3 PROBES ARE BEGUN OF SHIP CRASH IN FOG

210 Passengers Saved By Fine Seamanship Of Crews On Cutter And Steamer

BOSTON, July 8.—(INS)—A three fold investigation was launched today into the Sabbath morning sea crash in a dense fog 75 miles off Boston Light between the coast guard patrol boat Agassiz and the Nova Scotia passenger liner Prince George, whose 240 passengers were saved by masterly seamanship on the part of both crews.

One inquiry was ordered by the New England division headquarter of the coast guard service. A second probe was started by officials of the Eastern Steamship Lines, operators of the Prince George, and another general investigation was set in motion by the United States steamship inspection service.

President Eugene E. O'Donnell, of the steamship company, raised the question of whether the Agassiz was sounding her fog horn. The Prince George was blowing her siren, it said, on her regular course and proceeded at a moderate rate of speed.

Seaman Ollie Hauser, at the wheel of the Agassiz when his pipe pierced the forepeak of the steamship, saying a jagged hole above and below the water line was still routine in the civil service of the coast guard section of the Agassiz, a tubular portion of the cable in the fog. People ran from their houses fearing a repetition of the previous disaster.

The Agassiz also was held to give an accounting of her stewardship. That she is doing now.

At noon Wednesday, Mrs. Owen will speak at a joint luncheon arranged by the civic clubs under the direction of the Kiwanis. The luncheon will be given at the parish home of the Holy Cross Episcopal Church and the attendance will be limited to 100 because of restricted accommodations. Tickets may be obtained at Ruimill and Anderson drug store.

At 4 o'clock a second meeting to which the public is cordially invited, will be staged at the armory theater, the site of which has been given by J. L. Mavett.

Arrangements for the two gatherings, including made by Mrs. John G. Leonard, who will have Mrs. Owen as guest during the brief visit.

One of the planes at the Cleveland terminal of the air force was made ready today according to officials of the corporation here.

EARTH SHOCKS CAUSE ANXIETY IN CALIFORNIA

Excitement Prevails In Big Buildings As 2 Distinct Tremblers Are Generally Felt

LOS ANGELES, July 8.—(INS)—Two shocks, believed to have been earthquakes, were felt Los Angeles at 8:44 o'clock this morning. The shocks, felt in buildings in the downtown section, there appeared to be two distinct movements, one immediately following the other. The noise of the movement appeared to be directly north and south.

The disturbances were characterized as "earth shocks" by the United States Weather Bureau. The shocks occasioned some excitement in large office buildings but the excitement quickly died down.

The weather was cloudy with a high fog. This was not what is commonly known as "possible earthquake weather."

At Inglenook, Alameda, where earth shocks were felt approximately 1000 feet east of the city hall, a window of the main building of the Alameda section of the city hall, People ran from their houses fearing a repetition of the previous shocks.

The shock also was felt in San Pedro, 25 miles from Los Angeles, which is known as a地震区.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

Prayer—"O voice of Duty, to me still, speak forth; I hear with awe; In these lowly sovereign will, Obey the sovereign law."

THIS WILL BE HEAVEN

I'd like a cozy bungalow.
That I can call my own,
A garden and a great big yard
With trees and flowers o'er grown.
And I would like them very near
Some city of renown.
Suburban life sure gets my goat—
It's too darn far from town.

No more I care of rural life,
Its joys for me are o'er,
Mosquitoes, owls and rattlesnakes,
With hordes of pests galore.
Surround me with a demon of gloom—
That fain would drag me down.

Now hang me if I'll stay out here,
It's too darn far from town.
I long to hear the whistles blow,
To walk the crowded street—
To see the pretty flapper girls—
These Tampans can't be beat—
The beautiful movie actresses,
With dance and song so witty—
Oh "hush my mouth," I'll tell the world—

I'm going back to the city.

I'll buy a home on Tampa Shore,

"Twill please the wife and kiddies,

And go to raising kids—

Joy, happiness and health I'll find

From care and sorrow free,

Sunny Florida, right-up-town—

This will be heaven for me.

Every American boy has a chance of becoming president—if he happens to be a republican.—Florida Times-Union:

Now that Germans are again to be admitted to Oxford as Rhodes scholars, the World War can be said to be scholarly at an end.

Another world endurance flying record was broken last week and some Cleveland aviators spring into prominence. Breaking endurance records seems to be aviation's most popular pastime.

One thing we have never been able to understand is why girls wear sunbath dresses at night, but the Canal Point News suggests that they want to get the full benefit of the moonshine as well as the sunshine.

"Miss Miami" was crowned "Miss Florida" at the Palm Beach bathing beauty contest last week. It only remains for "Miss Florida" to prove that Miami is still the "Magic City".

If John Temple Graves insists upon a duel over the proper use of a superfluous, true spasm, demands that we name the weapons. To the ponies, then! We pick polo mallets. And the distance, three hundred yards!

See where Joe Benjamin is going to marry Agnes O'Loughlin, New York show girl. It takes the old boys to get away with the beautiful girls, but this Benjamin is not Uncle Joe of the Independent, but a former lightweight boxer, and one time pal of Jack Dempsey.

Britt Pringle whose execution has been delayed a week by an order from Governor Carlton, has written his wife asking that she kiss his lips just before he is placed in his grave. That is a big assignment! To kiss the lips of a man electrocuted for killing a hog with an ax over an argument about a quart of liquor.

Ruth Bryan Owen, who is making a tour of the Fourth Congressional District on a mission to acquaint her constituents with her activities in Washington, is keeping her election promise. She will be in Sanford this week and her speech will undoubtedly prove interesting to the great many of our citizens who are watching her career.

And now a chemist finds that Bill B. Pitt was "driving while drunk" when his airplane fell at Roosevelt Field and killed him and his two passengers. Driving automobiles while drunk is a dangerous enough undertaking, but driving airplanes while under the influence of questionable bootleg beverages, seems to us to be the height of folly.

Reducing Costs

For a great many years the heads of families have been most concerned with the problem of increasing their incomes. The balm for the troubles caused by the high cost of living has not been looked for in lower costs but in higher salaries and dividends. Municipal governments, until recently, have not been interested so much in economical administration and general reduction of expenditures as in selling bonds to raise additional revenue to meet expenses.

As a result incomes have been increased. Carpenters, painters, and masons, speaking of the country generally, are now being paid a higher scale of wages than ever before. The wealthy capitalist and the small investor have been receiving larger dividends on their stocks than formerly. The matter of increasing one's revenue has been exploited to the very limit, but the matter of curtailing expenses had nearly been forgotten.

Eight billion dollars annually could be saved, says a writer in the current issue of McCall's. If the individual's purchasing power were more wisely used, Miss Helen Bennett points out that extravagant practices of women who are the country's leading buyers, are largely responsible for this enormous waste. Women who have difficulty in making up their minds what they want are mostly to blame.

Twenty percent of all goods bought on charges are returned, Miss Bennett says. A coat, for instance, which apparently fits perfectly in the store, is found to be a little baggy under the arms when the husband fails to rave about it in sufficient tones of ecstasy. The coat is returned; the manager has to accept it because it is charged, in spite of the fact that it undoubtedly is rumpled and damaged to a more or less degree.

This means that he must allow for such contingencies when he fixes the price of a piece of goods. It also means that a twenty percent larger stock of goods must be carried by the store to take the place of the articles which are out of the store but which will be returned. A larger capital is thus tied up in the investment and more employees are necessary in order to take care of the additional stock.

So if women could only learn to make up their minds as to what they want, and then stick to it, this country would save at least eight billion, billion not million, dollars annually. At least that is what Miss Bennett says and she's a woman.

Gasoline Substitutes

"Necessity is the mother of invention." The enormous tax which Florida motorists must now pay on gasoline may, it seems entirely likely, result in the perfection of some substitute for gasoline, not now taxable. If, for instance, automobiles could be made to run on sulphur water mixed with a little salt and soda, we could then easily escape a large portion of our tax burden. As Moses Folsom says in the Times-Union:

"It may surprise some of the readers of Flashes to learn what Florida is producing material from which a substitute for gasoline can be made. No one is ordinarily justified in saying 'you can't do it.' Just around the corner somebody may be doing it. Government scientists have made some amazing experiments in finding a substitute for gasoline. At the United States experiment station in Arlington, Virginia, they have succeeded in driving a motor car engine, using corn flour as 'gas' which, it is estimated, costs only one-third as much as gasoline.

"These experiments, as described in Popular Mechanics, consist of feeding a mixture of corn flour and air to the engine, producing a series of explosions. In this way, the engine is operated successfully; the corn flour used for this purpose having been bought from a grocery store.

"The method adopted is to mix a quantity of corn flour with air in a large sheet-metal box, using for the purpose an electric fan inside the box. From the box a stream of the flour-laden air is drawn by suction through a pipe into the automobile engine, producing a series of small explosions as it is ignited by the electric spark.

"The discovery of a method of utilizing the explosive forces of flour as motive power was suggested by the fact that every now and then some grain elevator, flour mill or factory is wrecked by an explosion of dust, often resulting in a heavy loss of life as well as great financial loss.

"On the pantry shelves in every home are to be found flour, oatmeal, powdered sugar, etc., which under certain conditions, can equal dynamite in its power to wreck. Even soap in powdered form falls in this category.

"In fact, scientists have found out, any combustible substance in powdered form, if so mixed with air as to be supplied with plenty of oxygen, will, in a confined space, explode if a match is lighted.

"How tremendous is the power developed by the explosion of cereal dust mixed with air may be judged from a statement by Prof. Charles E. Mumford, chief expert in explosives in the United States Bureau of Chemistry, who says that the contents of a twenty-four pound sack of wheat flour, mixed with 400 cubic feet of air in a closed place, will, if ignited, generate an instant enough power to throw a mass of iron weighing one ton to a height of five miles. Surprising facts as to the powers of nature are coming to light every day.

"BE SURE YOUR sins will find you out" is applicable to the erstwhile Bishop Cannon of Virginia. Little did he think that his gambling activities in the stock market would ever reach the ears of the people "back home," but they did, and now he is sputtering and stammering in an effort to find an explanation for his misconduct, especially in that he wears the garb of a minister. A minister of the gospel who does not respect his high calling more than did Bishop Cannon, of Virginia, is a hypocrite of the most dangerous type and should be treated with as speculators and gamblers in other walks of life.—Athens, Ga., Banner Herald.

THE OSAGE INDIANS

TAMPA TIMES

The Osage Indians in Oklahoma are the richest "wards" of the United States, and doubtless the richest group of a similar number of people in the world. But how happy are they? Not so happy, probably, as in those long gone days when "money" was unknown and when the next day's food supply depended upon skill and luck.

From a statement by George J. Wright, superintendent of the Osage Indian agency in Oklahoma, it is found that in the last 14 years the department of the interior has received and disbursed $673,772,053 for the Osage Indians in Oklahoma. Every individual among the tribe has during that time received $100,000 as his share of the money arising from the leasing of Osage lands for oil and gas. The income of the Osage from oil and gas royalties and bonuses, the report states, is now decreasing each year. In the last year the funds invested in government bonds have been reduced from $18,000,000 to $10,000,000, and a further reduction will be necessary soon. The deposit in banks in Oklahoma to the credit of these Indians show a slight increase, being now about $10,500,000, although the number of depositors has decreased from 201 to 180. DAIRYING COMES TO THE FRONT

FLORIDA ADVOCATE

It is gratifying to note the interest being shown in dairying in this section. While Hardee county still remains an open-range country and there are several large herds of range cattle to be found in the county, people generally are looking on the range cow as having served her time, so far as Hardee county is concerned. It is true that plenty of open range land still remains in this and adjoining counties, but cattle raising is not what it used to be, and offers less opportunities for profit than it did a few years ago. We have come to realize that there is more money in trucking, in poultry raising, in citrus growing, and in other lines of agriculture, than in keeping a bunch of range cattle on land that yields more in strawberries and other crops than in cattle.

Of course, it will be before the range cattle disappear even in this county, but there is a gradual turning to better cattle. And as the land that was once used for range purposes is being cut up into small farms, the better grade dairy cow is taking her proper place.

For many years we have consumed thousands of cans of milk that were shipped in from other states. We are still doing this, and probably will continue to do so for some time to come.

But with a realization of the benefits the dairy cow will bring, it won't be long until there'll be a good dairy cow on every farm and we'll be healthier, happier and much better off.

May we quote from the report of Secretary of Agriculture W. M. Jardine, for 1928, who says: "The consumption of dairy products increases annually. Part of the gain is attributable to the normal growth of population and part to an increase in per capita consumption. Nevertheless, the consumption is not yet up to the level most desirable from a health standpoint. Additional increases may be expected from continued

Without endorsing the writer's proposal that all news of the Meadly be suppressed, the Orlando Reporter Star properly points out that undue emphasis may be given to journalism as suppression would be. Between the newspaper which refuses to print the news and the newspaper which prints the news in exaggerated proportions, there isn't much choice. Stating facts is one thing, catering to hysteria is another.

Reference is made to sport pages to the winter of the national open golf championship in Robert Jones, an Atlanta lawyer, "make time seem to loose down. We wonder what sort of a lax practice Bobby has and how good he is at it. Even if he is no adele at the bar on putting green there are probably a few to say, 'Why he can't be a doctor, he is a left player!' It is hard for Americans to admit that a man may be good in two things at once.

Big Bill Tilkin, onetime member of all he surveyed in tends to do to defeat again at the hands of Custer of France. The press which was called to flatten the farmer's cattle material to flatten on his vertex. When the history of violence and discriminatory tariff bills is written the Hawley-Smoot one may lead all the rest.

Democrats who have been fighting with protection ideas are learning all over again these days how dark and gloomy are the ways of Rich Griffin. The congress which was called to flatten the farmer's cattle material to flatten on his vertex. When the history of violence and discriminatory tariff bills is written the Hawley-Smoot one may lead all the rest.

"I am through forever with aeroplane flying," declared in winter the other day after falling to accomplish what he had started to do—to make a new endurance refueling flight. He had been flying continuously for nearly seventy-one hours. "Much of my supply of gas became exhausted" although he had arranged for fueling, which was not possible because of weather conditions, and he had recourse to flattening on his vertex. In the meantime the pilot of an accompanying plane had been killed in a collision with a tree, flying to do fog, and the pilot's companion, a young woman, was very seriously injured.

It is time for more. There has to make the resolve that has been made by the man above quoted. Although he was not exactly what is known as a "stunt flier," he was engaged in trying to do what, if successfully accomplished, would have been of no particular value to aviation. He is doubly wise, therefore, to decide to be "through forever with endurance flying." If more fliers will make similar decisions, more lives will be saved from needless sacrifice.

In the past ten days or two weeks, an unusual number of fatal and less serious accidents have occurred in which aviators have been victims. In some instances, even the most experienced fliers have met with accidents, while those less experienced and engaged more or less in what is known as "stunt flying" have given their lives for their recklessness or have been seriously injured. Few, as well as other human beings, have ambitions, but they take needless risks and they know they are taking them when they try to do the impossible or the startling, neither of which is necessary.

Nothing whatever is gained by stunt flying. It may thrill spectators who are looking for something to happen; they are not looking for anything worth while to be accomplished. Persons who value their lives have no business to gratify the curiosity of such onlookers.

Aviation is becoming established on a sound basis. It is an enterprise that is very much worth while, but only when it is engaged in for the accomplishment of worthy purposes. Stunt flying is not in that class. It may sound harsh to say that stunt fliers who meet with accidents receive comparatively little of sincere sympathy, but such is the fact. The people, generally speaking, do not want men and women to take unnecessary risks for the mere purpose of "showing off." If they take such risks, there is the blame for whatever happens. So far as constituted authority exercises their control over fliers, stunt flying is prohibited, as it should be. Furthermore, there should be positive prohibition of all sorts of stunt flying that involves possible death or serious injuries to the fliers and to others.

Adoption is a comparatively new thing. Pursued in an orderly way and manner, it has accomplished wonders and has become valuable in the field of transportation. Even with the utmost of care, and in the ordinary ways of

Boston Chinatown Is Scene Of Wild Raids

BOSTON, July 6 (INS) — Boston's Chinatown was the scene of wild confusion early today as a score of federal narcotics agents aided by the Boston police narrative squad raided six alleged opium joints, seizing large quantities of opium and making 12 arrests.

These raiders were armed with ledges hammers as well as search warrants and the entire Chinatown district for a time was a bedlam of confusion as doors were being broken down and partitions smashed. Streets of the district were filled with excited Chinese with possession of narcotics or being present while narcotics were found. Two white girls were among those taken, but they were later released. The opium and "layouts" seized were valued at thousands of dollars.

"God" Is Subject Of Scientists' Lesson

"God" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in the First Church of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday.

The Golden Text was from Psalms 65:12, "Praise wileth before God, in Sion: and unto them shall the vow be performed. O thou that hearest prayer, unto thee shall all flesh come."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was one following from the Bible: "I will extol thee, my God, O King; and I will bless thy name for ever and ever. One generation shall praise thy works to another, and shall declare thy mighty acts. They shall abundantly utter the memory of thy great goodness, and shall sing of thy righteousness" (Psalms 145:1,4,7).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Let us learn of the real and eternal, and prepare for the reign of Spirit, the kingdom of heaven,—the reign and rule of universal harmony, which can not be lost nor remain forever un-renewed."

Friends of Vern C. Misinger who recently suffered injuries in a railroad accident at Lakeland will be glad to learn that he has been removed from the Hospital to his home here, Old Myrtle Avenue.

Prof. and Mrs. Emilie Trebing of Little Rock, Ark., are spending a short time here as the guests of the former's brother and sister-in-law Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Harvey. Prof. Trebing is dean of music at the Arkansas School for the Blind at Little Rock, and is enjoying a tour of Florida.

Building permits issued in Palm Beach and West Palm Beach during first five months of this year total $1,771,707.

No-Mr. Dean YOU ARE WRONG

One full page in The Herald wouldn't begin to tell the folks how good "The Broadway Melody" really is. It would take pages and pages to fully convey the entertainment qualities of this production; to describe the many angles of general appeal that this picture carries.

It is different, as you say, it gives us a new vision of just what the possibilities of the talking screen are. Entertainment for "Main Street" as has only heretofore been within the scope of those who are able to journey, some at very rare intervals, to the great metropolis centers.

In pictures, sound or otherwise, there are different classifications as applied to audience appeal. The Broadway Melody hits a distinctly neutral point, happily, because regardless of one's station in life or just what does stir one's emotion, this picture will fill the requirement. This was the general and not excepted reaction of the people that saw and heard it yesterday.

Your message must have circulated with great rapidity because of the hundreds of people from far distant points in this central section that came, saw and heard and departed with an expression of thanks for the opportunity that had been presented.

Yes - Mr. Dean YOU ARE RIGHT

We confess that at least a full page should have been taken in order to convey the bigness of this attraction. It took us off our feet, exceeded our expectations to a point that is inexpressible. We sure muffed a sure fire hit if ever there was one.

But let's hope that the folks that didn't read your message will read this one and accept our mutual assurance that "The Broadway Melody" comes nearer to being 100% entertainment than any picture the "soundies" have as yet presented.

Let's tell them one more thing right here so they won't say that they didn't know how long it was to be shown and that is that we will continue the same programme "The Broadway Melody" and the first talking comedies we have presented in this theatre, thru Wednesday, showing at 1-3:30-6 and 8:30 each day.

Respectfully
JOS. L. MARENTETTE

"Broadway Melody" Great Dance And Song Film, Opens Four-Day Run Here

Featuring all the illsing, laughing, dancing and mood-making music of a regular New York revue, "The Broadway Melody," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's all-talking, all-singing, all-dancing production of backstage life, opened at the Milne Theatre for a four days run with the sort of brilliant entertainment that one is accustomed to find only in the theatre district of New York.

Anita Page and Leslie Love, two leading ladies, appear in a keropack circuit "sister act" to show Broadway how to put on a show. Miss Page plays the role of the younger of the two sisters whose beauty takes her farther than the other's cleverness. Miss Love is the business manager for the act, its ring star and the guardian of her little sister.

A unusually interesting love theme runs throughout in which Charles King appears as a smart crackling king-and-queen man who promises to put the sisters

Federal Farm Body Will Soon Start On Its Operation Plan

WASHINGTON, July 8 (INS)

Plans for the immediate operation of President Hoover's new federal farm board will soon get under way. It became apparent to day when the President called the first meeting of the five board members and the secretary of agriculture for July 15. Four members are yet to be named to the board which is to administer the $600,000,000 farm relief but the President hopes that these places will have been filled by the time the first meeting is held.

The early meeting of the new board is believed, will enable it to accomplish much of the required routine and preliminary work and to organize its work and decide upon methods of operation in time to aid in the marketing of the 1929 crops.

The board will have at its disposal immediately $151,500,000 which was appropriated at the recent special session of Congress, and it is expected that the majority of this sum will be used for loans to co-operative marketing organizations and similar producers association.

Alexander H. Legge, president of the International Harvester Company, is chairman of the board.

Helps for the "Summer Bachelor"

THIS summer is the time to surprise your wife. Here's some inside stuff to help you do it. When she returns from her vacation, expecting to see you worn and wan from not having enough to eat during her absence, surprise her by showing her a face of glowing health, and proudly lead her into a kitchen and point out a culinary masterpiece which you, yourself, have mixed and cooked. Then observe her expression of awe on her face!

Honest to Goodness

Yes, you're right, it will take practice, not very much, for her to taste a couple of recipes which can be followed implicitly—result guaranteed:

Mexican Baked Beans: Heat a frying pan, put four rashers of bacon in it and fry, turning as necessary to keep from burning. Remove the bacon and put on platter to keep hot. Pour off all the fat from the pan except one tablespoon. Add one tablespoon of minced onion and fry gently until a golden brown. Add half a number 2 can of baked beans and half a can of chili powder. Stir until thoroughly heated and add salt and pepper if desired. Serve with the bacon on top. This will serve two people—or one mighty hungry one.

Carrot and Bacon Casserole: Drain the diced carrots from an eight-ounce can. Arrange them in very small casserole. Sprinkle salt, pepper and paprika over them and then sprinkle about two teaspoons of brown sugar on each. Lastly lay two—or three strips of bacon on top of each. Bake in a hot oven until bacon is crisp. This will serve two people, too!
