LAKE MARY - Political newcomers made a strong showing over incumbent candidates in races for two city commission seats in Lake Mary.

In the race for Seat 4, Al Crump defeated Sheila Sawyer, 716 to 624.

In the four-way race for Seat 2, Jeff Deen garnered 39 percent of the 1,333 votes cast, leading his incumbent oppo-

Sanford, Orlando airport officials plan joint venture

By MARIA OREM
Herald Staff Writer

The Sanford Airport Authority plans to forge a partnership with the Greater Orlando Aviation Authority on a joint marketing plan.

On Tuesday board members approved a concept plan to mutually address transportation needs relating to aviation in the community. The GOAA is expected to vote on the concept today.

Sanford Mayor Larry Dale said he and airport board chairman Sandra Glenn had met with officials of the Metro Planning Organization, for the past several months. MPO is a state agency that oversees Central Florida transportation issues from roads to airports.

"It is very important for the airports to strive together to serve the region's transportation needs," Dale said.

"A joint effort can accomplish a lot more together for aviation."

GOAA chairman Bob Hattaway said he saw a tremendous benefit in sharing information and resources for the overall betterment of Central Florida. Hattaway said the airports would continue to operate independently and each will pursue new business opportunities.

Glenn said there are numerous opportunities for the airports to combine forces in destination marketing programs, environmental and noise issues, roadway access and sig-

Airport may soon be able to resume halted projects

By MARIA OREM
Herald Staff Writer

The Orlando Sanford Airport may soon be able to resume projects temporarily halted by a state agency.

Executive airport director Steve Cooke reported Tuesday that the airport is expected this week to sign an agreement with the Department of Community Affairs, which in September had issued a cease and desist order on about $6.5 million worth of projects.

The projects, including several runway extensions, a touch and go runway, a fire and safety station and a terminal expansion were put on hold because DCA officials claimed the proposed changes would qualify as a Development of Regional Impact.

Under the DRI designation the airport would be required to go through a lengthy application process and pay fees up to half a million dollars. Legal consultants, hired by the airport and tasked with drafting an agreement with the DCA, had said that if the case were to reach litigation the projects would be delayed and costs could reach into millions of dollars.

The DCA action came as a result of complaints filed against the airport by the Audubon Society when a bald eagle's habitat, located at the end of a runway, was disturbed. Audubon officials said the action was a result of runway clearing in anticipation of

Sheriff urges Sanford cop department out of isolation

Sheriff Don Ealinger

By RUSS WHITE
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - For a couple of hours Tuesday, the city's Law Enforcement Options Committee received a whole new take on what it will take to improve the Sanford Police Department.

Seminole County Sheriff Don Ealinger made strong suggestions that will affect not only the decision the committee will make but improve teamwork between the city and county law enforcement agencies.

The committee will make a recommendation to the city commission on which direction to take. One is allowing the SPD to "right" itself, another to contract the sheriff's office for specific services, the third to completely turn the city's law enforcement duties to the sheriff.

On Tuesday, the committee unanimously agreed the city commission should adopt a referendum to change the city's charter, authorizing the city manager to hire and supervise the fire and police chiefs. This vote could take place in January or February. It's the first major decision by the options committee, whose members were enthusiastic about the direction they received Tuesday from the sheriff.

"We needed this, needed to understand things that the sheriff had to say," said Longwood Police Chief Greg Manning, the options committee chairman. Others on the committee agreed, calling the session the most productive it had in more than a month.

Ealinger urged the Sanford

"I'm not one so proud that I can't ask for help"

...SPD Chief Joe Dillard

Police Department to develop a fresh, new culture defining its mission and values. "Each law enforcement agency has a culture of its own," he said.

"We needed to transform the culture we had at the sheriff's office. We're not perfect. We have flaws; we don't have all the answers. There's no quick fix. We're still working at it."

The sheriff stunned many members of the committee when he said that the SPD "liked to be isolated" from the sheriff's office.

"The calls we get from the SPD pale in comparison to other municipalities," Ealinger said. Casselberry and Altamonte Springs, smaller communities with far less crime, called "twice" as many times as Sanford.

"They don't like to call," Ealinger said. "There seems to be a misconception that calling for help is a sign of weakness."

Sanford Police Chief Joe Dillard attended the meeting, and talked privately to Ealinger at its conclusion.

"I'm not one so proud that I can't ask for help," Dillard told The Sanford Herald. "We called the sheriff's office for help re-

Coach scores big with youth

Special to the Herald

Orlando Magic's former coach Richie Aduabato scored big as the West Sanford Boys and Girls Club recently.

Several months ago Aduabato organized a summer youth basketball league for Seminole County Boys and Girls Club members. Young people ages 8 to 16 participated in the league from four area clubs: Midway Club, Midway Teen Center, West Sanford and East Allamonte.

Aduabato was the guest speaker at the Richie Aduabato Shooting for the Stars banquet held in Sanford recently to honor the players.

Don Miller, club director for the Seminole area, said the awards dinner was an all-volunteer affair prepared by Boys and Girls Club members and staff.

Over eight weeks, shooting stars participants played competitive tournament contests grouped by age and ability.

"Richie Aduabato has devoted many, many hours to helping us get organized and get the community involved in summer basketball here," said Miller, adding that the banquet was organized to thank the coach and to recognize the outstanding players and teams that participated.

Richie Aduabato, center, is shown surrounded by Boys and Girls Club tournament players along with Seminole Area Director Don Miller, far left. The former Magic coach recently organized a basketball league for the county's four clubs.

During the banquet, Aduabato got the chance to do what he does best—motivate young players to exceed their limits.

"Richie Aduabato had a beautiful message for us, Miller said. "He spoke about how to develop and maintain the sort of personal discipline we need to succeed on the basketball court. When he finished, he had the attention of everyone in the room. It was a moment some of these kids will never forget."

Museum seeks information

Special to the Herald

To round out lost information on the early days of the "Old Folks Home," now the Museum of Seminole County History south of Sanford, the museum is seeking the location of the first one, the "County Poor House" which existed before the turn of the century.

On a Sanford Business Directory the old structure was listed as being located on Mellonville Avenue, 3N of Geneva Drive. The present building was built around 1924-25 and is south of Sanford at Five Points.

Also to complete the list of occupants who lived in the house(s) and the museum is searching for names and the approximate years lived there. The museum fields many questions, the latest one as to where the Big Tree Restaurant was located, probably existing in the 1920-30's.

Anyone having information on the above or other pertinent information regarding the museum, please call Karen Jacobs at the museum 321-2489.

1997 Golden Age Games

Mr. 'Old School' throws his way to gold medal

By RUSS WHITE
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - Andy McGuffin arrived from Umatilla with a basketball under his arm.

He said he had spent the last two weeks deer hunting in Pennsylvania and hadn't touched his basketball.

"Afraid I might be a little rusty," he said after coming into the Salvation Army Gymnasium just before 9 a.m. Tuesday. "I'm going to need a few practice shots."

Andy McGuffin rusty? That's like saying Michael Jordan might not be able to fly or dunk.

Andy McGuffin, 72, was Mr. Basketball three decades before Michael Jordan was born. The biggest little man in the game. A five-foot-8, 135-pound court whiz.

Dandy Andy was back in Sanford to compete in the Golden Age Games. Shoot the lights out at the Salvation Army Gym. OK, fellows, try to keep up with this guy.

"I'm old-school," McGuffin said. "Still shoot the two-hander. Been doing it all my life. Too late to change. It's safer to shoot with one hand. You have to be perfect with two. Can't push the ball too much this way or that."

"Only time I'll shoot with one hand is on a lay-up. In close but not from the free throw line or anywhere outside. No, I'll stick to the two-hander. Like I say, I'm old-school."

McGuffin's old-school shooting won him another Gold Medal on Tuesday. He poured in the free throws, the three-pointers and excelled at the one-minute speed shooting. So, he missed three of 30 free throws after a 30-for-30 a year ago. Hey, he just got back from hunting deer and didn't get to practice.

"I've told the Orlando Magic players that I'll shoot with any of them...bet $100 I'll out shoot them," he said. "None of them want to take me up. They just won't do it. I'll shoot blind-folded and beat Nick Anderson at free throws."

This summer, McGuffin did more than just shoot free throws or three-pointers. He played three-on-three with a bunch of Florida seniors 70 years or older in the National Golden Age Olympics. The team called itself the Magic Seniors.

McGuffin said the team was put together several years ago. "Norval Brown from Clermont and John Davidson from St. Cloud helped get us together."

McGuffin grew up in Glen Falls, N.Y., and was as successful at wrestling as he was basketball. He coached wrestling for years in high schools in New York. He served aboard the U.S.S. Essex in World War II as a yeoman. He graduated from Ithaca College in 1961.

In recent years, McGuffin has played a lot of senior softball. He's an outfielder and he said he plays as many as four or five games a week.

Somehow, he always finds the time to work on his basketball skills, too. Shooting. Shooting. Shooting. One day at the YMCA in Tavares he made 285 consecutive free throws.

"This is his life," said 71-year-old Hamlet D'Alvarez of Maitland, who finished second to McGuffin in the basketball competition for men 70-75 years old. "You know who's going to win. He's too good, too serious about what he does."

D'Alvarez, who is competing in the men's doubles in tennis this week, said "the difference between me and Andy McGuffin is that I sleep with my tennis racket, and he sleeps with his basketball."

Best couple shooting hoops

By RUSS WHITE
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - The best couple on the basketball court Tuesday had to be Chick Brown (82) and his wife, Elizabeth (83) from Wilmington, Ohio. They won Gold Medals on the 80+ basketball shooting event.

The Browns are entered in a dozen more events at the Golden Age Games. They're both in the Track & Field competition.

Chick Brown is a high-jumper and jumped four feet, two inches at age 75. He's the track coach at Clinton Massie High School in Ohio.

Elizabeth said she was competitive in sports even before she met her husband. "I was raised with seven boys," she said. "I had to be competitive."

Chick and Elizabeth Brown have been coming to the Golden Age Games since 1980.

Checkers: The game of skill, concentration, and a little luck

BY DAVID FRASER
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Silence is golden when the checker board is in use. Ladies near the intense concentration battle did not heed that unwritten rule. They chatted away happily almost oblivious to the three-man checkers tournament that was a part of the 23rd annual Golden Age Games on Monday.

Tournament players Rudy Eckhardt, Wilson Gordon and Bud Steckman seemed to ignore the clamor as the first match of the contest between Eckhardt and Gordon was under way.

On the table: a regulation board and checker pieces, a book entitled Win at Checkers by Millard Hopper, whom the book said is (or was) the world's unrestricted checker champion, and also the three medals for the respective winners.

During the first match, Eckhardt and Gordon were neck and neck. Then with what looked to be a hopeless situation, Gordon folded and the first round went to Eckhardt. A deserved victory since Eckhardt went through such a tough early morning. "My dog was sick and my wife has a sprained ankle so I had to fix her breakfast," Eckhardt said.

The object of checkers for those uninitiated is simple: to keep a player from moving or to take most or all of an opponent's pieces. The three gentlemen play as many matches as is necessary to decide the outcome of the event.

"This is the first time I've played since I was a kid," said Steckman, who is playing checkers because of an injury that is keeping him out of the tennis event.

Moves in checkers are as mulled over as those in chess. Each move is documented on a sheet of paper by at least one of the players. And even though those ladies kept talking, it was brain busters as the stakes ran high on the red and black board.

Now Is The Time To Plan For Tomorrow

Bobby Brisson

Bill Welborn

While no one likes to think about his or her own mortality, the fact is, one day your loved ones may be at a loss to deal with all the final details.

That is why pre-planning and pre-financing your funeral now can help lighten the load - both emotionally and financially - on your family later.

It's also the best way to help insure that your service is performed in strict accordance with your own wishes.

Bye, bye birdies

Renner: Badminton no game for wimps

By RUSS WHITE
 Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD - To the uninformed, badminton is not a game for wimps. This was evident to anyone who walked into the Salvation Army Gymnasium on Tuesday afternoon.

Only a handful of badminton players competed in the 23rd Annual Golden Age Games perhaps because there aren't many who would want to go up against these stalwart competitors.

And, perhaps most people don't have the slightest idea what's happened to a game most of us remember as something to do in the backyard in summertime.

Badminton is a whole new game, little birdies.

Take the 875 graphite rackets.

Take the 88 goose-feathered birdies.

Take the 150 mile-an-hour smashes.

Or, better yet, take the word of badminton champs like Ken Renner, Bill Lauretta, and Harriett Boyd.

"It may be the fastest sport of them all," said Renner, a University of Central Florida instructor in the Department of Exceptional & Physical Education. Renner, 58 was a Gold Medal winner in the Golden Age Games badminton event. It was easy. No one challenged him.

The best action he could get was a match against Lauretta, 68, the Gold Medal winner in the 65-69 age bracket. Renner won a spirited 15-3 competition.

Fore!

The thrill of the golf game was evident Tuesday, when Mayfair Country Club in Sanford was the site for Handicap Golf, an event in the Golden Age Games. Above: Joe Bishop and Frank Kelly take a swing at a win. Below: Jane and Frank Biehoff and Helen and Fred Biehoff, all from Orlando, take a break to pose and enjoy the beautiful autumn weather.

Badminton at this level requires racquet control, splendid hand-eye coordination and a variety of deceptive and skilled shots.

1997 Golden Age Games

Games

"This is definitely not a game for wimps," Renner said. "Most competitors won't even smile when they play. Bill Laurretta and I are friends. We smiled a few times. I hope."

Renner is showing off his racket - a sweet 875 number with a graphite shaft and head. "Used to have the old wood rackets," he said. "But they're a thing of the past. Everyone has the graphite now. They're lighter, more durable and strung tighter. Everyone's smashing overheads 150 miles an hour."

Badminton is an indoor game, now, Renner said. He's been playing for 20 years, and he's eager to recruit more players. The sport is quite popular in other sections of the country and the competition at national tournaments is fierce.

Laurretta, who participated in the most recent nationals in Baton Rouge, La., said he began playing while in the Navy in 1954. He took up badminton and table tennis while in the service. He'll be back in the Golden Age Games table tennis competition on Thursday.

Harriett Boyd, 74, beat her Lake Mary friend, Kay Thomson, to win a women's Badminton Gold Medal on Tuesday.

Thomson said she recalls playing badminton the old way years ago as a girl growing up on West Elm St. in Sanford. She beat all the boys in the neighborhood then. So what else is new? That was Harriett playing against several men after she won her gold medal on Tuesday.

Boyd has won two gold medals at this year's Golden Age Games. She began with archery medal on Saturday. She's entered in 15 events. She's in two canoe races today, a golf long-drive contest and the great pancake race.

Real Golden Girl, this Harriett. Especially at badminton, the no wimp sport.

Lake Mary resident Harriett Boyd practices her pancake flip with Shoney Bear, ready for today's competition. Boyd has taken two gold medals so far, in archery and badminton.

One great team

Pauline, 78, and Leonard Stone, 91, make one great team in marriage and as hoop shooters in the Golden Age Games. The Barefoot Bay, Fla. couple competed Tuesday in the basketball event, held at the Salvation Army Gymnasium. The Stones both took medals at the games.

Artistic competition

Not all of the competition at the Golden Age Games is physical, some is cerebral. Senior artists have gathered together their best efforts to display today at the Hobby & Photography show at the Sanford Civic Center. The event, sponsored by the Seminole County Extension Homemakers, is open to the public from 2 to 5 p.m. Just an example of what can be seen is a ceramic wall pocket, made by Veronette Kirkpatrick of Orange City and held by Nancy Clevenger, on the left and 'The Blue Macaw,' painted by Beryl Lackey of DeBary, on the right.

 nent George Duryea, 520 to 445. Trudy Meyer came in third with 346 votes. Michael Wierzbowski got 22 votes.

Commissioner Gary Brender was a member of the canvassing board that verified the tally at the Supervisor of Elections Office Tuesday night. He said voter turn-out for the off year election was "great." City clerk Carol Foster confirmed that 1,353 of the city's 5,490 voters cast ballots, 25 percent. Seventy-nine absentee ballots were included in that total.

Crump will be sworn in as a commissioner at Thursday's city commission meeting. Deen and Duryea will continue camaigning for the runoff election, to be held Tuesday, Dec. 2.

Meyer said Tuesday night that she really had not given any thought to whom she might support in the run-off.

Crump will have to deal immediately with one of his campaign issues. The commission will meet in a work session to discuss issues concerning the Rinehart Road expansion and the proposed new fire and police department building. One of the goals Crump cited was to get more information to the public about the road project. He said he wanted to schedule a workshop for the public.

In an earlier interview Crump said, "I'll make a damn good commissioner." After hearing the election results, he said he was relieved the campaign was over.

Sawyer, reached this morning, said she will now spend time with her family and focus on her entrepreneurial interests.

"I have no regrets for my public service. I'm happy about my record. And I ran a clean race," she said.

The swearing-in ceremony will take place at 5 p.m. at Lake Mary City Hall. A reception will follow. The work session will begin at 5:30 and the regular city commission meeting will begin at 7 p.m.

Longwood

Miller on Wednesday said he felt great and plans to relax for a few days before tackling the issues in City Hall. He also commended election organizers for getting the results out within 15 minutes of when the polls closed.

"A lot of issues need to be addressed," Miller said. "I need to start working with the city commissioners to help bring the city back on the fast track to the future."

Paul Lovestrand, a financial planner, received 638 (56.5 percent) votes District 5, compared to 491 (43.4 percent) votes by opponent Craig Van Hooven.

From his home on Wednesday Lovestrand said he wished to thank the people of Longwood for electing him.

"I worked hard on the campaign just as I do when in office and the people appreciate that," Lovestrand said. "I look forward to serving them."

"Now, this public safety director position presents a real challenge. We need to look at several candidates to be sure we find the right person for this important position."

Other challenges, Lovestrand said, include planning for the proposed light rail station and commercial development.

The public voted 651 (58 percent) compared to 471 (42 percent) to approve a public safety department, which would place the police and fire departments under one director.

Miller and Lovestrand expect to be sworn in within the next few days.

nage. She said working together is good for the region and makes good business sense.

Several board members discussed the airport's proposed name change, an issue which has been tabled until January.

Airport officials in Sanford had recently suggested changing the airport's name. GOAA had expressed concern that the name Orlando Sanford Airport was confusing to travelers.

Glenn told board members she did not want the proposed marketing agreement with GOAA "mucked up with the name change issue." She said the agreement did not have anything to do with the proposed name change.

The cost of hiring a consultant would cost each airport authority $20,000. Sanford airport officials voted to interview the consultant before approving the expenditure.

construction, however, airport officials said the trees where the nests were located were cut down for safety reasons.

Cooke said the proposed agreement with DCA will not require the DRJ designation because the proposed projects are vested and exempt as long as the airport maintains its general hub status, which he added, "will last about two years." The airport also decreased the length of several of the proposed runway extensions and the touch and go runway.

In response to the Audubon's complaint, Sanford had proposed designating about 1,800 acres along the Lake Jesup waterfront, known as Site 10, as an eagle's habitat. The site, a spray irrigation area, serves as part of an enterprise zone and is used by the city's public works for waste water. Environmental consultants are currently working on a feasibility report.

cently and we'll continue to do so. There's going to be no problem here."

Ealinger emphasized that both agencies "do cooperate" when it comes to chasing down "the bad guys." Sheriff's deputies and SPD officers in the field have not had any problems, he said.

He also said there was no animosity between himself and Joe Dillard. The SPD had isolated itself in the past - well before Dillard became its chief in January this year.

"That," Manning said, "was no big secret. Other agencies felt the same way when it came to dealing with Sanford. It was a stay out of it...we can handle this ourselves attitude."

Ealinger praised the individual members of the SPD. "They're very talented and they work hard." They worked under "complaint-driven" conditions, however. This needed to be changed to "co-active" conditions. The SPD needed leadership and community support.

"There are no lazy officers," he said. "But there are those who need to be motivated."

The SPD, he said, had "great potential" and was capable of making the changes necessary and being strategically sound. The sheriff's office was there to assist. Sanford residents pay taxes that go to the sheriff's office. They were entitled to the resources of his office.

What services would be required, he said, was up to the city of Sanford. "We're prepared to help any way that we can. It's up to you," Ealinger said.

The Law Enforcement Options Committee is taking a week off next week. There was much to digest from Tuesday's session. Until hearing the sheriff, a majority of members stressed Option "A" as the best method for the city to adopt.

Now, Option "B" demanded close attention.

The sheriff's "Don't be isolated," is a message not likely to be ignored.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 27-year-old, white, female college graduate. I have a sensitive problem with my father... My father is a racist. He's filled with hatred for blacks, Asians, even Native Americans...

What can I do, other than dropping out of my father's life? NOT GUILTY BY ASSOCIATION IN MICHIGAN

DEAR NOT GUILTY: Since your father has been told repeatedly that you find his racial slurs offensive, and he persists in embarrassing you by using them in public, you are certainly within your rights to limit the amount of time you spend with him in situations that make you vulnerable to embarrassment.

DEAR ABBY: I hope you don't mind my response to the reader...

Spanish mackerel in plentiful supply

Special to the Herald

Good news! On November 1, Florida fishermen began harvesting Spanish mackerel in large quantities. So now is the time to savor this delicious fish.

In late summer and early fall Spanish mackerel migrate southward to spend the winter and early spring along Florida's southern coast. This slender, graceful fish is dark blue and pales to an almost silver color on the belly.

For more information on Spanish mackerel and how to serve it, write for a free copy of the fact sheet. Send a self-addressed, stamped business-size envelope to Bob Crawford, Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, Bureau of Seafood and Aquaculture, 2051 East Dirac Drive, Tallahassee, FL 32310-3760 or e-mail us at seafood@doacs.state.fl.us.

SPANISH MACKEREL RECIPES

- Smoked Roquefort Log: 1-1/2 cups smoked, flaked Spanish mackerel; 2 3-ounce packages cream cheese; 2 ounces Roquefort cheese; 2 tablespoons finely chopped celery; 1 tablespoon minced onion; 1/8 teaspoon hot pepper sauce; 1/8 teaspoon cayenne pepper; 1/2 cup chopped pecans; 2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley.

parley.

- assorted crackers; Combine fish, cream cheese, Roquefort cheese, celery, onion, hot pepper sauce and cayenne pepper; mix thoroughly. Chill for several hours. Combine pecans and parley. Shape fish mixture into a log and roll in nut mixture. Serve with crackers. Yield: approximately 1-2/3 cups spread.

- 1/2 cup vegetable oil; Combine water and salt; stir until salt is dissolved. Marinate fish in brine for 30 minutes in refrigerator. Remove fish from brine and pat dry.

To smoke fish: Soak 1 pound of hickory or other hardwood chips in 2 quarts of water for at least 5 hours. Use a hooded or covered electric, gas or charcoal grill. Use less charcoal for smoking than you use for normal grilling.

- Per serving: Calories 380, Calories from fat 210, Total fat 23g, Saturated fat 7g, Cholesterol 125mg, Total carbohydrate 1g, Protein 5g.

- Evenly Broiled Spanish Mackerel: 2 pounds Spanish mackerel filets; 2 tablespoons lemon juice; 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese; 1/4 margarine or butter, softened; 3 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing; 3 tablespoons chopped green onions.

Place fillets in a single layer on a well-oiled broiler pan. Brush fillets with lemon juice and let stand in refrigerator for 10 minutes. Combine remaining ingredients and set aside. Broil fillets about 4 inches from source of heat for 6 to 8 minutes or until fish flakes easily.

Per serving: Calories 360, Calories from fat 210, Total fat 23g, Saturated fat 7g, Cholesterol 125mg, Total carbohydrate 1g, Protein 34g.

Spanish Mackerel Broccoli Casserole: 1 10-ounce package frozen broccoli spears, cooked 3 minutes and drained; 1 cup cooked, flaked Spanish mackerel.

Place broccoli in a well-oiled, 1-1/2 quart baking dish. Combine fish, soup, milk, salt and pepper; spread mixture over broccoli. Sprinkle potato chips on top. Bake in a preheated oven at 425 degrees F for 10 to 12 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Yield: 4 servings. Abby, there is absolutely nothing wrong with that. In fact, when I object to it is that she thinks she's wearing the crown of true womanhood because she likes scrubbing toilets, doing laundry and ironing shirts.

I work at a local high school, teaching gender equality to the girls there. I tell them they need to get in touch with their skills and find jobs that fulfill them. Too often, girls do what society tells them they should do.

Paul's Repair, Vivona's share women's lead

From Staff Reports

SANFORD — Paul's Auto and Truck Repair and Vivona's rallied for victory to remain tied for first place in the Sanford Recreation Department Women's Fall Slowpitch Softball League Tuesday night.

Playing at Pinehurst Park, Paul's Auto and Truck Repair jumped out to a 9-1 lead in the top of the third inning, but Today Homes, which also came into the evening's action tied for first, battled back to take a 10-9 lead after four innings and still held that advantage going into the sixth inning.

But Paul's Auto and Truck Repair came up with four runs after two were out in the top of the sixth inning and Today Homes could only get two runs back in the bottom of the sixth inning, while getting the tying and go-ahead runs on third and first base with only one out, and Paul's Auto and Truck Repair held on for a 13-12 triumph.

In the other game at Pinehurst, the Sharks scored eight runs in the second inning to erase a 2-0 deficit and went on to put a 16-4, run rule victory on the Nightmares.

At Chase Park, Vivona's and Vaughan Incorporated got hooked up in a scoring battle, but Vaughan held a 10-8 lead entering the sixth inning. Vivona's got one run back in the sixth inning, then took the lead, and the win, by scoring three runs in the top of the seventh inning to survive 12-10.

In the other game, Vaughan Incorporated bounced back, scoring eight runs in the fourth inning and blitzing Insurance World 17-5.

Paul's Auto & Truck Repair and Vivona's are both 8-2, with Today Homes a half-game back at 8-3. Following the leaders are the Sharks (6-4), Vaughan Incorporated (5-7) and Insurance World and the Nightmares (both 1-9).

Next week, at Pinehurst Park, the Sharks face Vaughan Incorporated at 7 p.m. and Insurance World tackles Today Homes at 8 p.m. and, at Chase Park, Paul's Auto & Truck Repair plays the doubleheader against Vivona's at 7 p.m. and the Nightmares at 8 p.m.

Providing the offense were:
Sharks: three hits — Lisa Berg (three runs, two RBI), Tanya Geiger (two runs, RBI); two hits — Patty Polly (triple, three runs, RBI), Jenny Blowers (run, two RBI), Kathy Spillman (two runs), one hit — Sheila Sanders (home run, run, three RBI), Denise Stallings (home run, run, RBI), Dona Stallings (run, RBI), Gloria Efrd (two runs).

A look at the future

SCC's young women's team stomps Manatee

By DEAN SMITH
Herald Sports Editor

SANFORD — After watching the opening game of the 1997-98 basketball season for the Seminole Community College women's team, fans couldn't help but wonder what the future could hold.

The present isn't too bad either. With three freshman starting and seven first-year players getting significant playing time, it would figure that the Raiders might struggle early in the season. Wrong.

The women of head coach Ken Patrick were outstanding as SCC buried visiting Manatee Community College from Bradenton 84-48 at the SCC Health and Physical Education Center Tuesday night.

"We can only get better," said Patrick, who's statement will probably give other coaches heart palpitations. "I was concerned with Manatee because they beat us by 23 points in the jamboree. But the girls have improved so much, so fast. You could see tonight that they are starting to play with the defensive intensity that Tony (assistant coach Tony Manderville) likes."

The Raiders got off to a slow start offensively, only leading 14-4 after the first 12 minutes of the game. But the hosts then got rolling behind sophomore's Gemma Riley (nine points) and Izzy Medhanie (eight points) and 7-foot freshman Jaana Kotova (11 points) to build a 40-21 lead at intermission.

The Lancers never got much closer as the Raiders had five players finish in double figures scoring and had eight of the 10 dished players score points.

Kotova finished with 18 points and 12 rebounds, while Darla Kudryvtseva (15 points), Riley (13), Chinita Lee (11 points, nine rebounds), Medhanie (11 points, six rebounds) and Jennifer Sweeney (eight points, seven rebounds) also played well.

Thana Dawson from Deltona led Manatee with 17 points.

Seven-foot freshman center Jaana Kotova (No. 44, white uniform) poured in 18 points, pulled down 12 rebounds and blocked six shots to lead Seminole Community College to a season-opening 84-48 thumping of Manatee Community College.

Lake Mary girls oust Edgewater

By COURTNEY LEFFEW
Herald Correspondent

LAKE MARY — Last night, the Lake Mary girls volleyball team seemed to be having a recurring dream although this time they woke up winning.

The Lady Rams hosted the Class 6A Regional Quarterfinals against Edgewater and won in the three game match, 15-11, 6-15, 15-13.

"We fought for every point. It was an ugly game. We struggled and played ugly but we won," said Lake Mary coach Cindy Henry.

The gym was packed full of Lake Mary fans, tons of student body, and administrators.

The first match began with a complete team effort by Lake Mary. Edgewater came on strong with an amazing blocking system.

"Edgewater played well. They have two players that are very big and tall with great blocking ability. We were searching for the floor," said Henry.

The Lady Rams' search for a victory almost seemed absent after the second game. Edgewater had the net covered and Lake Mary couldn't meet the challenge.

"Edgewater made us look bad. We were just flat. The girls sometimes get in the mind frame once they have won that first game, the second match is not that important because they know they have one more match to come back and win," expressed Henry.

Lake Mary knew it was time to show its talent and to advance to the Regional Semifinals on Friday. In third game, the Lady Rams came back with the confidence they needed.

The Lake Mary girls had to fight for every point they got Tuesday night as the Rams outlasted a strong Edgewater Eagles squad 15-11, 6-15, 15-13 in a hard-fought Class 6A-North Regional Quarterfinal matchup at Lake Mary High School.

Stephanie Dale led the team after a hard struggle throughout the night. Dale had 20 serves and 13 kills while Jackie Van Looven helped with 24 assists and 11 service points.

An outstanding performance was also given by Sarah Smith along with Jeannie Marx (11 kills each), Ang Woodall (five kills), and Jackie Crispell (14 serves).

"We are undefeated at home and that gives us lots of motivation. After the game I told the girls, thank you. They did not give up and just when things looked bad a change of the tide came our way. We showed heart and soul," said Henry.

The Regional Semifinal Match will be played on Friday and the location is going to be announced today. Coach Henry says that they will be focusing on the basics and practicing serving for the next two days.

Oviedo girls back in groove, thrash Winter Park

By TONY DeSORMIER
Herald Correspondent

WINTER PARK — Both the Oviedo and Winter Park girls volleyball teams gave performances in their respective district tournaments last week that were nothing that anyone expected.

Oviedo, 21-6, finished second in the Class 6A-District 3 Tournament. That wasn't a surprise, but what concerned Lions head coach Anita Carlson was her team's unsprited play.

After struggling to get by Lake Brantley in the semifinals, the Lions were swept by Lake Mary in the finals.

Meanwhile, in the Class 6A-District 4 tournament, the Wildcats (12-9) were upsetting state-ranked Edgewater and No. 1 seed Dr. Phillips to win the district.

In Tuesday's North Regional Quarterfinals at Winter Park High School, the two teams returned to expected form as Oviedo eliminated the Wildcats 15-5, 15-4.

The Lions will now advance to the Regional Semifinals this Friday at a site and time to be announced.

"We played much better tonight than last week," said Carlson. "We just concentrated on serving and passing the ball."

After four service rotations in the first game, the score stood at 3-3.

Oviedo then scored the next seven points and 12 of the next 14 to win the first of the best of three game match.

The Lions then jumped out to a 10-1 lead in the second game and was never seriously challenged.

Oviedo was boosted by the return of Lacey Greer to the lineup. Greer, a senior middle blocker, suffered an injury in the district tournament last week.

"We've had three starters go down with injuries," said Carlson. "Kelly Tucker came back last week, then Lacey went down. Lacey came back tonight and Angie Parsons should be ready Friday. We'll finally be at full strength for the Regional Tournament."

The injuries to the three starters had a disruptive effect on the Lions' effort in the district. "We struggled a bit when Lacey got hurt," said Carlson. "I'm not sure the girls were confident that they could do it (win) last week. But I told them that they still had enough to get the job done."

"We have a lot of seniors on this team and they really stepped up."

Carolee Liljenquist led Oviedo with 10 assists, a kill and two blocks. Peggy Dolan added five kills, while Elizabeth Harger and Nicole Broome each had two kills.

The Wildcats were hurt significantly by failing to return 14 serves by the Lions over the two games.

Sudden weight loss could be serious

PETER GOTT, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 74-year-old retired engineer who has been losing body fat for five years. I don't diet; I just lose weight. That was all right until two years ago, when I started losing muscle, too. Now I can't even lift five pounds over my head, and I have trouble walking or rising from a chair. What should I do?

DEAR READER: What you should have done five years ago: Get to your doctor.

Although your problem might be as straightforward as an overactive thyroid gland, unexplained weight loss—especially in conjunction with progressive weakness—could signify an ominous condition for which you need immediate attention. For example, certain cancers and serious neurological diseases can be associated with the very symptoms you describe.

While I don't encourage people to seek medical attention for every trivial cold, sprain or headache, I do urge them to see their doctors for symptoms that PERSIST. In your case, the weight loss should have been medically addressed once it had been present for several weeks. You desperately need an examination and other testing.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I am 76 years old and in perfect health except for a non-cancerous prostate gland enlargement, for which my urologist has prescribed Proscar. However, some of my friends swear by an herbal product called "Prostata," made by GeroVita International. Which remedy should I use?

DEAR READER: Stick with the Proscar, a prescription drug that shrinks the prostate gland.

Many manufacturers of herbal remedies are aggressively marketing their products for a variety of ills, including prostate enlargement. To date, no reputable, properly performed medical studies have shown that herbal remedies are effective in relieving the symptoms (frequency, dribbling, nighttime urination, and so forth) that characterize this common condition. Until scientific proof is forthcoming, you will probably have more beneficial results from prescription drugs, which have been thoroughly tested and are manufactured under stringent regulations.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Are there any new treatments for impotence?

DEAR READER: There is a lot of hope that a new investigational drug, sildenafil (Viagra), may provide an alternative for impotent men who are reluctant to administer penile injections or penile suppositories, or to undergo prosthetic implant surgery.

Researchers claim that the drug is effective and has few side effects. It inactivates an enzyme that neutralizes a compound necessary for erection.

In two studies, more than 85 percent of men who took sildenafil were satisfied with the results. The medicine requires some degree of sexual arousal to be effective, and can be used for erectile dysfunction that is psychological as well as physical. Government approval is expected within the year.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Impotence." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: After a biopsy does the finding "abnormal tissue" always mean cancer?

DEAR READER: No, it doesn't. It just means that the biopsy specimen contains tissue that is abnormal. While this could reflect a malignancy, it also could indicate infection, inflammation, a benign growth, or a host of other noncancerous abnormalities. The report of "abnormal tissue" must always be defined further before a diagnosis is established.

WIN AT BRIDGE

A firecracker from Amherst

By Phillip Alder

This is Guy Fawkes Night in England. Fireworks are let off in the evening to commemorate the unsuccessful attempt of Fawkes and his gang to blow up the Houses of Parliament on this date in 1605. Here is a deal full of fireworks from the Summer Nationals in Albuquerque.

There is an unwritten rule that someone who makes a pre-empt mustn't bid again unless. Yet sometimes circumstances allow a degree of flexibility.

After South opens one heart and West makes a takeout double, what should North bid?

Marcia Freed, from Amherst, N.Y., opted for a straightforward pre-emptive four hearts.

Now East made an imaginative advance of four spades. Presumably, he was making a lead directing bid, planning, if doubled, to retreat to five diamonds.

Next, South and West each bid one more. South was waiting — thirsting! — to double, but Marcia was thinking. Logically assuming the missing spades must be 4-4 and seeing 12 tricks if partner had both red-suit aces, she bid six hearts. Internally, South scowled. But he had to take the ace back when he saw the dummy. Making six hearts doubled for plus 1210 was no problem.

At the other table, North bid one spade over West's takeout double. A moment later, North bid five hearts, which East doubled. After South made an overtrick for plus 750, East was quick to claim she had made a striped-tailed ape double. (You double a game contract when you think the opponents are about to bid a making slam. You intend, if they redouble, to run like a frightened simian to your own suit.) Everyone pretended to believe this!

HOROSCOPE

Thursday, Nov. 6, 1997
The ambitious elements of your personality will be aroused in the year ahead. You will develop a feasible course of action and your probabilities for success look good.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Several things you thought would be difficult to finalize might be easier than you had thought today. Do not build impediments in your fertile imagination. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2.75 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be sure to give a friend the benefit of the doubt today on any close calls. If not, this person might feel you don't trust him or her. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Today you might be commercially involved with a tightfisted and shrewd individual. If you're not indifferent, careless or naive, you'll do okay.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your behavior will have a strong influence over your peers today. If you nurture a long face, you won't see too many smiling faces in return.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) The demands placed on you could be heavy today. Instead of letting this annoy you, you can boost your feelings of self-worth by being helpful.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Today you might receive some unsolicited advice from a concerned friend. What your pal has to say could be very constructive, so lend an ear.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Some of your associates might scatter their efforts today, but you will be centered on meaningful objectives of immediate concern. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) In your spare time today, work out your plans for the rest of the week. Getting your people and places in order now could lessen logistical problems later.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Joint endeavors could work out well for you today. Their success might be due more to the efforts of your associates than to your own contributions.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It could prove wise today to sit down with your mate and discuss in detail all of your involvements, even those with which he or she is unfamiliar.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) If you feel you've earned something today, do not be silent about your case. Your accomplishments might have been overlooked unintentionally.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Today, you might need to make your rules known to those in your charge. Reassure them that the laws you've laid down are for their own good. © 1997 by NEA, Inc.
