Celery Feds Acquire Seven Players From Tampa Smokers

Exhibition Contest To Be Played Here With Jacksonville Terminal Combine

By ARTHUR BECKWITH, JR.
 Heretofore sports editor of the Sanford Celery Feds have acquired seven players in an agreement worked out with the Tampa Smokers in the Florida International League. The Smokers sent a catcher, a pitcher, and outfielder and four infielders to the Celery Feds, according to an announcement made this morning by Manager Buddy Lake.

Lake stated that he was particularly interested in securing the services of the catcher, Mike Zuba who played for Union City, Tenn. last year in the Killy League. "Zuba worked most of the game yesterday between the Smokers and the Deland Red Hots and he looked mighty good behind that plate," Lake asserted.

One of the infielders is a short stop and he has the ability to be a mighty good player, Lake stated. The other players have not been eyed too closely by the Sanford skipper, but he has hopes that all of them are good players.

The Fed manager has arranged an exhibition contest with the Jacksonville Terminal team, the 1916 State Semi-Pro Champions, to be played

Red Sox Confident Of Good Season

JACKSONVILLE, Mar. 27.—The Boston Red Sox are confident that they'll run away with the American League flag this season. The Sox are confident that they'll run away with the American League flag this season. The Sox are confident that they'll run away with the American League flag this season.

Nevertheless, the members of the Red Sox have retained a firm appreciation of their worth, and they believe they have a stronger club this season largely because of greater depth in their pitching.

The Jacksonville team will be remembered for many years by the Jersey City ball club as a semi-pro team that pinned their ears back in two out of three games last year and have trimmed them in one contest this year.

Charlie Kane, former manager of the St. Augustine Saints is managing the team. Stuffy McGinnis, Celery Fed skipper of years gone by, is holding down the initial back for the Terminal nine. The tilt will give the Feds a real opportunity to show their ability.

Lake stated that he has several exhibition contests arranged, and will announce them later.

Evers Condition Is Still Critical

ALBANY, N. Y., Mar. 27.—A former Major League star of the Chicago Cubs and Boston Braves, Johnny Evers, still is in a critical condition today after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage Tuesday. Hospital aides say the condition of the 65-year-old baseball star has shown "no change."

Evers was the second baseman of the famous double-play combination, Tinker to Evers to Chance. That was when Evers played for the Cubs in the early part of the century.

Evers had been partially paralyzed and confined to his bed much of the time since Aug. 1942, when he suffered a stroke.

More Players Enter Club Tournament

Five men qualified yesterday to enter the club championship matches to be held at the Seminole Country Club beginning Sunday. Clyde Terwilliger announced today.

Those who qualified include F. P. Hunsbender, 49, 50, 58; J. L. Ingle, 50, 52, 102; H. H. Coleman, 46, 51, 57; J. Johnson, 40, 51, 100; and Harry Toke, 40, 42, 82.

There have been 21 players who have turned in qualifying cards and it is expected that nearly 25 more will be entered by Saturday night at a stroke when the qualification rounds are completed.

Those who have not entered the contest are urged to do so by club secretary Clyde Terwilliger. Terwilliger stated that "seasonal" members are also requested to participate in the contest.

Pairings will be made Saturday evening and first round matches will begin Sunday. Entries for each flight will be awarded. Consolation prizes will also be given.

Pan-Am Building Has Tropical Setting

By JANE EADS
 WASHINGTON—Brilliantly planned, marvellous equipped and situated in the Pan American Union's $1,000,000 building on Constitution Avenue which Andrew Carnegie helped to build back in 1909.

The spawak in Spanish, but the guides say they're always polite.

What you'll see is a tropical scene with its fountains, its tropical plants and shrubs, its hot-house variety of the banana tree which once in a while produces a "hand," or a round dozen bananas, and a coffee tree that grows berries but not on what you'd call a harvest season.

During the summer, in the cool, oppressively hot garden back of the building, music loving Washingtonians gather to hear concerts by the famed U. S. service bands. Occasionally they hear bands from Mexico and Cuba and the marimba bands of Guatemala.

The Pan American Union is the official international organization of the 21 republics of the Western Hemisphere. Its fundamental purpose is to foster closer relations and better understanding in political as well as economic, cultural and social fields.

Organized in 1890 at the first International Conference of American States in Washington, conceived and passed over by the Secretary of State, it was the first international move to assure peace and cooperation among any regional group of nations.

The Union is empowered to arbitrate in certain questions arising between American nations and to deal with problems regarding agriculture, industry, commerce, finance, navigation, land and air transportation, communications and education.

For 24 years, until his death in a traffic accident last December, Dr. R. H. Howe, had been director general of the Union. He had attended during that time virtually every inter-American gathering throughout the two continents and had traveled widely.

Howe is death, the acting head of the Union has been Pedro de Alba, a Mexican.

Pan American Week will be observed from April 12 through April 19 with appropriate programs scheduled for every country.

The next international conference to be held under the sponsorship of the Union will be at Bogota, Colombia, in December.

In anticipation of the conference, according to Dr. William Manger, secretary of the Union, plans for reorganization of the Union and the whole inter-American system are now under consideration.

Dr. Manger says the Union hopes that the Inter-American Economic and Social Council, already set up in provisional form, will be made a permanent institution.

It is also hoped that an inter-American cultural council, composed of leading figures in art, literature and music, will be organized.

BASEBALL
 Have you noticed the work that has been done at the softball park and the Ninth Street Park?

The City has handed several loads of clay and distributed them in the two fields, the weeds have been cut and the infield has been reworked. An excellent job has been done on both parks.

JOHN LEAGUE
 Several criticisms have been aired concerning the Lions baseball league for youngsters in the city. We believe that those criticisms are unjustified.

The league was set up to give the youths of this city a form of recreation. The facilities were limited and the money with which to operate the league also was limited.

Since there were limitations, the league was confined to four teams with 12 men on a team. This would allow but 48 youngsters to play. At the opening of the season there were nearly 150 boys out to participate. As a result there were over 100 boys who could not take part in the program.

There will be additional schedules set up during the summer for the youngsters. The City recreational program is scheduled to include baseball in their work, then the boys will be able to play.

The Lions Club is also going to sponsor a baseball league for the young assistants.

New Club Equivalent Of Matched Set Of Six Says Producer

AP Newsfeature
 LAMAR, Ark., Mar. 27.—A new golf club combining driver, mid-iron, masher, niblick, chipper and putter. Designed to ease the load on the backs of middle-aged golfers, the club is the equivalent of a matched set of six clubs, the manufacturer claims.

An adjustable shaft and two replaceable clubheads make up the Tri-6. The brain child of Dr. J. J. Ja-lody, scientist, engineer and amateur golfer, the club comes in two models, one of which may be dismantled and carried in a traveling bag.

The length of the club may be changed automatically, longer for driver and mid-iron, medium for masher, and niblick, and short for chipper and putter.

One clubhead has two sockets. In one socket the club may be either a driver or a mid-iron, depending on how the locking device at the end of the shaft is inserted into the clubhead. In the other socket of the first head, the club is either a putter or a chipper.

The second head is either a masher or a niblick. The player does not have to adjust the heads, since the clubhead angle is fixed automatically.

Kent State College Cancels Rollins Gridiron Contest

CINCINNATI, Mar. 27.—Kent State University announced cancellation of a football game with Rollins College at Winter Park, Fla., this fall. Officials at Kent said the game was called off because of public opposition to mixed athletic participation in the south. The Kent team has three negro players.

The faculty senate of Miami University of Ohio went on record as opposing racial discrimination in athletic events. Officials said enrollment was aroused because a negro member of the Miami university football team was not taken to Miami, Fla., for a game last fall.

Apple Tree Versus Wheat Field

If you ever visit Jeb Crowell's farm, he'll take you right out on that back porch of his and show you his apple tree.

"There," says Jeb, "is nature's noblest creation—fifty years, and bears still the finest cider apples in the county!"

But last fall, when a group of us was there, Lud Denny points across the river to his grain fields and says: "There's an even finer sight! Acres and acres of golden grain you can make dozens of appetizing things with—including wholesome, sparkling beer."

Both of them got an eloquent on the subject, that the rest of us worked up quite a thirst; so Jeb goes to the icebox for beer and cider. And when the refreshments come, Lud chooses cider, and Jeb takes the beer!

From where I sit, that's the answer to most disputes. You can talk all you want, but when it comes to tastes and preferences, there's just no argument.

THE CLUBHOUSE

By FRANK ECK
 AP Newsfeature Sports Editor
 DUNEDIN, Fla.—It is easy to see where Melvin Robert (Chick) Harbert, one of golf's longest hitters, gets his power. Chick, pro at the Meadowbrook Country Club, Northville, Mich., says Elmer, driver 50, Washington Harbor, 50-year-old pro at the Elk Country Club, Hamilton, O.

The Harberts are one of the father-son combinations in sports. The day Chick shot a par, lasting 70 in sun-bleached with the top pros at Miami, Fla., Elmer drove 50 miles from Stratton, where he is sailing and stopped off at Tampa for the winter, went an additional 25 miles and then proceeded to shoot a 78, six over par, at the Professional Golfers' Association National Golf Club here, the only of its kind in the country.

This 8,230-yard course, owned and operated by PGA, is the brainchild of Elmer Harbert, Ernest Anderson of St. Petersburg and George Sargent of Atlanta. They got the idea in 1915 but it was almost 20 years later before the PGA built the sports layout which is studded with plenty of natural water hazards.

Elmer (The Elder) Harbert still drives a long ball and it's no wonder his 32-year-old son won the national driving contest with pokes of 252, 253 and 254 yards at Chicago's Tom O' Shaner course last summer.

"Chick has been driving golf balls since he was three and a half," says papa Elmer. "I took one of my woods, removed the lead in the clubhead and shortened the shaft. I soon had him shooting balls at targets and hitting them. That was at Richmond, Ind."

"Chick was in the Army 10 months and he was at his peak when he went in. He broke his left ankle and hurt his back in Paris and 39 X-rays were necessary. He doesn't like to talk about it but he has played several tournaments with a back brace."

"But watch him go within the next two years. I've never seen anyone who works harder at the game than Chick. And he has a new stance. It's a bit more open. He used to have his legs crossed with all his weight on his left side. But now his open stance equalizes his 175 pounds much better. For a time he was getting in more trouble with his drives than he did at 17. But he'll soon be back at the top."

Chick, who uses a medium-priced ball, got his nickname from Chick Evans, 1912 National Open and amateur titleholder, who was the elder Harbert's idol.

The six-footer has won more driving contests than any pro during distance competition, in connection with the Victory Open and repeated the following year. Chick gained nationwide attention as a schoolboy, winning both the Michigan Intercollegiate and Battle Creek city crowns four years in succession. In 1935 he won the Michigan Open as an amateur. He was 20 then and the youngest qualifier in the National Open.

At 24 he won the Trans-Mississippi and the International Amateur Invitation, then turned pro, succeeding his father at Battle Creek. He won the Texas Open and finished in 1942, but Dutch Harrison in a playoff for the St. Paul Open and finished the year as the nation's fifth best money winner.

Port of Cherbourg Regains Activity

CHERBOURG, Cherbourg rapidly is regaining her pre-war bustle and importance.

With Havre now dropped as the French port for the big passenger ships, more freight ships also are putting in here.

Eight or more large American ships are almost constantly tied up and being unloaded at the deep-water quays in the Melles bay. The Americans, using the port for shipping their supplies to the United States, occupation forces in Europe, restored most of the other docks destroyed by the Germans when they left.

But with the number of boats, outfitting in and with the speed-up in unloading for a quick turn-around, every available bit of docking space generally is filled.

U. OF F. COLLEGE OF AGRICULTURE HAS 3 SERVICES

GAINESVILLE, Mar. 27. (Special.)—Florida's vast agricultural resources, the development and expansion of an ever growing industry, are today largely the product of the three divisional services that compose the University of Florida's College of Agriculture.

This is the reputation built through years of service, research, and specialized training by the College of Agriculture and its related adjuncts in the Experiment Station and the Extension Service. Under the general supervision of Dr. H. H. Hume, dean and Provost for Agriculture, the College is active in three Agricultural Fields:

- (1) Resident teaching where Florida youth can get complete training in the problems and techniques of Agriculture; (2) Research, directed by Dr. Harold Mowry, where trained experts continually search for solutions to major agricultural problems and seek new ideas for extension of the vast industry; (3) Extension Service, under the direction of A. P. Spencer, where experts in the field counsel and help the individual farmer in his particular problems.

More specifically the teaching division offers courses in fifteen curricula. Instruction in general agriculture provides broad basic training and prepares students for positions of leadership in the various areas of agricultural service and allied fields.

The curricula in chemistry and soils is designed primarily to qualify students for work in chemical industries related to agriculture and soil management.

Specialization in agronomy, botany, and horticulture equips students for teaching careers, practical farming, and research work in the fields of crop production and plant breeding, general botany, bacteriology, fruit culture, plant pathology, vegetable culture, and ornamental plants.

The departments of animal industry and entomology offer curricula in animal production, dairy husbandry, dairy manufacturing, poultry production, insect control, and apiculture (Bees).

In addition, programs in Agricultural Economics and Agricultural Engineering offer broad curricula in these fields both for technical and practical farming.

Important in both the teaching and research divisions of the College is the School of Forestry where training and study in Florida's extensive forest resources are available to students desiring careers in forest work, and the results of research available to forest products industries in the state.

The Experiment Station is concerned with the particular problems of the farmers of the state and its trained research staff works continually to find solutions to particular agricultural problems. College officials believe that it is not too much to say that Florida's vast agricultural industry rests on a foundation of the results of research carried on by the College.

They believe that not all of the problems are solved and that there must be continuing effort to solve the agricultural problems, and constant search for the solutions to the new problems that continue to present themselves.

The extension Service is organized for education to aid the farmer's new and better ways of farming, information on new crops, better crop varieties, and values in insecticides and fungicides.

Further emphasizing the importance of personal contact with Florida's farm families is the Service's corps of Home Demonstration agents in every community who work directly with farm families on such important items as nutrition, home gardening, canning, preserving of home grown foodstuffs, clothing, and factors in daily living designed to raise the general standard of living among all farm families.

Proof of the value of the research carried on by the College is the fact that the values of research and extended application have added many millions of dollars annually to the values of agricultural industries.

Supporting the value of the College's research are these accomplishments:

- (1) Development of the Everglades as an agricultural area; (2) The discovery of the value of copper, iron, zinc, magnesium,

Low Productivity Is Effecting Price Of Building Small Homes

AP Newsfeatures ROCKVILLE CENTRE, N. Y. "Low productivity" of labor is having a serious effect on the cost of small homes, states O. J. Hartwig, secretary of the Long Island Home Builders Institute, Inc.

Using a bricklayer, as an example, Hartwig says: "Before the war bricklayers used to lay 800 to 1,000 bricks a day on small house construction. At a daily wage of $8 this meant a bricklayer labor cost of 8/10th of a cent per brick, or on a typical house using 9,000 bricks, a bricklayer labor cost of $72."

"Today, the average production is 400 to 500 bricks a day. At daily wages of $18.03, which includes six paid holidays a year, this is a cost of 3.6 cents a brick, or $324 for the typical house."

"It takes 54 more hours of bricklayer labor to lay the 9,000 bricks as compared with pre-war. At the current wage levels this adds $139 to the construction cost of the house solely through lower productivity and is the measure of the reduction in costs that might be effected if labor could be induced to step its production up to the pre-war rate."

The same condition, he says, is true in varying degrees in practically all trades in small house construction field.

"It concerns serious minded and earnest union labor leaders as much as it concerns builders," Hartwig continues.

Strong affirmative and aggressive leadership is needed both in labor and management to jointly tackle this problem in terms of ultimate construction costs and final sales prices so that an increasing number of families can, and will, buy homes."

Food Riot Is Staged By 100,000 Germans

Workers Leave Jobs For Largest Public Demonstration Since Hitler's Rule

DUESSELDORF, Germany, Mar. 28.—Approximately 100,000 demonstrators crying for food overturned two British cars and stoned another in the British occupation zone today.

The public rally was the largest since the days of Adolf Hitler. Workers abandoned factories, shops and offices to parade in a park in Dusseldorf. They held aloft banners reading "We Are Hungry," "Don't Let Our Children Starve," and "We Want Bread."

Two British jeeps were overturned and left with their wheels churning the air. A military staff car carrying a news correspondent was stoned twice, but no one was injured.

British officials said the demonstration was political but declined to name the party they believed responsible. German sources blamed the demonstrations on Communists. They had the earmarks of systematic organization. German spokesmen said trade union leaders did the detailed organizing work.

FBI Investigates AFL Union Strike Of Dairy Men

AMITE, La., Mar. 28.—Striking dairymen in Louisiana and New Orleans milk distributors stood firm today in their price dispute although the FBI is making a check into the halting of trains and the dumping of railroad milk cargoes.

The dairymen's strike began over a reduction of prices paid to the farmers for milk. A dairy union spokesman said the price of raw milk will be increased daily to cover losses suffered by the farmers.

There is a possibility that the unionized dairymen will get widespread union support in their battle to keep prices up. In New Orleans, the international representative of the AF of L Teamsters Union, Leo Carter, called a meeting for tonight. Carter said the Central Labor Union in New Orleans will be asked to call on all AF of L unions to join in a boycott against establishments using milk from New Orleans distributors.

Carter said that 9,000 members of the Teamsters Union throughout Louisiana already have been urged to boycott such establishments. Several unions now are participating in the strike, including unions for dairy farmers, their employees, truck drivers, and employees of processing plants in New Orleans.

The members are Republicans Guy Cordon of Oregon and Henry Dworshak of Idaho and one Democrat, Joseph W. Mahoney of Wyoming.

Lewis was referring to the expected death toll in the Centuria mine explosion. Krug, as secretary of the Interior, is technically in charge of the soft coal mines which are under government operation.

The statement was prompted by the subcommittee's consideration of James Boyd, who has been nominated to be director of the Bureau of Mines. Lewis said the appointment was made by President Truman through Krug and he asked the committee and Congress not to confirm it.
