Sanford's new city manager brings legal, military background to the job

SANFORD - City Commission voted 4-1 Friday night to hire Al Grieshaber, Jr., of Albany, Ga., as Sanford's next city manager.

"I'm as excited as the rest of the Commission to bring him on board," said Mayor Brady Lessard. "I think we've brought in a city manager that will take this city to the final level. I join the community in welcoming the colonel to Sanford."

Grieshaber, who tentatively plans to begin his role as city manager Aug. 4, replaces Tony Vanderworp, who resigned in February. "He thinks outside the box and seems to embrace accountability," said Commissioner Velma Williams. "He convinced me he can make difficult decisions. "He realizes and appreciates community involvement," she added. "All four would have been great city managers, but I voted my conscious." Grieshaber is currently the city attorney for Albany, Ga., and retired from the U.S. Marine Corps as a lieutenant colonel.

Williams admits she had reservations about hiring a city attorney for the city manager position, but says that Grieshaber is the best individual for the job.

"When I come down here, I won't be the city attorney, I can assure you," said Grieshaber. "I see a lot of great assets in

Geneva community plans Fourth of July celebration

The Geneva community is celebrating the Fourth of July with its usual family fun activities.

The parade gathers at the community's First Baptist Church and begins marching at 10:30 a.m. Following the Parade, people gather at the Geneva Community Center for a Fourth of July program that includes music, food, and games. Also included are pony rides and the ever-popular dunk tank.

Dwayne Johnson and Ed Bennett, leaders of Geneva Scout Troop No. 837, have agreed to a Flag Retirement ceremony, conducted by the troop. Proper disposal of a worn flag is conducted by burning. The ceremony is solemn and inspiring. Bring your worn flag to the Community Building and leave it at the Citizen's Association Membership table.

For information about riding your horse in the parade, call Marie Tatum at 407-349-2288. For information about marching in the parade or any other activities, call Lorraine Whiting, coordinator, at 407-349-5495.

This year's Fourth of July theme is "We Salute our Military."

Academy students learn early lessons in etiquette

By Michelle Jorta Managing Editor

Some people may not realize there's a proper way to place a napkin in their lap while eating. For those who aren't familiar with this simple etiquette "how to," don't fret. Just find a student from Lake Mary's Montessori Academy and ask them about manners that matter.

The academy's young pre-school students are currently learning about modern manners in a series of mini-etiquette camps taught by Marilee McKee, national etiquette columnist, certified etiquette consultant and founder of the Protocol School of Orlando. From proper dining skills to how to behave at a party, the 4- and 5-year-olds are building a foundation for good character.

"It's wonderful to learn about manners when you are young so you don't end up in an etiquette class when you are 35," McKee said. "Etiquette is the core building block of character."

According to McKee, who hosts "Monday Morning Manners with Marilee" on Z88.3 FM, good manners are relevant in everyday life, not just formal occasions, despite the popular myth that etiquette is about putting on airs or a set of outdated, rigid rules. In today's hectic and fast-paced society, many people may think that proper etiquette is a

County's planning process may go online

By Jamie J. Anderson-Potter Staff Writer

SANFORD - Seminole County Commissioners will vote Tuesday on whether to hire the University of Central Florida to create an online program to assist residents in accessing parcel-based government information.

If approved, work on the online project, known as the Planning and Development Integrated Government Services System, would begin immediately.

The online service will allow users to submit and view the status of permits, gather information about parcels and perform other tasks related to planning and development, making the overall process faster and more efficient.

Due to the extensive amount of work involved in facilitating the program, the project will be divided into five phases. Completion of the entire system should take two years.

If approved, Commission will enter into an agreement for completion of phase one and two only, which includes the documentation of business processes and a technical evaluation. During this time, an audit of the county systems, a comprehensive assessment of customer service, and a redesign of planning and development work flow and business processes will be done.

These two phases make up 30 percent of the overall project and will cost an estimated $150,000, which is currently available within existing account lines. Completion of this section will take approximately 12 months.

The partnership will benefit several departments within Seminole County, and will involve the property appraiser, the East Central Florida Regional Planning Council, and UCF's colleges of engineering and computer science, and health and public affairs.

This item was originally brought before Commission in mid May at which time staff was directed to proceed with contract negotiations.

In other news, Commission will:

- Receive a briefing from the Metro Orlando Economic Development Commission (EDC) regarding current projects and events.
- Vote on whether to appoint

Everyday life inspires Lake Mary man's poetry

By Sarah Booles Herald Intern

LAKE MARY - Experience can bring out the best in a poet, and local poet J.P. Stevens is no exception.

Stevens, who lives in Lake Mary, began writing poems when he was in California in 1962. He was counseling people on Skid Row, and they inspired him. He has been writing poetry ever since. When he married his wife Mildred, she became his writing partner.

"I just edit," Mildred said humbly. "Well, I guess I do have a little input."

The two met through a third party. While volunteering at the Miami-Dade area Chamber of Commerce, Mildred came into contact with J.P.'s sister, who introduced her to J.P. They were married in 1984.

Although they have entirely different histories, they seem to make the perfect team and couple. J.P. was born in Georgia but was quick to point out that he really grew up in Sanford.

"This is my home," he said. Mildred was born in Kentucky and moved to the area in 1975.

Before retiring in 1975, J.P. was a construction supervisor. Mildred worked as the supervisor of admissions at Miami-Dade Community College.

"I loved working with the young people...most of the time,"

Shiloh brings country, pop mix to Sanford

By Jamie J. Anderson-Potter Staff Writer

SANFORD - The members of the up-and-coming country group Shiloh may not look country, but looks can be deceiving.

The self-proclaimed pop-country group says, a love for the country music sound is why they chose to try their hand in the music industry.

"It can be a little more lyrically real and in touch with the listeners' feelings," said Jason Minor, who along with the other members of Shiloh, will perform tonight at the Barn in Sanford. "We are not five George Jones on stage, but we also won't be 'Nsync or the Backstreet Boys. We're the happy medium. Not that those guys aren't successful and great in their own rights, it's just not us."

When asked about the main difference between Shiloh and the Backstreet Boys, Minor jokingly admitted, "we can't dance that well."

Another major difference between the two groups is that Shiloh, comprised of Minor (vocals), Brian White (vocals, harmonica), Joe Zampelli (vocals), Jason Canon (vocals, guitar) and Jason Fitz (vocals, violin), was not manufactured, or put together by a talent scout. The quintet knew each other for several years before embarking on a music career together.

In fact, Minor, Zampelli and Fitz attended high school together while Minor and Canon performed on The New Mickey Mouse Club television show during the Britney Spears and Christina Aguilera era.

SEMINOLE SUMMARY

A GLANCE AROUND OUR COUNTY

Editor's note: No, it's not trick photography. That fellow in the picture by The Clock is Barry Troutman. I finally found a sucker, er, loyal reader, who would pay for a chance to write my column. Actually, Barry was the highest bidder at the Sanford Historic Trust's silent auction and reverse raffle held a couple of weeks ago. I plan on making this a yearly donation, so if there are any aspiring columnists out there (i.e. Carey "I.B." Ferrell), make sure you attend next year's auction to bid on a chance to become The Clock Keeper for a week.

In the coming weeks the Sanford City Commission will review the codes which set building and occupancy standards for Sanford's Historic District. Changes proposed by the Historic Preservation Board and recommended to the commission by the Planning and Zoning Board refine some definitions and standards but leave the codes pretty much as they were written 10 years ago.

While some residents complain about the approval process for paint colors, fencing and exterior changes, the fact is that many approvals are done administratively without appearance before the HPB. What many do not realize is that these codes have revitalized a declining neighborhood.

In the early '90s, renovating a house in the new Historic District was a bold investment. Nothing kept a neighboring property owner from subdividing a house and creating a weekly rental unit. Vacant houses became crack houses and the real estate paradigm was "rent as many apartments as you could and minimize property improvement."

In 1992, a handful of Historic Trust Members commissioned noted Community Planner Andres Duany to study Sanford. The codes we have today, as well as the ideas for Riverwalk development, evolved from Duany's recommendations. With district support, Commissioner Lon Howell championed the codes through the City Commission. I don't believe Lon ever lost a vote on district issues.

The resulting changes have been remarkable as demonstrated at last Saturday's neighborhood birthday party for Barbie Bauman. The neighbors assembled at the Kahn residence, which when the codes were enacted was a cluster of four buildings with a total of 11 apartment units. Kuhn's have renovated three of the four buildings as their home and apartments for their daughters. With the girls gone the only renter is a local character named Ping (proving that one editor is worth at least 11 weekly renters).

Five years ago the party site was the weekly rallying point for Citizens on Patrol, a group of 40 or 50 neighbors who patrolled the streets 24/7 in an effort to reduce crime. We had trouble getting the Sanford police to attend those meetings. Ultimately, our efforts did less to reduce street crime than to illuminate Sanford's policing crisis. I'm pleased to report that Chief Brian Tooley and his wife, Mindy, were celebrating with our neighbors Saturday night. Chief Tooley and his "new police force" have made a tremendous difference for the district and the city in general.

Saturday night Larry Dale was on stage singing "Rocky Top" and County Commission Chairman Darryl McLain was chatting with neighbors. However, the remarkable fact was that all those present had not only invested their savings to improve at least one property within the District, but had also volunteered their time to make the district and Sanford a better place to live. All this not a result of tax dollars or tax incentives, but of private investment protected by a reasonable set of building preservation codes.

So as the city commissioners sit down to review proposed changes to the Historic Codes they should know above all else that the current codes have worked wonders for our community. With current codes in place, the future of the neighborhood remains bright, tax revenues are up in the district, and homeowners are enjoying annual double-digit percentage increases in property value. The desire for continued community improvement remains high among our neighbors who have demonstrated their willingness to back their dreams for the future of Sanford by volunteering to get the job done.

Construction at the Center

Construction continues on the new Seminole County Criminal Justice Center on North Bush Boulevard across from the Seminole County Public Safety Complex. The steel frame work is part of the early phase of construction that started during the winter of 2002. The building should be completed in summer 2004. The construction budget for the project is $44.7 million.

OPINION

Explain it to me

Directions that lack direction

People have occasionally asked me how I get my ideas for my columns. I'll tell you where this one came from. I was watching a TV show on the history of the Tim Allen show "Home Improvement." I have often felt aligned to the concept of the scripts on the show — namely where he couldn't do things right, and ended up in a disaster. Being a man, I (as probably most of you men) seldom read directions on how to assemble or operate equipment. But even when I do — I have serious problems.

Specifically in the assembly of something you have purchased — the assembly directions have been written by someone who knows what they are talking about. They write in terms that other experts in such assembly would know without batting an eye lash. But I DON'T know what they know — and often goof.

(Change of subject momentarily) In my 10 years in radio broadcasting and more than 25 years in television, with six years as main anchor of WESH-TV news, I always, and I say ALWAYS wrote and presented my news stories in terms anyone could understand. I imagined a specific person who didn't have an education beyond high school, listening to my newscasts. I used words he could understand. It was my opinion that if he could get the gist of what I was saying, everyone else could as well.

(Back to the subject.) Now I read directions on how to assemble something. It says "Attach unit A to unit B using 3 inch screws." But nowhere in the directions does it say what unit A or B is. You apparently have to guess. No, it isn't my age. I've had some of my family, in their 30's, try to assemble something only to find out the same problems.

Take computers as another example. I've had "Senior" lessons on computer operation at Seminole Community College. I was taught how to turn the computer on — but they weren't using the same computer I had and the nomenclature was completely different. They were wasted classes as far as I'm concerned.

Who do you contact when the directions or operations manuals don't make sense? There is NO ONE. So we try trial-and-error, ending up with so much error that the original operation is completely wiped out.

While I would hope to find this column as a solution — I'm afraid it is impossible. The companies which produce "Some Assembly Required" items, computers, or many other items, would benefit by explaining things in common terms, they won't. They will continue to have EXPERTS tell us how to do things, in terms only they would know. "Attach the fratastat to the connectualtion connection, and insert the appropriate flextan to the connution." What the heck does that mean?

Want to establish a business? Set up a company which answers common and ordinary questions about something — and you'll make a fortune.

Or better yet (and I doubt this will ever happen) issue an instruction manual that is able to be read and understood by the common man (or woman) to the point where it is usable and operational.

I don't know why I've even bothered writing this — no one will change. No one is going to write instructions for the average person. (like my comments on the air to the "average person"). Oh well, let's call on our children and grandchildren. They probably will know what to do. Us folks who are older just don't have it any more. Yet people keep building and selling things to us, expecting us to know the answer.

Let's face it people, not everyone who buys your product is a teenager anymore.

Gabal seeks sponsors for his patriotic mission

To the editor: I went recently to several cities and states collecting signatures and messages in support of our American troops and the president's decision to send them to Iraq. I did it as a disabled veteran and an American citizen who loves and cares for this country and its people, especially for the sake of our children's future. In my mission, I collected nearly 3,000 signatures and beautiful messages from adults and children as well.

During my journey, I found that most American citizens were eager to join me in this recognition to our soldiers that so bravely defend our nation from evil and fight for our freedom. In addition, to the figure of our honorable president who makes such difficult decisions on our behalf. As a religious, good, humanitarian person that he is, I can imagine how many nights he agonized over such an idea.

At the present, I am embarked in a new mission, to put all those beautiful messages and signatures in form of a book. The edition is going to be of an amount of 3,000 that are going to be giving free to the soldiers posted in the area of turmoil before their commander in chief called off for the critical part of the war.

The payment for the edition is going to be paid with donations from sponsors. There is not going to be a financial gain. The amount agreed for each book that should cover the expenses is set for $1.50. There are going to be two kinds of sponsors, personal and corporate. The person who pays for more than 50 books ($75.00) which is the minimum accepted, will receive a limited edition's copy with his/her name printed. The corporation, business, person, institution, etc. that pays for a minimum of 1,000 copies ($1,500) in addition will receive an invitation to the act of presenting the original copies to the president of our country, Mr. George W. Bush, at the appointment's date.

At the present, the office of Mr. Thomas C. Greene is working on the registration of my foundation named "Citizens for an Even Better America for All." Once the name is registered, I will pass the information for the tax exception of the persons or entities that supported the project financially.

I hope that helping this mission will make you feel especially happy. Thanks very much and may God bless you plentiful. Yours in the American spirit, Sergio Gabal Lake Mary

Television: 'The great diminisher of our time'

WOODSTOCK, England — At a conference here earlier this month on the continuing decline of public trust in both government and the press, an impressive roundtable of British and American officials, scholars and journalists more or less agreed: The institutions that have traditionally told people what to do are in trouble in these days of greater individual access to information.

Television channels by the hundreds, 24/7 rolling news, the Internet, "bloggers" and all that not only are changing the way people learn but also the way they act. Information has been democratized. We have been empowered as individuals, but perhaps that means we have only won the power to confidently misunderstand the world around us.

Individual empowerment has reached the point that my country is now governed by people who believe, sincerely, that they have an individual, personal relationship with God. Why read the papers, ask questions, or even listen to other people when you can go directly to the Big Guy?

But there was one institution never mentioned in two days of conversation at Ditchley Park on governance by men and women who have been there and done that. Never mentioned. No one said a thing about the courts.

Why is that? The U.S. Supreme Court actually chose the current president of the United States in 2000. In Great Britain, the courts have the power (and use it) to determine whether or not newspapers and television can print or speak certain information; the country has censorship and libel laws far more powerful than anything in the United States.

My answer to my own question is this: The courts have maintained, even increased institutional power because they are not on television. The modern communications technologies are what has empowered individuals and small interest groups, while diminishing traditional concentrations of political power — but the courts have fought off the electronic files on the wall so far.

All of that, which I consider both interesting and significant, is prelude to a tremendous political battle on the American horizon. President Bush will almost certainly have the right and duty and power to select at least two new justices of the U.S. Supreme Court before the end of this year. The men or women he nominates and the Senate confirms will exercise almost unquestioned power over the way Americans live over the next 25 or so years.

Newspapers have just begun reporting how Washington is gearing up for the inevitable confirmation fights. Names are beginning to surface, some of them leaked by the White House to see how they are received — and whether anyone out there has any dirt on them. Whoever the president names will be scrubbed in acid baths of partisan investigation.

Groups such as the National Abortion Rights League and People for the American Way on the liberal side, and the Committee for Justice and the Heritage Foundation on the conservative side, have begun preparing for the philosophical and ideological battle that we will see on television. One of the ironies is that while the Supreme Court itself essentially ignores television and other electronic media, the confirmation hearings in the Senate will be televised spectacles of persuasion and evasion, innuendo and cross-examination.

We have been spared this spectacle for almost 10 years now. The last justice seated was Stephen Breyer, appointed by President Clinton in 1994. But it is taken for granted that Chief Justice William Rehnquist, who is 78 years old and was appointed to the court by President Nixon, then later named chief justice by President Reagan, intends to retire this year, perhaps as early as the end of this month. Justice Sandra Day O'Connor is 73 and has indicated she, too, is ready to retire. That would give President Bush two vacancies to fill with lifetime appointments, or, in effect, three appointments if he names a sitting justice as chief.

What happens next will be a test of our political maturity. It is a test we will almost certainly fail. The president can be expected to choose the most conservative justices he can find — at least that is what his conservative supporters and their constituencies expect — and Democrats in the Senate can be expected to oppose the first nominees with jungle ferocity, hoping that Bush will have to back off and name more moderate justices. Most everyone involved will be diminished by the struggle — because it will all be on television, the great diminisher of our time.

Police state tactics abandon principals of justice

The feds said they were sorry. And, heaven knows, that's a start. After harassing Evanville, Ind., restaurateur Tarek Albasti in the wake of 9-11 — taking him to jail, interrogating him, making his customers suspicious, and putting his name on a national "no-fly" list distributed to commercial carriers — the FBI apologized because Albasti has done nothing wrong.

As civil liberties advocates and government watchdogs look back at the powers wielded by federal agents following the terrorist attacks of Sept. 11, a picture emerges of a nation more than willing to abandon its principles of justice and fairness. Federal agents rounded up hundreds of Middle Eastern men and held them for weeks or months — even after the detainees had been cleared of links to terrorism.

And, as federal agents scoured the country pleading with patriotic citizens for tips that could lead them to terror suspects, other immigrants became victims of false reports by liars, con men, personal enemies, or law-abiding Americans who were just too quick to judge people who looked different.

Last year, after a Cartersville, Ga., nurse believed she overheard three men in a restaurant plotting a terrorist attack, a stretch of Florida highway was shut down for hours while law enforcement agents located the men and searched their cars. The men, who turned out to be students, were later released and cleared. Initially described, vaguely, as "Middle Eastern-looking," all three turned out to be U.S. citizens.

Albasti, too, was the victim of a false report, a man easily victimized because he is a Middle Eastern immigrant and Muslim. Albasti and several other Evanville Muslims were shackled, jailed and photographed as perps for broadcast news reports after a tipster turned their names over to the FBI.

Worse, Albasti and three others were put on a national registry as suspected terrorists — even though the FBI had quickly concluded they were not linked to terrorism. But as a result of the national crime notice, they found it difficult to rent apartments or get seats aboard commercial flights.

Last week, Thomas Fuentes, head of the Indianapolis FBI office, asked a federal judge to strike the names of Albasti and the others falsely accused from national crime records. And Fuentes apologized to the men. It was a long-overdue corrective that ought to help restore credibility to the federal pursuit of terrorist suspects.

It is easy enough to see how the sheer horror of the terrorist atrocities led to excesses by federal authorities. In the aftermath of the worst-ever attack on civilians on American soil, law enforcement agents and intelligence officials feared another attack might be imminent. They did whatever they believed necessary to stave off that threat.

But we've had months to calm down, to reassess, to conduct post-mortems of which investigative strategies worked and which didn't. Massive roundups of suspects based on little more than religion and skin color have not proved useful. Indeed, such tactics have made Muslim immigrants fearful and resentful — and less likely to cooperate with terror investigations.

Still, not everybody has gotten around to admitting that mistakes were made. John Ashcroft, who as U.S. attorney general supervises the FBI, concedes no errors or excess. Despite a scathing report by the U.S. Justice Department's inspector general noting the mistreatment of scores of immigrants, Ashcroft wouldn't budge.

Instead, he went to Congress to ask for yet more power to harass, to detain, to secretly pry into private lives. He would turn the United States into the sort of country Americans detest.

It's time to rein in Ashcroft and his police state tactics. Those methods don't work. Besides, they're un-American.

SANFORD — Despite popular belief, the college basketball season does not end in late March or early April. In fact, if you are going to be one of the best programs in America, the season never ends, it just changes characters. At Seminole Community College, men's head coach Stan Cromartie and his staff have been covering the bases in many different directions, and none of them actually have to do with coaching a game. The coaches have been helping gradu-

Week 2 of the Stan Cromartie/SCC Basketball Camp was another outstanding week with 91 campers in attendance, following Week 1 that drew 70 campers. The camp was also a "who's who" for local fans as several of the award winners carried famous monikers.

Among the winners were Darrius Gallagher, son of the former star point guard of the same name who led SCC to a 55-13 record and two third place finishes in the state tournament, and Lorne Merthle, youngest son of former SCC player and head coach Bernard Merthle.

Also being honored this week were brothers Phillip and Matt Pressey, sons of former NBA star and current Orlando Magic assistant coach Paul Pressey and sister of Lake Mary star Angie Pressey. Winning awards for Week 2 were:

Nextel to sponsor NASCAR Cup Series

From Staff Reports

Say goodbye to the NASCAR Winston Cup Series. And say hello to the NASCAR Nextel Cup Series.

The world of stock-car racing changed quickly and dramatically Thursday morning with the announcement that Nextel Communications Inc. of Reston, Va. will back NASCAR's top series for 10 years, starting in 2004.

The deal was announced amid smoke and laser lights in the NASDAQ building in Times Square. And it took less than an hour for NASCAR to proclaim that 33 years of Winston sponsorship was over, and that a new era of the sport had begun.

Nextel replaces R.J. Reynolds, whose Winston brand has become synonymous with NASCAR since it joined the sanctioning body in 1971. But in early February, RJR told NASCAR it wanted out of a five-year contract extension it signed last year. NASCAR started looking around, and four months later has a deal some estimate as high as $90 million a season.

WINGED SPRINTS WILL FLY AT NEW SMYRNA
The ever popular TBARA Winged Sprints will hit the 5/8 mile high banked New Smyrna Speedway tonight (Saturday) with plenty of high flying action for the fans.

Not only is the TBARA one of the most sought after traveling series in the state of Florida but also one of the fastest moving series. And they have the multi-talented "Wildchild" to flag them on their way and give the crowd a really good show.

Keith Butler leads the points for the TBARA Winged Sprints and will definitely be at New Smyrna along with his brother

Special to the Herald

The fishing in East Central Florida is heating up.

If you want some rod bending action take a little trip out of Port Canaveral. All you need to do is run out a few miles and locate bait pods to find tarpon, cobia and sharks.

The tarpon are following bait and are really attacking. Live pogies are the preferred bait. Usually you can cast net your own bait.

It is best to rig with heavy tackle such as a Shimano 6500 Baitrunner with 20-pound test main line and an 80-pound shock leader with a Daiichi 8/0 Bleeding Bait circle hook. One little trick that tarpon can't resist is to add two pogies on the hook so they fight each other. It is an awesome way to sight fish.

You will also find cobia and sharks in the bait pods. No matter which species you hook it will be a blast. Inshore fishing is heating up each day.

Tuesday was an exceptional day for redfish. While poling the Hell's Bay Guide 18 along the flat about 100 redfish tails were waving high. It was quite an awesome sight. My angler Paul Dobrow and I landed 9 out of 11 reds with the largest weighing 16-pounds. Thursday produced four more reds for my dad as we landed a 28-pound fish along with a few smaller fish.

The small trout have been starting to turn on and some GATOR trout are being landed. Next week should be real productive with the new moon. The best bait for trout continues to be the Rip Tide 3-inch Mullet and the Rip Tide 5-inch Flats Chub jerk bait. Hopefully the weather will straighten out for the weekend.

MARK ROBSON TO HEAD FWC MARINE FISHERIES

Mark Robson, 49, currently serving as the South Region director for the Florida Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission (FWC), based in West Palm Beach, will take over as head of the FWC Division of Marine Fisheries in Tallahassee Aug. 1.

FWC assistant executive director Vic Heller announced Robson's promotion. The Division of Marine Fisheries develops proposed regulatory and management options for FWC Commissioners to ensure long-term conservation of Florida's marine fishery resources.

The division director also serves as the agency's liaison to several federal agencies and represents Florida on the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council and South Atlantic Fishery Management Council, Heller said.

The division's 50 employees are involved in various programs and projects including: artificial reef development and deployment, monitoring marine fish populations, developing harvest regulations, public information.

Healthy Hearts in our Parks program kicks off

Special to the Herald

According to the American Heart Association, cardiovascular disease (CVD) is the number one killer in America and lack of physical activity is clearly to be a risk factor for coronary heart disease.

That is why the Casselberry Parks and Recreation Department and the American Heart Association are teaming up and presenting the Healthy Hearts in our Parks program.

Together, the two organizations will host monthly activities that promote healthy living in outdoor venues such as Secret Lake Park, Wirz Park and other Casselberry locations.

Casselberry Parks and Recreation Department and the American Heart Association are kicking off their partnership at Safety Day, a day focusing on various aspects of health and safety in a fun way.

Safety Day will be on Saturday, July 12th, from 2 p.m.-4 p.m. at Dew Drop Park. Dew Drop Park is located at 1309 Avalon Boulevard.

Activities will include bike activities, helmet safety, drown prevention tips, a jump rope contest sponsored by the American Heart Association, Kids ID from the Casselberry Police Department, fire prevention from the Casselberry Fire Department, kayak demonstrations from River Quest Kayaks, games and much more.

The Casselberry Parks and Recreation Department provides quality recreation, cultural activities and facilities that respond to the changing needs of all residents and protects and expands our natural resources.

The American Heart Association is the largest voluntary health organization fighting heart disease, stroke and other cardiovascular diseases, which annually kill about 950,000 Americans.

For more information about the Healthy Hearts in our Parks program or Safety Day, please contact Leah Canlas at 407.262.7720 x1304 or email her at events@casselberry.org.

If you would like to volunteer at Safety Day, please contact her as soon as possible.

NEIGHBORHOOD PARTNERSHIP GRANT ANNOUNCED FOR CASSELBERRY

Shane Butler, Joey Aguilar, Dude Teate, Wayne Reutimann, Sr., Wayne Reutimann, Jr., Doug Heveron, Gary Gimmler, Bobby Rose, Wendy Mathis, Sonny Hartley, Scott Adema and many more.

Along with the TBARA Winged Sprints will be the Florida Mini Stock Challenge Series on Saturday night. This is the only series that showcases Mini Stocks and always has a good number of cars on hand for a very good show.

Robbie Yaokam leads the points for the Florida Mini Stock Challenge Series and has quite a few wins under his belt. Robbie Storer, Lee Davis, Richard Kelly, Jr., Darren Jackson, Jimmy Warrma, Dennis Valdez, Tom Jones, Jr., Chris Hooker and Tom Zimmerman complete the top ten in points.

A few New Smyrna Mini Stockers also plan to race the 50 lap event. Watch for David Castello, the 2002 Mini Stock Champion, and Rex Christensen to be in the event as well as Tim "Missileman" McPhail and his famous "Missile". Qualifying for the 50 lap event will begin at 6 p.m. depending on number of cars to qualify. Also in racing action will be the Open Wheel Modifieds. After last Saturday night's win, Bobby Blake moved ahead of Mark Vandevender in points for the lead by four. Blake stands at 364 to Vandevender's 360. Matt Wheeler comes in third with 172 points.

Fourth place in points is Brad May but May will be absent Saturday night as he is second in points in the Goodyear Challenge Late Model Series and he will be running USA International Saturday night. This will open the field for some drivers to move up.

Jim "Hoot" Flynn fills out the top five in points but after Saturday night, I imagine points will definitely change.

Bill Spade leads the points for the Sportsman division with 384 points. Unless he has a few bad weeks, it will be hard to beat him since he has a good 112 point lead over second place Ron Lufcy. Chris Peludat stands third in points with 240 followed by Bill Love with 204 and Jim Snyder with 192.

This class is building weekly and has a very good field each Saturday night. Watch as they battle their way to the front each week.

Ron Whaley took over the Super Stock point lead after last week's win. Whaley now sits at 412 points while second place Charlie Collins has 388 points. Jeff Colburn comes in at third with 328 points followed by Josh Wronkowski at 264 points. Mike Amato rounds out the top five with 192 points.

Also in action Saturday night will be the popular Strictly Stocks with their tires squealing in the corners.

New Smyrna Speedway is located in Samsula at the intersection of SR44 and SR415 between I-4 and I-95, eight miles west of New Smyrna Beach. Grandstands open at 6 p.m. with racing action slated for 7:30 p.m.

For more information on any FASCAR short track action, call the FASCAR offices at (407) 568-1367 (Orlando) or (386) 427-4129 (New Smyrna), or check the Internet site at www.newsmyrnaspeedway.com.

Volusia Speedway Park in Barberville will begin its special promotions with a Food Drive-Kids Ride and Mechanics Race tonight (Saturday).

The special events will be held along with heats and features in the weekly classes of Late Model, Hobby Stock, Mini-Stock, Street Stock and Pure Stock.

Grandstands open at 5 p.m. and racing starts at 7:30 p.m.

General Admission is $10 with children 12 and under free. The track also offers Senior and Student discounts.

For more information call 386-985-4402 or visit the web at <http://www.volusiaspeedwaypark.com>.

Volusia Speedway Park is located just 15 miles west of Ormond Beach. From I-95, take exit 88 west on State Road 40. From Highway 17, turn left on SR 40. The facility is five miles east of Barberville.

Orlando SpeedWorld Dragway, located right next to the oval, will be hosting the next installment of the NHRA/Summit ET Series with the Super Pro, Sportsman, Pro-Cycle and Junior Dragster classes in action. For event, ticket and race day weather information call 407-568-5522.

SpeedWorld is located 17 miles east of Orlando, between Orlando and Titusville, on Highway 50 at the 520 Cocoa cut-off.

ement partnerships. The grant program provides neighborhood based groups and non-profit organizations access to funding of up to $5,000 each year to implement small capital improvement projects that provide a neighborhood or community-wide benefit.

To be eligible, a group must be a neighborhood organization, grass roots neighborhood organization or non-profit organization, show a level of support from members and be registered with the Neighborhood Services Office.

Projects must also be within the incorporated City of Casselberry boundaries. Organizations must also match the requested grant amount 100-percent through a combination of volunteer hours (calculated at $10 per hour), cash contribution or in-kind donations. Applications are due on August 20th, 2003. An application preparation workshop will be held on July 21st at 6 p.m. in the Parks and Recreation Administration building, located at 125 East Melody Lane.

For more information about the Neighborhood Partnership Grant 2003, please contact Leah Canlas at 407.262.7720 x1304 or email her at events@casselberry.org. Applications are available online at www.casselberry.org.

tion and outreach, monitoring commercial and recreational catch quotas and issuance of seafood dealers and commercial fishing licenses.

Robson has served as the FWC's South Region director for five years with administrative oversight for 10 counties, including Palm Beach, Broward, Dade, Monroe, Hendry, Collier, St. Lucie, Okeechobee, Martin and Glades. "As South Region director, Mark has helped coordinate several major agency issues, including the Tortugas Ecological Reserve, Biscayne National Park Fishery Management Plan, marine life feeding, Everglades restoration and Lake Okeechobee," Heller said.

The new marine fisheries division director has spent his entire professional career with the agency, beginning as a wildlife biologist in the Big Cypress Wildlife Management Area (WMA) east of Naples and later as lead biologist at the J.W. Corbett WMA.

Robson became the first South Region nongame wildlife biologist in 1985 and spearheaded the first attempts to systematically monitor and manage a variety of species not normally hunted. These species account for 97 percent of all wildlife.

He earned a bachelor's degree in wildlife management from the University of Maine and a master's in wildlife ecology from the University of Florida. He has published a number of articles in professional journals and is a member and past-president of the Florida Chapter of the Wildlife Society.

Robson and his wife, Joani, live in Lake Worth. Joani Robson is a real estate agent for Coldwell-Banker and a former horticulturist.

BOATU.S. FOUNDATION CONTINUES TO KEEP KIDS SAFE WITH FREE LOANER LIFE JACKETS

The BoatU.S. Foundation Life Jacket Loaner Program is continuing to grow with the addition of 40 new sites to its nationwide program that provides a simple way for kids to borrow a right-sized life jacket at readily accessible launch ramps, marinas and waterfront businesses. Since its inception six years ago, the program has saved the lives of three children. It is estimated that these life jackets have been loaned out more than 50,000 times. With over 300 sites across the country, the program is available to boaters in almost every region of the United States.

"Partnering with marinas allows us to reach out to boaters in their own element," said Chris Edmonston, Director of Boating Safety for the BoatU.S. Foundation. "We make it easy to keep kids safer while boating. If a boating family discovers they don't have enough properly-fitting children's life jackets on board, they can simply visit a loaner site and sign out - at no cost - an infant, child, or youth jacket. Once the family is done enjoying the water, they simply return the jacket."

The Foundation provides each new loaner site with a kit of 12 life jackets, protective storage bin, sign out sheets and program signage, allowing hundreds of children all summer long to safely enjoy an afternoon, day or weekend on a boat with their families and friends.

The BoatU.S. Foundation for Boating Safety & Clean Water is a non-profit affiliate of Boat Owners Association of the United States - the nation's largest recreational boating association with over 540,000 members. For more information on making a tax-deductible donation to help keep programs like these afloat, go to <http://www.boatus.com/foundation>. Businesses or organizations interested in participating can next apply to the program in November 2003.

METRO NORTH BASKETBALL CAMP

The 11th Annual Metro North Basketball Camp, under the direction of Bo Clark, will be held at the spacious, air-conditioned Annunciation Catholic Academy Gymnasium on Montgomery Drive in Altamonte Springs.

There will be two week-long sessions, June 23-27 and July 7-11, from 9 a.m. to noon each day for boys and girls ages 5-17.

Clark was a three-time All-American at the University of Central Florida, leading the nation in scoring (31.6) and netting a still-UCF record of 2,886 points in his career.

Currently the head coach at Flagler College in St. Augustine, Clark's squads have won 20 games in seven of the last nine seasons.

The camp is designed for those interested in basketball and who want to improve their skills. The clinic will include points in shooting, ball handling, passing, defense and game play.

Among the camp highlights are, free T-shirts to all campers; trophies awarded for attitude, hustle, and outstanding play; 3-on-3 competitive league play; daily free throw competitions; guest speakers and coaches; a Friday Awards Presentation; use of 8-foot baskets for 6-to-8 year olds; teaching of basic fundamentals; and "Buzzer" beater shots.

The cost is $80 for one session and $150 to attend both sessions.

Pre-registration is recommended, but campers may register on the first Monday of any sessions at the Annunciation Gym.

For more information call 407-644-7420, 407-831-4696 or 407-869-6512.

Chang's Car Care of Sanford

Chang's Car Care of Sanford has earned Blue Seal of Excellence Recognition as prescribed by the National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE), a non-profit organization dedicated to improving the quality of vehicle repair and service by means of voluntary testing and certification for automotive repair and service professionals.

To be eligible for this recognition, a company must have 75 percent of its automotive professionals ASE certified. In addition, there must be a certified technician in each area offered. To remain in the program, a business must renew each year and confirm their professional's certification status.

"Businesses that have earned the ASE Blue Seal of Excellence Recognition have gone the extra mile in support of their customers," said ASE President Ronald H. Weiner. "Employing ASE-certified professionals is an important element in their overall customer satisfaction program. We salute those businesses who achieve this goal and thank them for helping promote quality automotive repair and service."

Chang's Car Care has been

serving the Sanford area since 1981. The business recently acquired a new, state-of-the-art alignment machine, adding to its long list of automotive services offered to customers. Other repair services include electrical repairs, starters/alternators, fuel injection, engine performance, engine repair, air conditioning, brakes, CV joints and axles and cooling system.

According to Owner Sheldon Chang — who is now at the helm of the business after his father, Sylvester, retired a few months ago — the business is dedicated to its community. Along with making sure customers leave happy, the family has been involved in various civic organizations and supports the Seminole Community College's Automotive Training Program. "We really try to stay involved and give back to the community," Sheldon said. For more information, contact Sheldon at Chang's Car Care, located at 2714 S. Orlando Drive (Highway 17/92) in Sanford. To make an appointment call 407-322-4924. The business accepts most extended warranty plans.

The Way We Were: Remembering The Pig 'n' Whistle

By Grace Marie Stinecpher
Herald Correspondent

The Sanford Museum has been looking for a picture of the Pig 'n' Whistle for several years, and finally one has been found!

Billy Robinson came up to me after Buck Metts' funeral in May with the information that his grandfather, James Bryan, had built the Pig 'n' Whistle here in 1948 and that he had the original barbecue sauce recipe. I immediately asked if he had a picture, and he did.

A few days later, Billy came down to the Sanford Museum while I was there, bringing the picture and the recipe. We reminisced about the Pig and I received further information.

Billy's grandfather, Jim Bryan, had been born in Orlando and later moved to Georgia where he built the first Pig 'n' Whistle in Macon, Ga. Later he built others in the South; the Sanford one in 1948.

Jim's daughter, Joyce Bryan Robinson, and her son Billy moved to Sanford in 1948 to be near her parents. Billy entered third grade at Southside Primary and later graduated from Seminole High in 1958.

For those who don't remember the Pig 'n' Whistle, it was located on the southeast corner of 25th Street at Park Avenue. In front of the building you see picture, there was a large parking lot which at certain times was filled with cars wanting curb service. There was also an inside dining room. For the first few years, the barbecue pit was outside by Park Avenue, which was Highway 17-92 at the time.

Many of you will recall the delicious barbecue sandwiches and also meeting friends in the large parking lot. It was one of the three places teenagers cruised while looking for their friends in the 1950s. The other two were Angel's Eat Shack and McReynolds Drug Store.

When Billy was 13 years old, he was paid $2.50 per night to wipe the trays from the curb service and other odd jobs. One night two beverage agents ordered two bottles of beer and Billy opened them. The agents asked if he was 21 and since he wasn't, they told him to leave immediately. Two rookie policemen, Ben Butler and Joe Hickson, happened to be there as customers and took him home. The restaurant was fined $50, and Billy's career at the Pig was ended.

During my conversation with Billy, it was learned that his great grandfather, J.L. Bryan, had moved to Orlando circa 1875 where he served as deputy clerk and was one of Orlando's first mayors (1880-84). He was also a county judge.

Billy Robinson graduated from Seminole High School in 1958 and was married to the late Ann Davis, daughter of J.C. and Lillian Davis. Ann had worked for many years at Central Florida Regional Hospital. Billy is retired from JC Penney's and is a member of All-Souls Catholic Church.

Billy's mother, Joyce Bryan Gustavson, continues to live in Sanford as does his aunt, Grace Bryan Garhade. Billy's two sisters are Patricia Pauska and Mary Ward.

The Pig 'n' Whistle was sold in the early 1950s to Harry Tooke and John Ivey. John Capko owned it when it was closed circa 1976. A bank building was built on the property a few years later.

Pig 'n' Whistle Barbecue Sauce

- 3 Ketchup
- 2 Vinegar
- 1 Mustard
- 1 Worcestershire
- 4 Water

• Bring to slow boil, stir frequency, add salt and pepper, add meat to sauce, heat slowly and serve 6 oz. ratio will accommodate 10% of meat.
Excess sauce can be saved and used later.

Information wanted: If you have fond memories or information about the Pig 'n' Whistle that you'd like to share, call me at 407-322-4381.

The Sanford Museum is also looking for exterior pictures of both Angels and McReynolds. They have a few interior shots, but no exterior photos of these Sanford landmarks. If you have these, contact me or the Sanford Museum at 407-302-1000.

Celery Fed Reunion Revisited

After 23 years, Tommye Johnson and Joan Anderson of the Seminole High Class of 1950 have retired from organizing the Celery Few Beach Reunion each September.

Although others have volunteered to carry on the tradition, for various reasons an organized reunion could not be accomplished this year. But an agreement has been reached with the same hotel — Holiday Inn Shores — for a room discount and several Celery Feds plan to be there. If you would like to join them, when making reservations state that you are a Celery Fed to get the discount. Phone numbers are 800-722-3297 and 386-761-2050.

There will be no banquet; you are on your own for all meals. The weekend will be September 12-14; hotel address is 3209 S. Atlantic Avenue, Daytona Beach Shores, FL 32118. Come and join other Celery Feds and tell others. If you have any questions contact Paulette White at 407-322-3622 or Jay Jacobs at 407-328-2766.

SCC

On a happy-sad note, the Raiders also announced that two of their top sophomores had decided on their future schools.

Daniel "Jumpman" Jackson, the 6-foot-6 forward who thrilled crowd with his jumping ability and defensive prowess, has signed with NCAA Division II power, Shaw University in Raleigh, North Carolina.

Jackson averaged 11 points, 8.3 rebounds, 4.2 steals, and 1.8 blocks per game, while shooting 50-percent from the floor this season and was named to Mid-Florida All-Conference Team.

SCC also announced that 6-foot-2 guard Josh Houston has signed with NCAA Division II Paine College in Augusta, Georgia.

Houston, the brother of Detroit Pistons star Chuckie Atkins and son of former SCC star guard Kenny Atkins, is a Lyman High School graduate who averaged 8.1 points, two rebounds and 1.7 assists this season and shot 33-percent from three-point range this season.

Cromartie and his staff have also announced another round of signings for this fall and the list is impressive.

Leading the way is the duo of Vincent Mosley and Kevin Thomas from Dillard High School in Ft. Lauderdale.

Mosley, a 6-foot-4 guard/forward, and Thomas, a 5-foot-11 point guard, were starters on a Dillard team that went 32-1 this season and upset nationally-ranked Edgewater in the finals to win its fourth straight Class 6A State Championship.

Thomas averaged 13 points and eight assists per game this season and was named Second Team All State and Second Team All Area-South Region. He was also ranked by Breakdown.com as the 21st best senior in Florida.

Daniel "Jumpman" Jackson thrilled SCC fans with his jumping ability the past two years. The Lake Wales resident is headed to Shaw College this fall.

Mosley, meanwhile, averaged 10 points and seven rebounds per game this season.

SCC has also signed Thomas Williams, a 6-foot-4 small forward/guard from Kathleen High School in Lakeland and William Graham, a 6-foot-7 forward from Dixie County High School in Cross City.

Williams averaged 14 points, five rebounds and five assists per game as a senior and helped the Red Devils win the 2001 Class 4A State Championship as a junior. This past season he was named, All Polk County by the Lakeland Ledger.

Graham averaged 12 points, eight rebounds, 3.2 blocks, and 2 steals per game as a senior and was named a Class 2A All-State Honorable Mention.

That quartet joins 6-foot-2 guard Travis Jones of Olympia High School, ranked the 20th best senior in Florida by Breakdown.com, who averaged 23 points, four rebounds, three assists, and two steals per game as a senior and was named All State-Honorable Mention in Class 6A. Travis was also.

MILK CAN SECRET

EVER WONDER WHY IT WAS SO HARD TO THROW A BALL INTO THE WIDE MOUTH OF THE MILK CAN AT THE FAIR? FIND OUT WHY THIS YEAR'S CARNIVAL GAME WAS A MUCH HARDER CHALLENGE THAN A REAL BALL GAME CAUSED MORE "BOUNCES" PLUS THE BALL CAN BE A "BOUNCED" OFFERER BY THE FAIRER PLAYERS THIS YEAR!

Shrunken heads, alien bodies and Dori, Diva of the Amazon, aren't the typical items found in history museums; but, don't tell that to Charlie Carlson. The local historian is bringing back the days of sideshow extravaganzas to Seminole County as part of his "Central Florida's Era of Big Circuses and Carnivals," exhibit currently at the Museum of Seminole County History. The display is a glimpse back to a time when children and adults paid pennies to see such oddities as Alligator Man and the Diva.

Carlson's display is the first of many traveling exhibits planned for the museum's new Agricultural Exhibit Building, which opened last month. Dozens of students have already visited the new facility, many who can't make up their mind whether the alien body on display — the one that the government doesn't want you to know about — is authentic.

"After touring the museum, the students may not remember what General Sanford did, but they remember the alien body," Museum Specialist Karen Jacobs said. "It's up to them to decide if it's real or not. For some, it's a tough decision to make."

For people who want to see the extraterrestrial for themselves, the museum is located at 300 Bush Blvd. The facility is open to the public Tuesday through Friday from 9 a.m. to noon and Tuesday through Saturday, 1 to 4 p.m. For more information, call the museum at 407-665-2489.

Local lodge, temple host state convention

By Marva Hawkins

Celery City Lodge No. 542 and Evergreen Temple No. 321 Improved Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of the World recently hosted the Florida State Association of Lodges under state President Walter Butler and Florida State Association of Temples under daughter, state President Lou Alyce Dean.

The convention was held at the Orlando Marriott-Lake Mary. The various departments of the convention worked throughout, making for a grand success for the lodges, temples and delegates throughout the state.

On Friday, May 16, the 17th annual Joint Collaring of the Class of 2003 was held. Past state President Degree awarded Sanfordites Amanda N. Alexander and Bruce A. Scott.

Saturday, May 17, the Florida State Education Department Oratorical Contest was held. Winners of this year's event included: first place, Erika Wright; second place, Harry Madhanagopal; third place, Wynonne DeCastro; and fourth place, Trease Brown.

State Daughter President Lou Alyce Dean with the Rev. Valerie Henry, Pearl M. Ford and state President of Lodges Walter Butler.

State oratorical contest winners Erika Wright, Harry Madhanagopal, Wynonne DeCastro and Trease Brown.

Guest artists included St. John Metropolitan Baptist Church Praise Dance Ministry. Sanfordites Earl Minott and Elaine Crumity are state director/directress of Education.

Participating in the downtown parade were Grand Marshals Rufus McLain and Mozell Johnson, two of the oldest members — in membership years — of local lodges and temples. Susie Harvey Memorial Prayer Breakfast speaker was the Rev. Valerie Henry, pastor of the Allen AME Church of Sanford.

A tribute to deceased members, a memorial service, was held Sunday at 11 a.m. Highlighting the service was the Lura Thomas Juvenile Class No. 652 of Evergreen Temple No. 321, Sanford, and the Sons of Calvary of the New Mount Calvary Baptist Church. The young dance group performed, and the all-male group rendered musical selections.

Many of the local members were active in many departments, including Willie Hooks, exalted ruler; Retha Bakers, daughter ruler; the Honorable Donald Wilson, grand exalted ruler; and Margaret Scott, interim grand daughter ruler.

Idyllwilde Elementary School fifth-graders receive President's Award for Educational Excellence

Twenty-four Idyllwilde Elementary School fifth-graders were given the President's Award for Educational Excellence (Gold Award) by earning a 3.5 grade point average and achieving in the 85th percentile or above in reading or math on the FCAT nationally normed standardized test. Sorority chapter celebrates 27 years

Kappa Sigma Omega Chapter Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority Inc., celebrated its

Marna
Hawkins

27th birthday and honored its charter members, including Rebecca Knight Sweet, Carletha MerKerson, Jeanette Daniels, Juanita Graham Harold, Zonnye

Tucker Dixon, Vivian Hurston Bowden, Sandra Warrick Petty, Geraldine Davidson Wright, Barbara Chambers and Ozie Mathis.

Also honored were the memories of charter members Angie B. Douglas, Jessie Allen Merritt, Eloise Eubanks, Louise F. Smith, Mary Whitehurst, Mildred S. Wright and Elizabeth Young.

The spirit of AKA is always present, and indeed this luncheon program, with Eddy Walden, presiding was no exception. Kathryn Alexander gave the welcome and the meditations from Romans 12:10 for the chapter.

Greetings were extended by Barbara Johnson of Delta Sigma Theta, Sanford Alumnae Chapter.

Vice mayor of the city, Velama Williams, presented a proclamation on behalf of the city of Sanford, giving honor and proclaiming May 24, 2003, as Kappa Sigma Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority Inc., Day.

The keynote speaker was the dynamic prestigious Dr. Norma Solomon White, the first Golden Sorority to serve as Supreme Basileus in the new millennium. She was installed as the sorority's first legacy Supreme Basileus in AKA's 90 year history. Her many accomplishments speakout about her great meritorious service as a leader.

Words of wisdom were spoken eloquently by Dr. White will forever remain in the heads and minds of attendees.

Dr. White reminded us of the fact that 95 years ago, AKA was founded and his local chapter Kappa Sigma Omega was organized 27 years ago and indeed it was celebration time. She spoke of the thousands of women with a mission, who have a vision. They have faith and will pull together. They have hope and will make wrongs right. They have charity and good will, open your heart honey do's, we all will render service to mankind.

History of Phenomenal Women was a tribute in poetic reading of the poem "I Rise," recited by Valada Flewellyn and "The Dance" by Tina Flewellyn.

Dorothea W. Fogle, vice president, honored the 10 charter members and paid tribute to these great women, who were among the 17 Seminole County AKA women who realized their dream of organizing a local graduate chapter of their sorority. It was chartered in Sanford on April 10, 1976. It was the first African-American Greek letter organization for women in the Sanford community.

Taryn Dyck, a junior at Bethune-Cookman College, was selected to participate in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) internship program this summer at Kennedy Space Center.

A collaboration between the B-CC Division of Business, this 10-week internship is designed to give students hands on business training in a professional work environment.

Students will be exposed to the marketing, management and technology efforts within this leading industry.

Dyck, an Orlando native, is majoring in business with specific concentration in business administration and a minor in marketing.

Deaconesses of St. John Metropolitan Missionary Baptist Church, 920 Cypress Ave., will observe their anniversary on Sunday, June 22, at 4 p.m. The speaker for the occasion, the Rev. Valerie Henry, pastor of Allen AME Church. The theme is "Women: A Vision of Perfection." Linda Gaines is president. Yvonne Cherry is vice president and Dr. Joseph D. Martin Jr., is pastor.

Stetson's Corner

Come join Geneva's marching band ...

Welcome to Stetson's Corner, where weekly we hope to share a bit of what is good about the town of Geneva. This column is dedicated to a man who did the same - Deputy Sheriff Gene "Stetson" Gregory, who was killed in the line of duty July 8, 1998, in the place he was sworn to protect, but which could not protect him. Geneva will never be the same because of Deputy Gregory...it will be better.

FAQ's:

Q: How much will we get paid?

A: Zip!

Q: How much will it cost?

A: Just about two hours of your time.

Q: Who is the band's Music Director?

A: John Philip Sousa will be with us in spirit.

Q: Will the band continue in existence after the 4th of July?

A: That depends on the members.

Geneva should have a community band, and this could become an outlet for Central Florida residents who enjoy playing for pleasure, though feel intimidated by the musical demands of the more established bands.

Q: What are the uniforms?

A: What have you got that's red, white, or blue? Or all three?

Q: What music will we play?

A: Probably God Bless America, The Liberty Bell, and one or two other marches. (Not Stars And Stripes Forever, because it's too hard. We want young musicians to feel at ease.) Sheet music can be provided ahead of time.

Q: What are the qualifications?

A: Possession of a band instrument and the ability to play at beginner level or above. And the ability to read music. If you're good, play loud. If you're not sure of all the notes, play the ones you know.

Q: Where do we meet and rehearse?

A: At the Geneva Community Center on June 23rd at 7 PM. Then at 9 AM on the 4th of July at the Baptist Church (which is where the parade begins and ends). If you can't make the rehearsal on the 23rd, come on the 4th anyway. Both locations are on 1st Street in Downtown Geneva.

Q: How many band members will be required?

A: We won't step off with fewer than two.

I received this "call to instruments" over the weekend and could not pass up the opportunity to give it a little more publicity... Who knows, some day the Greater Geneva Grande Award Marching Band may be touring the country - hitting all the big parades and putting us on the map! (Or they could just still be sweating it out here on the Fourth of July ... Either way they'll be having fun!) Why not join in?

Dear Musician,
You are hereby invited to join The Greater Geneva Grande Award Marching Band. What's that? You've never heard of it? That's because it doesn't exist—yet. But on every 4th of July, residents of the Geneva community march around the town—or ride around on horses, tractors, floats, old cars, motorcycles, etc.—while having fun, waving flags, and being generally festive and patriotic. Only the lack of a marching band has kept it from being a perfect little neighborhood parade.

And that's where you come in. If you possess a genuine band instrument (no cellos or kazoos please) and can play it at beginner level or above, AND if you can't resist plodding down the road, blowing your brains out and getting all sweaty, then please become a charter member of GGGAMB. All you have to do is show up about 9 AM on the 4th of July. The parade begins at 10:30 and covers most of downtown Geneva, which means it doesn't last very long.

Church Notes

Marriage University

Metro Church of Christ, located at 281 N. Division St. in Oviedo, will offer a marriage conference, "Marriage University," on from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. Saturday, featuring Dr. Don Hebbard.

He will lead couples through six high-impact sessions that are fast-paced, informative, practical and non-threatening. Couples will learn effective techniques for dealing with communication, conflict resolution and commitment issues.

Hebbard is the director of the Institute for Marriage and Family in Oklahoma City and professor of family life.

The cost will be $35 per couple and will include a Marriage University notebook, which includes all the skill models covered, suggestions for follow-up marriage meetings and recommendations for further study. Childcare will be available at the cost of $3 per family. Pre-registration is required.

Children's homework shouldn't dominate their downtime

QUESTION: How do you feel about homework being given by elementary schools? Do you think it is a good idea? If so, how much and how often?

DR. DOBSON: Having written several books on discipline and being on the record as an advocate of reasonable parental authority, my answer may surprise you: I believe homework for young children can be counterproductive if it is not handled very carefully. Little kids are asked to sit for six or more hours a day doing formal classwork. Then many of them take a tiring bus ride home — and guess what? They're placed at a desk and told to do more assignments. For a wiry, active, fun-loving youngster, that is asking too much. Learning for them becomes an enormous bore instead of the exciting panorama that it should be.

Excessive homework during the elementary school years has the potential of interfering with family life. In our home, we were trying to do many things with the limited time we had together. I wanted our kids to participate in church activities, have some family time, and still be able to kick back and waste an hour or two. Children need opportunities for unstructured play — swinging on the swings and skipping rocks and playing with basketballs. Yet by the time their homework was done, darkness had fallen and dinnertime had arrived. Then baths were taken and off they went to bed. Something didn't feel right about that kind of pace. That's why I negotiated with our children's teachers, agreeing that they would complete no more than one hour per night of supervised homework. That was enough!

Dobson

Homework also generates a considerable amount of stress for parents. Their kids either won't do the assignments or they get tired and whine about it. Tensions build and angry words fly. I'm also convinced that child abuse occurs at that point for some children. When my wife, Shirley, was teaching the second grade, one little girl came to school with both eyes black and swollen. She said her father had beaten her because she couldn't learn her spelling words. That is illegal now, but it was tolerated then. The poor youngster will remember those beatings for a lifetime and will always think of herself as "stupid."

Then there are the parents who do the assignments for their kids just to get them over the hump. Have you ever been guilty of doing that? Shame on you! More specifically, have you ever worked for two weeks on a fifth-grade geography project for your 11-year-old — and then learned later that you got a C on it? That's the ultimate humiliation!

In short, I believe homework in elementary school should be extremely limited. It is appropriate for learning multiplication tables, spelling and test review. It is also helpful in training kids to remember assignments, bring books home and complete them as required. But to load them down night after night with monotonous bookwork is to invite educational burnout.

In junior-high classes, perhaps two hours of homework per night should be the maximum. In high school, those students who are preparing for college must handle more work. Even then, however, the load should be reasonable. Education is a vitally important part of our children's lives, but it is only one part. Balance between these competing objectives is the key word.

Lake Mary Historical Society holds greeting card workshop

The Lake Mary Historical Society held a very whimsical workshop on June 12.

The public was invited to attend the workshop for free and make their own greeting card. The earliest greeting card that is known is from the 1400s.

It's a Valentine's card. But greeting cards didn't really take off until the 1800s.

The society had several pictures of greeting cards from that era thanks to Emotions

Greeting Cards. Emotions

Greeting Cards is an online greeting card site. They host a virtual greeting card museum with antique greeting cards of every shape and size. Some of the cards they sent the museum included an installment card from 1907.

The installment card consisted of four post-cards that would be mailed at different times.

Once you had all four postcards, you put them together and you had the Easter Bunny saying "Happy Easter".

To many at the workshop, one of the most intriguing cards was a puzzle card from 1889.

Several people tried, but no one could figure out what the translation was. Possibly because the way people make those types of word puzzles has changed in the century since this card was made. If anyone can translate the card (see picture on page 7B),

Pierson brings down-home country to the Barn

Billy Pierson poses with his band, Bullet Proof, during his recent show at the Barn. More than 400 people packed into the club June 11 to see the country music newcomer.

Billy Pierson kicked off his national tour earlier this month with a record release party at Fan Fair in Nashville. The tour brought the self-proclaimed "Florida boy" to the sunshine state for several shows. His debut CD, Let Me Take You On a Country Cruise, features down-home country singles such as his debut single, "I Worship the Woman You Walk On," which he co-wrote with Steve Clark.

Before signing his contract with Oak Records, Pierson spent a lot of time in Deltona with his mom and stepfather, Barbara and John Thomas. He performed locally at the Quality Inn in DeLand and several other local clubs.

School Notes

The first Seminole County Battle of the Books was held on Friday, April 25.

Fifth-grade teams from Idyllwilde and Evans elementary schools met on the stage at Idyllwilde to test their knowledge of 10 different Sunshine State Young Readers Award Books. Jorge Estevez from Channel 9 News was the emcee.

After answering 75 questions, Evans became victorious and was awarded the county "Traveling Trophy," which will remain at Evans until the next county battle in April 2004.

The Evans Team included: Scott Amrhein, Mallory Johnson, Alexandra Knerr, and Alyssa LaFlesh. The Idyllwilde Team consisted of Emma Falcone, Brittney Ikeh, Jillian Giffin, and Kathleen Oh. For more information contact Dave Scott at 407-320-3737.

Alicja Duda, 10-year-old fourth grader at Idyllwilde Elementary, competed in the Optimist Club's State Oratorical Contest on May 3 and earned a second place award.

Duda missed first place by five-tenths of a point while competing against 14- and 15-year-olds. Alicja wrote her speech, "United We Stand in Optimism" and outspoke middle and high schoolers at local, district, and regional competitions in route to the state contest.

Interestingly, Duda also earned a perfect score of 6.0 on her FCAT Writes exam in February.

Pindo palm hardy enough for Florida landscapes

Pindo palm, natural of central and southern Brazil, Argentina and Uruguay, is one of the hardiest palms used in Florida landscapes. The slow growing palm has very attractive feathery leaves that curve in toward the trunk and have a distinctive blue-gray color.

The palm is not only a good ornamental plant but produces delicious edible fruits that ripen in the summer. The fruits are often used to make a good tasting jelly that gives this palm the common name of jelly palm. The fruits are sometimes called pindo dates.

The Plant

Pindo palm is slow growing plant with a heavy, stocky trunk with persistent leaf bases. The mature palm height is about 15 to 20 feet tall and a spread of 10 to 15 feet. The feathery fronds are about 4 to 6 feet long and individual leaflets about 2.5 feet long and have slender, fibrous spines on the margins of the leaf stem.

The leaves tend to curve toward the trunk and have a characteristic blue-gray color.

The floral structure is formed late in the spring and very showy. The individual flowers are creamy yellow to reddish in color and separated male and female flowers grow in the same inflorescence.

The fruits mature in the summer, are about one inch long and yellow to orange in color.

The fruit is edible and very tasty.

Culture

Pindo palm can be grown in full sun or partial shade, on a wide variety of well drained soils. Palms growing in dry infertile soils tend to be smaller and with smaller leaves. The palm can survive hot windy conditions as well as freezing temperatures.

This palm is easy to grow, inexpensive and readily available at nurseries. Use a palm special fertilizer 4 to 6 times a year, applying 1 to 2 pounds of fertilizer per application, minor element deficiencies of iron and manganese can appear in soils with high pH. Maintain a relative good soil moisture conditions for better growth of the plant.

They will benefit from a 2 to 3 inches deep of mulch to help maintain soil moisture and temperature. Propagation is by seeds that take many months for germination. Trees grow successfully in urban areas where air pollution, poor drainage, compacted soil, and drought are common. This palm can be cross pollinated with the queen palm to form hybrids and the resulting plants will be intermediate in morphology and hardness in comparison to the parents.

Use

Pindo palm can be used in parking lot islands, recommended for buffer strips around parking lots or for median strip plantings in the highway.

Use near a deck or patio, as a specimen tree, residential street tree and why not, a fruit tree that can be used by wild life such as squirrels and other mammals or for human consumption. A wine can also be produced from the fruits of this palm. They can be planted beneath power lines due to their slow growth and relative small size.

Pests

This palm is susceptible to Ganoderma butt rot, a serious fungus disease that destroys the base of the trunk, slowly killing the plant. Infected plants will develop symptoms that can be described as a "closed umbrella" and a fungal structure called "Conk" will appear near the base at the side of the trunk. There is no cure for this disease and palms replanted in the same location will develop the same disease. Other pest problems are caused by the palm leaf skeletonizer and scales.

'Baby'

Baby, a 4-year-old, neutered male domestic short hair, is looking for a good home. Although Baby's friends at the SPCA of Central Florida in Seminole County — where he's lived since May 24 — will miss him, the feline is looking for a new home where he can flirt with anyone who looks his way. Ever the loving cat, he enjoys sitting in laps and being combed and scratched. His friends at the shelter say Baby is "all about love — giving and receiving" — and really likes to have his head, ears, tail and belly rubbed. He is litter trained and is good around children of all ages and other cats. However, he's not sure about dogs, since he never lived with any.

Woman shunned by in-laws longs to be part of family

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 13 years and have never been able to establish a close relationship with my in-laws. They have always gone out of their way to exclude me from family conversations and gatherings. They are very attentive toward my children, but they made it clear to me a long time ago that I am not welcome in their presence. I'm sick of it.

Dear Abby

My husband is no help at all. He has private conversations with his parents, and it's like pulling teeth to get him to share any details with me. His family gets together for shopping trips, Bible seminars — even get-away cruises. I am never included.

I am a likable person, Abby. I have many loyal, longtime friends and acquaintances. It's a mystery to me why my in-laws aren't kinder and more inclusive. As time goes by, it gets worse and worse. I love my children and my husband. But he is becoming more like them, and I feel increasingly isolated. I am desperately lonely for family fun and inclusiveness. Is this normal?

THE OUTLAW IN EAST TEXAS

DEAR OUTLAW: For your husband's family to have treated you like an outsider all these years is deplorable. However, for your husband to tolerate it — and cooperate with it — is worse. It is betrayal. That said, you cannot change them. Your husband might see the light through counseling. However, if he refuses, it is time to ask yourself, seriously, if this is how you want to live the rest of your life, and if you're better off with him or without him.

DEAR ABBY: My wife of seven years, "Joy," and I are trying to get out of debt, so we work opposite shifts to save on child-care costs. We have two little ones, 6 and 2. (I work days and she works the night shift.)

Unfortunately, Joy's manager, "Vic," has had his eye on her for some time. Vic is married and nearly twice her age. I discovered e-mails they'd sent each other, which make clear that he is only after one thing. When I confronted my wife, she admitted making "one stupid mistake," then promised to cut him off.

On the home front, things were better than ever until I found a new e-mail from Vic that was "too hot to handle." When I called her on it, Joy told me she loves me and wants to keep our family together, but I can see she is still infatuated with Vic.

I decided to take matters into my own hands. I contacted him directly and told him to lay off. Now I'm getting the cold shoulder from my wife.

I dearly love Joy and do not want to lose her. I am looking for a new job that will allow me to spend more time at home. What else can I do, Abby?

WORRIED HUSBAND AND FATHER WHO WANTS TO MAKE IT WORK

DEAR WORRIED: You're not the only one who needs a job change. For the sake of your marriage, Joy must get away from her manager.

It may take time to heal your relationship, but marriage counseling for both of you can hasten the process. I wish you luck.

Dear Abby is written by Abigail Van Buren, also known as Jeanne Phillips, and was founded by her mother, Pauline Phillips. Write Dear Abby at www.DearAbby.com or P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, CA 90069.

Abby shares more than 100 of her favorite recipes in two booklets: "Abby's Favorite Recipes" and "More Favorite Recipes by Dear Abby."

Q: May I bring a friend?

A: All "musicians" are welcome.

Q: If we're a new band, how did we win the Grande Award?

A: No competition. We're starting at the top—already Geneva's best band.

Well, that's enough Q&A. If you think you might enjoy being present at The Greater Geneva Grande Award Marching Band's inaugural performance, or farewell appearance, please let us know to expect you. Thanks a lot for considering it. Hope to see you in Geneva on the 4th of July (and June 23rd, too, if you can make it).

Please contact: Richard Simonton simonton@k2net.cc Or: Cindy Simonton (407) 349-2901.

Let us know your name, e-mail address or phone number, and the instrument you play. We will confirm rehearsal times and can send music to you in advance, if requested.

We need you to tell us what you know that is good about Geneva! Please share your information, ideas and comments by calling 407-349-2140, writing to Stetson's Corner c/o The Oviedo Voice, via e-mail at darias@mpinet.net, (please put "Stetson's Corner" in the subject line), or with a fax to 407-349-1311. The museum also had some very cute postcards from the 1940's. The most popular cards from this set was the love postcard and the donkey postcard. The museum also had some Christmas cards from the 1950's.

At the workshop, they made 2 different cards, one modern and one based on a French toile card from the 1800's. To make the cards, they used regular rubber stamps and rolling rubber stamps. The children at the workshop seemed to get the biggest kick out of the rolling stamps. The workshop was led by Cheryl Kanski. Cheryl also teaches classes in scrapbooking.

Winter Springs plans Fourth of July event

The City of Winter Springs and WHTQ Classic Rock 96.5 FM presents "Celebration of Freedom" on Friday, July 4, at Central Winds Park located at 1000 East State Road 434.

The fun begins at 4 p.m. with children's games, a community stage featuring "Seal the Wheel" game Show, "upcoming" teen pop artists Girlz Zone and lots of great giveaways.

The "Old Fashion Fun and games" Area is back bigger than ever featuring sack races, three-legged races, water balloon toss, a pie eating contest and much more fun. Early in the evening, it is Home Run Derby time, as City Manager Ron "The Mauler" McLernone will take on Anthony "The Hammer" Garganese in a test of who can clear the ballpark fence.

The amphitheater area will play host two great concert acts, including the award-winning Winter Springs High School ROTC. And, to finish it off, there will be Central Florida's longest fireworks spectacular.

Bus shuttling is available beginning at 5 p.m. at designated areas throughout Winter Springs. Please no coolers or pets are allowed in the park. Park gates open at 3:30 p.m.

For more information, call 407-327-6593.

Summer food program continues through July

The Sanford Recreation Department will sponsor a Summer Food Service Program during the months of June and July. The program is similar to the National School Lunch Program and provides nutritionally balanced meals to needy children during the summer vacation when school breakfasts and lunches are not available.

All children 18 years old and younger are eligible for meals at no charge. The programs are approved for geographical areas of need where 50 percent or more of the children qualify for free or reduced meals during the school year.

The following site will participate: Sanford Civic Center, 401 E. Seminole Blvd., in Sanford.

FOOD

Fruity fun

Honey-apple syrup will have family members buzzing

We've all gotten the message that breakfast is the most important meal of the day, so why not serve something special? Breakfast Waffle Club Sandwich With Honey-Apple Syrup is guaranteed to have your family buzzing to the table. This simple low-fat breakfast "sandwich" is a snap to make, even on a weekday morning. It takes only minutes to caramelize the apples in honey and butter. Then simply serve with ham over the toasted waffles and top with a delicious honey-apple syrup.

Waffles With Honey-Apple Syrup

Makes 4 servings

- 3/4 cup honey, divided
- 1/4 cup apple juice
- 2 Tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 crisp apples, cored and sliced
- 8 frozen waffles, toasted
- 8 thin ham slices

To make syrup, place 1/2 cup honey and apple juice in small saucepan over medium heat; heat through. Set aside; keep warm. Melt butter with remaining 1/4 cup honey in large non-stick skillet over medium-high heat. Add apples and cook, stirring constantly, until apples are lightly caramelized and crisp-tender, about 4 minutes.

For each serving, place 2 waffles on a plate, slightly overlapping. Top each waffle with a slice of ham. Top with 1/4 of apple mixture and drizzle 1/4 of honey-apple syrup. Serve hot.

Easy chicken salad perfect for summer.

If you're like millions of other Americans, you don't want to slave over your oven to prepare a meal this summer—you'd rather be out participating in family activities. Not only is this recipe easy to prepare, it's also perfect for casual summer entertaining.

Fruity Chicken Salad

Makes 4 servings

- 4 boneless, skinless chicken breast halves (about 1 1/2 lb.) cooked, cubed
- 1 cup red grapes
- 3/4 cup Miracle Whip® or Miracle Whip Light® Salad Dressing
- 1 tsp. dried tarragon leaves

Mix all ingredients. Refrigerate several hours or overnight.

Caramel Oranges

How to pick the perfect orange

Most oranges look luscious in the store, but few live up to that promise when you bring them home and get ready to eat them.

Knowing what to look for can improve your odds of bagging the best examples of this healthy treat.

The best oranges, such as navel oranges, are not only rich in Vitamin C, but also B complex vitamins, vitamin A, potassium, beta carotene, dietary fiber and pectin fiber (which is useful in reducing cholesterol). Low in calories—60 in the average orange—they are a good source of energy giving carbohydrates.

To pick the perfect orange—the kind that's wonderfully sweet, evenly sectioned and easily peeled—follow these tips:

- Select firm, heavy oranges with a bright, smooth skin.
- Oranges that are heavy in the hand have a high juice content.
- Avoid oranges which are soft, bruised and wrinkled.

To make the most of the delicious, wholesome flavor of navel oranges, try this recipe.

Caramel Oranges

Serves 8

- 8 Navel Oranges, peeled, sliced into rounds Reserved peel of 2 oranges cut into thin strips

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 3 tablespoons water
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons golden syrup
- 2 tablespoons corn flour
- 200 ml orange juice freshly squeezed and strained

Place small wooden skewers through orange slices to form back into whole orange shapes. Heat oranges in microwave until warmed through, approximately 4 minutes on high power. Caramelize sugar and water in frying pan without stirring. Add orange strips and coat well. Lift pieces out individually and drop into cold water to cool. Remove immediately and drain well. Heat butter and brown sugar in saucepan until bubbling and sugar dissolves. Add golden syrup. Stir well. Add corn flour mixed with orange juice. Heat until boiling, stirring constantly. Simmer until sauce is clear and thick, stirring constantly. Serve poured over hot oranges and topped with caramelized peel.

Pie perfection

Serving homemade-tasting desserts doesn't have to mean hours of preparation. Make a bake-and-serve pie your own with easy toppings.

Maple Glass

- 1 Mrs. Smith's baked Deep Dish Apple Pie
- 1 1/2 cups maple syrup
- 1 cup water
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 3 tablespoons pecans

Bake pie according to package directions. Mix syrup, water and cornstarch. Cook over low to medium heat. Stir constantly until thickened. Add pecans. Pour over slices of warm apple pie.

Citrus Glazed Peach Pie

- 1 Mrs. Smith's baked Old-Fashioned Peach Pie
- 2/3 cup orange marmalade
- 3 tablespoons frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
- 1 1/2 tablespoons corn starch
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice

In a small saucepan, combine all ingredients. Cook and stir until thickened and bubbly. Pour over pie slices, chill and serve.

Healthy fast food

Cut fat and calories for a healthier diet? No problem. Cut the time it takes to make a delicious dish? Also not a problem.

This quick fix of a nutritious meal is ideal for nights when you have other things to do than cook.

Lemon Chicken with Herbs

Makes 4 servings

- 1 can Healthy Choice Cream of Roasted Chicken with Herbs Condensed Soup
- 1/4 cup skim milk
- 2 tbsp. (each) minced parsley and lemon juice vegetable cooking spray
- 4 boneless, skinless chicken breast halves
- 1/2 cup sliced mushrooms
- 1/4 cup chopped red onion

In small bowl mix soup, milk, lemon juice and parsley; set aside. Heat large non-stick skillet, sprayed with cooking spray, 1 minute. Add chicken; brown 5 minutes on each side. Remove chicken. Add mushrooms and onions to skillet; cook 2 to 3 minutes. Stir in soup mixture; return chicken to skillet. Reduce heat to low, cover and simmer 5 to 10 minutes or until chicken is no longer pink in center.
