BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

OUR ASSURANCE—Fear not, O land; be glad and rejoice; for the Lord will do great things, — Joel 2:21.

Bingham felt rather badly after his censure by the Senate, but he should have.

Next Monday is Armistice day. Is everyone going to Daytona Beach to celebrate?

The Gainesville News has what it chooses to call a "clown editor." Brutally frank, to say the least.

There were no bonfires following yesterday's election. The contest was as orderly as if neither candidate wanted the job.

There are said to be thirty-two thousand speakies in New York City, which is about as many as one man can get around to in a single evening.

Give gotters a black eye by eating more vegetables.—Sarasota Times. Try that on your own gouter. Beefsteak cured ours.—Sanford Herald—Your black eye? —Tampa Tribune.

Baron G. Collier seems to be taking an interest in late in Florida hotels, having recently taken over seven. It would be a great boon to Sanford if he should become interested in the Forrest Lake Hotel.

Ivy Clough Johnson's sparkling paragraphs frequently are quoted by the literary Digest, a compliment reserved for only the very best. Mrs. Johnson has a reputation not only as the clever paragrapher of the Leesburg Commercial, but also as a skillful house-keeper.

Every family used to have a skeleton in its closet, according to the old story, but the wife's clothes take up too much room for that now.—Nassau County Leader. And we had been under the impression for some time that all the clothes of most women could be safely hidden in a thimble.

The ten million dollar Miami Biltmore Hotel in Coral Gables has been sold for two million. John Rabeck and Al Smith are said to have taken over the hotel, but John McEntire, Bowman, of Biltmore fame, will continue to manage the hotel as he has since it was built in 1925. This was one of the places where John Harvey Kellogg thought he might locate his sanitarium. He will have to look elsewhere in Florida now.

Secretary of State Stimson speaking of the American Red Cross recently, said, "To continue and expand these good deeds and to enlarge the field of usefulness in our homeland, the American people should consider it a privilege and an opportunity to belong to their national Red Cross." A Red Cross drive is to be conducted in Sanford this month, and should result in at least a thousand members.

Sanford's, and we might add Florida's, first game of night football was a complete success. In the language of the debonair high school girl, it was a wow! We haven't seen such crowds in this city since Ed Higgins brought in his first bus load of Loch Arber patients. Personally we are all for night football. It's easier to get away from our work at night than in the afternoon, and if it is hard on the players' digestion to fight on a full stomach, it is somewhat cooler under the arc lights than a glowing tropical sun.

We congratulate Mayor Speer upon his election yesterday. The manner in which he has conducted himself in office during the past year assures the people of Sanford of honest and efficient services from him during the next three years. To Leon LeRoy we hardly feel like offering condolences; any man is personally so much better off a private citizen than a public official. Had he been elected we believe he could have served with distinction; defeated, he can better serve himself and his family. To both Mayor Speer and Mr. LeRoy, then, we offer our humble salute.

Fruits And Vegetables, Seminole First

Seminole County lead all other counties in the state in the shipment of fruits and vegetables during the 1922-23 season, according to a report from the State Marketing Bureau published recently in the Tampa Times. The various counties in the state were divided into three groups, eighteen counties in the first, seventeen counties in the second, and thirteen in the third. Seminole County was first in the first group.

It led in the first rank division with four commodities; Polk and St. John's, three each; Marion, Alachua, Palm Beach and Lake counties two places each; while Okaloosa, Manatee, Orange, Glades, Santa Rosa, Broward, St. Lucie, Hillsborough, Escambia, Dade and Hardee lead in the carlot shipment of one commodity.

Ranking second, Manatee county lead with four commodities; Orange, Bay, Sumter, Putnam and Bradford counties each held two second places; Palm Beach, Lake, Broward, Hillsborough, Sarasota, Pinellas, Hendry, Indian River, Okeechobee, and Suwannee each held one place. The third place division gave Manatee and Orange counties three places each; Alachua and Broward two places with Marion, Lake, Polk, Hillsborough, Dade, Lee, Levy, Washington, Flagler and Jefferson ranking third in the shipment of one commodity.

The compilation showed that during the season 114,396 cars of fruits and vegetables were shipped from the state by 63 counties. The total number of cars of each commodity shipped during the season were: String beans 4,109; blueberries 18; cabbage 3,060; cantaloupes 19; carrots 8; cauliflower 28; Celery 8,844; corn 283; cucumbers 2,206; eggplant 240; grapes 28; grapefruit 21,790; lettuce 1,402; mixed citrus 9,468; mixed vegetables 2,323; onions 4; oranges 32,445; pears 5; green peas 31; peppers 1,965; pineapples 5; potatoes 5,062; romaine 348; squash 1; strawberries 2,025; sweet potatoes 108; tomatoes 8,042; turnips 2; watermelons 10,482.

A report made by the United States department of agriculture as of October 25 indicates about 8,000 acres of string beans for this season; following replanting in the flood areas. Cucumbers show a decrease from 950 acres last year to 750 this season. Celery shows approximately 6,200 acres, some of which will be harvested toward the end of the shipping season. Other estimated acreage: Eggplant, 1,140; lettuce 1,600; tomatoes 16,000; escarole 200; peppers 1,500; cabbage 3,000; potatoes (early) 2,000.

Beguining A Husband's Vote

Having just emerged from the midst of an exciting political contest, Sanford residents are perhaps in a strategic position to appreciate fully the differences which arise occasionally between husbands and wives with regard to candidates. Jewell Joy Bader, a woman who apparently never married, has prepared the following rules for young wives on how to get a recalcitrant husband to vote for the candidate of their choice.

1. Every morning, from now until after election, have his breakfast on time and let him read his paper.
2. Admire his candidate's personal appearance, his way with women, his charming personality. Praise him continually, then your husband will surely sour on him.
3. Suggest that he needn't come home for dinner, but go to that important political meeting—even though you know that he is sure to spend some of his time with the other boys at a game.
4. Serve only the dishes he likes best and, while he enjoys them, make the most casual references to your candidate. Then your husband may misunderstand and vote for him.
5. Tell him that your neighbor is voting all wrong, and that you assured your neighbor that your husband knew better.
6. Tell your friend over the phone (in your husband's hearing) that you wouldn't think of dictating to him about his vote—that he knows the better man and will do the rest.
7. Arouse his envy with stories of his candidate's undevoted success. He will then turn to your man.
8. Laughingly tell him that you made a bet with Mrs. So-and-so, a new hat against a new dress, that your candidate puts in. Where is the husband who could resist such graft?
9. Arrange to have friends for Election Day dinner, to celebrate your husband's successful choice.
10. On Election Day let him sleep late, and don't ask him to do anything he doesn't volunteer to do. Don your prettiest frock and go with him to the polls.

P. S. Then, . . . perhaps your candidate MAY get his vote.

TELLING THE WORLD

The Ten Greatest Women, Revised. Emil Ludwig in the current American Magazine lists the ten greatest women of all time. The following are awarded Ludwig's ten positions with left tackle still to be chosen.

1. Aspasia 2. Catherine of Sienna 3. Joan of Arc 4. Queen Elizabeth 5. Maria Theresa 6. Madame de Maintenon 7. Florence Nightingale 8. Harriet Beecher Stowe 9. Mme. Marie Curie 10. Eleanor Roosevelt.

This is a fairly good list for a foreign expert to pick out. But Mr. Ludwig has fallen down in every one of his positions. We do not like to be foolish about the matter, but here are our ten greatest women of all time. And we would just as soon see them stacked up against Knute Rockne's any Saturday afternoon. The ten greatest women are Peggy Joyce, Greta Garbo, Mrs. Gann, Anne McPherson and the Florida sextet. Let us compare these two mythical teams. Ludwig's No. 1 choice is Aspasia because she was married to Pericles. Everybody knows that Aspasia is only another word for having your mind go blank and forgetting everything. And we would like to state that Peggy Joyce has forgotten more husbands than Aspasia ever had. On the other end of the line, in the No. 7 position, Ludwig names Florence Nightingale. This is not a very strong choice if Mr. Lud-

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

By Robert Barry

In view of the clamor for justice office and the fact that the Republican National Campaign Committee, of al, assumes a historical character.

The white-haired, boyish-faced, soft-spoken, hard-hitting veteran of liberal Republicanism and militant insurgency from Cannonism to Grundyism stands out as the man we have been trying to find for a long time. In him we discover the one person of whom history may say:

"The office sought the man." Norris rates the compliment. He is in the Senate today in spite of himself.

It is likely to be for another six years because of a friendly conspiracy against his own plans.

The return in 1921 of Senator Norris—ofttimes dubbed the "only honest man in Congress" or the "most thoroughly honest man in the Senate" or "the pillar of intellectual integrity supporting the Great White Dome"—hardly could be put down as a conspiracy. One smart newspaper man manoeuvred that. It takes two to make a conspiracy.

There seems to be slight doubt that the projection of Senator Norris into the 1930 campaign results from a conspiracy.

It is a pretty story. Senator Norris decided in 1923 that he was sick of the Senate. He thought his fight in the House against "Uncle Joe" Cannon and the defeat of rail in 1912 presented a lasting reformation. The victory proved ephemeral. Norris so decided in 1920 when Harding was the nominee and the victor. Norris lost heart. He was getting along in years. To discredit "Old Bob" La Follette the reactionary newspapers of the country had plastered a label of "pro-German" on him.

The Old Guard had liquidated its bankruptcy of 1912 and had emerged more powerful than ever. The American people seemed to enjoy being cajoled by Wall Street capitalists and Watson Binnet Curtis servitors.

Senator Norris sat in his office and pondered the political situation. What did it profit an honest Republican?

Norris was not prepared to eat. He had one positive reaction, a real, a vital one.

In 1919, the Hallinger expose was an incident of such national concern that the Republican Party, aided by its reactionary psychology on the Payne Aldrich tariff bill, went on the rocks and only Utah and Vermont sent (how?) to the funeral held in the Electoral College.

Norris was encouraged to believe the American people could read and write and vote accordingly.

He acquired his "what's the use" attitude when he sensed the consequences of the Harding election in 1920, long before the Senate elections. By 1921 Norris had lost hope of bringing decency to government in Washington. He decided to quit. The nomination of Calvin Coolidge at Cleveland was inevitable.

Norris wished to go back home to reform State legislative procedure by reducing stipends 50 per cent. He proposed to do it through having a one-hour Legislature in Nebraska, elected by the people, instead of having per-mandated Senators, districts.

William O'Connell Jones, now dead, was editor of the Lincoln State Journal out in Lincoln, Neb. He told me the story on one of my visits to his cozy hole of an office.

Without the knowledge of Senator Norris, papers to have his name on the Republican primary ballot were filed at Lincoln, Neb. on the day before the nomination petitions closed. Senator Norris wrote a telegram to the Secretary of State of Nebraska instructing him to withdraw the Norris name in all papers.

Handling the telegram to his secretary, Mabel Jennings, Norris told her to call a telegraph messenger.

Kings. But she never established a powerful offense. Mme. de Maintenon was Louis XIV's No. 1 girl friend, but she always sat in his lap.

No French King or British Ambassador could get away with that on Mrs. Gann. When Mrs. Gann is on the premises she not only demands a highback chair to sit on, she insists that it be in a good position where she can kick, pass the mashed potatoes and back the receiving line. You can't leave Mrs. Gann off any team without hearing about it—from Mrs. Gann.

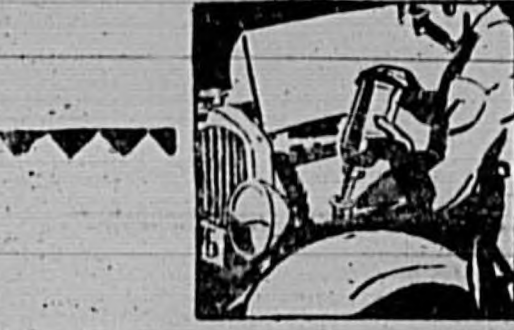

As for the rest of Ludwig's positions, we would trust the Florida sextet to stop them any day in the week, if not throw them for a ten-year loss.

serge. She did. The messenger arrived. As he was leaving the Norris office, Paul Y. Anderson of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch banged into the boy. By way of saying Anderson demanded to know the text of the telegram the boy was carrying from the Senator's office. The befuddled boy told Anderson, "Oh," said Anderson, "some changes have been decided on in this language. Here's a dime. You run along. We'll call you later." The Norris withdrawal never was sent. Norris was renominated. The veteran Progressive was re-ected under circumstances which gave him slight personal joy, its particular gratification. Pretty near time for Armistice day in North Carolina. Philadelphia, Bulletin. Good morning, have you taught a

A Message From The American Automobile Insurance Association
Florida's Oldest Insurer of Automobiles

Among Florida Motorists . . . the trend is to AMERICANIZE

More Florida automobile owners are insured with the American Automobile Insurance Association than with any other company. That is the fact.

Now Let's See Why

The popularity of the American may be attributed to any one of a number of reasons . . . or to many reasons.

The fact that the company is a Florida institution, owned and operated by Florida men and keeping its money in Florida securities and Florida banks, is not an altogether satisfactory explanation. Surely that is a factor, however, because Floridians like to patronize Floridians. Nevertheless, investigation proves that other factors enter into the situation.

The fact that this association writes automobile insurance at lower cost is important. The policy-holders are saved thousands of dollars annually by this unique method of writing insurance . . . a method which years of experience has proved practical throughout the country.

Prompt settlement of claims and efficient handling of business have won many friends for the American. These factors are made possible because the company does only one thing . . . writes automobile insurance, because it has more service employes, more offices and more representatives than any other exclusive automobile insurance company operating in Florida.

Of course there are a number of other reasons. Financial responsibility, a directorate known throughout the state for integrity and progress, and a personnel that makes service a fact come in for their share in the company's success.

Before your present policies expire it will pay you to follow the lead of thousands of other motorists and investigate the American.

Cole Blaise Urges Action On Move To Shunt Tariff Bill

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—(INS)—Declaring the Senate is wasting time on a tariff bill that will never become law, Senator Cole Blaise (D) of South Carolina today promised to demand action on his resolution to shunt the bill aside until after Dec. 3, thus bringing the special session to an abrupt close.

The resolution apparently faces defeat if it reaches a vote, but it was received with sympathetic interest by the "old guard" Republican, who would rather have no tariff than one written by the Democratic-progressive Republican coalition.

Blaise's proposal coincides in a large degree with the views expressed by such regular Republicans as Senators Reed (R) of Pennsylvania and Edge (R) of New Jersey.

Meantime, Senator Smoot (R) of Utah, chairman of the finance committee was doing his best to drive the Senate forward to the laborious task of disposing of individual tariff items, peace negotiations were being carried forward and "old guard" Republicans were seeking support for an adjournment over the Thanksgiving week-end.

Smoot had succeeded in upsetting the unlimited debate rule of the Senate by confining senators to ten minute speeches in the close of petty schedule debates, but the objection of Senator Hill (D) of Washington prevented an agreement to exclude all business but tariff from the Senate floor, except for an hour a day.

The effect of leaders of the tariff fight to reach a partial compromise in the demand of individual senators for extensive consideration of amendments dealing with products of their home states. Nevertheless, Sen. Simmons (D) of North Carolina resisted progress being made.

As a concession to the regulars who have advocated adjournment of the special session on Nov. 15 to take the bill up in the regular session concerning it in December, a plan was evolved to quit just before Thanksgiving. This would give a week's interval before the regular session.

Chicken Thieves Are Reported Busy Again

Chicken thieves have again raided the pens of Boardwalk Avenue residents after an elapse of nearly two weeks. The robbers succeeded in making a get-away with more than 75 chickens. According to a neighbor of the vicinity in which the robbery was reported, C. E. Chorpene lost 35 chickens and A. K. Shoenaker was robbed of 10 hens last night.

It was learned from the sheriff's office this morning that a special body of deputies had been assigned to investigate the situation. At press time no clues had been reported, but it is hoped to make important discoveries during this afternoon.

Accord turned the sight, first campaign in Texas back as "educational campaign." He said he didn't expect all 1,000 of the banks which sent drafts to honor them but added they called the attention of the banks to the work of the law organization. He said similar "eight cent" campaigns were carried on in Georgia and Alabama but offered no figures to show the results.

Further disclosures from correspondence of the organization were that letters were sent all over the South expounding the merits of a "four cent" policy and against tariff protection for vegetable oils in its result of the bank work. The Marshall cotton oil company of Marshall, Texas, the Louisiana Cotton Oil Co., the Laurel Grove company of New Orleans, the Valentine Sugar Co. of Lockport, La., the Oklahoma Cotton Crushers Association and others were among the groups that responded to this request, some making contributions, the files reported.

Florida Fraternity To Abandon Hazing Of Its Candidates

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA, GAINESVILLE, Nov. 6.—Tradition of many years standing was broken today when Delta Epsilon, honorary pre-medical fraternity, in announcing its list of pledges, announced that hazing of candidates would be dispensed with in future.

The announcement was made through Granville Lavimon, Tampa, founder of the Gainesville chapter and chairman of the initiation committee for 1929-30. It followed a resolution adopted at a meeting of the fraternity embracing a campaign to eliminate public indignities on the campus.

Manley Cole, dean of James, president of the organization, said public paddling of pledges and hazing to which the newcomers were subjected each year was entirely out of keeping with the spirit of an honorary fraternity. The public ceremonial this year for the Delta Epsilon pledges will consist simply of wearing pledges.

Five pledges were named this week for the fraternity. They are: Hensley Egan, Gordon King, Lesly Arns, Ashby Williams and Paul Helmreich. The fraternity is fundamentally an honor organization, but considers the academic and practical side of the study of pre-medical sciences and is a leader in campus activities.

Still More Millions TREAT COLDS DIRECT

Each year more and more people give up the old, indirect way of treating colds by "doing" and turn to Vicks VapoRub.

Just rubbed on, Vicks medicated vapors are inhaled direct to the air-passages, and, at the same time, it acts direct through the skin like a plaster.

This better way of treating colds originated with Vicks a generation ago.

Today, the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "doing," and there are "Over 26 Million Jars Used Yearly."

QUALITY so fine that half the world doesn't realize that Buick is priced so low!

It is an impressive fact that men and women are buying from two to five times as many new Buicks as any other car priced above $1200.

Moreover, during August and September, Buick monopolized its market to such a degree that it won 51% of the total sales of the 15 makes of cars in its price class.

And yet this marked preference for Buick would be still greater if all motorists realized that they can buy six of the fourteen luxurious Buick body types for less than $1300, f.o.b. factory.

These are Buicks through and through, embodying the full array of Buick quality features: Buick's new and surpassingly beautiful Bodies by Fisher; the famous Buick Valve-in-Head engine—most powerful engine of its size in the world; Buick's new Controlled Servo Enclosed Mechanical Brakes; the new Buick steering gear; new Road Shock Eliminator; and Buick's new, longer rear springs with Lovejoy Dual-draulic Shock Absorbers.

The new Buick, with these features, will introduce you to new and unequalled performance, driving ease, riding comfort and reliability on any day you put it to the test. And yet these six Buick models are offered at the price of cars which motorists never think of comparing with Buick!

Visit our showroom. Bring your present car. Learn how easily you can obtain one of these new Buicks. All are available on the extremely liberal General Motors time payment plan.
