MAN ADMITS POISONING OF FOUR PERSONS

Victims Of One Family Were Discovered In Automobile That Crashed Into Fence

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Aug. 16.—(A.P.)—A quadruple poisoning that cost the lives of four members of a family was confessed by a man who identified himself as Mark H. Shank, Akron, Ohio, and begged for leniency, officers said.

The victims, found late yesterday in an automobile which had crashed into a fence near Malvern, Ark., apparently as the driver scrambled, were identified by officers as Alvin Conley, 40, of Akron; his wife, Ethel, about 25; and two sons, Clyde, 11, and Clarence, seven. The third child, Clement, four, escaped.

Shank was arrested in a woods after a farmer reported he saw the car crash and a man fleeing. First denying his guilt, he later confessed and promised a full statement later, police said.

Lehmann Sees U. S. Salvation Resting On Success Of NRA

In the opinion of Karl Lehmann, who made a short talk at the N. R. A. program before Sanford Kiwanians today, the "future of America rests upon the way in which this program goes on."

His talk followed an entertainment program which had as its highlight a humorous account told by Kiwanian Frank Peirce, of the beginnings of the N. R. A. piano selections by Eleanor Jones, and readings and songs by Miss Neva Peirce.

Sanford Merchants Will Discuss Hours

Another discussion of opening and closing hours in Sanford stores is expected to be held this afternoon at the City Hall at 5:00 o'clock. All merchants in Sanford are expected to attend.

The meeting was called by Mayor V. A. Spear on behalf of the merchants. As head of the Advisory Committee of the local N. R. A. Campaign Army, Mayor Spear yesterday afternoon advised that the special Investigating Committee of the Army recommends that all dry goods and retail merchants in this city revise their opening and closing hours so that they will conform to the spirit of the President's Agreement than they now appear to.

Mayno To Appeal On Arsenic Law Ruling

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 16.—(A.P.)—Nathan Mayo, commissioner of agriculture, will appeal to the supreme court from an injunction granted by Judge H. C. Petteway at Lakeland against the enforcement of the state anti-arsenic law. Mayo said a precedent would be set if he were to appeal. He did not say when the appeal would be filed. Judge Petteway said he was issuing the injunction to a group of grapefruit growers because he considered the arsenic law invalid if enforced as regards grapefruit when considered with the 1931 arsenic law fixing maturity standards.

LANDIS DELIVERS ANOTHER OPINION UPON FUTCH BILL

Persons Who Fail To Pay '32 Taxes For- ever Lose Rights

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 16.—(A.P.)—The Florida property owner who fails to pay his 1932 taxes loses forever the opportunity for redemption of delinquent taxes under the Futch act, Attorney General Landis said yesterday.

Edwin R. Hurst, of Gainesville, put this question: "If a person fails to pay 1932 taxes does he forfeit all right of the Futch law in regard to payment of delinquent taxes? Say he fails to pay 1932 taxes, and then pays the 1933 taxes, would that restore his rights and privileges of delinquent tax payments?"

Landis replied: "It is my opinion that if a person fails to pay 1932 taxes, he is entitled to the benefits under the Futch bill permits a tax certificate to issue against his property for 1932 taxes, he forever loses whatever rights he may have had under that law."

In the same opinion, the attorney general said the Futch bill provided for redemption of delinquent taxes for 1931 and prior years with bonds only for the benefit of the property owner and that persons could not purchase delinquent tax certificates with bonds.

The opinions were made public shortly after Governor Sholtz and the cabinet voted to set as a committee to direct a statewide drive for payment of 1932 taxes as a means of bringing about lower millage for 1933.

Railroad Is Awarded Silver Safety Trophy

Master Mechanic H. R. Stevens and approximately 200 other officials and employees of the various Sanford shops of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad are proudly displaying a silver trophy which has just been awarded them as a reward for having maintained a remarkable safety record for the past six years. Through the month of July, the local shops went 2,552 days without an accident.

Having already established a four-year record of not having reported a single accident in the Sanford shops, Mr. Stevens and his men in 1933 decided to enter a two-year Safety Contest. Shops at Tampa, Lakeland, Jacksonville, and High Springs, which, with Sanford, comprise the Third Division of the railroad, also entered this contest.

COURT ATTACK MADE AGAINST RECOVERY ACT

Application For In- junction, Testing Validity, Is Denied By District Justice

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(A.P.)—The first court attack against the constitutionality of the National Recovery Act failed yesterday in District of Columbia Supreme Court when an application for an injunction to set aside operation of the law as it affected Texas oil refiners was denied by Justice Joseph Cox.

Forty-nine Texas refiners had sought to have set aside the Interior Department's recent restrictions of interstate shipment of oil.

"Congress has declared," Cox's opinion said, "that there is a national emergency and has granted the President broad powers to meet this emergency."

He held that Congress had the constitutional authority to delegate these powers. The section of the oil regulations around which the fight raged was the "hot oil" rule. That forbids the interstate shipment, production or withdrawal from storage of any oil taken from the ground in violation of state laws. It was issued by Secretary Ickes under presidential authority.

"I do not think the National Recovery Act can be sustained on any ground," said F. W. F. Fischer, counsel for the refiners, asking Justice Cox to grant an injunction against the federal government. "The act is unconstitutional and void for the reason that it is an attempt to delegate power to the President of the United States which cannot be delegated but must be exercised by Congress alone."

Fischer contended the federal government's power over interstate commerce was confined to regulation and did not permit prohibition.

HAVANA, Aug. 16.—(A.P.)—The bank accounts and properties of the deposed President Machado and his followers are being investigated with a view to restitution by their successors.

Four Giant Industries Of Country Urged To Agree Quickly On Their Codes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(A.P.)—Four of the nation's giant industries were urged yesterday by the NRA to agree quickly upon codes providing minimum wages and maximum hours for their millions of workers.

The NRA's advice, it was learned yesterday in administration circles, went out to the coal, steel, oil and automobile industries from H. H. S. Johnson, recovery administrator, as he opened a determination campaign to reach the full of the Nation's employees by Labor Day.

The oil industry alone of the four is operating under a temporary code.

With Secretary Frances Perkins at his side, Johnson conferred with spokesmen for the coal, steel plants, while a deputy administrator talked with representatives of the automobile industry.

Operators of bituminous coal fields have been called to meet today a week earlier than planned and on Thursday Johnson will seek action from the coal industry.

PLANS MADE FOR TRIAL OF "SCARFACE" AL

Gang Chieftain And 23 Others To Be Tried In Criminal Court On Racket Charges

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—(A.P.)—Arrangements to try Al Capone in Chicago to stand trial for racketeering with 23 others were started yesterday.

Chief Justice John J. Fitzgerald of criminal court issued a writ of habeas corpus directing federal authorities to produce Capone in his cell at Aug. 29. The former gang chief is serving 30 years in the Federal reformatory at Joliet for income tax fraud.

Federal officials here said they believed there would be no objection to returning Capone. Attorney General Cummings was expected to arrive in Washington Thursday or Friday.

Assistant State Attorney George C. Neumeyster, a leader in prosecution of the racket case presented the writ to Judge Fitzgerald. The document was drawn against Warden A. C. Adelbert of the Alton prison.

Police With Rifles And Machine Guns Seek Desperadoes

EMPLOYERS WILL SIGN COUPONS IN LOCAL NRA PLAN

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—(A.P.)—Fifty police with machine guns and rifles rushed from Chicago into Southern Wisconsin today in an attempt to corral a band of suspected kidnapers.

Police said the desperadoes, sought probably were members of the same gang as two fugitives who eluded 300 officers after a gun battle on Chicago's western outskirts yesterday.

The exact destination of the mobilization of police was a secret but it is known to be in the Wisconsin summer resort region.

The notorious Touhy Gang, four members of which were named as the $100,000 kidnapers of William Hamm, Jr., St. Paul brewer, known to make headquarters in the region, George Hugo Moran, page leader, dethroned by the killing of seven followers in the St. Valentine's Day massacre, was reported there.

A gang of wily kidnap suspects last night apparently had slipped through one of the most elaborate police traps ever devised, carried by a package of decoy ransom money, the amount of which was undisclosed, but which was reported to approximate $50,000.

Ironically, the money was paid over to the mother suspected of implication in the abduction of Charles Unruh, millionaire Oklahoma oil man, and John Factor.

Members Of "Cuba" Tickets Are Given Fines In City Court

Three of the six persons who have been awaiting trial on charges connected with a violation of the city lottery ticket ordinance were tried before Municipal Judge S. A. B. Wilkinson Monday afternoon during a lengthy police court session. The other three violators of the ordinance are scheduled to be tried next Monday.

The cases had been held up pending a decision by Circuit Court Judge Millard B. Smith as to the right of the City to try them. Attorneys for the negro violators had argued that the City Charter gives the City Commission no right to pass an ordinance of the type it did pass. Judge Smith, however, decided against this contention and ruled that violators should be brought into police court.

Monday, Margaret Ruff, James Robertson, Jr. and Horace Lewis, all of whom were charged with possessing lottery tickets with possessing lottery tickets were brought into court. The former was fined $15, Robertson was fined $15, while Lewis was fined $15.

The Depression Helps

There may be many benefits resulting from the depression but among the most gratifying we have heard yet is the one mentioned by a New York rector who told his congregation recently that the playboy and the playgirl in schools and colleges are beginning to fade out of the picture.

One of the worst features of American university life was the country club atmosphere which frequently pervaded the campus. Students, some how, got the idea that they were sent off to school only to learn how to wear tailored clothes, drive fast motor cars, drink Scotch whiskey, attend night clubs, and have several fast lady friends on the string.

The thought that their real objective was to read and study books, to absorb the instructions of their professors, to work hard in the laboratory and class room, to discuss with their classmates important topics of life, was infrequently embraced by the average under-graduate.

Apparently these conditions have changed with the financial stringency. A person who attends college today cannot afford to throw his time away with frivolous things. He must acquire all the knowledge he can in the shortest time, for he never knows when some bank failure or business collapse will cut off his allowance. Funds for amusements are scarce and the possibility of leading a very gay life has diminished in proportion to the contraction of money.

Out of all this we may expect a much more intelligent graduate body in the future, a group made of sterner stuff than their predecessors and better capable of facing the difficult realities of life.

Beating Our Time

We hear much about establishing closer trade relations with South America, and the fact that this country is geographically nearer to the Southern Hemisphere than the nations of Europe, on first thought, would seem to favor the United States in establishing commercial preference. But, whereas this country may be nearer to South America in point of actual distance, it is not in the matter of time, which is really the important thing. In explaining this situation the Miami Herald says:

"Expansion of the Zeppelin service between Germany and Rio Janeiro and of the French aeropostale and German Luftthansa along the same route means that the United States is going to have to start real activity to get and hold more South American trade.

"Think what this Zeppelin service means. In three and a half days a Zeppelin will carry passengers from Germany to Rio, the return to be made in four. The regular Pan-American Airways schedule now calls for seven days between Miami and eight days from Rio to New York.

"In air mail service, floating midocean landing stages are being tested that may enable the European airmail to shoot planes down through Africa and over the water gap to South America in much faster time. With greater development of the European air network, the chief capital of South America would be twice as close to Madrid, Paris, London and even Berlin as it is to New York.

"President Roosevelt should keep that steady growth of German and French air service in the foreground, and see to it that the American lines hooking Rio to Washington and New York are given every aid to increase the speed of their service. The United States has South American trade willing, even eager to deal with this country rather than Europe. We cannot allow the more ambitious Germans and French to steal that trade away by the backdoor route of an air line through Africa."

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

The Weather Bureau man, H. C. DuBose, reports that Sanford is the coolest place in this part of the state. His observations show that the rainfall has been much less than at this time last year but has caused no inconvenience to the growers. The corn crop was the best ever known in this section. The rainfall during what is usually the rainy season was 12 inches less than last year during the same period.

W. L. Morgan is spending a few days with some folks while he is working the adjacent territory. Doc is always sure of a warm welcome among his Sanford friends.

Captain P. M. Elder took in the Miami celebration and returned Monday. Alfred Foster is enjoying life during the heated term at Hendersonville, N. C.

W. P. Carter and Deane Turner motored over to Oviedo on Sunday. Herbert O. Crippen and family of New York, are the guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Crippen. Mr. Crippen is a well known piano manufacturer and is now with the John Wanamaker department store in New York. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Squires, of Cameron Avenue, had as their guests Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Hancock, of Lake Golden, Mrs. J. Chase, and O. L. Chase, of the West Side.

At the park courts yesterday Sanford placed it all over Kissimmee in some very interesting tennis games. The Kissimmee team was represented by Messrs. Weaver, Bullock, Vans Agnew, and Woodson, Sanford by Messrs. Fox, Puleston, Wyatt, and McKim.

The famous Edison Talking Pictures are coming to Sanford. This has been decided and they will be shown at the Imperial Thursday, Aug. 21. A complete entertainment, consisting of drama, comedy, tragedy, operatic selections and speeches by well known men and women will be enough to convince the most skeptical that a silent motion picture is doomed and hereafter they will talk the same as real actors on a real stage.

LEESBURG MAN BURIED LEESBURG, Aug. 16.—Funeral services for J. R. Fall, 73, a resident of Leesburg for more than 40 years, during which time he was actively identified with the development of this community, were held from the Methodist Church in Leesburg Monday. Services were in charge of the Rev. A. C. York, of Umatilla and the Rev. C. Byrd, of Leesburg. Pallbearers included: C. Grassy, Claude Albrecht, J. Gwynney, Johnson, Cushman, Gene Brown, and Wallace Albrecht.

The inspectors will be in charge of investigation forces in the field and their primary duty will be to see that there is no misuse of the money by either the federal government or political subdivisions.

They will receive their orders and report directly to Louis R. Howland, chief of the division of inspection of the Interior Department. Howland has been directed to lead a similar division in the public works administration.

RECORDS BROKEN AT LIBRARY FOR THIS FISCAL YEAR

Mrs. Moughton Gives Her Report To City Commission Monday

All circulation records at the Sanford Municipal Library were broken during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1933, it was revealed at a meeting of the City Commission last night when Mrs. E. J. Moughton's second annual report as librarian was read and given the approval of the Commission.

Following the reading of the report, the Commissioners moved that Mrs. Moughton and her staff be thanked publicly for their "splendid" efforts in maintaining an institution which is playing a real part in the growth and development of residents of this city. Mrs. Moughton's report reads as follows:

"Honorable Mayor and City Commissioners of Sanford: I have the honor to present my second annual report as Librarian of the Sanford Public Library for the year ending June 30, 1933.

"We feel a deep sense of gratification over our report; this year when we consider that in spite of many handicaps such as lack of funds, and assistance, and the lowered membership, the Library has gone ahead of all previous years. The Librarian has had one part-time assistant and practically no voluntary help for this year.

"During the 12 months ending June 30, 1933, a total of 69,128 books and magazines were loaned, whereas the circulation for the year 1932 was 63,318, an increase of 5,780. This increase would have been considerably more but every four years the adult membership is revised, and new cards are issued. This revision was begun on Jan. 1, 1933.

"Memberships are being issued only to residents within the city limits or to city taxpayers. Any one residing outside of the city is charged $1 a year. We are limiting the number of books allowed on one card to six.

"In the six months since the re-numbering was begun, we have 912 adult members, and of this number, 163 are new, 28 are non-resident, and 721 are renewals. Last year we had 2450 adult members. The juvenile membership will be revised beginning Jan. 1, 1934. At present there are 1078 juvenile members, making a total membership of 1990.

"It is impossible to estimate the exact number of books in the library, as about one-half of the old books have not been recorded in the accession book. With the new books added this year, we would make a conservative estimate of 12,000 volumes. Five hundred and 89 books were accessioned and catalogued during the past year. Two hundred and 45 new books were purchased with rent money and 314 adult and juvenile books were donated.

"The constant use given the books necessitates a great deal of small groups, definitely called off their milk holiday after a march on the capital yesterday. More than 1,000 farmers came to Albany by automobiles and buses to seek a conference with Gov. Lehman, and to stage a demonstration in the senate and assembly chambers.

menting but with the lack of assistance, fewer books have been mended. Two thousand 113 were repaired, many of them being hand-sewed and rebound in the library. No books have been sent to the bindery in two years. Ninety-six were worn-out and discarded.

"The reference work has had to suffer these last few years with the increase in circulation and lack of assistants and new books. One person's time is required at the desk all of the time checking and receiving books, slipping them and placing them on the shelves ready for circulation again.

"However, the school shelves were arranged for the High School Literature classes. To arrange these shelves, 500 books were taken out of general circulation marked for each class, and placed in a special section reserved for the school. Whenever possible we assisted in getting material together for special assignments. We helped the public in any way possible in reference work, or their general reading. Four thousand 614 persons used the reference rooms; 3345 adults and 1271 juveniles.

"The library takes 70 magazines, 33 being subscriptions and 37 being gifts. The majority of these are loaned to the public. Daily newspapers, the "Florida Times Union" and the "New York Times" are subscriptions, while the "Sanford Herald" and the "Christian Science Monitor" are donated.

"The total juvenile circulation was 12,598. While there was a small increase in this year's circulation calation we cannot expect much with practically no new books added in several years. Last November during National Book Week, the Woman's Club sponsored a book shower and party to raise funds for the juvenile department.

"They raised $18.61 and with this we bought 13 new books. There were many books donated, 85 were for juveniles and the others were placed in the adult department where the elder girls and boys could use them.

"We should like to express our thanks to the Woman's Club for their continued interest in the Library, and to the Rotary Club for their hearty response to the appeal made to them during National Book Week. We also wish to thank the many friends who have donated so many books and magazines.

"The Librarian takes this opportunity to express to the Mayor-operation and support in the deep appreciation of their hearty efforts to carry on this very necessary and beneficial work in this community, especially during this terrible time of depression and unemployment. I should also like to express my thanks to

Widow Denies Any Connection With Slaying Husband

ROCKFORD, Ill., Aug. 16.—(AP)—During protracted questioning Mrs. May Hanson, 23, yesterday firmly maintained she had nothing to do with the "torch death" of her divorced husband, Earl.

State's Attorney Robert D. Nash, said evidence indicated Hanson had been slain.

The evidence consisted of a porcelain wash basin and a box of matches found near the place where last Sunday Hanson died in the flames that enveloped his automobile. That was in the driveway of his former wife's home, a few minutes after he had left his daughter, June, 12, there.

Officials theorized someone had used the porcelain basin to dash gasoline on Hanson, and had then ignited his saturated clothing.

Mrs. Hanson admitted she had used the basin to feed her chickens some time before Hanson's death, that she had bought a small box of matches similar to those found two days ago, and that she had purchased a quart of gasoline Sunday.

She had used it to start a car, she said. Nelson McColl, operator of a gasoline service station near the Hanson home said Mr. Hanson purchased the fuel from him, explaining that she wanted to use it to start her automobile.

Mrs. Hanson's eyebrows were singed. She explained: "I was in the basement when the fire broke out in the car. I naturally feared for my daughter, June. I thought she might be in the car. I got too close to the flames in trying to look in and that's how I happened to get singed."

Mrs. O. M. Harrison has gone to Washington, D. C. where she will visit her sister, Mrs. Lucy G. Barber. She will be accompanied home by her son, Gilmer Steele, who has been in Washington for several weeks.

Mrs. G. W. Bailey returned last night from Georgetown, S. C. where she spent some time with her daughter, Mrs. Joe I. Bull. She was accompanied home by Mrs. Bull and her son who will be her guests for a short time.

"The Girl In 419" Is Playing At Milane

Motion picture stories are often suggested by newspaper headlines. But B. P. Schulberg, leading producer, has enjoyed the experience of seeing newspaper headlines paralleling a motion picture.

The picture is "The Girl In 419," a romantic drama which plays at the Milane Theatre tonight with James Dunn and Gloria Stuart in leading roles. The film centers around a girl, brought into an emergency hospital badly beaten and unconscious and saved by the head of the hospital, who is intrigued by her beauty. When she recovers, she begs not to be sent out of the hospital, pleads for protection.

Schulberg, reading the newspapers one night when "The Girl In 419" was nearing completion, found an item telling practically the same story. A gangster's girl, thrown out of a speeding car, was taken to a hospital, recovered consciousness, and begged the authorities not to release her when she was well again. It meant her life.

Schulberg was amazed by the similarity of his bit of fiction and this bit of fact; attributed it solely to coincidence.

Miss Stuart is "The Girl In 419" and Dunn is the doctor who ultimately straightens out her tangled life—and his own. Others in the cast are David Manners, Jack LaRue, Shirley Grey, Johnny Hines and William Harrigan.

Missionary Society Of Church Has Meet

A combined business and program meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Methodist Church was held Monday afternoon at the church with Mrs. E. H. Laney, vice-president, presiding. During the business session reports were heard from the various officers.

At the conclusion of all business Mrs. B. E. Jones announced the program which was based on the subject, "Women's Status in the Church." Assisting Mrs. Jones with the program were Mrs. J. Smith, who led the worship period, and Mrs. Walter Raines.

NEW BANK FOR ORLANDO SEEN NEED BY O'NEAL

Former Head Of Institution Outlines His Ideas At Luncheon

ORLANDO, Aug. 16.—Formation of a new bank to supplant the closed First National Bank and Trust Co. was declared a necessity by W. R. O'Neal, speaking Monday before the Junior Chamber of Commerce. The new institution would have a paid in capital of $100,000, a surplus of $20,000 and a preferred stock issue of $100,000 which the Reconstruction Finance Corp. has agreed to take, he said.

Mr. O'Neal is conservator of the bank.

He said that he would fight to pay off every dollar in deposits in the present institution.

Following the meeting, Mr. O'Neal said that the amount of money that might be paid to depositors in the First National Bank at the time of the opening of the new bank would depend upon latitude of the comptroller and the amount of money that could be gathered together from cash on hand, bond sales, and note collections.

"We have hopes," he said, "that some of our debtors will come in and pay up their notes before the time for the opening of the new bank. We understand that many are making applications for loans either through the Federal Land Bank, the Home Loan Bank or the Regional Agricultural Loan system. If they can get the money to retire the loans that they owe to us we can then be able to add that much more to the amount that we will pay out at the time of opening."

"We cannot say today just how much we can pay to the depositors when we open but it will be every cent that can be raised for the purpose. We will then reduce the claims of depositors as fast as we can. The new bank will take over the assets and obligations to depositors and all accounts will remain active so that collections can be followed."

Speaking at the luncheon Mr. O'Neal said:

"The question in which you are all interested," said Mr. O'Neal, "is whether the First National Bank will open, when it will open and how it will open. I am not here to discuss the wisdom of the move that closed all banks in the country."

"The fact that grew out of that closing was the question of what was to be the future of banks in the United States. The best banking and political minds of the country decided on provisions of the Glass-Steagall bill as the proper solution of the banking situation."

"The survey shown in the United States shows that 90 per cent of all accounts are less than $12,000 and so provisions of the bill are built around that fact. A resume of our records of 1935 shows that we had 8,873 accounts. Of this number 5,595 had less than $25. There were 687 accounts in which there were balances of between $25 and $50. There were 480 accounts with $50 to $100, 308 accounts with balances of between $100 and $200 and of the larger balances there were but 233 accounts."

"Now you ask why had cash reserves of the bank run down to the point in which they were found Mar. 4. The reason was that there was enough money actually in cash to care for the float. People who owed money to the bank did not pay it fast enough to take care of checking accounts.

"You have asked about the stockholders in the bank. There are 22 stockholders, five of whom are women. A number of these do not live here in Orlando. The list is filed with the courts here each year and are a part of the public records."

"I, as a stockholder, have put $100,000 into the bank. Since 1923, the bank has not paid a dividend. I would personally have been far better off should I have put my money into bonds. As it is I have had that $100,000 invested and it has not repaid me one cent in those four years. We have worked against heavy odds. We are still working against those odds, which have resulted from inability of Orlando and Central Florida people to care for their obligations."

TARTAR-PAZARDJIK, Bulgaria—Great attachment of the younger generation of Bulgarians to education makes interference with their schools one of the most unpopular acts of the government.

This was strikingly illustrated by the recent decision of the Ministry of Education to close the State High School of Gymnasium here, for reasons of economy which provoked an unparalleled public demonstration.

Eight thousand persons, constituting a third of the total population of the town, gathered in the public square, as the bells in all the churches in town were rung, and under the leadership of clergy and free thinkers, capitalists and Communists, Agrarian political leaders and professors demanded that the school be continued. A resolution was presented and unanimously carried, recommending that all officials of all parties, from the city clerk clear up to National Representatives resign unless the Ministerial decision to close the school was changed.

Tatar-Pazardjik, founded about 1500 years ago by Tartars migrating from the Orient, is the market place of a rich agricultural district, and for many years has been the center of radical social movements.

Here also Communism has long been very strong and recently an extensive Bolshevik organization was discovered in the local garison.

Struggles have divided the population into fiercely contending factions, and political conflicts have often resulted in violence, yet the whole population was united in its demand that the high school be maintained. Bulgarian love of education has resulted in almost complete obliteration of illiteracy among the youth.

NEWSPAPER CODE GIVEN APPROVAL BY HUGH JOHNSON

Previous Proposal Of Press Had Been Rejected By Chieftain

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—A modification of the President's re-employment agreement covering hours of labor and wages in the newspaper industry was approved last night by Hugh S. Johnson, industrial administrator. The code was submitted by the American Newspaper Publishers Association after a previous proposal had been turned down by the recovery administrator.

The plan will be acceptable as a substitute for the hours and pay provisions in the President's blanket code and compliance with it will permit newspapers to obtain the blue eagle pending consideration of a permanent code.

Provisions of the approved temporary agreement include: No persons under 16 shall be employed except to sell papers during hours established by law where it does not interfere with school hours, but those from 14 to 16 may be employed up to three hours a day between 7 A. M. and 7 P. M.

A 40 hour week for accounting, clerical, office, service or sales employees (except outside salesmen, representatives, drivers, and circulation men), provided the exception other than outside salesmen shall not exceed 10 percent of the total employed.

A 40 hour week for factory or mechanical workers, or artisans, with a maximum week of 44 hours for any six weeks within any six months period provided no one works more than eight hours in a day.

Minimum wages for accounting, clerical, office, service or sales employees of $15 a week in cities of more than 500,000 population; $14.50 in cities between 250,000 and 500,000; $14 in cities between 250,000 and 100,000; and $12 in towns of less than 25,000; provided that all employees receive as much as heretofore; except that up to 5 percent of the total employees may be classed as learners or apprentices and paid not less than 70 percent of the scale.

Minimum wages for factory or mechanical workers or artisans, except apprentices, of 40 cents an hour; and if hours are reduced under the agreement a rate of not less than prevailed in the same community July 15, 1929, and in no event less than 30 cents an hour, or a weekly wage equal to that paid July 1, 1931.

Maximum hours not to apply to professional workers (including reporters receiving in excess of $35 a week) persons in managerial or personal capacity who receive more than $35 a week, employees on emergency, maintenance and repair work, employees in special cases where restriction of hours would reduce production and in special cases of emergency, provided that in such special cases at least one and one-third shall be paid for hours in excess of the maximum.

Hour and wages index contracts in effect on or before July 1, 1933 which cannot be revised except by mutual consent are exempt.

The temporary agreement also provided: That during the period of the code a publisher in a city where there is a shortage of labor which would create great hardship could obtain a stay of the requirements for limited hours upon petition approved by the ANPA, pending investigation by the Recovery Administration if he agreed to abide by the decision of the latter.

Giant Industries Of Country Urged To Agree On Codes

In another significant move toward the goal of industrial stability, the National Labor Board dispatches Elmer F. Andrews, New York commissioner of labor, to the bituminous coal fields of Western Pennsylvania, to investigate charges that operators had violated conditions of the agreement which ended the strike there.

Johnson, in advising that the four basic industries compose their differences and agree upon codes with the administration, was faced with the fact that three of the groups were operating without regulation by the NRA while the petroleum industry is working under a temporary code of wages and hours but is far apart on other controversial matters with

FEDERAL AND STATES GROUP OFFERS WORLD'S FAIR SIGHTSEERS FIGURATIVE JOURNEY THROUGH NATION

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Oh, h-h, say can you see... The United States government has done a bang-up job of presenting its activities so that Chicago World's Fair—A Century of Progress—visitors can see and understand them.

In the graceful Federal Building, whose 150-foot slender white pylons, symbolic of the three departments—legislative, executive and judicial, are mirrored in the blue waters of North Lagoon, are some of the most interesting and costly and best-organized displays in the entire Exposition.

Framing the Federal Building against its V-shaped background is the colorful States Building, with gay banners heralding the elaborate shows maintained by the twenty-one states—including Alaska and Puerto Rico—participating in the Fair.

See Money Printed. In the two buildings together grouped as one unit, architect Edward H. Bennett of Chicago, has created one of the architectural highspots of the Fair. Especially at night, when floodlights and interesting highlights make it a jewel rising from Northerly Island, is the structure a gorgeous picture.

Inside the government section the visitor may spend hours, even days, of fascinating observation. He may see in the navy exhibit the last word in anti-aircraft guns, models of famous ships of history, moving pictures of naval maneuvers and sailors' life, displays of various means of ship propulsion, torpedoes, shells and other fighting equipment. On a large motorized map, explained every land speaker, he may learn many things that the navy accomplishes throughout the globe.

In the treasury department exhibit he may watch a million-dollar bill printed before his eyes. He may see how the bureau of standards tests everything from steel rails to airplanes. He may learn how the bureau of fisheries stocks lakes and streams, and how the lighthouse service protects ships at sea.

Cross-Country in a Step. There are here intriguing exhibits of the post office department, exposing daring mail frauds; the bureau of investigation with its display of criminal detection; the Smithsonian institution, the Hawaiian Islands, the national park service and the United States marine corps.

In the spacious Hall of States, the visitor may wander through the north woods of Wisconsin's great resort regions, the tropical verdure of Puerto Rico, and a mountain bog garden of New York's Adirondacks, all within a few steps. Across a court he may find himself in an Alaskan trapper's cabin, along a winding Missouri stream, or in a California giant redwood grove. The luxuriant growth of the Florida tropics and the quiet beauty of a midwest courtyard extend their hospitality as well.

Free Entertainment. Almost like a tour through the nation is a walking trip through the States Building. Here the Dakota "bad lands," a Michigan trout stream with its rocky waterfall, the corn fields of Iowa, the Mississippi cotton belt and the unquiescent mines of Illinois are brought into view in understandable, educational form.

And if the sightseer is tired from a long day of looking, he may stop to rest in the Court of States, where every day leading bands, choral societies and other musical organizations provide free entertainment under blue mid-western skies, and in the cool breeze off Lake Michigan.

Nowhere in this great international exposition does the visitor realize more clearly the magnitude, the versatility and the phenomenal progress that characterize the United States of America.

One of the most graceful examples of the new ideas in architecture that features the Chicago World's Fair—A Century of Progress, the Federal Building brings to the shore of North Lagoon some of the most intriguing exhibits in the Exposition. In the foreground an Italian gondola gives further proof that it is a World's Fair.

Down by the old mill stream it's still peaceful and quiet, even in the heart of the busy Chicago World's Fair—A Century of Progress. Thelma Wellbaum, of Dayton, Ohio, pauses in one of the many beautiful gardens of the Horticulture Building to rest a moment in her tour of the Fair's many interesting spots.

as fixing the cost of production. In formally establishing the recovery administration, President Roosevelt mentioned the basic industries as leading the way in the program.

The money was understood to have been part of a sum Factor promised to pay his abductors after his release several weeks ago.

Instead, he informed authorities of the demands and at the appointed time yesterday, more than 300 police and federal authorities concealed themselves about the rendezvous near suburban La Grange.

The officer with the ransom package arrived in a taxicab accompanied by another detective dressed as a driver. Approached by the extortionists, he handed over the money and at the same time signaled his companions waiting in ambush.

The gangster, about seven in number, occupying two automobiles answered a command to halt with a barrage from a police sub-machine gun manned from the taxicab.

Meanwhile detectives came upon the abandoned sedan and traced its license to the proprietor of a West Side saloon. Police sent there arrested five men and took them to the detective bureau for questioning.

The identity of four of the quarry sought was given in police reports as Richard (Yuma) Phillips, known here as an underworld "fixer," Vernon Miller, one of the notorious Harvey Kelley gang, Tommy Touhy, brother of Roger, held for the kidnaping of William Hamm, Jr., St. Paul brewer, and George Kelly, said by authorities to be wanted in the Rochester case.

The missing automobile carrying other subjects bore a Texas license plate authorities said had been issued to Mrs. Ora L. Sanborn, of Paradise, Texas. It was at Paradise that Bailey, four members of the Staunton family and another person were arrested in connection with the Urechel case.

Miller and Bailey, federal authorities said were also suspected in the machine gun slaying of Frank Nash, escaped convict, and four peace officers returning him to prison. The killings occurred at Kansas City a few weeks ago.

Witness States Couzens Barred R.F.C. Bank Loan

Ford at one time was understood by bankers to have agreed to "freeze" a deposit of $7,500,000 in the Union Guardian Trust Company, but later denied he had made such a promise and threatened, if the Union Guardian closed, to withdraw all the money he had in any bank, including $20,000,000 in the First National. Senator Couzens, now in Detroit, will answer the statements of Mills when he appears before the grand jury later this week.

The startling testimony came at the re-opening of the jury yesterday for the purpose of hearing remaining witnesses and adjourning sessions after a long adjournment. Mills the first on call, declared firmly that he believed the refusal by Couzens to sanction $6,200,000 of a $43,700,000 loan was the sole cause of the state banking holiday, proclaimed by Governor Cametock Feb. 14 after the Union Guardian Trust Company found itself unable to open for business.

"I pleaded with Senator Couzens to get the R. F. C. to stretch a point in the interest of saving the whole Michigan situation," said Mills, "but he remained obdurate." Couzens, he said, informed him there was insufficient collateral to cover the needed part of the $43,700,000 loan.

The witness said on the eve of the threatened state-wide holiday he telephoned President Hoover. The president, he said, told him that directors of the R. F. C. felt there was insufficient collateral for the loan, and declared the reason they did not think it of sufficient value was fear of Couzens, who was not only the senior senator from Michigan but also had been chairman of the Senate committee investigating R. F. C. loans.

"The president," said Mills, "said the directors did not want to face Couzens' criticism even for so worthy a purpose as saving about a million depositors." He said that Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Republican Michigan, denounced every desire to be helpful, but Senator Couzens said if the loan were made he would "denounce it."

"I forget," said Mills, "whether he said 'denounce it from the house,' or 'from the senate floor,' but it was one or the other." The president suggested I talk with Couzens and see if he would withdraw his opposition. I said I had, but to no avail."

Mills said bank officials understood they had an agreement from Henry Ford to "freeze" his $1,500,000 deposit in the Guardian installation in order to assist in obtaining sufficient funds, but that Ford later declared he would take no such action, and announced that if he ever made any similar statement it was because he misunderstood his meaning. This, he said, left the bankers "in a worse hole than ever."

He quoted Ford as saying: "If the Guardian does not open today, I will take every cent of my money out of your bank (the First National) the first thing in the morning. If it opens, I will play ball with the First National the way I always have. If it does not open, I will take all the money I have out of every bank that is open."

Cotton Curtailing Plan For Next Year Will Be Worked On

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Believing that despite a reduction of 4,000,000 bales or more in this year's cotton crop there is still too much of the staple on hand, the farm adjustment administration probably will work out within a few weeks a new curtailing plan for next year.

Secretary Wallace said yesterday that during his recent tour of the South he found growers anxious for such a campaign and added that he expects them to bring forward a plan soon.

The secretary of agriculture indicated the farm administration is in a receptive mood for such a plan. The census bureau reported yesterday cotton mills continued high speed production during July, with consumption reported at 600,143 bales compared with 278,568 for the corresponding month last year.

In an annual summary, the bureau also reported that stocks on hand Aug. 1 were $176,134, or about 1,500,000 bales less than on the same date last year. The total in 1931 was 6,369,993.

Theoretically, the farm administration sits back and awaits moves by the growers before deciding on any program affecting a farm commodity. Actually, it does much advance planning and frequently has a good lead of what it intends to do before the farmers' plans arrive.

GREEN ANGERED OVER ACTION OF STEEL OFFICIALS

Labor Leader Accuses Representatives Of Walking Out On Him

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Representatives of the giant steel industry were accused yesterday by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, of walking out of an N. R. A. meeting because he was present.

"I regard it as a challenge to the government," Green told newspapermen. "Assuming he was there as a member of the government advisory board, the labor leader added: "The question is whether steel is to dictate to the government or whether the government is going to set up machinery under the industrial recovery act and require industry to work with that machinery."

Meanwhile, strong efforts were being made by national recovery officials to reach out and bring into the N. R. A. fold four large industries, including steel. These others are coal, oil and automobile industries.

Hugh S. Johnson, the industrial administrator sent word to the officials to agree quickly upon codes providing minimum wages and maximum hours for their multitude of workers in order that the N. R. A. campaign might reach the bulk of the nation's employees by Labor Day.

Green said he had been invited by Secretary Perkins to attend the conference between the steel men and N. R. A. officials as a member of the labor advisory board.

He added that at a meeting this afternoon the board protested the action of the steel men.

"When I went into the conference room with Miss Perkins this morning there seemed to be considerable perturbation," he said. "Miss Perkins talked to Judge Moore, counsel for the steel interests, to Irving of United States Steel, and officials of the Bethlehem Steel Company.

"They said they would not participate with me present, Miss Perkins explained I represented the labor advisory board. They were adamant and walked out evidently to another conference room, leaving me sitting there."

Green said Miss Perkins and Donald Richberg, counsel for the recovery administration, explained the situation to him later and that he replied it was an issue between steel and the government since he was present as a member of the government advisory board and not as president of the federation of labor.

Johnson told newspapermen he knew nothing about the incident.

Reports Made By Departments Of City Regime

(Continued From Page 1) were dismissed, and 11 cases were transferred to the County Court. The total amount of police fines collected was $108.50.

The Water Department reported that in pumping 15,208,200 gallons of water during the month it was necessary to use the following supplies, some of which were carried over into this month: 635 gallons of fuel oil; 42 tons of chlorine; 16 gallons of lubricating oil; 10 gallons of kerosene; 450 pounds of ammonia, and 5900 KWH of electricity.

Thirty four meters were set during July and 49 were removed. In addition, 14 meters were transferred only to give assistance and happiness to poor children but to bring the city and country people into closer contact, especially to create more friendly relations between the Viennese, who are considered by some outsiders to be red revolutionists, and the conservative folk in the provinces.

Austria is striving now to develop a unified national consciousness and to form a "Fatherland Front" and it is realized that Austrians need to meet more and know one another better.

four; four were changed; one was re-read, and 30 were repaired. Four leaks required repairing, and there was only one complaint fall in collecting revenues, it was necessary to make 112 calls. It was found necessary to cut off 15 meters during the month, while only three were turned on.

At the end of the month, there were 1683 metered services in the city, and two flat rate services, or a total of 1685 active services against 444 dead services.

In a voluminous report of many activities under him during July, Superintendent of Parks James Moughton stated that the City received 963 days of Federal Aid labor during the month.

This labor was divided as follows: 340 hours were spent on ditches; 269 hours were spent on repairs to brick and asphalt pavements; 243 hours were spent in beautification work; 76 hours were spent in grading; 55 hours were spent on culverts and sewers, and 10 hours were spent on repairs to public building.

Mrs. E. J. Moughton reported that the Municipal Library had another active month during July. The cash balance on July 1 was $10.62, while on Aug. 1 the balance was $12.43. Receipts during the month totaled $32.46, gathered from fines and rent paid by non-resident members. Disbursements totaled $25.65, while $5 was turned over to the City treasury.

Additions to the library shelves during the month included one book purchased with rent money, while 174 books were repaired in the library. There were 29 new readers registered—17 adults, and 12 juveniles.

The total number of books circulated reached 6601, and the library was open 25 days for the issuance of books. Therefore, the average daily circulation was 264 books; the largest daily circulation was 480 books, and the smallest daily circulation was 94 books. There were 456 visitors in the reading and reference room.

Gasoline and oil consumed during the month in various departments was as follows: Water Department, 69 gallons of gasoline and five quarts of oil; Street Department, 763 gallons of gasoline and 83 quarts of oil; Police Department, 235 1-2 gallons of gasoline, and 11 quarts of oil; Fire Department, 11 gallons of gasoline; Sanitar, Department, 41 gallons of gasoline, and two quarts of oil.

MORE TEAM PLAY IS URGED AMONG LAW ENFORCERS

Ten-Point Program Is Presented At Meet For Fighting Crime

CHICAGO—Better team-work among law enforcing agencies was urged here recently before the International Association of Chiefs of Police and the International Association for Identification, by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the bureau of investigation of the United States Department of Justice, as part of a ten-point program for combating crime.

Mr. Hoover, whose message was read by J. S. Egan, chief inspector of the bureau, called for: Less sentimentality in dealing with confirmed criminals.

Greater willingness to keep habitual criminals in prison after they have been sent there.

Refusal of business men to comply with racketeers' demands.

Greater freedom for the police from political influence.

Better pay for the police.

More secure tenure of service for policemen.

Adequate and modern arming of law enforcement officers.

Further steps to make it more difficult for criminals to obtain firearms.

Better teamwork among the law enforcing agencies.

Co-operation between local and federal officials in checking kidnaping.

Use of the radio by police departments in running down crime has had an astonishing growth the last year, it was reported by the committee on police radio of the Police Chiefs' Association, Lieut. Donald S. Leonard of the Michigan state police, chairman of the committee, related that the number of people served by radio-equipped police departments had increased 16,000,000 in the last year.

The number of police cars using radio jumped 2000 in this period. There are now 39,500,000 people served and 3415 squad cars in use. The number of police departments operating or preparing to utilize radio numbers 125.

"There is a growing defiance of constituted police authorities and a flagrant disregard and apparent contempt for police power on the part of the gangster element," said Mr. Hoover in his paper. Tied up in Washington by a re-organization of the investigating of the Federal Government, Mr. Hoover delegated the reading of his address to Mr. Egan.

"Too many habitual criminals are at liberty," continued Mr. Hoover. "They were legally placed at large after having been committed to a penal institution either for life or for large periods of time, following hazardous duties performed by our peace officers."

"First offenders or those who indicate some measure or possibility of reformation, should, of course, receive proper consideration. "But there is not a person present who cannot recall scores of habitual criminals who were not forced to serve the terms imposed on them by the courts, who were accorded less than minimum sentences, paroles, probation, and pardons, to an extent which at times caused police throughout the country to wonder whether there was any possible advantage to be gained in spending money in placing them behind the bars."

Nothing all doubt that he would be hurled against the... Jake Baker, the Central Florida Baseball League's outstanding left-hander and hardest hitting hurler, knocked the Fed's pennant-winning chances sky high when he held the Feds to three runs and shut them out, 8 to 0, before a howling mob of Cocoa fans that city yesterday afternoon.

face him. Provost then drew a walk, and Henry McCully singled into right field, sending Provost to third. Buddy Hopkins, than whom there are few finer and scrappier youngsters in this league, stepped into the "clutch" hitting position by cracking out a single which scored Provost. Dull forced Hopkins at second to return to the dugout.

Yesterday Baker had his revenge. He showed the Feds that he can't take it, and he showed fans that he can take it. The day was his 15th of the season against seven defeats, and that respect he has set a new league record for victories in a single season in the South. Only three Feds got to second base, and nine of them went out. It was the worst battering handed the Feds since early 1932.
