Slow Weight Loss Best For Health
Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband is 46 years old and he has what he calls "gone on a diet." He doesn't eat any breakfast or lunch — only coffee. And he tries to stay on a 1000-calorie diet for supper. He works hard on a construction gang and before he eats supper, he jogs two or three miles.

I told him he's hurting his health but he won't listen to me. Maybe if you told him he would pay more attention. He started at 240 and dropped 20 pounds in only a few weeks. He wants to weigh 200. What do you think of this?

DEAR READER — Too much too soon. It would be much better if your husband learned to eat properly. That might also involve some changes in how you prepare his meals.

Most authorities believe that a person should lose more than two pounds a week on a weight losing diet. I think it's better if a person consistently loses about a pound a week and readjusts his life style on a permanent basis rather than on a crash project.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. You and your husband can use this diet as a model to build a balanced diet for him.

Once his weight is at the level he wants it, he can merely add enough foods to this diet to satisfy him and keep his weight at a stable level. Thus he'll be learning to eat right while he's on the diet even though he may not lose weight quite so fast.

I'm glad he's physically active because exercise helps to prevent muscle loss when a person is on a diet. And I don't

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

West hopes he can beat five clubs. "He will do just that if South doesn't play to give himself any chance. He starts by discarding a spade on dummy's ace of diamonds and starts to figure how to score 11 tricks."

Oswald: "He sees 10 easy ones. Nine tops and one sure spade ruff. That way, if spades break 3-3 he will be able to set up his long spades, but if spades are going to break 4-2 and the opponents are able to get in two trump leads against him he will wind up with a third spade loser and a real headache."

Alan: "There is a book play available to give himself an extra chance by setting up dummy's fifth heart. He sees that he can take that extra chance without giving up the space change."

Oswald: "At trick two he cashes dummy's ace of hearts. Next comes a heart ruff and a spade lead. A trump comes back. He ruffs another heart and leads a second spade. Back comes another trump, won in dummy."

Alan: "Another heart ruff establishes dummy's fifth heart. He can ruff a spade to get to dummy and his last spade goes on that last heart."

Public To Voice Cable TV Woes

The Seminole County Commission this morning voted 4-0 to hold a hearing July 22 to allow the public to voice its complaints against Orange-Seminole Cablevision. Because of numerous complaints they said they received, the Commission voted last week to ask the county attorney to find out what steps must be taken to revoke a cable television company's franchise to operate in the county.

The thrust from the beginning was to get its (Orange-Seminole Cablevision) attention," Commissioner Bob Sturm said this morning. "I think we've done that. And we need to do something to continue to keep its attention. Perhaps an airing in public would be the way to do that."

Following the vote, Orange-Seminole Regional Manager Steve McPherson said he made no comment because it seemed obvious the proposal was going to pass. "But my point is, if this was the culmination of many contracts between Orange-Seminole Cablevision and the commission, where the commission brought to our attention problems that had not been resolved, that would be different."

Vogt Expects Track-Conversion OK

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

With only three days left in the 1980 session of the Florida Legislature, the bill to permit conversion of the Seminole Harness Raceway in Casselberry to a greyhound racing facility has yet to be approved by committee.

There is little doubt however, the bill will ultimately be heard on the Senate floor and passed according to State Sen. John Vogt, D-Cocoa Beach.

"Vogt, whose district includes Seminole County, said today the bill wasn't heard by the Senate Commerce Committee Monday as scheduled because the committee "got bogged down on trucking legislation."

Vogt said W. D. Childers, D-Pensacola, Senate president-designate and chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, plans to waive the rules to get the measure before the committee and to the Senate floor for action. The bill has already passed the Florida House.

A special meeting of the commerce committee is expected to be called later today or early in the morning, Vogt said.

"Meanwhile, Sen. Vince Fichtel, R-Leesburg, Senate minority whip, said today that even though he is "not optimistic" that he will be successful in stopping the legislation he is trying to let senators on the committee know the Casselberry track is the "worst-located parliament in the state."

"I'm telling them the city of Casselberry and residents near the track are opposed to the conversion for a lot of very good reasons," Fichtel said.

He said when he served in the Florida House his district included the racetrack area. "I've gone door to door in that area and know it well. The people are unhappy," he said.

"The political reality is that a lot of statewide issues have been tied to the bill. The cards are stacked against opposition. It is an impossible situation, but I'm trying. I want the senators who are going to vote for this to know they are doing the wrong thing," Fichtel said.

The majority of the Casselberry City Council has said conversion of the track will mean additional traffic on residential city streets and require more police officers during racing hours even though the city will receive no additional revenue from the track.

A proposed bill to permit the city to levy an admission tax at the track died in the Florida House.

State Rep. Robert Hattaway, D-Altamonte Springs, said Childers is pushing the legislation because the additional $1 million-plus expected to be realized in state revenues annually after the conversion is necessary to fund the "pari-mutuel package" — a group of bills dealing with pari-mutuel wagering in the state. Hattaway sponsored the legislation in the House.

Vogt said among the items of statewide significance which the revenues from the Casselberry track will benefit is thoroughbred breeders.

Invasion 'Big Bottom' Midge Finds Lakefront Home

The Sanford lakefront, plagued by black blind mosquitoes (midges) periodically for the past 10 years, is now enduring a different insect.

This insect is another type of blind mosquito — a chironomid Cricotopus crassicaudatus — commonly known as the "Big Bottom" midge.

It is bigger and broader in all respects than the black midge. It is green striped and, like its cousin, the black midge, doesn't bite.

At this point the green striped "Big Bottom" is more prevalent than the black midge in Lake Monroe and no one knows exactly why.

Dr. Arshad Ali, who has been researching and studying the black midge at the Agriculture, Research and Education Center of the University of Florida on Celery Avenue, suspects the "Big Bottom's" prevalence may have something to do with the fact the lake level is considerably lower this year than at the same time a year ago. The lower lake level is primarily due to the lack of rainfall in comparison with the same period of 1979.

The lake has undergone tremendous changes in water quality and level," Dr. Ali said. "It is up slightly now, but last year's level at this time was higher because we had had more rainfall," he said.

Dr. Ali said he first saw the "Big Bottom" variety a year ago while consulting with Army specialists in Lake Okechobee. He then found the variety in small numbers while doing experiments in the Florida Power reservoir and in Lake Monroe on the blind mosquito.

"He hopes" the green-striped midge population declines here in the next two to three weeks. While monitoring

At this time, the green-striped midge is predominant over the black variety in Lake Monroe, based on the larva count. Dr. Ali has taken and the adult emergence shown in the traps. Studies on the black midge are continuing at both the Sanford station under Dr. Ali's direction and at the University of Florida in Gainesville under the direction of Dr. Don Hall.

Winter Springs Suit To Be Heard Today

By DAVID M. RAZLER
Herald Staff Writer

Winter Springs will fight a suit brought against it by Florida Land Corp. at a hearing this afternoon, despite the fact the owner of a large parcel within the city is suing to enforce a zoning change the city backed.

This afternoon, lawyers for the city, the land company and a group of city citizens will be heard by Circuit Judge Kenneth Leffler, as the judge rules on Florida Land's request for an injunction against the city and the citizen's group.

In a suit filed last week by Florida Land, the company sought to prevent the Citizens' Rights Committee from forcing the city to hold a referendum, designed to overturn a city council decision to allow the company to build with a greater density on its 305 acres of land in the city limits.

Under the Winter Springs city charter, any time more than 15 percent of the registered voters sign a petition, the city council is given a choice of either retracting a challenged decision, or putting the matter to a vote by the people.

Last month, the city council members voted to allow Florida Land to build housing at a density greater than the home-per-acre its land was originally zoned for.

A committee led by John C. Mitchell, a city resident, was formed to fight the decision. The committee gathered more than 800 signatures, about double the 419 valid ones needed to force the vote.

At an emergency council meeting held Monday night, it was announced County

Polk Pleads For More Jail Staff

By DIANE PETRYK
Herald Staff Writer

The county commission was skeptical. "I'm going to ask this over and over because I see greatly increased expense here," Commissioner Dick Williams said. "What has changed since 1977?"

Today you have to have what is called a "constitutional jail," Saunders answered. That means prisoners have rights, such as the right to educational, religious and health programs.

"There are so many people in the jail game right now," Polk said, "regulations are going to change again."

Saunders said he sees things coming such as contact visiting. But for now, he said, the requested 18 additional corrections officers will "show good faith" which may be important if any court action ensues.

"I'll tell you right now," Polk said, "there are legal people just standing by waiting to see what we do."

He said he is requesting the commission approve the 18 additional staff now, the 10 following year and 8 the year after that.

"I believe this will satisfy the courts," he said.

But Commissioner Bob French said the 18 would still be less than recommended by the federal government.

"We must try to operate this place for the safety of the public, the staff and the inmates," Saunders said.

"I can open this jail tomorrow with what staff I have," Polk said. "But it would not be open entirely. And it would not be a constitutional jail and we'd have lawsuits upon us so fast it would make your head swim."

Polk asked the commissioners for early consideration of the additional employees, although next year's budget does not begin until October.

"Before October 1, if I can get a consensus that you'll agree to hire X number, zero to 18," Polk said, "I'll go ahead and bring them aboard with the excess I've accumulated in my salary account."

"But it isn't Christmas until December," Commissioner Sandra Glenn said.

Graham To Sign Drinking Bill

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The Senate passed today and sent to Gov. Bob Graham a bill raising Florida's drinking age from 18 to 19 on Oct. 1, except for active duty servicemen.

Graham has said he will sign the bill (HB181), but opponents have warned they will challenge it in court the first time an 18-year-old serviceman is served a drink but an 18-year-old civilian next to him is denied service.

Senators voted 32-2 to accept House amendments to the proposal, which has been bounced back and forth between the two chambers for weeks because of disagreement over the specific wording.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Israeli Troops Prevent Protest Against Bombings

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Israeli troops, some cutting through locks with shears, forced Arab merchants to open shops on the West Bank today to prevent a general strike called in protest of car bombings that maimed two Palestinian mayors.

Two callers, claiming to be members of previously unknown Jewish underground groups, claimed responsibility today for the explosion, and one group vowed to continue the "struggle" against the supporters of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

In Nabulus, Mayor Bassam Shaka smiled for photographers from where he lay in bed, the stumps of his legs washed in bandages. His name was removed from the critical list.

"They've taken my legs but it only means I'm more firmly planted to the soil," he said. "They can cut off my legs but not my struggle."

Mayor Elias Freil and the Bethlehem city council resigned today to protest the attacks. West Bank military officials said. In the occupied Gaza Strip, Mayor Rifeed Shawaa and the Gaza city council resigned Monday.

Hundreds Of Soviets Killed

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (UPI) — Hundreds of Soviet troops were killed and injured in heavy fighting in a major push in eastern Afghanistan, Afghan rebels said today.

The Islamic Alliance for the Liberation of Afghanistan said the Soviets took heavy casualties in their assault against five insurgent positions and only overran one of the strongholds.

It also reported heavy casualties for the rebels, who have fought the Soviets since the Russians moved in — in force — around Christmas to set up the government of Babrak Karmal.

The rebel report of hundreds of Soviet casualties could not be independently confirmed, but if true it would support recent rebel claims the Soviet offensive to secure eastern Afghanistan was proving costly. Rebel claims have in the past proved exaggerated, but seldom completely baseless.

Weissmuller Serenaded

ACAPULCO, Mexico (UPI) — One-time Tarzan Johnny Weissmuller, crippled by strokes and other ailments, was lifted from his usual depression by a mariachi band singing him a happy 76th birthday only to slip back into the life his wife wishes could end humbly.

The German-born Maria Weissmuller said the former movie star and swimming champion appeared happy after the serenade Monday of two traditional Mexican "marriage songs" organized by friends in the Mexican resort of Acapulco.

"Las Mananitas," includes the verse, "Wake up, my dear, wake up and see that it's already dawn... we have all come with pleasure to wish you a happy birthday."

But Mrs. Weissmuller said that after the celebration her husband returned to the state of depression in which most of his days are now spent.

A series of strokes and operations for stomach and throat ailments have sapped the memory and strength of the former star of 19 Tarzan movies and holder of 67 world swimming records, making him totally reliant on medicine, food and breathing tubes and nurses, she said.

Man With Knife Robs Convenience Store

By DAVID M. HAZLER
Herald Staff Writer

A man with a knife robbed a convenience store clerk of more than $100 early this morning, Sanford police said. Edward Bailey, of rural Sanford, told police he was alone in the Lil' Champ store at 1119 E. 25th St., when a man approached him behind the counter, holding a knife, at 1:54 a.m. Bailey complied with the thief's demand to open the register and step into a bathroom at the rear of the store, police say. The thief took about $100 cash, police say. Bailey, forced into the bathroom, found the robber gone when he came out, they say.

SANFORD MAN JAILED ON ASSAULT CHARGE
A Sanford man was arrested Monday afternoon on charges he hit another Sanford resident over the head with a shovel during a fight.

George Byrd, 1208 Pomegranite Ave., Sanford was held in lieu of $8,400 bond following the fight, which left Roger A. Daniels, 25 William Clark Court, unconscious and bleeding, police say.

Daniels was treated and released at Seminole Memorial Hospital for a 4½-inch gash allegedly suffered in the fight. Byrd was arrested at the corner of 13th Street and Mangouatine Ave., the scene of the fight, police say.

DEBARY WOMAN CHARGED IN THEFT
A DeBary woman is in jail, charged with stealing rings from a patient in a Sanford nursing home and selling them.

Brenda Lee Johnston, 31, 228 Della Pine, was ordered held in lieu of $5,250 bond, on charges she stole $5,000 worth of jewelry from the late Elizabeth McLarney, mother of Patricia Siple, 309 Tucker Drive, Sanford.

Johnston, an employee at the Lakeview Nursing Home, 919 E. Second St., allegedly took the rings from Mrs. McLarney while she was a patient there.

The rings were discovered missing by Siple when she went to claim her mother's belongings.

The rings were found sold in Deltona.

Montgomery Ward's terminal at Eighth Street and Perimeter Avenue, deputies report.

Employees reported Sunday finding two truck trailers forced open, an undetermined amount of goods missing.

FERN PARK APARTMENT BURGLARIZED
Burglars broke a window to enter Greg Mudge's Cherrywood Apartment, Friday, taking close to $2,000 worth of goods, say deputies.

Deputies say the thieves got a color television, camera, watch and 45 caliber pistol. Mudge's Vietnam medals were also stolen, deputies say.

OFFICER SUFFERS INJURIES
An Alamo Springs officer suffered minor injuries and damaged his motorcycle Saturday afternoon after handing out a ticket on Interstate-4, police say.

George Aldrich, 31, was looking for a place to turn on the median, between state roads 634 and 436 on the interstate when he hit a storm sewer, flipping over his motorcycle, police report.

Aldrich was treated and released for minor cuts and bruises at Florida Hospital-Altamonte. His motorcycle suffered about $600 damage, police say.

Aldrich had checked a car down the ramp from 436 onto the interstate and written a ticket for the motorist, parked on the median. As he tried to find a place to turn around, he hit the grate, flipping the motorcycle.

Although no charges have been filed, if the officer is found at fault by the department's accident review board, he could be required to pay for the bike's repairs.

Accident Victim Identified

Midland police have identified a 17-year-old killed in an accident Thursday as Michael Burns, 501 Helmsway, W. Casselberry.

A second man, a passenger on the motorcycle Burns was driving, Douglas R. Hughes, of the same address, is listed in satisfactory condition at Florida Hospital Orlando.

Police say the accident occurred when a car, driven by an unidentified person, traveling south on U.S. Highway 17-92, made a left turn across the highway into the path of the motorcycle.

Charges are still pending a complete investigation, said police, adding they had no further information available at this time.

FIRE DAMAGES SPRAGUE CORP. FACTORY
A minor fire in a testing oven caused smoke and water damage at the Sprague Corp.'s factory on U.S. Highway 97-92 near Longwood, Monday night.

Seminole County fire investigators say the fire, discovered by a maintenance man at 9:45 p.m., destroyed a "burn out oven" and circuit boards inside it for testing.

Apparently a short or malfunctioning thermostat caused the oven, used to test finished circuit boards at high heat, to overheat and ignite its contents, investigators say.

Most of the damage in the building was caused by heat, from a sprinkler head over the oven, they say.

County firemen said they have no way of estimating the value of the damage to the oven or its contents.

BURGLARS STEAL HOME BURGLARIZED
Burglars stole $919 in jewelry from a Forest City home Monday, deputies say.

The thieves pried open a window at 2420 Westwood Drive, between 7:30 a.m. and 5 p.m., Chester Hicks, the owner, told deputies.

BURGLARY NETS $1,000 CASH PLUS
Burglars, who forced a window in south Seminole County Monday, left a home with $1,000 cash and almost $300 in jewelry, deputies say.

Linda Popp, 128 Tindale Circle, told deputies the thieves broke into her home between 9 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Monday.

The thieves took $1,000 in cash and $290 in jewelry from a bedroom, deputies say.

Satellite Finds Ancient Canals Of Mayans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Scientists knew about the big cities and sophistication of the ancient Mayan civilization in Central America, but they often wondered how the Maya could produce enough food to feed millions of people.

An airborne radar system developed to study the cloud-covered island of Venus may have answered the question.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration in England told the space agency the canals apparently enabled the Maya to drain water from swampy jungles to create small plots of dry land where maize and cacao could be grown intensively.

Adams said there has been little evidence in the past of the kind of intensive agriculture needed in a land characterized by either arid and mountainous territory or swampy jungles.

"We've never before been able to reconstruct convincingly an economy based on the Maya," Adams said. "In other words, how did they feed all these masses of people all of the time?"

The radar was developed by NASA and the Defense Department and adapted by NASA's Jet Propulsion Laboratory, Pasadena, Calif., to map the cloud-shrouded topography of Venus.

From an altitude of 28,000 feet over Central American jungles, the radar enabled scientists to produce clear images of varying layers of the foliage. Height measurements allowed researchers to determine land levels beneath the vegetation.

Adams examined the radar data for evidence of ancient settlements or roadways. He found instead unusually uniform grid patterns.

"I could see little lines, most of them looking like ladders or lattices, connecting with larger waterways," Adams told the space agency.

He and Dr. T. Patrick Culbert of the University of Arizona visited the rain forests in February and found evidence at least a third of the patterns seen by radar are ancient canals dug with stone blades and hoses to drain water and make small square plots of dry arable land.

Adams estimated the canals, about 1½ feet deep and 3 to 9 feet wide, cover 11,000 square miles of Guatemala alone.

NASA said additional studies using more advanced radar are planned to determine how extensive the canal system is, and ground expeditions are planned to look for Mayan agricultural artifacts.

Prosecutors Ask Justice To Drop Lance Charges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Prosecutors have recommended that the Justice Department drop the remaining three bank fraud counts against former federal budget director Bert Lance, who was acquitted of nine charges in a lengthy trial.

Sources familiar with the case said prosecutor Edwin Tomko urged his superiors at the Justice Department not to prosecute Lance on three counts left undecided by the jury in his three-month trial, which ended in April.

Presiding U.S. District Judge Charles A. Moye Jr. ruled a mistrial on those charges and four other deadlocked counts against two Lance co-defendants, Richard T. Carr and H. Jackson Mullins.

Only co-defendant Thomas Mitchell was found innocent of all four charges against him.

Lance was acquitted on nine of the 12 counts against him and Moye dismissed another 12 counts.

The defense immediately moved for directed verdicts of acquittal on the remaining charges against Lance, Mullins and Carr, but Moye gave the Justice Department until June 10 to respond.

Senate May Cut Staff Funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate has voted to cut 10 percent next year from the total amount of money spent on Senate staffs, which Sen. Robert Byrd, D-W. Va., says could save as much as $20 million.

The Senate Monday actually thwarted an attempt to make members of Congress cut their staffs and travel expenses by 15 percent.

Instead, the Senate voted, 68-15, in favor of an alternate plan under which the Appropriations Committee would cut 10 percent next year from the total amount spent on personal and committee staffs by the Senate only. The Senate reaffirmed its vote on the alternate plan in a second vote, 82-1.

'Count' Down, But Not Out

CHICAGO (UPI) — Jazz great William "Count" Basie, hospitalized at Illinois Masonic Medical Center with pneumonia, was reported resting comfortably and in good condition today.

Doctors said Basie, whose keyboard style and driving band arrangements made him one of the founders of the swing era of jazz more than 40 years ago, will rest in the hospital for a few days.

"He's fine," said Thomas J. Cassidy, the 75-year-old Basie's agent. "He's just tired out."

Railroads Could Merge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Norfolk and Western Railway and Southern Railway have announced a merger plan that, if approved, would create a handful of companies control of the nation's railroads.

Should the merger win government and stockholders approval, there would be three large rail systems in the East and three in the West. The Merger would solve a problem with several railroads bankrupt or in serious trouble.

The Southern-N&W merger, announced Monday after a series of secret talks, surprised the industry. The two had held merger discussions last year, but had broken them off and said no further talks were planned.

Houses Divided On Trucking As Fight Goes To Wire

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The battle over trucking deregulation is going down to the wire with the House and Senate still divided over the regulatory role to be played by the Public Service Commission.

The Senate Commerce Committee began a new skirmish Monday with lawmakers voting to shift safety inspections now handled by the FSC over to the Florida Highway Patrol.

The change prompted by Sen. Curtis Peterson, D-Lakeland, puts the Senate in a different posture than the House, which wants the PSC to continue its spot checks of trucks for another year before phasing them out.

Capitol Land Prices Zoom

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Property values around the Capitol are rising so fast, acreage in town is 10 times as expensive as suburban building land just a few miles away.

Nevertheless, Cabinet members today may act on a proposal to acquire a state-secure parcel downtown to help round out a block already owned by the state. The land would be used for a future office building.

Delayed two weeks ago as Gov. Bob Graham took exception to the price, the parcel is on the market for $60,250. This amounts to $8.50 per square foot and is slightly under the appraised value.

American Crew Faces Charges

Ship Brings Refugees

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) — The freighter Red Diamond pulled into port today, crammed to the gunwales with Cuban refugees, stripped of its Panamanian registry and greeted by U.S. officials waiting to file criminal charges against the captain, the crew and any Americans aboard.

The big ship, which meandered about the Florida Straits during the night, pulled up to the old Navy Station docks about 8:30 a.m., in the midst of a flow of boats that had brought in more than 4,500 refugees in less than 12 hours and swelled the 43-day old Cuban seafill's total arrivals to 99,219.

The Red Diamond seemed likely to take that total past 100,000. The ship carried an estimated 850 refugees, including a newborn infant delivered at sea, by a Coast Guard medical corpsman.

Acting U.S. Attorney Eric Fisher, waiting on the dock as the ship pulled up, said the ship's captain, Nestor Rhodes, the crew and any U.S. citizens aboard will face criminal charges including bringing undocumented aliens into the country and improper carriage of passengers. Fines and prison terms can be $2,000 and five years for each alien, Fisher said.

Fisher said those arrested will be arraigned before U.S. Magistrate Jack Saunders today.

He also said the government of Panama took away the Red Diamond's registry Monday.

The ship arrived during one of the heaviest periods of refugee arrivals in the 43 days of the Cuban seafill.

Between midnight and 6 a.m., 17 boats docked loaded with 2,239 refugees. They followed 14 craft that pulled into port late Monday, carrying 2,270 refugees — a total of 4,509 in less than 12 hours.

Tampa Processing Grinds

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Processing delays are preventing more than 500 Cuban families in Tampa from being reunited with relatives now waiting in processing camps, according to Mario Quevedo, a member of Tampa's Cuban Refugee Task Force.

"The refugee processing is a shambles, a circus," Quevedo said Monday. "The delays are incredible."

Quevedo said some Tampa families were notified as much as a month ago their relatives had made it to this country, but said they still are waiting to be reunited.

He said the families even have the immigration numbers assigned to their relatives.

But he said they have been unable to get them out of the camps at Eglin Air Force Base, Fla., or Fort Chaffee, Ark.

That brought the 43-day seafill totals to 99,219 refugees aboard 1,594 boats. Another 644 boats were returned from the Cuban port of Mariel, southern terminus of the seafill, without refugees.

The Red Diamond, a 118-foot freighter flying the Panamanian flag, led the Cuban port of Mariel at 7:30 a.m. Monday at the head of a flotilla of about 50 to 60 smaller American craft hauling refugees. Coast Guard cutters intercepted it in the Florida Straits and told the skipper, identified as a Captain Phillips, that, as a foreign-flag vessel, he would violate U.S. immigration laws if he landed his passengers in the United States.

The Red Diamond spent the remainder of the day and most of the night meandering slowly across the Straits, at one point heading for the Bahamas. Meanwhile, the State Department communicated with the government of Panama to see what

Refugee Camp Quiets Down

FORT CHAFFEE, Ark. (UPI) — Cuban resettlement officials say that with President Carter's order to speed up refugee processing and the Army's new instructions to use force to quell any disturbances, the camp is "even quieter" than it was before Sunday's riot.

"The Army was not aware it could use reasonable force to contain (the) refugees," said Neila Petrick, spokeswoman for the Federal Emergency Management Agency, explaining what a disturbance among several hundred of the 18,000 Cubans at the camp Sunday night led to a full-scale riot in which dozens of people were injured, some seriously.

"They (military police) backed off so many times it just got out of hand," she said Monday. "That has been corrected... By tonight we'll have 2,000 troops here."

That brought the 43-day seafill totals to 99,219 refugees aboard 1,594 boats. Another 644 boats were returned from the Cuban port of Mariel, southern terminus of the seafill, without refugees.

Miamians Greet John Anderson

MIAMI (UPI) — Florida backers of independent presidential candidate John Anderson hope to present him with a running mate when he arrives today for his first Florida campaign tour.

The person chosen, however, will be told emphatically that he — or she — is a "surrogate" candidate for vice president and will have no shot at appearing on the national ticket.

The haste to choose a running mate was prompted because campaign workers want to take advantage of Anderson's visit to begin a petition drive to put his name on Florida's general election ballot. David Britt, Dade County campaign chief, said the Anderson forces need to collect the signatures of 42,000 Florida registered voters by Aug. 15.

Lawyers have told the state campaign staff that the petitions can't be circulated unless it also lists the name of a vice-presidential candidate.

Anderson was scheduled to begin in late morning a two-day campaign swing in south Florida. He will visit Haitian and Cuban refugee centers, address a group of senior citizens, open his Dade campaign headquarters and attend a fund-raiser.

Although attorneys for Anderson's national campaign are considering challenging Florida laws, the state campaign has advised it should pick a name for vice president so the petition drive can begin, said state-campaign coordinator T. Clark Weymouth.

"We will be naming a surrogate from Florida who will serve as a vice-presidential candidate from Florida until John Anderson announces who his running mate will be," said Weymouth.

Anderson would like to start our petition drive as soon as possible," Weymouth said.

Money Matters

Recession 'Wallops' U.S. Budget Worries Legislature

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It now appears the recession slumped into the U.S. economy in early spring with more fury than was originally suspected.

According to late reports, new manufacturing orders fell in April more than they have in almost 5½ years, while construction spending registered yet another steep month decline, its third straight.

"The recession set in with a real wallop in April," said the Commerce Department's deputy chief economist William Cox.

During the weekend, President Carter revised the administration's longstanding prediction of a "short and mild" recession.

"We've got serious recession prospects, steeper than we expected," Carter said.

The Commerce Department reports Monday how far out.

New orders flowing to U.S. factories plunged 5½ percent or $8.3 billion to a seasonally adjusted $143.8 billion in April, reaching their lowest point in eight months.

It was the largest drop since a 6.8 percent decline in December 1974 when the United States was trapped in its last recession.

The decline in new factory orders had been anticipated, but the severity of the drop was far greater than originally evident.

Earlier this month, in an advance report, the department said new orders for durable goods — those products designed to last more than three years — were off 4½ percent in April.

However, new data included in Monday's report revealed orders for durable goods were actually down 6.8 percent or $6.1 billion to $7.3 billion.

The decline in durable goods orders was widespread, affecting virtually every manufacturing industry except aircraft makers.

The decline would have been almost twice as bad, the department noted, except new orders for aircraft jumped 33 percent in April.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — Lawmakers here are breathing room now, but they'll be gasping in another 24 hours or extended session.

If two separate conference committees reach agreement on a nearly $600 million supplemental budget and a plan allowing moderate bonds property taxes by late Wednesday, adjournment Friday as scheduled is likely.

If they don't, the Legislature will be cutting it close to finish up by midnight Friday and avoid a special or extended session.

House Finance and Tax Chairman Steve Pajcik said he believes another $44 million to $54 million is necessary. The conferees will sit up again today and try to resolve the matter.

A separate conference committee, meanwhile, has halted work on a bill determining how much city and county property taxes will go up as the state moves to 100 percent assessments this year.

"We need to wait until the schools taxes issue has been settled," said Senate Finance and Tax Chairman Ken Myers, D-Miami.

The Legislature must agree on a supplemental budget and some version of Gov. Bob Graham's property tax assessments bill (nicknamed "Trim") for "Truth in mortgage" before it can quit for the year.

The education conferees did agree Monday on community college funding.

conferees insisted that this nearly $42 million increase in school board property taxes wouldn't be nearly enough.

House Finance and Tax Chairman Steve Pajcik said he believes another $44 million to $54 million is necessary. The conferees will sit up again today and try to resolve the matter.

Time Bomb In Environment?

New York's Love Canal is becoming synonymous with a kind of disaster that is a slow-burning fuse. The Hooker Chemical Co. used the abandoned excavation as a disposal area for toxic chemicals between 1942 and 1953.

A school and residential neighborhood sprang up on the site. It was well into the 1970s when chemicals began seeping to the surface and health experts began to suspect a connection with a high incidence of cancer and other disorders among people living in the area.

The Environmental Protection Agency says American industry is producing 126 billion pounds of toxic waste a year, enough to fill the New Orleans Superdome from floor to ceiling — once every day. Only 60 percent of this comes from chemical industries.

At the federal level the EPA is laying down new rules for the shipment, storage and disposal of hazardous wastes. The response from industry has so far been positive, although we can expect some bickering over the fine points of why move toward additional regulations and paperwork.

And there will be bills to pay. Meeting the EPA's new federal rules is expected to cost waste producers as much as $24 million a year. Significantly, a study by the American Institute of Chemical Engineers showed that the Hooker Co. followed accepted procedures in lining and capping its Love Canal disposal site with Impervious clay — procedures now embodied in federal law.

Winfield Trade Woes Worry Padre's Smith

NEW YORK (UPI)—Ballard Smith, the San Diego Padres' president, has to make one of the toughest decisions of his life, and has less than two weeks to make it.

He has to decide whether to keep big Dave Winfield, a decision that could cost the Padres as much as $10 million, and save more, or whether to let him go by the June 15 trading deadline.

The Padres already have made Winfield an offer that could bring him $7.2 million over six years and it was refused. Winfield's adviser, Al Frohman, was thinking more in terms of a 10-year contract calling for closer to $15 million.

Since Winfield automatically becomes a free agent at the end of this season, the Padres stand to lose him for practically nothing this November if they don't come to terms with him.

Rather than lose him for nothing, naturally, they'd prefer to trade him and get something for him. They have only 12 more days to make such a trade before the deadline and it has to be a trade within their own league, since getting waivers on a superstar like Winfield at this time is out of the question.

Any club in either league would love to grab Winfield. The Mets and Dodgers are particularly interested.

In the American League, the Yankees also have shown great interest in him in the past and they undoubtedly would show even more if he became a free agent this fall.

Should Smith and Frohman fail to come to terms in the next few days, Winfield could be gone, and the team with the best chance of getting him might be the Mets. The Padres would rather see him go to a club outside their division.

To obtain the 28-year-old Winfield, the Mets would have to give up Lee Mazzilli, the player who has the most appeal with their fans, plus someone else like maybe Joel Youngblood or John Stearns.

That's where the hitch comes. The Mets still remember all the Dak they caught for dealing away Tom Seaver and they wouldn't want to go through the same ordeal with Mazzilli.

None of which helps Ballard Smith with his problem. He has to make up his mind whether to pay all that money, which actually belongs to his father-in-law, Padres' owner Ray Krooc, or deal Winfield away.

"Some days, I think we can't afford him and some days, I think we can't afford to let him go," Smith said from San Diego Monday. "Obviously, in the short run, I think we ought to sign him."

"On the other side of the coin, I feel there has to be a halt to the continuous uphill spiral in salaries. If we don't do it ourselves, who is going to do it for us? Self-restraint starts at home."

The Padres have some other fine young players whose salary demands they'll have to deal with besides Winfield's. Players like Ozzie Smith, Bob Shirley, Jerry Mumphrey and Gene Richards. All will be watching to see how much Winfield gets, and human nature being what it is, they'll set their own salary scales accordingly.

The Padres' last offer to Winfield, presently making $350,000 a year, called for $500,000 a year over six years with an opportunity for him to earn an additional $1 million in the form of certain incentive clauses.

Winfield could make an additional $100,000 by being named to the All-Star team, something he has accomplished the past three years and undoubtedly will again this year. He gets another 100 grand by playing in at least 150 games, which he also has done in each of the past three years plus a third $100,000 bonus for winning the Gold Glove Award. He also did that last year.

Still another $100,000 could be earned by Winfield if he led the league in runs batted in, as he did last year with 111, or in one of three other categories — total bases, where he also led last year with 333, home runs in which he placed him third, or in slugging percentage in which he wound up fourth with .588.

As of now, this particular incentive clause is illegal, but Smith said there is a chance it might be sanctioned in the future.

"I'm going to make every effort to sign Dave Winfield," Smith said. "We don't want to lose him, but there is a certain limit past which we can not possibly go."

In the other men's contest Mike Ferrell and Don Williams had a pair of hits each to lead Associated Sales and Engineering to a 13-4 win over Seminole Community College while Orlando Auto Parts checked Delux Bar on just three hits to score a 9-3 win.

Solar Utilities Now can install quality solar systems that will save you money.

Solar Utilities Now Puts Sunshine To Work For You

The residential and commercial use of solar energy is no longer a novelty. More and more people are turning to it as a sensible alternative source of energy.

Electricity is expensive and continues to rise in price. Enormous costs and years of preparation are required for nuclear power plants as well as other projects such as obtaining oil from shale. These solutions to energy shortages and oil dependency are only future possibilities.

Solar Utilities Now (SUN) systems can save approximately 33 percent of your electric bill. Some of their customers save even more.

Solar Utilities Now, 2621 S. Sanford Ave., Sanford, does all of its own installation and design work. They are a licensed reputable dealer and have been a plumbing contractor in Sanford since 1975.

Now is the time to install a solar system while you can get a direct tax credit on your federal income tax of 40 percent, up to $10,000. This is a bottom line savings with Uncle Sam sharing the cost of your solar water heater or space heater. Unused tax credit can be carried over.

SUN can install solar water heating, space heating, pool heating, water treatment systems and heat exchangers for waste heat reclaim.

They will be happy to give you a free estimate at no obligation to see if solar systems are feasible for your needs.

SUN works with building contractors, architects, designers, and engineers as well as homeowners. It is an all-family company owned by Jim Howington, a licensed master plumber contractor in Orange, Seminole, Volusia, Lake, Brevard and Osceola counties.

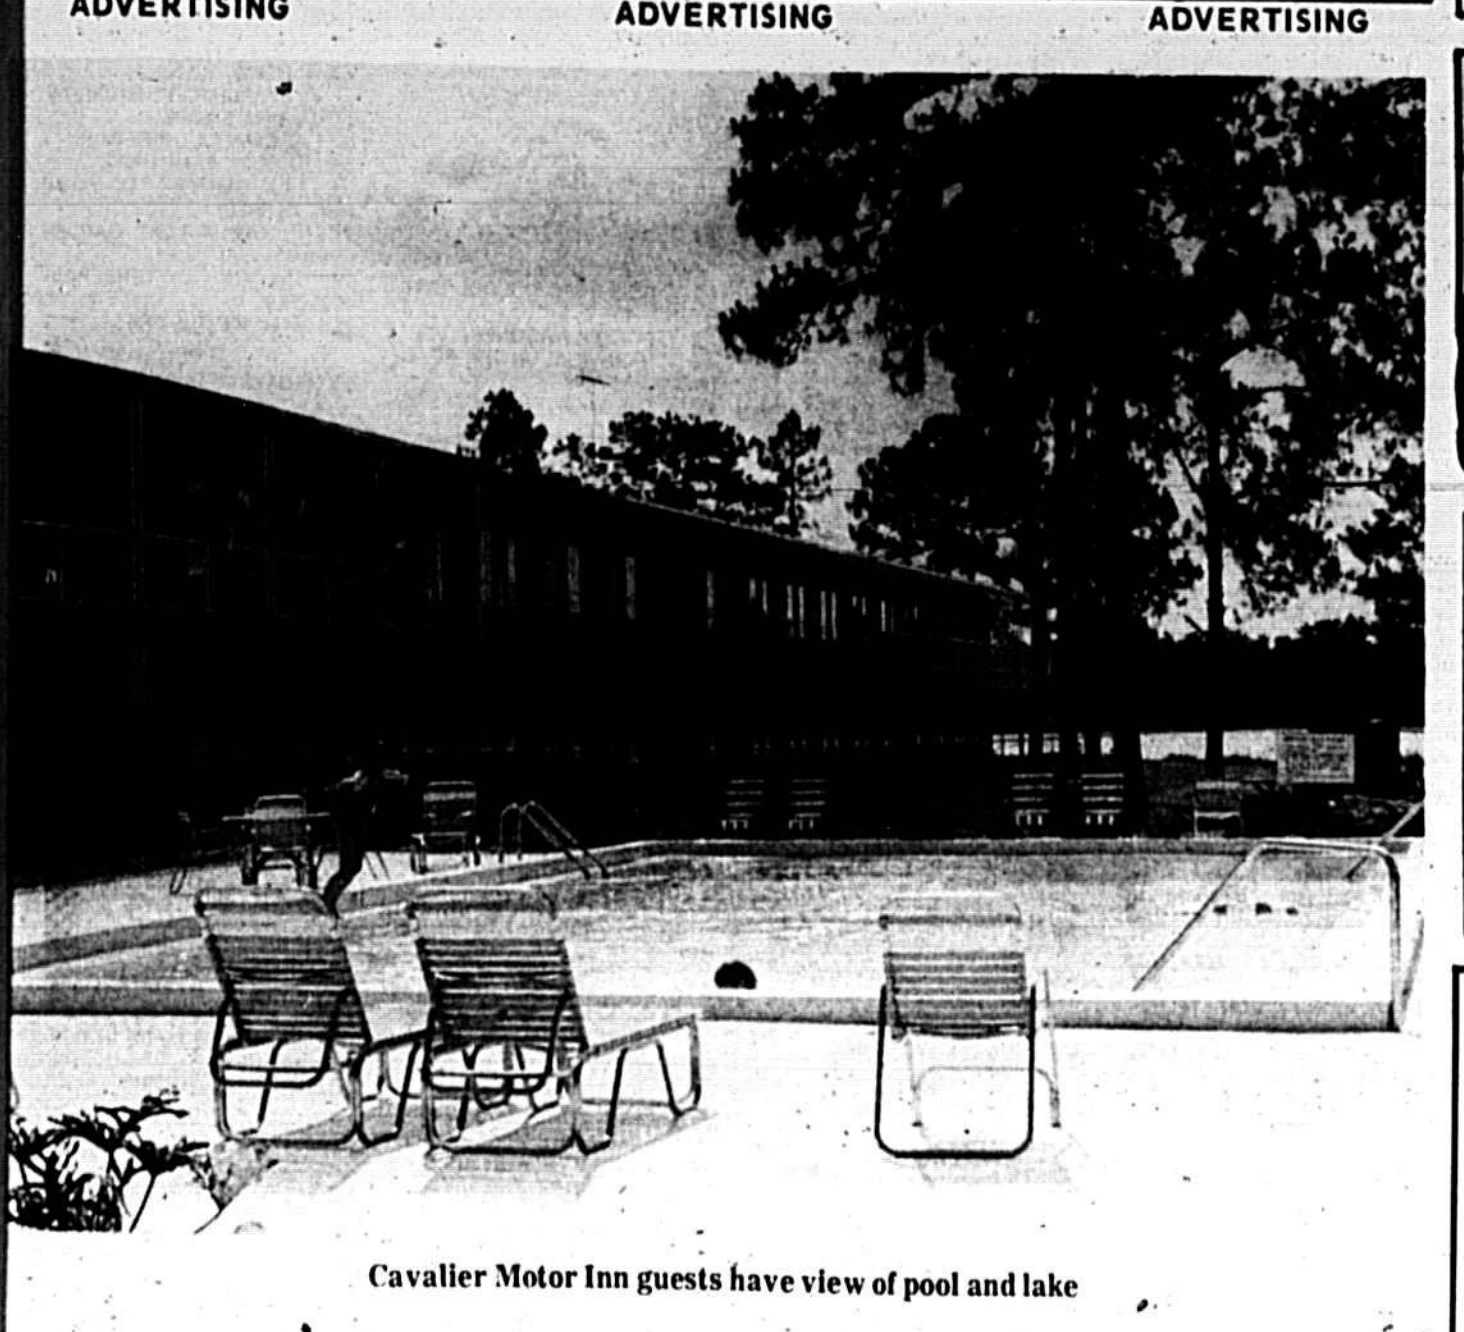

Randy Winters is general manager. There are 10 employees who have installed solar equipment throughout central Florida from Lakeland to Daytona Beach. Harold Howington, Bob Barclay

Cavalier Motor Inn guests have view of pool and lake

Cavalier Motor Inn Has Food, Drink, Entertainment

It was good news for local residents as well as visitors when the Cavalier Motor Inn in Sanford reopened after two months of major renovation.

Located at 3200 S. Orlando Drive (Highway 17-92) overlooking beautiful Lake Aida, the inn has full-service restaurant and lounge in addition to 100 rebuilt and refurbished rooms.

There is entertainment and dancing nightly in the lounge to the lively contemporary sounds of the versatile Rainbow and on every Sunday afternoon there is a jam session for lovers of Dixieland Jazz.

Wednesday night is ladies' night in the Buccaneer Lounge with two drinks for the price of one. On Friday and Saturday nights there is a drawing every hour for free door prizes, such as Buccaneer T-shirts and dinners.

The restaurant, operated by Master Chef Tony Serrano and his wife, Diane, features an extensive breakfast menu, beautiful luncheon buffet, Early Bird dinner specials, and a fine dinner menu. Superb prime rib, steaks and seafood are featured. Wine and beer are available in the dining room.

There is a discount card available in the dining room for the convenience of senior citizens. Banquet and meeting facilities are available for businesses and other organizations.

Cable-TV will be available in each motel room beginning this month. The Cavalier Motor Inn offers budget rates, commercial group rates, and special packages for honeymooners or a weekend away. In addition to the spacious guest rooms the inn has executive suites.

Guests can enjoy a swim or just relax poolside. The inn's professional management team is made up of Pat Overby, manager, and Barry Maughan, assistant manager. Overby is a graduate of Penn State and University of Central Florida and trained with the Hilton and Sheraton hotel chains.

Maughan is a University of West Virginia graduate and can sometimes be found playing his vibraphone in the lounge during the "Happy Hour."

They came to Sanford from Pennsylvania, where they worked together in motel management for a management firm with motels in the Orlando area as well as in the north.

Overby's wife, Cynthia, is in charge of sales for the inn.

"We have a good time and are united as a crew," said Overby. "We want to provide a friendly atmosphere where our guests can relax and enjoy themselves."

"We're happy with the way the community has received us and appreciate the response from the area," Overby added. "Our customers seem to be happy and our goal is to be Sanford's finest."

Amy Carter Shows Dad New Trick

By KENNETH R. CLARK

United Press International THE CHAMP: Never let it be said the first kid doesn't feel called upon to pull her weight just because her daddy is president of the United States.

Amy Carter walked all the way last month — and Monday she received a yellow T-shirt and an "Order of the Battered Boot" certificate to prove it.

The like in question was the Washington Chapter of the March of Dimes 23-mile "Superwalk" — a fund-raiser in which 4,415 participants got 'friends to sponsor them at as much as a mile.

Amy turned in more than $70 for her effort — more than any other trekker in the event. Now if she could just apply that sort of talent to her daddy's campaign...

LOYAL TIES: Lynda Johnson Robb says she's quite fond of Ted Kennedy — "He's a neighbor of mine. He parks his cars in my yard and we park our cars in his yard."

But it stops with parking privileges. She won't help him in his bid for the White House. The daughter of the late Lyndon Johnson is a Carter-lackey. She lives next door to Kennedy in the Washington suburb of McLean, Va., and serves as chairman of the President's Advisory Committee for Women.

Carter gave her the job.

RESTON RESTS: James Reston may be the most popular commencement speaker of the season. The New York Times columnist spoke at Dartmouth, Mass., Sunday — sending 1,378 grads of Southeastern Massachusetts University on their way.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Robert Halmi calls himself a "general practitioner" of filmmaking and proves it by juggling 31 current projects from a seaguing documentary with William F. Buckley to a "Jaws" type elephant movie in Africa.

Among his most recent and best-received television films were "The Nurse" starring Michael Learned, a good bet for future series treatment, and Kristy McNichol's fine "My Old Man."

"The whole medium turns me on," Halmi said with a trace of a Hungarian accent. In an interview just before the beginning of his Buckley assignment he described the new venture.

A Halmi team sells this month with Buckley aboard a 73-foot racing yawl across the Atlantic nonstop to Gibraltar.

"The documentary will be a combination of sailing and solving the world's problems," Halmi said, explaining he expected a good philosophical give-and-take among Buckley and the six crew members "about life and death and all the big things Schopenhauer worried about."

"The trip should take about 14 days on the high seas, barring a hurricane, which really hope you get into," Halmi said, half joking, half wistful. "It would be a wonderful piece of material if Buckley falls in and everybody in the middle of the Atlantic is saving Bill Buckley. What a good movie that would make."

Halmi has just completed "Private Battle," a television dramatization of Katherine

WHEN DREAMS COME TRUE: Glenn Ostermann says he never dreamed for a moment glamorous Corinne Alpha of Penthouse magazine centerfold ranking would go to his high school senior prom with him. That's probably why he found courage sufficient to ask her when he spotted her at a promotion in New York. He says he nearly fainted when she said, "I'd be happy to..."

So the 18-year-old Deer Park High School student picked up his date Friday in a green 1967 Chevy and took her to the Huntington, N.Y., dance — but she remains a mystery woman. He wouldn't tell a soul who she was. Sighs he, "It was one of the happiest nights of my life."

HOROSCOPE

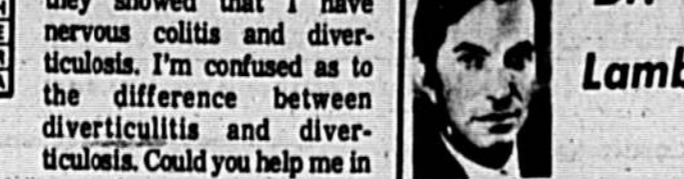

By BERNICE BEDEOSL

For Wednesday, June 4, 1980

YOUR BIRTHDAY
June 4, 1980
Success in major areas is likely this coming year, but must be earned. The prospects for substantial rewards increase as the months wear on.
CANCER (May 21-June 20)
— Don't be lured into a companionship game today. This could lead you to go against what you know in your heart to be right. No one will find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Guide, Box 41 for $2.00. Write to Astro-Guide, Box 41, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

Cereal Fiber Aids Pockets Of Colon

DEAR DR. LAMB — Recently I had X-rays and they showed that I have nervous colitis and diverticulosis. I'm confused as to the difference between diverticulitis and diverticulosis. Could you help me in a way that average people can understand? My doctor said that diet has nothing to do with this.

DEAR READER — Diverticulosis is a very common "problem," particularly in individuals past 50 years of age. They're really little pockets of the colon. The colon has three layers. The inner layer is the lining of the glandular cells, the middle layer is a muscular tube and the outer layer is the fibrous tissue.
When you have one small pocket it's called a diverticulum — and it really represents a small rupture through the wall of the colon. The muscular wall separates and the inner lining herniates straight through the wall making a little pocket. It becomes an appendage and some people compare them to having a small appendix on the colon. When one of these becomes inflamed then it's called diverticulitis. The ending "itis" means inflammation. You see this in the use of the word appendicitis.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 54, Diverticulosis. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1581, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.
Not everyone would agree with the idea that diet doesn't have anything to do with diverticulosis. In fact, it's what your doctor actually said. In the past it was believed that people with diverticulosis should eat a "soft" diet which didn't include much bulk. In more recent years the pendulum has swung and most doctors feel that patients with diverticulosis will do better if they have an adequate amount of bulk in the diet. One of the better sources of this is bran which contains cereal fiber.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband and I would like a few questions answered. If one drinks three pounds of milk, does that person gain three pounds of weight right away? If so, how long does this weight stay with one? Is there any difference between that and getting three pounds in one's pocket and then stepping on the scales?
DEAR READER — Pounds, fat and calories are not the same thing. Three pounds of milk is about a quart and a half ("A pint's a pound the world around.") If you weigh yourself before you drink it and hop on the scales, you will weigh three pounds more than you did before. There is no difference between drinking the milk and hanging it in a milk carton around your neck.

All weight is not fat tissue, however, that may be what's bothering you. Nearly 90 percent of the weight of milk is water.
Consequently, if you drink three pounds of milk, 90 percent of its weight will be lost as you eliminate the excess water that your body doesn't need, either through perspiration or through the kidneys. Incidentally, you would also gain three pounds of weight immediately if you drank three pounds of water but you wouldn't!

Not everyone would agree with the idea that diet doesn't have anything to do with diverticulosis. In fact, it's what your doctor actually said. In the past it was believed that people with diverticulosis should eat a "soft" diet which didn't include much bulk. In more recent years the pendulum has swung and most doctors feel that patients with diverticulosis will do better if they have an adequate amount of bulk in the diet. WIN AT BRIDGE

By ORWALD JACOBY and ALAN SONTAG

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19)
— Talking about something today before it is done might cause you later embarrassment. Do your boasting after you've built your bridge.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18)
— Manage your resources with extreme prudence today. Treating funds or other valuables carelessly could result in losses of considerable size.
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20)
— Taking on more than you can handle today could prove to be a very frustrating experience. Know your limitations and operate within those bounds.
ARIES (March 21-April 19)
— If you have to make a choice today as to where to devote your energies and resources, please the family first. Help others if they're in time.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20)
— Don't everybody else has your good intentions today. Take care. Someone may try to use you as a pawn in his chess game.

too strong for a mere jump to four spades after John's one-spade response to the double so he made the all-purpose two-heart cue bid. John tried bid two spades and Alan tried again with a bid of three diamonds.
Now John decided that he should jump to game to show his good (7) suit whereupon Alan moved on to the slam.
There are lots of ways to bid the hand and either four or six spades is a reasonable final contract with four spades being preferable.
Six spades made after regular line play by John.
He won the trade lead in his hand, saw that he needed two successful finesses and had to solve entry problems to his own hand.
At trick two he took a successful diamond finesse. He got back to his hand by leading and overtaking dummy's 10 of spades. When both opponents followed he had no more trumps to worry about.
He took another diamond finesse, discarded a club on the ace of diamonds, finessed the queen of clubs, cashed the ace, ruffed a club, led a losing heart and still had a trump to ruff dummy's last club.
This hand was submitted as a bidding problem last week. The bidding in the box was by Alan Sontag (North) and John Rau (South). Alan felt that his hand was

Policeman Denies Filing Complaint Against Sanford

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Sanford Police Officer Tony Brooks, currently on special assignment to the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration, (DEA), denied reports today that he has filed a new racial discrimination complaint against the city of Sanford.
"I don't know from whence these people are getting their information," said Brooks. "It's completely in error."
Published reports today said that Brooks wrote a letter to the U.S. Justice Department on Dec. 26, 1979, charging that he was being harassed in retaliation for filing charges with the Equal Employment Opportunity commission.
In 1977, the city settled a case involving a complaint by Brooks of racial discrimination the year before. As part of that settlement Brooks was transferred to the DEA and received nearly $3,000 in back pay for the time prior to the settlement when he was unemployed.
Brooks said today that many people fail to understand that his original complaint went to several federal agencies, the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA) being one of those agencies.
He denied that he has filed any new complaint against the city since the original one was filed in 1976.
However, from time to time he has received and answered questionnaires concerning the matter from several federal agencies, he said.
"I'm content with my job," Brooks said, adding again that he did not write a letter to LEAA in December.

School Board, Workers Start Bargaining

By DIANE PETERIK
Herald Staff Writer

Contract negotiators for Seminole County schools' non-instructional personnel will discuss negotiating procedures, the contract preamble, political freedom and in-service training when they meet with the school board's negotiating team at 4:30 today at Lyman High School.
"We will not be discussing major money matters," said Bill Moore, interim executive director of the Seminole Education Authority. Moore has been hired to negotiate for NIPSCO, Non-Instructional Personnel of Seminole County.
Moore said NIPSCO has already agreed for an approximate 20 percent salary increase over 1979-80, but no decision is expected until after the current legislative session.

Pat Telson To Propose Drug Program

Seminole County School Board Member Pat Telson will suggest tonight that the school board establish a drug education program to help teachers, parents and others recognize when a student is "high."
The board will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the school board office, 1211 Mellonville Ave., Sanford.
Mrs. Telson is "irked about expansion" of students caught with drugs because she feels putting them out on the street where there are more drugs is no answer, said school public information director Ralph Ray. She feels the first step in controlling drugs at school is to educate persons how to recognize when a person is on drugs, and to recognize different drugs and how they affect people.

The school board will also hear a report on the athletic policies for transfer students maintained by other Florida school boards.
Conley said the school board usually knows what money will be available for the school district by June.
The school board has begun negotiations with teachers, bus drivers, clerical workers as well as non-

Judge Delays Winter Springs Rezoning Until Trial

By DAVID M. RAZLER
Herald Staff Writer

"I just preserved the status quo," said Circuit Judge Kenneth Leffer as he left a packed courtroom, Tuesday afternoon, moments after issuing an injunction against the City of Winter Springs, delaying action on reversing a decision to rezone land until a trial is held.
Leffer issued the compromise injunction on a request by the Florida Land Corp., which is seeking to prevent a group of Winter Springs residents from overturning a decision, by the city council, to allow the company more houses per acre on its 305-acre plot. While he blocked the city council from voting to reverse their earlier decision, he did free Winter Springs to formally approve petitions demanding a referendum on the issue within a year.
Early last month, the city council members voted to change the zoning on the parcel south of State Road 419 from rural (one home per acre or less), to suburban, with a maximum of 3.5 homes per acre of land.
A group of Winter Springs residents, calling themselves the Citizens' Rights Committee formed to block the proposal. Its members claiming the added number of homes would put a burden on the roads, municipal services and schools in the area.
While the committee did not succeed in convincing the city council to refuse the zoning change, it did take out petitions to call for a vote on the matter under a section of the city charter calling for a referendum on any item requested by more than 15 percent of the voters in the last election.
When 30 percent of that number signed the petition, Florida Land sued the petitioners and the city, seeking a temporary injunction to prevent approval of the resolution.
The suit charges the petitioners got their 834 signatures by lying about the real effects the project would have on the city. A letter circulated by the committee states both sides are currently lining up witnesses for the trial backing their contentions on the validity of the petition carriers' claims.
Florida Land also asked for the injunction although attorneys for the firm also attempted to introduce testimony on the petitioners' behavior. Leffer refused to allow that testimony, granting instead an injunction prohibiting any actions from being taken to reverse the original change of zone to suburban, until a full trial can be held on the subject.
Leffer made his decision in a packed courtroom, in front of about 80 persons, most of whom are opponents of the development plan.
At the start of the brief hearing, Leffer ordered the spectators to be silent. He explained to them he had the courtroom, largest in the county courthouse, for only a short time, and was interested in holding the hearing as quickly as possible.
The spectators complied with Leffer's request, remaining silent throughout the half-hour session.
The next stage in the dispute is the setting of a trial date, at which time the merits of Florida Land's case against the city and five members of the Citizens' Rights Committee will be argued.

Kennedy Refuses To Give Up

United Press International

President Carter today clutched the votes for his party's nomination in one hand and offered the other in peace to Sen. Edward Kennedy. But Kennedy spurred the move and refused to quit after beating Carter in five of eight state primaries Tuesday.
"The people have decided that this campaign must go on," said Kennedy, who won California, New Jersey, Rhode Island, South Dakota and New Mexico in the grand finale of the 1980 primary campaign.
Carter claimed a "wondrous victory" in winning Rhode Island, New Jersey and Montana to lock up the nomination with 1,392 delegates to the August Democratic National Convention. He needs only 1,666 for the nomination.
Ronald Reagan, who had the GOP nomination in hand two weeks ago, won all nine GOP primaries Tuesday.
Kennedy—who will carry his fight to the August Democratic National Convention in New York City—actually won 361 delegates to Carter's 324 on "Super Tuesday." It was his best showing by far in the drawn-out primary process in California.
"I'm now dedicated to bringing our Democratic Party back together," Carter told campaign supporters early today. He said he was "reaching out the hand of friendship" to supporters of Kennedy and Democratic dropout California Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. of California.
White House press secretary Jody Powell said today Carter telephoned Kennedy Tuesday night to offer his congratulations on a "tough, hard fought campaign and to wish him well"—but Kennedy aides told the White House Kennedy was resting and could not be disturbed.
But if Carter was offering a graceful way for the Massachusetts senator to bow out, Kennedy made it clear he wasn't buying.
Kennedy pointed to his victories in some of the nation's biggest states—

California, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Michigan.
The Massachusetts senator promised to unveil his campaign strategy later, obviously hoping that his strong showings plus some dramatic presidential missteps still could deny Carter re-nomination.
With Tuesday's voting the Democratic delegate totals looked like this:
Tuesday Pre Total
Carter 324 1,638 1,962
Kennedy 361 850 1,211
Needed to nominate: 1,666
The Republic (44)
Tuesday Pre Total
Reagan 392 1,071 1,463
Bush 3 267 270
Needed to nominate: 908
Late vote counts showed:
California: With 95 percent of the precincts reporting, Kennedy 1,399,896 or 44 percent, 162 delegates; Carter 1,190,347 or 38 percent, 136 delegates.
New Jersey: With 99 percent, Kennedy 309,455 or 36 percent, 68 delegates; Carter 309,455 or 37 percent, 48 delegates.
Ohio: With 99 percent, Carter 597,547 or 51 percent, 84 delegates; Kennedy 516,967 or 44 percent, 77 delegates.
Kennedy won in Rhode Island with 68 percent, South Dakota with 48 percent, and New Mexico with 46 percent. Carter won in West Virginia with 62 percent and Montana with 51 percent.
Carter went over the top while losing to Kennedy in New Jersey—getting 45 delegates in that defeat to pass the 1,666 total needed for the nomination.
The president complained Kennedy on running "a good campaign."
Carter told his campaign supporters, "The Democratic Party always has problems in finding unanimity, but the democratic process, including the convention itself, is a time to resolve differences."
Kennedy would have none of that.
"I am committed to continuing this campaign—in a way that helps, not hurts the union, not divides the Democratic Party," Kennedy said.

Council Of Local Governments To Discuss Attorney For Cities

The possibilities of Seminole County cities jointly hiring an attorney to prosecute city cases in the county court will be discussed at the 7:30 meeting of the Council of Local Governments in Seminole County.
The meeting is to take place at the Casselberry City Hall.
Several months ago, in answer to an inquiry from the council, State Attorney Douglas Cheshire said he would be willing to permit an attorney hired by the cities to work with state attorney authority from Cheshire's Sanford office at the old county jail.
Cheshire said at the time that because of limited funding, his staff must handle cases on a priority basis with most important crimes prosecuted first. This leaves little or no time to prosecute cases concerning violations of city ordinances including zoning matters.
The previous discussion centered on the cities paying the special attorney's salary on a pro-rata basis according to the number of cases prosecuted for each city.

Seminole Harness Raceway Conversion Heads To Wire In Florida Legislature

The bill permitting the conversion of the Seminole Harness Raceway in Casselberry to a dog-racing facility will not come before the Florida Senate for action until Friday, the last day of the 1980 session.
Before being considered by the full Senate, it must first receive the approval of the Senate Commerce Committee. A special meeting of the committee has been scheduled to begin Tuesday to complete action on a number of bills. The race track conversion is among those bills.
W.D. Childers, Senate-president-designate and chairman of the Commerce Committee, has said passage of the conversion bill is a must. The anticipated $1 million plus in new state revenues from the converted dog track is necessary to fund

The bill permitting the conversion of the Seminole Harness Raceway in Casselberry to a dog-racing facility will not come before the Florida Senate for action until Friday, the last day of the 1980 session.

W.D. Childers, Senate-president-designate and chairman of the Commerce Committee, has said passage of the conversion bill is a must. The anticipated $1 million plus in new state revenues from the converted dog track is necessary to fund

Council Of Local Governments To Discuss Attorney For Cities

The possibilities of Seminole County cities jointly hiring an attorney to prosecute city cases in the county court will be discussed at the 7:30 meeting of the Council of Local Governments in Seminole County.
The meeting is to take place at the Casselberry City Hall.
Several months ago, in answer to an inquiry from the council, State Attorney Douglas Cheshire said he would be willing to permit an attorney hired by the cities to work with state attorney authority from Cheshire's Sanford office at the old county jail.
Cheshire said at the time that because of limited funding, his staff must handle cases on a priority basis with most important crimes prosecuted first. This leaves little or no time to prosecute cases concerning violations of city ordinances including zoning matters.
The previous discussion centered on the cities paying the special attorney's salary on a pro-rata basis according to the number of cases prosecuted for each city.
