

Marshall Declares Time Has Come In U. S. For Action

NEW YORK, Oct. 23 (AP)—Declaring that America cannot stand indifferent to the fate of war-ravaged countries "who are looking to us for assistance," Secretary of State George C. Marshall said last night that the time for action on European aid was now at hand.

He made his statement at the closing session of the 16th annual Herald Tribune Forum in which President Truman sent a message reaffirming America's aspirations for a peaceful and stable world.

The President's letter to Mr. Ogden Reid, president of the New York Herald Tribune, Inc., said that on the decisions of the coming weeks "will depend in large measure the future pattern of our relations with Europe and indeed with the world at large."

"But we must be very careful to see that the steps we take will really serve the end we have in view," the President added. "We must face the fact that we alone cannot rehabilitate Europe and that our efforts will be useful only if they are intended to supplement a sincere and effective effort of the Europeans to help themselves."

"We must be sure, moreover, that what we are undertaking to do is within the limits of our own strength and does not run counter to the health of our economic life."

Marshall told the forum that he did not consider it a matter for argument any longer that Europe's need of assistance was "real and urgent."

"There has been constant reference to a Marshall Plan," the Secretary said. "The reference to me personally was unfortunate but the reference to a plan was definitely misleading. There was no plan. There was a suggestion. Now we are in the process of drafting a plan as a proposal of the Congress of the United States. That is the situation at the moment."

"The period of study and preparation is thus drawing to a close. The time of action is at hand."

Harold E. Stassen told the forum that President Truman at his news conference today announced the calling of a special session of Congress to deal with the problem of aid to Europe.

"Much more is involved than the question of whether the emergency funds of various kinds can be sent until Jan. 1 or Feb. 1," he said.

Soviets Assailed

"The danger of investing magistrates with autocratic power of deciding what is war-propaganda is illustrated by Mr. Vishinsky's attack on Mr. Justice Byrnes," Austin declared.

"If he had the power to jail Mr. Justice Byrnes, no doubt he would do that. In any case, he wants to gag him and others like him," Austin said.

"This most fundamental freedom—of free speech which is necessary for the maintenance of good government, would wither in the presence of the power of men to put shackles on the minds and tongues on the lips of such great statesmen as James F. Byrnes."

Austin assailed the Soviet resolution as a violation of the United Nations charter and declared: "It seeks to nullify and make meaningless our pledge to respect human rights and fundamental freedoms."

He departed from his prepared text to defend John Foster Dulles, a U. S. delegate to the assembly who was named by Vishinsky last month as a "warmonger."

"Do you want men such as Byrnes and Dulles gagged in your country?" Austin asked the 27 national delegations who listened attentively around the huge oval committee table.

The battle over the "warmonger" charges developed at the outset of a morning and afternoon double-session debate in the political committee.

Meanwhile, the Soviet bloc continued its boycott of a U. N. sub-committee working on Secretary of State Marshall's plan for a year-around meeting of the 57 nations in a so-called "Little Assembly."

At the same time two 9-nation sub-groups began work on details of two alternative solutions to the Palestine problem. The rival sub-committees, one favoring partition of the Holy Land and the other favoring Arab domination for a single independent country, met separately in the almost identical chambers of the Security Council and the Economic and Social Council. They must make their reports to the main Palestine committee by Oct. 31.

Roosevelt Knew

Johnson, a Clarkburg, W. Va., lawyer and former American Legion commander, related that as Assistant Secretary of War he "had confidential information that war was inevitable."

He related that "one can travel out of town in Folk county on almost any highway and see huge quantities of Florida's golden fruit piled in cow pastures, surrounded by contented steers leisurely grazing themselves on grapefruit that started out to be sold at 10 cents apiece."

Florida's orange market, he said, is "unsteady" even with only 127 cars moved last week. "Buyers report California oranges are giving better satisfaction than Florida's while we were able to sell oranges at $3.50 FOB Monday, today finds shippers quoting $3 and we do not know what tomorrow will bring."

Johnson replied that the information came "from many sources" including reports of military attaches in Russia, Germany and other nations of Europe.

The witness said that he and President Roosevelt discussed these matters and he was urged to revise the industrial mobilization plan. He said that eventually all the key points of the plan were put into operation and "this was the program that won the war."

"Another source of the impending war," Johnson said, "were American business men with factories and interests abroad. They were not spies. They were good American businessmen. They understood what they saw and reported everything that was unfriendly to this country."

Senator Pepper (D-Fla) broke in to say that Mr. Roosevelt was right then in "trying to warn this country that war was coming."

"Use and Leven went further than he did in my speeches," Johnson said.

Forrestal testified yesterday that the long-studied program for mustering America's industrial might was "too generalized."

Answering this, Johnson told the committee:

"That is not alone an ineffectual statement, but an incorrect statement."

Before the hearing opened, there was another exchange between Senator Brewster (R-ME) and Senator Pepper (D-Fla) who have clashed repeatedly over the current inquiry.

Brewster suggested in an interview it would be good idea for Congress to draw up mobilization laws in peacetime in order to be well prepared for any new conflict.

But Senator Pepper denounced the proposal, saying: "We are trying to keep the peace."

20% Of Florida Fruit Thrown Away

LAKELAND, Oct. 23 (AP)—Almost 20 per cent of the first 250,000 boxes of fruit picked in Florida this season has failed to pass the state's maturity requirements and was thrown away, said W. C. Federsan, president of the Waverly Growers Cooperative, today.

Writing in his weekly newsletter Federsan estimated that 140,000 boxes—or 18 1/2 per cent of early fruit "was not permitted to be shipped or canned."

He related that "one can travel out of town in Folk county on almost any highway and see huge quantities of Florida's golden fruit piled in cow pastures, surrounded by contented steers leisurely grazing themselves on grapefruit that started out to be sold at 10 cents apiece."

Florida's orange market, he said, is "unsteady" even with only 127 cars moved last week. ### Hollywood Stars

Montgomery put it this way: "We have had in the Screen Actors Guild a very militant, very small minority, well organized, well disciplined."

A big sigh went up from a jam-packed audience, largely feminine, when Montgomery took the stand. He wore a brownish-gray striped suit, a white shirt and a gray pin-striped tie.

"How much success have the Communists had in dominating the guild," Robert E. Stripling, chief committee investigator, asked him.

"Never, never under any circumstances," have they the actor replied.

Montgomery followed two screen writers to the stand. Fred Niblo, Jr., and Richard MacCauley who both testified they believe communistic influence exists among the writing profession in Hollywood.

Niblo, 44-year-old veteran writer, described the Screen Writers Guild as "the sparkplug and the spearhead of the Communist movement" in Hollywood.

MacCauley listed a number of writers he said he believes are among "the Communists and the boys who play along with them."

They included: Alvah Bessie, Gordon Kahn, Lester Cole, Ring Lardner, Jr., John Howard Lawson, Marian Spitzer, Paul Trivier, Maurice Raff, John Wesley, William Pommeroy, Melvin Levy, Clifford Odets, Michael Blankfort, Howard Koch, Albert Maltz, Dalton Trumbo and Donald Ogden Stewart.

When Montgomery took the stand he identified himself as an actor and director and said he was born in 1904. Alluding to his wartime service in the Navy, he told the committee:

"In common with many other men, I gave up my job to fight against a totalitarian government called Fascism. And I'm quite willing to give it up again to fight against a totalitarian government called Communism."

Montgomery said followers of Communism are often referred to as the "lonatic fringe, and I agree with this."

"However, I don't think any of them would be crazy enough to try to inject any of it into a picture I am directing," he added.

Montgomery said it is his "personal opinion" that the Communist party is not a political party but "a subversive group."

"Character assassination," he said, is one of its most-used weapons.

Montgomery was on the stand only about 10 minutes. He concluded with a voluntary statement he said was designed to correct an impression that "there is a small minority" in Hollywood fighting Communism and Fascism.

"The reverse is true," he added. At one point Montgomery said that although Hollywood Communists are few, they manage to create disturbances far greater than their numbers.

Billion Dollar Cotton Crop For 1947 Predicted

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (AP)—Market for cotton, both at home and abroad, will be smaller crop year than last, the Agriculture Department predicted today. But, the 1947 crop may be just $2,000,000,000 one since 1919.

The department forecast domestic consumption for the year ending Aug. 1, 1948, at about 8,750,000 bales. Consumption during the year totaled 10,000,000 bales, wartime record.

The department estimated exports may be about 2,000,000, compared with 3,500,000 during the past season. It said supply of dollar exchange will be the amount of unused credits available to foreign countries for purchase of cotton is much less than a year ago.

United States supplies of cotton for the current season are expected to be about 14 percent smaller than those of the past season.

The department said that if prices received for cotton lint this season are about the same as the September average, the income farmers would receive from the 1947 cotton crop would be about one-third more than from the 1946 crop.

In other words, the 1947 crop would be the first $2,000,000,000 cotton crop since 1919.

This year's crop is about 33 percent larger than last year's, usually small one. But it seems likely, the department said, that many farmers will increase next year's cotton acreage in the face of sagging cotton prices.

Prices for seed cotton and for lint and livestock and livestock products.

For example, the price of lint received by farmers on Sept. 5 was 12 percent less than it was at the same time a year ago and four percent below the 1946 season average.

In the same period, corn prices rose 39 percent, wheat 36 percent, beef cattle 48 percent, and

TODAY'S GARDEN GRAPH

MULCHING STRAWBERRY PLANTS FOR WINTER PROTECTION

Strawberry Plants Still Need Attention

IF YOU WOULD enjoy the quality home-grown strawberries next spring, do not neglect them now just because autumn days are here. Although not all gardeners practice it, shallow cultivation and hand-hoeing of the strawberry plants should be continued until freezing weather actually sets in.

A winter overcoat of straw should be put around the plants right after the first hard freeze. Mulching with straw, as illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, protects the plants from winter injury. It also retards time of blossoming in the spring, thus protecting the plants against injury from a late spring front. For mulching purposes, one can use wheat, oat or rye straw that is free from grain or weed seed. Cover the plants to a depth of three or four inches.

Open the mulch over the plants as soon as growth starts in the spring. If it is too thick to allow the plants to come through, remove surplus straw and tramp it into the alleys between the rows. Tuck this mulch down under the leaves and around the plants. It will help to hold moisture and it will also keep the fruit from becoming mud-spattered from rain.

Spring cultivating of the strawberry rows will be necessary if no winter mulch is used.

Michigan-Minnesota To Clash In "Little Brown Jug" Contest

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 23 (AP)—A Michigan football juggernaut that hasn't really been tested in four runaway victories this season, will be at top strength for Saturday's "Little Brown Jug" clash with Minnesota—just in case.

Few who saw the Gophers tumble in a 40 to 13 licking last week at the hands of Illinois believe that Minnesota has the depth to press the Michigan steamroller, but the Wolverines won't be caught napping midway of their drive for an undisputed Big Nine title—something they haven't

Turkey Charges Reds With Aggressive Aims

Russian Press Is Accused Of Trying To Incite Turkish People Against U. S.

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 24 (AP)—Turkey formally accused Russia today of "psychological aggression," "nefarious propaganda," "wasmongering" and "interfering in Turkish internal affairs."

Turkey charged also that Russia was trying to turn the Turkish people against the United States by spreading reports that American forces were taking over military bases in Turkey under the Truman aid program.

The Turk charges were made by Chief Delegate Selim Sarpar in United Nations debate of Russia's anti-war monger measures.

The Soviet Ukraine accused the United States of carrying on "an economic and political war for capitalist domination."

The Ukraine asserted that the United States was "trying to impoverish the world" but that the eastern European democracies are fighting against this expansion.

"In the name of the Turkish people I hereby make complaint to the United Nations against the Soviet press and radio," Sarpar said.

"I complain they tried to incite (Continued on Page Six)

American Newspapers Commend Calling Of Special Session

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—The first open criticism of President Truman's call for a special session of Congress Nov. 17 came today from Rep. Halleck (R-Ind.), who said the Chief Executive broke faith with congressional leaders by not consulting them before acting.

The Indiana, who in House majority leader, spoke out as Mr. Truman worked at the White House on a report he will broadcast to the nation tonight outlining his "compelling reasons" for ordering the early session to cope with problems of inflation at home and emergency aid abroad. The President is scheduled to speak over all national radio networks at 10 o'clock (EST) tonight.

The first American newspapers to comment editorially on President Truman's call for a special session of Congress generally expressed hearty approval of the move, although some said the step should have been taken sooner.

"President Truman is to be congratulated on moving boldly to meet the domestic and foreign crisis," said the Richmond Times Dispatch. "The situation is deteriorating both at home and abroad and there is no possible sense in following a policy of drift any longer."

The New York Times said that although the action "comes none too soon," it assumes that it "does not come too late," either.

"For having been taken after consultation with the leaders of Congress, which should guarantee early action, the call for a special session is in itself a token of both America's earnestness to fulfill the promises made in the Marshall declaration and of our determination to meet the Communist challenge with more substantial measures than mere slogans."

Said the Atlanta Constitution: "It is not only our duty to humanity, but also the best possible strategy to preserve our way of life to give as much aid as we can where it can do the most good. The question is not a political one. Congress should act speedily without attempting to make a partisan capital of it."

The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette said the President "has finally faced up to urgent needs at home and abroad. It is a decision that should have been made weeks ago but however late is no less welcome. We hope the leaders will hold Congress on course and that the mavericks won't do anything off in such directions as tax reduction and increased federal spending for domestic post-war projects."

Baruch Insists Ignoring Plan Proved Costly

Presidential Assistant Says Mobilization Was Needlessly Slow, Fumbling

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Bernard M. Baruch declared today "thousands of lives, extra billions of dollars and months of time" were lost in World War II because the government repeated the mobilization errors of World War I.

The 77-year-old adviser to President Truman told the Senate War Investigating Committee the armed services had a Mobilization-Day plan "which would have saved precious lives and the wasted wealth, but they were not permitted to put it into effect."

"We were told this was a different kind of war," Baruch said in his prepared testimony, "and none of that 'old War Stuff' was wanted."

The committee is trying to learn why a 1939 industrial mobilization plan was discarded by the Roosevelt administration.

12 Killed, $26,000,000 Damage In New England Forest Fires

Beautiful Homes In Bar Harbor, Me. Smoldering Ruins

By JAMES CALOGERO
BAR HARBOR, Me., Oct. 24 (AP)—This famous international summer colony looks like a smoking dump today.

Eden Street—once lined with showplace summer homes of the wealthy—is just a mass of ugly ruins.

I walked along the street in the southwest section of the town owned by the internationally known society colony with Police Chief George Abbott.

Strangely, the beautiful trees lining the thoroughfare were still standing, but the homes were burned flat. Towering chimneys and open brick fireplaces still standing amidst the fancy plumbing gave the whole thing a grotesque appearance.

Blazing telegraph poles resembled flaming torches.

Like a guide on a sight-seeing tour, Chief Abbott called out the showplaces—all now just charred ruins. As he listed the owners of the destroyed mansions, it sounded (Continued on Page Six)

35 Crew Members Of Tanker Saved By Coast Guard

MONTEREY, Calif., Oct. 24 (AP)—Thirty-five crew members of the burning, crash-damaged tanker Sparrow's Point were rescued from life boats by the Coast Guard cutter Minnetonka early today.

Four other crew members still are missing but the rescued Captain said they may still be aboard the 6,093-ton vessel.

The Minnetonka, in a message to the Coast Guard, shore station here, said the 35 were taken from two life boats. One lifeboat with 14 men was picked up by the tanker Colina and the other by the Minnetonka with 20 crewmen and the Captain, who asked to be returned to his ship.

2 Candidates For City Commission Heard By Lions

Opinions of two candidates for the City Commission, Fred Williams of Group No. 1 and Randall Chase of Group No. 2, concerning improvements such as a new swimming pool and a sewage disposal system, were today given to members of Lions Club at the Tourist Center. The candidates were introduced by Jack Morrison.

Mr. Chase declared that it seemed to him that a swimming pool could be built with funds now available in existing rooms and buildings were eliminated from the plan. Then when conditions justified, the buildings could be added from time to time.

In answer to Harry Robinson's query as to which was the most important, a new swimming pool or a sewage disposal system, Mr. Williams said that it was not a question of choosing between the two projects and that they should be put into two separate categories as funds have already been allocated for the pool.

He stated in regard to a sewage disposal system that the first of Smith and Gillespie had been directed by the City to make a survey of this, and suggested that taxpayers be not bonded for such (Continued on Page Six)

Music Association To Hold Dinner At Mayfair Monday

Civic Music headquarters in the Tourist Center is active this week making final preparations for the annual banquet at the Mayfair Inn Monday evening.

Division chairmen who are in charge of securing workers for the one week campaign are: Mrs. R. F. Cooper, Mrs. Ruth Scott, Herman E. Morris, Walter Krohn, Mrs. George Harden and Mrs. D. P. Herndon. Mrs. F. E. Rounhill, Sr. is in charge of securing county division.

The Semole County Civic Music Association brings nationally known artists to Sanford each year by raising the funds through membership before the concert are booked. H. H. Coleman, president, pointed out today. There, the more members the more budget and consequently the more diversified is the talent presented, he said.

Ballots are submitted to all who become members so that they may have a voice in the selection of talent. On Saturday evening, Nov. 1, when the membership closes, the ballots are tabulated and are used as a basis for the talent selection. A minimum of three concerts are presented during the season and as many more as the budget allows.

Weather Is Mixed Throughout America

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
There was a mixture of weather for the nation today. Light snow and rain and lower temperatures were reported over sections from the Rockies to the central Missouri valley but continued mild weather was forecast for the eastern states and from the Ohio valley southward. The mercury stayed at "near" normal levels over most of the Pacific states.

There was no indication of rain for the northwestern section of the country where forest fires have been raging. However, showers were forecast for parts of upper Michigan, where forest fires have burned over thousands of acres of land.

The Dakotas and Montana were the coolest areas in early morning, with temperatures near and below the freezing mark. Yesterday the mercury climbed to midsummer levels in many eastern cities, including 87 in Philadelphia; 86 in New York; 85 in Washington and 84 in Boston.

Kennedy Pessimistic Over Marshall Plan

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 24 (AP)—Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to Great Britain, says he supports the Marshall Plan—but only for one year and only to the extent of $5,000,000,000 or $5,000,000,000.

"I opposed bitterly the Truman Plan," Kennedy told the Cambridge Knights of Columbus last night. "I thought it was a horrible waste of money, with no definite plan behind it, and like pouring money down a rat hole."

Kennedy said "in spite of the money sent to Greece and Turkey, they are a long way from doing anything they hoped to do."

After his speech, the former ambassador told reporters he was "very pessimistic about the outcome of the Marshall Plan."

Public Invited To Exhibition Tennis

The public is invited by Manager Ed Weber, of the Mayfair Inn to attend exhibition matches by the Rollins Tennis Team at 2:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Mayfair courts.

Ricardo Balboa, Brazilian and Chilean national champion, who won a first match two weeks ago here against Rollins coach Ed Copeland, again stepped to the Copeland.

In another set of singles, Buddy Behrens of Ft. Lauderdale, national junior champion, will play Henrique Buss of Lima, Peru, Eastern intercollegiate champion and Peruvian national champion.

Charles Morrison will officiate again as umpire. The following will serve as lineups: Hamilton Blabe, Clay Williams, Gene Tucker, Cecil Rines and Don Steier.

Armitages Return From Quebec Trip

E. M. Armitage and Mrs. Armitage arrived in their automobile Thursday from North Hatley, Quebec, where they have been staying since early May at their home facing Lake Massawippi.

Mr. Armitage has brought back with him natural color photographs of his home, his motorboat and the beautiful surroundings in the area. One picture shows him in the boat with a string of large bass, one of them 17 inches long.

A former Canadian and now an American citizen, he had to secure a six months permit from the Canadian government, he said, in order to stay in Quebec. During the past winter he directed activities at the Sanford Tourist Center.

Association Is Organized For Purpose Of Buying Labor Camp

A group of local growers and shippers met yesterday at the City Hall with city officials and formed the Seminole County Farm Labor Association with D. L. Harper as chairman, for the purpose of co-operating to bid to purchase from the government the building and facilities of the Farm Labor Camp in west Sanford.

This bid by the representatives of the celery and citrus industry will be made in order to continue the camp for housing migratory labor, it was reported this morning by County Agent C. R. Dawson who was named as secretary of the Association. E. M. Sayer, city manager, was made treasurer.

Mr. Dawson revealed that the City owned land of the camp will be leased to the Association for a very small sum, also that he had been delegated the work of securing the bids necessary to purchase the camp.

W. Montgomery of the War Production Board told the group that the Government wanted to turn the camp over to a group of (Continued on Page Six)

British Demand Early German Government

LONDON, Oct. 24 (AP)—A special House of Commons committee urged today formation of a "provisional German government" and called for a "firm" British stand on the length of occupation.

The bi-partisan committee asserted in a formal report to the House that the Germans "should be given as soon as possible complete responsibility for balancing their own economy."

The group acknowledged, however, that "at the moment it is not possible to put this burden squarely on German shoulders because Germany cannot buy food and raw material for herself."

Fungal Rites For Mr. Scott Tomorrow

Funeral services for William Moore Scott, 74, vice president of the American Fruit Growers Inc. who died shortly after noon Thursday following a long illness, will be held Saturday morning at the First Baptist Church with the Rev. W. P. Brooks, Jr. officiating. The Erickson Funeral Home is in charge of arrangements.

Three honorary pallbearers not yet mentioned are: Dr. Leonard Munson, Luther Chandler of Gould and J. E. Wathen of Ft. Pierce.

AP Pledges Efforts To Give All News

DETROIT, Oct. 24 (AP)—The Associated Press today reaffirmed its intention of continuing its coverage of world news "without fear and without pulling its punches."

Alan J. Gould, AP assistant general manager, reaffirmed the news-gathering agency's policy to 300 members of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association who are holding their 14th annual convention here.

The discussion was touched off by a report of the editors subcommittee on foreign affairs which pointed out that "about half of the world is divided into high pressure censorship areas where the newspapers and correspondents are expected under penalty to tell only what the political masters of the country want them to tell."

Reds Said Prepared To Seize So. Korea

SEOUL, Oct. 24 (AP)—A former official of an armed force organized in Russian-occupied North Korea said today Koreans there planned to capture American-occupied South Korea upon the withdrawal of foreign troops from both zones.

Yoon Chong Sun, head of the south Korean province peace preservation corps until Sept. 18, told an American press conference the plans called for shutting off South Korea's power, which comes largely from the Soviet zone, and sending some 17,000 P.P.C. men south as first-line troops to attack national police and the constabulary.

The "North Korean people's army, variously estimated at from 150,000 to 500,000 men, would form a second front, Yoon declared. Meanwhile, he said, North Koreans would "clean out" undercover agents in the northern zone.

SELLING HEAVY

CHICAGO, Oct. 24 (AP)—Heavy selling swept the grain and cotton exchanges today in reaction to President Truman's call for a special session to combat soaring prices, when corn and oats plunging the permissible limit on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Grain prices tumbled in the most active trading in several weeks. Cash dealers reported farmers and country elevators were offering increased supplies of cash corn and oats for shipment later.

After an hour of trading, wheat was about 9 to 10 cents lower on the Chicago Board of Trade, the latter decline the limit permitted under exchange rules; corn was down 6 1/2 cents to 8 cents, the limit, and oats were 6 cents lower, the limit.

SOVIET SUSPICIOUS

LONDON, Oct. 24 (AP)—The Moscow radio declared today that the Brazilian ambassador and his staff would not be permitted to leave for home until the Brazilian government has insured the "safe departure" of the Soviet diplomatic staff in Rio de Janeiro.

Brazil broke diplomatic relations with Russia several days ago when the Moscow government refused to accept a protest against Soviet newspaper articles attacking Brazilian President Getulio Dutra.

MONTE KISSED

LONDON, Oct. 24 (AP)—Field Marshal Lord Montgomery got himself kissed last night in front of 6,000 veterans who served under him at El Alamein, holding a reunion at Albert Hall.

Blonde British film star Greta Garbo, who gave him the smack, quipped: "I've always wanted to do that."

DIPLOMATIC BRIEF

LONDON, Oct. 24 (AP)—The Moscow radio announced today that Nikolai V. Novikov had been relieved of his duties as Russian ambassador to the United States and would be succeeded by Alexander B. Panyushkin.

Novikov took over the top Soviet diplomatic post in Washington last year, succeeding Andrei Gromyko, who was named permanent Russian delegate to the United Nations.

PHILSEN, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 24 (AP)—A woman in burning clothes ran into a room of the Tyle Chemical Company where workmen were making Christmas firecrackers, causing an explosion which killed her and 18 other persons. The plant was destroyed.

Authorities said she had arrived early to work and that her clothing blazed up while she huddled near a small open fire.

STRIKERS ARRESTED

SANTIAGO, Chile, Oct. 24 (AP)—Chilean authorities—declaring there is an organized Communist plot to wreck the national economy—today ordered the arrest of 360 strike leaders in the vital copper region where miners from the Sewall pits have joined a spreading walkout.

HOUSE INVADED

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24 (AP)—A South Philadelphia family was almost jolted out of bed early today by what "felt like an earthquake or explosion."

Hurrying to investigate, the Richard Wellards found an automobile wrecked on the doorstep of their home. Several young men dashed away.

Have You Registered?

This is the last week to register in order to vote in the City election on Nov. 4. Registration books will be open at the City Hall until Saturday of this week. Those who have registered for previous City elections do not have to register again. Only those who are over 21, who have resided in Sanford for six months and in Florida for one year, can register now. The election on Nov. 4 is for the purpose of filling two seats on the City Commission. John Kridler, Fred Williams and Jack Rutledge are candidates in Group No. 1; Jack Lodge and Randall Chase are candidates in Group No. 2.

Henry Wallace says that General Eisenhower could win if he ran for President. But General Eisenhower is not a candidate.
So Wallace is perfectly safe.

Former Assistant Secretary of War Johnson testifies that President Roosevelt knew in 1938 that war was coming and that we couldn't stay out of it. Good foresight. But in 1940, campaigning against Wendell Willkie. Candidate Roosevelt told the American people that if he were re-elected President, no American mother's son would ever fight on foreign soil.

A dying veteran of World War II puts to shame all of us who base our lives on selfishness. At a time when "What do I get out of it?" has become almost a national slogan, it is refreshing to find this young soldier about to die from injuries in his nation's defense, willing the comess
of his eyes to a New York eye bank so that someone else who is blind may see. Who did he get for it? Nothing, but perhaps a certain innate satisfaction. And he has left a lesson for all of us.

There are not so many Communists in Hollywood, we gather from the actors' testimony, but they are so darned active. That is the trouble with the Communists wherever you find them. One man can throw a monkey wrench in the machinery and stall a whole factory. A handful of Communists in a parliament can overthrow a whole government. That is what happened in Hungary. The Nazis and the Fascists were the same way. They never had a majority but they seized power with a handful.

Former Assistant Secretary of War says that if another war comes, "we are not going to have another Pearl Harbor. If there is a next war, we are going to have 50 Hiroshimas in the United States." In such an eventuality Communists, their sympathizers, as well as Democrats and Republicans, would be killed. There is no place for politics or partisanship in being prepared. "We ought to plan now," Johnson adds, "so that we will be so damn strong pobody will dare attack us. We shouldn't bother with criticism about war-mongering in preparing such a plan."

President Truman has decided to call Congress back into special session about the middle of next month to deal with rising prices and the European situation and will make a nation-wide radio address tonight to explain the situation to the public. The crisis must be pretty serious, for special sessions have a way of becoming involve in such political maneuvering as to make them extremely unattractive to any thoughtful executive. We can anticipate the Republicans being perfectly willing to follow him on foreign aid, but being extremely critical and obstinate on domestic policies.

France And De Gaulle

The importance of the recent French elections in the American news has two or three reasons.

First, France has turned from chaos in her internal politics, with many parties, none of them worth much, to supporting with quite a majority the men nominated by de Gaulle, or favored by the famous General De Gaulle may be a prima donna in temperament, hard for others to work with. But he identifies himself with France as a single idea, and is identified by his upholders as the mainstay of Free France. The majority rolled up for his tickets seems to show that the French are tired of chaos, of disintegration.
They want their nation once more unified, centralized, strong. This removes to some extent the fear that other nations have had that France would fall to pieces and into complete collapse.

Another important reason for American interest is that the French Communist Party has, for the time at least, been defeated. The election shows a definite turn of majority thought away from the Soviet ideology towards stronger ties of friendship and understanding with Britain and the United States.

Too much need not be expected in improvement of French conditions from this one start. But it is a good start toward unity. And unless a nation has strength and unity within itself, it cannot face strongly and unitedly an outside world. The election does not put de Gaulle himself in the driver's seat. But that may come later on.

Quack Psychiatry

Psychoquacks, they call them, 25,000 unqualified men and women trafficking in people's nervous and mental disorders. According to the American Psychiatric Association, Rockefeller Center, New York City, these pseudo-scientists are taking in a billion dollars from men and women whose mental health they are harming. The quacks flourish with high-sounding diplomas from metaphysical "colleges" and are ready to give all kinds of emotional counsel and personality adjustment advice.

They are making fortunes because qualified and legiti-mate psychiatrists and psychoanalysts, numbering roughly 5,000 at the most, are too few to handle all the mental problems on which people wish to have help. The quacks get by, too, because the field of psychiatry is so new that existing state medical laws do not cover it, or cannot be so interpreted. It is therefore difficult to close the quacks' offices and run them out of business. The American Psychiatric Association, however, has appointed an education committee to fight these frauds, and stands ready to give information on genuine psychiatrists anywhere in the United States.

Retiring, Some Day

Senator Kenneth D. McKellar of Tennessee is going to retire. Hold everything, all those who dislike Senator Mc-Kellar; there is still plenty of time to plan a celebration.
The senator is going to finish out his present term, which lasts until 1953. He will then be 84, and thinks that he will then be ready to enjoy a little quiet life at home.

McKellar has been a senator longer than anyone else in the history of Tennessee, having begun his service in 1917. If he completes his term, he will have achieved 36 years, which will bring him close to the top of the senators of long service. His continued re-elections are often attributed to his assiduous attention to any and all requests from Tennessee. Any, that is, except those from any supporter of the TVA. The senator long ago wanted to add the TVA to his political machine, and has never forgiven those who thwarted him, firm in their belief that the TVA belonged to the nation and not to state politics.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

By RUSSELL KAY

Every family gets a big thrill when Dad comes home driving a new automobile. He wears a smile as wide as the Amazon and hunk the horn long and loud. Everybody rushes out to see the new buggy.
"Ain't she a honey?" Dad yells.
"Lookit those streamlines and accessories, radio, elger lighter, heater, fan, foglights, and get a load of that upholstery. She's 90 horsepower and she'll do better'n 90 miles an hour."
Mother climbs in the front seat
and is fascinated with all the gadgets on the dash; she likes the "new" small, Bonny, 18, and Sis, 16, are all aglow. Boy, how they want to get their hands on that chariot and do some strutting.
Dad is just an average citizen, and his is an average family. He had to do some penny pinching to make the down payment and obligate himself for stiff payments for the next 18 months, but a fellow just has to have a car.

Now let's shift the scene to a back yard on the other side of town where Bill, a high school boy, and his chum, Bob, are soup-ing up an old jalopy they picked up from a junk dealer. With salvaged tires, odds and ends and maybe a bobby-pin or two, they have created a mechanical monstrousity which they are preparing to launch upon the public highways.
To them that jalopy is just as thrilling as the bright shiny new car is to Dad and his family.
Every cent the boys could rake or scrape for months has gone into
it. They have worked like beavers to make it run.
Dad's new car is fully insured.
Being a careful business man he saw to it that fire, theft and collision were taken care of but he sided liability and property damage.

Not so the jalopy. The boys had a hard enough time finding money with which to buy oil and gas to worry about insuring
the old crate. It wasn't worth insuring anymore.
A few weeks later Dad climbs
into the cushions after a hard day at the office and starts for home.
Belated he steps on the gas, the motor sputters like a kitten. Gliding in and out of traffic he thoroughly enjoys himself. He is pretty lucky to have a car like this one. It cost plenty but is worth it.
At the High School, Bill and Bob have just finished football practice and climb into their jalopy preparing to head for home. A half dozen kids swarm

THE WORLD TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

This column has encountered and solved, we hope, an intriguing Communist mystery which first gave a glimpse of itself several months ago and since then has kept popping up piecemeal in unrelated parts of the world, like a colony of prairie dogs.

Not to make too much out of this development for our readers, it has to do with an intensive Soviet campaign to repatriate
all Russians in foreign countries.
Moscow never announced it as a campaign and it was only after these repatriations had been noted in numerous widely separated areas that observers decided something unusual was afoot.

Thus far parties of Russians have returned to the homeland
from Canada, the United States,
South America, China, France, Europe, the Middle East and quite likely from other countries.
The total repatriated runs into many thousands. Some 11,000 are said to have returned to Russia, or to be returning, from France alone.

Whole families are being taken,
with all their moveable belongings. In fact, these people are being urged to carry all they can, especially tools and surgical instruments. The Soviet government fouts the bill for everything;
and promises homes and jobs in Russia. Of course it is required that those repatriated renounce citizenship in their adopted countries. Yugoslavia also has been carrying out a similar program of repatriation.

Some of those being repatriated haven't set foot on Russian soil since Czarist days. Some of them were born abroad and so are making a voyage into the unknown.
Indeed, it must be a daring
adventure for all of them.

And why this attempt at wholesale repatriation? Well, your correspondent went to a good quarter which makes a business of solving mysteries, and the chief answer is that Russia is in great need of manpower and is anxious to get any and all of its people back home. The shortage of workers is understood to be very serious, owing to the terrific losses sustained in the war.

Apart from this main issue, Moscow is said to want to get back the Russians who were displaced from their native soil
during the sub and flow of war.
Many of these people are White Russians, and the government doesn't want them abroad, because there's a danger that they will talk about things which the Soviet wishes to keep dark.

The desire for manpower to rehabilitate Russian industry would be understandable under any circumstance. That calls for no explanation. However, we certainly should be slow witted indeed if we don't recognize that one reason the Bolsheviks want to acquire industrial strength as quickly as possible is because of the requirements of their world revolution for the spread of Communism.

You will recall that General Zhdanov, one of the top Bolshevists, recently told the Soviet bloc conference in Poland that "the U.S.A. R. it will put all effort in seeing that the Marshall Plan is not realized." The Marshall project is based on the economic rehabilitation of western Europe and the weapons for this battle between the Democrats and the Bolsheviks will be economic resources. Russia hasn't those resources now, and so is going after them.

Then, taking the long range view, it clearly is the intention of all the powers to keep a loaded rifle hanging on the wall—just in case.

How much success the repatriation program has achieved thus far isn't clear. Close observers say it started off well but later slumped. One interesting sidelight is that Moscow is particularly anxious to get Armenians to return home because many of them are skilled craftsmen.

High School Hears Navy Experiences

Three Naval Reservists of Seminole High School entertained their classmates at chapel exercises yesterday morning with accounts of cruises taken during the summer. The program was under the direction of Byron Beard, president of the Student Council.
Miss Ollie Reese Whittle led in group singing of "Anchors Aweigh." Several selections were played by the school band.

Bobby Brinson, the first Reservial to be introduced, told of his cruise aboard an aircraft carrier to Edinburgh, Scotland, where the crew visited famous old castles, gardens and theaters and where food was scarce and there was no candy.

The next stop was at Sweden,
where, he said, "there was plenty of everything, including pretty blondes." He described the country as beautiful. He told of the trip to Copenhagen, Denmark, to England and London where they saw Westminster Abby and other points of interest, and of the return home via Cuba.

Frances Temple told of a trip to Puerto Rico aboard a 263 foot destroyer, of his work in the galley and of how he was put on extra watch duty at night for having taken an unauthorized cat nap on the deck. On the return trip they stopped at Havana, the stop at which, he said, impressed him.
The ship docked again at Miami
at the conclusion of the cruise.
Charles Brown appeared as a fellow student to join up and take a summer cruise as Naval Reservist.

Instead of throwing away soggy
pieces of French toast or waffles, cut into small squares and brown
under the broiler until crisp.
Then serve as croutons.

Simon Dingfelder Promoted At Cornell

Friends of Simon Dingfelder, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Dingfelder, will be interested to learn that he has been promoted from a freshman to a sophomore in the R. O. T. C. at Cornell University in Ithaca, N. Y. Mr. Dingfelder is also a member of the coveted "Pershing Rifles," a military organization at the university, and a national military honor society among college men. Mr. Dingfelder entered Cornell a month ago and will major in science.

The group serves as an honor guard for dignitaries who visit the college and as members of official parades. They are under the most rigid military instruction and inspection and receive special dress uniforms decorated with the blue ribbon of the Croix de Guerre that the French Government presented to General John J. Pershing during World War I.

Only 50 students are chosen for the "Pershing Rifles" out of an enrollment of approximately 10,000. The organization is at present undergoing instruction in crack drills and rifle salutes for presidential visits to the university. The first dignitary expected to visit Cornell will be Thomas E. Dewey.

Mr. Dingfelder said that the compulsory military training taken in Seminole High School during the war was a great help to him in cadet work at Cornell. At the high school he was for a brief time Cadet Major and commander of the group. He also said that the folding textbook is being used at Cornell that is used in the local school.

Drive Is Started For Celery Crate

More than 200 members of the Celery Crate, Sanford youth organization, today started their drive to secure funds to purchase new equipment for their center at the City Hall by selling phonograph records of the song of "The Freedom Train" written by Bud-Ead-Lanus, Semholz-Highdy Clark.

School instructor, who with Herb Stenstrom, president and Floyd Cooper, vice president of the Crate, reported that 300 records were given out today. The Crate will get the profit on the sale of the records which were sent freight free by the Columbia Record Co. to the Music Box of which S. C. Wain, Jr. is operator. Mr. Winn is handling the work free of charge.

The Crate is planning many interesting programs for Sanford youth. Any student in the high school is eligible to join for a nominal fee. Admittance to the Crate is by ticket only. It is open Saturday nights from 7:30 to 11:00 o'clock.

Aside from the profit on the records, the student members of the Crate wish to popularize the idea of the Freedom Train stands for, said Mr. Gattas.

KIWANIS SPONSOR FED-CADET TILT TONITE

Morning Pep Meeting Inspires Gridders; Holly Piercy Lost Until Nov. 14 Game

By ARTHUR BECKWITH, JR., Herald Sports Writer

The Seminole High School Cadet Fed will meet the Florida Military Academy Cadets tonight at 8:00 o'clock at the high school athletic field in a grid contest that will be sponsored by the Sanford Kiwanis Club. The proceeds will be used to purchase a resuscitator to be given to the Formid Laughton Memorial Hospital.

In order to increase the tempo among the students for the contest, the Seminole High School Pep Squad and hand conducted a spirited rally at the high school athletic field this morning for the students.

It has been rumored that Holly Piercy would be able to play tonight, but Principal Herman Morris reported this morning that the fleet Fed spinnerback would not be in uniform tonight nor would he be able to play in a contest before the Fed meet Winter Park High here on Nov. 14.

Little is known about the P. M. A. aggregation, but it is reported that they have a heavy team, but have felt the loss of several outstanding players from last year's combine.

Coach Carl Kettus has been running his charges through conditioning sprints and has been brushing them up on the fundamentals of tackling and blocking.

No heavy practice work is in store for the Feders for the remainder of the year.

It is likely that the Fed member will start the contest with Chuck Harston at center, Gene Harper and Wallace Tyre at the guards, Buddy Weatherington and Chris Jensen at the tackles and Byron Beard and Floyd Cooper at the ends. In the backfield it will probably be Johnny Alexander and Cedrick Dunbar at the wing-backs, Don Deal at the spinner-back and Ray Dunbar at the blocking back post.

SEEK COMEBACK
DETROIT, Oct. 24 (AP)—University of Detroit's Titans, beaten in three of their last four football starts, match comeback attempts here tonight with a hard-hit Duquesne University eleven which has dropped its last three games in succession.

ROCKETS NEED VICTORY
CHICAGO, Oct. 24 (AP)—The victory-starved Chicago Rockets, who have scored 120 points in losing eight consecutive All-America conference-football games, run up against the New York Yankees, Eastern Division pace-setters, tonight in Soldier Field. If the Rockets should crash through with a victory tonight it will be the greatest upset for them since Nov. 24, 1945, when they defeated the Yanks, 38 to 28, in New York.

COMMENTS from the SIDELINES

By ARTHUR BECKWITH, JR.

Grid Predictions
We are going to walk right into hot water on our first prediction for the week. We pick Wake Forest to upset the mighty powerhouse of the Duke-Blue Devils.

Stetson should take Milligan into camp and the Presbyterian-Rollins tiff is rated as a toss up, but we think that the Blue Stockings have a slight edge for the contest, since Rollins was pretty badly shaken up in the contest with Miami last week.

North Carolina is a much better team than the Gators from the statistical standpoint, but we think the Gators have an excellent opportunity to make it two in a row over North Carolina competitors.

Alabama should edge Georgia and the powerhouse of Kentucky will continue its level bid with a victory over Michigan State.

Notre Dame will crush Iowa and Illinois will paste Purdue.

Michigan will take Minnesota into camp in the "Little Brown Jug" affair and Texas has it over Rice.

Army will trint Columbia and Cornell will defeat Princeton.

Dartmouth will beat Harvard and Penn will wallop Navy, Virginia will rout VMI and Penn State will top West Virginia. Ohio State will maul Pitt and Mississippi will edge Arkansas while UCLA is seeking SMU.

Colgate will edge Brown and Washington will take Stanford into camp. California will nip Southern California and Baylor will top the Texas Aggies.

Hullions
Some Bulldog gridders who opens the holes for the backs to run through will be honored at the close of the DeLand High School grid season as the result of the action taken by the DeLand Kiwanis Club at their weekly luncheon Tuesday. The Kiwanians voted to give the youthful gridders a trophy in recognition of his ability.

Last week the DeLand Elks voted to give a trophy to the Bulldog gridders who is named the most valuable gridders.

BLACKWELL LOSSES TO PAINE
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24 (AP)—Satchel Paige's Kansas City Royals battled to a 4-3 victory over Ewell Blackwell's all stars in 13 innings last night. Blackwell, ace Cincinnati righthander, and Paige twirled the first four innings, then retired to let Jess Flores and Jim Newberry deal the rest of the way. Paige fanned nine batters all six innings, while allowing no runs. Blackwell struck out four, gave up two runs.

Vandy, Tigers To Meet In Classic Saturday Night

By KIM KREGER
BAYON BOULE, La., Oct. 24 (AP)—Vanderbilt's Commodores and the Louisiana Commodores each beaten once in four starts, meet here tomorrow night still with hopes of salvaging a place of the Southeastern Conference championship.

Of course, either Alabama or Georgia must do the winning in favor of knocking off Georgia Tech to make a share of the title available. But in view of the upsets which already have spiced the Southeastern doings—well they can hope, can't they?

It'll be a meeting of entirely different types of teams, despite the fact that coach Red Sanders of Vanderbilt is a former player of the Hervis Moore of LSU.

Hervis's Tigers are out there trying to score all the time. And they frequently do, clicking with long runs, or with Y. A. Title's tricky passes. They don't take it too hard if somebody else gets a few touchdowns.

Red's Commodores accentuate the negative. They're satisfied to count their points on their fingers, even just some of their fingers, so long as their opponents count with fewer. In four games they've made a total of three touchdowns, three extra points and two field goals. Their foes have run up the same point total of 27.

Surprising as it may seem, to someone who had never heard of football, maybe, each coach says the other has a fine football team.

"LSU is far the best team we've met this year," quoth Sanders. "We'll just have to do the best we can."

Moore didn't quite take it strong, but he did describe Vandy as "one of the most dangerous teams in the conference." He recalled that "They had only a fair team last year but it took all we had to score 14 points," and opined that Vanderbilt "Will be rebounding after their upset by Kentucky."

Red complained that his team "is not, could not, be in good physical condition." He mourned the loss of three injured men, starting tackle Wayne Cantrell and Bob Page, center Charley Hoover and wingback Joe Hicks.

Barnie, played Georgia with five or six starters on sick call, had no sympathy to waste. He expressed hope that his first-string left halfback, Ray Coates, might get into the game and play a little for the first time this season.

And he continued the shifting of his lineup, which has brought fourth-string men up to first in a couple of positions—or, as Moore prefers to say, has pushed the first three down below the fourth.

PLAYS AGAIN
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 24 (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles have restored End Larry Cabrelli to the status of an active player. Larry, who is 30, had retired as a player to become end coach after sustaining a leg injury at training camp.

WINS ON CONVERSIONS
COLUMBUS, S. C. Oct. 24 (AP)—The free-throwing foot of substitute guard Pat Lane provided South Carolina's Gamecocks with the margin of victory in their 21-19 triumph over Clemson's favored Tigers here yesterday. Lane kicked all three points after touchdowns for the Gamecocks, while Clemson was able to convert only one.

Irish -- Iowa Tilt Will Be Televised

NEW YORK, Oct. 24 (AP)—After months of preparation, television is expected to be in action for the first time Saturday from the dome football field of Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind.

The game, with Iowa, also being described via CBS and ABC, is to be pictured for viewers in the Chicago and South Bend areas. This telecast, to be followed by other home games, is being made possible by the Chicago Station WKBK through its newly installed microwave relay link to connect with cameras along the 60-yard line. Work on setting up this circuit, which includes two intermediate relay stations, has been under way all summer.

Because South Bend does not have a tele-station, WKBK reports that it is putting in a temporary low-power transmitter there under a temporary permit. Using the experimental call WXPB, it will operate only until Nov. 23 to make possible reception at least at nearby viewing points on the campus.

CBS, which is making its football Saturday a doubleheader, has changed its announcing lineup. Red Barber will go to Berkeley to do the game from there, with Gene Shumate to take over in place of Barber at South Bend.

All networks are rearranging their schedules for 10 o'clock tonight to carry the newly announced 15-minute broadcast by

FINISHED FOR GAME

Reds In Schools

brought out 24,543 votes for an unsuccessful Communist candidate. While but a small percentage of the total vote, he said, it indicates the strength of the party.

Carlson branched off into the discussion of Communists and the public schools while testifying at the committee hearings on Communist activities in the movie industry.

He said Communist leaders have worked for years to extend the party's influence in Hollywood. Eli Jacobson, he related, was sent from New York to Hollywood to direct activities and was, in 1938, "under specific instructions to conduct classes and general educational propaganda among the film folk."

He identified Jacobson as "a charter member of the Communist Party in America" and an expert in training workers for "the class struggle."

Carlson told newsmen he left the Communist Party many years ago and had joined it "when I was a kid." He identified himself as now a writer and a teacher in the extension service of the University of California.

Carlson was called to the witness chair after Mrs. Lela Rogers of Hollywood had testified that Communist activities in the movie capital are increasing but "I feel we have held them in check by exposing them."

Mrs. Rogers said Communists have obtained control of "many schools" and have injected their propaganda into many places, "even the little women's clubs."

Mrs. Lela Rogers of Hollywood cited the picture "None But the Lonely Heart" to the House American Activities Committee today as "a splendid example" of Communist propaganda in the movies.

The picture was handled "in the Russian manner," Mrs. Rogers said. She told the committee she manages the affairs of her screen actress daughter, Ginger Rogers, and described herself as "a writer of sorts" and a "dramatic coach and manager."

Mrs. Rogers said she recommended against filming "None But the Lonely Heart" because it was filled "with despair and hopelessness." She said it, she explained, to determine if it would be a suitable starting vehicle for Ginger Grant, then under contract to RKO, for whom Mrs. Rogers was working.

Nevertheless, she said, RKO bought the story and playwright Clifford Odets was called in to do the scenario and direct the movie.

"For years I had heard that Mr. Odets was a Communist," Mrs. Rogers added.

Robert E. Stripling, chief committee investigator, interjected that the committee will present later a "voluntour record" on Odets' activities.

Mrs. Rogers said the late columnist O. O. McIntyre once had referred publicly to Odets as a member of the Communist Party and "I never saw that done."

Background music for the movie, she said, was written by Hans Eisler - admitted former Communist.

Mrs. Rogers said she agreed with criticism of the movie that it was "moody and gloomy in the Russian manner," and added: "I think this is a splendid example of what type of propaganda Communists like to inject into the motion pictures."

She gave as an example a scene from "None But the Lonely Heart" the mother in the play, she recalled, operates a second hand store. The son, she said, made this statement in effect: "You're not going to get me to work here and squeeze pennies out of little people who are poorer than I am."

Mrs. Rogers contended that the line was unnecessary in the play "because in life there always are people richer or poorer than ourselves."

Mrs. Rogers said, replying to a question from Rep. Vard (R-Ill.), that the percentage of Hollywood actors who are Communists "is very small, but it's getting bigger."

She agreed with previous estimates that it might be smaller than 1 per cent.

Similarly, she said, the percentage of Communist writers is very small.

But, she added, "the Communists don't want numerical superiority. They want small, highly disciplined cells."

Asked how she thought Communism could be controlled in the motion picture industry and elsewhere in the United States, she replied:

"I think the Congress should enact legislation that will preserve the Bill of Rights for the people for whom it was designed," and added that "I favor the outlawing of the Communist Party in the United States as an agency of a foreign government."

"To remove the comic parts from rabbit and squirrel, clean well then let soak overnight in salt water."

strated at least that he has the courage to act - against international disaster, and domestic inflation - without attempting to shift responsibility to other shoulders. We are told that real plans have been prepared, wider in scope, enabling a greater cooperative effort from all branches of the administration, than in any similar effort in civilian strategy."

The Philadelphia Inquirer expressed hope that the "11 S" role in European recovery will not be shoved into a back place at the coming session. "Legislation is needed quickly to implement the Marshall Plan and make it something more than a promise of relief."

MOSCOW, Oct. 24 (AP) - The Soviet press and radio did not comment today on President Truman's call for a special session of Congress.

There still is a firm belief here that Congress in the end will do much about aid to western Europe, but commentators have more or less used foreign sources as the basis for this comment.

PARIS, Oct. 24 (AP) - President Truman's decision to call a special session of Congress on Nov. 17 was prominently front-paged in today's Paris morning papers but only one commented editorially.

Franz Treuer, an extreme left publication with pro-Communist views, said Truman "has made his choice between Rumsfeld and De Gaulle."

LONDON, Oct. 24 (AP) - The British foreign office said today that it "deplored" President Truman's decision to call a special session of Congress for consideration of emergency European relief expenditures.

A spokesman at a news conference said that the question of whether Britain would present a new and elaborated view on its needs before the session begins "depends upon whether we are asked."

BERLIN, Oct. 24 (AP) - Most of the Berlin morning press, including Russian-owned papers, printed prominently today President Truman's call for a special session of Congress on help for Europe.

The Soviet-sponsored Socialist Unity Party newspaper Neues Deutschland was the only paper which did not carry the news. There was no editorial comment in any of the papers.

Snake-Handler Is Bitten By Rattler

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Oct. 23 (AP) - A 40-year-old member of the Methodist Church of God prayed and to prove his faith in prayer, he lifted a diamondback rattlesnake and was bitten.

Police said that when they arrived for the services last night, they found Russell Crowder writhing on the floor and other members of the sect standing around praying.

Capt. Charles R. Hartness ordered Crowder taken to a hospital. The hospital reported his condition as serious.

Then Capt. Hartness ordered the arrest of four persons on charges of violating the Tennessee anti-snake handling law. It was the third such arrests in the past two years.

Slot Machine

The slot machine, which according to Mr. Herndon, is not a gambling device "per se," or within itself, had been damaged to the extent that it would not operate.

Since the judge withdrew from the case, for, as he put it, having expressed thought as to the law in the case prior to the trial, the slot machine was not produced as evidence.

The following citizens have been summoned for duty in County Court, Monday, Mr. Herndon reported:

H. D. Ellis, F. W. Bender, Jr., Walter W. Borgard, O. L. Landress, Hubbard Wooten, John J. Staley, George McCrumb, Joe Barnes, Chas. Robert Pearson, J. J. Duren, J. H. Lee, E. J. Cameron, Richard Muse, G. W. Bailey, Chas. H. Dike, Roscoe E. Bloniger, E. H. Grant, Louis E. Bacon, D. G. Brock and Curtis Muse.

Chas. W. Eldridge, E. N. Sutton, Ben Smith, Clarence Fields, Andy Jakubcin, Jr., P. J. Allen, John W. Bell, S. F. Long, Julius Dingfelder, G. E. Carson, Chas. T. Niblack, M. E. Baker, T. A. Staley, Ben J. Cantwell, B. A. Beck, Morris L. Heath, J. T. Heasley, Geo. W. Hunsell, J. V. Jones and J. E. Ballard.

The case of Marie Covington, charged with selling liquor without a license, and scheduled for trial yesterday in County Court, was continued until Oct. 27, Mr. Herndon said today.

He also reported that John Pinkney Hart, charged with unlawful selling of intoxicants, pleaded nolo contendere. Judge Ware fined Hart $70 and costs or 90 days.

Baruch Report

Baruch, who headed the War Industries Board of World War I, was named by President Roosevelt in 1935 as chairman of a committee of cabinet officers to find ways of taking the profits out of war.

In addition to working with this group, the witness said he appeared before congressional committees and "went fully into all the questions now before us."

But in the end, Baruch said, "there was no action" to put his recommendations into effect.

The result, he said, was "food dragging and fumbling" and "inability to apply corrective methods when they were clearly indicated" after the war began.

"Faltering step by faltering step we moved toward controls," he said, "but those controls were never sufficient and far-reaching enough."

"If they had been applied immediately, many lives would have been saved, our casualties lowered and billions of dollars saved. Despite warnings of grave danger, the English and French made even more mistakes."

Baruch said the policy of "piecemeal" controls led to the present threat of inflation, "which next to human manslaughter, maiming and destruction, is the worst consequence of war. It creates lack of confidence of men in themselves and in their government."

What was needed, he said, was an "over-all price control law and control of all prices, wages, rents and food."

Instead, he said, "after having granted favors to one class, group after group fought for favors, until we found ourselves upon economic straits. Then restrictions were removed while peace was still distant."

Reminding the committee that he has applied the phrase "cold war" to postwar "lack of unity among the victors," Baruch declared: "We are in the midst of a cold war which is getting warmer."

Baruch said the home front "becomes of paramount importance" in "struggling with the aftermaths and the preparations for peace" and added:

"That home front depends upon the manner in which they have been mobilized and demobilized.

Beautiful Homes

Walter Damrosch the conductor William Procter, of Procter and Gamble; Mary Roberts Rinehart, the writer; William P. Hamilton, the copper magnate; Madame Holbachild.

There were probably 50 homes along the mile long street, all palatial mansions. Only about a dozen still stand.

The destroyed homes alone cost at least $8,500,000, the chief told me. And he explained that the art treasures and furnishings in them probably ran into millions more.

Bar Harbor was cut off from the outside world most of the night. The only electric lights in the town were at the fire station where there is an emergency plant.

There was no panic, however, as the crowds gathered along the waterfront to be evacuated by sea and overland.

The only ones left in the town at dawn are those who can aid in fighting fire. Most of them are men, but there are a few women helping in making and serving sandwiches and coffee.

The rich and the not so rich gathered when the time came to leave, women and children first. Most left reluctantly—and one 84 year old woman absolutely refused to budge after she had taken up a stand at the fire station.

I didn't want to leave my home but they made me," Mrs. Margaret Blanchfield told me. "This is as far as I'll go."

No one dared to suggest she move further.

Atwater Kent, Jr., and his family waited until their home went up in flames before leaving.

Another woman still here is Miss Lorna Joy. She worked tirelessly throughout the night treating its price and tax programs, and whether all segments of society have been treated alike.

"We have not demobilized. We have scuttled and run—militarily, economically and spiritually."

New England Fires

including summer showplaces of the international society set. Damage to the ruined mansions in this town alone was officially set at $8,000,000—not counting the loss of valuable art treasures and furnishings they contained.

As north winds blew up to a force of 25 miles an hour throughout the region this morning—gaining momentum all the time—the outlook was grim with still no appreciable amount of rain in sight.

Light sprinkles are the best that can be expected before at least Saturday, and probably longer in the view of meteorologists — to wet down baked woodlands as the dry spell went into its 24th day.

While the raging flames were checked in Bar Harbor, fears were expressed that perhaps it was only temporary.

"All we've done is stop the fire in town," said Selectman Seth Libby. "A little more wind would raise a lot of hell."

Three New England states — Maine, Massachusetts and New Hampshire were virtually on a war-time footing as National Guardsmen, Legionnaires and other agencies were called out to fight the flames and care for the thousands of refugees.

Just before noon, between 12 and 15 fires were reported still roaring out of control in Massachusetts, where the loss already is placed at well above $500,000.

In New Hampshire, shifting winds were driving the flames directly at the heart of the industrial city of Rochester at the foot of the White Mountains. Within the edge of the fire within two miles of that city of 10,000, school children were being kept concentrated in the event they have to be evacuated.

Massachusetts' State Forester Raymond J. Kenney said "our fate depends a lot on the weather and the winds — but if we held during the night in the teeth of those winds I think we can hold anything."

Meanwhile, the Coast Guard cutter McCulloch bucked mountainous seas during the night after leaving Boston to drop anchor at Bar Harbor at 9:15 A. M., preparatory to landing special crews and medical supplies.

Today's task of helping evacuate victims of Bar Harbor was the third mercy mission within 10 days assigned to the Coast Guard cutter Bibb.

The Bibb's crew last fought wind and waves to rescue the 69 persons aboard the flying boat Bermuda Skyr Queen when she made a forced landing in the stormy North Atlantic Ocean.

On the return trip the Bibb was ordered out again to take seriously ill seaman off another vessel and get him to a hospital.

HINGHAM, Mass., Oct. 24 (AP)—Six hundred miles from the Maine coast, the Norwegian tanker Stotland messaged Tropical Radio at Hingham today that the crew could smell the odor of burning woods borne on northerly winds blowing seaward from Maine forest fires.

When the report was received here, the Stotland's position was 36 degrees north and 64 degrees, 30 minutes west—600 nautical miles from fire-devastated Bar Harbor.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24 (AP)—The American Red Cross announced today it has set up a $500,000 emergency fund for assistance of forest fire victims in New England.

The organization appropriated the money, described as an "initial" sum, after sending disaster workers into fire-swept areas.

One of the workers, Henry Baker, reported to headquarters from Biddeford, Me., this morning that preliminary estimates indicate 406 homes, 120 summer cottages and 45 barns have been destroyed in York county alone.

Senator Taft

leaders that he was calling a special session of Congress Nov. 17. Taft wrote Johnson that he would keep speaking engagements already lined up but that after the Senate met in 1948 he would be too busy here to make a personal campaign for the nomination.

The Senator hurried from yesterday's White House conference to catch a plane for Cincinnati where he delivered an off-the-record talk at the Commonwealth Club last night. It was not learned immediately whether the special session call might cause any change in his speaking plans.

These have yet to be announced. But Taft has been considering a trip through Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and possibly Texas. His September-October sentiment-testing journey took him 12,000 miles through California and the northwest states.

The Senator designated Rep. Clarence J. Brown, Ohio's Republican National Committeeman, as his pre-convention campaign manager.

Taft told Johnson he has no "pre-arranged intention" of entering any other state primaries because, he said, that would require an active campaign and more time and money "than are available."

Most of the money for Taft's campaign is expected to be raised in Ohio. Leaders there are reported to have set a goal of $750,000, with Taft unwilling to accept contributions exceeding $500,000.

In his letter, Taft said he "pre-arranged" to support the Ohio State Committee. Ohio will have 53 delegates to the national nominating convention in Philadelphia where 547 will be necessary for a nomination. Ohio's delegation will be chosen in a primary next May 4.

2. Has been encouraged by "numerous offers of support" from all parts of the country. 3. Believes the nomination race is "wide open" on the basis of observations made on his recent western tour, and that the winner will be picked from among "gamy able and competent Republicans" by a convention acting as a "free deliberative body."

Taft's announcement, which had been forecast for weeks, is the second to come from a number of possibilities: Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor who at 40 is 18 years younger than Taft, announced last December, and has been on the campaigning trail since.

Whether the Ohioan's formal entry will arouse to more outward action the ramps of Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York and others remains to be seen. A drive has been under way for some weeks to build up support for General Dwight D. Eisenhower, but the Army Chief of Staff insists he wants "nothing to do with politics."

Taft, in his second term in the Senate, is chairman of his party's policy committee in that body and also heads the Labor Committee, which helped write the Taft-Hartley Labor Relations Act. He is a vigorous critic of the Truman Administration's domestic and foreign policies.

He has been Ohio's favorite son for the presidential nomination twice before—in 1938 before he was senator and in 1940.

in 55 ambulances by 9:15, two hours after the crash. Railway officials said one of the trains was probing its way slowly through the fog toward south Croydon when there suddenly was a blinding flash and a grinding explosion as a following train rammed into the rear of the first.

The last two coaches of the first train were thrown off the rails and the two leading cars of the following train were splintered, smashed and telescoped. There is no locomotive on these commuter trains.

Nearby residents said there was complete silence for a few moments after the crash and then they began to hear screams and cries for help coming through the swirling fog.

Climbing high, spiked railings the residents rushed to the scene and saw passengers fighting their way from the wrecked carriages kicking out broken windows and calling for help for the injured.

Ambulances and fire engines rushed to the scene but the latter were turned back unneeded. It was the second serious British railroad accident in two and a half months and the fifth of the year.

Eighteen people were killed and 74 injured in a mainline collision near Doncaster Aug. 9. Five were killed and 30 seriously hurt July 21 when an express overturned near Tamworth.

Two accidents in January killed seven and injured 45. Twelve were in a three-way accident Jan. 31 near Coatbridge, Scotland, and seven were killed and 45 injured Jan. 2 when a main train crashed near Coatbridge, Scotland, and Park, Essex, during a fog.

The Coast Guard said the 4,236-ton Manx Fisher suffered slight damage and was able to proceed to San Francisco.

The Coast Guard dispatched a patrol boat to the scene from Monterey, 23 miles to the north of Point Sur. The cutters Magnolia and Taney were sent from San Francisco, 90 miles to the north.

The wireless reported the Sparrow's Point radio went off the air at 1:00 A. M. (PST). The Sparrow's Point was en route from Los Angeles to Seattle; the Manx Fisher from Los Angeles to San Francisco.

The latter vessel is owned by the Silver and Java Pacific Lines, a British concern, and its home port is Vancouver, B. C. The Army transport Elden Johnson offered assistance, but the offer was declined by the Coast Guard because the ship was too far away.

House Group Holds Lawson In Contempt

Screen Writer Refuses To Tell Whether He Is Communist At House Probe

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Eric Johnston told Congress members today the motion picture industry will continue to "insist on our right to decide what will or will not go in our pictures."

"I don't propose," Johnston declared, "that government shall tell the motion picture industry, directly or by coercion, what kind of pictures it ought to make. I am as wholeheartedly against that as I would be against dictating to the press or the radio, to the book publishers or the magazines."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—The House Un-American Activities Committee today voted John Howard Lawson, screen writer, in contempt for refusing to tell whether he is or ever was a Communist.

Robert E. Stripling, committee investigator, said that because the present hearings on Communist activities in Hollywood are being conducted by a subcommittee the action will have to be submitted later to a meeting of the full committee.

If the contempt citation is voted by the full committee, a statement of its action is filed with the Speaker of the House who can turn the matter over directly to the United States attorney for prosecution.

Prosecution would be before a jury.

The law calls for a fine of $100 to $1,000 and imprisonment for one month to a year in jail for anyone found guilty.

Lawson shouted during a tumultuous exchange with committee Chairman Thomas (R-NJ) that he was refusing to answer the question because it was an invasion.

Federal Reserve Says Inflation Is Aiding Employment

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Inflation is helping to keep down joblessness, the Federal Reserve Board Bulletin said today.

"As long as inflationary pressure continues, there is little likelihood that unemployment will increase greatly," the board's monthly publication said in an article analyzing "The Current Labor Market."

But it also said that pressures for wage increases are likely to continue unless living costs are stabilized or reduced, because "continued advances in prices, particularly in food prices, are placing increasing pressure on the living standards of many workers."

Los Alamos Workers Found Dead On Peak

SANTA FE, N. M., Oct. 27 (AP)—Los Alamos atomic energy project officials said today they had been informed by radio that two girl secretaries of the project, missing since Saturday, had been found dead on the icy slopes of Truchas Peak.

State police and a detachment of soldiers from Los Alamos yesterday began a search for the girls. Frances B. Kruss, 34, former WAC from Baltimore, and Mildred Hartig, from Evansville, Ind.

Martinez told the Associated Press by telephone yesterday that the women were trapped on an ice-covered slope of the mountain. He said the women had explored the area the previous Sunday and returned Saturday to rent horses and employ the guide services of Sam Martin.

CITY PERMITS

Two permits were recently issued at the City Hall for erection of homes. The building firm of Doyle and Forces received a permit to erect a frame dwelling and garage at 813 Escambia Drive. T. A. Stiles received a permit to build a concrete block dwelling and garage at 801 East Twentieth Street.

Candidates Are Submitted Ten Platform Questions By Jaycees

Five candidates for the City Commission have been invited to address the Junior Chamber of Commerce at its meeting next Thursday night and have been submitted a set of ten questions on civic affairs which they have been requested to answer, it was announced today by Brailay Odham, president of the Jaycees.

The candidates are as follows: Group No. 1—John Krider, Fred Williams, Jr. and Jack Ratsjen; Group No. 2—Jack Lodge and Randall Chase.

The questions which have already been submitted to them in writing are as follows:

1. Are you in favor of the program for resurfacing deteriorating streets in Sanford, as well as new paving in Georgetown and Goldsboro, and financing the improvements by assessments against abutting property owners?
2. Will you, if elected, support a policy of strict law enforcement without fear or favor, and call upon the Police Department to cooperate with the Sheriff's office in enforcing all laws against gambling including slot machines, punchboards, and bolita?
3. Do you favor the appointment by the City Commission of a Charter Reform Committee for the purpose of studying our present City Charter with a view to making recommendations for modernizing and streamlining it, and the election of the Mayor and City Commissioners by majority?

Leaders Meet With Truman To Study Economic Crisis

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Some 95 business and labor leaders met in the White House today for an off-the-record study of ways to help Europe without boosting prices at home.

At the same time, Senators George Malone (R-Nev) and Tom Connally (D-Tex) said they hoped the special session of Congress called by President Truman on Nov. 17 would limit its work to emergency assistance and leave the long range Marshall Plan to the regular session.

Aerial View Of Bar Harbor Ruins After Fire

SOME OF THE GREAT DESTRUCTION wrought by the forest fire which swept through Bar Harbor, Me., can be seen in this air view taken after the flames had burned out. All of the town's big hotels and many mansions were completely gutted.

Death Toll From Forest Fires Is 22; Damage Is $32,000,000

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27 (AP)—Senator Brewster (R-Me.) said today he is suggesting to the FBI that it look for evidence of deliberate destruction in both the costly New England forest fires and Friday's plane crash in Bryce Canyon, Utah. "In these days of ideological warfare," Brewster told reporters, "that is the kind of thing we have to watch out for."

Brewster, just back from an inspection of the Maine fire area, said there was evidence that some fires started from oil soaked rags. Near Falmouth, he said, a candle was found burning among combustible material in a pine wood. Brewster recalled that in a speech in Pittsburgh Saturday he had stated that the prime objective of Communists is to create disintegration abroad and bring collapse of our economy.

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 27 (AP)—The death toll from disastrous forest fires which wrought $32,000,000 damage in New England amounted to 22 today as weary firefighters, holding virtually all blazes in check, were warned that rising winds would increase the fury of the flames.

As refugees began to trickle homeward in a few areas, the Red Cross added two to the list of dead in Maine, bringing the state's total to 15. Four others died in Massachusetts and Connecticut and three in Michigan. Nineteen injured have been hospitalized in Maine and the list of missing was trimmed from 17 to 7.

Flames moving slowly west from Union Falls, in southern Maine's York county on the Saco River, were reported confined today within a half mile of the village of Clark Mills.

"Under control" reports came from the groggy army of fire fighters on virtually all other fire zones.

India Urges Security Council To Take Positive Action To End Indonesian Row

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 27 (AP)—Russia and the United States, in a conciliatory move, joined today in a 55-16 vote of the United Nations to condemn all forms of propaganda which would be "likely to provoke or encourage any threat to the peace." The vote was on a compromise proposal offered jointly by France, Australia and Canada after Russia's anti-war-monger resolution was defeated in the 57-nation political committee of the general assembly.

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 27 (AP)—Russia's anti-war-monger proposal was defeated by a majority of the 57 United Nations today after the Soviet bloc in a last-minute compromise move withdrew the Russian charges of alleged "war-mongering" in the United States, Greece and Turkey.

The 57-nation political committee of the General Assembly turned down each of the four points in the Soviet resolution in rapid succession. This killed the entire Soviet proposal.

The committee then turned to a new resolution on "war-mongering" submitted jointly by France, Australia and Canada.

The United States indicated the first time its willingness to accept some form of action to "war-mongering" when it agreed to support the joint resolution.

New York Honors First War Dead Back From Europe

NEW YORK, Oct. 27 (AP)—New York paid tribute yesterday to the 6,251 war-dead brought home from military cemeteries in Europe and Newfoundland. Planes circled overhead, floral pieces floated on the harbor and flags flew at half-staff as the armaments department solemnly arrived with the first group of war dead to be returned from Europe.

Police estimated that 250,000 persons watched the funeral procession and 150,000 attended memorial services in Central Park as guns roared salutes and church bells tolled. The flag-draped caisson of a posthumous Congressional Medal of Honor winner—chosen to represent his comrades in arms anonymously—was borne on a caisson from the transport to the park and placed on a catafalque. Catholic and Jewish chaplains participated in the memorial services.

Most of those in the front section of the assemblage reserved.

13 Persons Killed In Philippine Campaign

MANILA, Oct. 27 (AP)—At least 13 persons were killed in provinces of Luzon Island over the weekend as campaigning for Nov. 11 local and national elections neared its climax.

Six persons were killed near Nagbukel, 245 road miles north of Manila, by a large party of unidentified armed men. The fate of a seventh—a town treasurer who carried money and ballots for the election—was not known.

A convoy guarding Liberal Party gubernatorial candidate Fausto Gonzales Sioco was ambushed in Pampanga province, and three military police and four of the attackers, believed to be Hukbalahap armed peasants, were killed.

Five Liberal Party workers were kidnapped in Pampanga during the last week. They were presumed to be dead.

Pathan Invaders Halted At Border

NEW DELHI, Oct. 27 (AP)—The Kashmir government announced today that the 2,000 invading Pathans from Pakistan's northwest frontier province had been halted by reinforced state forces about 30 miles from Srinagar and forced to retire.

A spokesman said 1,600 Indian troops were flown from New Delhi today to the princely state to bolster defenses against the Moslem invaders, who had struck at Hindu and Sikh families. Srinagar, capital of Kashmir, was reported quiet.

Los Alamos Workers Found Dead On Peak

SANTA FE, N. M., Oct. 27 (AP)—Los Alamos atomic energy project officials said today they had been informed by radio that two girl secretaries of the project, missing since Saturday, had been found dead on the icy slopes of Truchas Peak.
