. Gillett of Tampa will be placed in charge of the plant, on which work will be commenced in a short time. The establishment of such a plant in Florida will be important aside from the point of a war industry as it will mean another permanent industry for Florida and will provide farmers and growers with a fine grade of fertilizer. In addition to the oil, castor oil cake, one of the best ammonia sources will be made, providing thousands of tons of fertilizer.

The plant will be the only one of its kind in the south. Heretofore the castor bean industry has been confined to Kansas and Oklahoma and has been gradually dying out, the one large plant in the country being owned by the Baker Castor Oil Company of New Jersey.

No Office Cat.

A tradition of the office cat around a newspaper survives from earlier times, but it is only a tradition, for there is no such animal, notes an exchange. Probably he, or she, was once endured because of his supposed efficiency as a hunter of rats and mice, but no modern office is infested with rodents, and therefore it is not necessary that it should tolerate a cat.

PRIVATION, REAL AND FANCIED

Every little tightening of the rules in this country stirs up grumbles in every community. Most of our people are not used to any kind of a restriction in the way of consumption with the food supply.

THE BOYS ARE GOING

The boys are joining the colors and you cannot stop them and God bless them we would not stop them if we could. It takes our heart's blood to have them go, especially the youngsters who should be in school and college and we hope against hope that they will remain with us awhile longer and yet when the supreme test comes and the boy makes up his mind to join the service that he likes we cannot and do not want to stop them.

recognizes their sacred duty to home and to country. We would not have them feel otherwise for worlds and they go with our blessings and our prayers, and we who stay at home must do our part which though it may not be as spectacular is none the less important and exacting.

They are going, and going they have, our sacred promise to back them up and to keep the home fires burning and while they are gone and going they are exalted upon our home altars while the slackers who are able and refuse to go are staying home to receive the slurs and condemnation that they deserve.

MOTHERS, DON'T WORRY ABOUT YOUR BOYS

The mothers of America, who have given their boys to the service of the nation and humanity should not give way to the feeling that they are lost to them forever. Such is by no means the case. We are not disposed to minimize the danger, but neither are we disposed to magnify it. Statisticians who have figured on it in the light of history and experience tell us that the soldier has 29 chances of coming home to one chance of being killed in battle. Indeed, modern warfare, with all its terrible instrumentalities of death and destruction is said to be less destructive of human life than it was in the olden days when the warriors rushed upon each other and engaged in fierce hand-to-hand conflicts in which they cut and hacked and slew with their crude weapons.

SHOT RIGHT NEGRO

Former Orlando Marshal Saved A Lynching
An unidentified negro, supposed to be the same who assaulted the girl at Sanford, attempted an assault on a negro woman south of Orlando. Former City Marshal Charles Carter, who lived in the neighborhood was called up for assistance, and in attempting to capture the negro shot him. The body was brought to the county jail, and the sheriff from Seminole county called the girl who had been assaulted in Sanford to identify him.

Probably one of the reasons for the quick work in apprehending the culprit was the cooperation of the negroes of this vicinity, who gave the police and sheriff valuable assistance in identifying him. If the colored people would always be as prompt in assisting the authorities the rough element among them would be less likely to take chances of breaking the law.

SUSPECT PROVEN INNOCENT

NEGRO HAD NARROW ESCAPE FROM LYNCH LAW
The negro, Evans, pulled from a train here last Sunday and suspected of having some connection with the crime committed here last Friday night and afterward carried to Kissimmee for safe keeping has proved an alibi.

ROY GOT HIS COOKIES

Naval Paymaster Helps Out Grandmother in Distress.
She Stole Away From Home to Take Boy Goodies and Was Barred by the Guard.

Great Lakes, Ill.—One morning an old-fashioned grandmother from Chicago carefully climbed off a train at Great Lakes. She might have stepped from the daguerrotype pictorial page of an old magazine. A blithe bonnet crowned her silver hair and was tied with black ribbons under her chin. She gripped a large paper bag. The guard stopped her.

ROY GOT HIS COOKIES

She took a letter from a handbag. It was from Roy and it read in part: "Grandmother: I leave for sea on Friday and all that I lack to make me happy is some of your raisin cookies. The food here is good, but I had to leave without again tasting the cookies that I loved so much."

ROY GOT HIS COOKIES

He helped her into his car and whisked her to Camp Ross. He found Roy for her and saw her weep for joy on Roy's blue jacketed shoulder. He ate one of the cookies. Grandmother and grandson visited and said goodbye. Mr. Doyle took her back to the depot, helped her on a Chicago train, and returned to his neglected work. He was tickled as a kid.

Letters From Soldier Boys

Letter From France

Geneva, Fla., May 28, 1918.

Mr. R. J. Holly, Sanford, Fla.: Dear Sir—Enclosed you will find a copy of a letter from Paul B. Dooley, son of M. E. Dooley of Geneva.

Paul has been in France six months now 10th. We thought perhaps his letter would be of interest to your readers. Groover, he speaks of G. C. LeFils of Geneva who enlisted at the same time he did. Donald is the son of W. A. Whitcomb, "a cousin of Paul's," who is with 2nd Regiment Engineers in France.

M. E. Dooley. Somewhere in France, April 30, 1918.

Dear Folks: One more week gone. They slip by us before we know it, for we hardly know when Sunday comes.

I got a letter from Donald last week and will answer it tonight. Also one from Groover. He has been sick. I don't know whether you know about it or no. He is about all right now. He had throat trouble again. You now he was pretty bad in Madison Barracks. I sure wish he was down here with me. We get much better treatment here than we did in the company.

I have some pictures of a small cathedral which is over in a small town near here and sure wish I could send them to Dad, at of course I can't.

It was started in the fifth century, at the time of the German invasion, taken up again in the sixth and completed in the 13th. It has vaults all under one. It certainly is interesting. If you want a good idea of French towns go to St. Augustine. I don't mean the modern part but the old part. The material for the house is the same, the winding narrow streets and all. Also our Lake Harney beach and is rich bird in comparison to this French soil.

You can see these "Frogs" going down the road in high two wheeled carts with a small hog cage slung underneath. They would not go 200 yards before some kid would open it and let the hogs out if they were in the good old U. S. A. sometimes I am tempted to do it myself, just for old times' sake.

Well wonders will never cease. My watch came today and it certainly is a beauty. You tell Grandpa how much I like it, for I don't think I ever had a watch in my life and you tell him that I had two letters from you last and one from Agnes. Also one from Aunt Agnes and one from Aunt Kittie. I sure do like to get letters but it's a awful job to answer them when there is so little we can tell.

Agnes Agnes surely does write a good letter, don't she? You keep on writing about 3 or 4 days after you read it.

It is so long now and I am in the Y. M. C. A. writing without a light. These French ought to accomplish a lot in the long days they have.

Well I am about talked out and must write to Groover and Donald yet.

Write often. Much love, Paul B. Dooley.

A. P. O. 13, 2nd Detachment, A. E. F., via New York.

From A Colored Soldier

Sanford has sent some good colored soldiers to the front and Sanford is proud of them and expects great things from them while they are fighting for Uncle Sam. The following letter from Charles Brewer, son of Rev. C. Brewer, pastor of St. Paul's Baptist Church of Georgetown shows what he thinks of the service by the government for more than sixteen and a half billion dollars to the United States government. Up to the close of business Monday night, May 13, 2,029,856 insurance applications, aggregating $16,663,514,000 had been received by the Military and Naval Division of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance. The average amount of insurance applied for is $8,209, the maximum permitted by law being $10,000.

Approximately 11,000 applications for government insurance are being received daily. In the last two weeks $1,000,000,000 of insurance was written on the lives of soldiers and sailors. This indicates that the new men joining the colors are taking out government insurance.

Men are being urged to insure immediately upon enlistment, inasmuch as application must be made within 120 days after joining the service.

Some Are "Over There" Some Are Over Here

Letter From France

Camp Meade, Md., May 25, '18.

Dear Father: Your missive was received; glad indeed to have heard from you and to know that all were well.

Since I wrote last, I have been transferred from the Department Brigade to the 363rd Infantry, Co. C.

The whole 363rd Infantry leave very soon for France, and I am looked to go with them. We are getting all of our equipment for "over-sea" service.

Of course I haven't had all the training, but will complete it in France providing I pass the last examination which we get at Hoboken, N. J. So far I haven't been turned down in any as yet.

This 363rd Infantry consists of all colored officers and privates with the exception of the Major and Colonel and is the strongest in the camp.

Richard Woodard is also in Company H.

Don't forget to pray for us—also the members of the church. We are going over because this war is for God and humanity; and if we should lie on the battlefield, pray God that it shall come to us.

"As one who wraps the drapery of his calm about him

And lies down to pleasant dreams." God only knows who will live to go and come back but if it is His will that I shall die on the battles front I am willing to die as a brave soldier.

I wish I was possible for me to see you all before leaving. Give my best regards to all.

Don't forget that I have a 10,000 policy with the government made out to mother.

Well, I must close and I must go over and get my death togs.

Don't forget to write me at once, so I can write again for the last time while in Camp Meade.

"Though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death I will fear no evil, for God is with me."

Your son,

Private Charles Brewer, 358th Infantry, Co. C, Camp Meade, Md.

BINGLES OF SPORT

Some states permit wrestling because they don't know what to do with the promoters.

They claim the world is progressing, but we've seen a lot of guys wearing ear-muffs this winter.

A number of college teams are going to be informally defeated this spring.

The Cubs have their work cut out. They will have to beat the Cards, Glants and Reds to the pennant and the Sox to the dough.

The Yankees and Braves are going to take a spring jaunt together. Misery loves company.

How can Philadelphia fans boycott the Athletics? There is no such animal.

If the Cubs win the pennant this year it will be against the law to print an interview with Larry Doyle.

The minor leagues asked for a moratorium. By July they will need a morgue.

Looks like a hard summer ahead for the pennant vendors. Charley Ebbets will be glad when the war is over. He will have a chance to invent a few more holidays.

MISS BJURSTEDT TO CONTEST FOR TITLE

Reports emanating from California a few days ago to the effect that Miss Molla Bjurstedt, national woman lawn tennis champion in half a dozen languages, would leave within the next few weeks for her home in Norway, and hence would not compete in the woman's indoor championship tourney, are unfounded. Marvelous Molla has denied them herself, and she anticipates being a contender again for the crown that she won two years in succession.

The great Norwegian has been playing sensational tennis at the Heights casino, in Brooklyn, and threatens to sweep the courts once more in 1918.

2 KILLED IN HARVARD UNIT

Kenneth Gaston Tells of Terror and Ruin Brought on by the Raiders—Exciting Experiences Among Red Cross Workers.

New York.—During the recent fighting on the western front the Red Cross has been experiencing considerable difficulty in carrying on its work immediately behind the lines because of the attacks by German airmen on the hospitals, according to a letter from Kenneth Gaston, son of Mrs. L. P. Gaston of Somerville, N. J., who is a member of the Harvard unit. In the immediate neighborhood where they are working, he said, it was necessary to close five hospitals within a week and they were finally driven to establish themselves in the woods. A letter from Mr. Gaston to his mother follows:

"As you see, we have moved. We had to. The night after I last wrote you our hospital was raided freely. For three hours airmen were over us all the time, shooting or dropping bombs. Two surgeons were killed and five more were wounded, two of the big tents riddled, some small tents blown up, big holes put in the tents—altogether it was a complete job.

"It ended all usefulness of the village, for next day orders came to evacuate the entire village, hospitals, depots, barracks, and all. We and the brancardiers had to stay on two nights more while the hospital was taken down and carted away. We didn't relish these nights much.

"The first night after supper everybody trailed out into the fields carrying their blankets. Some slept under haystacks, some in trenches, a few went to a fort nearby and slept in the ammunition room 80 feet underground. By the time the big harvest moon rose there wasn't a sign of life.

Campaign Against Hospitals.

"The second night four of us stayed in the tent. I let my bed down on the ground and we built a barricade of timbers to keep off small attacks, then went to bed early and got to sleep before the visitors arrived. That night they made special visits to the two hospitals to which we evacuated our badly wounded of several nights before, and as a result one of them had to be closed. They seem to be carrying on a special campaign against hospitals, five in this immediate neighborhood have been closed within a week.

"We drove in convoy to our new quarters. As a convoy we are quite imposing, first the staff car, then 20 ambulances, an enormous truck with a kitchen trailer, a camion, a camouflete, and the French staff car. We drove about 20 miles, almost parallel to the front, so that we are still about 15 kilometers from the lines, but we are in a big forest very well concealed. There is no shellfire at that distance in this sector, and the airmen have little chance to see anything.

"This aerial raiding business assumes big proportions. We passed through a town on our way here where 180 bombs had been dropped in one night.

"If they hit on soft ground they are comparatively harmless for they penetrate ten feet or more and blow out a hole like a well, straight up into the air.

"But the éclats of the bombs are small, rarely more than an inch or two long, while a big shell will burst into jagged pieces two and three feet long that will cut clean through a house. The dope is to pick out a spot in soft ground and get flat on the surface, then only a direct hit can get you, and there isn't a chance in a million of that.

Was Funny Sight

"Last night the mechanic, Ed Anthony, and I were building an abrix in the woods, for they are always nice to have around, when suddenly three bombs went off just below us on the road. At the first one Ed dropped his pick and tore through the woods like a startled deer, hurdling trees and diving through bushes like a wild man. There was no place to run to so I crawled under a ledge and waited.

"A minute later three more went off, and then I heard a wild rush, and Ed came tearing back through the woods, all out of breath, but sprinting his hardest. He was so funny that I forgot all about the bombs—he wears mutton chop whiskers, loose knee pants with bare legs, and he had his tin hat crummed, way down over his ears, and the expression on his face was that of a man who has given up all hope, but intends to fight desperately to the end.

"I laughed until I was weak. When he saw me he stopped, struggled for breath, swallowed a lump in his throat and said huskily, 'I think they're deparits, don't you?' As a matter of fact, they were neither bombs nor deparits, but some defective hand grenades that were unsafe for shipment and were purposely exploded by the munitions workers.

"Glad the Italians are proving something at last. These drives will give the German people food for thought during the winter—about all the food they'll get."

COLLEENS WIN AMERICAN TAR'S

Every State in the Union to Boast of Irish Brides After the War.

CUPID BUSY AT NAVAL BASE

Brigid O'Rourke, Descendant of King, Weds a Rancher From Colorado—Record for Love at First Sight Goes to Seaman.

Base American Flotilla in British Waters.—Every part of the United States has supplied a hero in love romances that have culminated in happy marriages between American bluejackets and blue-eyed Irish maidens since the arrival of the American destroyer forces in the south of Ireland.

After the war, every part of the United States from Maine to California and from the great lakes to Florida will boast of an Irish bride who was wooed and won in her native land by an American sailor.

All of the brides are looking forward to that happy day when they will see what their husbands so proudly proclaim as "God's country." Already the American sailor has supplied his Irish bride with all necessary documents to establish her identity as an American, and some have even had their property in the United States transferred to their wives as a precaution in case they lose their lives for their country.

Rancher Weds Irish Maid.

There is the marriage of a former ranchman, Bert Adams, to Brigid O'Rourke, whose family descends from an Irish king of that name, Adams, who is a hollermaker on one of the destroyers, built from Hugo, Colo. He is now arranging to have his ranch in Colorado deeded to his wife as a precaution in the event of his being torpedoed. His wife's relatives live in Bruce, County Limerick, and there is plenty of anecdote connected with the family's relation to the O'Rourkes of kingly fame.

"I don't know anything about ranching," Mrs. Adams told the Associated Press correspondent, "but I am preparing myself for the fair land Bert has told me so much about by studying a history of Colorado."

Then there is the case of Mary Ridge, head waitress at the leading hotel here, who lost her heart to Harland G. Ritchie, a machinist's mate, first class, of Allston, Mass. She was one of the most popular girls in town. The dining room over which she presided is out of bounds to enlisted men, but Ritchie contrived to see her while she was off duty. They knew each other for four months before Mr. Ritchie led her to the altar of the village church.

But the record for love at first sight among the Americans belongs to a young seaman, Paul Valachovic by name, who used to work in the machine shop of the General Electric company at Schenectady, N. Y. He fell in love the first day he stepped ashore here, from the destroyer, Adn Jones, a Cork girl, was the object of Cupid's dart. After the war Valachovic is going to take her back with him to that thriving city in New York.

A few of the Americans first met their wives on visits to England. Charles Harmon Cobin of Charleston, S. C., fell in love on the beautiful Cornish river with Ada Gilbert, a widow of twenty-four, whose home was in Plymouth. Another English bride is Nora Elizabeth Kitt, who was married to Joseph W. Highfield of Des Moines, Iowa.

Cupid Busy at Naval Base.

But the majority of the Americans married Irish girls who lived in the vicinity of the American naval base and whom they met at the dance hall or roller skating rink. Thus Doris Francis Phillips is now Mrs. Leo Vincent Flavell of Hanover, Mass., and Mary Ellen Sullivan has become the wife of Thomas A. Bursch of Mount Carmel, Pa. After the war Mary O'Keefe, who became the wife of Edward C. Turner, expects to desert the trying climate of southern Ireland for that of sunny San Jose, Cal., which is her husband's home. William Spaulding of Deland, Fla., has married Ester Allen, while Oral E. Cox of John, Kan., won the hand of Phyllis Rose Rogers.

Among others of the American sailors who have taken to themselves a wife over here are Benjamin J. Moore of Dallas, Tex.; Ebert R. Dickinson of Pensacola, Fla.; Harry E. Holder of Denver, Colo., and Michael J. Della Roca of Schenectady, N. Y. And the list gives promise of growing steadily.

EX-KING DOES USEFUL WORK

Manual of Portugal Now Director of School for the Re-education of Maimed Soldiers.

Royalty has suffered much in the present war, even at the hands of its friends. When the Interallied conference in the interest of permanently disabled soldiers was concluded in Paris, a party of delegates journeyed to England to inspect the great schools established there for the re-education of men maimed in battle. One of these schools in particular excited the visitors' admiration because of its marvelous equipment and seemingly perfect management. This was all the more remarkable because the director of the school was a very young man. So much impressed were the visitors that before leaving they waited upon the youthful director and fairly showered him with praise.

"It is both a great responsibility and a high honor to you, sir," said their spokesman, a distinguished French scientist, "to have been placed at your age at the head of so important a school."

"I agree with you, Doctor, but in times past I have had occasion to direct matters even more important than these," replied the young man, who was none other than the ex-King Manuel of Portugal.

Congress of Polish Technicians.—The Polish engineers and technicians now residing in Russia held a congress at Moscow recently, at which 285 persons were present. The program consisted of general discussions concerning the rehabilitation and development of industry in Poland after the war, also the organization of technical education. Special sections dealt with architecture, mechanics, chemistry, electricity, and economics.

It was decided to found a Polish association of engineers and technicians in Russia, with branches in the principal industrial centers, and also to undertake the publication of a bi-weekly sheet that should become the organ of the society. Among the resolutions adopted was one relating to the future economic development of Poland.

Singing Requires Strength.

Students should remember that singing right requires great physical strength, observes a vocal teacher. The late Madame Nordica remarked that it required the training of a prize fighter. The human race is not physically as strong as it was a hundred years ago. The abdominal muscles seem to have suffered the greatest relapse, hence the scarcity of really great singers. In singing more than in anything else it is the "survival of the fittest."

FENOLE

Has Many Uses—Now Listen!

FENOLE is primarily a household spray, a dead shot for Roaches, Mosquitoes, Bedbugs, Moths, Flies, Ants and other insect pests. THAT IS NOT ALL. Fenole sprayed in the chicken coops, dog kennel, and other such places will knock the very "daylights" out of Flies, Lice, and Mice. And a mixture of equal parts Fenole and Lard applied to chickens' head will cure Scab head in remarkably short time; a regular "If say" for sick, scab-headed fowl large or small.

Explain New Wheat Ruling to Thousands of Customers—Insures Greater Food Saving.

Grocers of the nation have accepted enthusiastically the 50-50 basis for the purchase of wheat flour and are doing their utmost to explain the new regulation to the housewife. This ruling by the U. S. Food Administration requires each purchaser of wheat flour to buy one pound of cereal substitute, one kind or assorted, for every pound of wheat flour. It was necessary to restrict the use of wheat flour in order that the allies and our fighting forces abroad might be assured of an adequate supply of wheat to meet their vital needs. This supply must come from our savings because we have already sent our normal surplus.

Wheat saving pledge cards were forwarded by the Food Administration to all retail food merchants, and these are being signed and posted in stores throughout the country. This card states "We pledge ourselves to apply to

SUBMARINES NOW HAVE HARD TIME

Activity of Destroyer Convoys is Producing Most Satisfactory Results.

S' MOST EFFECTIVE WEAPON

Diaries Taken From Captured U-Boat Commanders Furnish Documentary Evidence of Effectiveness of Destroyer's Perfect Convoy Work.

Base of the American Flotilla in British Waters.—Diaries taken from captured U-boat commanders furnish documentary evidence that the destroyer is the most effective of present weapons against the submarine. "Avoided destroyer" is the oft-repeated entry. In fact, these logs show conclusively that the submarines are having a hard time of it.

The result of the destroyer activity during the last four weeks has been not only a decrease in casualties of merchant ships but also a still more satisfactory increase in the number of submarines sunk.

Convoys as an Offensive.—The convoying of merchantmen has now reached a stage almost of perfection, after many months' work in training both the officers of merchant ships and the personnel of the patrol flotilla. While systematic convoying was undertaken primarily as a defensive measure, it has now developed that convoying is at the same time the best offensive measure yet devised against the U-boat.

The offensive side of convoying may best be shown by an illustration: When a submarine tries to torpedo a convoyed ship—as submarines are now compelled to do owing to the infrequency of unconvoyed shipping—there is always a destroyer on the scene, and the chances of the destroyer's "getting" that particular submarine are correspondingly increased. The wake of a torpedo is generally seen by the destroyer's lookouts, and it gives a good line on the direction where the submarine is lying. The destroyer immediately steers a course full speed in the line shown by the wake of the torpedo and drops repeated depth charges along this course.

In a considerable proportion of cases this proves effective, for these depth charges cause serious commotion over a considerable radius.

Surface Signs May Be Missing.—The correspondent was told of three cases in the last fortnight in which submarines were thus destroyed. In many instances, no doubt, submarines are destroyed without any visible indication above the water of their loss. Still others are badly crippled, and in the case of the damaged German U-boat which was recently interned in Spain.

Another submarine which will never return to Germany was sunk under peculiar circumstances a short time ago. This U-boat torpedoed a ship bound from the United States. It is extremely unwise and unsafe to fire a torpedo at such close range, but the U-boats must take their targets as they get them these days. The torpedoed ship was loaded with a cargo of heavy war material and the explosion was so forcible that it blew a large piece of heavy material through the deck of the ship and dropped it on the submarine as the latter was submerging. The hull of the submarine was crushed like an eggshell and she sank with all on board.

GERMANS HURT IN PRACTICE FIGHT

Diary Exposes Carelessness of Teuton Gunners With Their Own Men.

REHEARSE FOR BIG BATTLES

Realism Carried to the Extreme by Germans in Preparing for Trial of New Strategy—Says Human Strength is Powerless.

With the French armies.—It is now pretty well known that both the French and Germans frequently rehearse their battles, under conditions as realistic as possible on specially prepared maneuver grounds. But, whereas the French on these occasions take great care that no men shall be injured, the Germans have carried realism to such a point that each exercise of this kind costs them a number of wounded. The fact is attested by the following extract from the notebook of a German of the 218th regiment of Infantry:

"The exercise was to represent a new method of attack used by the French, and was to take place on the 21st, in the presence of the duke of Wuertemberg, and other personages. On the 17th our artillery regulated its fire preparatory to the exercise."

Men Wounded in Drill.—"On the 21st we were put in place, at 8:15 a. m. From 9:30 to 10:30 the artillery and the trench mortars fired. We were given each fifty explosive cartridges, while the men of the first and second waves were given each, respectively, six and two loaded grenades. From the start, during the firing of the trench mortars, men were wounded by splinters. At 10:30 the business began, and toward 1:30 p. m. our companies were assembled for the goose step parade on the Hochwalsch-Waldersdorf road. This parade also took place before the duke of Wuertemberg. The exercise, it appears, satisfied these gentlemen entirely. So it will not be long now before we enter into the hell. Unhappily, several men were wounded, one seriously. It is really sad to see exercise of this kind carried out with real artillery and trench mortars. Aside from the fact that it costs a great deal of money, men are wounded almost regularly. So it is not enough that we should risk our lives when we are at the front, we must even be exposed to danger when we are supposed to be at rest."

And here are some extracts from the notebook of a German captured lately at Hill 301, near Verdun: "Yesterday just after midnight we went up to the first line. The march was terrible. We were shelled from every side and the night was black. We got lost and had to wander two and a half hours in the open. After difficulty of every description, we finally reached our shelter. And what a shelter! The entrance and the exit were half caved in. I hope the shells won't finally break them, for escape in such circumstances is not to be thought of. Our safety depends only on divine aid; human strength is powerless."

"Next day, 9:30 a. m.—I have just got up. In spite of the violent bombardment of shells and torpedoes I succeeded in getting more or less sleep. But we have gone without eat or drink, as the supply men have not been able to get through the barrage fire. I still have a piece of bread and a little drink; I will retain myself as long as possible. Who knows when we shall be revictualled?"

Why He Could Not Write.—On the day following the same soldier wrote a letter which was found on him when he was captured. I give this extract:

"Thou hast been waiting a long time for news of me, my dear Gertrude, but I can send thee nothing because the artillery fire is generally so intense that the supply men who take our letters cannot get to us. Last night, or rather today, we went to gather what the others threw away when they ran, and had some success, otherwise we would have had nothing to eat or drink. To suffer hunger and thirst, thou seest, is terrible. Every one says: 'If the French come now it's all up.' Thou seest in what a state we are."

And then the French did come.—Paul Scott Mowrer in the Chicago News.

Chicago.—"Mary Sheldon's making pies for Pershing."

This is the expression common at Salvation Army headquarters here.

When General Pershing landed in France, Maj. D. W. Agnew, in charge of the Salvation Army here, cabled asking him what the Salvation Army could do that would be most appreciated by the commander of the American forces in France.

"Send me someone who can make an apple pie," was General Pershing's request, and Ensign Mary Sheldon forthwith was dispatched. Ensign Sheldon gained fame here showing mothers of Chicago slums how to cook.
