Canal May Get No More Work Relief Money

Promise Is Made By Hopkins That None Will Go To Questionable Projects

G. O. P. Proposes Limit On Time

Want Provision Assuring Completion Of Works This Year

WASHINGTON, Apr. 10.—(AP)—Members of the House appropriations committee said today they had been given positive assurance by Harry L. Hopkins that none of the new $1,500,000,000 relief appropriation would be used for the Florida Ship Canal or the Passaic squoddy tide harnessing project in Maine.

The relief administrator, who spent two days before the committee in a hearing on President Roosevelt's request for a billion and a half for next year, said it will not be made public until the committee reports the relief bill to the House.

Committee members quoted Hopkins as saying all of the proposed appropriation would go to his Works Progress Administration except for a limited sum to Rexford G. Tugwell's Resettlement Administration. Despite Hopkins' assurance, it is understood Republican members of the committee plan a provision prohibiting use of the money for projects which could not be completed within the year.

Although Hopkins stood pat on his refusal to discuss his testimony with reporters, it was learned he did not say whether the $1,500,000,000 asked by the President would be enough to carry the relief organization through the next fiscal year, beginning July 1.

Chairman Buchanan of the committee said he might call on treasury officials for information about actual disbursement of relief money already allocated and the amount remaining on hand.

50 Million For Flood Relief Is Voted By Senate

WASHINGTON, Apr. 10.—(AP)—A $50,000,000 flood and storm relief loan bill was rushed through the Senate yesterday and returned to the House. At the same time, the slower-paced general flood control bill appeared to be a notch nearer final congressional action.

The Senate would authorize the Reconstruction Corporation to liberalize its terms for lending money to public and private corporations in eastern and southern flood and storm stricken districts. In addition, it would create the way for private loans for home and industrial repairs and rehabilitation in disaster areas, by waiving many of the restrictions on government insurance of loans under the National Housing Act.

The House already has voted to authorize the RFC to lend up to $25,000,000. Speedy approval of the Senate changes was expected. Progress in the Ritter trial brought steadily nearer the time when the Senate can consider the $275,000,000 Overton Lower Mississippi flood control bill.

From the War Department came information to Chairman Copeland (D. N. Y.) of the Senate Commerce Committee, that Army engineer recommendation for combination flood control-power projects for inclusion on a second or omnibus flood control measure would be put in his hands not later than Monday. Many of the projects in the omnibus bill would be constructed in recently flooded eastern states.

Upwards of 20 projects costing $100,000,000 were in the list, Copeland said. These, added to the $385,000,000 of projects already tentatively written into the measure, would swell it almost to the $600,000,000 which Copeland hoped would be the top.

Assistance Pact Among American Nations Proposed

WASHINGTON, Apr. 10.—(AP)—A concert of American nations, pledged to mutual assistance in case of foreign aggression, has been proposed to President Roosevelt by General Jorge Ubico, president of the Republic of Guatemala.

The plan, presented for consideration by the All American Peace Conference to be held this summer at Buenos Aires, in effect would call upon all nations of Central and South America for adherence to the Monroe Doctrine.

To preserve peace among American nations the plan would set up permanent court of inter-American justice.

The League of Nations failed today in efforts to bring a halt to the war between Italy and Ethiopia, and after three days of talks members of the League's Committee of Thirteen decided to adjourn until next Thursday.

Although the Committee's president had been instructed to talk to Baron Alpiol of Italy on the subject of peace, it was understood he was informed the Baron was in Geneva solely to discuss Germany's failure to respect demilitarization of the Rhineland and consequently League members began a discussion of the Rhineland situation.

The Italian refusal to negotiate on peace at Geneva was received with displeasure by the British.

Ritter's Lawyers Begin Battle For Jurist On Trial

Defense Succeeds In Getting Batch Of Letters In Record

WASHINGTON, Apr. 10.—(AP)—Defense attorneys read a batch of letters and telegrams in the Senate impeachment trial of Federal Judge Ritter today in an effort to show that the jurist was not guilty, as charged, of conspiring with lawyers to bring the Whitehall hotel receivership case into his court. The prosecution at first objected strenuously to the letters going in the record on the ground they were irrelevant. They withdrew their objections temporarily with the statement they might have to examine more witnesses on the issue. The first telegram produced and which was allowed to go into the record was from W. J. Moore of Chicago and New York to Martin C. Sweeney of New York, former part owner and manager of the Whitehall. Defense Attorney Wash said it showed Moore himself "had the concern not into bankruptcy." Other letters, he said, showed efforts to "prevent entire loss of the property."

The prosecution rested its case only yesterday afternoon with the introduction of only 11 of its 28 witnesses. The testimony of all concerned the principal activities of impeachment, alleging Judge Ritter conspired with attorneys to bring about the receivership proceeding on the Whitehall hotel of West Palm Beach, granted excessive fees to attorneys in the from the same.

Twenty-six witnesses have been called by the defense. In the light of this, few cared to conjecture tonight whether the trial would be concluded this week.

With conclusion by the prosecution of testimony concerning the receivership case, on which it bases its chief argument for removal of Judge Ritter, the handling of the remaining charges was speeded up. Senators—in the capacity of jurors—seemed to lose interest then. (Continued on Page Four)

Gen. Plutarco Calles And Three Advisors Placed On Airplane Headed For Border

Blamed For Wreck Of Train Monday

WASHINGTON, Apr. 10.—(AP)—General Plutarco Elias Calles, for 11 years "strong man" of Mexico, was arrested today in a surprise coup by the government. With him were arrested three principal advisors. All four were placed aboard an airplane carrying them to forced exile in the United States.

Federal troops and secret police went to the homes of the four men shortly after midnight and made the arrests. The arrests followed publication of charges by the left wing of the Chamber of Deputies that Calles was responsible for the bombing of the Vera Cruz train Monday in which 12 persons were killed.

The Vera Cruz train was bombed last Monday while en route between the coast and the capital city and it was thought at first fully 50 persons, including a number of prominent political personages who were aboard, had been killed. The entire train was plunged into a deep ravine. Bombs were exploded just as it was crossing a trestle.

Calles and a number of his followers were detained several months ago by a party that raided his country estate soon after his return to Mexico from Los Angeles, Calif., where he lived following his term as president. The government at that time disclaimed any part in the detention of the former political leader, and the raid was declared to have been the work of bandits.

There's one advantage about being in an airplane wreck. There's not much chance of your knowing anything about it.

It's probably wouldn't have called the Versailles Treaty a scrip of paper if he had ever read it. As a matter of fact it is quite a bundle.

One worries about those actors who have played 1,000 performances of "Tobacco Road." What will they do when they have to go back to work?—Detroit News.

Mussolini demands complete annihilation of the Ethiopian army. Some day, if history repeats, some other conqueror will be demanding the complete annihilation of his army.

Peasies Geombos of Hungary fought a duel the other day with Thor Kshards, leader of the peasant party. Now if President Roosevelt were to fight a duel with former President Hoover that would also be news.

Isn't it funny that the very people who are insisting the most that the budget be balanced are complaining the loudest against the government's tax plan? Evidently, everybody wants someone else to do the balancing.

As a part of the government's AAA program of farm relief, a certain farm corporation received a check for $1,007,468. Not for raising corn or wheat to feed the unemployed, but for reducing the usual amount of its sugar production. One million cold dollars (taxpayer's money) to one corporation for doing nothing!

Among those visiting in Sanford Wednesday was Colin English of Ocala, Fla., candidate for State Superintendent of Public Instruction, who says "We need adequate financial support from sound sources of income and an active educational leadership to provide and carry out an educational program which will insure a maximum of educational returns from our money."

There are 21,000,000 families owning automobiles in the United States. If there are on an average five persons to each family, that means that 105,000,000 people out of a total population of about 135,000,000 have automobiles in their homes. There are 7,000,000 more persons owning automobiles than there are voters. Joy riding seems to be the outstanding American hobby. We must have something to do with whether we have a roof over our heads or not.

They have a way of demanding that in Spain which is novel as well as effective. In Arvia the army has 450 unemployed men, women and children. They are given up the streets in the main square of the city. Civil authorities have not a cent to their credit. The only other considerable source of funds has been the army. Other unemployed were employed to repair the square.

Sanford, Fla. (Herald Staff Writer)—The program conducted on the radio by the Sanford Chamber of Commerce on the subject of "The Future of the South" is being broadcast in several cities. The program is being broadcast in the main square of the city. Civil authorities have not a cent to their credit. The only other considerable source of funds has been the army. A Sad Case

All of us know certain instances of so-called "faith cures." In some parts of the country there are so-called "faith healers" who do a tremendous business presumably curing, by an application of the hands, illnesses which have defied all the panaceas of the medical sciences. A child suffering from infantile paralysis, with twisted and helpless legs, is brought before one of these doctors. He waves his hands over the child's extremities, utters a few indistinguishable words, and the child promptly stands and walks.

That such things are possible, even in the scientific world, was brought out the other day by Dr. Louis Schneider of the North Hudson Hospital in Weehawken, N. J. Dr. Schneider told of a young man twenty-four years old who was brought to him suffering with paralysis of the right leg. The patient was promptly put under ether after being told it would be necessary to operate. But no operation was performed. Nothing was done to him except to administer the ether. When he came to, he was told that he now had perfect control of his legs, and he had. He stood up and walked.

Re-Forestation

Flood damage in the South, such as recently threatened the Tennessee Valley, could be more effectively checked at its source by increased reforestation by governmental agencies and private landowners, according to Joseph C. Kircher, regional forester in charge of the Southern Region of the U. S. Forest Service.

"Though the South is not a section of the country where the most destructive floods originate, large flood damage is caused from time to time by rivers rising in the Ozarks and the Southern Appalachians, and also the overflow of streams in the southern pine states ranging from North Carolina to Texas," Kircher stated.

"I know that a great many people take the stand that it requires so long for trees to grow that reforestation, though it has value, is not important in acute situations. This is not an accurate view. Soil experts freely admit that the roots of tree seedlings begin to function as effective agents in holding soil against erosion very soon after the plants begin to grow.

"There are now 2,138,600 acres of national forest land in Arkansas and Oklahoma which protect important watersheds to a certain extent, but to do this job adequately, 2,365,000 additional acres of land suitable only for the production of forests should be purchased, at a cost of about $7,500,000.

"In the southern pine states there are already nearly 4,000,000 acres of national forest land, but so distributed that another 4,000,000 acres should be added at perhaps a cost of $15,000,000 to effectively combat the flood menace to future generations.

"In the Southern Appalachians we have 2,063,000 acres, which have been under protection for twenty-five years and have been a vital factor in checking floods in the rivers of Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, and northern Alabama. Here we should have an additional 6,040,000 acres of land that would probably cost about $25,000,000.

"If steps were taken at the present time to acquire this land, it would not only be of prime importance in our national obligation to take measures to minimize the recurrence of floods that menace the welfare and happiness of thousands of persons each year, but it would have immediate relief possibilities."

France Plans To Eliminate Risks In Ocean Flying

Plans To Move Whole Transatlantic Air Service In Summer

By CHARLES FOLTZ
 PARIS, Apr. 10.—(AP)—France plans to move her whole transatlantic air service with the seasons in 1937.

When storms sweep the North Atlantic the tricolor's planes will use the "old" route from Dakar, Africa, to Natal, Brazil, but when the southern route is dangerous the planes will fly the North Atlantic with the international air "combine."

"There's nothing miraculous about a transatlantic crossing for us," said an official of the air ministry. "We've been carrying mail from Europe to South America for years and a North Atlantic service simply means cutting down the risks our pilots encounter during the northern summer."

France is waiting only for "the rest of Europe to make up its mind," according to Louis Allegre, general manager of Air France.

"America has taken the initiative in North Atlantic service and it remains only for Europe to decide what nations shall carry the European end of the task," he said.

Representatives of France's Air France, Germany's Deutsche Luft Hansa and Britain's Imperial Airways have conferred with Pan-American Airways in the United States.

American planes will carry at least half of the postal freight, following present plans, while British, French and German companies will split the European share.

"At present," Allegre said, "the main problem is whether the north or south routes across the North Atlantic would be most practical. We plan to use the southern route, with Lisbon as the European capital of the air lines and with natural bases on the Azores and Bermuda, in preference to hops from Newfoundland to Ireland."

The air ministry is co-operating with Air France in laying plans to operate France's share in the ocean service. They work together on France's "North Atlantic commission," which has sent Senator A. de la Grange to the United States to confer with Pan-American Airways officials.

"When the North Atlantic service begins operation in 1937," Allegre said, "there probably will be six planes—three American, one French, one English and one German. But that depends entirely on the conferences between officials of the four countries."

"In any event the Lieutenant de Vaisseau-Paris, our largest and finest sea plane, will make several trial flights in North Atlantic waters before we begin our share of the service."

PEIPING'S BREACH OF EQUITY

NEW YORK HERALD-TRIBUNE

When the American tourist first sets foot on the Continent of Asia, all a-flutter with the prospect of looking up some of the much-murmured "spirituality" of the Eastern civilizations, some degree of bitter disillusionment is his or her first reaction to the evidences of squalor and unmitigated poverty which are in every great Oriental city's foreground. The masses of starved, malodorous scoundrels, straining underfed bodies from earliest youth to extreme age to do the work of beasts, the swarms of scarcely less tortured and forbidding gentry who quarrel savagely for the privilege of swindling the stranger in the name of this or that service and the equally voracious swarms of mendicants make an initial impression which none of the magnificence, beauty and charm that every Asiatic country has to offer can offset.

Japan has long been aware of this and now presents an immediate doorstep to her visitors. The news that the Peiping police have anticipated the arrival of four hundred American visitors by rounding up and jailing that city's great army of lusty professional beggars is proof that China, too, is taking the newcomer's preconceived notions and his sensitiveness to first impressions into account. But at what a blow to China's inflexible social conventions, which have all the force of our common law, no one can appreciate who does not know the traditional privileges of the mendicant.

It must be understood that in China, as in most other Eastern lands, beggary is far more likely than in the Occident to be adopted deliberately as a way of life. Beggards in each Chinese city, therefore, has its guild, its spokesmen who champion it in court, its understandings with merchants' associations under which no district that contributes a reasonable dole to the regular roundmen will be unduly pestered and no freelance intruders into the profession will be tolerated. In exchange for this degree of self-government through responsible guild officers, beggars have their rights in the sight of magistrates and police.

One of these is the right to congregate in force in any quarter where festivities draw strangers and to harass the outsiders into liberal charity. An appeal to a policeman for protection against such importunity would never occur to a Chinese, because the beggars are within their conventional rights, and the foreigner who tries it finds the law wooden faced and as deaf to the most eloquent Chinese as to any other language. The arrival of a large tourist party is, of course, one of those events in which beggars find the incarceration of Peiping's whole mendicant fraternity at such a time is a flagrant outrage against the Oriental system of equity.

Old Fashioned Radio Sets Relied Upon To Prevent Vote Riots In Venezuela

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

CARACAS, Venezuela, Apr. 10.—(AP)—Old-fashioned American radio receiving sets, equipped with batteries, may be the medium to save democracy-seeking Venezuela from disorder and bloodshed at the presidential election on Apr. 12.

Since aged Juan Vicente Gomez, long absolute dictator, died in December, popular demonstrations against the remnants of his tyrannical regime have cost the lives of many people and resulted in the destruction of rich properties.

The present chief executive, General Eleazar Lopez Contreras, candidate for re-election, has promised the public that there shall be no more dictatorships but at last only "true rule by the people."

Communism, brought secretly by outside agents, has added to the dangers of this period of political metamorphosis. The great problem of the president is to satisfy the people that their country is being returned to their hands, and to inspire a spirit of co-operation until the election has made it possible for him to inaugurate the program he has promised.

In order to achieve this, it is necessary for Lopez Contreras to present his views in an intimate way to the populace. But vast numbers of the citizens are illiterate and therefore the printed word will not serve his purpose.

There remains only the appeal by word of mouth. And the battery-powered American radio sets have come to the rescue in a land where electricity virtually is unknown outside the cities.

Several thousand receivers have been imported, and the president has sent these into four corners of the country, to be installed in public places so that his people may hear him speak personally.

So in the evenings the quiet but firm voices of the new leader reaches even to the mining camps in the inhospitable jungles of the Orinoco.

The foreign agents outgessed him. Knowing they couldn't operate in the towns, they turned to the haciendas, the fields and the mines. West Indian negroes, Spaniards and Germans sifted into those regions disguised as peddlers. How many converts they made probably will be demonstrated at the polls.

Although Provisional President Lopez Contreras was minister of war in Gomez' cabinet and considered the dictator's right hand man, he is popular. On the occasion of student disorders of half a dozen years ago, he refused to let the troops fire on crowds of demonstrators, although others in the regime would have staged a slaughter. The man in the street remembers that.

The greatest distrust seems centered on the present congress. Its membership was hand-picked by Gomez. One of the duties of the national legislature is to elect the president, so much of the pre-election fight is centered on the contests for congressional seats.

How's Your Health

INFLUENZA

The United States Public Health Service recently issued a warning that influenza is prevalent in Hawaii. The warning is significant in light of the fact that the last (1932) epidemic of influenza was first noted in Hawaii, and subsequently spread to the United States. It may be pertinent, therefore, to survey what we know about influenza.

During the last two years it has been definitely established by search carried on in England and in America, that influenza is due to a filterable virus, that is, to a disease-causing agent too small to be seen under even our most powerful microscopes, and small enough to filter through unglazed porcelain.

The discovery that ferrets and white mice are susceptible to the virus of influenza has made available for the further study of the disease two valuable experimental animals. Through experimentation with these animals, it has been found that the serum, that is, the liquid part of the blood, of ferrets that had influenza and recovered contained substances capable of neutralizing or overcoming the virus of influenza.

Furthermore, it has been found that when a quantity of living influenza virus is injected under the skin of white mice, these animals develop a resistance to the disease.

This experimental work promises to make available for us a preventive vaccine, against influenza and warrants the further study of the use of serum taken from individuals who have recovered from influenza in the treatment of serious cases.

Transatlantic Air Service Tests Hurried By Nations As Zeppelin Flies Ocean

LONDON, Apr. 10.—(AP)—Germany's huge new dirigible, the Hindenburg, successfully flies across the South Atlantic to Brazil. Great Britain is pushing preparations for her first big step in the commercial air conquest of the North Atlantic.

An all-metal, two-decked flying boat and the unique "pick-a-back" combination of a long-range seaplane and a flying boat designed to carry it into the air for launching, are being made ready for trial flights.

Experimental transatlantic flights, looking toward the cooperative regular service to the United States, Canada, Great Britain and the Irish Free State, are planned for the coming summer.

But not until 1938, do British air experts expect the projected regular service of four round trips weekly to be in operation over what they call "the most valuable but by far the toughest" of the ocean air routes.

While workmen are speeding construction of the British transatlantic planes, a handful of airmen has embarked upon intensive training at the "air university" at Hamble, Southampton Water.

Further groups are to take up the same work until 180 men will have been trained for the eventual regular service.

Full details of the new planes have been withheld by the constructors but it is reliably understood that the new flying boat is designed to be faster but lighter than the American clippers, used on transpacific flights.

Based on available details, a comparison of the British transatlantic boat and the American trans-pacific plane shows:

Wing span	114 feet	150 feet
Overall length	84 1/2 feet	93 1/2 feet
Height	23 feet	21 feet
High speed	140 m.p.h.	150 m.p.h.
Number of engines	Four	Four
Weight fully loaded	17 tons	24 tons

The British flying boat will be a high-wing monoplane with no external bracing of the wing. Floats fixed to the wing-tips will help preserve stability on rough water.

Four engines will be mounted in the leading edge of the wing, two on either side of the hull.

The boat will be entirely of metal, except for fabric covering small portions of the wing and the tail.

It will have a number of devices to insure short take-off and landing runs. These will include controllable-pitch propellers and flaps on the trailing edge of the wing to steepen glide and reduce landing speed.

The great overall height is designed to enable the boat to ride out severe storms without serious harm, in event of a forced landing on exposed water. The engines will be out of reach of all but heavy ocean waves.

Somewhat larger than this plane is the flying boat being built as the "mother" ship or launching plane for the novel "pick-a-back" combination.

Its designer is Major R. H. Mayo, 45-year-old technical advisor of Imperial Airways. British faith in its possibilities is indicated by the fact that a $475,000 company has been floated to exploit the invention.

The "mother" plane, with four open to successful Republican attack. If the Republicans should gain all the rest they would still lack a Senate majority.

Nothing but great political upheavals in the coming campaign followed by further upheavals against the Democrats in 1938, and again in 1940 will drive the Senate Democrats out before Jan. 3, 1941.

Not a few political prophets believe it will be 1943, seven years hence, before the Democrats can be shaken loose from their grip on the Senate.

Democrats Seek To Oust Senate G. O. P. Stalwarts

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON, Apr. 10.—(AP)—Although Democratic control of the Senate is a mathematical certainty regarding what happens to either the Presidency or the House in the November elections, party leaders have no intention of ignoring contests in the coming campaign.

Senator Guffey of Pennsylvania, charged with the responsibility of seeing that Democratic senators up for re-election this year are not only good but that new ones are about as perfected his organization for a determined drive.

He expects to get under way immediately after the party's big show is over in Philadelphia in June. He has his eye on several Republican seats he would like to see filled by Democrats.

Merely increasing the numerical strength of the Democrats in the Senate doesn't interest Guffey. The party already has more votes than it needs.

There are several administration critics in the Senate, however, whose departures in November would please Guffey and other Democratic leaders.

The Republican national convention may be of some help. Both Senators Borah of Idaho and Dickinson of Iowa are up for re-election to the Senate this year. Choice of either one as a presidential candidate would make Guffey's job just that much easier.

Special targets for Guffey's attack will be Hastings of Delaware and McNary of Oregon. McNary is Republican leader of the Senate and Hastings is chairman of the G. O. P. senatorial campaign committee.

Because the Democrats need not worry over losing control of the Senate this year they will be able to concentrate on foes like Borah, Dickinson, Hastings and McNary. There are other Republicans up for re-election, but these are the biggest guns.

The campaign of 1938, however, will be a different story for the Democrats. Then 27 of them in the Senate must run.

However, of these 27 Democratic seats, 11 are virtually not

Interior Decorator Giving Touch To Huge 'Slack Rope' Tunnel Under Hudson River

By HOWARD G. ALLAWAY
NEW YORK, Apr. 10.—(AP)—Like a huge slack rope along between two subterranean towers, a 21-foot metal tube, a mile and a half long and weighing 50,000 tons, says in the muck 100 feet below the Hudson River between New Jersey and New York City.

Within 400 interior decorators in three shifts are working the clock around to add the $42,500,000 Midtown tunnel to the underground, under-water mass that pours millions of persons daily into America's industrial capital.

Protected by a steel shell 14 inches thick from the 40 feet of water and 60 feet of river ooze over their heads, workers are laying a roadway over which motorists, after Jan. 1, 1938, will speed in five minutes from West Hackensack, N. J., to the heart of Manhattan Island.

New York's second vehicular passage under the Hudson, the Midtown tunnel is but one unit of a projected system of submarine highways for expediting the flow of traffic from the center of the metropolitan area.

The tunnel, completed in 1927, was the first. Even before work on the Midtown tube had started, construction is expected to begin on a similar duct which will cross the East River to connect Manhattan with Queensborough on Long Island.

"Sundogs" broke all speed records for tunneling when they "holed through" the Midtown tube last Aug. 2 after burrowing 3,000 feet in 14 1/2 months. Pushing a 400-ton bulkhead with 1,900 tons of hydraulic power through the soft muck deep under the river bed, they built the tube behind them by bolting together cast-steel arcs 30 inches wide to form 2370 continuous rings.

Work now in progress in the tunnel includes concreting the side-walls and installing a lighting system, air ducts, water pipes and drain gutters as well as laying a 21 1/2-foot roadway. The walls are being finished with certain tile and the ceiling with glass. All this will take another 20 months.

Outside the tube an additional 400 workmen are constructing approaches at both ends and erecting three buildings to house 32 electric

Frog Farmers Sue Tampa Firm That Sold First Frogs

They Didn't Multiply As Advertised, Say Forty Complainants

TAMPA, Apr. 10.—(AP)—Disillusioned of hot business frogs to multiply to the extent the literature said they would, 40 frog farmers in the Tampa area have filed suit in federal court today to recover $100,000 for the loss of their investment.

The suit is against the Tampa firm of J. H. Rittler, Inc., which sold the frogs to the farmers in 1934. The frogs were advertised as "guaranteed" to multiply and produce a profit of $100,000 per acre.

The farmers claim that the frogs did not multiply as advertised and that the firm sold them without disclosing the true nature of the business.

Ritter's Lawyers Begin Battle For Jurist On Trial

They Claim He Was Not In Charge

Late in the day, the prosecution put in the record copies of Judge Ritter's tax returns for income received in 1929 and 1930 and that of his former law partner, A. L. Rankin, for 1930 income. Representative Hobbs (D. Ala.), one of the three prosecution managers, said the original had been destroyed by the Internal Revenue Bureau.

No testimony was taken on this, but the articles of impeachment alleged the judge failed to pay taxes on $12,000 he received over his salary in 1929 and $4,000 in 1930. It also was alleged that part of this came from fees for practicing law in the case of Trust Company of Georgia versus Brasilian Court Building. The defense contends this was for services performed before Ritter assumed the bench.

Martin C. Sweney of New York, former partner and manager of Ritter's law firm, testified that Ritter occupied a suite of two rooms at the hotel, free of charge, while it was under receivership in his court. The rooms usually brought $50 a day, he said, and Ritter was there on two occasions, staying overnight each time.

Prospect Seems Remote For Party Sponsorship Of Tax-Balanced Budget

By BYRON PRICE

WASHINGTON, Apr. 10.—(AP)—The current tax discussion in Congress demonstrates pointedly how remote a prospect is the prospect of party sponsorship of a tax-balanced budget.

It is agreed universally that the government is "padding" its time of critical decision with respect to its finances. The budget has been out of balance for five years, and there is widespread questioning about the whole problem of national fiscal policy.

As a matter of common sense, it would seem that in such times the voters should be given an opportunity, under a Democratic form of government, to express themselves clearly and directly.

Theoretically, it would appear a simple matter to put into the campaign an issue stated thus: Should taxes now be increased to equal expenditures, and if so who should bear the burden?

Actually, national decisions seem to work out that way. Not only is any expression on the subject complicated by a tangle with other issues, but the tax itself has become so complicated that it is hard for anyone to understand it without the aid of a textbook on public finance and a table of logarithms.

In the first place, there is no prospect that either of the major parties will say, directly in its platform that it favors an income

FOG-BOUND PLANE CARRIES 11 TO DEATH ON PENNSYLVANIA MOUNTAIN

Lost in a fog, the big TWA airliner Sun Racer crashed into a forest on Chestnut Ridge near Uniontown, Pa., killing seven passengers. Hostess Nelle Granger and two passengers were in the rear of the plane and escaped with their lives but all were injured. This striking view, showing twisted fragments strewn about among broken trees, was made shortly after the crash by Seymour Ross, Associated Press photographer from the Pittsburgh bureau. SAYS WENDEL, BRUNO HAD BABY

Continued investigation of the Lindbergh kidnaping has brought forth a story by John F. Hollis (above), jailor at the house of correction in Plymouth, Mass., that he saw Bruno Hauptmann and Paul H. Wendel drive through North Abington, Mass., with the kidnaped baby Apr. 10, 1932. He related his version to the New Jersey state police. (AP Photo)

Racing Season At Longwood To Come To Close Tonight; Record Crowd Is Looked For

Eight Greyhounds In Feature Event For The Final Program

Marked as a decided success and endorsed by thousands of Central Florida sportsmen and women, Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club greyhound race track near Longwood tonight winds up a 90-day race meeting with an 11-event program headlined by a Consolation Derby.

Eight fleet greyhounds, headed by Ann Will, sister of the dog that won the $1,000 added Derby on Wednesday night, will compete in the feature race tonight for second best honors of the season.

The entry list includes Ann Will, Lady Traffic, Sunny Kay, Flash Past Careless Panny, and Skinny Wager, Wild Panny, and Skinny Barney.

Wise track followers believe that Ann Will can win the Consolation just about as easily as did Ann Hope when she finished eight lengths ahead of Chance Charlie to cop Derby and track championship honors.

Sunny Kay is figured as the most dangerous challenger to the young Franklin kennel dog, while Flash Past and Skinny Barney are being given consideration as third place winners.

A crowd rivaling in size that of Wednesday when 2,100 paid admissions were recorded, is expected for the "get-away" program which starts at 8:15 o'clock.

Myer Goldberg, general manager of the plant, expressing his appreciation for the season's patronage, promised an even greater race meeting in 1937, with several additions and improvements projected.

Tonight's entries and selections, with the latter capitulating as to dogs which should finish in the money:

- First race, 3-16 mile (consolation): Grey Black Orchid, DEXTER PARK (1), Miss Cleopatra, TORNA-DE-SPRO (2), ALLEYOOP (3), Invincible.

110 Merchants Of The County Back Ball Club

Big red stars are now displayed in 110 business establishments in Sanford and other towns in Seminole County by that number of business men who are backing the Sanford Baseball Association by giving a percentage of their receipts to finance the Sanford Lookouts. Each of these merchants is giving baseball coupons. One hundred thousand of these coupons have been distributed to the various business houses and 40,000 are being printed.

Four more business houses have put up the red stars since the list was published. These are McReynold's Drug Store, the Sun Oil Company, E. B. Smith and the Florida Power and Light Company.

The financing campaign is to close on May 21. The baseball season opens on Apr. 19.

Future Farmers Are Better Farmers Than Diamond Ball Players

Seminole Chapter of the Future Farmers of America in Sanford holds the state record for having the most successful junior farmers in Florida, but the boys found out yesterday that they can't play diamond ball, or that the Homestead Future Farmers can play a better game. Teams composed of the two groups played on the school grounds, and the Homestead bunch won by the decisive score of 18 to 1.

Twelve ads are on the tour from Homestead. They spent the afternoon here, went to DeLand for the night, expected to visit Hastings and Hawthorne today, go to Williston and Chiefland tomorrow, and return to Homestead on Sunday. G. N. Wakefield, advisor of the group, is in charge of the tour. In the group are Jim Fredricks president of Homestead Chapter; M. Greenville secretary; J. B. Carrington treasurer; and T. Big Leagues Will Start The Season On Next Tuesday

Packed Grandstands Are Looked For By Pilots Of Majors

NEW YORK, Apr. 10.—(AP)—Major league owners, optimistic to the last, agreed that Tuesday, opening day, would be one of golden sunshine and estimated that 300,000 persons will be in the stands. In the event of inclement weather, they will settle for 150,000, they admit.

Largest crowd of the day is expected to watch the Giants and Dodgers at the Polo Grounds. All reserved seats have been sold, already and Giants' officials predict that 40,000 unreserved seats will be sold Tuesday. This will hit the crowd to 55,000.

In Cincinnati Reds' officials are not even taking a chance on the weather. They have sold over 25,000 tickets already for their game with the Pirates and the capacity of 33,000 is anticipated.

Crowds of 25,000 also loom as the world champion Tigers start defense of their title against the Indians at Cleveland and the Cubs open their drive for another pennant against the Cardinals at St. Louis.

President Roosevelt, just back from the South, should be in fine condition for the opener in the capital between the Senators and the Yankees, but even this fact is not expected to fill the park. Only 20,000, which 12,000 less than capacity, were anticipated today.

When Connie Mack takes his Athletics to Boston for a game with his old players, 20,000 probably will look on from the Fenway Park stands. This estimate may go higher, it is thought, with Boston nursing hopes that the Red Sox are off on a pennant campaign.

In point of attendance the Philadelphia Athletics and the White Sox-Brown game at Chicago are not given much chance of breaking any records. Approximately 15,000 may watch the Chicago inaugural in this figure may be whittled because of the great interest in the primary election today.

Philadelphia estimates a crowd of 10,000.

Another Game Is Won By Cobb's Seminoles

The Seminoles, R. A. Cobb, manager, won again last evening, defeating the Red Sox by a score of 26 to 6. There were many spectators including a number of adults. The first week of the Junior League season closes this evening with a game between the Pirates and the Yankees.

William Bryson and Eugene Cochrane pitched for the Seminoles and Alvin Odham, George Kenis and Hubert Hayes pitched for the Red Sox. The catchers were Roland Floyd for the Seminoles and Mack Cleveland for the Red Sox.

MRS. M* knows Electric Cookery and Water Heating is Cheap and Cool!

Mrs. M. has cooked and heated water many different ways . . . but she prefers to operate her kitchen electrically. Electric cooking and water heating is cheap . . . and cool. Why is Mrs. M. enjoying such economical comfort?

Electric cooking is cheap and cool because the heat is concentrated directly on the bottom of the pan. There are no waste flames to go licking up the side of the utensil and out into the kitchen air. Your fuel dollar is spent in cooking food and not in heating the kitchen.

The heat is concentrated in an electric water heater, too. And the insulated tank keeps this concentrated heat in the water. Your kitchen is just as cool with the heater turned on as off.

Your cost of operation? A Thirty-Three rate has been especially designed for electric kitchens. This rate sees to it that the cost of electric cooking and water heating is well within your budget. See us or your dealer tomorrow and begin to plan your cool kitchen before summer sets in.

Mrs. J. B. Crawford of Sanford is a Modern Housewife. She says:

"My family consists of three adults and I use an electric water heater and electric cooking. I save many other things and I am satisfied with the service."

Highway Board Orders Buying Of Road Route

Right-Of-Way For 44 East From Sanford Is To Be Acquired At Earliest Date

Engineers Start Work Next Week

Road To Be Surveyed From Sanford To The Wekiva River

Right-of-way for State Road No. 44 from Sanford east to the Titusville ferry over the St. Johns River is to be acquired at the earliest possible date, County Engineer Tony Fletcher stated today, and engineers will be here Monday to begin surveying the route for the highway west from Sanford to the Wekiva River.

Instructions to proceed with the purchase of the right-of-way east from Sanford were received by the County Commissioners from the State Road Department which has approved the survey, and the board yesterday instructed Mr. Fletcher to hasten the acquiring of title to land needed for the highway. The right-of-way is to be 100 feet wide, extending through the town of Geneva, where the width will be reduced to 60 feet. The distance is about 20 miles, and 2.5 miles will be on a new route.

This is the road over which H. M. Payson, former president of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, and Senator J. J. Parrish have battled with the State Road Department at several sessions.

State engineers who will be here Monday will survey Route 44 from State Road No. 3 to Altamonte Springs, a distance of 1.05 miles, and the route for State Road No. 44 from the Sanford west limits to the Wekiva River, a distance of about four and one-half miles.

When these surveys are completed and approved, the County will acquire title to needed properties. Construction work on State Road 44 east from Sanford will not begin until title has been obtained to the 100-foot right-of-way, Mr. Fletcher said today, but he said he hopes there will be little delay and that the road improvement can be undertaken at an early date.

Engineer Sees Halt In Work If Unions Win

Projects 60 Per Cent Complete; Pynchon Explains Position On Wages Dispute

Should the demands of labor unions that the prevailing wage scale be paid on WPA projects such work in Sanford and Seminole County will practically be suspended, declared W. S. Earle, WPA engineer, today, in making the statement he was issued by E. A. Pynchon, state WPA administrator, who today informed WPA directors throughout the state that "Florida will be dotted with incomplete WPA projects if demands of labor unions for the prevailing wage scale are granted."

Local WPA projects are only about 60 percent complete, Mr. Earle stated. The green house is farthest along and if the present force of workmen can be kept on the job, should be finished within a month, he said. If work can continue on the present schedule the Park Avenue pavement should be completed about the first of June and the First Street pavement about the middle of June, but the Army can not be completed until July, Mr. Earle said. Completion of improvements at the Municipal Airport will be still later.

"If we should be forced to pay the prevailing wage scale we would have to cut down the hours of labor and it would mean that it would take three times as long to finish the job, or we would have to employ three times as many men," Mr. Earle declared.

City To Be Asked To Release Brick For French Ave.

W. S. Earle, WPA engineer, has written a letter to the City Commission suggesting that the municipality buy another carload of cement and build a concrete gutter on First Street to the end of the brick pavement at Mill Creek and thereby release paving brick for the improvement of French Avenue between First Street and Bay Shore Boulevard. It is expected that the letter will be read at Monday evening's meeting of the Commission.

According to the engineer, fully $1,000 can be saved by the City in buying the cement and releasing the paving brick that cost $50 per thousand, or five cents each. Between 17,000 and 18,000 bricks were released by building a concrete gutter between Myrtle and French Avenue, and about an equal number can be salvaged if such a gutter is built from French Avenue on to Mill Creek, said the engineer.

French Avenue is paved a portion of the distance between First Street and the Boulevard, Mr. Earle said. This improvement is greatly needed, in the opinion of City officials, as the heavy trucks from the state market travel French Avenue.

Speeches Hard Work Now With Broadcasts

OGDEN, Utah, Apr. 11.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover, bluffing a cigar, engaged in his Pullman compartment and complained that speech-making isn't what it used to be. "Time was," said the former President, "that you could go around the country making the same speech at each town. This way you could polish up the speech as you went along. "Not now with the radio, speech-making is hard work. "A speech is only good once, because the public is quick to detect repetition. I do a lot of research and spend two or three weeks on each of my speeches."

The governments were asked to permit Turkey to arm its area there. Otherwise, peace efforts to settle the Italian invasion of Ethiopia and Germany's rearming of the Rhineland remained about at the same status.

WASHINGTON, Apr. 11.—(AP)—Senator Fletcher said he still expected work to continue on the $146,000,000 ship canal across Florida.

The senator, who led an unsuccessful move for Senate approval of the canal project, said he would confer with President Roosevelt on the waterway as soon as possible after his return to Washington.

Fletcher said he had no knowledge of a reported statement by Harry L. Hopkins, works administrator, that none of the $1,500,000,000 appropriation for relief would be used for construction of the Florida canal.

Members of the House Appropriations Committee said they had been told by Hopkins that none of the appropriation would be used either on the canal or the Panama project in Maine.

"I don't know anything about that," Fletcher said. "The President had $4,800,000,000. He must have some of that left. I expect work to continue, but of course I can't say whether it will be with relief funds. There is still a chance of including it in the deficiency bill in the House."

Water Conservation Committee Asks Buckman To Debate

Advising H. H. Buckman, Jacksonville engineer who has been in Washington for many months, allegedly lobbying for the cross-state canal, showed "bad taste" in challenging Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Michigan Republican, to a debate on canal issues, the Central and South Florida Water Conservation Committee today invited him to debate the issue here. The committee believes that the people of Florida should hear Buckman if he "desires to air the subject fully," and it therefore today wired the engineer the following invitation to debate the subject in this state:

"Your challenge to Senator Vandenberg to debate Florida canal legislation is both inappropriate and in bad taste. If you have desire to air this subject fully, the people of Florida should hear you, therefore, we invite you to debate the subject with one of our engineers or water experts next week at any point in Florida you may select where radio transmission facilities are adequate."

3 Drowned As Big Airliner Sinks In Sea

Brazilian Clipper, Weighing 19 Tons, In Collision With Boat Off Trinidad

MIAMI, Apr. 11.—(AP)—The nineteen-ton airliner Brazilian Clipper sank today after a collision with a small boat in the harbor of Port of Spain, Trinidad, drowning two passengers and the steward and injuring nearly a score of others, including Jose Iturbi, world famous pianist.

Radio messages to the Pan-American Airways division headquarters here reported others of the 18 passengers and seven crewmen were rescued from the partly submerged queen of the South American airways.

The dead included E. Roman Martinez, 52, export manager of the Eagle Pencil Company, New York; Eric R. Brogh, London, England; Amado Lopez of Miami, dining steward.

The big airliner overturned as it Wallase Culbertson of Miami served in a vain attempt to avoid striking the small launch directly in its path during the dawn takeoff. The plane's left pontoon struck the launch, plunging the clipper over the water. A "crash" boat from the Pan-American aidmate immediately put out and picked up the survivors.

The Brazilian Clipper has been making regular trips from the Pan-American Airways terminal in Miami to South American ports for many months, one of a number of tremendous flying ships that make their headquarters here.

The clipper on the routes between Miami and Central and South American ports are slightly smaller than the new ships in service over the Pacific Ocean between Alameda, Calif., port and the Hawaiian and Philippine Islands. The Brazilian Clipper, which blazed the trail from California to Manila in the Philippines and which took off from this port, weighs 25 tons. The largest ship afloat, the new Hawaiian Clipper, which roared out of Miami last Wednesday to join the Pacific fleet, weighs 28 tons.

U. Of F. Allowed To Borrow For Building

TALLAHASSEE, Apr. 11.—(AP)—The State Board of Control was Supreme Court approval of its plan to borrow $500,000 from the Federal Public Works Administration for erecting new buildings at the University of Florida, the Florida State College for Women, and the Florida Agricultural College for Negroes.

Revenues derived from rentals and fees charged to students and faculty members who use the new buildings will be pledged to repayment of the loan, and so that the Supreme Court said it would be legal. Any pledge of public funds for the repayment would be unconstitutional.

If any effort ever is made to use public funds for retirement of the loans, the Supreme Court said it could be restrained by suitable legal action at that time. The entire program, it was estimated, will cost $1,167,000.
