Fire destroys mobile home

SANFORD — Fire destroyed a mobile home in lot 22 at the Park Avenue Trailer Park, 2545 S. Park Avenue late Thursday night.

The Sanford Fire Department received the call at 10:38 p.m., and by the time they arrived at the scene, the structure was encompassed with flame. Although the extent of the damage has not been determined, Sanford Fire Chief J.F. Poovey said "the mobile home was pretty much totaled."

The structure was being rented by Tricia Patterson, 51. Firemen say she had minor burns on her hands from the fire. Chief Poovey said they could have possibly been caused as the woman touched a door or some other item while she was leaving the burning structure.

The cause of the fire is still under investigation by the Fire Marshal's office. No other nearby structures were damaged in the blaze.

Pastor's wife robbed at church

SANFORD — Melanie Krall, wife of Pastor Jeff Krall of the Family Worship Center, was assaulted and robbed of $500 in cash and jewelry last evening, according to police reports.

The incident occurred in the church's fellowship hall at 2451 Airport Blvd. in Sanford.

Two men followed Krall into the church at 6:10 p.m. Thursday evening she reported. One of the men pulled a silver revolver from his pants and demanded all her jewelry while the other man removed her wallet, which contained $20 in cash, from her purse, according to the police report.

The Worship Committee of the First Christian Church, 1670 S. Sanford Ave., Sanford, presented a tableau of "The Last Supper" during the congregation's celebration of Maundy Thursday and as part of Holy Week. Members of the church, from left to right, John Medley, Gus Garges, Guy Neville, Wayne Williamson, Fred Johnson, Donny Harrison, Mike Harrison, Don Evans, Clebie Dobson, George Medley, Danny Harrison, Art Priddle, and Mill Hazel, portrayed Jesus and his disciples. Rev. S. Edward Johnson, pastor.

SANFORD — The Sanford Ministerial Association's Third Annual Sunrise Service is to be held outdoors at Centennial Park at 7 a.m. Easter Sunday morning, weather permitting.

In case of inclement weather, the event will be moved to the First Baptist Church at 519 Park Ave., Sanford.

According to the the National Weather Service at the Orlando International Airport, there is a slight chance of rain Sunday with temperatures expected to be in the 60s.

Spectators wishing to sit at the park should bring lawn chairs to the service of uplifting music and scripture at the park, located on the corner of Fourth Street and Park Avenue downtown.

The Rev. Tom Tkachuk is pastor in charge of organizing the service and music. He is from Congregational Christian Church, Sanford.

The service this year will take on a musical theme with Pinecrest Baptist Church, Congregational Christian Church, First United Methodist Church, First Baptist Church, West Sanford Free Will Holiness Church, First Presbyterian Church, and Freedom Assembly of God, all of Sanford, providing soloists and congregational hymns to inspire the hearts of the young and old. The keyboard accompaniment will be provided courtesy of Mary Betty Smith.

Three minute scriptural meditations will be given by Rev. George Spranz of the First Presbyterian Church, Rev. Floyd Blake of the First Baptist Church and Rev. Elijah June of West Sanford Free Will Holiness Church. Police Chief Steve Harriett will be in charge of the sound system.

There will be no organized vehicle parking available; participants may park along the street around the park, according to Rev. Tkachuk.

"We had approximately 300 people at the park last year," said Rev. Tkachuk. "We are expecting at least that many this year."

An offering from the Sunday service will be combined with the taking of the Good Friday service which was held today at the First United Methodist Church, Sanford. The contribution will be donated to the Rescue Outreach Mission, on E3th Street, in Sanford, to benefit the needy and homeless in the Sanford area.

"I would just like to say that I am really pleased with the support of many of the churches," Rev. Tkachuk said. "I hope this service See Sunrise, Page 5A

SANFORD — The Central Florida Zoological Park is ready for what is hoped will be its best attended annual Easter Egg Hunt tomorrow morning. Over 5,000 eggs were colored yesterday morning.

Between 800 and 1,000 children, from toddlers through 10 years of age are expected to be at the facility to hunt for the eggs beginning at 10:30 a.m. The park's Marketing Coordinator, Andrea Farmer said the children will be separated into age groups with toddlers first at 10:30, followed by 4 to 6 year olds at 11:00 and 7 through See Eggs, Page 5A

Kids in kitchen find cooking 'kinda' fun

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Erika Taylor was learning about cooking breakfast. She was washing the dishes.

"Was the Longwood 10 year old having fun? Kinda."

"How did she get the cleanup job? We flipped a coin."

"Did you win or lose?" Host

Erika said she did get to mash the bananas. That's gross.

John Waldrop, 9, admitted to having a bit more fun. Although his mother set him to the class he said he'd enjoy making breakfast every once in a while. His breakfast is usually prepared by his 15 year old sister, John said.

Erika and John were two of about 30 kids at the 4-H special class Thursday learning fun and easy things to make for breakfast. Lure included banana muffins and ham and cheese stuffed French toast. Next week, a class is planned for picnic preparations, said coordinator Sheila Wilkens.

"We teach fast and easy food preparation skills so the kids can prepare food at home," Wilkens explained.

Nearby Beau Duvrea, 7, of Lake Mary was receiving instructions on cracking an egg. He gingerly cupped the egg on the side of the measuring cup with barely enough pressure to make a sound. "Tap a little harder," an instructor suggested. A split developed around the egg, but the boy refused to give up its shiny contents.

A 4-H supervisor quickly split a needed egg and emptied it in the microwave bowl. Beau plopped his See Cooking, Page 5A

Man acquitted for resale of tickets

KISSIMMEE — A jury has acquitted a man of illegally selling two partially used Disney World passes to an undercover sheriff's deputy.

Some of the jurors said Wednesday that the 3-year-old statute that prohibits the resale or transfer of partially used, multi-day attraction passes is unfair and unconstitutional.

James L. Hume of Kissimmee was the first person to be tried in Osceola County on charges of violating the law.

Hume and 11 others were arrested during a two-day roundup last July. Undercover sheriff's deputies, dressed as tourists, bought the passes at motels along U.S. Highway 192.

While each of the multi-day passes had only one day of use left and was sold for about the same price that Disney charged, they were good for all three of Disney's parks. A one-day pass bought at the attraction is good for admission to only one park.

Some companies and individuals buy partially used passes from tourists and resell them at a profit.

Son charged in death of mother

TAMPA — Deputies have charged a man with first-degree murder, saying he attacked his mother with a lawn-mower blade.

Bernice Andrews Scott, 48, died at Tampa General Hospital late Wednesday after a neighbor saw her lying in her back yard and called 911.

Frank Alexander Thomas, 30, was arrested driving his mother's car about an hour after her death, said Hillsborough County sheriff's spokesman Jack Espinosa. Scott and her son began arguing earlier in the day at the family home, Espinosa said.

Thomas was being held Thursday in the Hillsborough County Jail.

Jury rules in favor of St. Pete Times

TAMPA — A jury has ruled in favor of the St. Petersburg Times in a libel suit filed by two former Pasco County sheriff's officials over a 1983 series of Pulitzer Prize-winning articles.

The six-member jury decided Wednesday that the articles about former Sheriff John M. Short and former Deputy John T. Moorman were true.

"What I hope this verdict does is send a message that use of the court system to try and to intimidate a free, vigorous, responsible press won't work," said Times Executive Editor Mike Foley.

Short and Moorman left the courtroom quickly without comment after the verdict was announced. Moorman's attorney, Bennie Lazzara Jr., said he would consider an appeal.

Staff members Lucy Morgan and Jack Reed, also named as defendants in the suit, won the Pulitzer Prize in 1985 for their series of stories about Short's department.

Shackled teens incident investigated

FORT LAUDERDALE — The Broward County sheriff's office is investigating an incident in which 19 jailed teen-agers were shackled to railings, tables and bed frames, then left that way.

The youths had been involved in a disturbance, but when the jailers on duty ended their shift, they didn't tell those replacing them what had happened, said Maj. Ralph Page, a Broward Sheriff's Office spokesman. Deputies on the next shift were surprised to find the shackled prisoners, he said.

"We are investigating allegations involving juvenile prisoners and abuses of their rights," Page said. "There was an incident, and people were shackled. Obviously, we don't think it was handled properly."

Citing that investigation, the sheriff's office wouldn't identify the prisoners involved and would not provide information about their physical condition.

The youths were awaiting trial on serious charges. Page said investigators are trying to determine how long they were shackled in the March 4 incident.

Suit filed against correspondence school

WEST PALM BEACH — A prison inmate who wanted to become more than a jailhouse lawyer has filed suit against a correspondence school that offered paralegal courses.

Steven C. Naugle's suit, which he filed in Palm Beach County Circuit Court, claims that Southern Career Institute told him he would become a "certified" paralegal by taking the courses. He found later he couldn't use that title, the suit says.

The suit asks for $7,667.97 in general damages for "time wasted in defendant's school" and $2,555.99 in actual damages — the amount of a federal student loan Naugle said the school secured for him plus $1,000 he says his father paid for one course.

Naugle, 32, who was convicted of armed robbery and is serving a 45-year sentence in Tomoka Correctional Institution in Daytona Beach, told the court he was indigent and was allowed to file the suit without cost. He demanded a jury trial.

In a telephone interview, Naugle said Wednesday he wants to be certified because he performs legal work for inmates and sometimes for lawyers.

Court expands child abuse rules

Abuse of one child jeopardizes others

By JACKIE HALLIFAX
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — People can lose custody of their children based on their abuse of other children, the state Supreme Court said as it upheld a decision to take a newborn baby away from its parents.

"Florida district courts repeatedly have upheld the practice of terminating parental rights based on the prior abuse or neglect of other children," Chief Justice Leander Shaw wrote in Thursday's unanimous ruling.

The issue was raised by the 5th District Court of Appeal, which had upheld a lower court's decision to put a baby born to Thomas and Mary Padgett up for adoption.

The state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services had taken the baby from Mrs. Padgett two days after she gave birth in December 1985.

That action was based on the Padgetts' record as parents. In June 1984, HRS had taken a daughter from Mrs. Padgett shortly after her birth because hospital officials reported Mrs. Padgett had been "poking" the newborn, according to court documents.

Also, four children born to Padgett during a former marriage had been taken from the family in 1981 because of "extreme neglect."

Meanwhile, Mrs. Padgett had pleaded guilty to aggravated child abuse stemming from the sexual abuse of a 4-year-old girl left in her care. She was placed on probation and banned from contact with children unless another adult was present.

2 officers indicted in beating death

ASSOCIATED PRESS

WEST PALM BEACH — The mother of a man beaten to death by two police officers was elated when a grand jury indicted the officers on second-degree murder charges.

"I'm very delighted that justice was served," Louise Jewett said. "It takes a special kind of person to be a police officer. But they've got to have some cool. They've got to have some empathy."

"Why did they have to keep hitting him?"

The grand jury issued their indictments of Stephen Rollins and Glen Thurlow about 7 p.m. Thursday in the beating death of Robert Jewett after the 34-year-old pedestrian scuffled with the officers.

The panel had deliberated for four hours, sifting through the testimony offered by dozens of witnesses over the past four days.

The testimony included autopsy reports that Jewett died from blunt trauma to the chest and neck.

Nursing home first to be charged

Associated Press

FORT MYERS — A nursing home that became the first in the state to be charged with criminal neglect in the death of a patient had a long record of violations, according to state officials.

The case involved an 81-year-old Alzheimer's patient who died last year.

Prosecutors said Thursday the case against Crossgates Medical Inc., owner and operator of Cross Key Manor in Lehigh Acres, marks the first time the state has used statutes covering felony neglect of an aged person.

The arraignment on the charges is scheduled for April 12, when a representative of the Pennsylvania-based patient company must appear in Lee Circuit Court to enter a plea. If the corporation pleads not guilty, a trial date will be set.

The patient, Mildred Bule, was a patient at Cross Key Manor. She was admitted to East Pointe Hospital in Lehigh last April suffering from rectal bleeding, dehydration and was evaluated for pneumonia.

"Her body was filthy with dried, caked food in her mouth," said Lee State Attorney's Office spokeswoman Tracey Lou Melnesco.

Ms. Bule died two days later after doctors determined she was "so severely impacted with feces that her colon had actually perforated," the spokeswoman said.

The state Department of Health and Human Services inspects nursing homes on an annual basis, and Cross Key Manor has been cited for numerous violations in the past, according to HRS records.

The nursing home continued to operate Thursday night.

Utility bill passes in closest vote of session

ASSOCIATED PRESS

TALLAHASSEE — In the closest major vote of the legislative session, the Florida House has passed a bill allowing the state to set service area boundaries for electric utilities.

Also Thursday, House Republicans floated a plan to increase the fee on a license tag to help pay for poor people's health care and fund Gov. Lawton Chiles' proposal to improve care for poor mothers and babies.

The electric bill (CS-HB 1863) sent to the Senate on a 57-54 vote would allow the state Public Service Commission to set permanent boundaries for electric utilities.

Opponents say the bill could violate the constitutional amendment limiting lawmakers' authority to pass laws mandating costs for local governments without providing the money.

Current law allows utilities that covet the same territory to work out boundaries among themselves or take the issue to court. But cities have the right to provide electricity to annexed territory.

Supporters, including Florida Power & Light Co. and the state's rural electric cooperatives, contend the bill would cut down on costly legal battles and reduce rates by bringing more economic certainty to the marketplace.

Florida Power Corp., Gulf Power Co. and cities that have their own electric service oppose

POLICE BRIEFS

Girls report sexual attack

LONGWOOD — Two 10-year-old girls report a man sexually assaulted them while they were playing in the clubhouse at their parent's condominium Sunday.

The two girls reported to Seminole County sheriff's investigators they were playing billiards in the Springwood Village Condominiums when a condominium employee approached them. One girl said the man rubbed her below her waist through her shorts until she told him to stop. The second girl said the man then approached her and slipped his hands into her shorts and rubbed her.

Both girls report the man had given them gifts, such as money, wallets and jewelry in the past. No arrests have been made.

Pair charged with shoplifting

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Tina Cheryl Brown, 26, 2430 Church St., Sanford, and Angela Yvonne Slack, 30, 113 Scott St., Sanford, were arrested Wednesday for shoplifting $396 in clothes from Jordan Marsh. Altamonte Springs police reports show.

Reports state a store security guard noticed the two women left a dressing room with less clothes than they took in. Both were charged with grand theft and held on $1,000 bond.

Lewd actions charged

LONGWOOD — Three arrests were made at Big Tree Park Wednesday by agents of the City County Investigative Bureau for lewd and lascivious actions.

James Bruce Hudson, 49, Orlando, was charged with offering to commit a lewd act. William James Spurrell, 46, 613 Myrtle Ave., Sanford, was charged with committing a lewd and lascivious act and battery when he allegedly grabbed an undercover agent.

Harold Miller Hall, 42, 179 E. Main Ave., Longwood, was charged with offering to commit a lewd act and exhibiting lewd and lascivious behaviour.

All three were taken to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility on $100 bond.

Parents report son

LAKE MARY — Chad Aaron Brady, 20, 675 Tomlinson Terrace, Lake Mary, was charged with grand theft by Seminole County deputies after his parents reported he took $1,100 in jewelry and other items from them March 23.

He told deputies he took the items to "get back" at his parents. He was held on $1,000 bond.

Two burglaries reported

Two burglaries have been reported in the Sanford and Lake Mary areas. They are:

• 637 Riverview St., Sanford: computer games, cash and other items valued at $411 were reported taken Wednesday between 11:50 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Several window sections were found removed. Seminole County deputies reported.

• 384 Chaucer Lane, Lake Mary: 9mm handgun, jewelry and a camera valued at $2,610 reported taken sometime Wednesday between 11 a.m. and 2:45 p.m. Entry occurred through unlocked bedroom window, deputies reported.

Personal touch

Jean Metts, community relations chairman for the local chapter of RSVP, accepts a $100 personal check from Seminole County Sheriff Don Eslinger yesterday. Eslinger gave the money to the group to help pay for their Seniors Prom which will be held at the American Legion Post in Sanford on May 4.

Chamber seeks work on Silver Lake Drive

NICK PFEIFAU
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce Transportation Committee has strongly endorsed a lengthy extension of Silver Lake Drive to help move highway traffic going between the proposed Seminole County Expressway and C.R. 415.

The committee asked Seminole County and the City of Sanford to consider it for a 1991 priority project.

The Chamber's Executive Director, David Farr, said the extension of the route wasn't anything new. "It's been kicked around for the past 10 years," he said, "but now with the proposed expressway, it has become a much greater need in the area."

Farr explained that it would provide an excellent route for people heading south on I-95 into the Sanford and Orlando area, as well as people heading in the opposite direction. "With the possibility of a new entrance from the south into Sanford's Central Florida Regional Airport near the proposed extension, it will go a long way toward helping provide easier access to that facility," Farr said the Airport leadership has been in agreement with the extension proposal.

In Deland yesterday, Steve Homan, Director of Public Relations for the Department of Transportation said, "Bids will be opened early next month for a road project that would re-pave and improve C.R. 415 between the St. Johns River Bridge and Enterprise Road in Osteen in the near future." The project would provide even better roadways between the Sanford and beach areas of New Smyrna Beach and Daytona Beach.

Silver Lake Drive runs easterly from the end of Lake Mary Boulevard at Highway 427. It runs east for slightly over one mile. At that point, it ends with a northerly exit by way of Ohio Avenue. Under the proposal, Silver Lake Drive would continue eastward, running south of the airport, then turning northerly near Cameron Avenue to intersect with the junction of S.R. 46 and C.R. 415.

Following the Chamber's Transportation Committee meeting earlier this month, Farr sent a letter to Fred Streetman, Chairman of the Seminole County Commission, with copies to Sanford City Commissioner Lon Howell and the airport's Director of Aviation, Steve Cooke.

Farr not only reported on the Silver Lake Drive extension, but other projects that were also recommended by the Chamber committee. These included four lanes Sanford Avenue from Lake Mary Boulevard to Airport Boulevard and the recent re-laning of 25th Street. The committee suggested that the shift that moved the 4-lane section of 25th street, into three lanes be returned to its original concept. Farr wrote, "The committee appreciates the County's concern for the safety of motorists on West 25th Street but feels that the previous configuration was satisfactory and the need for improved safety is not warranted."

The letter said the committee realizes their recommended projects cannot be accomplished in a single year, but it hopes the priorities will be shared by the Commission and staff as short and long range projects.

Sanford City Manager Bill Simmons is the present chairman of the chamber's Transportation Committee.

Dentist indicted in death of eight-year-old patient

From staff reports

SANFORD — Dr. Dwight Barron, 36, of 201 Thistlewood Cir. in Longwood, turned himself in to authorities at the John E. Polk Correctional Facility where he was charged with manslaughter in the death of an eight-year-old patient in 1989.

A grand jury hearing the case handed down a sealed indictment to the Sheriff's Department on Thursday and, according to George Proechel, the department's public information officer, Barron came to the jail with his attorney, former Orange County State Attorney Robert Eagan, and turned himself in.

"He was booked and bond was set at $5,000," said Proechel.

"He then posted bond and left." Barron's trial date has not yet been set.

In August of 1989, Barron — whose practice is in Altamonte Springs — was removing several of Jenny Crenshaw's baby teeth in a routine procedure and when the anesthesia was administered, Crenshaw allegedly went into convulsions caused by an overdose of the medication, according to law enforcement reports.

The grand jury noted that Barron's staff was not properly trained for emergency situations and did not have a written emergency procedure.

The grand jury also called for the state to regulate dentists and monitor their qualifications more closely.

Horseplay results in Oviedo boy's death

Staff, wire reports

OVIDEO — Sheriff's investigators believe the shotgun shooting death of a 17-year-old boy at an unsupervised party was the result of horseplay.

Harold Black was playing with friends at a companion's home Tuesday night when one of the teens apparently grabbed a 12-gauge shotgun, pointed it at Black's face and accidentally fired, sheriff's officials said.

"At this point in our investigation, we do not suspect foul play," Seminole County sheriff's spokesman George Proechel said. "It's another tragic case of kids with firearms." Proechel added that the investigation is continuing slowly, noting that the youngsters involved in the shooting were "pretty shaken up that night and the following day."

No one has been arrested in the shooting. A 16-year-old who removed the gun from a rack and brought it into the living room could face charges, Proechel said.

"It may be a charge of negligence if it comes to that," Proechel added.

Investigation continues

He noted that the investigation may take a while longer as the sheriff's department wants to be sure to do a "very thorough investigation in this case."

Except for Black, the names of the youths at the party were not released because of their ages. They were students at Oviedo High School. Black left school at the beginning of the school year but planned to return next fall, according to friends.

Losing campaign

Mikhail Gorbachev's bid to preserve the tattered Union of Soviet Socialist Republics with a loaded referendum has done nothing to blunt the secessionist campaigns that are rending the country. But the mixed outcome of the balloting may give Gorbachev a bit more time to negotiate new relationships between the Kremlin and the 15 republics — provided he is genuinely willing to do so.

As the Soviet leader marks his sixth anniversary in power, he is concentrating all his efforts on holding the union together forcibly from the center and perpetuating the Communist Party's suffocating dominance. By choosing authoritarian order over progress, he has sacrificed the drive toward economic and political reform, at least for the present.

Thus it is far from certain that Gorbachev accepts the idea of decentralizing Moscow's power — an essential first step toward democracy and a free market economy. Ironically, a sweeping reordering of the ties between the center and the newly democratizing republics is perhaps the only peaceful way to maintain the union in anything close to its present form.

The longer the Kremlin attempts to smother the republics' aspirations for self-determination, the greater the risk of a violent upheaval that would be catastrophic for the Soviet Union and enhance the risk of instability in Central Europe and elsewhere. Nor is it in the interests of the United States for a nuclear-armed U.S.S.R. to be engulfed by massive social unrest or civil war.

The question put to voters in the U.S.S.R.'s first nationwide referendum was stacked to evoke a positive response: "Do you consider it necessary to preserve the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics as a renewed federation of equal sovereign republics in which human rights and freedoms of any nationality will be fully guaranteed?"

Such a benign and vague formulation apparently garnered a majority of "da" votes in most of the country. But it was far from a resounding endorsement of Gorbachev's policies.

The negative vote was particularly strong in Russia, which comprises half of the Soviet population and two-thirds of the country's land and resources. Moreover, Russian voters overwhelmingly supported a second question proposing the direct election of the republic's president. These results can only be interpreted as a broad vote of popular support for Gorbachev's chief rival, Boris Yeltsin, the leader of the Russian Federation, who urged a "nyet" vote on the Kremlin's referendum.

Even more significant, six republics defied Moscow and boycotted the balloting altogether. These included Lithuania, Estonia and Latvia, the three Baltic republics that already have held referendums in which voters by wide margins have demanded their independence. In the western Ukraine, a stronghold of separatist sentiment, voters rejected Gorbachev's question and instead adopted one calling for the Ukraine to become an independent state.

Gorbachev's half-measures in both the political and economic arenas are not likely to rescue the Soviet Union from its steadily deteriorating plight. Rather, the Kremlin leader is fighting a losing campaign to maintain the authoritarian control of the thoroughly discredited Communist Party.

In a recent article in the magazine Ogonyok, Yeltsin aptly described the Soviet Union's dismal situation: "The leadership is dragging the country to chaos and ruin in its attempt to preserve a system rotten to the core."

Now the Russians really are coming

The United States may soon be facing a new immigration crisis, different in key respects from earlier ones and involving important new policy decisions.

According to the Heritage Foundation, a highly respected conservative think tank based in Washington and not given to hysterical exaggeration, roughly 1 million Russian emigres are expected to apply for entry to the United States this year alone.

The author of the Heritage study is Leon Aron, senior policy analyst in Soviet studies at the foundation and himself a 1978 emigre from the Soviet Union.

According to Aron, the "decisive factor" in the departure of so many ethnic Russians from the Soviet Union is the collapse of the Soviet domestic empire, which is causing the forced repatriation of hundreds of thousands of Russians from such non-Russian republics as Azerbaijan, Tadzhikistan and Uzbekistan. There is simply no room in Russia proper for these refugees — and no jobs, or even food, either. Other factors in the emigration include, of course, poverty, economic collapse and a lack of public health care or housing for residents of the Russian Republic itself.

What will turn on the emigration spigot is Moscow's proposed open-door emigration policy, which the Supreme Soviet is expected to approve this summer. This, ironically, is something the United States has long demanded. (Take care, by the way, to distinguish these emigres from the Russian Jews who have recently been allowed to emigrate by the hundreds of thousands to Israel.)

Present U.S. immigration policy simply doesn't provide for the admission of such quantities of Russians. Up to 20,000 per year may enter the United States if they have family ties here or special skills in short supply. But Washington already has 150,000 applications for immigration by Soviet families, representing between 375,000 men, women and children; and 800,000 Soviet citizens have obtained immigration forms from our Moscow embassy since October 1989. Almost none of these qualify under current laws.

What to do about such an influx is bound to provoke heated controversy in the United States — not least within the conservative movement itself.

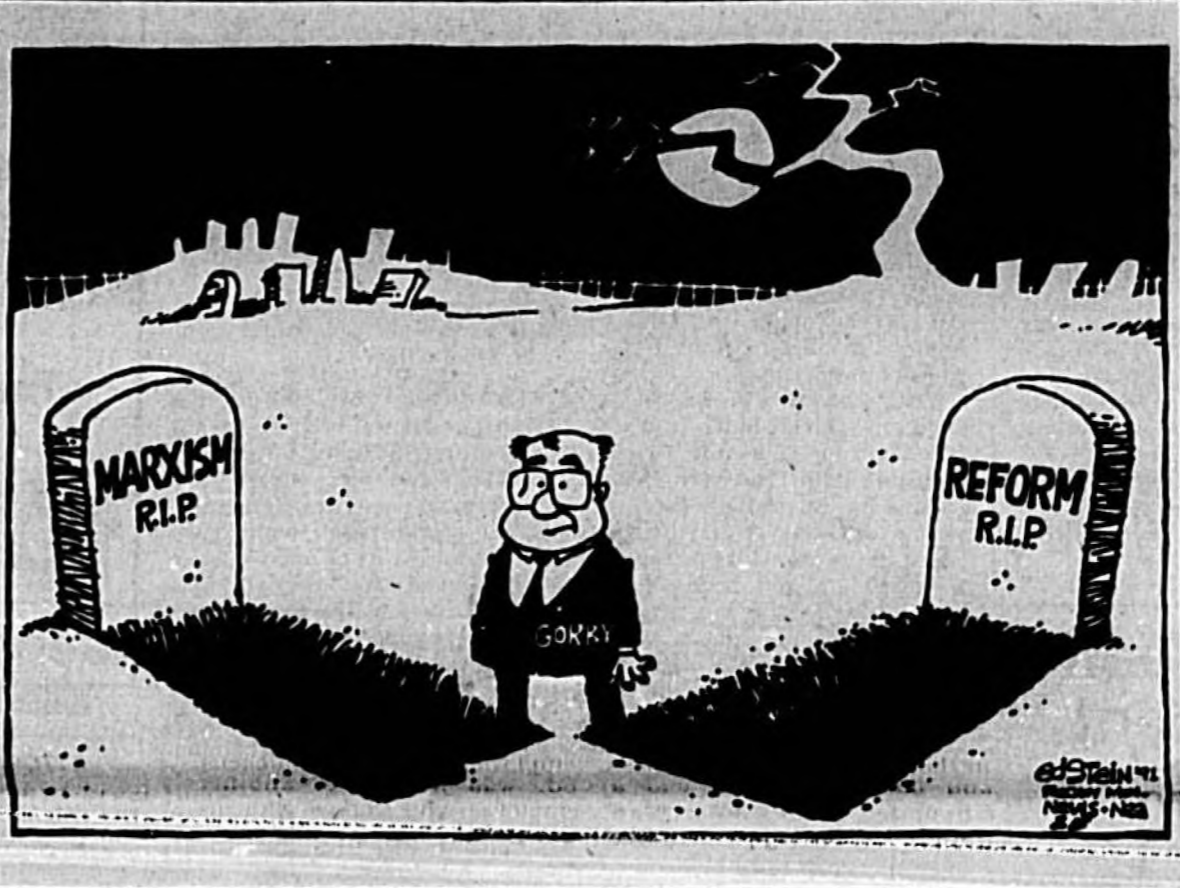

The Heritage Foundation welcomes it, calling for the creation of a special category of "humanitarian immigrants" and proposing a reclamation "Liberty Fund" to provide these newcomers with low-interest loans to support them during their first six months here while they are getting their feet on the ground.

The theory here is that immigrants add importantly to the American pool of manpower, energy and talent. And certainly there is plenty of evidence that the country has benefited hugely from at least some previous immigration waves.

But there is another school of thought that cannot be dismissed out of hand. Thomas Fleming, writing in "Chronicles," insists that "we need to put an end to the mass migrations to the United States."

There is simply no room in Russia proper.

Airlines face continual tailspin

HONOLULU — The departure time for the Hawaiian Airlines flight to the South Pacific has come and gone, but the aircraft remains immobile. Inside the plane, both passengers and flight attendants struggle with a bizarre pattern of seat assignments.

Scores of seats are empty while others have two or three passengers assigned to occupy them. Instead of alleviating the chaos, a hapless cabin crew contributes to it by moving people to seats already reserved for others.

Outside the plane, mechanics are belatedly changing a faulty tire. Although the aircraft was on the ground for hours, the defective equipment went unnoticed until just before departure time because nobody conducted a routine inspection.

News of Hawaiian Airlines' problems seldom reaches the U.S. mainland, but the carrier's plight is emblematic of an industry in distress. Moreover, one of the company's principal owners attained nationwide celebrity status during the 1980s as a management wizard in a pair of high-visibility executive positions.

He is Peter V. Ueberroth, a widely acclaimed, charismatic, self-made millionaire who was the chief organizer of the successful Olympic Games in Los Angeles in the summer of 1984, and then the commissioner of Major League Baseball.

When Ueberroth, his brother John and a third man, J. Thomas Talbot, purchased a 51 percent interest in the airline in 1989, it was notorious for sloppy operations, alienated employees, shabby aircraft and haphazard maintenance.

Subsequent improvements have been modest at best and the company's stock has lost more than half of its value, plummeting from $22 per share to less than $10.

Now, beleaguered Hawaiian has sold — in return for a $20 million cash infusion — a 25 percent share of itself and five of its lucrative South Pacific routes to Northwest Airlines. (Another 17 percent of Hawaiian was already owned by Japan Air Lines.)

But Northwest, burdened by extraordinarily high debt in 1989, was forced to sell 49 percent of itself to another foreign airline, the Netherlands-based KLM, in return for $400 million.

Northwest, however, is in better financial condition than several other domestic airlines. Continental, which earlier sold almost 17 percent of itself to Scandinavian-based SAS, now has sought court protection against its creditors under the federal bankruptcy code.

Pan Am, which also has filed a bankruptcy petition in federal court, recently announced that it will slash service and eliminate the jobs of 4,000 employees. Bankruptcy protection failed to save Eastern Airlines, which went out of business earlier this year.

Trans World Airlines recently defaulted on $75.5 million worth of payments to bondholders, explaining that the money was needed to keep the company operating at a time when it is "facing severe financial difficulties."

Moreover, Continental, Pan Am and TWA have been forced to sell once-prized international routes to stronger carriers to generate cash desperately needed to remain flying.

USAir lost $454 million last year — its worst financial performance in more than half a century of operations. It has dismissed more than 7,000 employees, eliminated hundreds of daily flights, abandoned service throughout the West and closed flight crew, maintenance and reservations facilities across the country.

Regional airlines, in addition to Hawaiian, beset by financial strain include Midway and America West. Although Hawaiian remains the largest carrier in a state where virtually all inter-island travel is by air, many passengers have switched to archrival Aloha Airlines because of its reputation for better service.

The industry's anguish has produced far more than embarrassment for Ueberroth or inconvenience for frequent flyers. Tens of thousands of airline employees nationwide have lost their jobs and many more face the threat of dismissal in an economic shakeout of awesome proportions.

Martin R. Shugrue Jr., the court-appointed bankruptcy trustee who made a bold but vain attempt to rescue Eastern, notes that few people "fully understand the scope of this economic, social and human tragedy."

Defective equipment went unnoticed until just before departure.

Pentagon weapons worked well in war

WASHINGTON — Almost everything in the Pentagon's toy box worked surprisingly well in the Persian Gulf War. The "smart" bombs, the fighter jets and the Patriot missiles were expected to perform brilliantly, and they did. But so did most of the question marks.

The best news for the Pentagon is that the equipment that routinely failed miserably during peacetime training came through with flying colors during the war. Part of the credit goes to immediate air supremacy. Allied planes took the heart out of the Iraqi army, so a long ground war, which could have tested tanks and helicopters beyond their ability to perform, was averted.

But what may have proved most decisive is that the Pentagon did not shortchange its people in the field when it came to spare parts. The cupboards were emptied and shipped to the Gulf.

Operation Desert Storm also had the best combat pit crews ever assembled. Not only were the military mechanics on site, but the Pentagon summoned technical aids from the companies that built the weapons systems. They also had the advantage of five months in the desert with little to do but test their equipment.

The grease monkeys kept aloft such precarious weapons as the highly touted, but injury-prone Apache helicopter. The average Apache worked 90 percent of the time, compared to the peacetime tests of the helicopter when it was usable only 50 percent of the time.

Apaches with the 101st Aviation Brigade fired the first shots of the war when they crossed the border in the early hours of Jan. 17 and attacked Iraqi anti-aircraft radar systems so the Air Force jets could stream into Iraq.

The notorious, gas-guzzling M-1A1 tank also performed better than its billing. The Army didn't lose a single tank to enemy fire.

The list of lessons learned the hard way is short. Our associate Jim Lynch has learned that the Army is considering upping the firepower of its Bradley Fighting Vehicles. Their 25mm cannons were effective at blowing up trucks and cars, but almost useless against armored equipment. The TOW missiles — modern-day bazookas — were difficult for soldiers to aim and often exploded on the ground before they reached their targets.

The Air Force is likely to take some heat for its decision to mothball the SR-71 Blackbird spy planes. They might have given Desert Storm commanders up-to-date pictures of the battlefield that the satellite cameras missed.

The lesson that the Pentagon failed to learn is the seriousness of letting ammunition reserves dip too low. The Air Force almost ran out of bombs. The war ended just in time to cancel an emergency order for more explosives.

Predictably, now that the Pentagon has proven the worth of the equipment it has, it will begin pressing Congress for more dream toys. The Army is forging ahead with its request to develop yet another tank and a $42-billion package of new helicopters. Congress will likely tell the Pentagon to perfect what it has and quit asking for more.

The Senate Armed Services Committee has already displayed some savvy in recognizing what the Pentagon needs and doesn't need. When the House supplemental bill to help fund the war came to the Senate, the Armed Services Committee spotted a big chunk of pork and threw it out. The House bill included $11.2 million to buy 59,000 rounds of a type of ammunition that was not useful in the Gulf. The ammo is manufactured in Scranton, Pa., the district of Rep. Joseph McDade, R-Pa..

Allied planes took the heart out of the Iraqi army.

Prizes, face painting, photos with the Easter Bunny and a cake walk are also scheduled for the children. In addition to a free cat poster for each child. Children who plan to participate in the hunt are requested to bring a basket or bag in which to hold the eggs.

Depending on the number of people attending the event, parking could be a problem. Farmer suggested people car-pool if possible, and plan to arrive early. The gates open at 9 a.m. "We had almost 900 children in the hunt last year," she said, "and we were able to take care of parking then, so I'm sure we can do it again." She said volunteers from the Seminoles County Youth Deputies who handled parking during last year's event will help again this weekend.

Thursday morning's coloring of the eggs, which took four hours, were done by a number of Docents who volunteer their services to the zoo, along with private volunteer Carol Pulver of DeBary. Farmer said, "Carol, along with her children, have helped us before. She said she really enjoys providing us with assistance for our Easter egg hunt events."

Admission price is $5 for adults, $2 for children 3 to 12 years of age. Senior admission for those 60 and over is $3 and children under age 2 are admitted free as are Zoological Society members.

Republican Tactician Lee Atwater Dies at 40

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON — Lee Atwater, the rough and tumble political tactician who managed President Bush's 1988 campaign and went on to head the Republican Party, died today.

The 40-year-old South Carolinian had battled a brain tumor for more than a year.

Atwater died at George Washington University Hospital at 6:24 a.m. EST, according to Mary Matalin, chief of staff of the Republican National Committee.

President Bush mourned his longtime friend's death, and said Atwater "will always be in our memories."

"Barbara and I lost a great friend in Lee Atwater," Bush said in a statement released by the White House. "I valued Lee's counsel and abilities. The Republican Party will miss his energy, vision, and leadership. Barbara and I give our deepest condolences to Sally, the kids and Lee's parents. We share their grief. He will always be in our memories."

Atwater had been in the hospital since March 5, the most recent of several hospitalizations for a "general deterioration in the condition," said RNC spokesman B.J. Cooper.

He was "at peace and comfortable," alert and conversant in recent weeks, Cooper said.

Atwater received a visit Thursday from former President Reagan, who was in Washington for an appearance at George Washington University, a White House aide said.

'What's God trying to tell me?'

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Former Seminole County commissioner Sid Vihlen Jr. lost two big ones this week. Tuesday, county commissioners told him they were reluctant to approve his plans to build a $9 million medical waste incinerator in Lake Monroe.

Last night, Vihlen's 1988 Cadillac Fleetwood was stolen from the parking lot at First Baptist Church of Orlando.

"How do you go to church and come out and have your car stolen?" Vihlen said this morning. "What do you think God is trying to tell me?"

Vihlen said he entered the church on 33rd Street at about 7:30 p.m. to attend an annual Easter concert. When he left the church at about 9:45 p.m. he didn't see his car at first, but wasn't concerned.

"I had been talking on my car phone on a business matter before I went in and my mind was fully involved with that topic when I entered the church. I thought it just didn't register where I had parked," Vihlen said.

Vihlen said he walked throughout the church's huge parking lot for about 20 minutes until traffic from departing church-goers became too heavy. After traffic slackened about 45 minutes later, Vihlen said he resumed his search for another 20 minutes before he realized his $20,000 car had been stolen. He reported the theft to Orlando police.

Vihlen said the car also contained a telephone, $5,000 in important business documents, his wallet and 22 credit cards.

Authors say revelations prophecies coming true

Associated Press

ORLANDO — The end of the world is near, say three Christian authors.

Biblical predictions about the Second Coming of Christ and a final earthly battle between the forces of good and evil have become more clearly defined by the Persian Gulf War, the deterioration of communism and recent events in Europe, they contend.

Hal Lindsey, Dave Hunt and Dave Breese made their comments in Orlando while taping a television series for Christian stations called Current World Events and Biblical Prophecy.

"The scenario the prophets predicted is coming together exactly," Lindsey said in the series making its debut Thursday night.

Lindsey is author of "The Late Great Planet Earth."

"I think Christ could come any moment," said Hunt, author of "Global Peace and the Rise of Antichrist."

The authors, who consider themselves conservative Christians, fear the Soviet Union will have a big part in the scenario.

But their predictions drew a rebuttal from Mitchell Reddish, associate professor of religion at Stetson University in nearby DeLand.

"Those who try to read Russia and Iraq and everything else into the Book of Revelation ... have very creative imaginations," Reddish said. "To make predictions about the U.S. or any other nation ... is without basis."

Breese, president of a ministry based in Kansas, and Lindsey said plans for European political unity represent the revival of the Roman Empire. As predicted in Revelations 13, they said, the new empire eventually could be led by the Antichrist that is supposed to lead the world to destruction.

The end-of-world predictions didn't hold up the usual requests for money, however. At a break during the taping, an audience of about 3,000 was asked for donations to help pay the $40,000 in production costs.

None of the three offered a date for what they said were the approaching blockbuster events: the Rapture — when Christians are supposed to disappear from the earth and ascend to heaven — the reign of the Antichrist, and Armageddon.

The television series follows a recent run of books with subjects concerning biblical prophecy. The series will be part of the John Ankerberg Show, based in Chattanooga, Tenn., and syndicated to other stations around the country.

Gunman sends diners scrambling in Kissimmee

Associated Press

KISSIMMEE — A man walked into a crowded restaurant, argued with his waitress and opened fire with a pistol, sending diners scrambling for cover, police said today.

The gunman's wife was grazed in the back of the head by glass and bullet fragments, and a 68-year-old woman was trampled by fleeing patrons. But no one was seriously hurt Thursday night at a Shoney's restaurant.

After firing three shots inside the restaurant, the gunman walked out to the parking lot and fired another shot as he and the night kitchen manager, Thomas Roepecke, struggled over the gun.

When the manager ran for cover, the gunman put the 9mm handgun and a clip of ammunition on top of a garbage can and waited for officers to arrive, according to a police report.

"He said he'd probably get 50 years, but he didn't care. He had to do it," said Ralph Monte, a cook who talked with the man in the parking lot after the shooting.

Police and restaurant employees said Allen Hutchens, 60, was jealous of another employee who worked with his wife Bonnie.

Mrs. Hutchens, 46, was treated at a hospital and released. Hanna J. Bartholomew, 68, was treated at the scene for minor injuries received when she was stepped on by several people as she tried to crawl to an exit.

Hutchens, a salesman who regularly dined at the restaurant, was charged with attempted murder and held without bail at the Osceola County Jail in Kissimmee.

Lake Mary High yearbook wins top scholastic award

By VICKI DeSORMIER
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — Recently, the 1990 edition of "Chrysmallus," the Lake Mary High School yearbook took a top honor at the Columbia Scholastic Press Association Convention in New York City.

"It is a very, very prestigious honor," said principal Don Smith of the Silver Crown Award given to the school's annual last week.

Silver Crowns are awarded to yearbooks which are ranked in the top three percent of the total entries received by Columbia for evaluation each year.

According to information from Columbia, more schools enter their contest than any other yearbook competition in the nation. To be selected as one of the top three percent puts a publication in the country by Columbia is no easy task, a spokesman said.

Only two Florida schools were chosen to receive Silver Crowns for their 1991 publications. Lake Mary joined North Miami Beach High School in that honor.

In addition, "Chrysmallus 1990" received an All-Southern rating from the Southern Interscholastic Press Association which is awarded by the University of South Carolina.

The 1990 "Chrysmallus" staff consisted of 22 students who worked on the 10 sections of the book.

Rebecca Fehl was the editor-in-chief of the winning publication, which was under the faculty guidance of Maxine Lazar.

The Student Life section was composed by Shelley Charron and Laura Cook.

The Sports section was put together by Matt Bennett, Patrick Reilly and Justin Williams.

A special Seniors section was compiled by Mary-Jo Conrrell and Marjorie Augenblick.

The Underclass section was compiled by Leslie Campbell and Jessica Willocks.

The Faculty section was composed by Michelle Enfinger and Jordan Collier.

The special section on Academics was put together by Jana Katz and Brigitte Finkelstein.

The section dedicated to the school's Clubs was compiled by Christine Davis, Scott Davis and Michelle Sutherland.

Special dedications by the graduating seniors were edited by Becky Levine.

The ads were supervised by Kristen Lindquist.

A tribute to Friends was composed by Debbie Urbach.

The staff was assisted by photographers Jason Zwalina and Trey Barlow.

"These students did an outstanding job on this publication," Smith said. "They worked hard on it and it shows. We're very proud of them."

Thousands of Soviets rally against Gorbachev

By BRYAN BRUMLEY
AP News Analysis

MOSCOW — Tens of thousands of demonstrators supporting reformer Boris Yeltsin surged peacefully against police lines deployed by Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev, further eroding the authority of the central government.

The non-violent show of people power in Moscow on Thursday seemed certain to strengthen the movement among the 15 Soviet republics to take greater control over their own economies and introduce democratic and market reforms.

"Yeltsin, dal Gorbachev, nyet!" chanted tens of thousands of backers of Yeltsin, chairman of the Russian Federation's parliament. They defied Gorbachev's three-week ban on demonstrations in Moscow and demanded his resignation and that of the national parliament he controls.

"We are a peaceful people, but we want freedom," said Teacher Sergeeva Vasilyeva, 37, who marched arm in arm with her mother, Natalya Bogoslavskaya, 58.

Yeltsin, riding the crest of popular and parliamentary victories, was expected to introduce a new economic reform package for the Russian Federation during today's Russian parliamentary session.

Yeltsin supporters also want a directly elected president of the federation, who could challenge the legitimacy of the Soviet president elected only by the Parliament.

Gorbachev, who emerged six

"We are a peaceful people, but we want freedom."

—Sergeyeva Vasilyeva, teacher

years ago as a reformer, has tried to slow reform in the past six months, backing away from a market economic plan last fall, cracking down against the separatist Baltic republics in January, and trying to muzzle elected legislatures and the press since then.

After the demonstration Thursday, Gorbachev seemed more dependent on force to effect his will. The 50,000 police and soldiers deployed in the capital to enforce his ban on rallies rivaled the protesters, estimated by the state news agency Tass to number as many as 100,000.

Police cordoned off the inner city, however, making impossible to form a comprehensive estimate of the number of people on the streets who had intended to march on the Kremlin.

A crowd of 50,000 gathered just under a mile from the Kremlin in a square named after the poet of the 1917 Bolshevik Revolution, Vladimir Mayakovsky.

In addition to the demonstration in Moscow, Soviet coal miners nationwide defied the Kremlin by ignoring an order by the national legislature that they end the strike they began March 1.

The miners are demanding higher wages and better living and working conditions. They have embraced Yeltsin's demand that Gorbachev resign.

Most mines in Vorkuta in the Soviet Arctic were on strike. 21 out of 122 pits were striking in the largest coal field, the Donetsk Basin of the Ukraine. Tass reported. Thousands of miners also were striking in the second-largest field, the Kuznetsk Basin of western Siberia.

Miners in the third most important region, Karaganda of eastern Kazakhstan, suspended their strike last week on a promise from the president of that republic, Nursultan Nazarbayev, that his government would take control of the mines from Gorbachev's government and improve conditions.

Yeltsin, as head of the largest and wealthiest Soviet republic, has been leading the struggle to transfer control of the nation's natural, industrial and agricultural resources from central ministries.

All the Soviet republics have declared some form of independence or sovereignty from the central government. And the second and third-wealthiest republics, the Ukraine and Kazakhstan, are pushing hard for greater control of their economies.

Yeltsin appeared in control Thursday of an extraordinary session of the Russian Federation Congress of People's Deputies, which had been called by Communist Party hard-liners seeking a vote of no-confidence in him.

Reagan returns to White House

By W. DALE NELSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — For a moment, it was almost like the 1980s again at the White House.

"When you say Mr. President, you know who I think you're talking about," George Bush told reporters.

He pointed to Ronald Reagan, whom he served dutifully as vice president for eight years before succeeding him in January, 1989.

The vignette Thursday, on a porch overlooking the Rose Garden, came as the president and ex-president met for the fourth time since Reagan's return to California.

Bush called on Reagan in Los Angeles a few months after taking office, hosted him at the White House in November 1989 for the unveiling of the official Reagan portrait, and met him again at the opening of the Richard Nixon Presidential Library in California in July.

The White House issued no report on their private meeting in the Oval Office, which followed the brief remarks outside. Bush said beforehand that they would talk about gun control, among other issues.

In a speech at George Washington University earlier in the day, Reagan told a cheering crowd that he supports proposed federal legislation requiring a seven-day waiting period before buying a handgun, so that the buyer's past record can be checked.

Bush opposes it, although the White House suggested Thursday he might look more favorably on it if Congress approved his own anti-crime proposals.

Joyous welcome-home for troops

By JOE TAYLOR
Associated Press Writer

NORFOLK, Va. — Two aircraft carriers, a retiring battleship and their support ships returned home Thursday from the Persian Gulf War to a champagne-and-roses welcome to ports on the East Coast.

The USS John F. Kennedy at the Norfolk Naval Base and the USS Saratoga, at Mayport, Fla., were met by thousands of cheering family members and friends, many waving flags and dressed in Easter finery.

Before the Saratoga docked in Mayport, its sailors were treated to a mini-concert by Whitney Houston, who recorded a Sunday HBO cable TV special welcoming returning troops.

Saratoga pilots flew 2,626 long-distance combat sorties, delivering more than 4.3 million pounds of ordnance and shooting down the first two Iraqi MiG-21 aircraft of the war, the Navy said. The crew lost one pilot in the air war and 21 sailors in a ferry accident off Haifa, Israel, just before Christmas.

The guided missile frigate Samuel B. Roberts returned home to the Newport Naval Base at Middletown, R.I., with a huge Hawaiian lei draped from its bow.

"I've waited a long time for this," said Jeannie Davis of Lynchburg, mother of gunner's mate Christopher Epperson, who was aboard the Norfolk-based battleship USS Wisconsin.

"I'm going to put up the Christmas tree this weekend and we're going to do it all, everything he missed."

For the World War II-era Wisconsin, the homecoming was bittersweet. It has taken a direct hit from Defense Department budget cuts and is scheduled to be mothballed Oct. 1.

In all, about 20,000 sailors returned home Thursday. Most of the ships were sent overseas shortly after Iraq invaded Kuwait last Aug. 2, and the sailors have missed several holidays.

"We're going to celebrate Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter, birthday all in one," said Sidney Welch of King, N.C. He came to Norfolk to greet his son, John Stogdale, an airman apprentice aboard the Kennedy.

Dodson home at last

SANFORD — Staff Sergeant Stephen Dodson who has been serving in Saudi Arabia with the 37th Aeromedical Evacuation Group, has returned to the United States.

Sgt. Dodson, whose mother Marjorie Dodson lives at 117 W. 16th Street in Sanford, is stationed at McDill Air Force Base in Tampa. He has been in overseas for the past 5 months.

In addition to Sgt. Dodson, a number of other local service personnel have returned to the United States during the past few days, including many U.S. Navy personnel who have been serving aboard the aircraft carrier Saratoga during the Persian Gulf war. The Saratoga arrived at Mayport Naval Station yesterday morning to be greeted by thousands of family members and spouses including a number of Sanford and Lake Mary residents.

Anyone in the Sanford-Lake Mary area who has a family member returning from the Persian Gulf may call the Sanford Herald at 322-2611.

Mall customers love 'family restroom'

By RICHARD L. VERNACI
Associated Press

BETHESDA, Md. — The Montgomery Mall looks like any other in America. Department stores, Victoria's Secret, Cute little gadget shops. A music store where the guy plays "On A Clear Day" on the organ.

But back behind the food court, here known as the Boulevard Cafes, at the end of a freshly tiled corridor is something they're proud of. Customers gush with enthusiasm over it. A couple have even written letters to the editors of the local papers to praise it.

It's the toilet.
Down the hall from the doorways marked "Men" and "Women" there's a third choice:

"Family Restroom."

Not since Thomas Crapper put one in Queen Victoria's Sandringham Castle (Victoria's other secret), has porcelain and plumbing attracted such attention.

"This type of comprehensive facility, hasn't been done anywhere in the country," explains Steven W. Nicklin, assistant general manager for marketing at the mall. "We've actually done some pretty good research on that."

Inside is a softly lit, three-room suite with piped-in music, cheery framed illustrations from children's stories and a park-style wooden bench for the weary to sit and pass the time.

In one room is an itty bitty toilet with a little sink and mirror. Everything is close to the floor. The room next door has grownup-size stuff. Both have big doors that lock.

In the anteroom, where the bench is, there is also a changing table, a sink and a machine that dispenses diapers, moistened wipes and (mercifully) a plastic bag to dispose of the old one.

"They get all of this for 50 cents," Nicklin says.

The mall, located in this upper-crust suburb of Washington, D.C., is being renovated. In the process, someone got the idea of sparing parents the occasional awkward moment of a dad taking a little daughter into the men's room or a little boy going in there alone while his mom waits in the hallway biting her nails.

"Look at that. Isn't that cute?" said Norma Goodman of Rockville, Md., who was taking her 5-year-old granddaughter, Alyssa, into the kiddie potty.

"I think it's marvelous," said Mrs. Goodman, who at first was shocked to see a reporter and a handful of mall executives standing around in the bathroom as she came through the door.

Some people were suspicious of people who hang around in restrooms.

"What do you want to know?" said Tracy Barrett of Rockville, who swung open the door to a room full of grinning adults.

The adults asked how she and her children, 8-year-old John, and 5-year-old Kelly, liked the restroom.

Fine.
She, in fact, had worried about sending her son alone into the men's room.

Democrats balk over gun control bill

By JAMES ROWLEY
Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Bush administration is showing a willingness to cut a deal over gun control legislation to win passage of its crime package, but so far, Democrats aren't interested.

A leading supporter of the so-called Brady Bill, which would require a seven-day waiting period for handgun purchases, rejected the White House overture that came just after former President Reagan endorsed the measure.

Rep. Charles E. Schumer, D-N.Y., said Thursday he opposed linking the Brady Bill and crime legislation, which has not been reviewed by the House Judiciary crime subcommittee that he chairs.

"The president's crime bill is new; it should not hold up the Brady Bill," said Schumer. The gun control bill was named after former White House press secretary James Brady, who was left disabled by a gunman who wounded Reagan in 1981.

The bill, which President Bush has opposed, would require record checks to determine if the would-be purchaser was a convicted criminal.

The White House offer, which came right after Reagan announced he backs the Brady Bill at a ceremony to mark the 10th anniversary of the attempt in his life, "shows the administration is in a box," Schumer said.

A vote by the full House is expected by June, and Schumer said the membership now is evenly split. Three years ago, the House defeated the bill by about 40 votes.

Reagan's support "puts a great deal of pressure on President Bush" and gives political cover to lawmakers who are feeling the heat from the National Rifle Association, Schumer said.

Democratic aides on Capitol Hill said it would be difficult to trade gun control for crime legislation because of the complexity of the issues and diversity of views.

These aides, who spoke on condition of anonymity, pointed to the failure of last fall's negotiations on the same criminal justice issues, minus the Brady bill.

A House-Senate conference committee on last year's crime bill killed provisions involving the death penalty, criminal procedure and a ban on 14 assault-style weapons because of splits among Democrats and disagreements with the White House.

IN BRIEF

J.V. BASEBALL

Lake Mary tops Lake Brantley

LAKE MARY — Brian Milner broke a 3-3 tie when he scored a run in the bottom of the sixth inning, giving the Lake Mary Rams a 4-3 win over visiting Lake Brantley Thursday night.

The victory all but wraps up the Seminole Athletic Conference junior varsity baseball championship for Lake Mary, 14-3. All the Rams have to do to clinch the title is beat DeLand in their final conference game.

Lake Brantley, which began the game tied for first with Lake Mary, drops to 13-4.

Milner led off the sixth with a single and advanced to second and third on a pair of base balls. Chad Kessler then hit a ground ball that was misplayed by the Patriot infield, allowing Milner to score.

That helped Ram pitcher Brian Marotta keep his perfect personal record intact at 5-0. He pitched a complete game, allowing three runs (one earned) on four hits (all singles). He struck out five and walked three.

Sean Goldstein was the losing pitcher.

Matt Diemer, Mike Werner, Milner and Eric Leister each had a hit for the Rams. Werner scored two runs while Diemer and Milner scored one each. Leister and Kessler had the only RBI for Lake Mary.

Lake Mary will play again Saturday at Winter Park in a 4 p.m. game.

BASKETBALL

Rice lifts Heat by Celtics

MIAMI — Glen Rice hit two free throws with 1.9 seconds left Thursday night to cap Miami's comeback from a 17-point fourth-quarter deficit for the Heat's first-ever victory over the Boston Celtics, 90-88.

With the score tied and 17 seconds left, Miami inbounded the ball to set up a final shot. As Rice launched an off-balance 16-footer that missed, he was fouled by Brian Shaw.

After Rice made both free throws, Boston was unable to get off a last-second shot.

The third-year Heat, which beat Cleveland for the first time ever on Tuesday night, improved to 1-10 against Boston.

Rice led Miami with 19 points. Robert Parish led Boston with 16 points and 14 rebounds.

Spurs smash Magic win streak

SAN ANTONIO — Terry Cummings and Sean Elliott each scored 21 points and David Robinson added 20 as the San Antonio Spurs routed the Orlando Magic 119-95 Thursday for their ninth consecutive home victory.

Orlando, which had its four-game winning streak snapped, got 21 points from Scott Skiles and 15 apiece from Nick Anderson and Jerry Reynolds.

Ahead by 14 after two quarters, the Spurs led by at least 11 throughout the second half.

A pair of 3-pointers by Skiles and Robinson's three-point play brought Orlando to 101-90 with 3:32 to play. San Antonio scored the next seven points to put the game out of reach.

BASEBALL

Dodgers waive Valenzuela

VERO BEACH — Fernando Valenzuela, whose adventures as a 1981 rookie wowed millions and earned him an historic Cy Young Award, is a Los Angeles Dodger no longer.

But Valenzuela, his agent and several of his now-former teammates believe he can still pitch and will find success with another team.

Valenzuela has struggled during the last four years. And that was never more evident than in his final outing for the Dodgers, who placed him on waivers Thursday.

On Wednesday, he allowed eight hits and four walks, which led to eight earned runs in 3 1/3 innings against the Baltimore Orioles. Valenzuela, 30, was 1-2 with a 7.88 earned run average in 16 innings this spring as he fought for a berth on the Dodgers' starting rotation.

FISHING

Krowka to give presentation

ORLANDO — For those who fish the flats in south Florida for bonefish, tarpon or permit, there are few anglers who's skill is as renowned as Mark Krowka.

A light tackle guide specializing in the Biscayne Bay and Florida Keys, Krowka will be the feature speaker at the Backcountry Flyfishing Association's April meeting.

Scheduled for April 4 at 6:30 p.m., the meeting will be conducted at the Park Inn International Hotel on Lee Road in Orlando. Krowka's presentation, which will follow dinner, will be on flyfishing for bonefish, permit and tarpon in Biscayne Bay.

Ugly win just what McCullough ordered for Lyman

By TONY DESORMIER
 Herald Sports Editor

LONGWOOD — As far as Lyman High School baseball coach Bob McCullough was concerned, the Greyhounds' sloppy 11-7 win over the Trinity Prep Saints Thursday night was just about perfect.

Going into the game, McCullough had several items on his agenda for the Greyhounds. And thanks to the persistent Saints, who fought back from an early 8-0 deficit, the Greyhounds were able to achieve most of McCullough's objectives.

For starters, McCullough wanted his frontliners to get in a couple solid innings so they could stay sharp. They responded by scoring four runs in both the first and second innings.

With what should have been a comfortable lead, McCullough turned the game over to his reserves. That served the dual purpose of rewarding those players who work hard in practice but may not see much playing time as well as giving McCullough a chance to see how those players perform in game situations.

The big lead also allowed McCullough and pitching coach Dave Campbell to take a long look at starter Todd Herrbach (recently called up from the junior varsity) and sophomore reliever Chad Siemer.

"We have to find some more pitching for down the stretch," said McCullough. "Normally what I'd do when I put in a young pitcher for the first time is leave in the starting defense. But with an eight-run lead, we had a chance to see some guys who haven't played much."

There were probably times during the contest that McCullough second-guessed himself as Trinity Prep took advantage of three Lyman errors and three walks to score five runs in the fifth inning to get back into the game.

Lyman got three of the runs back in the bottom of the fifth, but the Saints still wouldn't go away. In the top of the seventh, the Saints pushed across two more runs. They loaded the bases with two out and had the tying run at the plate before Siemer was able to slam the door shut.

Raiders' troubles continue

By PHIL SMITH
 Herald Correspondent

SANFORD — The second half of the Seminole Community College Raiders women's softball season has not resembled the first half.

The Raiders started their season winning 10 of their first 12 games and were within striking distance of the conference lead. However, SCC has dropped nine of their last 18 games, settling into a tie for third with Santa Fe Community College.

Thursday's doubleheader with Valencia Community College at Raider Field was a reflection of their season as the Raiders won the first game 8-1 but lost the second, 12-8.

"We hit the ball well in the first game but we couldn't keep it up to win the second game," said SCC Coach Heana Gallagher.

In the first game, SCC broke open a 2-0 game in the bottom of the fifth inning when Marie Peters, Denise Howell, Julie Barton and Jennifer Thomas led off the inning with four consecutive singles. Peters and Howell scored on Thomas hit and Barton scored all the way from first when the ball was misplayed.

Gerry McCroy followed by reaching on an error and, one out later, Thomas and McCroy both scored on Jobbie Osborne's single. Osborne later scored on a subsequent error.

However, the second game would prove to be a microcosm of the second half of the season.

Trailing 6-2 in the bottom of the fourth inning, SCC rallied when Ginger York tripled with one out and scored on Kelly Brazael's double. Jen Colbert followed with a single that scored Brazael. Peters singled before Howell's sacrifice fly plated Colbert.

Barton then tripled in Peters to tie the score at 6-6.

But the Matadors came right back with four runs in the top of the fifth inning and two more runs in the seventh inning.

The Raiders will conclude their conference schedule on the road next week, playing at Lake City Community College on Tuesday afternoon and at Florida Community College at Jacksonville on Friday.

After a 10-2 start, the SCC softball team (above) has floundered, winning only seven of its last 18. Thursday's split with Valencia was another case in point. In the first game, first baseman Gerry McCroy (below) and her teammates played errorless ball in an 8-1 win. But in the nightcap, the Raiders made five errors in a 12-8 loss.

Lake Mary's Appel advances in Easter Bowl event

Associated Press

MIAMI — Lake Mary's Jason Appel won his match Thursday to advance to the semifinals of the boys' 16s of the Easter Bowl Tennis Championships.

Appel, the fourth seed, pulled out a three-set victory, 1-6, 6-4, 6-3 over Paul Harsanyi of Potomac, Md. His semifinal opponent will be No. 2 seed Eric Taino of Jersey City, N.J., who knocked off last year's 14s champion B.J. Stearns of Seminole, 6-4, 7-6 (7-1).

In the other half of the boys' 16s draw, a 16th seed and a non-seed, Adam Baron of Plantation, and Wayne Bolch of Largo, continued their surprise march to a semifinal meeting by defeating their opponents in straight sets.

Meanwhile, in the boys' 14s, No. 2 seed Justin Gimmelstob from Essex Falls, N.J., shook off leg cramps and defeated fifth-seeded Marc Urbanczyk of Lake Mary, 7-6 (7-1), 6-7 (2-7), 6-1 in a grueling match.

Gimmelstob will play unseeded Jan-Michael Gambill of Spokane, Wash., who beat the sixth seed from Knoxville, Tenn, Blake McMeans, 6-4, 7-5.

In the boys' 18s, Pablo Montana of Miami, a last-minute entry, fell to No. 2 seed Chris Woodruff of Knoxville, Tenn., 4-6, 2-6. Woodruff will play Eric Dobsha, the 14th seed from Titusville, who defeated Miami's Chris Pressley, the fourth seed, 6-4, 7-5.

The other 18s semifinal matches 6-foot-3 Jason Thompson, the fifth seed from Salem, Ore., against unseeded Nirav Patel of Owensboro, Ky., Thompson nearly blew a 5-2 lead in the second set before holding on, 7-5, 6-3 over David Roditti of San Clemente, Calif.; while Patel beat last year's 16s champion, Adam Peterson of Orange, Calif., 6-0, 7-5. Peterson hung on despite being weakened from a virus that had already claimed two top seeds earlier in the week.

Anne Miller, of Midland, Mich., defeated her USTA National teammate and recent roommate, Valaree Surephong in straight sets to advance to the finals of the girls' 16s.

Miller, the No. 2 seed, beat Surephong, the No. 4 seed from Haines City, 6-3, 6-1. Miller will play top-seeded Ditta Huber of La Jolla, Calif., in Friday's final at the Dorol Resort & Country Club.

"I was steady for the whole time," said Miller, who was a 14s semifinalist last year. "I'm definitely peaking and I'm playing better than ever."

Huber, displaying an all-court, attacking game, downed third seeded Diana Spadea of Boca Raton, 6-1, 6-3. Huber, 5-foot-9½, took Spadea's high topspin drives at midcourt and volleyed them away for winners.

In the girls' 18s, second-seeded Michelle Jackson of Palm Beach Gardens, advanced to Friday's semifinals after defeating Nicole Hummel, the sixth seed from San Marino, Calif., 6-3, 4-6, 6-2. Jackson plays Chanda Rubin, the 15-year-old third seed from Lafayette, La., who finally defeated nemesis Nicole London of Rolling Hills, Calif., 6-2, 6-3. London, the seventh seed, won the 16s and 14s by defeating Rubin in the finals.

Pam Nelson of Ross, Calif., a member of the USTA National team beat her teammate Lindsay Davenport 6-4, 6-3, and will play Lisa Pugliese, the fifth seed from Boca Raton, in the other semifinal. Pugliese defeated Katie Schluckebir of Kalamazoo, Mich., 6-3, 6-3.

In the girls' 14s, top-seeded Meagan Miller of Stuart, is through to the finals, after beating unseeded Kristin Sanderson of Edina, Minn., 6-3, 6-3. In an all-Florida final Miller plays second seed Cristina Moros of Sarasota, who defeated Jodi Firestone of Miami, 6-3, 6-3.

Family has final say about funerals

DEAR ABBY: As a funeral director for 26 years, I had to reply to your recent column on the high cost of funerals and the American tradition of viewing the body.

One of the privileges of living in a free country is the right to make one's feelings known, as Jessica Mitford has done for years on the subject of funerals and funeral directors.

Concerning the "bizarre ritual" of viewing the deceased — funeral directors did not originate that tradition: the families of the deceased did.

Instead of writing to a memorial society for information on "dignified, low-cost funerals," as you suggested, why not call your local funeral director and tell him what you want? He will gladly go over your options and discuss price with you.

As for people going into debt to provide lavish, expensive funerals as an indication of the value they placed on the deceased — I am proud to say that I do not know of one funeral director who would try to take advantage of anyone.

DAVID B. RICHARDSON,

LYNN, MASS.
DEAR MR. RICHARDSON: Thank you for writing. I am pleased to give funeral directors equal time.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I just received what at first appeared to be a formal invitation to attend the graduation ceremonies of a young man whose father was "immensely" proud of his son's record.

Actually, it was not an invitation: it was more like an apology. It stated: "Since there is limited seating in the auditorium, there is no room for you, but we want you to know that our son is graduating from this fine old Virginia prep school." Then a "few" of the boy's accomplishments were listed.

How do you size this up, Abby?

APPALED

ADVICE

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR APPALED: Please don't blame the boy. His father was so proud, he wanted you to know that even though "there was no room for you," his son was being graduated from a fine old Virginia prep school.

I would give the father an A for good intentions, and a D minus for taste.

DEAR ABBY: I am an 88-year-old woman, and although I have read your column for years, this is my first time to write you a letter, but now I must.

On a cold Friday evening before Christmas, I went grocery shopping. I took a pie out of the freezer, then I carried it to the cashier and asked her how much it was because it wasn't marked and it was the only one of its kind in the freezer. After I learned the price, I put the pie back in the freezer because I thought I should not be eating too many sweets.

As I turned and started up the aisle, a tall, elderly gentleman approached me and handed me a folded $20 bill. He smiled and said, "Now, please go back and get that pie." Then he walked down the aisle and out the door.

Consider surgery for a deviated septum

DEAR DR. GOTT: I get a lot of sore throats. Recently it was discovered I have a badly deviated nasal septum. I'm considering surgery. Is the success rate good, or should I use the alternative, which is a nasal spray?

DEAR READER: The nasal septum is a thin plate of cartilage that separates the nostrils. Ordinarily, the septum is situated more or less in the midline; however, in some people, it may be pushed to one side or the other. This can be present from birth or may result from injury to the nose. A deviated septum can interfere with breathing. More commonly, it may (during periods of nasal congestion) partially obstruct the opening of the maxillary (cheek) sinuses, leading to chronic sinus infection. Drainage from such an infection will often leak down the back of the throat (postnasal drip) to cause discomfort. Medicines such as nose sprays to reduce nasal congestion will offer temporary relief of symptoms by sinus drainage. However, the sprays should not be used for more than a week because of "rebound": With chronic use, they actually exacerbate nasal stuffiness.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Would you please advise what symptoms of a prostate problem would warrant a checkup by a doctor? DEAR READER: Any urinary symptoms in a male are a reason for a prostate examination. These include urinary frequency, dribbling, burning, hesitancy, discomfort and inability to void. In addition, blood in the urine or semen should be investigated. Painful ejaculation can be caused by prostate problems. The basic prostate examination is simple, safe and inexpensive. Through the rectum, the doctor palpates the gland and checks for enlargement.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby There is an excellent general principle that if you must lose two tricks in a suit, you should lose the first as quickly as possible. This applies to both the declarer and the defenders. On today's hand, most declarers would see overtrick signs light up once the dummy appeared. They would win the first trick with the king of spades and lead a diamond to dummy's king. If they were playing against their relatives, they might survive because East would probably win immediately with the ace and fire back a spade, hoping partner had led from a suit headed by the A-Q-J. Enemies think more clearly. There are 10 points in the dummy, and East holds nine. At best West will have five or six points, depending on the range of South's opening one-no-trump bid. A good East will duck the first diamond trick to the king and will duck the diamond queen as well. Now the diamond suit is dead, and the contract finishes one down. A better declarer counts his tricks before starting the play. He sees six top tricks, and so realizes he needs only three diamond tricks, not four. He wins the first trick because he doesn't want West to switch to a heart, threatening to remove dummy's entry to the long diamonds. Then he leads a diamond to the dummy's nine. The defenders have no answer. East wins with the 10 and returns a major suit, but declarer wins in hand and leads a second diamond, eventually dislodging the ace. There is still an entry in the dummy and nine tricks roll home. (C)1991, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

HOROSCOPE

By Bernice Bede Osol YOUR BIRTHDAY March 30, 1991 The course you presently set for yourself looks like a good one, and results should bear this out in the year ahead. Don't make changes without having valid reasons. ARIES (March 21-April 19) Usually, you're the type of person not easily swayed by dissenting opinions. However, today you may be pressured by purveyors of bad advice and make an unwise decision. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be tolerant today when dealing with people who don't grasp ideas as quickly as you do. In this case, it might be due to the way you convey instructions or information. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It's best not to borrow tools or special equipment today that you don't know how to use properly. There's a possibility you might have to repair or replace what was loaned to you. CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you are indecisive about buying a big ticket household item today, perhaps you need more time to think it over. Don't rush in where bill collectors are likely to tread. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't worry so much about how individuals you're involved with are going to perform in a specific situation today. In actuality, they may be more uncertain about you than you are about them. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Developments that could be financially beneficial must not be treated indifferently today. If you do, there's a good chance what you had within your grasp could slip away. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Should you get careless closing a deal today, you may let two individuals, who could have been directed to do something to your advantage, off the hook. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Usually, you're good about keeping secrets, but today you might discuss something you shouldn't with individuals who didn't even have to probe for this confidential information. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your sale's resistance could be rather low today, so it might be wise to steer clear of stores that offer unique merchandise. Once inside, you might end up buying gadgets you don't need. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Traditionally, you're a tenacious person who sticks to the course until your objective is achieved. However, these qualities may not be functioning today, and you might quit too early. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Subdue any inclinations to act upon impulse today, especially in your financial or business affairs. What sounds good at first might not stand up later. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If you have recently become involved in a project, don't take shortcuts in the hope of getting things done quickly. You've heard that old bromide, "Haste makes waste." Heed it. (C)1991, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.
