

Belts Highlight The Scene

Belts in flashing colors and designs with futuristic buckles are the highlight of the spring fashion scene. The most outstanding can be found in a dazzling collection of belts designed by internationally known artist Peter Max. Called "cosmic unisex" belts, they can be worn by men, women and children, and are guaranteed to bring vividness and color into any one's life and wardrobe.

Called the "Artist of the Year 2000," Peter Max has skyrocketed across the contemporary art scene with his unique graphic design concepts. From his original work in posters which made his name a household word among young people everywhere, Peter Max has applied his creative talents in the use of graphics to many areas, including fashions. His newest work of art is the exciting belt collection he has designed for Canterbury Belts.

The Peter Max collection comes in a wide selection of designs and colors. Since Max is a follower of Yoga and hence, a vegetarian, all of the Peter Max line are fabricated with non-leather materials, including solid and multi-stripe elastics, braided fabrics and printed vinyls.

They are "Love" belts with shiny metal buckles reproducing the famous Peter Max Love poster "petroleum," and "Cosmic Universe" belts featuring large, round silver and blue buckles with Max's art interpretation of the universe.

A most distinctive buckle is shaped like a TV screen and comes with several Peter Max graphic design inserts, so that the wearer can "change channels" to suit his or her mood or appearance. A more conservative choice might be the "Signature" belts which use a simple buckle design carrying the well-known Peter Max signature in silver and blue.

The combinations of colors, designs, buckles and materials are beyond imagination. Many of the belts are a collage of different fabrics and colors.

She admires the workmanship in the winning dresses, but indicates that the fine dressmaking concept, with its time-consuming detail and handwork, might be a little out of date. "A new language of sewing is needed," she remarks, "and more sewing short-cuts."

She feels that more and more women will be sewing to create an individual fashion look.

Ex-Convict Captured After S&L Robbery

Police Chase Zigzagged Through 5 Counties

The Sanford Herald

 63rd Year, No. 144 Price 10 Cents

Rookie Cop Gets Surprise Of Life

It was a rookie patrolman of the Sanford Police Department who had the surprise of his life, while on routine patrol. Robert Nicholas spotted the green and black Cadillac allegedly carrying the robber of an Orlando Savings and Loan Company.

Nicholas observed the Arkansas licensed vehicle, moving at a tourist's speed on 25th Street and Lake Mary Road.

The 26-year-old James Malinauskas, originally of Chicago, did not accelerate his speed but continued on 25th Street and Lake Mary Road.

It was at the corner of Upsala and SR 46, one-half mile from the 25th and 14 interchange, where another patrol car forced the fleeing bandit to make his move.

The high speed chase continued east I-4 heading toward Deltona where he was apprehended, removed to Seminole Memorial Hospital for treatment and ultimately transferred to Orlando for booking on a federal warrant.

Sgt. Richard Nooney, one of those patrolmen directly behind the fleeing auto, was asked what his speed was during the pursuit, to which he replied, "I watched the needle hit 135 miles per hour at one point."

I couldn't be any more proud today... of our law enforcement agencies. And you should be, too.

The cooperation exhibited between Sheriff John Polk's men... and those of Sanford Police Chief Ben Butler... as well as Volusia County... the FBI... all of 'em.

Man, I'm glad I didn't have to call a hippie for help!

Unless we tell it, you'd probably be unaware of the massive and thoroughly effective dragnet which was in effect all during the search mission yesterday.

There was absolutely no way that the alleged robber could have made it back through Sanford... heading south, as it would appear were his intentions.

Congratulations to all law officers... remember, May 1 is Law Day — U.S.A.

He was a "big man" when he had the hostages and a gun in his hand... but, when I saw him unconscious in the Seminole Memorial Hospital emergency room... just a poor soul who has gone astray, and mercifully did not harm either of his hostages.

What do you think were his first words, after coming to? "I ain't saying nothing 'til I see my lawyer."

Oh, he sure took off after a bit... "was everybody else's fault," etc.

Couldn't have been his first time, either... cause when ever he saw a camera, he pulled a get sheet over his face... with the one free hand; the other manacled to the table.

While riding with Duane Harrell, Chief Deputy for the Sheriff's Department... I found he had another talent. He can read! He can read! If they need a driver at Daytona... he's my man!

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A jobless ex-convict who said he stole to feed his wife and baby was captured Thursday night after releasing two hostages taken during the robbery of a savings and loan company Thursday.

James Vitalis Malinauskas, 27, of Altamonte Springs was taken into custody after being forced off Interstate 4 near the small bedroom community of Deltona, just west of Daytona Beach, police said.

A massive, seven-hour police hunt zigzagged through Central Florida with scores of officers, airplanes and helicopters on the lookout while the robber casually ate pizza and beer and watched a drive-in movie.

The saga began at the American Federal Savings and Loan Branch at 3:30 p.m. Thursday.

There a gunman disguised with a straw hat, dark glasses and a phony mustache drew a .38 caliber revolver on the manager Ralph C. Haslar and head teller Mrs. Lillie Tompkins.

Haslar said the robber forced him to turn over between $3,000 and $10,000 in cash and checks and then tied up the two employees who had been alone in the bank.

But by then Orange County Sheriff's deputies attracted by an automatic silent alarm had surrounded the building.

The robber became nervous. He seized Mrs. Tompkins by the throat, put a gun to her head and ordered Haslar to follow them out of the bank, Haslar said.

He ordered a sheriff's car for his escape, firing a shot at Orange County Deputy Lt. Bob Larkins when the officer came too close. It missed, police said.

The robber fled along I-4 south to Ocala County. He stopped the car and used the sheriff's car radio to say he would kill his hostages if police didn't "get off my back." He forced Mrs. Tompkins to radio: "Get that police car out of here. I want to see my grand-children grow up, at least for a little while," she pleaded.

Mrs. Tompkins later said she was afraid for her life.

"He kept grabbing me around the throat and pressing the gun to my head. I kept thinking, 'he's going to pull the trigger any minute,'" she recalled.

Mrs. Tompkins, 50, was released unarmed with only bruises around her neck after the robber turned on the car's siren and pulled over a 1970 Cadillac driven by Harry Bernard of Parvin, Ark., to the side of the road.

With Haslar still under his gun, the robber fled into Orlando in the Cadillac and lost police heading northward near Mount Dora, about 40 miles from the city.

Haslar, 26 and an employee at the Azalea Park branch of the company for three years, said the robber relaxed after losing police.

"He wasn't all that bad," said Haslar. "He seemed like a halfway decent guy. He told me he had a wife and baby and wanted to help them."

The two sat in an orange grove near Umatilla and chatted about the robber's life, Haslar said.

"He told me he was picked up in Texas and in prison for three years. When he got out he tried to make a go of it but had a record and nobody wanted him. He said he was disappointed with everything."

"He told me he would go down fighting before giving himself up because prison life was so bad. He said in solitary confinement he was beaten by guards as a daily routine."

Haslar said the robber stated he tried to rob the bank a week earlier "but couldn't get enough nerve" to do it. The gunman said he was originally from Chicago.

Seminole's Dragnet Catches A Thief!!

By BILL SCOTT

One Sanford police officer suffered a fractured knee as scores of Seminole County deputies and municipal police officers joined in the seven-hour dragnet through five counties in search for a robber who held up an Orlando savings and loan and escaped with cash protected by two hostages as a curtain of police watched.

The robbery suspect was first spotted in Seminole County at 25th Street and Old Lake Mary Road. The chase led west to Upsala Road and SR 46 when the fugitive saw a road block under a bridge he turned onto Interstate 4 and headed north.

At this point Sanford police Sgt. Richard Nooney, driving the fastest pursuing vehicle at speeds upwards of 135 miles per hour, joined the chase toward the Volusia County line.

Nooney at the same time relayed information back to Sanford Lt. Charles Fagan and Joe Shupp in another car that had joined in the drama. Fagan also transmitted the messages back to other cops.

Lt. Fagan's car wrecked just before the capture, but the law man escaped without injury. His companion, Lt. Shupp, received a hairline knee fracture and was removed to Seminole Memorial Hospital.

The wrecking of the Cadillac and the subsequent capture of the suspect, identified as James V. Malinauskas, occurred, according to Fagan, when a highway patrol car somehow got in front of the Cadillac. When the driver attempted to pass, the patrol car changed lanes and caused Malinauskas to drive his vehicle into a ditch at the Deltona exit.

The capture was made by Sgt. Nooney and Volusia County deputy Lt. C. Gilley, the first two officers to reach the damaged car.

Sheriff John Polk said Malinauskas was removed to Seminole Memorial Hospital and treated for head lacerations before his release to Federal Bureau of Investigation agents, who charged him with bank robbery and set his bond at $100,000 at Orlando.

Sheriff Polk said a possible Seminole County charge of armed way patrol car somehow got in

Christian Faith

By REV. VIRGIL L. BRYANT JR.
First Presbyterian Church

Christian Faith is both a happening and a commitment. We fall in love. That is a happening. When it happens, our feelings about ourselves and another are profoundly affected. It is great to be in love. But what happens to us also happens to us. We find that we can fall out of love as easily as we can fall into it.

Becoming a Christian is something that happens to us. In Jesus Christ, God did something for us. As we look at the cross and resurrection of Jesus Christ, we are profoundly influenced in the depth of our being. But, if that were all, the Christian Faith could also be something that happens to us. Our Christian Faith would come and go according to our feelings.

So Christian Faith is more. It is both a happening and a commitment.

We are concerned with commitment. Commitment cannot be just passive. It must also be active. It is an act of the will, the emotions and the body. It will touch every aspect of life. The artificial distinction some make between the sacred and the secular are removed. Christian commitment involves choices in recreation, credit buying, investments, and every other area of life as well as in giving of our money. Although it might be easier at times to die, "to give my body to be burned," the Christian is called to live in the midst of life in commitment to Christ. Actually this life of commitment to His purpose is the only one compatible with our Christian profession.

CHRISTINE MISKELLY and Betty Balmer of Tarpon Springs are conducting a series of evangelistic meetings through Sunday night at Church of God of Prophecy, 2509 Elm Avenue, at 7:30 p.m., nightly. They will present gospel music with a western touch.

FIRST BAPTIST CHAPEL OF MAITLAND will be held

YOUTH WEEK is being observed in the First Baptist Church of Sanford. This is an annual emphasis during which the Senior High students and single young adults assume many of the places of leadership in the church. On Sunday, March 21, they will be filling major places in the Sunday School, Church Training Program, and worship services. The emphasis will come to a close at the conclusion of the evening service, when the key to the church is returned to Pastor Fred B. Chance. Among youth staff members are (seated) Marilyn Rudd, Woman's Missionary Union director; Pam Sible, minister of music; standing Mike Rudd, chairman of deacons; Jim Grogan, pastor; and Joe Grogan, minister of education.

Church Upgrades Adults' Courses

By CLARE COX
Copley News Service

NEW YORK — The Bible is the textbook and guidebook of the Christian faith, but how many churchgoers know enough about it to follow intelligently the weekly Scripture lesson read by their pastors? Not many, in the opinion of ministers and the teachers who give courses of instruction in the churches.

In fact, a large proportion of the teachers are scarcely more knowledgeable than their students. After youngsters struggle away from Sunday school in their teens, few ever return to Bible classes as adults, and although courses dealing with the Bible are being offered widely in colleges and universities, they usually concentrate on historical or literary content.

Congregations in nearly every denomination offer Bible study for adults but they have encountered difficulty in finding qualified, committed teachers. Several measures have been taken, ranging from encouragement of independent study to weekly discussions of next Sunday's printed lesson to the use of a study guide, but hardly a step ahead of their students.

Efforts are being made by some denominations to upgrade Sunday- and week-night courses for adults. One of the most effective programs is known as the Bethel Series, conducted by the Adult Christian Education Foundation in Madison, Wis. Founded by Pastor Harley A. Swigum when he was on the staff of Bethel Lutheran Church in Madison, the foundation now offers church-school educational programs to lay teachers around the world who in turn instruct their fellow church members. The Bethel Series begins with a two-week period of intensive instruction in Hebrew in the summer, at which ministers or leaders of church schools are trained to instruct the lay teachers in their congregations.

On completion of the course, the church representative returns home and enrolls 10 to 15 members of his congregation in a weekly 2 1/2-hour course lasting 18 months to two years. Only then are the students considered eligible to teach.

Although the Bible is the textbook for the course, L. H. Harschen, director of the program, said that it is far more than merely a Bible study program. "The teacher training is really the core of the success of the Bethel series," he explained. "In no other areas have we seen such spiritual growth as development in this in-depth study of Scriptures, and it is because of their excitement that other members of the congregation want to attend this once they have become acquainted with it."

The series consists of lessons, evenly divided between the Old and New Testaments and providing an overview of the Lutheran Hour branch office in Johannesburg, South Africa, where he also acts as speaker in the African languages.

Interesting to note was Schwacke's reference to the vast lack of television in India the Lutheran Hour must depend wholly upon the radio and communication by word of mouth.

HEARTLINE at First Baptist Church was manned by these young people for one hour and they received 14 calls from persons needing someone to talk to about their problems. Left to right, Mariena Dixon, Maria Dixon, Rene Chance and Richard Boyd.

Commiss Hammer So. Vietnamese Troops Saigon Closing Out Laos Campaign

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese Command announced today that it has with drawn between 2,000 and 3,000 of its troops from Laos in the past two days, leaving about 18,000 over the border.

Evidence mounted that the Saigon government is beginning to close out its campaign in Laos after nearly six weeks.

Some South Vietnamese units which were heavily engaged by the enemy were pulled back to South Vietnam. There have been no replacements in Laos for nearly six weeks.

Some of Saigon's troops at the Ham Nghi forward headquarters were reported parking to return to rear headquarters. More than 100 empty trucks were assembled at Ham Nghi.

Farmer Assaults Deputy

By BILL SCOTT

A Seminole County poultry farmer operator has been jailed on two charges after he reportedly drove his truck into a county car injuring the deputy who was trying to serve a legal paper to take the man's property.

Chief Deputy Duane Harrell reported Deputy Curtis Campbell, the county's legal process server, went to the home of Snyder at 8 a. m. today to serve a legal writ to take the man's property, including a truck.

Snyder objected to Campbell taking his truck when the deputy got into the vehicle and started to strike Campbell, Harrell reported.

Campbell was knocked out of the truck by Snyder, who then tried to drive away, but Campbell tried to block his leaving. This caused Snyder to deliberately ram his truck into the side of Campbell's car at least twice, Harrell added.

Calley Jury Rehashing Testimony

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — Lt. William L. Calley's lawyer says there is far too much rehashing of testimony for the My Lai murder trial jury and demands that the judge put a stop to it. The judge has declined to do so "at this particular point."

Calley contends he was never near that crossing, and the few witnesses who testified to the incident disagreed where it occurred in the hamlet, no longer than four football fields.

In his instructions to the jury, Judge Reid Kennedy said: "If you are not satisfied beyond a reasonable doubt that the killings occurred . . . in the vicinity of the north-south trail intersection, but instead conclude that they occurred elsewhere in the village, Lt. Calley cannot be found guilty of specific intent one of the charge."

More reading aloud was in store for the jury today. A screen and projector replaced the map of My Lai that was almost a permanent fixture in the trial, already the longest court-martial in history.

The informal affair was actually a reunion of friends Sue worked with at the Tax Collector's office in Sanford prior to her employment with the FBI in Washington, D.C., where she has been employed for several years.

Site of the friendly gathering was Vale's Junior Shopp, Longwood. Colorful streamers and a decorative wedding bell were featured above the beautifully appointed refreshment table.

Guests were served tempting fruit punch, petite four, cream wafers, butter mints, toasted nuts and coffee.

As the honor guest arrived, her pals were in the back area. Each repeated a phrase and the name of the game was guessing the identity of the guests. This proved very interesting.

Enjoying the delightful gathering with the hostess and bride-elect were Pat Spencer, Della Galloway, Arlys David, Marie Hunt, Irene Weible, Betty Parker and Pat Sentell.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Last year while my husband was going with another woman he gave her a Swiss watch for Christmas. They had a fight in February and she broke up with her and asked her for the watch. She gave it to him. Now my husband says I can have the watch if I want it. It looks good as new. Should I wear it?

DEAR NOT: Why not — if it keeps time. (Look inside.)

Maybe he gave the other woman the "works".

DEAR ABBY: A high school girl (I'll call Alice) told me that she and another girl ride to school every morning with three guys. Alice always sits in the back seat between two guys. It's a small car and quite crowded. Alice says she doesn't wear a bra, and this one guy (I'll call him Rick) keeps pulling his hands underneath her sweater and jacket and tries to feel her up without anyone else knowing it. Alice tries to push his hand away, but she can't push very far. Alice says she doesn't want to embarrass herself and everyone else in the car by making a scene, so she asked a counselor what to do, and this counselor told her to whisper into Rick's ear that if he didn't stop she would yell and cause a scene. This counselor also told Alice to try dressing "defensively," like a one-piece jumpsuit so Rick can't get to her. What do you think of such advice? WONDERING. Not much. No girl should have to dress "defensively" to keep a guy from "feeling her up."

I would have advised that the girl who told you about the noggins with her algebra book the moment she felt him getting fresh. And at the same time to yell in a very loud voice that she himself. "Any woman who prefers a rapist to a rapist is a rapist."

DEAR ABBY: I just read that letter from the GI who is overseas. He said, "After living a normal married life for three years, what is a young healthy man supposed to do for his physical needs?" After all, I'm human.

You turned it around and told him to do exactly what you would tell his wife to do since she had the same problem. "Keep busy, stay sober, avoid temptation, write every day and pray a lot."

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABY, Box 69706, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Jacoby On Bridge Jacoby and Son

By Oswald and James Jacoby

An expert doesn't need to know the code word ARCH. With an expert the process of Analyzing the hand, Reviewing the bidding, Counting the winners and losers adds "How he can make or defeat the contract, is automatic."

The expert today would win the trump lead in his hand and see 16 winners if he simply tried a club toward dummy at trick two. Should East hold the ace he would win the trick and South would score six trump tricks, three diamonds and one club.

Since West holds the ace of clubs South would actually make 11 tricks if West should rise with the ace and not play hearts immediately.

An average player would take a little time to count to the same 16 tricks but undoubtedly would find the winning play.

When we watched the hand played the declarer wasted no time thinking. He remarked to West that the trump lead was just what he needed.

Then South rattled off six trumps while discarding two clubs to the hearts from dummy. East was unkind enough to discard all three clubs and just one heart while West puffed up one diamond and one club.

South wound up losing four tricks—one more than he could afford.

He explained that he would have made five-odd if North wasn't impressed.

Worry Clinic By Dr. Crane

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.

CASE Q-305: Rev. Richard is a topnotch clergyman. This means he is a dramatic orator who can hold the fascinated attention of his congregations every Sunday by helpful sermons.

"Dr. Crane," he asked, "could you address our Ministerial Meeting and conduct a forum discussion on 'Sex and Marriage Problems'?"

"For my clergyman spend much of our time adjudicating love and marriage problems. "Often we are about the only source locally of pre-marital advice for young couples just ready for marriage."

CHURCH SEX CLINICS

Many churches hold "Marriage Clinics" to help promote happier homes and lessen the divorce rate.

Throughout the years, I have often been invited to help bring the medical and psychological information to clergy members in such counseling.

Our medical journal carried a report by some EARLY men who outlined about 750 cases under their supervision where college men had been hired to mate with wives of sterile husbands.

Some of these wives had even coerced their husbands into consenting to their repeated sexual relationship in the doctor's office with the young college donors, for these wives regarded artificial insemination as "too mechanical."

In that medical journal some of the wives were reported to have had several babies, often by different donors.

But many supposed sterile couples gain children of their own by using the data in my booklet, "Facts About Pregnancy," so send a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents. Try it suggestions for at least 6 months.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope, and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of my booklets.)

HoroSCOPE Forecast

SATURDAY, MARCH 20, 1971

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A very contented atmosphere in the air today and tonight. Your affairs could be in quick disarray if you are impatient, scrappy or try to get things moving without due and proper deliberation. Wait until tomorrow before you do put them in motion anyway. Study all practical plans closely. Show that you are wise.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): A good day to try to persuade others to do things they would do on their own. Postpone civic affairs until a later time. Don't follow ideas of a newcomer, either since they are not very good.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to Mar. 20): Jumping into a new venture without proper study could cost you a good deal, so slow down. Others may be insistent, but show that you have willpower. An ounce of prevention now is very important.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): You must be very efficient at work ahead of you right now. Be very careful where money is concerned. Don't run off at any tangent, either. Arguing with mate could cause some serious trouble.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Although others may not appreciate you as much as they should, it is wise to keep your side of any bargain. Show your finest talents and get good results. Don't rely too much on others for help.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Although you are not in the mood for work today, there are many things you do not neglect responsibilities. Know what is expected of you. Then get it done through without fanfare. Relax tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): A particular plan needs your attention today, so forget that inclination to go out with your friends. Start work early and show that you are practical and sensible. Avoid unnecessary expenditures.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): The situation at home is a bit touchy so do nothing to add fuel to the fire now raging there. Take it easy and all straightens out. You know the reason for it, so eliminate cause.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Support others instead of criticizing them so much and you get right results. Show that you are loyal. Recklessness could get you into trouble. Use good sense and all is fine.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Get busy fixing up home and forget the financial today. Roll up your sleeves and get to work early. Have a more optimistic attitude toward life.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): A demanding attitude toward others avails you nothing, but tact gets you what you want at this time. Postponing social affairs is wise, since you have to think of practical matters. Do some figuring tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Although you are not satisfied with the position you now find yourself in, it is wise to stick to duties at hand. Later study other activities during spare time. Don't give up the ship in the middle of the ocean. Think straight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Try to solve own problems instead of calling on friends who could just waste your time for nothing. Open door to new opportunity by studying. Avoid persons who are superficial.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those young people who likes to work angles in order to gain own aims. Teach early that the direct approach is best and you will save your child from much trouble later on in life as well as during youth. Your son or daughter knows the value of money and this can become a successful chart once the leasting aspects of the nature are curbed. The field of business is very good, or that of the theater.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

DEAR POLLY: Like Mrs. C.L.N. L. too, have a collection of small rocks. I had mine tumbled and mounted on a lamp for inserting elastic in waistbands. The extra ones are in a fancy crystal jar and they show up to good advantage—HELEN.

DEAR POLLY: I want to tell Mrs. C. L. N. that I secured a large map of the United States had it framed and then glued my rocks over the outlines of the states from which they came. If the map is large enough, the rocks might even be placed over the section of the state where found and there might be several kinds from one state. This makes an interesting exhibit without explanation and is a conversation piece—MRS. C. R.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY: I had 300 Christmas cards printed with Mr. and Mrs. ... well before the holidays. My husband died suddenly just before Christmas and I would like to know if there is some way the "Mr. and Mrs." could be eliminated from these expensive cards. I would like to use them next year. Anyone

Liberated Paula Turns Producer

Even that urge to do something "herse" to Do Something.

"I always wanted to do something behind-the-scenes," she says. "Even when I was starting out on Broadway, I was producing the backstage work. Doing the show itself was like being in prison."

"And I'm not out of for hours. Why is it people say a man has to be the breadwinner? Some men prefer to stay home. Jack (Carter) does. He likes doing things around the house, and that's what I do. I'm not his 'masculinity.'"

She says she knew she could never become a director — "that's a closed shop." So that left producing and she has made Duane Dinah the script and producing a movie called "The Great Put-On of Dinah East."

(Just to get the facts of "Liberated Paula" is a very short great movie glamor girl who dies and only then does the world learn that Dinah was really a man all those years.)

Paula found the script and thought it was a good one. She says she knew that she couldn't raise the money here—"This is a town full of frightened people" — so she went to New York and got her financing there.

She says she found producing enjoyable and that the managing of the show with the men she hired although she does admit that she found some of the women "brosomes" — it was "jealousy thing."

But wouldn't you just love that the eternal female would come out — she did all the set decorating (she's a licensed interior decorator, along with a hair styling, the make-up and costumes.

A young actor named Jeremy Stockwell plays the lead — the glamor girl who is really a man — and Paula says that he was her size so he wore her clothes in the film.

Fight Action

ALVIN (CYCLONE) PRIGEON lands a blow to the head of Rhet Ratliff during action at the Sanford Armory last night. Prigeon won the fight by a unanimous decision over Ratliff, who is from Casselberry. Prigeon is from Sanford.

THE ACTION WAS fast and furious when Rhet Ratliff (left) and Alvin Prigeon squared in the ring. Prigeon was the winner on a unanimous decision. Here, Prigeon ducks as Ratliff throws a punch at his head. This was one of nine bouts on the card at the Sanford Armory last night.

Bouts Please Crowd Braden Stops Hall In Armory

Sanford's 165 pounder, Kit Braden dominated his match with Chris Hall of New York all the way last night at the Sanford Armory boxing, promoted by R. G. Kondracki. Braden came out strong in the first round showing a hard right jab and strong left hook. Braden continued to be the aggressor throughout the match. During the last round Hall spent most of the time in the corner with a bloody mouth trying desperately to fend off the flurry of punches thrown by Braden. Braden took a unanimous decision from the judges.

Opening the card last night Thomas Mauer also of Sanford took a split decision win over Dwight Dudley of St. Petersburg. Dudley came on strong in the first round. Both boxers displayed good defense, but their judges gave Dudley the first round but Mauer, although tired, took one point decision in the last two rounds to win.

Sanford boxers scored again in the second match as Johnny Perkins took a unanimous decision from Lorenzo Terry of St. Petersburg. Both boxers kept moving in the first two rounds displaying excellent footwork, but in the last round Perkins came on strong and scored an early knockdown.

In his first appearance in the ring Jeff Ratliff gave up a TKO to Allen Dalton. Ratliff landed some good punches before Dalton scored twice to Ratliff's head. The TKO came 1:27 into the opening round.

Mike Potter of Casselberry also made his first ring appearance last night, but favored much better than Ratliff as he scored a split decision victory over St. Petersburg's Paul Dudley. Potter was aggressive at the onset of the match but began tiring midway into the second round. Dudley was the stronger of the two in final round but was unable to make up for Potter's early performance.

Rhet Ratliff took a unanimous decision from Alvin Prigeon, a Casselberry boxer, over Jack Cohen of Sanford. Cohen was able to answer Braden's TKO over Jesse Bonner in the second round of their battle. Both fighters landed good punches in the first round, but with 11 seconds gone the St. Petersburg fighter gave up. In one of the best fights of the evening last night at the Sanford Armory Johnny Tanner decked Robin Ameron of Knoxville with 1:10 into the first round. Ameron was unable to answer the count as Tanner scored the KO of the evening. Tanner decked Ameron three times before he did it for the final time. The two had met each other one time before in the ring and they both wanted revenge.

Neither of the two fighters were very aggressive during the battle.

St. Petersburg's Milton Owens scored a split decision victory over Jack Cohen of Sanford. Owens came out as the most aggressive of the two in the opening round as they tested each other getting in a few good punches. Both fighters came on strong in the second round, Owens with his jab and Cohen with his hook. Cohen slipped once. Both fighters were decked once during the final round but the judges' decision went the way of Owens.

Mark Gregory of Sanford scored a TKO over Jesse Bonner in the second round of their battle. Both fighters landed good punches in the first round, but with 11 seconds gone the St. Petersburg fighter gave up. In one of the best fights of the evening last night at the Sanford Armory Johnny Tanner decked Robin Ameron of Knoxville with 1:10 into the first round. Ameron was unable to answer the count as Tanner scored the KO of the evening. Tanner decked Ameron three times before he did it for the final time. The two had met each other one time before in the ring and they both wanted revenge.

Appears Sunday At 4:30 P.M. Trick Artist At Mayfair

The sports world lives a long life with a weird assortment of clubs. His exhibition is half circus, half wizardry. His booming shots left audiences gasping around the world. Non-sporters will find his satire and patter worth their time. Most fans enjoy not walking to Hahn's entrance show from one spot to another.

Long hitting Hahn recently returned from a round-the-world exhibition tour with his father, Paul Hahn, to 21 countries on five continents. This globe circling tour covered almost 40,000 miles in 11 weeks.

From his 90 pound Jumbo golf bag he will take out an assortment of clubs that defy description. Rubber hose shafts, steel jointed shafts, 75 inch shafts, all hitting the ball unbelievably far.

He will drive balls from 300 to 400 yards. He will hit a ball from 100 feet in the air and while sitting on a stool. Paul Hahn, Jr. has amazed people on every continent. His sincere and enthusiastic clinic precedes the demonstration of golf wizardry. Camera fans should bring plenty of film and photograph this amazing and talented young man.

While the first half of his one hour show is a clinic, the satire and comic description of the antics seen on golf courses will bring laughter from everyone. The trick shots are hit long and true—all from one spot so the audience doesn't have to walk. Recently returning from a globe circling tour with his father, Paul Hahn, young Hahn gave the international set a look at his fantastic skill in twenty different countries in 90 days. He pilots the Piper Aztec as well as his dad and hits the ball farther. Proud pop says his son can outfit most tour players. With other golf clubs he plays straight shots and with straight clubs he hits magic shots.

Millions have seen young Hahn on TV programs and his fan list is growing daily. Traveling coast to coast and border to border, Paul Hahn Jr. brings to local fans a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to be amused, amazed and entertained.

His charming manner has endeared him to millions and non-golfers as well as links buffs will enjoy his exhibition.

Trevino Tops the Field In Jacksonville Play

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Lee Trevino sang a song about "Arnie" and entertained with Mexican American stories. It was easy to tell he shot a good score in the first round of the $125,000 Greater Jacksonville Open Golf Tournament Thursday.

But the six under par 66 Trevino carried into today's second round had to share first place with a similar score by the lone amateur in the field, home town boy Steve Melnyk.

Both burned up the front nine of the 6,433 yard Hidden Hills course in 30 strokes and both cogged the 325-yard fifth hole. But they each settled for par 36 on the tougher back nine.

"Every putt I had on the front nine the grain was with me," Trevino explained. "I had the ball just as close on the back nine but the grain was against me. I had to guess the grain every time."

But he said his putting was better than he has been and credited the fact that he has played two consecutive tournaments for the first time this year, because of time he had taken out to be with his mother who has cancer.

"I drove the ball erratically," Melnyk, the 24-year-old former national amateur champion said, "but I kept it in play when I had to."

Player called his 70 "a good score here, but it was unfavorable for me to par two of the par 3s because the wind was with me on both. And I missed a two-foot putt," he added.

"I was catching the ball solid and I'm not concerned about my putting though I didn't shoot a good round," said Palmer, leading money winner of the year and winner of last week's Citrus Open, after his 71.

Nicklaus, also with a 71, putted "I really can't figure why I didn't score better. Basically I played well and hit the putts well but didn't get much in the hole."

Among those at 69 were Tony Jacklin of England and Ray Floyd, both former winners of the Greater Jacksonville Open.

Trevino and Melnyk led a pair of little known pros by two strokes heading into the second round. Vic Loustalot and John Schlee opened with 68.

Behind them came 27 more below par 72, including the big name Gary Player, Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus.

Player called his 70 "a good score here, but it was unfavorable for me to par two of the par 3s because the wind was with me on both. And I missed a two-foot putt," he added.

"I was catching the ball solid and I'm not concerned about my putting though I didn't shoot a good round," said Palmer, leading money winner of the year and winner of last week's Citrus Open, after his 71.

Nicklaus, also with a 71, putted "I really can't figure why I didn't score better. Basically I played well and hit the putts well but didn't get much in the hole."

Among those at 69 were Tony Jacklin of England and Ray Floyd, both former winners of the Greater Jacksonville Open.

Questions and Answers

Q: Did Lawrence Welk have a heart attack within the past five years?—F.R., San Jose.

A: No, not that he admits to, anyway. While most insiders feel that the bandmaster has indeed slowed his pace, no one seems aware of any heart attack.

Q: Does Robert Cummings ever appear on TV anymore or has he retired?—J.L., New Brunswick, N.J.

A: Cummings appears on TV when there is a role suited for him. He hasn't retired. He'll be seen on an upcoming "Love, American Style."

Q: Is it true that Bobby Sherman has become a movie producer?—P.L., Binghamton, N.Y.

A: Almost, but not quite. Sherman owns a production company, Phase I, which will be producing a movie this year. Sherman will not hold the creative reins on the project. He's busy with concerts of his own.

Q: Why is Bonanza being filmed at Warner Brothers rather than at Paramount, where it used to be? How have they managed to make the set look the same and the sound effects the same?—H. L. Greer, S.C.

A: The story, as I understand it, is that Bonanza bosses weren't happy with Paramount's talk of selling off the studio property and in a move to prevent a mid-season uprooting, chose to move headquarters at the beginning of this season. Paramount asked too much money for the old sets, so new ones were constructed. Sound effects are sound effects, regardless of where the horses gallop or the guns are fired.

Q: A friend of mine sent me a clipping from Canada about a TV special on the life of Soviet super-spy Kim Philby. Do you know if this program will be aired in the U.S.? I knew Kim and would love to see it. Please don't use my name as I don't want reporters on my neck.—K.H., Geneva, Fla.

A: Hate to squelch your expectations of reporters hovering about, but the special was produced by the Canadian Broadcasting System for airing in that country. No U.S. network is aware of any possible airing for it here.

Q: Do you think Dinah Shore's show will be cancelled?—W.S., Ithaca, N.Y.

A: Someday, perhaps, but it isn't likely the axe will fall in the near future. Network executives are pleased with the daytime show. They foresee a long and happy life for it.

Q: Is Rob Reiner in the new "All in the Family" series any relation to Carl Reiner?—L.P., Rockford, Ill.

A: Yes, he's a chip off father Carl's old block.

Q: You said recently that ABC was considering taking "The Lawrence Welk Show" off the air and that disturbs me. His show is soothing in these times of rock and roll, wiggle and twist, bounce and sex. Here's one vote for Lawrence and I'm sure there are plenty of old-fashioned folks like us who still appreciate his music.—F.W., Tacoma.

A: For your sake, and his, I hope that those old-fashioned folks are plentiful enough to boost Welk's sagging ratings high enough to convince ABC that they are out there. Spread the word.

If you have a question on any TV program or actor, send it to TV Time Answer Girl, in care of this newspaper. Questions of general interest will be answered in this column. Excuse me, the answer girl hasn't time to write letters.

'Diary Of A Mad Housewife'

"Midnight Cowboy," nominee for three Academy Awards, including best picture, is showing through Sunday at the Sanford Plaza Rocking Chair Theatre. It is rated "R."

"Dr. Doolittle" will be showing in special matinees at 12:30 and 2:45 p. m. Saturday and Sunday.

Carrie Snodgrass, nominated for best actress in "Diary of a Mad Housewife," is starred in that R-rated movie Sunday through Wednesday at the Plaza.

In "Midnight Cowboy," Dustin Hoffman's first film since "The Graduate" catapulted him to stardom and an Academy Award nomination, the versatile young actor demonstrates his extraordinary range by portraying a character who is the exact antithesis of the clean-cut college graduate with whom he has been identified.

Although Hoffman achieved "overnight" fame for his performance in "The Graduate," he had previously won critical acclaim for his acting on stage in New York. "Journey of the Fifth Horse" won him an "Obie" Award and "Eh" brought him to the attention of Mike Nichols, who cast him as Benjamin in "The Graduate."

His portrayal of Ratso, in "Midnight Cowboy" calls for a seedy, scheming con man.

Hoffman rallied to the role. A dedicated actor who has always preferred character parts to star-stereotypes, Hoffman is now in the unique position of being able to combine both characterization and stardom, choosing his roles carefully.

Jon Voight co-stars with him in "Midnight Cowboy," which was produced by Jerome Hellman and directed by John Schlesinger.

PAULA Prentiss and Elliott Gould in a scene from "Move" in color opening Sunday at the Movieland Drive-In Theatre for a three-day showing.

'MOVE' Is Sexy Comedy Slated At Movieland

Elliott Gould, whose popularity has been ascending with increasing brilliance recently, heads the cast of "MOVE," a comedy from the 20th Century-Fox opening Sunday at the Movieland Drive-In. The Pandro S. Berman-Stuart Rosenberg production also stars Paula Prentiss and Genevieve Waite.

"MOVE" is a sexy, imaginative comedy, interweaving fact and fantasy in such a way that no one can say with certainty that really happened and what did not. Basically, it is the story of an unsuccessful playwright whose failure is destroying his relationship with his wife and leads him to to fan- cial, often erotic, and anti-social conduct.

Gould will be remembered for his outstanding performance as one of the three very individualistic surgeons in 20th Century - Fox recent hit, "M*A*S*H."

Filed in Panavision and De Luxe Color on location in New York, "MOVE" is based on the novel by Joel Lieber with a screenplay by Lieber and Stanley Hart.

ELKE SOMMER and Peter Bonerz star in "Beside Manor," a series that may add a little sex to television.

By DICK KLEINER
HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — This television season, CBS' All in Family gave the medium some courage. Next television season, a show called Beside Manor may come along and give it sex. Nothing pornographic, of course. But Elke Sommer in a filmly nightgown is a far cry from Marshal Dillon. Her show — and she says it's already sold — is a situation comedy but there's a difference, and the difference is simply that the leading lady is a sexpot.

The situation, as Elke explains it, is that there is "a beautiful girl who marries a schlumpy guy and nobody can understand it. They don't realize that maybe she loves him. Kay Medford plays his mother, Paul Petersen his brother and Peter Bonerz is the husband."

Fred Gwynne was originally cast as the husband, but bowed out. Elke says "the devil talked to him or his microscope was wrong or something."

She has never done a TV series, of course, and she's so naive about the mechanics of series that she wonders if they use the same director for every episode. (They don't.) But she isn't naive about herself. She understands that her looks have a lot to do with her success, and there's something else.

"My accent," she says. "If I didn't have an accent, I wouldn't have a series."

She also has courage. We talked about the curious fact that many German actors, since World War II, have claimed to be Austrian or Swiss.

"I am German," she says, "and I play a German girl on the show. I think it's foolish of people like Max Schell to say they are Austrian. I'm the only German to make it in Hollywood since Dietrich. Maybe I'd be bigger if I said I was Swedish, but I can't do that."

Anyway, speaking for all American boys, let's hope Beside Manor sells. It may not be any good, but turn off the sound and just look at Elke. We'll all have our own private Mission: Impossible.

By KATHY NIBLACK

Well, fancy meeting you here! How are you these days? Me? Oh, I'm fine! It's great to see you again. Hope this has been a good week for you!

Hey, gang, if you get the chance—try to go over to "take in" the Winter Park Sidewalk Art Festival either today, tomorrow or Sunday. Don't miss this opportunity to soak up so much "culture" at one time!

The Student Government and Inter-Club Council of SEMINOLE HIGH will be sponsoring two different car washes tomorrow from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. One will be held at Witt's Amoco Station on the corner of Sanford and 25th; the other will be held at Leonard's Shell Station on the corner of 25th and Park. Tickets were sold in advance by members of Student Government. All proceeds from the car washes will go towards the financing of "Fun Night," which is coming up on Wednesday.

Things are really popping out at SEMINOLE JUNIOR College these days. To begin with, last week was "Soul Week" sponsored by Pi Kappa Soul fraternity. The highlight of this week, which featured several noted speakers from the black community, was a talk by Rev. Joseph

Smith on "Black Theology and the Civil Rights Movement." Sounds like Pi Kappa Soul is really "with it!"

Student Elections out at SJC will be held on Wednesday, March 24, with run-offs slated for Friday, March 26. Let's get out and vote, all our SJC students!

SJC will sponsor an International Kite Flying Contest on April 9, so if flying kites is your bag—then that's the time to do it!

All you American Literature buffs should plan to be out at SJC on Monday night, when the Student Government Association and Dave Ehlers (sponsor of SJC's Drama Club) present "The World of Carl Sandburg." The program, which includes poetry and films, will be put on by the University of West Florida's drama department. The program begins at 7:30 p. m. in the lobby.

The annual Milwee Middle School PTA Auction will begin tomorrow afternoon at 3 p. m. in the school gym. Why don't you drop by?

It's that horrible, horrible time of the year again out at FLORIDA TECHNOLOGICAL UNIVERSITY — "Final Exam Week" and Final Grades time!

It's also graduation time again, and 121 students will receive degrees at Commencement Exercises which will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Naval Training Center in Orlando. The Commencement Address will be given by Dr. Albert T. Craig, Professor of Education at FTU. Congratulations, graduates! It must be nice!

The Science Auditorium was jam-packed last Friday night for the performance of a "Live Concert" by poet Edmund Skellings. Skellings is called an "electronic poet," and his poems are accompanied by lights and rock music.

Everyone everywhere is excited about the "Lettermen" concert coming up next Wednesday, March 31. Admission is free to FTU students, but they must obtain tickets, which are obtainable in the Village Center Office on March 29, 30, and 31. The concert will take place at 8:30 p. m. in the Orlando Municipal Auditorium, and is sponsored by the FTU Student Government and The Village Center.

The American Legion Auxiliary, Old Glory Unit 183, Altamonte Springs, has selected Deborah Grile of Casselberry to represent the unit at the Girl State session in Tallahassee July 29. Alternate is Kathy Merritt. Both girls are juniors at LYMAN HIGH.

Several local students will be receiving degrees from the UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA in commencement exercises tomorrow.

Antonio Lima of Sanford will be receiving a Master of Education degree. Charles J. Pula of Oviedo will be receiving a Bachelor of Science in Recreation Degree (that's P.E.) and William Seacrest of Oviedo will be receiving a Juris Doctor Degree in Law.

Bands from OVIEDO, SEMINOLE HIGH, AND LYMAN HIGH will join other bands in a District Band Contest at OVIEDO HIGH tomorrow. Good luck to all bands involved.

On Saturday, March 6, 29 SEMINOLE HIGH Band members participated in the District V Solo and Ensemble Contest sponsored by the Florida Bandmasters Association at Seabreeze High School in Daytona Beach. Seven of the 16 events entered earned a rating of "Superior," seven earned an "Excellent," and two earned a rating of "Good."

Receiving a first division rating on solos were Joyce Coberly, flute; Lydia Lake, majorette; David Penick, trumpet and Bonnie Wieboldt, snare drum. The following students participating in ensembles received a first division rating: Lydia Lake, Louise Zeuli, Jorie Rumney, Liz Lachlara, and Sylvia Smith, majorettes; Karen Jones, Joyce Coberly, Jeanne Noll, and Gail Jackson, flutes; Eileen Sammet, Ginger Hodges, and Ruth Bresick, clarinets.

The entire Symphonic Band will perform at the district contest at Oviedo tomorrow.

That's all for this week. Let me hear from you—I'm lonely. Till we meet again—stay in love with the world!

Thought for the Week: "You and I cannot determine what other men shall think and say about us. We can only determine what they ought to think of us and say about us." from "Wings of Silver."

YOUTH BEAT

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

YOUTHBEAT FPA-STYLE—Back when gin was made in bathtubs and mobster machine guns were carried in violin cases, Franklin Pierce Adams was writing a New York newspaper column called "The Conning Tower"—in which he rarely wrote a line. He let his readers say it all for him, through contributions to the column. In the spirit of today's nostalgia movement, Youthbeat has decided to go back to the 1920s and follow the route of EPA: we'd like to know what you think about things. Send your thoughts (they don't have to be sweet, but we'd like them short) to Youthbeat, in care of this newspaper.

RAG BAG—The "lengthy" fashion war is still going on, with designers pulling hems down and hiking them up again. Brenda Ledbetter writes about the midi, maxi, hot pants rage: "I think the designers are trying to bring back the past. I have seen many pictures of the clothes of the 1920s, '30s, '40s and '50 — and that's the kind of clothes the designers are making. I don't like the midi, maxi or hot pants. If the designers have to invent something new, why can't it be new? These clothes now are of the past." Most designers, apparently, have run out of new things to do and are watching old movies for fashion ideas. But if you have some designs in mind, Brenda, send them along.

WHERE ARE THEY NOW?—Do you remember the rock team of Jan and Dean whose big hit singles were "Baby Talk" and "Little Old Lady from Pasadena"? Have you been wondering where they are now? Good, because we're going to tell you. Jan Berry is now a chief waiter at a restaurant in California. We haven't been able to locate Dean Torrence, though. Dean, if you're out there, let us know what you're up to.

GUITAR KINGS NAMED—Guitar Player Magazine, which calls itself the "magazine for professional and amateur guitarists," has just announced the winners in its second annual guitar players' poll. Winner in the rock category was Eric Clapton, with the late Jimi Hendrix and George Harrison not far behind. Best folk guitarist, according to Guitar Player readers, was Paul Simon, of Simon and Garfunkel. Second and third in this category are Bob Dylan and Richie Havens.

MORE McCARTNEY—Word is out that Paul McCartney's second solo album is now in the final process of being put together. It was recorded with tight security precautions, but engineers working on the sessions say that some of the tunes are heavily orchestrated and some good sidemen are used. Paul decided not to go it alone this time, it seems.

COLLEGE-BOUND NEWS—Many students start college with a vague idea of what they want to do when they "get out" without having any real experience in the field they want to go into. Beloit College in Beloit, Wis., has a new program for kids who'd rather test out their dreams before putting four years of study into them. Under the plan, called Option II, students can enroll in the college, then work in the field of their choice for one year before taking any courses. The college holds a five-day seminar for newly enrolled students to show them around campus and tell them about campus research facilities that they can use. Then it sets the students free in the "real world" for a year. College counselors give advice, but they don't place students, so you have to find your own job. The program sounds like a good idea to us and if you're interested, write or call the Office of Admissions at Beloit College, Beloit, Wis. 53511; (608) 365-2391.

41st Anniversary

LAKE MARY — Cub Scout Pack 242 held a Blue and Gold Banquet Thursday, Feb. 25, in honor of the Cub Scouts' 41st Anniversary. After the flag ceremony, conducted by Webelos Den 1, Harry Brown gave the invocation. Each den made table decorations using this month's theme of blue and gold. Den 1 won the "Cubby Award" for the best decorations.

Awards were presented to the following boys: Jonathan Owen, Willie Merckerson, Martin Wilbur, Ricky Byrd, Dale Stewart, Dale Jones, Mike Bartlett, Richard Holt, Scott McKee, Russ Sheizengerger, Doug Dugan, and Donald Faulkner.

Webelos Den 1 received 36 awards which were presented to the following: Larry Blythe, Bruce Dugan, Scott McKee, Johnny Ratliff, Jack Rumbaugh, Freddy Trammell, and Doug Vickers.

David Mosser received the highest award in Webelos, which is the "Arrow of Light." A fun filled evening was shared by all who attended.

Cabinet Salutes FTU

The Florida State Cabinet—has praised FTU for its part in the new aerospace retraining plan called RETRO — made clear their support of the program — and added their encouragement for its success.

The Cabinet at their regular session last week approved the resolution commending the presidents of the three central Florida educational institutions for putting together the plan through which unemployed aerospace engineers and technicians will gain educational skills to fit them for using their basic knowledge and talents in the fight against pollution.

The three educational institutions taking part in the RETRO plan are: Florida Technological University in Orlando; Florida Institute of Technology in Melbourne, and Brevard Community College in Cocoa.

Vital facts mentioned in the Cabinet resolution concerning the importance of the retraining program include:

- "the space industry has become an integral part of the economy of our State;
- "changes in that industry have made available a pool of engineering talent;
- "efforts to utilize that talent to the best advantage of the individuals involved and the State as a whole are worthy of the highest commendation and support.

Prepare, Plan For New Lawn

By DAVID DeYOLL
Extension Agent

Planning and preparation — those are the keys to remember when building a new lawn. One of the first decisions you must make is the type of lawn grass to plant. This is important because the type you ultimately choose will have a bearing on the amount of time you'll need to spend to insure good results.

Cost of establishing one type of lawn over another should also be considered since there are differences.

Another point to keep in mind as you plan-test show that lawn grasses vary widely in their ability to stand up under Florida's growing conditions. In this area St. Augustine Bahia is best. Once the type of lawn has been selected, you're ready to prepare your yard. This can be done in 3 steps: 1. Pick up and discard all trash which may have accumulated in the yard. 2. Level and grade the area to be planted. 3. Add and mix any soil additives or amendments such as peat, muck or colloidal phosphate.

Remove all trash such as rocks, sticks, lumber, chunks of concrete and other foreign material before grading and preparing the soil. You should completely soak those areas where you've filled with dirt, especially around the foundations. This is done to settle the ground.

There are several factors you ought to consider as you proceed. Lawns should be graded "to slope away" from the house so water will drain away from it. Tests show a gentle slope of one to five feet every 10 feet is best for adequate drainage. But steep slopes should be avoided since they are harder to establish and maintain.

All construction should be completed before you begin the actual planting of the lawn. This includes such things as walks, driveways, fences, walls, planters, patios and ponds. Undeground irrigation is the next choice. If "yes" is the answer, then its installation should be considered after the lawn area is graded. A permanent system is more convenient and saves labor. However, there is the added cost to keep in mind.

The best soil is always the top few inches. If extensive grading is necessary, the topsoil should be removed and replaced after the grade has been determined. If high quality topsoil is not available either on the building site or close enough to be economically hauled, the best approach is to improve what you have.

After picking the soil amendments, to use, spread them evenly over the lawn site and completely mix to a depth of four to six inches.

More Timber Grown Than Cut In Florida

By FRANK JASA

County Agricultural Agent

A report just released by the U.S. Forest Service provides a wealth of information concerning the timber resources in Central Florida counties. Titled "Forest Statistics for Central Florida in 1970," this publication points out graphically the changes which have occurred in this area since the last survey was made some 10 years ago.

Noteworthy is the fact that central Florida forests were producing more timber than was being removed, with net annual growth in 1969 alone exceeding harvest by 26 million cubic feet.

This happened within a shrinking forest area which experienced a ten-year commercial forest land loss of 2,253,700 acres to other land uses. Included were 1,700,000 acres of non-stocked forest which were converted to natural rangeland. This loss was the product of large scale urbanization and rapidly changing land use patterns.

However, the remaining forest lands — 727,500 acres — produced more annual timber growth than was removed with land clearing accounting for 80 per cent and commercial logging 20 per cent of the removal. According to this report, Seminole County presently has slightly over 100,000 acres of commercial forest land which is a few thousand acres more than the remaining 20 per cent owned by corporations.

This statistical report along with reports on the remainder of the state are available from the Florida Division of Forestry.

Look At Home Sewing

By LOUISE L. GILL
Home Economics Agent

A Look at Home Sewing It started with Eve. Genesis III:7 tells us . . . "And they sewed fig leaves together and made themselves aprons." And home sewing has been going strong ever since. All clothing was made at home until the Civil War uniform factories proved the practicality of assembly line men's wear. Women continued to sew for themselves, however, even though the chore had developed the stigma of poverty. Business was so bad during the prosperous 20s that Joseph Shapito had to resurrect a dying industry when he founded the Simplicity Pattern Co. in 1927. Thanks to Simplicity's educational program, home sewing blossomed, but even that could not stem the new tide of prosperity, and the business hit an all-time low in 1952. However, it continued to climb upward from there, and has been growing wildly ever since.

As of 1970, the home sewing market is the one bright spot in a depressed soft goods area, and is one of the 10 fastest growing businesses in the country. Although Earle K. Angstadt, president of McCall's, says only, "I'm tremendously excited by the vitality of this rapidly expanding industry," some people in the industry think it may rate as high as number two, surpassed only by the liquor industry.

Why the sudden upsurge? It can only be linked to a great many reasons, including the present economy. But the real excitement in the area is its transformation from an economy-based chore to a pleasure-based hobby with a strong emphasis on fashion. And the credit goes to the young. Home sewing long has been considered an old-lady task, but present statistics show that most home sewers are in the 18-30 bracket, with a median age of 23. Compare that to the average of 47 just a few years ago. A recent survey by Seventeen magazine discovered that sewing is the number one hobby among teenagers, and that 25 per cent of them own their own personal sewing machines. Even more startling is a recent statistic that claims there are more sewing machines in American homes than there are bathtubs. All in all, it adds up to a grand total of 42-44 million home sewers in this country, and some statisticians claim it's growing closer to 50 million.

Knowles To Quit Industrial Board

Sanford City Manager W. E. Knowles will offer his resignation from the Sanford Industrial Commission (SIC) at tonight's Sanford City Commission meeting.

This was disclosed today to The Herald by Knowles, who said his present term on the city's industry recruiting board still has two years to run. Knowles has been on the SIC for two years since being appointed, not as city manager, but as a Sanford resident.

The city manager stated he had written each commissioner a letter advising him of his intention but offered no explanation for his action.

The SIC board now numbers seven but, with Knowles departing, it is expected the City Commission will ask for names of possible replacements to consider at the next commission meeting.

Other agenda items tonight are a scheduled appearance before the commission of School Supt. John Ansel and A. F. Koeth, County School Board chairman, to inquire of the commission what plans it has for the Sanford Municipal Stadium, which is presently leased to the School Board for one year with a 23-year option.

The Seminole High Boosters Club has been asking the School Board to update the stadium for use by the high school for its athletic teams.

School Board has been told by its attorney, Douglas Stenstrom, that expansions asked by the boosters cannot be made under the present lease since the state requires a longer lease or the ownership of the property before approving expenditures for stadium renovations.

I really haven't had too much to say about Cassius or Spiro, here-of-late.

One thing is certain, though, I refuse to become a part of nor believe some of our British friends who are expressing an opinion that Cassius just may have been under the influence of a drug prior to his fight with Frazier.

A draft dodger I believe him to be . . . but a user of drugs just doesn't seem to be his cup of tea . . . or grass, for that matter.

So, in this particular case, I'm in Clay's corner . . . which brings us right around to Spiro — "the voice of the Nixon administration!"

How does it go . . . "he doeth protest too loudly" . . . or some such phrase. He first attacks the news media generally . . . and the majority of the men on the street are proud that someone finally got the courage to "lay it on the line."

After the furor died down, the public started to realize that perhaps there just was an ounce or two of truth in what was being said by the media of the administration. . . .

And then when CBS-TV came thru with their one-hour program on "The Selling of the Pentagon," I personally wrote the following day, that here at last we were finding out what the meaning of the truth really was . . . and who was "manufacturing" the facts. Was it Washington or was it the news media? . . .

Unfortunately, some of you didn't get to see the program. It was repeated . . . and again gained a very favorable response from the viewing public. So much so that now we have both Mr. Agnew and the Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird coming out to attack the veracity of the CBS. . . .

The television folks couldn't have responded more magnificently . . . they didn't say anything other than the show will be shown again . . . tomorrow night.

Be sure and watch it . . . perhaps you'll better appreciate why some of those stories coming out of the Indo-China War just have to be questioned.

When we have our own helicopter pilots being interviewed as they returned from the fighting area, and were able to see literally thousands upon thousands of South Vietnamese in full retreat . . . only to have the "wheels" in Washington type out propaganda that it was an "orderly withdrawal" well, that's just a little too much for me to swallow.

Dock Arbitration Settlement Is Sought In Harbor Dispute

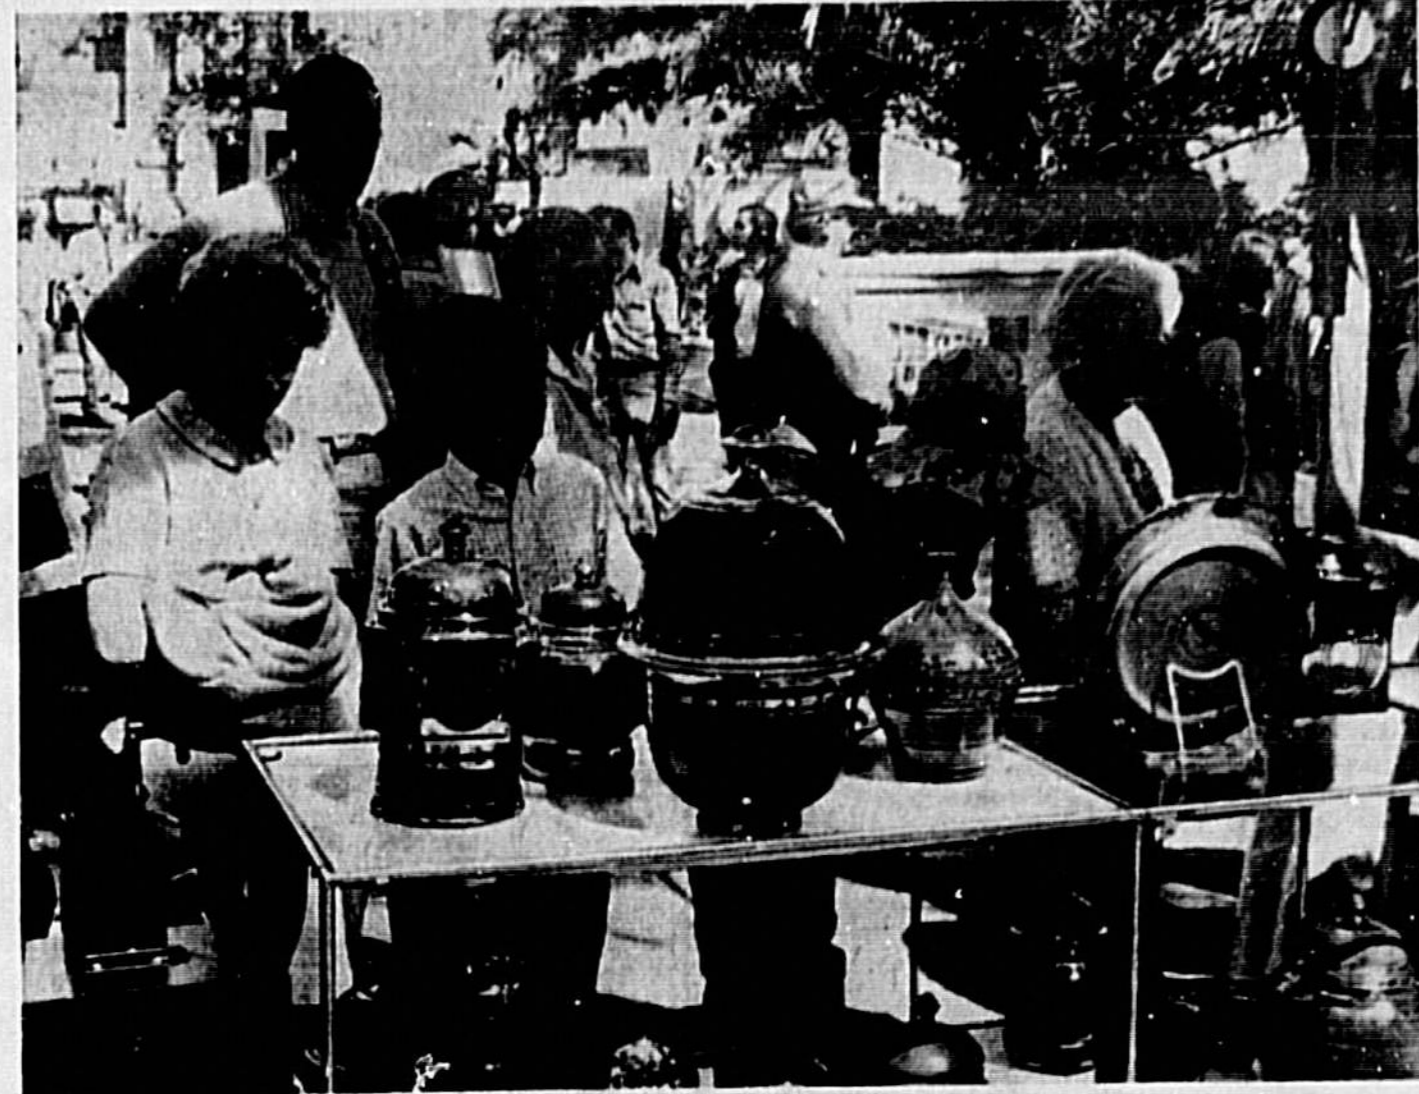

By BILL SCOTT

A representative of the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce bankers committee is scheduled to appear at tonight's Sanford City Commission meeting to ask the commission to consider binding arbitration as a means of settling the dispute over responsibility of raising the marina's sunken docks. City Manager W. E. Knowles said the request from the Chamber came by letter from H. H. Hodges, bankers chairman.

The west section of the city-owned lakefront facility sank a year ago and since then a controversy has raged between city officials and the lessee's parent company over who is responsible under the contract to replace the attraction. Monroe Harbour, Inc., leased the dock facilities from the city and is charged with maintaining and operating them in accordance with the contract but a court decision has been sought in a suit instituted by Colia Boats, Inc., parent firm of the lessee, to determine if the city or Monroe Harbour, Inc., is liable under terms of the contract to replace that portion now underwater.

Cobia President Richard D. Dunning has indicated to John A. Spolski, Sanford Herald associate editor, and Sanford Mayor Ed. B. Moore that his company would be willing to consider arbitrating the dispute in lieu of court action in an effort to restore the docks sooner than the court decision and possible resulting appeals can effect a solution. Hodges' committee is concerned with having the attraction restored in the face of the coming Walt Disney World, which is scheduled to open just 30 miles away in October.

The committee also asked that an agreement should be made to hold each party harmless when a decision has been reached by either the courts or arbitration. Hodges' letter indicates that local banks have expressed willingness to provide financing of the dock repairs upon acceptance of the terms by both parties.

Sylvia Powell Acquitted

By MARION BETHEA

Sylvia T. Powell was acquitted by a 12-man Circuit Court jury Saturday of first degree murder charges in the love triangle slaying of her 32-year-old husband, Maynard Powell. The jury deliberated for 11 hours, returning its verdict shortly after 4 a.m. Court attaches indicated that this was the most lengthy deliberation in recent court history.

Immediately following the verdict, Mrs. Powell was ordered released by Judge Boger Dykes from Seminole County jail where she has been incarcerated since her arrest in January.

The courtroom was filled to capacity during the last day of the trial, and most of the spectators remained throughout the long night.

The defense presented no witnesses, or did the defendant take the stand. Henry Joyce, convicted in the slaying, was brought from Raiford to testify.

FOLKSY DEMEANOR

Defense Attorney Wendell Harris, in his summation, continued to display the "folksy" demeanor similar to Will Rogers. He said that the prosecution had taken letters and statements by the defendant out of context, and that the only crime of which Mrs. Powell was guilty was that of infidelity.

He alluded to the fact that the defendant went to her home the Saturday following the murder, since she did not think Joyce was serious in his avowed intention to kill Powell. She went to her home, Harris said, to straighten out affairs with her husband as she said she would. When she arrived, she found if, but did not do so on the advice of his attorney, Ned Julian Jr. Julian has filed an appeal in the Joyce case.

Don Brumley 'Subs' As Sheriff's Deputy

Former Casselberry Police Chief Don Brumley is now working for the Seminole County sheriff's department — at least, he will be working until the end of the month, Sheriff John Polk advises.

Brumley resigned Feb. 26 from his position as Casselberry police chief after a political hassle with Mayor Curtis Blow, who tried without City Council backing for over a year to fire Brumley.

Sheriff Polk said today that Brumley would be serving legal papers in place of Curtis Campbell, county deputy, who is recovering after a Friday encounter with a poultry farmer over the serving of a writ to take property under lien.

Campbell was involved in an altercation over a truck with Kenneth Snyder, poultry farm operator. Snyder was charged with leaving the scene of an accident and assault with a deadly weapon in that he is accused of driving his truck into a vehicle operated by Campbell.

Brumley has another position which will open April 1, it was learned.

Both McNealy and Boshard were jailed in lieu of $5,000 bond each and Boshard's car was impounded, according to the report.
