

Ministers

laid stress on the responsibility of laymen witnessing for Christ and sharing his ministry to the world not only in their leisure but also through their daily occupations. In his evening message on "Faith and Works" (Jas. 2:14-26), he said, "A profession of faith, without faith, without good works, is worthless. (2) The existence and genuineness of Christian faith is proven by good works. (3) Mere belief does not make men right with God until it finds expression in active obedience and godly conduct."

At Morning Worship in The Little Brown Church on the Hill (Congregational Christian) Dr. J. Bernard Root took as his text the words of Nathaniel: "Can any good thing come out of Nazareth?"

He said that Nathaniel came from Cana, which was only four miles from Nazareth and could not think that Nazareth, with which he was so familiar, could amount to anything. After showing that "familiarity breeds contempt" and that we are great losers through our lack of discernment and faith, Dr. Root closed with these words: "There are too many Nathaniels who are skeptical of good in Nazareth. There are not enough Philip's. Philip did not argue with his friend, he never would have convinced him. He simply said: 'Come and see for yourself!' "And when Nathaniel came, he cried, 'Thou art the Son of God—the Messiah!'"

There is no figure in history better known than that of Jesus. Through all the long years we have been hearing about Him; His image is before our eyes; His words have been memorized; we have learned to repeat His prayer. "We know of the facts of His life. We know about Him, but do we KNOW HIM?" Can any good thing come out of Nazareth? Can Jesus step out of Memory's picture frame and become a mighty power in our lives today? Can we know Him as His disciples knew Him — as Friend, and Master, and Saviour? The Gospel says, COME AND SEE FOR YOURSELF.

The Rev. Davis S. Carnifax, pastor of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, chose as sermon topic, "The Reason and Reality of Christ's Return."

He said, "The reality of Christ's Return to earth again is as sure as His coming the first time as the Babe in Bethlehem; as sure as His death on the Cross of Calvary; as sure as His Resurrection from the grave; as sure as His Ascension into heaven when two angels stood by the disciples and said: 'Ye men of Galilee, why stand ye gazing up into heaven? this same Jesus, which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven.'"

"The Return of Christ is the next great event on God's calendar. It is the next great incident in the life and work of the Son of God. It will be the next great scene in the history of the church. The Holy Spirit would make it of great importance to each of us personally through the inspired Word and through His direct witness within us."

"Whether you are willing to concede it or not, you have something at stake in the Reason and Reality of the Return of Christ," he said.

avenue. His sister, Clara Lewis, said that members of the family saw the dead man Monday night.

The body was examined by Dr. G. H. Stark and Dr. F. A. Smith. Neither doctor reported possible violence in the death of the 28-year-old man.

John Willie Mosley was temporarily living in the dwelling alone on Sanford Avenue where he was found dead in bed.

Reports of possible violence were expressed by members of the family when his sister said that he was "threatened by a negro man 35 or 40 years old." If he had just let us help him, she said. The dead man had made a statement to his mother, it was reported, says, "somebody's going to try to kill me."

A Coroner's Jury was impaneled at the scene to view the body. They were J. V. Jones, Doc Brown, V. E. Douglas, E. H. Bennett, G. A. Maffett, and O. E. Hughes.

The jury was notified that a hearing will be called at a later date.

The dead man's mother, Mrs. Mary Mosley, requested that a post mortem examination be made.

Circus Coming To Town

The Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce is busy getting in shape for the fall sale of coming events.

At the present time, congratulations are being extended for the excellent and far-reaching Fire Prevention Week program chairmanship by Garfield Willetta. The Jaycee Journal said this week "it is felt this was the finest Fire Prevention Week so far sponsored by the Jaycees."

A number of fire luncheon programs have been arranged for the local Jaycees organization. Among them being on Oct. 27, Candidates for City Commissioner and on Nov. 8 a film called "The Jaycee Story."

Following the Nov. 8 meeting, Jaycees will be busy getting final details in shape for the gigantic circus, Nov. 4. The King-Cole Brother Circus, second largest in the county will be in Sanford for two showings.

Knowing that all children love a circus the Jaycees are bringing this one to town to give the youngsters an opportunity to see a "big time" one.

Caryl Chessman Wins New Hearing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Condemned kidnaper-rapist Caryl Chessman, after a seven-year struggle to escape San Quentin's gas chamber, has won a hearing for a new trial.

The U. S. Supreme Court yesterday ordered a rehearing of the death row author's petition for habeas corpus. Date for the hearing will be set later.

"It's what I asked for all these years—what I've begged them for since I came on 'The Row' 7 years 3 months and 13 days ago," Chessman said last night.

He heard the news on the prison radio. The high court ruling was based on the state's failure to deny Chessman's charge that the transcript of his trial in Los Angeles was "fraudulently prepared." The court remanded the case to Federal District Court for a hearing.

It was a 5-3 opinion with Justices Black, Frankfurter, Harlan, Minton and Douglas in the majority. Justices Clark, Burton and Reed dissented. Chief Justice Warren abstained.

Chessman, now 34, has sweated out 13000 hours in prison. In the meantime he has written the best-selling "Cell 2433: Death Row."

Late James Dean's Name Will Remain On Award Ballot

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The name of the late actor James Dean will remain on the ballot for the first annual audience awards poll.

He has been nominated for "the outstanding performance by a male star" and "most promising new male star of the year," both based on his performance as the brooding Caleb in John Steinbeck's "East of Eden."

After he was killed in an automobile accident Sept. 30, directors of the Council of Motion Picture Organizations were polled to determine if his name should remain on the ballot and they voted unanimously.

Back in 1948, they visited the fair and had to hitchhike home. Somebody stole their automobile. This week they visited the fair again and returned to Denison by train. Somebody stole their 1954 model automobile. McVey said visiting the fair was "getting mighty expensive."

Plane Hits Building

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif.

A small plane piloted by wealthy playboy Joel W. Thorne crashed into a two-story apartment house last night bringing flaming death to himself and two others — one a newly-christened baby.

Thorne's plane plummeted out of the overcast less than 12 minutes after taking off from Lockheed Air Terminal in nearby Burbank. An eye witness said a wing dropped off before the craft plunged into the building.

The 40-year-old sportsman and former auto racer was returning alone to his home in Las Vegas, Nev. Police investigators completed their identification of Thorne from his rings, a belt buckle, a gun and his will, found in the wreckage.

The other dead were identified as Mrs. Betty Jean Wolf, 18, resident in the upstairs apartment where the plane crashed, and two-month-old Sherill Camille Preston, who had just been baptized two hours before.

The baby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Preston, who lived in the downstairs apartment, were holding a christening party. They, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marchica of Los Angeles, and Miss Anna Presinzano of Lynhurst, N.J., were seriously burned or hurt.

In critical condition were the Marchicas' two children, John, 7, and Patricia, 10. All remained at North Hollywood Receiving Hospital.

"I only heard a plane," Mrs. Preston said. "The building shook and there was a big blast. I ran to the bedroom to get my baby then there was another blast and I ran to the street. There was so much smoke we couldn't breathe. My husband, Mike, went back after the baby."

It was then, observers said, the apartment came running out of the apartment, his flesh in tatters, screaming, "Oh, my baby! My baby!"

Thorne had been visiting friends in the Los Angeles area, including his reported fiancée, Joe Ann Burdick, an Anaheim, Calif., dancing instructor.

Miss Burdick said she and the 40-year-old sportsman had intended to be married next St. Valentine's day.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration planned to investigate the crash this morning.

The six-unit apartment building looked like a bomb had hit it. The first and second floor front apartments were burned out and plane wreckage was buried in the debris.

Association Calls Meet To Formulate Plans For Drive

A meeting of the Mutual Concert Association has been called for Thursday night, Oct. 20, 8 p. m.

The meeting will be held at the Seminole County School Administration Building on Commercial Ave.

Plans will be formulated for the membership drive with Mrs. Ralph Austin Smith as membership chairman. Under consideration for the concert series are nationally known figures as Cornelia Otis Skinner and the famous Don Cosack Chorus.

There will be a limited membership for the Mutual Concert Association since the seating capacity of the building where the programs are to be presented is also limited.

Officials of the group are urging that all interested persons attend this meeting where complete plans will be discussed and presented for consideration.

Southern Bell Co. Accepts Low Bid

The Southern Bell Telephone Company yesterday accepted a bid of 100.6511 for $20,000,000 principal amount of 40-year 3 1/2 per cent debentures. President Fred J. Turner announced at Southern Bell's Atlanta headquarters.

The successful bidder was Halcyon, Stuart and Company.

The accepted price represents an interest cost to the Southern Bell Company of approximately 3.22 per cent to maturity of the debentures. Mr. Turner said. The successful bidder plans to offer the issue to the public at 101.123 to yield approximately 3.20 per cent to maturity. The debentures are due in 1995.

The debentures are being issued in connection with the need of capital funds to provide telephone facilities to meet the continuing strong demand for telephone service in the south.

Southern Bell serves Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee.

Answers To Letters Are Slow In Coming

Answers to letters from the Seminole County Right-of-way Agent are possibly slow in coming into the Sanford office of John E. Fox.

Unofficially, it was revealed at the meeting of the Board of Seminole County Commissioners, this morning, that 11 cards in answer to a letter have been received.

The letter, it is understood, asked that a return card be mailed, indicating whether or not the property owner accepted or rejected the appraisal figure for right-of-way properties.

There were four cards according to the unofficial report, accepting the appraisers figure while seven cards have been received rejecting the appraisers figure.

Cards accepting the appraisal included those from Ross Mobley and Midget City. The only name mentioned at the commission meeting rejecting the appraisal figure was from Virgil Austin.

Kefauver Hints Financial Aid Needed To Run

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) apparently needs only the promise of some substantial financial and organization support to nudge him into the race for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination.

Kefauver, who won some primaries but not the nomination in 1952, told a news conference yesterday he will make up his mind whether to become an active candidate next year before the filing deadline for early presidential primaries.

He left the impression he hasn't in sight the estimated minimum of $200,000 he said would be needed to finance an active race. He said he has little information on what his friends are doing in an organization way.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) who stuck with Kefauver to the end in his unsuccessful convention fight for the nomination in 1952, said in an interview Kefauver won't get his support next year. He said he is backing Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 nominee, who is expected to announce next month that he is available again.

GOP Chairman Leonard Hall said in Philadelphia yesterday Eisenhower may wait until just before the August convention to announce his plans.

Record Of Bond Purchases Told

Savings Bond purchasers conveyed on bond teller windows in Florida banks in September in record numbers and when the score was tallied $7,018,700 had been rung up for Series E and H bonds, a monthly sales figure exceeded only twice since the close of World War II, W. A. Patrick, Seminole County Savings Bond Chairman reported today.

"This astonishing record of bond purchases has not been equaled since 1945 except in two previous months this year," Patrick said. "Twenty of Florida's 67 counties have already in nine months reached or exceeded their year's sales goal and twenty others are ahead of the first three quarters' quotas. The state now has accounted for 82% of its assigned objective and only a complete reversal in trend would prevent Florida reaching its full goal attainment," Patrick added.

Seminole County sales now total $272,440 for the first nine months. This compares with $148,885 in the same period a year ago. The quota established by the Treasury Department for the county for 1955 was $380,000, making Seminole one of the counties expected to realize its full assignment.

Attorney Instructed To Prepare Resolution

The Board of Seminole County Commissioners this morning authorized the expenditure of $25 per acre for a number of orange trees in a right-of-way for Dixon Road in the southern portion of the county. The original offer by the commission was for $20 per acre. T. Lewis was given permission to make the offer for the 30-year-old Valencia orange trees.

Notice of the budget meeting called by the State Road Department in DeLand was announced to the commissioners by Chairman John Meisch. The interim budget will be established on Nov. 2 from 4:30 to 5:00 o'clock, the period of time allocated to Seminole County.

A plat submitted to the commissioners for approval was turned down until water 12,000 days could be designated. The last Longwood Subdivision within the city limits of Longwood, has previously been approved by the Longwood city council.

Wheeler E. Jones, chairman of the State Road Board, asked the Seminole County Commission by letter, to adopt an appropriate resolution designating secondary roads "which in your opinion are of major importance to the welfare of your county listing them in their priority preference."

County Attorney Mack N. Cleveland Jr. was instructed to prepare the proper resolution to be submitted to the State Road Board. A request from the principal of Osiedo School, Stewart Gatehill, for play with which their base ball diamond would be replaced and constructed, was approved by the commission.

Improvements for grade over which Seminole County School buses travel in the vicinity of Casselberry were turned down. A letter from Hubbard Casselberry requested. The improvements, however, until the matter of Road and Bridge fund money is settled, for the township of Casselberry so that road improvements within the incorporated city limits of the town could be made by the local government, Commissioner Olin Fouraker said. "Let's leave it as it is and let them mandamus us."

Commissioner Chairman Melach said earlier, "I am willing to go along with giving the Road and Bridge Funds to Casselberry, but I am not in favor of going back five years to give the funds. If he Hubbard Casselberry had requested the funds five years ago there would have been a difference."

Seminole County Clerk O. P. Merndon said, "there must be a rule to follow. The city limits must be contiguous. I know that everyone wants to pay every dime that is honestly due, if it can be established what is the town of Casselberry."

A public hearing will be called, at the request of William A. Dial, representing the San Lania Golf course, on the matter of closing certain roads and streets adjacent to the golf course and crossing the fairway, trees and greens.

Charges Made Against Couple

Mary and Clarence Smith, negroes of Canaan City, were charged yesterday with the possession and the selling of moonshine whiskey.

Deputy Sheriff Morgan McCalland and W. L. Long, found a five-gallon jug of moonshine whiskey in the home adjacent to their business where they had a beer and wine license.

Mary Smith is charged with "selling moonshine," while Clarence Smith is charged with the "possession of moonshine whiskey."

The charges were made at 8:15 yesterday morning.

Meeting Called

Bready Odham, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Long Range Highway Planning Committee, has called a meeting for tomorrow night at 7 p. m. in Todd's Restaurant on the highway.

Plans will be discussed for a suggested highway development program within the county.

Commissioner Chairman Melach said earlier, "I am willing to go along with giving the Road and Bridge Funds to Casselberry, but I am not in favor of going back five years to give the funds. If he Hubbard Casselberry had requested the funds five years ago there would have been a difference."

Seminole County Clerk O. P. Merndon said, "there must be a rule to follow. The city limits must be contiguous. I know that everyone wants to pay every dime that is honestly due, if it can be established what is the town of Casselberry."

A public hearing will be called, at the request of William A. Dial, representing the San Lania Golf course, on the matter of closing certain roads and streets adjacent to the golf course and crossing the fairway, trees and greens.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The Navy is experimenting with some fast flying hydrofoil craft which look like small planes which never take off.

The Navy isn't convinced that there is a mission for them—they make 75 miles per hour on (or over) water. They are powered by two aircraft engines. They ride on three foil-equipped struts, one under each wing and the tail. Water flowing across the foils provides the lift to skim the surface. They make twice the speed of conventional craft with the same power.

Garden Nook

By SADIE B. GUT

(The Sanford Garden Club of F.F.G.C.)

Another fall planting season is at hand, and an important one it is, if we are to enjoy the many flowers for which our state is noted.

The spring flowering bulbs, corms and tubers should be planted now so that they can make good root growth during the cold winter months. Included in this group are Easter lilies, Crinum, amaryllis, narcissus, Leucojum (Snowflakes), Dutch Iris, Gladi, Montrosia, Wasonias and Gloriosa. The most satisfactory narcissus for our area are the Paperwhites, the Sacred Lily of China, the Soleil d'Or and also the double cluster fragrant type known as "Cheerfulness".

A very daintily flowered bulb not too often seen in our locality is the Spider Lily which comes in red, gold and more rarely white. Botanically these are Lycoris radiata (red), Lycoris Aurea (gold) and Lycoris Alba (white). These bulbs go dormant in early summer, then later in the same season spring like magic from the soil and bloom on a long stem with no leaves. This characteristic gives them the common name of "Surprise" or "Mystery" Lily.

Another member of this family often called "Magic" lily is Lycoris squamigera, but it needs cooler weather than we can give it. These Spider lilies do well in ordinary well-drained garden soil in sun or partial shade and should look well planted in back of amaryllis or daylilies to provide them with the green leaves they are lacking. The foliage appears after flowering and remains and grows all winter, so it is at this time that they should be fertilized to provide bloom for next summer.

Seeds of almost all of the annuals and perennials may be planted this month, omitting such summer bloomers as cockscomb, cosmos, marigolds, portulaca and tinias. Rooted plants of many annuals may be obtained from your dealer, thus saving considerable labor and time.

Cuttings may be taken now from Hibiscus, Banana shrub, Camellias and other broad leaved evergreens. Use about six inches of tip growth cut just below a node or joint, and dust the incised end with a rooting hormone. Insert in a cutting box containing a porous mixture of peat or leafmold and sharp sand or perlite and keep in a shaded spot.

Smart - and After School Proof

By Jane Mernin

WITH school open, comes the problem—what'll go on your floor this fall? There'll be the kiddies tramping through the house and the kiddies' friends and maybe the dog's friends, too. You'll want a material new and smart and decorative at a cost of not too much money. That calls for something pretty special, and one of the best answers is this fall's fibre rug. A new fibre pattern, delightfully styled in five tweedy color tones, is a blend of fibre, wool, rayon and acetate yarns. It is hardy, restfully springy and easy to clean. The rug blends with either contemporary or traditional furnishings, and you'll love the way it seems to shed the evidence of heavy traffic and spots from soil and wear. To make infrequent cleanings especially easy, the manufacturer has put on the market, Spang-a-Fong, a sponge impregnated with a special foam detergent. Squeeze the sponge several times in a gallon of water and you have enough cleaner to renew the largest size rug without removing it from the floor. The new rug (by Delton) comes in all standard sizes or any special size in several loom widths up to 12 feet. A 9 by 12 costs less than forty-five dollars.

THAT'S THE RUB

CHAPTER ONE

ROGER BRINDLE was dead. From New York to California people read the story with the same unbelief, the same sense of loss. Unbelief that anyone so brimming with life could die. A sense of loss because Roger had established a curiously personal relationship with the readers of his syndicated column The Way I Heard It.

When they opened their papers that Monday evening and turned to Roger's daily chatter about his friends and neighbors, they found a black-bordered portrait and under it the words, "Died in his sleep," and to most of them it seemed something warm and vital had gone out of their lives.

Road commentators gave brisk accounts, hastily culled from the margin, of his phenomenal success as a writer for big-city newspapers about small-town people and their affairs. On a memorial program a half-dozen speakers paid tribute to him as a human being, and told how they knew him. When stories of the big, modest, kindly man who had made the people of a nation his neighbors. Unlike most success stories, those about Roger Brindle were records of friendships.

While the slow cortege moved along the green at Stoneville and out of the village to the cemetery, a city reporter in search of local color joined a group of men who stood outside the hardware store, watching.

"Any of you know Brindle?"

"We all knew him. I saw him only a week ago in Paul's Barber shop. He looked kinda flushed but you wouldn't have thought he was a sick man. He called me by name."

"No side to him. He's always been the same. You'd see him coming along, towering above everybody on the street."

"How tall was he?"

"Maybe six-four. Homely as sin but you couldn't ask for a nicer expression."

"He used to take his place."

"Not by a long shot. Funny how, even if you didn't know him, you felt like he was a friend of yours."

"Hey! See that?"

"What?"

"Woman in the green car—no, right in front of you."

"What about her?"

"I guess she was before your time. Roger Brindle's first wife, that's all. Only time she's been seen since the divorce. Ten years it's a day. She's changed some. A bit heavier and a little gray in her hair. But there's no doubt—that's Jane Brindle."

"Kind of queer for both wives to be here, isn't it?"

"Neither could anyone else. At Copyright, 1954, by Elmore Hamilton. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

"Poor girl. But Carol is good looking and only thirty. Fifteen years younger than Roger. She'll marry again. It's the people he helped who are more to be pitied. Take the Kibbees. Roger and Albert Kibbee have been friends since they were kids. Roger supported Albert most of his life. And Albert's wife. Even put their son through college."

"I never knew the Kibbees had a boy."

"That was Roger for you. Not a word about what he was doing for people. The way he wrote them up in his column, you'd think the Kibbees and the rest of them were the ones who did things for him. That's Mrs. Kibbee in the median. Must be her son with her. He sure has been kept under wraps since he came here."

"Why didn't Kibbee go out and get himself a job?"

"He's a minister of one of those obscure sects. He's got a job or a call or whatever it is, and a year later he'd lose his church. I thought he was an unimpressive little runt but don't let my wife hear that. Roger said he was a saint, so he's a saint."

"More than anyone could say about Joe Hattery."

"That's Roger again. Taking in an ex-convict and giving him a second chance. He let the Hatterys have one of those little cottages and kept Joe working around the place and he went straight. He made Mrs. Hattery his secretary. Way he wrote about her in his column, you'd think he was the fortunate one and his secretary did half his work."

"Well, sir, this funeral is bringing out even the ghosts. Believe it or not, that's Hattery's house in the convertible."

"Stow! I thought he'd died or moved away."

"Nope. The war messed him up some and he sold his house to Brindle and moved into a little cottage. Like a hermit."

"First Stowe since there was a Stoweville out, you take an interest in the town. What does he do with all his money?"

"Pity Roger Brindle didn't have part of it. I wonder what his wife will do now."

That was what Carol Brindle was wondering. She had returned from the funeral, shutting the door firmly against everyone who wanted to see her, except for Max Griswold who had been Roger's attorney and general man of business. He insisted on talking to her without a delay.

"There is almost no money," he told her bluntly. "I don't understand it. Roger was—"

"He was—"

"On with caution—sometimes no."

seemed a little odd these past months. Worried about something.

"Odd in what way?"

Something in Carol's voice, a strained note, made the lawyer give her a speculative glance. "He got his depression just a month ago, so I'm sure he never managed to do things right, no matter how he tried. Of course, he always expected the impossible of himself. But still—and he said a queer thing. He said, 'Max, it's ridiculous for me to make a will. As though I could leave anything. Didn't sound to me as though he meant property but as though he thought he would vanish without leaving a trace.'"

"Griswold's hands made a helpless gesture. "I can't explain it. As though—Roger had never been. Mortal, anyhow."

"No!" Carol's voice did not lose its softness but there was no mistaking her fierce rejection of his implication. "No, Max! He wasn't like that at all. Roger was happy, the happiest man I ever knew."

"Well," Griswold suggested, "perhaps he had a subconscious awareness that he was seriously ill. Could be something like that. Queer, I never knew he had a heart condition."

"He just—died in his sleep," Carol said.

"Well, my dear girl," Griswold said more briskly, "we'll have to figure out something for you. The bank trust, and there's no way of getting it, is that Roger didn't leave more than five thousand dollars. Unless you sell the house—"

"I'll never sell the house! It was Roger's wedding present to me. I love this place. The first time I saw it I wanted to live here."

"But what are you going to do?" he expostulated. "I know Roger was too generous for his own good but he should have thought of you."

Roger's young widow turned on the car, with a fierceness that startled him.

"He did think of me! I was first with him always."

"Of course," he attempted to soothe her. "Well, I won't keep you now and we'll figure something out. Don't worry. And when you need me—"

He set himself out of the house and got into his car, thinking of the fame that had greeted behind Carol Brindle's eyes. Roger's second wife had always reminded him of a long-haired cat, lovely to look at, soft to touch, with only a hint of hidden claws, with tawny hair and eyes so pale a brown they seemed to be yellow. Like a cat, Carol loved comfort; she was lazy and content and decorative and, he had assumed, with something of the unchangeable nature of the Persian feline.

Hallowe'en Snapshots Are Treats, and Not Tricky

Any day now you may expect to greet an odd assortment of visitors on your front doorstep—anything from witches, black cats, ghosts and skeletons to a band of pirates, gypsies or just plain ragmuffins. Hallowe'en is just around the corner!

Faced with the ominous ultimatum of "Tricks or Treats," you'll have candy-dish and cookie-jar filled to the brim—the price one pays to be free of chalk marks and pint-sized pranksters. And you'll do well to have an extra stock of flash bulbs and film—to be sure you don't run out of supplies for all the picture-taking Hallowe'en just naturally seems to demand.

Whether you're planning a Hallowe'en party of your own or depend upon visits from the neighborhood youngsters, there'll be plenty of picture opportunities that you and your camera can't afford to miss. And with flash equipment, you won't miss a trick.

Radio-TV Highlights

NEW YORK (AP)—The late World Series has caused me to stop shaving. No, I'm not letting my beard grow because I lost a bet. Rather, my beard is a soundless, fuzzy protest against the commercials that marred the presentation of this national institution on television.

Now that I've stopped wanting to look sharp or feel sharp or be sharp and have given up using either the light or the medium or the heavy razor, I'm taking my baseball coverage next season in the daily paper. The beautiful, steady flow of a news story has never looked so good to me as on these recent days following a World Series game. Nowhere in any news story has my concentration been jarred by a paragraph to the effect that Pee Wee Reese or Hank Bauer shaves with a —

It was to be expected that we'd get commercials between the innings in one world series. After all these people had a heavy advertising investment in bringing us, the most captive audience ever rorralled, the World Series. But we not only got commercials in the middle of innings, we got commercials in the middle of middles.

If I was looking and listening as intently as I believe, it sounded to me as though Casey Stengel has ordered his Yankees to shave only with a gentleman I have long admired from a distance; he strikes me as a guy who can inspire other guys to do the impossible. But I'm a sad judge of human character. If Stengel ever ordered his guys to shave with a —

Chance To Work In Nations Capital Offered Persons

An opportunity to work in the Nation's capital and to start a career with the Federal service is offered now to young people in this area who can type or write shorthand. It was announced today by Miss Anna Knight, Navy civilian representative, who is interviewing applicants at the Navy Recruiting Station, Federal Office Building, 43 E. Central, Orlando.

These positions, under civil service, have base entrance salaries of $265 and $285 per month. An automatic salary increase is granted for each year of satisfactory service. The employment is based on a five-day work week and carries excellent annual and sick leave benefits, in addition to eight legal holidays a year.

Miss Knight gives examinations for these positions, rating the papers immediately thereafter. The examination consists of a ten-minute typing test and a fifteen-minute clerical test for typist applicants; and for those applying for stenographic positions, there is an additional test of three-minute dictation at eighty words per minute.

The Navy feels a deep responsibility for the welfare, happiness, and advancement of its employes. Miss Knight said. Among the many advantages which are provided for them are: guaranteed housing upon arrival in Washington, recreation programs, special training courses, non-profit cafeterias, credit associations, Government life insurance, and cash awards for superior performance.

Interviews are conducted daily for a limited time only. Contact Miss Knight at the Navy Recruiting Station, Federal Office Building, Orlando, Phone 7001.

BLOWUP FEARED

JERSEYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Sheriff Herman C. Kirchner said the Lock of the dynamite storage shed was pried away by a thief at a quarry. Sixty sticks of the explosive and a quantity of dynamite caps were taken.

The sheriff isn't so concerned with the theft itself. What does the thief intend to do with the dynamite is the big question.

Saturday night things were "really booming" at the USO when a "MaryAnn's" dance was held with Miss Mary Ann Michels acting as junior hostess. Refreshments were served and Mrs. H. A. Canell and Mrs. R. A. Pinkerton represented the Episcopal Women as senior hostesses. Dancing was enjoyed by a large crowd that attended and several remarked "we've never had such a good time."

Sunday night the unique idea of a Pumpkin Pie Party was carried out. Junior hostess for the event was Miss Pat Cassube and senior hostess, again representing the Episcopal Women, was Mrs. Canell.

Eighty-five pieces of pie were served along with steaming cups of coffee. Television was enjoyed in the TV room and games were played. Miss Betty Buckimer added to the fun by bringing her collection of records down.

AMBASSADORS MEET

GENEVA (AP)—Ambassadors of the United States and Communist China met for the 21st time here today in an effort to settle their repatriation of civilians of both sides and reduce tension in the Far East. No progress was announced after the secret meeting.

A 30 word communique said another session between U.S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson and Red Chinese ambassador Wang Ping-nan would be held Oct. 20.

North Carolina State College experts say the average worker in that state had to work 21 minutes for a quart of milk in 1939 but only 12 minutes in 1954.

AT NIGHT IT LIGHTS UP Concrete Roads

At night you can see further and better on concrete. Its light-colored surface spreads illumination. Pavement edges, obstructions and pedestrians are clearly defined.

Night or day, wet or dry, concrete has uniformly high slip resistance because of its permanently gritty surface.

Concrete saves money, too. It is moderate in first cost yet can be designed accurately for any axle load—and concrete keeps its load-carrying capacity throughout its long service life.

Concrete pavements cost less to maintain, too. They are long-lasting and durable.

Captain Tillis said this morning that everything is in readiness to serve at least 250 people expected to attend the district-wide meeting. ## James F. Stepp Re-Enlists In Navy On 47th Birthday

"I'm re-enlisting on my birthday," said Chief Aviation Mechanic's Mate James F. R. ("Joe") Stepp as he was sworn in for another four year tour in the Navy on the day he became 47 years old. Stepp, who is Maintenance Chief of Composite Squadron Nine based at NAAS Sanford, has had a varied and interesting career during his 26 years and nine months in the Navy.

He has served aboard the aircraft carrier Lexington, Saratoga, Wasp, FDR and T Bennington with numerous widely known Navy personalities, among them Admirals McCain, Carney, Haloway and King. He was also aboard the Bennington when it was struck by a typhoon in June, 1945, during World War II, while Stepp was in the South Pacific with the famous "Red Ripper" squadron, and had three brothers also in the service. One is currently a Chief Petty Officer with over 21 years' service. Joe points out that his and his brother have over 30 years of Navy service between them—and they aren't finished yet. Stepp and his wife have two sons, members of the Sanford Ski and Golf Club.

He has been attached to Composite Squadron Nine for over a year, and plans to make Florida his home when he retires. "I just want to hunt and fish in the parts for the rest of my days," he says, and has a plot of land near Gameville to firm up his plans. For younger Navy enlisted men he has the following advice: "Stay in the Navy and make it your career, especially in aviation. And if you're going to do with my re-enlistment bonus—invest it in a reliable sound security—U. S. Bonds."

He and Mrs. F. Stepp have one daughter, age nine, whom they plan to send to college in Florida. It was noted that Chief Stepp has a fondness for doing things on memorable dates; he first joined the Navy on November 11th—Armistice Day, 1918.

Miller Is Held On Four Warrants

William "Brother" Miller, who now gives his address as West 10th Street, was transferred Monday night to the Seminole County Jail from the Sanford Jail and is now being held on four warrants charging him with breaking and entering.

The warrants, two of them taken out by Constable J. Q. "Slim" Galloway and the other two by Sanford Patrolman C. C. Dodson and Arnold Williams, resulted in bonds of $1,000 each.

Captain Roy Tillis Retires After 41 Years Of Service

The meeting today of the Fifth District Peace Officers Association is probably the last one Captain Roy Tillis of the Sanford Police Department will attend.

Captain Tillis, several weeks ago presented his letter of retirement to the Board of Sanford City Commissioners which is to be effective as of Nov. 1.

After 41 years of public service, however, the Captain really doesn't mean to be wasting his time—way just looking about, he has a fish camp, and ranch that will keep him busy every moment of the day.

Captain Tillis began his career as a law enforcement officer back in 1914, on Jan. 1 of that year to be exact, when his father, W. A. Tillis, was Chief of Police. Those were the days when mounted police were in vogue. Some of the recollections so vivid in Captain Tillis' mind centered around the fact that it was a mounted police, every man on a horse. The first picture made of Captain Tillis, which he had among his keepsakes, was taken on a 4th of July celebration at the Fourth Street Park when the entire group of law enforcement officers were aboard their steeds to handle the crowds.

Captain Tillis reveals that he has worked under the direction of five chiefs of police and two sheriffs. He spent 30 years with the City of Sanford's Police Department, 7 years with the Seminole County Sheriff as a deputy, and 3 years with the Police Department of Daytona Beach.

The retiring captain said that he has worked every shift from a patrolman, sergeant, lieutenant, captain, and as acting chief during the absence of the chief.

Captain Roy Tillis says, "I am going to retire to the Oseola Fish Camp and ranch which is owned jointly by my wife and me."

Tillis is now vice-chairman of the Fifth District Peace Officers Association, a group with which he is affiliated in 1928. He is a charter member of the Sanford Policeman's Benevolent Association.

Firemen Answer One Night Alarm

The Sanford Fire Department answered an alarm last night, shortly before 10 o'clock, in Casan City.

The frame structure, just off Sipes Ave in the heavily populated area, contained a small blaze caused by an electric wire short-circuited.

There was only a small amount of damage in the quickly controlled blaze.

CofC Membership Drive Underway

More than a score of Sanford businessmen met this morning at the Yacht Club for a kick-off breakfast, getting underway the 1953-54 membership drive for the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

Clifford McKibbin, chairman of the membership committee, met with the team captains, team members, and officials of the Chamber of Commerce to distribute kits containing all of the necessary equipment for the three-day vigorous drive.

McKibbin, instructing the teams and captains, said that "We expect to get our campaign completed in the shortest possible time, and with every member of our group working with full steam ahead, the drive will come to a successful conclusion."

Seminole County Chamber of Commerce President George Touhy, spoke briefly to the group emphasizing that "all businessmen in Seminole County will owe a debt of gratitude to you for your efforts today. If there is anything this county needs—it is a Chamber of Commerce."

Touhy concluded his talk with "If you go forward with confidence in your product, it will ultimately be successful."

Committee Chairman McKibbin, instructing the group, said "this is primarily a Sanford effort with the county-wide program being conducted by a letter campaign."

"We have divided the city into six areas, he explained, and with the six teams, armed with kits containing complete information of the area and working in groups of two, little time will be necessary to bring the campaign to a successful climax."

"Daily reports will be made at 11:45 and 4:30," said McKibbin, and he told the membership teams of the prizes in store. "For the top team in this campaign, there are four tickets and $25 expense money for the Orange Bowl game, the second highest team in percentage points gets four tickets and $15 expense money for the Gator Bowl game, with the top team captain receiving 2 tickets to the Tangerine Bowl game with two dinners at Freddie's Steak House."

The captains for the membership drive are O. Lewis Dinkins, Dallas Loop, John Williams, Don Bales, R. L. Perkins Jr. and Gordon Sweeney.

Petitions Flying In Town Of DeBary On Zoning Question

DEBARY — Petitions are flying about DeBary faster than snow in Vermont. To zone or not to zone, that is the question. Each group is calling at homes to enlist signers; lively arguments ensue.

The rapidly developing community of DeBary is suffering growing pains. The minority without restrictive clauses in their deeds feel injustices may be perpetrated in the future and that zoning will cure these ills before they can start. The opposition feels that zoning will not insure the garden of Eden but merely open the gate to politicians.

Zoning advocates insist this proposed law would necessitate fair and equal protection in the basic matters of proper location of the buildings on the lots and of the essential architectural and sanitary provisions. Opponents decide this, saying that one man could not accomplish all this in one lifetime; that it would immediately lead to an electrical inspector, a plumbing inspector and a sanitation inspector, politically appointed and paid for by the owners.

Section six of article four seems to hold the loker, according to the opposition. It would prohibit the building of any home with less than 650 square feet of floor area exclusive of breezeway, utility room or carport. That states the opponents would abolish the erection of the popular DeBary two bedroom model. Over fifty per cent of the homes now in the village are the two bedroom DeBary model, which has only 590 square feet of floor area. Even those which added two feet to their bedrooms would make only 638 square feet of floor area. So, state the home owners, this would defeat the very purpose for which DeBary was founded, small homes, easy to maintain, for retired people. The zoning advocates say this new law would tend to move gracious living and ask if it is fair to impose a little house with questionable architectural lines alongside a more expensive model?

At a recent meeting sponsored by the zoning proponents the Civic Community hall was crowded with interested home owners of DeBary. The sponsors were enthused by this large attendance; they said it showed the desire of residents for zoning. Others remarked ruefully that they had come for an open discussion but that there was no discussion. No question was allowed unless it was one which could be answered by reading from the resolutions which had already been mailed each resident.

And so the argument grows. There will be more meetings, more discussions, with the outcome up to the enrolled voters at election time.

5 Persons Killed By Runaway Truck

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP)—Five persons were killed today when a runaway tractor-trailer truck came streaking down the steep grades on U.S. 40 from Frostburg to the west outskirts of Cumberland.

It smashed into a car and ground it to pieces against another big truck heading out of Cumberland.

At least four persons were trapped or burned to death in the car.

The driver of the truck heading up the grade was decapitated.

The crash was about a mile west of the Maryland State Police barracks at Laysale, just west of Cumberland.

One report was that the runaway truck came down into a 30-mile zone doing 85 to 90.

It was carrying aluminum sheets or siding.

Almost two hours later, police had not been able to determine the identity of any of the victims in the car. It was so badly smashed they had trouble even determining what kind of car it was.
