Jail's new nurture cell a success

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The nurture cell was a new concept when it was first introduced at the Good News Jail in Sanford. It was designed to help inmates who are struggling with drug addiction.

The idea of nurture cells to give prisoners specialized training in the Bible and vocational living originated with Bill Austin, regional director for Good News Jail and Prison Ministries, who began a pilot program in 1984.

Seminar speakers: charters can enhance power of cities

By J. Mark Barfield
Herald Staff Writer

ORLANDO — A county charter may not be as threatening to cities as the cities often believe, county officials were told by charter proponents at a seminar in Orlando.

Using the Volusia County Growth Management Committee as an example, J. Wayne Bailey, dean of political science at Stetson University, told county officials from around the state that charters can actually be used to weaken county authority.

Officials from Seminole County cities are suspicious of the county's proposal to have voters adopt a county charter which gives the county similar home rule powers to a city. A charter can also give the county authority to override city ordinances when conflicts arise in certain areas.

But Bailey said the same voter referendum procedure required to approve a charter that can give the county certain powers over the cities can also be used to strengthen cities' powers in the county.

Moses Lopez, 24, a transient, has been charged with aggravated assault with a firearm, improper exhibition of a firearm and discharging a firearm in public. He was being held in lieu of $10,000 bond following his arrest at 5:58 a.m. Sunday.

The victim, Peggy Bondick, had been in the club on State Road 436, where Lopez allegedly made advances she rejected. When she left and walked toward her car, Altamonte Springs police report, Lopez allegedly approached her and was armed with a .25-caliber semi-automatic pistol. She pushed him away and the gun discharged a shot at her feet. Lopez allegedly threw the gun in some nearby bushes.

When police arrived, the suspect was reportedly spotted in bushes southeast of the parking lot. He was pursued and captured by police and returned to the lot to reportedly be identified by the victim and witnesses as the suspect in the incident. The gun was recovered and was reportedly loaded with four rounds, one in the chamber. —Susan Loden

Woman charged in car theft

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — When Altamonte Springs police arrived at a disturbance at Calico Jack's bar, they were met by a man who pointed out his car in the lot. The man said his car had been stolen and police confronted two women who tried to leave in the vehicle.

The women, nabbed in connection with possession of the car reported stolen May 22, were also charged for other crimes when they were arrested in the car at about 2:10 a.m. Saturday.

The woman accused of stealing the car, Devon Cathleen Ferrare, 33, a transient, was a passenger in the car when the arrests were made on Palm Springs Drive, after her companion drove from the bar on State Road 436, to that nearby location, before being stopped by police.

Ferrare, who was named by the owner of the car, Jeff Neff, as the suspected thief, has been charged with grand theft auto, possession of stolen credit cards, forgery, possession of stolen property and defrauding an inn keeper. The other charges are the result of her allegedly theft of a woman's purse in Apopka and the alleged use of that victim's credit card to pay a bill at Calico Jack's, police said. She was being held in lieu of $4,500 bond.

The driver of the stolen car, Joann Marie Graydon, 33, of Orlando, has been charged with defrauding an inn keeper, possession of a stolen vehicle and driving without a license. She was being held in lieu of $2,000 bond.

Mother tries to stop assault

MIDWAY — A Sanford man, who allegedly slightly cut the knuckles of his mother when she tried, but failed, to hold him back from a reported attack on a woman, is jailed for aggravated assault on the woman. No charges were filed for the reported injury to his mother.

Michael Harris, of Route 2, Box 208 Sanford, was arrested on Sipes Avenue at 21st Street after he allegedly chased the victim, Gloria Harrison, 35, of Midway, off the porch of a residence behind the Last Stop bar, 2104 Sipes Ave., Midway.

Harris' mother, Altamese Terry, 43, reportedly tried to hold him back and was cut when he allegedly pursued Harrison to the Last Stop and made her run from a phone where she was calling the Seminole County Sheriff's Department.

Deputies arrived to arrest Harris at 7:30 p.m. Saturday. His mother refused to give them a statement about her minor injury.

Suspected kicker arrested

SANFORD — Steven Gary Redmond, 27, of 115 Hayes Drive, Sanford, who allegedly kicked a woman in her stomach and groin, faces a charge of aggravated battery and remains jailed in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Sanford police report Mary E. Heishman was kicked and Redmond was arrested at his home at about 8:45 p.m. Sunday.

Slap-happy suspect goes to jail

SANFORD — An off-duty Seminole County jail guard tried to stop a man who allegedly hit and slapped his (the suspect's) girlfriend outside a Sanford store. The suspect got away but was later arrested by Sanford police.

Jonathan Paul Stone, 22, of 2402 S. Myrtle Ave., Sanford, who allegedly battered Tracy Comb outside the Winn-Dixie on Airport Boulevard at 25th St., was arrested at 10:05 p.m. Sunday at 107 Ventura Drive. He was being held in lieu of $500 bond.

Burglaries, thefts reported

SANFORD — Seminole County sheriff's deputies are investigating the theft of about $650 in stereo equipment from the car of Kevin Ray Palmer, of 505 Wylly Ave., Sanford. The theft occurred Sunday.

Two trolling motors with a total value of $160 and a $50 battery were stolen from two canoes behind the house of Debbie Black, of 232 Dublin Drive, Lake Mary, Thursday or Friday.

Gerald Wayne Brown, of 8265 Via Hermosa, Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies a case of jewelry with a total value of $3,520 was stolen from his house Friday.

A $200 video recorder and a $50 drill were stolen from the home of Debra Kay Showler, 551 State Road 436, #J-9, Fern Park, Friday. Sheriff's deputies have the name of a possible suspect.

CCIB agents disable suspect's car

CASSELBERRY — A man who allegedly took City County Investigative Bureau agents on a high-speed chase from rural Altamonte Springs to Casselberry, was apprehended after agents shot the tires on his car.

Michael Mancini, 41, of Orlando has been charged with aggravated assault, fleeing to elude police, driving under the influence, reckless driving, resisting without violence and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Mancini was arrested by CCIB agents at 2:10 a.m. Saturday and the aggravated assault charge was added by a Seminole County sheriff's investigator a short time later.

The agents reported they were approaching the suspect's apparently stalled car in the median of U.S. Highway 17-92 at Casselberry at the end of the pursuit, when the driver backed up at a high speed and almost hit several agents.

The agents shot out the passenger-side tires of the suspect's car to stop his advance on them.

The arrest reports said CCIB Commander Lt. Donald Estinger saw the suspect in the intersection of North and Central streets, rural Altamonte Springs. The area is known for drug deals and the suspect had money in his hand, the arrest report said. Mancini allegedly ignored Estinger's order to stop and sped away.

He was pursued at high speeds into Casselberry by agents in unmarked cars as well as a marked sheriff's patrol car.

Mancini, while making a U-turn on U.S. Highway 17-92, apparently stalled his car in the median and agents approached on foot. That's when he allegedly tried to run them over and agents answered with gunshots to the vehicle's tires.

When he got out of his car, Mancini allegedly said, "I did nothing wrong."

He has been released on bond.

Soviet refusenik to join family

BOCA RATON, Fla. (UPI) — Eight-year-old Eric Abovich will finally see his Soviet grandfather for the first time now that authorities in the Soviet Union have agreed to allow the refusenik to join his family in the United States.

"What am I going to do first?" Eric said. "Kiss him. He's very happy when he comes. Spend the whole day with him. And let's see, and probably start playing with him."

On the eve of President Reagan's summit meeting with Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev, Dr. Galina Vileshina learned that her husband, Eric's grandfather, would be issued an exit visa to join the family in the United States.

A message left on her telephone answering machine from the State Department Saturday meant that her eight-year battle for her husband's release had ended.

"All there's been for the past eight years has been loneliness, frustration and fighting," said the neurologist, who emigrated to the United States in 1980 with her daughter, Laura Abovich, who was pregnant with Eric at the time.

"I didn't believe it. I expect this news every day for eight years and finally I get it," Vileshina, 52, said Sunday. "I couldn't talk. I was shaking, crying."

Vileshina then telephoned her husband, Pyatras Pakenas, a lawyer in Vilnius, Lithuania, who told her he had been invited to the U.S. Embassy in Moscow to meet President Reagan today.

"I always knew it was going to come," said Abovich, "but I knew the Soviet government would do anything to prolong our suffering. We're actually shocked that it happened ... one day before the summit."

The case is the longest separation of any couple kept apart by Soviet emigration rules. Vileshina stepped up her battle as the summit approached, aided by U.S. officials aware that Soviet authorities typically resolve well publicized human rights cases to coincide with summit meetings.

"It has been a long, long road. It's a happy ending for a beautiful love story," said Rep. E. Clay Shaw, R-Fla., who helped press the Pakenas case.

Last week, Vileshina traveled to Washington with her daughter and grandson where she met Secretary of State George Shultz to press her appeal.

Pakenas and Vileshina married in 1977 and first applied to leave the Soviet Union in 1978. When permission was refused, the couple divorced in May 1980.

Vileshina's request was granted, and before she left, the couple secretly, but legally, remarried. They were divorced for only two weeks.

The head of the Soviet visa office, Rudolph Kuznetsov, said in an interview with the Soviet press last year that Pakenas had entered into a "sham marriage" with Vileshina just to win permission to emigrate.

FDIC to bail out four Texas banks

FORT WORTH, Texas (UPI) — The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., stung by criticism that it gives preferential treatment to large banks in trouble, is planning financial assistance for four smaller Texas lenders, according to the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

The FDIC's plan to prop up, rather than close, four Texas banks with assets of less than $100 million each has the approval of independent bankers, the newspaper said in its Sunday edition.

The Independent Bankers Association of Texas has accused the FDIC of operating a double standard — closing small, troubled community banks while infusing capital to support the state's larger holding companies.

Five-Day Forecast

For Central Florida

Holiday weather couldn't be better

By Fred H. Cooper
Herald Staff Writer

What a great day for a picnic, on the beach, or anything outdoors. It's near perfect. Unless, of course, you've been praying for rain or something. If you wish a downpour, do a raindance. Nothing less will help. However, should sanity prevail, just relax and enjoy the balmy breezes and temperatures. And, look at those clouds.

Now tonight, you can enjoy the initial efforts of the blue moon to reach full bloom. Tomorrow is officially the first day of the full moon, second one for the month, but it can be seen tonight. In fact, if you were watching the ballgame last night, you saw the blue moon over Miami. Now that's a mixture of song titles.

Rain possibility today is less than 10 percent. Tomorrow, as our cousins at Lafayette would say, will be more better. All the way up to 20 percent. If you don't believe it, just check the humidity. Today it's about 60 percent.

Want to hear something crazy? Highest high temperature in the nation, at least the 48 contiguous states, was at Glasgow, Montana yesterday: 102 degrees. It also snowed in another part of that state yesterday. However, Truckee, Calif. had the lowest low temperature last night with a 27 degree reading.

Do you know what time it is? Now Howdy Doodie time, but storm time.

The tropical storm season starts Wednesday and forecasters at the National Hurricane Center have already gone to 24-hour shifts to prepare for the annual onslaught.

They will begin the season with two more forecasters than last year, for a total of six hurricane specialists, and with added responsibilities for tracking Pacific storms. Previously, those storms were handled by a National Weather Service office in San Diego, said hurricane forecaster Bob Case.

"It seemed more appropriate to handle all the hurricanes that affect the mainland in one place," Case said. "We have the facilities, we have the people. Six months out of the year, it's our business."

Toddler survives 10-story fall from balcony of resort hotel

NAPLES, Fla. (UPI) — An 18-month-old boy survived a 10-story fall, broken by trees that police say probably saved his life and protected him from serious injury.

Ryan C. Lee was in Naples Community Hospital Sunday where he was listed in stable condition. A sheriff's spokeswoman said the toddler suffered no broken bones, "only bruises and abrasions."

The boy's parents, Paul and Sharon Lee of East Falmouth, Mass., were vacationing at the Marriott's Marco Island Resort Friday when they put the boy in a bedroom to take a nap.

He apparently awoke, crawled out onto the balcony and slipped through the railings to fall more than 100 feet, a sheriff's report said.

Someone has $13 million ticket

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Florida lottery officials say they have a $13-million winner in this week's Lotto game — they just don't know who yet.

Lottery spokesman Ed George said Sunday a computer check revealed that a winning ticket was sold at a convenience store in Port Charlotte.

That ticket is worth about $13 million to some lucky individual, George said. Lottery officials are waiting for that person to come forward.

"This is our first-ever winner," George said. "We don't know if the winner will go to the store or will contact us."

George identified the store where the winning ticket was sold as the Convenient Food Mart at 2350 Harbour Blvd.

The winning number Saturday was: 36, 12, 19, 13, 20, and 48.

FBI adds trio of new names to 'Most Wanted Fugitives' list

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A bank robber, a drug dealer sought for two killings and a man charged with performing and videotaping sexual acts with children are the newest additions to the FBI's list of "10 Most Wanted Fugitives."

The FBI identified the three Sunday, and all were described as "armed and dangerous."

—John Stevens, 35, of New York, a former bookkeeper turned convicted bank robber; wanted for a string of 22 bank robberies across the United States.

—Jack Farmer, 35, a native of Chicago and a convicted drug dealer; wanted for two murders, drug trafficking, extortion.

—Roger Jones, 42, a native of Charleston, W.Va.; fugitive warrant issued in Tampa, Fla.; charged with three counts of child molestations; accused of luring youngsters off the street and into videotaped sexual acts.

Stevens, Farmer and Jones replace three other criminals who were captured in recent months and removed from the list: David Roberts and Danny Weeks, both convicted killers, and James Dyess, an accused killer.

As "Top Tenners," mug shots of the trio will be posted in public buildings and distributed to police stations nationwide as part of a coast-to-coast dragnet. All FBI field offices are on the lookout for them.

Manhunt seeks cop killer

PHOENIX (UPI) — An "armed and extremely dangerous" fugitive wanted for killing a police officer during a $10,000 bank robbery eluded a manhunt mounted after a two-man crime spree that ended in the wounding of one suspect in a gun battle.

Sgt. Andy Anderson said police do not know the identity of the fugitive, who is wanted for the murder of Officer Kenneth Collings, 32, shot in the head outside the bank where he moonlighted as a guard.

The suspect is "armed and extremely dangerous," Anderson said.

The other gunman, Gilbert Rodriguez, 24, was shot and critically wounded by police who caught up with him several miles from the bank. He remained hospitalized Sunday under guard.

Mars in good view this year

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Mars gives Earth its best view of the red planet in 17 years this summer, and skywatchers in Florida are getting their binoculars and telescopes ready, a University of Florida astronomer says.

Mars will appear much bigger and brighter than normal as it begins to align with the Earth and sun. Astronomers call this phenomenon opposition.

The planet's rare visibility, along with the Soviet launch of a space probe in July to one of Mars' tiny moons, makes 1988 the year for Mars, said Billy Cooke, a UF graduate student in astronomy.

Mars will be at its peak in opposition at 11 a.m. Sept. 21 when it is nearly 36.6 million miles from Earth. Now visible at about 2 a.m., Mars will appear in late August as a reddish star rising in the east as the sun sets in the west.

As Mars nears Earth, telescope viewers should see the white oval shape of Mars' northern ice cap, as well as dark markings on the planet's surface intermixed with pale orange that could be volcanic craters or dust storm residue, Cooke said. Planet-wide dust storms sweep Mars in summer, turning its sky pink, he said.

Amateur astronomers hope to make some discoveries of their own. Astronomy groups in Florida have formed clubs to observe Mars more closely during the upcoming opposition.

Planetary observations are one of the few scientific fields in which amateurs with home-built telescopes can make contributions.

"If you do any serious Mars watching, the odds of you discovering an unusual cloud formation or surface feature in a few months are very good," Cooke said. "People search for years without finding things like comets."

Weather is the focus of the Atachua Astronomy Club's newly formed Mars observatory group in Gainesville. The astronomers plan to send its drawings and photographs to an international organization for use by the Soviets in their Phobos mission.

"We'll make drawings very much like astronomer Perival Lowell did at the turn of the century when he thought he saw canals on Mars and sent them to the Association of Lunar and Planetary Observers," Cooke said.

"The more we learn about the weather of other planets, the more insight it will give to weather here on earth," he said.

Corregidor, where many died, crumbling this Memorial Day

CORREGIDOR, Philippines (UPI) — Clumps of weeds and vines twist wildly around the barracks where U.S. soldiers once withstood Japanese artillery assaults. Piles of debris clutter the tunnel from where Gen. Douglas MacArthur led America's World War II Pacific campaign.

As the United States remembers its war dead on Memorial Day, Corregidor Island — one of the most significant Pacific battlefields — is hardly a worthy testimony to the estimated 1,600 Americans and Filipinos who died here.

But U.S. veterans' groups and the American Battle Monuments Commission have their way, it soon will be.

"Corregidor is a part of American history," said Jim Black, a Corregidor-born American who has made the tiny tadpole-shaped island an obsession. "It's got to be preserved."

Much already has been done.

The U.S. Navy sent a 22-man construction crew to the island in November for a two-month restoration of the Pacific War Memorial and its surrounding area. Observers say the effort was a move in the right direction but didn't go far enough.

Corregidor, at the mouth of Manila bay, was a Spanish fortress for more than 300 years before U.S. Adm. George Dewey crushed the Spanish fleet in 1898 and made the island an American outpost.

Called the "Rock" for its jagged cliffs, Corregidor marked the American-Filipino last stand in the early months of the Pacific campaign. Outmanned and overmatched, a gritty corps of American and Filipino soldiers repelled Japanese assaults for nearly five months, transforming Corregidor into a kind of Pacific Alamo.

U.S. forces recaptured the island March 2, 1945. When the war ended the Americans built their memorial to the Pacific campaign. It was inaugurated in 1968.

Since then, the Rock has fallen into disrepair because of neglect and a lack of money for its upkeep.

Barracks that housed thousands of soldiers and the one-time commissary and service club buildings are crumbling shells. Vestiges of bombed vehicles, rusty artillery shells and rubble litter the roadside.

The island has no electricity. Without light, it is difficult for visitors to explore the museum or Malinta tunnel, MacArthur's Far East command center.

Corregidor also has no water system, making the memorial's extensive reflecting pools useless. Rainwater stagnates because of poor drainage. Without water, there can be no landscaping.

Vandals also have taken a toll. Virtually all of the guns and mortars have been stripped of operating parts. Hammer marks inside the tunnels show where scavengers have stripped away iron rods.

"The vandalism has been tremendous," said Black, the son of a coastal artillery officer who died in a Japanese internment camp. "It's been so extensive that even now it's very late to start preservation."

But the island is in better shape than it was a year ago when a congressional delegation led by Rep. G.V. Montgomery, D-Miss., visited.

Appalled by the "shameful neglect," Montgomery enlisted the support of James Webb, then secretary of the Navy. Aided by a $35,000 donation from the Disabled American Veterans, Webb dispatched the navy restoration team.

Fire sweeps through historic tourist area

REDONDO BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — A fast-moving fire engulfed the storm-battered Redondo Beach pier Friday, destroying a number of restaurants and shops lining the historic tourist attraction.

Authorities said an electrical short may have sparked the fire that destroyed a large section of the pier, reduced to a skeletal framework by the inferno. Damage estimates were not immediately available.

No serious injuries were reported, although a firefighter was treated after an ember landed in one of his eyes.

The inferno generated clouds of black smoke that billowed hundreds of feet into the sky and could be seen for miles around.

Heat from the fire was so intense that it forced firefighters to take up their battle from a distance as flaming debris showered the waters surrounding the pier in King Harbor, which fell victim to a series of storms earlier this year that caused millions of dollars in damage.

Ronald Kielar, owner of the nearby Rocky Point West restaurant, ran over to the pier when he spotted the smoke.

"The bottom portion of the pier (was) engulfed in flames," Kielar said. "A huge cloud of black smoke and flames were shooting into the air."

"Between storm disasters, Mother Nature and fire, it seems like it never ends."

Manhattan Beach fire Capt. John Grimaldi said the blaze was reported at 1:40 p.m. inside the Breakers Restaurant on the pier.

Fueled by a stiff breeze and wooden pilings coated with a flammable tarlike material called creosote, the intense flames quickly spread to neighboring businesses, including Cattlemen's Restaurant.

Both restaurants and a number of surrounding shops on the pier, portions of which were built in 1888 and 1915, were destroyed by flames with only sections of charred framing left standing.

Firefighters extinguished all but a few smoldering hot spots by 5 p.m., fire officials said.

Battalion Chief Pat Aust said cause of the fire appeared to be linked to an electrical problem, possibly beneath the Breakers restaurant.

"We have it from very reputable witnesses ... that it started under the pier, and we suspect it was electrical in nature," he said.

Dozens of firefighters from the Redondo Beach, Hermosa Beach, Gardena, Torrance and Manhattan Beach fire departments battled the blaze while three Los Angeles County fire boats sprayed the burning pilings using ocean water. Grimaldi said

Heat on criminals will cool weapons

The sponsor of proposed legislation to provide for a referendum on a county option seven day "cooling off" period for handgun purchases has withdrawn his bill. The reason given was an amendment changing the period to three days, which effectively "watered down the bill." There have been cries to give the voters the opportunity to express their convictions, with proponents of the referendum calling for either three or seven working days. These actions during the past week have been the latest chapters in the continuing saga of handguns in Florida. The rhetoric has been loud and many arguments that sound good but are meaningless.

It is often written that Florida's "new lenient" gun control statute replaced "strict" ordinances of the counties. This is an unfair generalization. Prior to October 1, 1987 Florida had 67 gun control laws and these ordinances ranged from the very lenient in some areas to a situation such as in Seminole County where only one concealed weapon permit had been approved in years. One more was issued just days before the state law took effect. The wide-ranging differences within the state created a chaotic situation for individuals with legitimate reasons to have such a permit who needed to cross county lines.

The state law provides for a 48 hour mandatory "cooling off" period for handgun purchases on a county option basis. Sixty-one counties, including Seminole, have not exercised that option. If the citizens of this county wish such a delay in weapons purchase they need only make their wishes known to the county commissioners.

However, focusing on such peripherals leaves the heart of the problem unresolved. The continuing tragedy within our state and others, and the threat of bodily harm from weapons, comes from the criminal use of weapons in the commission of a felony. Then, through the plea bargaining process, the weapons charges are often dropped. Even repeat robbery offenders receive reduced sentences or quick paroles.

True handgun control rests in the hands of the holder. We need not fear the hands of law abiding citizens. We do, however, need to come down with a heavy hand on the criminal using a weapon in illegal activities.

While we may not like to admit it, laws are obeyed by most citizens, and ignored by a very few. Thus, gun control laws are enacted to restrict the law abiding citizen. While there are weaknesses in the current state law, it is a vast improvement over what we had. We also have sufficient laws on the books to deal with criminal activity. What is needed are prosecutors willing to eschew the deals and prosecute to the limit of the law those people misusing weapons and harming law abiding citizens.

For us, the living

We pause on Memorial Day to pay homage to those who made the ultimate sacrifice for our country. We pray, reflect, sing and salute; then go on our way ignoring our own responsibilities to those dead.

"Resolve that these dead should not have died in vain" are words that too often have a hollow ring. First spoken 125 years ago, that resolution has been followed by the dead of the Spanish-American War, the Mexican War, World War I, World War II, the Korean War and the Vietnam War. They cry from their graves for us not to forget President Lincoln's preceding words:

"It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us..."

The challenge is great and the tasks are many. Let us this day pray, reflect, sing and salute. But let us also rededicate ourselves so that our republic shall long endure.

May leaders; November losers;

By Arnold Savitsky
UPI Senior Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When Gary Hart returned to the presidential campaign late last year after a seven-month absence, the public opinion polls installed him as the favorite for the 1988 Democratic nomination.

Poll-literate political observers warned against placing major credence in the initial response to Hart's return, suggesting that the former Colorado senator was simply getting the benefit of the notoriety that surrounded his original departure from the race.

About three months later, having won primaries nowhere, Hart was out of the game again.

Now we have Gov. Michael Dukakis, the odds-on favorite to win the Democratic nomination based on actual delegates won, running more than 10 percentage points ahead of Vice President George Bush, the Republican nominee-apparent, in "trial heats" of the general election.

The question is, are polls in May that ask people how they will vote in November reliable?

Thanks to research by Sarah J. Burke published in U.S. News & World Report, it appears that springtime Gallup Polls in presidential years have done a pretty good job of predicting winners.

In the 11 elections between 1948 and 1984, Gallup's trial heat polls conducted in May have been correct seven times, or 64 percent of the time.

The misses were in 1960, when Gallup had President Jimmy Carter ahead of challenger Ronald Reagan by 9 points; 1968, when the poll found Hubert Humphrey 6 points ahead of Richard Nixon; 1980, when the May trial heat had Nixon leading John F. Kennedy by 2 points; and the famous 1948 disaster, when Gallup had Thomas Dewey a full 11 points ahead of President Harry Truman.

But before anyone makes Dukakis a 2-1 favorite to win in November 1988, it should be pointed out, as the magazine did, that two of the four Gallup misses were in the three elections in which incumbent presidents were not candidates. Thus, the May leader in 1952, Dwight Eisenhower, did beat Adlai Stevenson, but the spring front-runners, incumbent vice presidents Nixon and Humphrey, lost in both 1960 and 1968.

That obviously is statistically insignificant sample, but betting folk who hang big hunches on small hooks might see Bush as the 2-1 underdog inasmuch as 1988 is another no-incumbent contest in which a sitting vice president is trying to succeed his boss. That hasn't been done since Martin Van Buren was elected to succeed Andrew Jackson in 1836.

The difficulty incumbent vice presidents have succeeding their bosses has been noted many times since Bush entered the 1988 race, but it may be counted as a tiny edge for him that he does not go into the summer as the public opinion poll leader.

All of this may make grist for the mill of political handicappers, but no legitimate pollster would dare suggest that the outcome of the November election can be determined with certainty in May.

WILLIAM RUSHER

Let's consider Buckley

At the age of 62, my colorful colleague Bill Buckley has been the subject of countless magazine articles, but until recently no full-length biography of him had appeared. With the publication of John B. Judis's "William F. Buckley, Jr." (Simon and Schuster), this omission has now been remedied.

As luck would have it, this first biography of the "patron saint of the conservatives" (as the book's subtitle describes him) has been written by an avowed liberal, or perhaps I should say leftist. But Buckley decided to make his files (now at Yale University) available to Judis anyway, and to encourage his friends to submit to interviews by him; and Judis conscientiously put in several years at his task. The result is a book that, whatever its defects (and I shall come to those), is no mere hatchet-job.

The book's chief flaw is that it totally fails to convey Buckley's most striking characteristic, which is his fun-loving quality. No one who has ever spent 20 minutes with Bill can possibly have failed to note his almost manic need to be amused, and to amuse others. Well, almost no one; Judis (who isn't exactly a laugh-a-minute type) misses this key aspect of Bill's character altogether. The result is rather like a biography of Lincoln that neglects to mention his underlying melancholy.

As one reviewer noted, it is never entirely safe to try to assess a person before he "assumes the horizontal," as Bob Tyrrell likes to put it; even the most predictable have a way of surprising one. But certain things about Buckley seem pretty safe to say.

Bill Buckley's supreme accomplishment was to bring together, in the 1950s, the disparate strands of anti-liberal thought and weave them into a coherent intellectual movement under the name of conservatism. As early as 1960 the job had been done, and one suspects that Buckley was prepared, and not altogether unwilling, to let it go at that.

May you and I, when the moment comes to sum us up, be able to claim that we have influenced our times just half so powerfully and beneficially.

JACK ANDERSON

One Soviet makes most of glasnost

By Jack Anderson
and Dale Van Atta

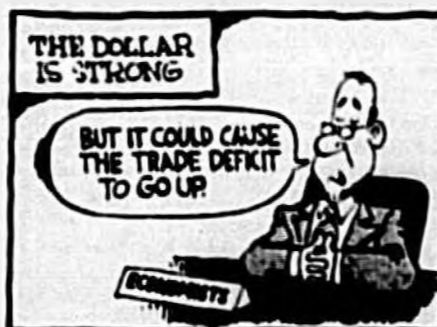

WASHINGTON — At least one Soviet has discovered that there is gold in them that hills of glasnost. Vladimir Posner, familiar to Americans from his talk show appearances as a slick Soviet mouthpiece, is an articulate communist making the most out of capitalism.

Last fall, Posner joined the U.S. speakers' circuit for a 10-speech tour averaging about $5,000 a speech — not as much as Henry Kissinger and Ollie North, but more than Dr. Joyce Brothers and Gordon Liddy.

It took Posner some time to realize how well it could pay to be a communist. It took his superiors even longer to warm up to the idea of Posner as a celebrity. But this fall, he will be on the circuit again, and the asking price is $10,000.

Posner first appeared on the American television screen in 1980 when he defended the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan. The forum was ABC's "Nightline," and host Ted Koppel pronounced Posner a "very bright propagandist." He spoke American English with all the idioms. He was charming, even handsome.

Soon Posner was in demand as

CHUCK STONE

Now, sum it up

My Harlem friend, Booker Leroy Jackson, hasn't usually prayed for divine intercession beyond his country's temporal borders. He is a stouthearted America Firster.

But this time, the Reagan-Gorbachev summit got to him. Not because he acquired a sudden interest in nuclear weapons control, but because he watches television most of his waking hours.

The networks saturated us with so many reports on Reagan-Gorbachev Summit IV that Booker Leroy was intrigued. He watched. He read. He got disturbed. Then he decided to pray.

He sent me a copy of his latest supplication.

Yo, Lord: I'm back and I know what you gon' say. How come I don't check in with you more often? You know the answer to that, Lord. Prayer ain't an easy rap. And I don't be comin' to you less'n I got somethin' really on my mind.

Like my president who met in Russia with their main man who's got that Picasso mark on his head. That ain't no put down, Lord. At least, Gorbachev be havin' a mark on his head. President Reagan ain't got nothin' inside his.

But I'm prayin' to you, Lord, 'bout this summit cuz there was so much hypocrisy. Maybe, it couldn't be helped. Like how one of your messengers, Isalah, put it, "every one is an hypocrite and an evildoer, and every mouth speaketh folly."

Sure sound like he be talkin' 'bout Reagan and Gorbachev.

Know what should of happened at that summit, Lord? When President

Reagan leaned across the table and asked Mr. Gorbachev, "What are you doin' about human rights for the Jewish people what wants to leave Russia?" Mr. Gorbachev should have answered, "When are you gon' start doin' something 'bout human rights for your black countrymen what just wants to leave their second-class citizenship?"

Lord, wouldn't that have been hip?

President Reagan would have started stuttern' and swallowin', and before he be sayin' anything, Mr. Gorbachev would of followed up like they be doin' at his press conference, "I just finished readin' that national report by a commission headed up by two of your former presidents and Ted Koppel about how things done got worse for minorities. Blacks is got'n' backwards in jobs and education, specially in your presidency."

"Mr. President, you got a real human rights credibility problem with your black countrymen."

But my president be cool, even when his hypocrisy is exposed.

"Mr. General Secretary, you got a bigger credibility problem for the Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces treaty."

"You sign it, but according to my Defense Department's annual report, the Soviet Union done built a huge underground structure to house thousands of people, including Soviet leaders, to protect them during the conduct of a nuclear war. How you explain that?"

ANTHONY HARRIGAN

Agenda panel ponders

WASHINGTON — Everyone is entitled to put his two cents into the debate about the policies of the next administration. On the other hand, the public has a right to be skeptical about some of the advice offered and about the credentials of those who seek to define a national agenda for the next four years.

One is reminded of the need for skepticism in reading about the formation of an organization called American Agenda. "Our purpose," said its founders, a bipartisan group of former Ford and Carter administration advisers, "is to build a bridge of ideas between the experience and wisdom of the past and the policies, actions and aspirations of the next president." To which, many Americans may say, "Oh, yeah?" Neither the Ford or Carter administrations strike many people as repositories of wisdom. Do Americans want to go back to the seventies?

The members of the American Agenda group certainly won't inspire much confidence in conservatives. There are exceptions, such as President Ford's Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld. But in the main, members such as President Carter's Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie and his Treasury Secretary Michael W. Blumenthal are identified in the public mind with failed policies.

A director of the American Agenda organization, Stuart Eizenstat, was President Carter's chief domestic policy adviser. He now heads a coalition of Japanese electronic firms seeking advantages in Washington. This is hardly the kind of activity that would convince the U.S. public of his independent pushing policy goals.

American Agenda seems to be a classic liberal-center establishment group. It can't be expected to support headline national interest positions on foreign policy or foreign trade offensives. The businessmen among the founders are New York-based and representative of banks with heavy involvement with foreign loans and multinationals. Small and medium-size American business isn't represented. There's little regional diversity, except former Tennessee Governor Lamar Alexander, who is an advocate of major Japanese investments in the United States.

telegram the next day from Moscow saying Posner's superiors believed it was "too dangerous" for him to come to the United States.

APB set up another tour for 1984, with the surprising approval of the State Department. One department official called it "a game of chicken." Officials at the State Department didn't think Moscow would let Posner participate. They were right. Posner later told friends it was a case of professional jealousy. A superior at the state-run Moscow radio network disapproved the trip at the last minute.

APB was discouraged, but Posner wasn't. He abandoned any pretense of a charitable foundation and started talking money. One Posner confidant said Posner told APB officials to let him worry about how he'd get the money back to Moscow. "Let's talk about what you're going to get (the APB commission), and I'll handle the legalities of my cut," Posner reportedly said. The third attempt at a tour failed, too. Posner had to cancel because Mikhail Gorbachev wanted him at an international peace forum.

An APB spokesman declined to comment to us about the rise and fall of negotiations with Posner. As it turns out, Posner didn't need APB. He had a new friend in his corner, television talk show host Phil Donahue. It was Donahue's "representative" for speeches, Marilyn O'Reilly, who successfully booked Posner on a round of speeches last fall. She is marketing a second tour this fall.

Posner told a friend that Donahue urged him to try the speakers' circuit and advised him he could get more than $10,000 a speech. Donahue doesn't remember talking specifics with Posner. "If I did say something like that," Donahue told us, "it would be to the extent: 'If you're going to go all the way to California, you might as well get what other people in your position earn.' I guess maybe I was being somewhat protective. I didn't want him to tap dance for less than he was worth."

Donahue took a liking to Posner after they co-hosted two shows via satellite in 1985 and 1986. Posner was in Leningrad for both shows, with Donahue in Seattle and Boston. Donahue was most fascinated by Posner's background. He is a Russian Jew who was born in Paris and spent his early childhood in Manhattan. "There's a lot about America that he loves," Donahue said.

Gators, Miami win CWS slots

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The Florida Gators and the Miami Hurricanes began repacking equipment and cleaning uniforms today after earning berths in the College World Series by winning NCAA regional championship crowns Sunday. Florida blanked Stetson 8-0 to win the East Regional while the Hurricanes blasted South Carolina 10-3 to take the Atlantic Regional.

Tim Oxley went 2-for-3, including a first-inning double that scored two and helped top-seeded Florida eliminate the Stetson Hatters.

The win sends the Gators, now 47-17-1, to Omaha, Nebraska, for their first ever College World Series, June 2-11. For Stetson, now 35-25, it was back to DeLand.

Meanwhile, at Mark Light Field in Miami, Hurricane catcher Frank Dominguez drilled a two-run home run to break a tie in the sixth inning to send Miami to a 10-3 victory over the Gamecocks and their 10th trip to the College World Series.

Miami (51-12-1) won the NCAA Atlantic Regional baseball tournament with four victories against no defeats. South Carolina had advanced to the final game of the double-elimination tournament with a 5-0 victory over Georgia Tech earlier in the day and wound up their season with a 43-21 record.

Miami righthander Joe Grahe went the distance, scattering 11 hits to get his second win of the tournament and improve his record to 13-4. He also collected a save in Saturday night's 4-2 victory over Georgia Tech.

In an earlier game Sunday in Tallahassee, Ed Cooney went 3-for-4 and scored once in Stetson's three-run third inning to give the Hatters the lead for good en route to a 7-2 upset over Florida State.

The fifth-seeded Hatters ended their streak of tournament up-sets at two, including a 4-1 win over third-seeded North Carolina State Saturday.

Florida took control of the championship game at the start, going up 2-0 when Julio Mendez walked. Ned Brigham singled and then both scored on Oxley's double.

The Gators went on to score one run each in the third, fourth and fifth before Mario Linares nailed the door shut with a three-run homer in the seventh that made it 8-0.

Even the Hatters' stopper Tommy Hickox couldn't quiet the Gators offense, giving up five runs and seven hits in four innings after pitching a total of 5 1/3 scoreless innings and giving up a single hit coming into the game.

Craig Risdon lost his first decision of the season after four wins, allowing three runs and three hits in as many innings.

Joe Klancnik got the win for Florida to improve to 4-0 after striking out six in seven innings.

In the earlier game, Florida State took a 1-0 lead in the first when Edwin Alieca scored after drawing a walk, moving to second on a wild pitch, to third on a Marc Giordano single and then scored on an error.

In the third inning, Stetson, which had lost its opening game to Florida State 10-3 Wednesday, moved ahead. Eddie Corbett got to first on a Don Erickson error and then to third on a Scott Miller single.

Miller moved to second on an error and then scored along with Corbett on another Erickson error, giving Stetson a 2-1 lead and moving Cooney, who was on base with a walk, to third. Cooney ended the scoring when he moved home on a fielder's choice.

Stetson increased its lead by scoring twice each in the fifth and sixth innings. Florida State scored once in the seventh in a comeback attempt that fell short, leaving the final score at 7-2.

Clyde Keller took the loss for Florida State, dropping to 10-4 after allowing five runs on seven hits in five innings. Buddy Dryden evened his record at 4-4 with the win after striking out five and allowing two runs in six innings.

Ace reliever Hickox picked up his 14th save of the year for Stetson.

The loss ends Florida State's season at 50-18-1, the ninth straight 50-win season for the Seminoles.

Miami (51-12-1) won the NCAA Atlantic Regional baseball tournament with four victories against no defeats. The South Carolina Gamecocks had advanced to the final game of the double-elimination tournament with a 5-0 victory over Georgia Tech earlier in the day and wound up their season with a 43-21 record.

Mavs dump Lakers

DALLAS (UPI) — The Western Conference final has become a battle of the boards, and for the second straight game the Dallas Mavericks controlled the Los Angeles Lakers under the basket.

After outrebounding the defending champions 52-33 in Game 3, Dallas dominated the Lakers by a 22-5 margin in the final quarter Sunday to turn a close game into a 118-104 rout that evened the best-of-seven series at two games apiece.

Today, they kept shooting the ball, and when they missed, they were able to get rebounds in the fourth quarter. Los Angeles Coach Pat Riley said, "It was a fourth quarter just like Game 3."

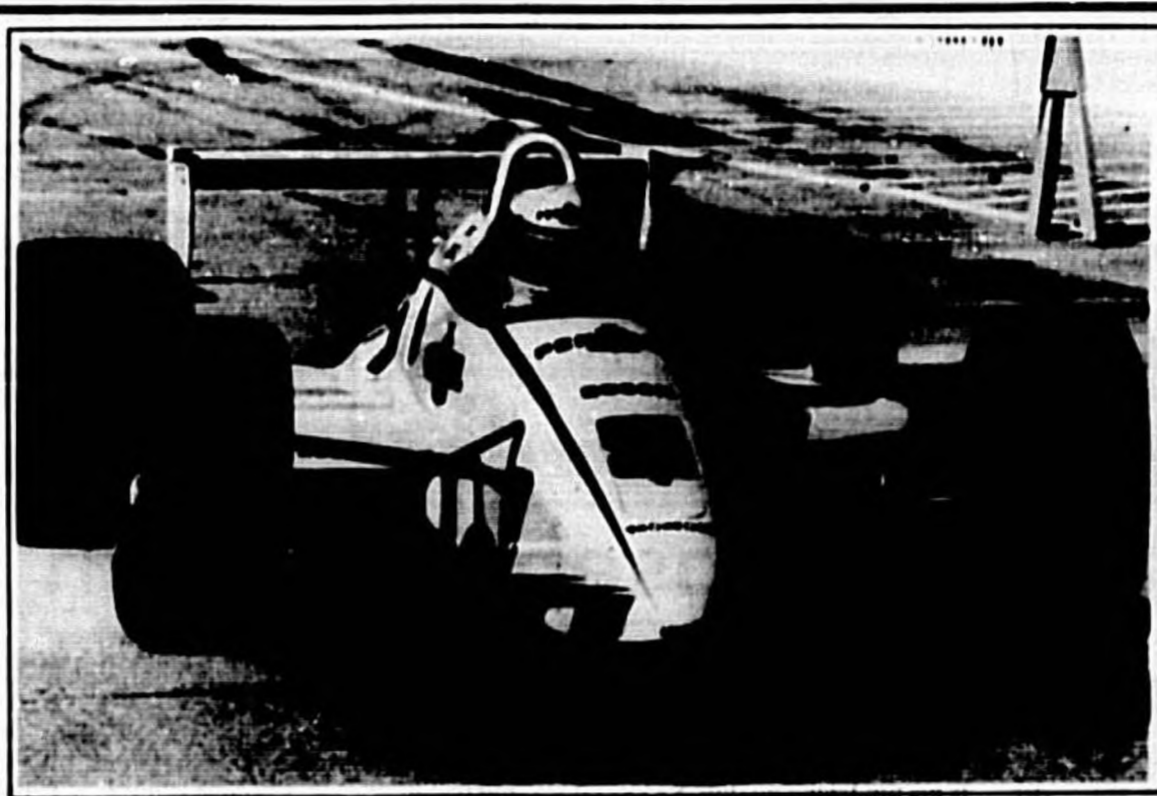

Los Angeles appeared to have gotten things under control in the first half, with a 26-13 rebounding advantage. But the Lakers routed in the final period en route to being outrebounded — 45-42 — for the fourth time in the series.

"We seem to be getting stronger and better as we go along," Dallas Coach John MacLeod said.

Leading the assault once again was sixth man Roy Tarpley, who had 13 rebounds to match his series "low." James Donaldson contributed 10.

Of course, someone had to score for the Mavericks to win, and that's where Derek Harper and Mark Aguirre enter the picture.

Leading the Mavericks' scoring were Derek Harper, who matched his career-high 35 points, and Mark Aguirre, who added 26.

Rick Mears drove the Pennzoil Penske Sunday. It was the third Indy 500 triumph PC-17 to victory in the Indianapolis 500 on for Mears, who was also the pole sitter.

Penske Chevrolet runs away from field

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — Car owner Roger Penske, a perfectionist disappointed despite winning the 1987 Indianapolis 500, took pleasure in this year's victory.

Last year, Al Unser Sr.'s victory was achieved in a March-Cosworth entry. The Penske-Chevrolets, which were supposed to dominate, flopped, and the new cars were redesigned since last summer.

Sunday, Rick Mears won the 72nd running of the Indianapolis 500 in a Penske Penske-Chevrolet, his third triumph at the Indianapolis

Unser Sr. was third, in a Hertz-Penske Chevrolet. Jim Crawford and Al Unser Sr. took turns being runner-up before Fittipaldi was listed second.

Penske reacted to his team's victory with his usual tactfulness, but his smile spoke volumes.

"I can't tell you what it means to me," Penske said. "It's a tremendous feeling."

Crawford was second initially because Fittipaldi was penalized two laps for passing under a yellow flag. When it was discovered Crawford was two laps behind Mears, Unser Sr. was named runner-up.

Meanwhile, Fittipaldi successfully protested his penalty, saying he was waved through by Rich Vogler following the

Graf routs Fulco

PARIS (UPI) — Defending champion Steffi Graf routed Argentina's Bettina Fulco 6-0, 6-1 in 43 minutes today to reach the semifinals of the $3.9 million French Open.

The West German conceded just three points in the first set. The match would have been over even faster if the players hadn't spent a few minutes arguing with the umpire over whether to play on during intermittent rain showers.

Tournament play was postponed following the match due to the rain.

"I wasn't very happy about it," Graf said. "It was freezing cold out there, and it was raining in between, sometimes very hard. I was glad that it was over fast."

In the second set, Graf continued to overwhelm Fulco with deep ground strokes, and a sprinkling of aces.

However, the 19-year-old South American managed to win 20 points and one game, to prevent being shutout.

Fulco won six points in the second game of the second set, and might have won the game if Graf had not had some favorable line calls.

Fulco held her serve in the sixth game to make it 5-1, but in the seventh game she bowed to Graf, who took the match on the third match point.

In the semifinals, Graf is seeded to meet another Argentinian, fourth-seeded Gabriela

County athletes excel at Golden South Classic

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer

WINTER PARK — Seminole County track athletes were in fine form Saturday as three boys and three girls along with two relay teams placed in the prestigious meet held at Showalter Field.

Seminole High's girls continued their success by placing second in both relays. The Lady Seminoles established a school record in the 440 yard relay with the team of Yolonda Baker, LaShou Cash, Adrian Hillsman and Nadrian McGill finishing with a 48.02 clocking. Orlando Jones won the girls 440 relay with a nice time of 47.31.

Seminole finished second in the mile relay with a time of 3:55.3 as Brooklyn (NY) Tilden High School ran a 3:46.7 to win the event. It was the first time in over a year Seminole's mile relay team has been beat.

"We remained competitive and that's the important thing," Seminole coach Emory Blake said. "We have a strong nucleus returning for next season and I think we'll surprise some people, our relays should stay strong and, if we can peak at the right time we should remain as one of the top teams in this area."

TRACK/FIELD

Seminole's Michelle Pearson came through with a solid performance in the 100 meter hurdles where she finished second with a time of 14.67. Pearson fell in the regional meet and did not participate in the state meet but showed she will be a force next season as she ran right with the nation's second ranked hurdler in Tamika Francis from West Hempstead New York who finished with a time of 14.58.

Seminole's Chinita Gilchrist took fifth place in the shot put with a throw of 37 feet and nine inches. Lake Mary's Amy Kuvach took sixth place in the shot with a toss of 36-8.

"Our girls can take a well deserved rest now," Blake said. "They've worked hard and been the best team in Central Florida for the past couple of years and they've deserved everything they've received, they're a great bunch and it will definitely be different in the years to come."

In the boys meet Lake Mary's Cecil King finished third in the long jump with a leap of 23-7 1/2. King is coming off an ankle injury that slowed him in the 4A state meet and looked impressive in his return.

King will now pick out certain meets to participate in over the summer and hope to sign with a major college by the mid-summer. King will also look to return to triple jumping, his best event, after a couple more weeks of resting his ankle.

Lake Mary's Eric Petersen took sixth place in the 2,000 meter steeplechase event. The event is only run in the Golden South which gave Petersen just over a week to practice for the event. Petersen finished with a time of 6:58.5 and is close to qualifying for junior nationals.

Lake Howell's Brian Horvath was the only other Seminole county athlete to place in the Golden South as he finished fourth in the pole vault as he cleared 13-0. Lake Highland's John Meadows put on a show in the event as he cleared 15-0 to take top honors.

Lyman's Teddy Mitchell and Nick Radkewich, along with Lake Mary's Brad Smith all participated in the two mile, an Olympic development race, that saw the top six finishers under 9:15. Mitchell finished ninth at 9:32 with Smith right behind and Radkewich crossed at 9:40

Padres' Jones stymies Mets

United Press International
San Diego Padres right-hander Jimmy Jones, selected ahead of New York's Dwight Gooden in the first round of the June 1982 free-agent draft, hurled a Gooden-like performance Sunday in beating the Mets.

Jones allowed eight hits over 8 2-3 innings, and Keith Moreland delivered an RBI double to ignite a five-run seventh inning that enabled San Diego to hand Jack McKeon his first victory as Padres manager with a 6-3 triumph over the Mets.

"I feel like I can do with this team what he (Gooden) does for his team," said Jones, the third player chosen in 1982, two picks ahead of the Mets' 8-1 ace. "I'm not saying I'm at his level yet because he is a remarkable athlete."

Jones, 4-5, struck out three and walked none. Mark Davis retired one batter for his fifth save.

The Padres broke a scoreless battle between Jones and Bob Ojeda, 4-4, in the seventh. Ojeda retired the first 17 batters before Roberto Alomar and Tony Gwynn singled.

Moreland doubled to right-center field to score Alomar, with Gwynn moving to third. John Kruk bounced to second baseman Keith Miller to score Gwynn, and when Miller's throw skipped past first baseman Keith Hernandez, Moreland scored and Kruk took second for a 3-0 San Diego lead. Benito Santiago's single scored Kruk and knocked out Ojeda.

"I started to get behind the batters," Ojeda said. "It would have been nice to have a no-hitter into the seventh."

Reliever Terry Leach struck out Chris Brown, but Santiago stole second on the pitch. Shane Mack blooped a single to right to make it 5-0.

The Mets scored a run in the seventh on Mackey Sasser's sacrifice fly. The Padres added a run in the eighth on Kruk's RBI double.

The Mets closed to 6-3 in the ninth. Darryl Strawberry tripled and Kevin McReynolds hit his fourth home run.

McKeon, a Padres executive, took over for the fired Larry Howe Saturday, a day on which New York defeated San Diego 5-1. However, that was the only game the Mets won in the three-game set.

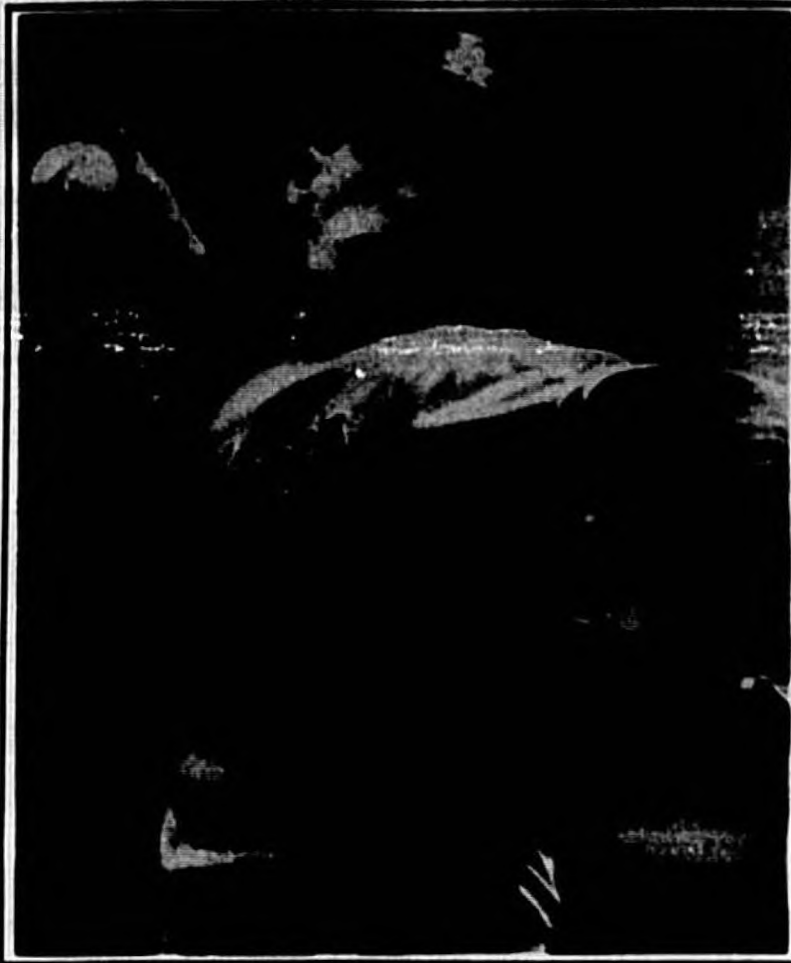

The Mets had closed a 13-game road trip with seven straight wins. But since returning home, they have dropped four of six.

Elsewhere, Los Angeles nipped Montreal 2-1, Philadelphia 4, San Francisco 2, St. Louis beat Atlanta 3-1, Pittsburgh downed Cincinnati 4-2 and Houston belted Chicago 7-1.

In the American League, it was: Toronto 4, Chicago 2; Milwaukee 7, Cleveland 2; Minnesota 6, Detroit 3; Kansas City 12, Texas 1; Oakland 5, Boston 4; Baltimore 3, California 2; and New York 7, Seattle 3.

Dodgers 3, Expos 1

At Montreal, Kirk Gibson and John Shelby homered, and Orel Hershiser scattered nine hits to lift the Dodgers. Hershiser, 7-2, struck out seven and walked none in completing his third game of the season. Hershiser, who won his first six decisions this season, earned his first victory since May 4.

Phillies 6, Giants 3

At Philadelphia, Chris James homered and scored two runs to lift the Phillies, giving them a sweep of the three-game series. Phillies starter Bruce Ruffin, 4-4, pitched seven innings, allowed nine hits, walked two and struck out two. Giants starter Mike Krukow, 4-3, lasted just six innings.

Cardinals 3, Braves 1

At Atlanta, Jose DeLeon allowed four hits over 8 1-3 innings to pace the Cardinals. DeLeon, 4-4, struck out eight and walked one. He came within two outs of his first complete game of the season. Atlanta fell to 5-14, the worst home record in the majors.

Pirates 4, Reds 3

At Cincinnati, Andy Van Slyke knocked in three runs, and Bobby Bonilla hit his league-leading 12th homer to spark the Pirates. Pirates starter John Smiley, 4-4, gave up seven hits, walked none and struck out three in 6 2-3 innings. Reds starter Dennis Rasmussen fell to 2-8, erased a 1-0 deficit.

Astros 7, Cubs 1

At Chicago, Rafael Ramirez hit a grand slam during a six-run sixth inning to lift Nolan Ryan and the Astros. Ryan, 5-2, went 7 1-3 innings, allowed three hits, in helping Houston end a four-game losing streak. The Astros' big inning against Jamie Moyer, 2-8, erased a 1-0 deficit.

Nelson closes door on Bosox

United Press International
Gene Nelson, who had been inactive for 10 days, showed the Boston Red Sox — and the rest of the American League — that major-league save leader Dennis Eckersley isn't the only formidable right-hander in Oakland's bullpen.

Nelson, making his first appearance since May 18, limited the Red Sox to just one hit in 3 2-3 innings Sunday to lead the Athletics to a 5-4 triumph.

"You just hope that when you get in you're prepared to pitch," said Nelson, who has allowed just three earned runs in his last 20 1-3 innings. "I felt fortunate. After the layoff, I didn't know what to expect from myself."

Oakland Manager Tony LaRussa wasn't sure what to expect either when he called for Nelson.

With runners on second and third and none out in the fourth inning, Nelson relieved starter Storm Davis. The right-hander struck out Brady Anderson and retired Marty Barrett and Wade Boggs on fly balls to end a Boston three-run rally.

"It's nice to come in and save a couple runs that might have meant the game," said Nelson, who helped lift the first-place A's to their fifth straight triumph, and a 9 1-2 game cushion in the American League West.

"He's got a golden arm," LaRussa said. "It's ridiculous that a guy as good as he is hasn't pitched in that long."

The Red Sox were also impressed with Nelson's performance.

"That's the best I've ever seen him pitch," Barrett said.

Oakland scored the game-winning run in the fifth inning off Boston starter Jeff Sellers, 0-5.

With the score tied 4-4, Dave Parker led off with a single, and one out later, moved to third on Mark McGwire's double. Doug Jennings grounded out to second, driving in Parker and giving the A's a 5-4 advantage.

Elsewhere, Minnesota downed Detroit 6-3, Toronto defeated Chicago 4-2, Milwaukee whipped Cleveland 7-2, Kansas City routed Texas 12-1, Baltimore edged California 3-2, and New York tripped Seattle 7-3.

In the National League: Philadelphia 4, San Francisco 2; San Diego 6, New York 3; Los Angeles 2, Montreal 1; St. Louis 3, Atlanta 1; Pittsburgh 4, Cincinnati 2; and Houston 7, Chicago 1.

Twins 6, Tigers 3

At Minneapolis, Kirby Puckett homered twice to spark the Twins to their eighth straight victory. Tom Herr singled off starter Doyle Alexander, 4-4, with one out in the fifth, and Puckett followed with his eighth homer to make a winner out of Allan Anderson, 2-3. Jeff Reardon pitched the ninth for his 12th save.

Blue Jays 6, White Sox 2

At Toronto, Pat Borders' home run keyed a three-run seventh inning to lead the Blue Jays. Toronto starter John Cerutti, 3-2, scattered five hits over eight innings, walking one and striking out one. David Wells notched his third save. Chicago starter Dave LaPoint evened his record at 4-4.

Brewers 7, Indians 2

At Cleveland, two-run singles by Glenn Braggs and Paul Molitor backed the five-hit pitching of Tom Filer to pace Milwaukee. The Brewers chased starter Tom Candiotti, 6-3, with a three-run ninth. Filer, called up from Denver (AAA) May 23, is 2-0, and has a career 9-0 record in the AL. The right-hander struck out two and walked two.

Royals 13, Rangers 1

At Kansas City, Mo., Willie Wilson drove in four runs and Kurt Stillwell added three RBI to lead the Royals. Bret Saberhagen, 6-5, yielded four hits in seven innings, walking two and striking out six. Rangers rookie starter Ray Hayward, 3-2, lasted 1 1-3 innings, allowing seven runs, five hits and three walks.

Orioles 8, Angels 3

At Anaheim, Calif., Mike Boddicker surrendered four hits over eight-plus innings, and Larry Sheets broke a tie with a two-run single in the eighth to carry Baltimore. Boddicker, 2-8, struck out four and walked three. Tom Niedenger earned his fifth save. Angels reliever Greg Minton, 0-1, surrendered two unearned runs and no hits in two-thirds of an inning.

Yankees 7, Mariners 3

At Seattle, Dave Winfield homered and drove in three runs, and Rickey Henderson knocked in two to pace New York. John Candelaria, 7-3, pitched five innings, before leaving with a sore arm. He struck out one and walking none. Cecils Guante worked 1 1-3 for his fifth save. Seattle starter Mike Campbell fell to 3-6.

June 19, 1846 — baseball is born

By MIKE TULLY
UPI National Baseball Writer
NEW YORK (UPI) — The game as we know it began June 19, 1846, on the Elysian Fields in Hoboken, N.J.

By then, the country was 69 years old, and more than 9,000 had fallen in battle. The Revolutionary War cost 6,824 lives, and the War of 1812 another 2,260. Some of them may have batted a ball with a piece of wood, and some may even have played a game called rounders. But none ever lived to see Alexander Cartwright's new game, with four bases, 90 feet apart, laid out in a diamond.

The Mexican War began in 1846 and ended two years later at San Jacinto, Texas, not far from where the Houston Astrodome stands. Some 1,733 never came back and saw the way the new game was spreading from town to town.

Then came the Civil War. The union side lost 364,511, the confederacy 133,821. The total was nearly half a million. Many knew about Base Ball. Some may have played it in the prisoner of war camps, or during breaks from battle. But none ever lived to see the creation on Feb. 2, 1876, of the National League of Professional Baseball Clubs.

The Spanish American War took place in 1898. Three hundred and eighty five fell. Many had played, and many knew of a Baltimore third baseman named John McGraw, or a Cleveland right-hander named Denton True "Cyclone" Young. But none lived to see Boston defeat Pittsburgh in the 1903 World Series.

World War I claimed 53,513. Eddie Grant, a third baseman for the New York Giants, was one of them. Many knew about a left-hander named Ruth, but they never lived to see a place called Yankee Stadium, where he hit 'em high and far, and circled the bases on tiptoe while waving to the crowd.

World War II claimed another 292,131.

SCOUTING REPORT

They knew about Dizzy Dean, and they'd sat in the sunshine at Fenway, Wrigley, Comiskey, Tiger Stadium and others. But they never lived long enough to see Jackie Robinson escape a rundown in the big leagues.

The War in Korea took 33,629. Some had played Little League. Some had seen the Polo Grounds and Ebbets Field. But none would ever see Dodger Stadium or Candlestick Park.

Vietnam claimed 47,321 Americans in combat. Many knew about Willie, Mickey and the Duke. But none lived long enough to see Ozzie or Kirby or Dwight. Beirut claimed its share. The victims never saw the Minnesota Twins win the World Series.

Today, the country is 211 years old. Almost a million have fallen. Many rest under grass they cannot smell, their faces turned to a sky they cannot see. We can never measure what they missed.

BASEBALL CENTRAL

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Even after the Tigers were swept over the weekend by the Twins, part of Minnesota's eight-game winning streak, Detroit Manager Sparky Anderson is still picking Oakland as the team to beat in the American League West.

"You sure don't have no showdown when you're nine games behind (actually 8 1/2 before The Athletics' game Sunday)," Anderson said of the meeting next weekend at the Metrodome. "Oakland can afford to lose nine games."

Anderson particularly likes the A's pitching. "They've got 10 pitchers on their staff and all of them are usable. It's pretty hard for them to run into four- or five-game losing streaks."

Of the Twins pitching, Anderson is more skeptical despite the Tigers' ability to total only six runs in three-game series. "They run (Frank) Viola at you and then what? Oakland's got five of them (starters). They've got a decent guy every day. Plus they've got two left-handers in the bullpen. Minnesota's got none."

Anderson also has few doubts about the emotional stability of Oakland in the pennant stretch. "They're not gonna fall apart, not unless they all get hurt. They're not unbeatable, but somebody's gonna have to play real good ball to catch them."

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — It took nearly two months and a near-record setting performance to make it, but Brian Harper Sunday finally got his starting shot for the Twins.

The catcher-outfielder was behind the plate against his old teammates one day after being called up from Triple-A Portland. He went 1 for 4 with an RBI in Minnesota's 6-3 triumph.

"I'm just happy to be here," said Harper. He was the last out in spring training and hit .353 at Portland with 13 homers, including one stretch in which he homered in seven consecutive games. "Homers for me are streaky. I guess I'm just on a good streak."

"Brian's just done everything we could have possibly asked," Minnesota Executive Vice President Andy MacPhail said. "He's earned the chance."

The Twins optioned catcher Tom Nieto to Portland to make room for Harper.

TORONTO (UPI) — Steve Lyons' hot hitting has allowed the utility player to take over at third base for the Chicago White Sox, at least while Ken Williams is disabled.

He hit his first home run of the year Saturday and is 10 for his last 28 (.357).

HD Realty rolls to Pony title

By Mark Blythe
Herald Sports Writer
FIVE POINTS — Shane Stewart came up with a pair of brilliant relief pitching performances to aid HD Realty to two wins Saturday for the outright Pony Division championship. There was no playoff as HD won all four rounds of action.

HD Realty downed Commonwealth Engineers, 10-4, in the opening game, and defeated West Lake Hospital, 15-9, to avoid a playoff for the title.

"It was a great season for us," HD Realty coach Bob Carr said. "Shane came in and did a tremendous job today and helped us out, the whole team did a nice job all year and this is by far the most success we've ever had."

HD, 22-2, went with its ace, Dave Hudick, on the mound in the opening game. Hudick, though, ran into some control problems and allowed four runs over three innings giving up five hits while striking out five batters and walking four. Stewart came on in the fourth inning and allowed just two hits over the final four innings of play and kept Commonwealth off the scoreboard.

HD opened the game with four runs in the top of the first inning to get it moving in the right direction. Hudick and David Eckstein opened things off as each reached on walks, a passed ball moved the runners to second and third with Eric Frey connecting on a single to plate both runners. Frey then stole second and scored when Ryan Trask hit into an error. The error sent Trask to second, he then stole third and scored on a wild pitch to give HD a 4-0 lead.

Commonwealth scored a run in the bottom half of the inning with Chris Blanchette reaching on a walk, Blanchette advanced to second on a ground out and scored on a single by Bobby Gomez.

Commonwealth then tied the score in the bottom of the third inning with its final three runs of the game. Blanchette opened with a walk, after an out Gomez singled to send him to third. Gomez then stole second and both runners scored on a single by Bobby Andino. Andino then stole second and scored on a single by Chad Beland to tie the score at 4-4.

HD put the game away, though, with six runs in the top of the fourth inning. Andy Wolfe opened the inning with a walk followed by a single by J.O. Rombough. Josh Carr then dropped down a bunt single to load up the bases. Hudick then delivered two run single followed by an Eckstein walk. Matt Freeman then ripped a bases clearing double followed by a run scoring single by Frey to give HD a commanding 10-4 lead.

Stewart kept Commonwealth in check as he notched four strike outs with only one walk as he stayed in front of the hitters and kept HD in the drivers seat. Stewart was also called upon in the second game as he came in with a sacrifice fly. Will Vespe cranked a run-scoring double to Miami did not make it to the World Series in 1987, but this year's trip will mark their fourth visit to Omaha, Neb. in five years. The Hurricanes won the national championship in 1982 and 1985.

Righthander Joe Grahe went the distance, scattering 11 hits to get his second win of the tournament and improve his record to 13-4. He also collected a save in Saturday night's 4-2 victory over Georgia Tech.

Dominguez' game-breaker, his eighth home run of the year and second in two nights, broke a 3-3 tie and started Miami rolling. The line drive well over the 330-foot mark in left also scored the singling Mike Fior.

Dominguez also doubled in a run in a five-run Miami seventh inning that put the game away for good.

Sabatini, who was to play Canadian Helen Kelesi in the quarterfinals.

If the weather held, top-seeded Ivan Lendl and 16th-seeded John McEnroe were to meet on center court in a fourth-round match.

McEnroe said he was realistic about his chances of upsetting Lendl, looking for his third consecutive French Open title.

"I need to concentrate, and to play better if I want to go much farther in this tournament," McEnroe said after defeating Michael Chang in the third round. "With Lendl, I can't stay back and hit with him. He's very tough on clay."

"I would have preferred to have played (Stefan) Edberg in the last 16."

McEnroe has made it clear he believes himself more naturally talented than Lendl, but since the Czech became the world's top-ranked player three years ago, the American has never threatened to regain the No. 1 position.

McEnroe — who has won 14 of their 27 career matches — last defeated Lendl in 1985. Lendl has the edge on clay, where he is 4-2 against McEnroe.

In the men's fourth round, fifth-seeded Boris Becker takes on Henri Leconte, the only Frenchman left in singles after the defeat Sunday of Yannick Noah, who lost to Spain's Emilio Sanchez 4-6, 6-3, 6-7 (5-7), 6-2, 6-2.

In an all-Swedish match, Jonas Svensson plays Kent Carlsson, the No. 7 seed.

Australia's Pat Cash, the fourth seed, will test his clay court luck against Soviet Andrei Chesnokov in another men's fourth-round match.

This is the first time in four attempts that the Wimbledon champ has advanced past the first round at Roland Garros stadium, and he could have a hard time with the Soviet clay-court expert.

On Sunday, Martina Navratilova was ousted in the fourth round by Natalia Zvereva of the Soviet Union. Zvereva won a rain-interrupted match 6-3, 7-6 (7-5) to move into the quarterfinals.

Waltrip wins on Hoosiers

CONCORD, N.C. (UPI) — Darrell Waltrip, using Hoosier tires instead of Goodyear tires for the first time, Sunday captured the Coca-Cola 600 at Charlotte Motor Speedway to become the race's first four-time winner.

Averaging 124.460 mph in his Chevrolet, Waltrip finished two car lengths ahead of Rusty Wallace, driving a Pontiac. With nine laps remaining, Waltrip jumped about three car lengths ahead of Wallace and Alan Kulwicki after the three leaders exited the pits.

NASCAR

Goodyear," Waltrip said. "I didn't relish that idea. I knew it would be a tough day. "When I felt a vibration early in the race, I panicked. They changed tires but those were OK. The guys talked to me all day long, giving me lap times. When you see guys outrunning you, and then you see them in the fence, it weighs heavy on you."

Waltrip, who now has 72 Winston Cup career wins, said there was no problem or defect with the Hoosier tires used Sunday. "It (Hoosier President Bob Newton) just built a tire that is too good and that is what tore them up. You had to stay within their limitations," Waltrip said after his first superspeedway victory since October, 1985 at Rockingham, N.C.

By Mark Blythe Herald Sports Writer CASSELBERRY — After 15 performances at the Orlando Jai-Alai Fronton action is only getting better and better according to parimutuels manager Jim Hussard. undergo surgery, but that determination wouldn't be made until Monday.

After undergoing three series of X-rays, doctors ruled Bonnett suffered numerous contusions and abrasions. He was kept overnight for observation. Bonnett's Pontiac crashed into the second turn wall on lap 115. Dale Earnhardt and Geoff Bodine each had problems that weren't tire related. After a bumping incident between the two drivers, Bodine spun between turns three and four, hit the wall, and slid down the track. While sliding, Cale Yarborough crashed into the wall above Bodine, who hit Jim Sautter, and Derricke Cope Sautter into Sautter.

"I felt like that was unjust," Earnhardt said. "What happened was he (Bodine) came down on me, and then he came down on me again. If you look at the tapes, you'll see I didn't try to wreck him. I was just trying to race him."

Strange captures Memorial

DUBLIN, Ohio (UPI) — Curtis Strange shot a 5-under-par 67 Sunday and held off Hale Irwin and David Frost to capture the $1 million Memorial Golf Tournament.

GOLF

Strange drew even with a 10-foot birdie putt on the par-3 12th hole. Then, after a fine third shot out of the sand on the par-5 15th, he made his 2-footer to go on top to stay.

Winning for the second time in five weeks, Strange broke a tie with Frost when he birdied the 490-yard, par-5 15th hole. He sealed the victory with another birdie on the par-4 17th.

Strange finished with a total of 14-under 274 on the Muirfield Village course, his 14th victory on the PGA Tour. Frost, who had a final-round 69, and Irwin, who shot a 70, finished tied for second at 276. Irwin salvaged his second-place tie by chipping in for a birdie on the 18th hole.

Strange, who earned $180,000, began the day one shot behind Irwin, who was trying to become the Memorial's first three-time winner. Frost and Irwin each earned $78,220. Strange, who had never finished better than 10th in his nine previous Memorial appearances, held a three-shot lead entering the ninth hole. But suffered his only bogey of the day while both Irwin and Frost birdied.

TURNER WINS AGAIN

CORNING, N.Y. (UPI) — Sherri Turner shot a 2-under-par 70 Sunday to post her second LPGA tournament victory in as many weeks, holding off South Korea's Ok-hee Ku to win the $325,000 Corning Classic.

Turner finished with a 15-under 273 over the four rounds of the tournament, beating Ku. For Frost, a South African seeking his first victory on the PGA Tour, it was the seventh time he has finished second and the second time in the last seven weeks. Strange, last year's leading money winner on the PGA, trailed briefly on the back side, that coming when Frost ran off birdies on the ninth, 10th and 11th holes to go 12-under.

Michael Andretti placed fourth, Bobby Rahal fifth, and Crawford sixth. "I did nothing illegal," Fittipaldi said. "I'm very pleased with second place. It was a very tough race. I don't think I could've passed him (Mears)."

Unser Sr. said, "I'm glad Rick won the race. I knew we were going to be strong." Mears, 36, of Bakersfield, Calif., led the final 78 laps and crossed the finish under a record 14th yellow flag. Half the total elapsed time of the race was run under cautions. "It was slow going," said Mears, who won the 1979 and 1984 Indy 500's, and is the eighth three-time winner. "Still, it worked out OK, and I'm not complaining. There were a few times I didn't think we were going to make it through."

Danny Sullivan, the 1985 winner, led 47 of the first 94 laps before pitting, and subsequently crashing his Miller Penske-Chevrolet on the 101st lap. Unser Sr. took lead on the 105th lap, but Mears zipped past him seven laps later. After Johnny Rutherford's accident, Unser Sr. pulled around Mears on the 122nd lap, but the pole-sitter responded just seconds later by passing his Penske teammate again.

Fittipaldi pulled within seven seconds by the 180th lap. The Brazilian got no closer, and Mears drove smoothly the rest of the race. Chuck Yeager, the retired Air Force general who was the first aviator to break the sound barrier, drove the pace car. The 33-car field negotiated turn one, but Scott Brayton, Roberto Guerrero, and Tony Bettenhausen crashed into the Turn 2 wall. Some of the drivers was injured. Guerrero, last year's runner-up, failed to finish for first time in five Indy 500 starts. He had not placed lower than fourth in that span. Mears pitted on the 27th lap for tires after dropping as low as eighth place. Sullivan regained the lead on the 34th lap, and opened a 27-second edge on Arie Luyendyk by the 47th lap. Mears passed Sullivan to go onto the same lap as the leader as Chassey crashed heavily during the 81st lap. Sullivan pitted on the 95th lap, and dropped to third before the accident that helped set up Mears' winning charge. Unser Sr. led three laps to become the all-time Indy 500 leader in laps led with 616. He had been tied at 613 with Ralph DePalma.

of the cities, most of the power is placed in the hands of the cities, Bailey said. He said the county opposed the commission because it diluted county strength, but the charter provision was approved by voters.

"I believe that any county of any size that has any growth potential should have a charter," said John DeGrove. "Not because they can run roughshod over the cities in that county, but because it offers a framework for a rich and productive partnership between cities and the county so that really county-wide issues get addressed in a countywide way."

DeGrove is the former Secretary of the Florida Department of Community Affairs and now director of the Florida Atlantic University-Florida International University Joint Center for Environmental and Urban Problems.

Bailey said cooperation with the cities is imperative to a county successfully passing a charter. He said they need to be assured early in the charter drafting process that the proposed charter isn't intended to allow the county to dominate them, but to work more efficiently with them.

DeGrove said constitutional officers — sheriffs, clerks of courts and other elected officials other than county commissioners — need to support the charter or it is almost destined to fail.

"If you have a sheriff out beating the bushes against you, it will be difficult to have a charter passed," DeGrove said. "Treat constitutional officers gently. Sit down with them. Talk to them reason with them."

Although Bailey and the other conference speakers said a "starter charter" — a first charter that does not change the current government — is usually the easiest one to pass, don't waste the charter's potential.

"Rather than write a starter charter, write a charter that creates a structure, creates a system that allows elected officials to address issues," Bailey said.

Bailey said a new charter might include voter incentives to encourage approval. He said one method is to include a voter recall process which allows voters to oust unwanted commissioners.

Jernigan said it looks now like the proposed Florida State Games will be a reality in 1989 and backers hope to sell the state's parks and recreation directors at their annual meeting on the idea of holding a local qualifying event in their cities.

The Games Executive Committee will not meet again until September, but Jernigan said small committees will be holding planning meetings throughout the summer.

Car bomb kills 20 in Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — A car bomb exploded in Christian east Beirut today, killing at least 20 people, wounding 80 others and extensively damaging houses and businesses in a 400-yard radius, police and hospital sources said.

No one immediately claimed responsibility for the bombing, but police said they were looking for a man in his thirties who parked the bobby-trapped car, a blue Volvo laden with 154 pounds of TNT.

Police Lt. Col. Ralf Zeidan said a witness reported seeing the suspect park the car 10 minutes before the blast and fleeing the scene. "The suspect was then seen hurrying out of the area — four minutes later the vehicle blew up," said Zeidan.

The car bomb exploded at 10:20 a.m. — a peak time for morning business — a few hundred yards from St. Georges hospital in a bustling shopping area in Ashrafiyeh. Shrapnel sliced through the shoppers and pedestrians and smashed windows of buildings and shops within a radius of 400 yards, police said.

At least 20 people were killed and 80 wounded in the blast, police and hospital sources said. "The bodies were charred and mutilated beyond recognition," said a source at the St. Georges hospital.

He said the number of dead was expected to rise because "many suffered critical wounds and they may not make it."

The explosion, which gouged a crater more than 2-feet deep and 65-feet wide, also started fires in three buildings and badly damaged eight others. At least 30 cars parked in the area were set ablaze, police said.

Interior Minister Abdullah Al Raci expressed dismay at what he called "the mass murder targeting innocent people."

"Bachelors are still striking in Lebanon — I hope they will be identified and will get the punishment they deserve," Al Raci said in a telephone interview.

Police and militiamen from the Christian Lebanese Forces cordoned off the scene of the blast as ambulances and fire brigades raced to the area.

The streets were littered with human limbs, glass shards and twisted metal. "It is a real massacre, a scene of apocalypse," one witness said.

Police said the bobby-trapped car was obliterated. "Only two tires and part of the engine remained of the car," a policeman said.

Scores of people, crying and beating their cheeks and chests, went to the hospital to try to learn the fate of missing relatives.

Christian radio stations interrupted their programs to plead for blood donations.

correspondence course.

"They don't have to be Christians, but they have to have a teachable heart," said Assistant Chaplain Jim Brown. He said no one has ever been turned down for the program because of the type of crime they committed.

After three months of intensive training, the men will be put back into the general jail population, better equipped to teach and disciple others. Brown said there are only eight of the original inmates left in the program because half have either been released from jail, put back into the general jail population or sentenced to prison. They have been replaced by others carefully selected from the list after much prayer by the two chaplains.

In contrast to the cold and hostile environment usually associated with a jail cell block, the nurture cell exudes a loving, caring spirit — one that was obvious to a group of ministers and members of the chaplain's advisory council, who toured the facility last week.

The visitors divided into groups so they could go into the nurture cell with the inmates, who brought out two guitars and broke out in harmonious sound with the familiar words of Praise God Tota Whom All Blessings resounding through the two-level cellblock. This was followed by Lion of Judah and Amazing Grace. "How sweet the sound that saved a wretch like me, I once was lost but now I'm found, was blind but now I see."

Several of the inmates witnessed to the changes in their lives. "The Lord has blessed me by giving me an opportunity to be in a place that is a nurture cell," said Victor. "He's given me a chance to turn my life around."

"When I was out on the street, I forgot where I came from," said another inmate. "The devil had me down in the gutter and I was literally eating out of trash cans."

Harry said, "Before, I didn't know God. I had heard of Him, but when I came in here I started learning and I've accepted Him as my personal savior."

Another prisoner told of "being saved" while lying on his bunk in the jail. "I had a whole pack of cigarettes and I flushed them down the commode. I tried a cigarette later, but the taste made me want to bring up my food. I was a former disc jockey, but I started liking gospel music better than disco. I asked Him to let me out of that cell and let me come to the nurture cell. Having Christ in my life is the best thing I ever had."

Brown said, "The men in the nurture cell minister back to us as much as we minister to them. It's a tremendous thing, one that is hard to describe in words. It provides a setting that results in peace, communication, growth and consideration for others."

The men in the nurture cell study the Bible in depth, as well as learn in a group setting how to cope with their daily problems on a scriptural basis. Some of the men have been substance abusers who have gone through various programs without finding a solution for their problems.

Another segment of the program will involve teaching participants how to interview for jobs and write resumes. In this first cell, the education level runs the gamut from those with a 10th grade education to some with master's degrees. Their skills range from tabler to corporate executive.

"Nobody wants to leave voluntarily," Brown said, "but after three months they are expected to carry what they have learned with them as they go back to the regular population."

"After we lost a chaplain's assistant when he was released to The Bridge (an Orlando halfway house), we picked a man in the nurture cell to take his place," Brown said. "This meant he had to go back to the regular population. He has done more witnessing in eight or nine days than he could ever do in the nurture cell. He has really touched some people I have been unable to reach. If we've done our job — and we know the Lord has done His — this is the way the program will work."

"The inmates work together as a family. When one of them goes to court the rest are on their knees praying," Brown said.

Brown said of the nurture cell, "It's not just a nice place to stay and read the Bible. If that were the case we wouldn't be involved. The basic thing is a desire to change lives. We're here to teach them how to work those words out — being born in the Spirit to walk in the Spirit."

Pitroff said, "Individuals are at the most vulnerable stage when they are here in the county jail. They are separated from their family, friends and loved ones. They are emotionally tossed about and don't know what's happening. By the time they get to prison, they are pretty good cops, but while they are here we have the opportunity to step in and minister to them. We bring them hope where there is no hope."

Tampa on top 10 crime areas list

DETROIT (UPI) — Fort Worth, Texas, and Tampa, Fla., had the highest number of serious crimes reported per capita last year, the Detroit Free Press reported Sunday in a copyright story.

The Free Press, using population data and crime figures from the FBI's 1987 preliminary Uniform Crime Report released in April, calculated crime rates for the nation's 192 largest cities.

The statistics show that serious crimes reported in Fort Worth rose 7.7 percent from 16,738.9 crimes per 100,000 residents in 1986 to 18,042.1 last year. A total of 77,997 crimes was reported in the city in 1987, compared to 72,403 the previous year.

Fort Worth led all cities in the burglary rate with 4,757.5 per 100,000 residents. A total of 20,567 was reported last year, compared to 19,257 in 1986.

Tampa finished second to Fort Worth, reporting 17,343.6 serious crimes per 100,000 residents in 1987. That figure was up 4.6 percent from 16,567.2 in 1986. A total of 49,578 serious crimes was reported in Tampa last year.

Portland, Ore., which reported the most serious crimes per capita of all major cities in 1986, dropped to third on the list — a 7.1 percent decrease. Calculations indicated 16,702.5 crimes were reported per 100,000 residents in the city, compared to 17,979.6 in 1986.

Hartford, Conn., was fourth on the list and Dallas was fifth. Dallas had the most serious crimes reported of all 192 cities with 165,395, and Detroit had the next highest figure at 139,978.

The figures also found that Detroit led the nation in murder per capita last year. There were 686 homicides in 1987 for a rate of 62.8 murders per 100,000 residents. That number was up 6.4 percent from 1986's rate of 59. Atlanta finished second with a rate of 48.1 per 100,000, up 15.3 percent from 1986.

Flint, Mich., had the highest per capita rate of rapes last year, 188.6 per 100,000 residents — up 2.6 percent. Newark, N.J. was second with 181.2 per 100,000.

Flint also had the largest per capita rate for serious assaults. The city had a rate of 1,952.1 per 100,000 residents, down 12 percent from 2,218.5 in 1986. Tampa was runner-up with a rate of 1,789 per 100,000.

Miami had the most robberies per capita, 1,452.6 per 100,000 residents, followed by Detroit with 1,382.7 per 100,000.

Calculations showed Salt Lake City had the highest larceny rate of the major cities — 9,298.7 per 100,000 residents. The city saw a 7.9 percent increase from 8,617 per 100,000 in 1986.

Gary, Ind., was No. 1 in arson with 426.9 per 100,000, a decrease of 11.2 percent. A total of 587 arsons was reported in 1987, while 689 occurred the previous year.

Newark led the major cities with a vehicle theft rate with 4,362.7 per 100,000, up 7.6 percent. Boston finished second with 3,170.7 per 100,000.

Reagan meets dissidents

MOSCOW (UPI) — President Reagan ignored Kremlin disapproval and stepped up his campaign today for "more, always more" human rights in the Soviet Union, meeting with a diverse group of dissidents and telling them they "have the prayers ... of the American people."

"The United States views human rights as fundamental, absolutely fundamental to our relationship with the Soviet Union and all nations," Reagan said during a reception that lasted more than an hour at Spaso House, the U.S. ambassador's residence.

"From the outset of our administration," he added, "we have stressed that an essential element in improving relations between the United States and Soviet Union is human rights and Soviet compliance with international covenants on human rights."

He told the group of pro-democracy activists and Jewish refuseniks, "We hope that one freedom will lead to another and another. ... There must be more, always more."

The meeting with the dissidents prompted harsh criticism from the Kremlin.

A commentary by the official Tass news agency alluded to interference in internal Soviet affairs and stressed that Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev had not held such controversial meetings during his visit to Washington last December.

"Ideological disputes are in-creditable, but one cannot tolerate the theme of human rights being exploited to whip up hostility in interstate relations and sabotage the processes of disarmament and detente," the news agency said.

But Georgi Arbatov, director of the U.S.-Canada Institute, a Soviet think tank, dismissed the session as "a manifestation of bad political taste. But it is not a big problem, not a big deal."

Kremlin spokesman Gennadi Gerasimov, appearing on CBS's morning news program, said Soviet journalists were covering the event "to explain to the Soviet audience what kind of people the American president considers to be his friends."

But the meeting was not broadcast on Soviet television, he said, because "it is an American event, so to say, it is not on the official program."

Reagan's remarks followed short speeches by three dissidents.

One was Sergi Kovalev, a one-time biologist at the University of Moscow who served seven years in a labor camp after protesting the 1968 Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia. The second was Yuli Kasharovsky, a radio and electronics engineer whose requests to leave the country have been denied for 17 years, and the third, Gleb Yakunin, a Russian Orthodox priest who spent five years in a labor camp.

"Even now many political activists are not free," Kovalev said. "Their crime lies in the fact that yesterday they had the courage to pronounce aloud those truths which today are publicly spoken by the leadership of our country."

"I am a Jew, a refusenik," said Kasharovsky. "I have been denied permission to emigrate for the last 17 yrs. ... Despite democratization, our lot has not improved."

In his speech, Reagan acknowledged the recent release of political prisoners and new permission for larger numbers of Jews to emigrate to Israel, calling them "hopeful signs."

But he added that the Soviet Union has not made the full-fledged commitment to human rights reforms required under international agreements signed in recent years.

DEAR ABBY

Husband sees beauty as a matter of the mind

DEAR ABBY: There is no one in this world I can tell this to but you. My marriage was made in heaven. I have been married for 50 years to a man who adores me. We are financially secure and have a beautiful family of children and grandchildren.

We keep strong lights burning around our home at night for security reasons. About a year ago, my husband began wearing a sleeping mask. Naturally, I thought it was because of the brightness of our bedroom, but I learned differently. He wears it only when we make love. He talks to me at this time about how long and silky my hair is and how firm my body is—just as he did when we were first married, when I was 18 and he was 21.

When I questioned him about this, he said he was "fantasizing" and suggested that I wear a sleep mask, too, so we could both pretend that we are young again!

I can't do that, Abby. He is twice the size he was when we were married—plump, he's bald. Also my hair is long and silky now, it's short and gray. And my body at 68 is far from firm. However, since he started wearing the sleep mask, his lovemaking has improved so much, it's unbelievable.

PERPLEXED IN PASADENA

DEAR PERPLEXED: Why not? If a mask will enhance your enjoyment as it has his, go ahead and wear one.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for asking advertisers (and comedians) not to ridicule the hard of hearing.

Abigail Van Buren

Last Easter, I received a beautiful basket of fruit from my granddaughter. It was delivered by a local florist. I was so pleased—until I saw the card that came with it. On the outside of the envelope containing the card was written: "She is dead, so please, wait for her to answer the dear."

Abby, dear, it spoiled my day.

HURT IN PATERSON, N.J.

DEAR HURT: To have written those instructions on the envelope for the recipient to see was insensitive. I hope you are not blaming your granddaughter for the thoughtlessness of the person who filled the order.

DEAR ABBY: I have been a telephone operator with the Bell system for 18 years, and I am continually amazed at the conduct of some customers on the telephone. I have had people curse, hurp, yawn, cough, sneeze, chew and eat while requesting a telephone number, and I have yet to hear the first "Please excuse me, operator," or a simple "I'm sorry."

This rudeness is universal. One would expect physicians, lawyers, professionals who deal with the public to have better manners. Perhaps they have, but because they can't be seen, they don't bother to use them.

Telephone operators have to deal with abusive drunks and pervers who get their jollies by using obscene language on the phone, and there is no excuse for the source and carry on.

Although to some extent we are computerized, we are still real people manning those telephones, and there is no excuse for such rudeness. If this letter makes a half-dozen people realize that telephone operators are human beings with feelings, then writing it will have been worthwhile.

DISGUSTED IN AMARILLO

DEAR DISGUSTED: I'm sure you are not alone. Anonymity does not justify crudeness. But it certainly fosters it.

DEAR ABBY: I share an apartment with a girl who has two cats. I am not particularly crazy about cats, but I can live with them. The problem is the litter boxes. She has one in the bathroom and one in the kitchen, and you can smell them before you see them.

I am now buying a two-bedroom house. I would like this girl to share the house with me, but I don't want the odor of cats permeating the place. I know if I tell her that the litter boxes should be cleaned more often she'll clean them once, then forget about it until I remind her again. We've been through this several times.

My question: Would it be acceptable if she were to move into my house with me to ask her to keep the litter box in her bedroom?

NOCAT LOVER

DEAR NO: Acceptable, yes. Workable, unlikely. You have already learned that your roommate is able to tolerate the odor of cats permeating the place. If you can't, either be prepared to change the litter box yourself or learn to live with the odor, because it would only be a matter of time before your entire house would smell. (And if you have a basement, move the box there.)

DEAR ABBY: My hat is off to you for the response you gave that woman who asked for a tactful way to tell her two large sisters, whom she wanted to be her bridesmaids, to lose weight before the wedding (supposedly because of difficulties in finding dresses to fit them). You said there was no tactful way. You were right—and then you reminded her that beauty comes in all sizes. Of course, larger dresses could have been made without too much difficulty.

I was recently one of 10 bridesmaids, some of whom (myself included) weighed more than 300 pounds.

We all had beautiful matching gowns made either by the bridesmaid herself or a seamstress, and if I may say so, I think we all looked wonderful. Not only does beauty come in all sizes—so does love and romance. The bride weighed over 300 pounds, too!

A BIG FAN IN BUTLER, PA.

Search continues for an outstanding father

Whether you have one or know one, the Sanford Herald is anxious to hear why that father deserves our title of Outstanding Dad. But don't blame the speed of the mail service if your entry reaches us after noon on Wednesday, June 1—our deadline for contest nominations.

We need our readers—whatever their relation to the nominee—to help out in our Father's Day Contest by writing letters of nomination, to be judged by a panel of judges.

Here's how to enter: Write us a letter about your nominee, telling us why this dad is so special. We are asking for local men. The judging will be based on the quality of letters, not the quantity of letters, so only one letter should be written per nominee.

Letters should be typed or printed clearly. Write the nominee's name, street address, city and day phone number at the top of the page. Then write his qualifications. At the end of the letter, write your name, address, telephone number and age (if under 18). Mail to the PEOPLE Editor, P.O. Box 1657, Sanford 32771, or deliver to 300 N. French Ave.

The top three winners will be featured in the Herald on Father's Day, June 19.

Amputation should be the very last resort

Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My wife's legs and feet are horribly swollen and she has developed ulcers on them. She also has had redness that has extended from her feet to her knees. Her cardiovascular surgeon says she may have a blockage or maybe it's an infection. She's only taking Persantine, which does no good, and he's talking amputation. Should we try another doctor?

DEAR READER: You seem to be describing a common medical condition called stasis dermatitis. As people age, they develop sluggish circulation in the veins of the legs; blood tends to pool in the lower extremities and is unable to return briskly to the heart. Because of gravity, fluid leaks through the walls of veins and capillaries and floods the surrounding tissue, causing swelling (edema), tenderness and brownish-red discoloration. The skin's nutrition is impaired, permitting ulcers and infection to develop. Such venous insufficiency can be associated with additional circulatory problems resulting from poor arterial blood supply to the legs.

To cure the ulcers, doctors must first treat the edema. Only then will the skin return to normal. Swelling from incompetent leg veins often responds to elevation of the legs, elastic hose or other supporting devices, diuretic therapy (to rid tissue of excess fluid), meticulous attention to proper skin care (and avoiding minor injuries), a balanced low-salt diet and — occasionally — surgery to repair diseased veins or remove them entirely.

Your wife's surgeon, by hinting at amputation, is suggesting that most of her problem may be secondary to arterial blockage. From the information you supply, I believe that there are other avenues to explore. For example, bypass surgery or angioplasty (balloon treatment to remove obstruction) would certainly be preferable to amputation. Persantine, a drug used to retard blood clotting, is not — in my opinion — going to help your wife's leg problem.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report, "An Informed Approach to Surgery."

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
The bridge purist always beams his fate when a "card-pusher" brings home a contract that seems to require delicate play. But at times nothing gets in the way of success. Today Willy Nilly was declared. Even he could not avoid making six diamonds.

Willy bid four clubs as asking, although not everyone would treat it as such (it's a matter of partnership agreement). When partner showed two aces, Willy bid six diamonds. He won the opening club lead with the queen and played A-K of diamonds. With the bad trump split disclosed, he went to dummy with the spade queen and cashed A-K of clubs, throwing his two hearts. Then he trumped a heart and played queen and 10 of diamonds. West, who had been compelled to make three discards on diamonds, had thrown two clubs and a heart. That left West with the heart ace and J-6-4 of spades. With East now on lead, the contract was safe. A spade back would effectively kill West's jack, if a heart was returned, declarer would ruff and the ace would fall, and a club back would squeeze West as declarer ruffed.

What if the opening lead were the heart ace? Now Willy would have to play with a little skill, but he could still get home by shortening his trumps to the same length as East's by ruffing a club and a heart. He could end up in dummy, throw a spade on the ace of clubs, and then play good hearts until East ruffs in front of the Q-10 of diamonds.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring...

By Bernice Bede Oool
YOUR BIRTHDAY
MAY 31, 1968

You're going to form an important new association in the year ahead. It will be with a person who views life differently than you do, but the results will be successful when you work together.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Today, if you have to deal with someone of whom you're not overly fond, take extra pains to be tactful and diplomatic. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) I hope you haven't been sweeping too much under the rug lately; this could be a day when duties you've neglected may pop up to haunt you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Today, try to avoid involvements with groups that contain people you dislike. Things could happen now that could cause you to look on them even more unfavorably.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If your performance hasn't been up to par lately, you may soon find yourself in a position where the boss starts scrutinizing your every move.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This is not a good day to discuss politics or religion. You might have to deal with someone who overreacts at something you say that wasn't intended to be serious.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Continue to manage your resources with prudence today. Try not to assume any new obligations, and also be careful to whom you make loans.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you are reluctant to make a decision today regarding an important issue, someone with whom you are affiliated may take it on himself to do it for you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) In order to be productive today, you must have both method and motive. If your approach to your work is indifferent, you could chalk up a wasted day.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Usually you're in tune with the crowd, but today, in group activities, you might find yourself in a minority position that you may feel compelled to defend.

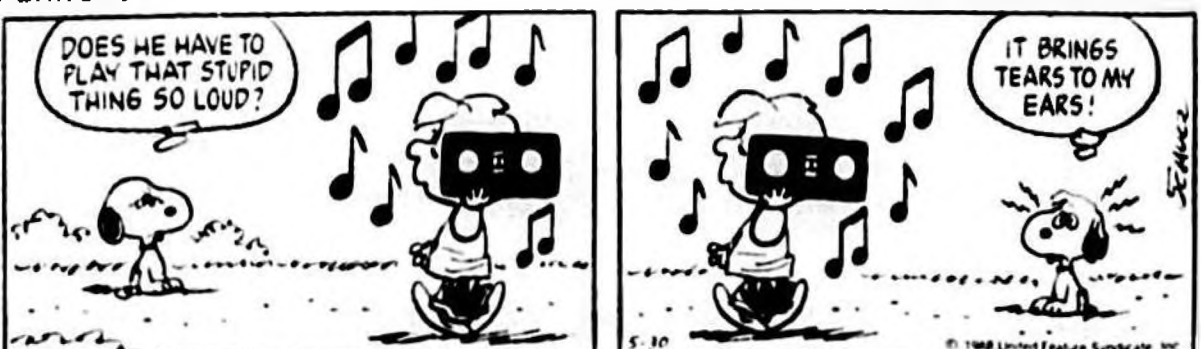

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) In order to achieve your objectives today, you are going to have to be tenacious and persistent. If you're not, you might get close to your goals without grasping the brass ring.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) An arrangement with which you thought others were in accord might be challenged today. Trying to force compliance could make matters worse.

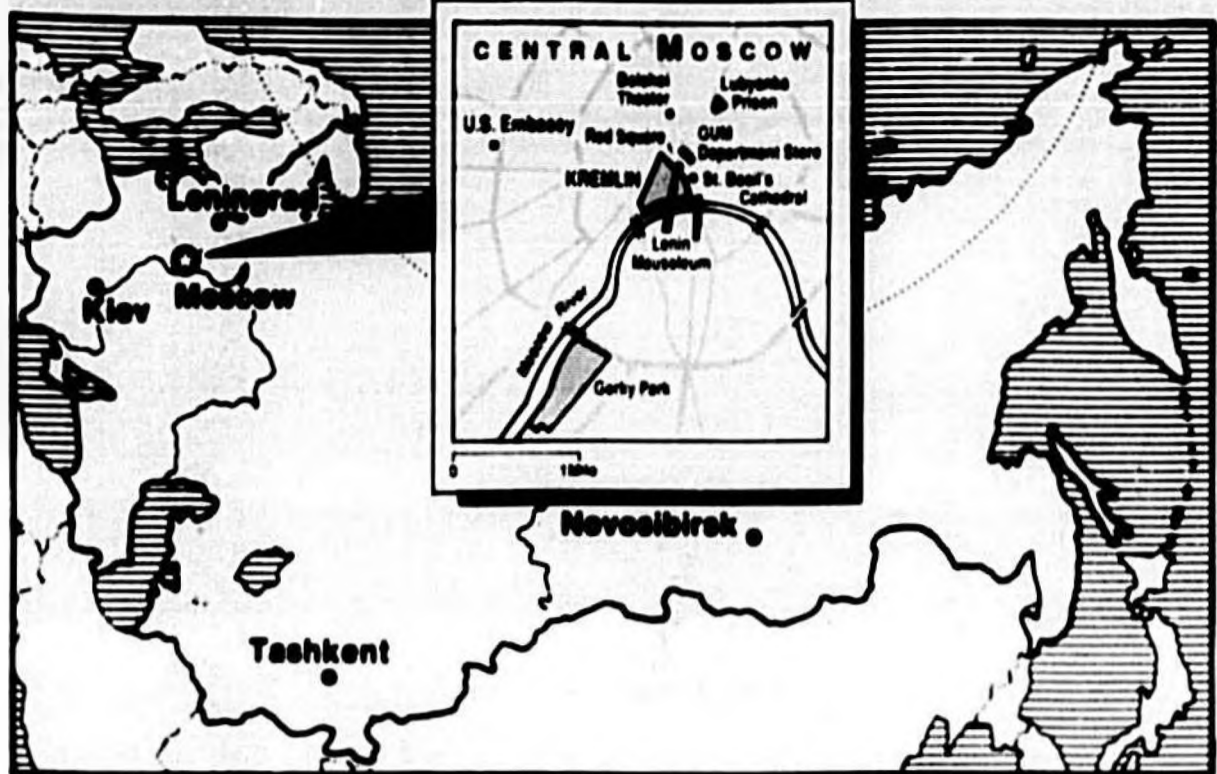

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your vision for values might be a trifle blurred today. There is a possibility that you'll pay more for something than it is really worth.

REAGAN in RUSSIA

SOVIET UNION

Summit to produce at least one, maybe two, arms pacts

MOSCOW (UPI) — President Reagan and Soviet leader Mikhail Gorbachev will sign at least one minor arms control accord and possibly two at their Moscow summit. U.S. officials said today.

However, they discounted chances of any substantive breakthroughs on the long-term superpower objective of 50 percent reductions in strategic nuclear arsenals, the stocks of long-range missiles and bombers able to strike one another's homeland.

All the same, experts were completing final arrangements for an agreement letting inspectors monitor underground nuclear explosions to test the effectiveness of equipment used to detect tests and check explosive yields.

Soviet scientists will go to Nevada in July to monitor a U.S. explosion while an American team will do the same in August at the Soviet testing site in Semipalatinsk.

Technical and procedural details for the joint tests — agreed in principle at the Washington summit in December — "will be finished" in time for signing Wednesday, the same day paperwork on the new Intermediate-Range Nuclear Forces treaty will be exchanged, State Department spokesman Charles Redman told reporters.

The idea behind the experiments is to reassure each power that its seismic detection technologies are sufficiently advanced to permit long-delayed ratification of old 1974 and 1976 nuclear test limitations.

Those agreements limited underground explosions to 150 kilotons — equivalent to 150,000 tons of TNT and more than 10 times the power of the Hiroshima atomic bomb.

The second minor accord, which stood a last-minute chance of completion in Moscow, involved mutual notification of intercontinental ballistic missile tests. Each power has long given advance warning of such tests over international waters to avoid endangering shipping and aircraft.

A formal document extending such notification to tests over land would place obligations primarily on the Soviets since U.S. flights are over the sea.

There had been doubt just before the summit began Sunday that the missile test notification agreement could be completed because of undisclosed Soviet hedging and demands.

"Things change," Redman said Monday in spreading word at the summit press center that an accord "may be signed."

As for strategic nuclear arms, he said, the most promising area for at least some progress was a system for counting air-launched cruise missiles. Progress "could" also be made on ways to monitor land-based mobile missiles, Redman said.

There was little if any chance, however, of movement on sea-launched cruise missiles.

While heavy bombers can always be assumed to be carrying a maximum load of nuclear bombs or nuclear-tipped missiles, smaller sea-launched cruise missiles could be concealed on any kind of vessel.

For military planners, that means that any ship with such a missile must be considered to be carrying nuclear weapons.

'Leading ladies' deny rumors of bad relationship

MOSCOW (UPI) — First ladies Nancy Reagan and Raisa Gorbachev renewed their superpower relationship with tea, chit-chat and denials their relationship is plagued by jealousy and bad blood.

Having weathered her first Moscow get-together with Mrs. Gorbachev Sunday, the first lady was to be accompanied by Nanuli Shevardnadze, the wife of foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze, Monday when she visits state school number 29 and the grave of Boris Pasternak, the author of Doctor Zhivago, which was not published in the Soviet Union until Gorbachev rose to power.

Mrs. Reagan will also have lunch with Soviet writers after the visit to the gravesite. Raisa and Nancy only meet again Monday night at the state banquet in the Kremlin.

The meeting between the two first ladies was their first since former White House chit of staff Donald Regan wrote about their mutual enmity in a recent book.

Both Mrs. Gorbachev and Mrs. Reagan said the reports and rumors were overblown and sought to demonstrate that with a hand-in-hand stroll through the ancient Kremlin grounds.

But compared to the warm handshakes and glowing smiles their husbands exchanged during their first meeting, the two women seemed tense and just a bit uneasy.

Melees, brawls disrupt Memorial Day festivities

By United Press International
A Memorial Day festival in Texas, a rowdy college party in California and a drag race in Utah erupted into rock- and bottle-throwing melees and brawls that left at least a dozen people hurt and more than 30 jailed.

In the Houston suburb of Pasadena, two men were stabbed and a woman was shot Sunday night in a series of free-for-all involving people returning from a Memorial Day festival.

Sherry Longoria, 24, was in extremely critical condition at Hermann Hospital; Javier Torres, 17, and Joe Torres, 26, were both listed as critical but stable condition, hospital spokeswoman Darlene Dymond.

Police Lt. Mike Gibson said drinking apparently was involved in the fights, in which people battled with tire irons and boards as the holiday crowd left the fairgrounds.

In Utah, about 75 police and sheriff's deputies in riot gear battled two hours with rock-throwing racing fans in a crowd of about 10,000 at the Bonneville Raceway Park in West Valley City about 15 miles west of Salt Lake City late Saturday after members of the crowd attacked two officers trying to break up a fight, police said Sunday.

Nine people were booked on charges ranging from inciting a riot to public intoxication.

"These guys just had too much booze," detective Ron Edwards said. "They thought they could whip the world."

Several other people, including a race announcer who police said refused their request to use his microphone to help restore order, were handcuffed but released. Police said charges could still be filed against track announcer Brandon Oee.

"We did not get total cooperation from the management of the raceway," Police Chief Dennis Nordfield said.

Three officers and two spectators were treated for minor injuries and released from hospitals, but witnesses said dozens of other racegoers were injured by police dogs, flying glass and rocks.

WE REMEMBER

Memorial Day, let's pause a moment from our daily lives...our comfort, our peace and our freedom...to remember the men and women who fought and died so that we may enjoy the privilege of being Americans. Proudly, we honor all the people of our armed forces...from all wars. Their courage was our greatest triumph, their sacrifice our greatest loss.
