COX DELIVERS ADDRESS ON LEAGUE OF NATIONS TO MONSTER CROWD

Madison Garden Was A Scene of Great Outpouring

GIVES REAL FACTS AND KILLS REPUBLICANS BY SAYING HE WOULD ACCEPT RESERVATIONS

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Governor Cox, of Ohio, delivered his League of Nations message to a great audience in Madison Square Garden tonight and, emphasizing business and economic considerations, declared that America's successful future depends upon the entrance into the League at the earliest possible moment.

Willingness to make some concessions upon League reservations was declared by the Democratic presidential candidate. He reiterated that he would accept "helpful" reservations. If elected, he said, he would "lift" this issue out of politics by effecting a result which will insure the entrance of the United States into the League with the idea of perfecting it and obtaining for ourselves the benefits which will accrue.

Governor Cox's speech, closing his Atlantic Coast campaign, and climaxing a day of receptions, luncheons and other events, stressed agricultural, industrial, banking and other arguments for American participation in the League.

"The most serious depression the country has ever witnessed," was predicted by the nominee if the League cause was lost. Business depression already, he declared, "has grown intense," as a result of European wars.

McSWEENEY DIED TODAY AFTER FAST

LORD MAYOR OF CORK ON HUNGER STRIKE FOR SEVENTY-THREE DAYS

(By The Associated Press.)
LONDON, Oct. 25.—Terence MacSweeney, Lord Mayor of Cork, died at Brixton prison early today after a seventy-three day hunger strike. Unconscious for several days he did not revive before he died. A private chaplain and a brother were the only visitors allowed at the death bed. It is said heart failure caused his death. Guards were placed around the prison to prevent demonstrations but there were no civilians waiting. This is said to be the longest fast in medical history.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—The story of the self-starvation of Terence MacSweeney, Lord Mayor of Cork, probably will become one of the most moving chapters of the centuries-long history of the Irish struggle. No other controversy has stirred Great Britain so deeply as this since the one that centered upon Cecil Rhodes, when the Jameson raid was balked by Paul Kruger and the raiders imprisoned.

The campaign in England for MacSweeney's release from prison has been apart from all political and party considerations and even the King was drawn into it. The movement in MacSweeney's behalf was mainly humanitarian and enlisted tender-hearted people of all factions but was urged by others with arguments of party strategy.

"MacSweeney dead and canonized in the hearts of the Irish people with Wolf Tone and the Manchester martyrs would be a more valuable asset to the Sinn Fein than MacSweeney alive and, even though a free pass to freedom for MacSweeney might weaken the government's hand, why help the separatist cause by giving it a martyr?" were the arguments put forward even by British unionists.

"Stand by the law and do not create a precedent which would make the will of a convicted rebel the decisive factor in determining whether he shall be punished," was the argument of the stand fast faction. A majority of the British papers including the London Times and the liberal press, the labor unionists, and many members of both parties in Parliament joined in the agitation for MacSweeney's release.

Two notable controversies, one constitutional and the other theological, have arisen from the case. The first was whether King George could properly exercise his pardoning prerogative independently of or against the advice of his ministers. The second was whether the Catholic clergy, representing a church which holds suicide to be a crime, could consistently administer the sacraments to hunger strikers. The King's reply through the Secretary of State for War, to the petition of members of Parliament was generally interpreted to mean that the King's personal leaning was toward granting a pardon. But, since Premier Lloyd George and the foreign minister, A. Bonar Law, were at the same time issuing arguments against clemency for the Lord Mayor, it was evident that any action in that direction by the King would be against the advice of his ministers.

Ideals and Achievements of The Society of the Daughters Of the American Revolution

From a Paper Read Before the Sallie Harrison Chapter of Sanford, Fla.

The Sallie Harrison chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution held their regular monthly meeting, Friday October, 8th, in the Welaka apartments, the guests of Mrs. Chamberlain. Plans for the coming year were discussed, and a very interesting paper on the "Origin, Ideals and Achievements of the Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution" was read.

"The greatest patriotic society in the world had its inception in Louisville, Ky., April 30, 1890, when the Sons of the American Revolution voted at their convention to exclude women from their society.

The next morning women throughout the country read the account in the newspapers and were stirred with indignation. Among those was Miss Eugenia Washington of Washington, D. C. who on the evening of the same day (May 1st) called upon Mrs. Flora Adams Darling and proposed that a society should be organized for women.

On July 13 of the same year a stirring article appeared in the Washington Post entitled: Women worthy of honor being the reproduction of a story printed in 1876 by the great-granddaughter of Hannah Arnett, the Revolutionary heroine.

Mrs. Mary Lockwood repeated the thrilling history and asked were there no mothers of the Revolution—were there no sons and daughters of the Revolution to replace Hannah Arnett? This recital fanned the kindled flame of patriotism throughout the country.

In response to this appeal Wm. O. McDowell a great great grandson of Hannah Arnett—who had assisted in organizing the Sons of the American Revolution and who from the first voted against the exclusion of women immediately wrote a letter to the Washington Post offering to assist those who were decided from Revolutionary heroes and concluding with a forward call for the organization of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Five Washington women responded to this call and by invitation of Mrs. Louise Knowlton the first meeting was held at her residence the last week of July, 1890, with only five women present. Owing to the small attendance it was concluded to defer formal action till autumn. July 30, Mr. McDowell wrote and urged that another meeting be called at once—issuing a number of application blanks of the Sons—a proposed constitution and an application for membership with a check for initiation fee and annual dues. These are kept among the archives of the Society.

Their next meeting (Aug. 9, 1890) was attended by Miss Eugenia Washington, Miss Mary Desha and Mrs. Ellen Hardlee Walworth—who were

LAST WEEK CAMPAIGN WILL BE BUSY ONE BIG MEETING SATURDAY

Democratic Rally Last Saturday Night Was Big Success

MANY SPEAKERS WOMEN PRESENT WERE GREATLY INTERESTED IN ALL THE SPEECHES

The mass meeting and Democratic Rally held on the streets Saturday night practically ended the campaign in Seminole county although it is possible that another meeting may be held here before election day. The largest crowd that has ever gathered on the streets here was present at the meeting Saturday night and they remained until the last speaker on the program had made his address, showing an unusual interest in the meeting and wanting to learn something about the manner in which elections are held and to know the men for whom they should vote. R. J. Holly, as chairman of the meeting, introduced the following: Mrs. John Leonard, John D. Jinks, Forrest Lake, F. P. Forster, William Shelley, C. M. Hand and George A. DeCott.

Mrs. Leonard made a decided impression upon the audience, being her first appearance before a crowd of men and women here although she has made several addresses in other precincts in the county and before the Woman's Club and her clear conception of the methods of voting was most interesting not only to women but to the men.

Every one of the speakers had the same message about voting the straight Democratic ticket and standing by the party nominees from presidential electors down to constable and they were heartily applauded. Sanford has a number of good speakers and while there were seven on the program and the meeting lasted over one hour the crowd was ready for more of the same kind when the chairman announced the close of the meeting. The new voters and the old ones are taking a deeper interest in politics this year than ever before realizing that upon the turn of the wheel depends the future and safety of our nation and the women especially are studying the situation most carefully and will be an important factor in the general result.

The women will hold an all day rally in the Central Park next Saturday to which every woman in the county is invited. This will be made a big day and everything for the comfort of the visitors will be arranged.

SOVIET RUSSIA COMES BACK IN POLITICS

SAYS ENGLAND AND AMERICA OVERLOOKED GOOD BET

(By The Associated Press.)
Moscow, Oct. 23.—England by breaking off negotiations with Leo Kamenoff, the former Russian trade commissioner in London, has lost an opportunity to play the leading role in world politics, says Karl Radek, radical leader.

"The political sceptre had fallen from the hands of Lloyd George, from the hands of England," he asserts in an article in the Izvestia.

"Trade negotiations with Soviet Russia would have represented for England a victory over French and American imperialism—over French imperialism because French creditors would have been obliged to allow the gold which the French capitalists consider their property to pass into English coffers, over American imperialism because the English government would receive supplies and raw materials not under the control of American monopolies.

"To realize the victory it was necessary to establish political peace with Soviet Russia.

"The breaking off of diplomatic negotiations means that the political initiative passes into the hands of France which is openly supporting Wrangel," Radek continued. "Simultaneously the republican party of the United States and its presidential candidate, Harding, have declared in favor of the recognition of Soviet Russia, demonstrating that American capital intends to put England in the second place by beginning trade relations with Russia and cutting off England's only non-American source of oil supply."

Radek concludes the article by saying that the action of the British government was induced not so much by the defeats of the red army as by the victories of the communist idea in London and Warsaw. "The English government has concluded that we are too strong to be further strengthened by official recognition and diplomatic pourparlers and it is too weak to tolerate in London political representatives of Soviet Russia," he added.

"The voice of Soviet Russia has been stifled in London but it will be heard not only in London but among the millions of workers in the East."

California to Vote On Initiation Measure to Amend Law

WITHDRAW LEASE FROM ALL ALIENS WHO ARE INELIGIBLE TO AMERICAN CITIZENSHIP

(By The Associated Press.)
San Francisco, Oct. 24.—The fate of the Japanese farmers in California will be decided on Tuesday, November 2, when the electorate of this state passes on an initiative measure that would amend the present alien land law by withdrawing entirely the three year agricultural land leasing privilege from aliens who are ineligible to American citizenship.

The measure aims also to place minor land-owning aliens under guardianship of a public administrator. The actual ownership of farm lands by aliens ineligible to citizenship already is prohibited by the alien land law enacted by the state legislature in 1913.

The initiative measure, its proponents assert, will conform strictly to the letter of the treaty between Japan and the United States, in which Japanese residents were granted certain privileges.

The opponents of the proposed new law declare that the issue raises the question of an interpretation of pragology in the treaty, wherein it is provided that the Japanese resident in the United States "may own or hire and occupy houses, manufactories, warehouses, shops and premises and lease lands for residential and commercial purposes."

It is pointed out by persons opposed to amending the present law that

The Facts of the Telephone Situation in Florida

By J. EPPS BROWN, President.

SOUTHERN BELL TELEPHONE & TELEGRAPH CO.

Our Effort to Meet Your Needs

A telephone plant is never a completed property.

Additions and extensions are made every day to meet the constantly increasing and changing needs of the public for service.

New telephones can not be installed nor can existing telephones be changed to new locations unless there are adequate central office equipment and subscribers circuits available for immediate use.

The same is true of the toll plant. Additional toll circuits and toll central office equipment are constructed every year.

These necessary additions and extensions to the fundamental parts of the plant must be engineered to conform to the existing plant, so that, when constructed, the whole may be efficient and economically operated.

This can not be done piecemeal, or over night.

To provide facilities for one year's normal growth in Florida, one year's work is required; provided the needed material and apparatus can be promptly had.

Fundamental plant additions must be planned and constructed this year to meet the demand for service next year.

To maintain surplus facilities is equally essential to efficient service.

This has been the practice of this Company for many years.

When the telephone properties were returned to their owners on August 1, 1919, the situation with respect to plant facilities was:

(a) The annual construction program during the prior five years had not been accomplished because of war conditions and government needs.

(b) Necessary surplus facilities were largely exhausted.

(c) Equipment in service was greatly overloaded.

(d) The demand for service was the greatest ever known.

To restore the plant to normal adequacy, to meet the present and immediate future demands for service, required that the Company do four years' construction work in one year! An obvious impossibility.

Plans for the 1920 construction program were begun in August, 1919, and completed in November.

Additional facilities for Florida to cost $351,300.00 were approved and immediate construction authorized.

To complete this construction requires the following major items of material and equipment:

- 3,000 Poles.
- 4,000 Treated Crossarms.
- 70,000 lbs. Bare Copper Wire.
- 50,000 lbs. Galv. Iron Wire.

The next advertisement will give some of the reasons why these orders have not been filled.

- 3,200 Desk Stands.

Fifty per cent of this was ordered prior to January, 1920.

Forty per cent was ordered since January 1, 1920; and Ten per cent remains to be ordered.

Only thirty-five per cent of the material ordered has been received.

To place orders now for the remaining ten per cent would only add to the manufacturing congestion.

Of this 1920 construction program, plant costing $120,000.00 has been completed, plant amounting to $123,000.00 is in progress, leaving construction amounting to $108,300.00 not begun for lack of material.

To complete this 1920 construction program will cost $400,000.00 due to increasing costs of labor and material since the work was authorized.

The Company has made, and will make, every possible effort to obtain this much needed material, placing orders wherever deliveries are promised; even going to the state of Washington for crossarms.

From 1915 to 1918, both inclusive, the Company's total construction program for the states of Georgia, North and South Carolina, Alabama and Florida, averaged $2,397,778.00 per year.

The construction authorized for Florida alone during 1920, amounts to $351,300.00 and will now cost $400,000.00.

This shows the unprecedented increase in demand for service, and the complete exhaustion of all surplus facilities.

Since August 1st, 1919, when the property was returned to its owners, a period of ten months, the Company has constructed plant additions costing $2,929,120.00; installed 37,988 telephones, discontinued 24,058 telephones, making a net gain of 13,930 telephones.

Florida's share of this work was 6,234 telephones installed, and 4,429 telephones discontinued, making a net gain of 2,805 telephones.

This record of accomplishment is not equaled by that during any prior period of twelve months in its history.

Do these facts entitle the Company to your support? If they do, your interest demands that you let it be known.

Now we are held up for lack of material and equipment. Until material long since ordered is supplied, we cannot go forward.

U.S. SAILORS
IN CONSTANTINOPLE

Constantinople is famous in history, first as the capital of the Roman Empire in the east for more than eleven centuries (330-1453) and secondly as the capital of the Ottoman Empire since 1453. In respect to influence over human affairs its only rivals are Athens, Rome and Jerusalem. The city was founded by Constantine the Great, through the enlargement of the old town of Byzantium, A. D. 328. The city was first called New Rome but to perpetuate the name of the founder was later called Constantinople.

For years the American Navy has kept a ship stationed at Constantinople to protect our interests in the Mediterranean and near east. The Scorpion was interned at Constantinople at the outbreak of America into the war, but was released by the Turkish government at the signing of the armistice, and subsequently relieved by American destroyers.

Despite the fact that our vessels remain in foreign ports for months many forms of sport and recreation. The upper picture shows sailors from the destroyer long entertaining themselves second-entertainment with an "Uncle Sam Party". A punt or a small boat is rigged up to resemble a fighting ship, on board are: Uncle Sam, the Secretary of the Navy, Miss Sam the Secretary of the Navy, Miss Columbia, the Admiral of the Navy, etc., and they come on board ship with as much pomp as though they were actually representing their respective titles. The Captain, officers and enlisted men receive the "distinguished" visitors in real Navy fashion. The event is usually staged on some holiday.

The lower views are (center) a general view of the city of Constantinople and Old Glory floating over an American vessel in the harbor. At the right may be seen one of the towers of the Sutan's mosque (church) with American bluejackets and marines taking a slant at the city. These large towers surround the Mohammedan palace of worship, where many naval men have visited to see the strange customs. It is indeed a rare occasion that folk not of the Mohammedan belief enter these portals. But the American naval man is considered as a sort of protector for the good and welfare of the earth, and his wants are usually complied with no matter what his spiritual belief may be.

HIGHER PRICES ON COTTON

GRENVILLE, S. C. Oct. 23.—Higher real prices for cotton goods are a heavier demand for the goods was predicted before the American Cotton Association meeting here today. This would come about, speakers said from the readjustment now going on and would result in vigorous stimulating buying, long fit needs of the consuming public have not been filled, they said and at present spinners were expressing confidence that the future would disclose a heavy business.

No change can be seen in the Southern cotton yarn market during the last few days, according to reports today. They reported that curtailment today is probably larger than at any time in the last four months, and while it has not extended extensively in the South yet, they believe that many Southern mills have been running stock yards in the hope of a quick turn in the market.

The meeting of the Southern Textile Association, called to order at 10 o'clock with H. H. Boyd, Charlotte, presiding, heard addresses by city officials; T. W. Mullin, superintendent of Rosemary mills, Roanoke Rapids, N. C.; F. Gordon Cobb, Lancaster, S. C.; David Calrk and P. H. Partridge, Charlotte, N. C.; John W. Clark, West Durham, N. C.; J. K. Rice of Pineville, N. C.

Tomorrow an address will be delivered by Governor Cooper of South Carolina and by men prominently identified with the Southern Cotton mill industry.

LONGWOOD HOTEL WILL OPEN.

Messrs. Donegan, McCullough and Lawson and others who recently purchased the Longwood Hotel, are having the house painted and entirely renovated throughout for the winter season and will put it in first class shape. Mrs. Turner, of Orlando, will be in charge of the hotel and having had experience in the hotel business will make it a success. It is said that already many people in the north have booked their season at the Longwood Hotel and that little city is happy over the announcement that this splendid hotel will be open again this season.

LOYAL DEMOCRATS ARE HELPING TO WIN GREATEST VICTORY OF MODERN TIMES

Among those contributing to the Democratic campaign fund Saturday night were Mrs. Dora Gray and N. R. Johnson and their contributions were handed in after the office had closed and just because they are loyal enough to want to help and did help at the last minute they will be given special mention today. The contributions have closed today as the money must be in the hands of the committee today if possible. Mrs. Gray is an ardent Democrat and wanted to help and this brings to mind the fact that the first contribution to the campaign fund was a woman, Mrs. F. P. Rines and the last to contribute was a woman, Mrs. J. C. Roberts. Their names appear below:

AMERICAN LOANS FOR AUSTRALIA

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Oct. 24.—Premier Storey, head of the labor movement of Australia, in an article in a newspaper here Thursday refers to the readiness of the United States to lend money to Australia. He said the government preferred for the present to raise loans locally but in the event of necessity would consider the question of raising money in the United States.

Replying to a question on the same subject, Joseph Cooke, the commonwealth minister of the treasury, is reported to have said:

"I should like to hear something about the terms of these American loans."

WILL ADD TO LIBRARY AT LONGWOOD

Longwood is getting ahead in the rapid growth of the surrounding country and the enterprising folks of that place had a baked bean supper last night, the proceeds of which will go to the building of an addition to the Public Library building. Frank Lossing, of this city, has the contract for the new building and the work will start at once and when finished will give Longwood one of the best library buildings in the county.

JAPANESE FARMERS' FATE IN THE BALANCE DECIDED ELECTION DAY

the leasing of land for "commercial purposes" contemplated the privilege of leasing agricultural lands. The voters of the state have had the legal verbiage of the measure clarified by arguments for and against it respectively by V. S. McClatchy, publisher of the Sacramento, Calif., BEE, and by John P. Irish, an extensive land owner of Stockton Calif.

In behalf of the measure, Mr. McClatchy, says in part:

"Through the measure, California seeks, as is her inherent right, to preserve her lands for the Japanese. Its primary purpose is to prohibit orientals who cannot become American citizens from controlling our rich agricultural lands.

"Our present treaty of commerce and navigation with Japan deliberately omits, from the privileges granted the Japanese in this country, either ownership or lease of agricultural lands. Japan has always prohibited ownership, or lease, or use of agricultural lands in Japan by Americans or other foreigners.

"Orientals, and more particularly Japanese, have commenced to secure control of agricultural lands in California, there was enacted in 1913 the Alien Land Law, which prohibited ownership—or lease beyond three years of agricultural lands by aliens indigible to citizenship.

"In defiance of that law, through various subterfuges, including use of dummy corporations and minor native born children, Orientals, largely Japanese, are fast securing control of the richest irrigated lands in the state, through lease or ownership, the proportion already controlled in some counties being 50 to 75 per cent.

"The initiative measure simply closes the loophole in the 1913 law which permits violation and evasion thereof. In addition, it forbids even short leases."

In his argument against the measure, Mr. Irish discussed the commercial treaty with Japan and declares that "in its economic definition commerce consists of production, transit there can be no commerce.

"The treaty is intended then, "the opposition argument continues, "to give the Japanese privilege to enter upon complete commerce, and therefore protects their right to lease land for production. Any other interpretation twists the plain language of the treaty into vain repetition.

"Considered in the light of the Fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States, which says, "No state shall deny any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws," we find the initiative is in conflict with our constitution since it proposes a discriminatory classification of aliens, considering upon one class the protection of the law which it denies to another class.

"This discrimination applies also to the leasing of land denied to Japanese and permitted to other aliens. It also applies to the feature of the initiative which subjects Japanese minors who own land to the guardianship of the public administrator but exempts other alien minors who own land for such guardianship."

The measure has two distinct purposes, according to Mr. Irish, and these are: "First, to forbid the leasing of land to Japanese and Chinese; and second, to take land-owning minors of those races from natural guardianship of the parents and commit them to the control of the public administrators."

Concluding his argument to the voters of California, Mr. Irish says:

"Considered in its effect upon the land owners of the state, the initiative, under penalty of confiscation, prohibits them from leasing land to a certain class of persons. If the state can do that it can also compel land owners, under penalty of confiscation, to lease land to a certain class of persons."

The Facts of the Telephone Situation in Florida

By J. EPPS BROWN, President.

SOUTHERN BELL TELEPHONE & TELEGRAPH COMPANY

Why Telephone Material Is So Scarce

The telephone material supply situation is always one of factory capacity, labor, raw materials and transportation.

Prior to August, 1914, the supply of raw materials; the manufactured output; labor and transportation, was adequate. As a result prices were low and deliveries prompt.

From June, 1916, to April, 1917, (when this country entered the war) prices averaged an advance of nearly 100 per cent and deliveries became intolerably slow.

Raw materials for telephone purposes are obtained from all parts of the world.

Platinum, used in switchboards, came from Russia.

Silk, used in vast quantities for insulating wires, comes from Japan.

Old manilla rope, used in making paper for insulating wires in cables, comes from the wharves of the world.

Diamonds, used in drawing out fine wire for use in switchboards, came from Europe.

Many other illustrations could be given.

These foreign sources of raw materials supply were eliminated during the period of the European war and are now far below normal.

Lead, copper, iron and tin, used in large quantities in the manufacture of telephone equipment and materials, are also essential for the making of munitions. The war greatly reduced the available amount of raw materials and lessened the telephone manufacturer's production.

Strikes in industrial centers which furnished the raw materials, and strikes and embargoes on railroads essential to transportation of both raw materials and the finished products, are prime factors in the present shortage in telephone materials and facilities.

The factories of our suppliers have capacity for much larger output, but strikes, shortage of productive labor, lack of fuel, shortage of transportation facilities and embargoes affecting the sources of raw materials, have greatly interfered with their possible output.

Today, with prices higher than war prices, the demand greater than ever known, current production is far less than the demand, being approximately 40 per cent below the average, with deliveries slow and uncertain.

In the face of this condition the demand for telephone service has increased and continues to increase enormously.

To meet this demand all available surplus facilities and materials were gradually but constantly put into use.

When the United States entered the war in 1917, the Government needs were, of course, given precedence and only a small part of the available raw materials manufactured from that date until the signing of the armistice was allotted to telephone companies.

This was true even during the period when the Government was in possession and control of the telephone properties of this country.

The greater part of the available telephone equipment and materials was sent to France, none of which was ever returned.

On August 1st, 1919, when the telephone properties were returned to the owners by the United States Government, the available supply of equipment and material was so small and the needs of the telephone companies in this country so great, that all the telephone factories in the United States, working day and night, could not within three years have furnished the equipment and materials necessary to restore the facilities to the pre-war status.

The equipment and material required by this Company to complete its 1920 construction program, will equal 1,600 carloads of freight, averaging 40,000 pounds to the car, hauled from different parts of this country and delivered at hundreds of places in the five states in which the Company operates. This is equal to forty trains of an average of forty cars per train, or 32,000 tons of material.

Every business man knows what this means.

Freight shipments from the industrial centers of the North and East ordinarily were delivered within two or three weeks; now a much longer time is required.

The Western Electric Company is the largest manufacturer of telephone equipment and materials in the world. It has representatives in all the markets of the world. It buys its raw materials in vast quantities at the lowest possible prices.

The Western Electric Company furnishes this Company with the bulk of its equipment and materials and acts as our Supply Agent.

It did not accept any contracts from any foreign government prior to the date the United States entered the war and only then at the instance of the United States Government. It thus held itself in readiness to serve at its maximum efficiency the needs of the telephone industry in this country.

It has a capacity for a much larger output, but strikes, shortage of productive labor, lack of fuel and shortage of transportation facilities affecting the securing of adequate raw materials—has curtailed its output.

We have not relied entirely on the Western Electric Company, but have placed orders with other manufacturers where they could promise deliveries. Each manufacturer with whom we have placed orders is confronted with the same problems in securing his supply of raw materials.

In the face of all these difficulties the manufacturers are turning out in excess of what was their normal output.

The next advertisement will state what the Company has done to secure an adequate force of trained and skilled workers.

Democratic Women To Have Meeting

ALL DAY RALLY IN CENTRAL PARK AND MANY GOOD SPEAKERS

With the added power of the vote coming to women it is with the usual progressive spirit that characterizes the sex that they are already organizing for the purpose of instruction in citizenship—and to study the ballot. We must know this tool of citizenship through which we must hereafter work. More than this, we must not be content with knowledge—for "government is not a theory, but an actuality" touching our daily life. The average woman does not know the difference between a primary and an election. Politics, like charity, should begin at home—and there are those who, when one speaks of politics sees only the national election. This is a mistake. Every woman should know through her own investigation her ward, whether in city, county or township. It is near us that the wheels are set in motion, right at home that "petty officials," and office-holders begin to create those conditions which result in national well-being or ill-being.

At the present time however, Seminole county women are vitally interested in the national election, for this is their first opportunity to use the right the franchise has given them and in the South it is especially necessary that the white women cast their full voting strength.

The Democratic women's Voters' League is being organized in this county, with Mrs. John Leonard, as chairman of the league, and Mrs. Henry Wight and Mrs. E. M. Galloway associated with her on the committee. Mrs. R. A. Terheun has been appointed publicity chairman. Precinct captains and committees will be appointed whose names will appear later and this week these committees will call together the Democratic women voters of their respective precincts for the purpose of instruction. "Schools for Voters" will be made interesting by the introduction of "Fake elections."

Dummy ballots will be used and the forms of a regular election will be presented in such a manner that the average woman voter will go to the polls better equipped with "voting knowledge" than the average male voter. The women are urged to respond to the invitation that we may be able to vote intelligently and pile up a splendid vote on election day, November 2nd.

Headquarters for Democratic Women on Election Day

In order that every Democratic woman may have the opportunity to cast her ballot on election day, headquarters will be established in the law offices of Mrs. John Leonard, in the Woodruff building where committees of ladies will be in attendance all day. One room will be fitted up for a rest room with every comfort and convenience and with facilities for the care of young children and babies who may be left there while the mothers cast their vote. There will be a telephone, and a line of automobiles will be here also that anyone who so desires, may be sent for and brought to the polls. A telephone message will bring the car. A committee of ladies at headquarters will give last minute instructions to the timid voters will be Mrs. J. C. Higgins, Mrs. C. M. Vorce, Mrs. J. E. Pace, Mrs. Galloway, Mrs. Henry Wight, Mrs. E. G. Tyner and Mrs. John Leonard. Others will be added to this committee.

The League will petition the school board to close the schools on election day that mothers in the outlying districts may have the privilege of coming into town to vote.

All Day Democratic Rally at Central Park on Saturday

There will be a big all day rally of the Democratic women at Central Park on Saturday, which the women of Seminole county are earnestly urged to attend. Good speaking on important issues and another school of instruction will be included in the day's program. Sandwiches and coffee will be served on the grounds at a nominal sum. Mrs. Hal Wight and Mrs. B. W. Herndon in charge.

Through the courtesy of Rev. Father Peck, the Parish House, just opposite the park, will be fitted up for a rest room for women and children and will be in charge of Mrs. A. P. Connolly.

Speaking will begin at 11 o'clock a. m., and continue at intervals throughout the day. The meeting will be commenced by Mrs. Leonard. Mrs. Henry Wight will introduce the speakers whose names alone, insure the treat that is in store for those who hear them.

Mrs. W. F. Blackman will speak on "Americanization." Mrs. E. M. Galloway will use as her subject "The Good Roads Constitutional Amendment." Mrs. Stella Arrington, the "Peace Treaty" and Mrs. John Leonard, "Why I am a Democrat." It is hoped there will be a large attendance from all over the county for it is expected that this will be one of the most enthusiastic political rallies ever held in Sanford.

CAR LOAD OF HORSES AND MULES

Messrs. Laney and Whitcomb will arrive in the city tomorrow with a car load of horses and mules that will be sold at Hand Bros. lot corner Magnolia and Second streets. See the advertisement in this issue.

Mrs. Neva Bowler is at home again after a pleasant visit with relatives and friends in Jacksonville.

RED CROSS ACTIVE IN DISASTER RELIEF

When disaster hits a community—fire, flood, earthquake, explosion, bad wreck or tornado—the American Red Cross can be depended upon to follow right at its heels with help for the stricken people. Red Cross relief is almost immediately forthcoming—food, clothing, shelter and funds; doctors, nurses and special workers with long experience in handling similar trouble elsewhere.

During the last year, ending June 30, there was an average of four disasters a month in the United States. One hundred and fifty communities in twenty-seven states suffered. The largest and most destructive of these were the tidal wave at Corpus Christi, Texas, and tornadoes in Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

In these events of horror 800 persons were killed, 1,600 were injured, 18,000 were made homeless, about 30,000 families needed help, the property loss was nearly $100,000,000 and almost $1,000,000 in relief funds, not including emergency supplies was expended.

To the sufferers from all disasters during the year, the American Red Cross sent $120,000 worth of supplies, 110 Red Cross nurses and seven special relief trains. To meet the needs of the stricken, the organization set up ten relief stations, operated thirty food canteens and as many emergency hospitals. One hundred and twenty-five Red Cross chapters gave disaster relief service.

If disaster ever strikes this town or county, the citizens can be absolutely sure the Red Cross will be right on hand to help them in every way.

FOR HEADACHE, LIVER TROUBLE

Black-Draught Is The Best Medicine This Lady Ever Used. Says It Is Only Medicine She Gives Her Children.

Cherry Village, Ark.—In telling of her experience with Theodford's Black-Draught, Mrs. Lottie Ellis, R. F. D. No. 1, this place, said: "I used Black-Draught as a laxative, also for headache, torpid liver and indigestion. It is the best liver medicine I have ever used and is the only medicine I give my children."

"I feel like it has saved me a lot in doctors' bills, for when the children complain of feeling bad or have a cold, I just give them a good dose of Black-Draught and they soon get all right. It certainly cleans the liver and clears up the skin and they are soon out, well again. I wouldn't be without it for anything."

Seventy years of successful use has made Theodford's Black-Draught a standard, household remedy. Every member of every family, needs, at times, the benefit that Black-Draught gives in helping to cleanse the system and to prevent or relieve the troubles that come from constipation, indigestion, and a lazy liver.

To keep well, your stomach, liver and bowels must be in good working order. To help keep them that way, take occasional doses of Theodford's Black-Draught. Thousands of homes are nearer without it.

For sale by all druggists. The genuine has the name, Theodford's, on the label. Insist on getting what you ask for.

ARE SNAKES LONELY?
BUCK JONES KNOWS

Buck Jones, the new sensation of the screen, whom William Fox will present in "The Square Shooter" tonight at the Star Theatre, has proved to his own satisfaction that a rattlesnake likes company. Nearly all his life Buck has been familiar with rattlers, through years of cow-punching and roughing it on the plains and in the sagebrush country.

A rattlesnake was a member of the Buck Jones company while "The Square Shooter" was being photographed, because there was a scene in the picture in which Buck Jones saved Josid Sedgwick, who played the heroine, by shooting a rattler just as the reptile was coiling to strike. The snake was kept in a box covered with wire netting. One afternoon when Buck went to take his venomous actor out to be photographed he jumped back several feet.

"There were two other rattlers curled up beside that box in the sunshine," said he "keeping company with the prisoners. The latter had evidently become lonesome and called them in. Knowing their fondness for crawling under blankets to sleep during the night, I nipped an invasion of my tent at the start by shooting them there and then. But I also became convinced that the rattler is fond of company."

FOUND THE MILK LOSS

Paul Keely, one of the big dairy-men-out-in-the-Hands Farm district, says he has lost milk in a number of ways, but he has just stopped a loss that was sure eating into his pocketbook.

Keely had one bunch of cows in a pasture on the northeast part of his farm and they had been giving mighty good results in milk production, because he had been feeding so as to balance the grass ration. However, he noticed that shortly after turning them in the above pasture they suddenly cut short their milk production by about half. Keely left them alone for a few days, because he thought the new pasture was the cause and the rest of his cows on other parts of the farm were keeping up to standard. However, he sent his man, Rufus, down to the pasture to see if he could find out anything. Well, to make a long story short, Rufus sat around a while to watch the cows. The weather was terrible hot and the cows had been standing in a big pond in the pasture. While Rufus was looking at the cows he noticed a big fish swim right up to one of the cows just like a calf and proceed to get his dinner. Which explained the whole milk loss.

Keely had put a bunch of German suckers in the pond some years ago and forgot all about them. He is now letting his neighbors get all the fish they want to eat, and his cows are back to their original milk production, because he fed Purina Cow-Chow from Cates' Crate Co.

AMONG OUR ADVERTISERS

Gillon & Fry were the first business firm The Herald advertising man romped on this morning, and they will talk electricity to you for a solid year. Look up their ad.

The well known Allen Seed Company believes in patronizing all home industries and will have a small display ad in The Daily Herald in the future. This firm is one of our most responsible business houses, carrying an immense stock of fresh seed and will be pleased to fill your needs in this line.

The City Market is now located in the new Welaka building, right on the corner, with a complete stock of everything usually carried by a first class grocery and market. The "ad" man struck them for a half page ad but was obliged to compromise some. Messrs. Walthall and Estridge are firm believers in the use of printer's ink and they are plumb "easy" when it comes to getting an ad for the Daily. Look it up, every day—they will have something of interest to tell you.

McCuller, that's the big, good looking grocer on First street, sent a change for his ad today. You always look for it anyway—he quotes the lowest possible prices for the best possible goods.

Cates Crate Co. are among the new advertisers and a careful perusal of their ads each day will be of interest to you and probably save you some money. Look it up every day.

Fleetwood & Co., are located right on the main stem and have a fine line of cigars, tobaccos, cold drinks, and hot ones, too. They make a specialty of the better grade of confections and call attention to the good things through an ad in today's Herald.

The ad of the Sanford Grocereria, the pioneer "Cash and Carry" store in this city, appears for the first time today. All goods are marked in plain figures and the regular price is always a "cut" price. Give them a trial and they will have a new, steady customer.

Of course, the popular Star Theatre is on deck with an ad giving the program for tonight. It appears on page 8 and you can always see what is happening in the Sanford amusement world by looking at that page.

The Herald man caught Tillis at the B. & O. Garage and nabbed him for a 3-inch, single column ad to run forever. If you miss that ad in The Herald you'll know Tillis is out of business and you can find him in his big Essex, on the street for he is a firm believer in that old maxim—"if biz interferes with pleasure—cut out business."

The B. & O. Motor Co. are advertising some used cars, and Perry Jernigan says they're real bargains and he ought to know—that's his business. He sold the "ad" man a new Kokomo tire and gave him a new tube. That's no favor to the afore-said "ad" man as Perry will be just as liberal with you if you buy a tire, he'll give you a tube.

Hand Bros. have just received a car load of Tennessee mules that are tip top for looks and you all know a mule has plenty of action. They are for sale or exchange. Call on them and "dicker" some.

Oh, yes, almost forgot Deane Turner, in the Welaka building. Deane changes his ad every day, any way, and always offers something seasonable. Watch for it and you will always know what is offered on the local market.

DEMOCRATIC PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORS.

Charles E. Jones P. W. Carr
Martin Caraballo W. V. Knott
J. G. Sharon G. B. Wells

Well, if there is anything in speeches and instructions and meetings and all that goes with a campaign we opine that Cox will pile up the biggest vote in Seminole county that any place in Florida can gather.

The Sanford Herald, at Sanford, Fla., is again issuing daily editions, and is receiving a cordial reception at the hands of the Florida press. It is published in the midst of one of Florida's finest sections.—Columbus (Ga.) Index.

Governor Cox already has Senator Harding's goat and expects to tie it on the front porch the day after election. The Democratic party is right on the League of Nations and every other question that has come up for discussion and when you are right it is hard to beat you.

The Sanford Herald says there is no reason in this world why Sanford should not be the trading center for all central and South Florida. "Atta boy, Bob." But weren't you covering a little too much territory when you included "South Florida"? There's Tampa you know.—Tampa Tribune.

No, Jawn, old boy. We noted some Tampa people here Saturday buying goods. We really sell cheaper, don't you know.

Secretary Pearman has arrived in the city to take charge of the Sanford Board of Trade and we bespeak the friendship and assistance of every member of the Board of Trade and the people of the county generally for this excellent young man. He comes to us in the vigor of manhood, full of pep and vigor and vim and ready to put Sanford and Seminole county on the map. But with all his enthusiasm and experience, he can do nothing without the co-operation of the members and of the people and this we are sure he already has and will have. The secretary of the Board of Trade in two-thirds of the organization and Sanford will now forge to the front as never before but it will take time and money and hard work upon the part of every citizen as well as our new secretary.

THE SANFORD HERALD

A new paper to reach our exchange desk is Volume 1, Number 164 of the Sanford Daily Herald, published at Sanford, Fla., with the following officials listed: R. J. Holly, editor; N. J. Lillard, Secretary and Treasurer, and H. A. Neel, General Manager. Mr. Neel was formerly located at Brewton, Ala., where he owned and published the Brewton Standard for several years, which was considered the best equipped country shop in the South. Holladay, manager of the Times, states that he worked for Mr. Neel for several years, and that Sanford is to be congratulated on having such a man as he to locate there in the newspaper business.—Lucedale (Miss.) Times.

STUDY LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Women, like men, should make up their minds about the league not upon the representatives of its opponents or its advocates, but upon an unbiased study of the covenant itself. If they will undertake to do that they will find that practically the whole of the assault on the league is directed at Article X. Article X is the root of the evils alleged against it. It is Article X that "scraps" our constitution. It is Article X that would impose over us a "super-government" with power to order our boys anywhere and everywhere. It is Article X that would breed war instead of promoting peace. One reading these attacks on the league would be justified in inferring that Article X is all that there is in the covenant.

But the truth is that Article X is only one of the covenant's provisions designed to prevent war; that in its possible advice of force to prevent war it is the last of the covenant's provisions which would be resorted to, and that it would not be reached and applied until about a dozen other methods of war prevention had been tried and failed.

An examination of the covenant will demonstrate this.

In the first place, the object of the combined wisdom of the nations which drafted the covenant was to promote peace, not war, and it would be a hopeless proof of the incredible feebleness of the human brain if just the reverse had been achieved. The object is well set forth in the preamble of the covenant, which, "in order to promote international co-operation and to achieve peace and security," binds the league members, as "high contracting parties," to seek those ends "by the acceptance of obligations not to resort to war; by the prescription of open, just and honorable relations between nations; by the firm establishment of understandings of international law as the actual rule of conduct among nations, and by the maintenance of justice and the scrupulous respect for all treaty obligations in the dealings of organized peoples with one another."

Here, then, are solemn obligations assumed before the world by every nation which enters the league to pursue a course which in almost every conceivable case will prevent war. But the observance of these obligations is only the beginning of the methods of war prevention relied on by the league. Various special measures of prevention are provided, and any one of which must be vastly effective and all of which combined would seem to be all but infallible.

WHAT THE REPUBLICANS HAVE DONE

There is no doubt that partisanship is running strong in the United States this year. If it were not, there could be no possibility of getting such men as Taft, Root, Borah and Johnson within the same political circle, supporting the same candidate. They represent varieties of opinion on the greatest issue of the campaign that practically include all the existing ideas upon it. Johnson and Taft are as far apart as the poles; and yet they support Harding, whose position veers like a wind vane on this same issue. It begins to appear that while the league is the big issue ostensibly, the real issue is the fact that for nearly eight years Republicans have been away from the patronage that winning the country in a presidential year carries it. What else can explain the fact that men who diametrically oppose each other on the biggest cause of argument in the campaign waive this fact and support the same candidate?

It is a sad commentary on American politics when partisanship takes the place of principles when hope of political gain prevents men from voting for candidates who stand for the principles which these men have gone on record as approving. Mr. Taft favors the League of Nations and yet he is lined up with Senator Johnson who absolutely opposes the league; and the league presumably is the biggest question to be considered by the voters at the polls Nov. 2. How can voters respect public men who so far forget their principles as to consort for the purpose of electing their partisan nominee?

The Republican propaganda, which is that "the country wants a change," may be very effective, but is founded on deceit. The country has had a change for two years because the legislative branch of the government has been Republican since March 4, 1919; and such "Wilsonism" as has existed in that time has been due to the fact that the Republican Congress declined to make any changes. Some men have been deceived into thinking that every criticism of "Washington" and what Washington has been doing for two years was meant for Pres. Wilson, whereas the legislative part of Washington has been Republican for almost two years. In other words, the Republicans have declined to give the public the "change" it is supposed to desire, in order to make that desire for a change even more acute. If Democratic majority had controlled Congress for the last two years America would have been a member of the league, peace would have been established with Germany long ago, the uncertainty that has affected the markets would have not existed. The country has already paid a heavy price because it put Congress into the hands of men who as a part of their political propaganda decided that the best thing they could do would be to do nothing—and try to make the country think "Wilson was to blame"; It was not a matter of principle, not a question of the league, but merely a question of getting into power, so that the offices might be filled with Republicans and the political power be used for a Republican senatorial clique.

There are no safer or more carefree investments than that of a fixed revenue producing stock in a reliable and well established business which is a daily necessity to the health and comforts of the community. In the days of stress and uncertainty, when one needs to be prepared for any eventuality, an assured collateral of this kind is obviously desirable. In this connection I strongly recommend 8 per cent cumulative preferred stock of the Southern Utilities Company as a carefree investment. Buy it. There is none better.

What do the Republicans care about the country? Nothing; else the "Wilsonism" they rant about could have been changed months ago. What do the Republican leaders care now about trying to prevent war? Nothing; else Taft and Borah, Root and Johnson could not be all supporting Senator Harding.—Savannah News.

PUR YOUR CROSSMARK OPPOSITE "NO."

Following is the form of the constitutional amendment to be voted on Nov. 2:

Proposed Constitutional Amendment
Amendment of section six of article I, relating to taxation and finance.

Yes.
Proposed Constitutional Amendment
Amendment of section six of article IX, relating to taxation and finance. X No.

If the people of Marion want their county debt doubled, they will vote "Yes." If they want their money taken out of their own hands and put in the hands of a bunch of politicians over whom they have no control, they will vote "Yes." If they want to permanently separate themselves from the right of passing judgment on their taxation, they will vote "Yes." If they want their taxes and their children's and grandchildren's taxes added to every time an extravagant legislature meets, they will put a cross mark opposite "he word "Yes."

If they want to retain a great constitutional right, if they want to retain control of their own money and pay for say so about their taxation. If they want to retain a great control of corruption paid for with their money among a gang of irresponsible office holders, they will put a cross mark, as we have indicated, opposite the word "No."—Ocala Star.

REPUBLICANS AND THE FARMERS.

"During the eighteen months the Republicans controlled the Senate and House, they failed to make adequate appropriations to take care of the agricultural interests of the country. In the last Congress, with the Republicans controlling the Committees on Agriculture in House and Senate, they reduced the appropriation requested by a Democratic Department of Agriculture over seven million dollars, and reduced the appropriations provided for by a Democratic congress approximately two million and a half dollars. They cut out and reduced appropriations that were necessary to preserve the livestock interests of the country. They refused to provide adequate appropriations to encourage and aid the American farmers in the production, conservation and sale of his crops.

"Senator Harding was one of these conspirators in the Senate against the American farmer and while we of the Democratic party receiving the hearty cooperation of a Democratic administration were making the fight for weeks in the American Congress to prevent the present conditions against which the American farmer and stockman are now striving, Senator Harding and his reactionary Republican friends in the Senate and House were challenging our every statement and obstructing our every effort.—Senator Pat Harrison.

THE REGISTERED VOTERS LIST

ALL the newspapers in the state are publishing the registered voters list and the readers of the Herald are becoming impatient about the Seminole county list but the Herald cannot publish this list until it is made up in the office of the Supervisor of Registration and the supervisor H. C. Dubose tells us that we will get the first of the copy on Tuesday next which will mean that the list will be published in the next issue of the Weekly Herald.

A fifty room hotel is to be erected at Punta Gorda at an early date.

THE LEAGUE A GREAT MORAL ISSUE

The cardinal doctrines of Christian service are set forth in a half-dozen paragraphs of the Covenant.

The League will set up, or itself become a clearing house for international justice and social service.

Among the things that the nations working together will endeavor to do, all member nations agreeing are the following:

They will try to secure and maintain fair and humane conditions of labor for men, women and children, thus lifting the standards of living everywhere.

They will try to secure just treatment of the native inhabitants of territories under their control.

They will try to secure and maintain freedom of communications and of transit and equitable treatment for the commerce of the members of the League.

They will labor together in the effort to control and ultimately eradicate disease.

They will set up commissions for the prevention of the illicit traffic in arms, in dangerous drugs and in women for immoral purposes.

These practices constitute the endemic centers, or breeding places, of what we may call the disease of civilization. The task of controlling the spread of these evils and in time cleaning up the plague spots is too big to be accomplished by any one nation. It can only be done by international cooperation and the League supplies the necessary agency.—Governor Cox.

Six Kinds of Safety

Have you every paused to consider the safety of the bank where you deposit your money?

The first consideration is the capital, which should be ample to meet the requirements of the community the bank is to serve.

The next question to consider is the officers in charge. They should be men of experience, high character and successful. Without men of ability no institution can succeed.

Then there is the question of confidence. The public should have confidence in the officers and in the bank.

These three principles determine the success of a bank.

We adopted these principles in the outset of our career and we expect to live up to this high standard and increase our usefulness to the community as the years go by.

We Offer You:

- 1ST: LARGE CAPITAL AND WORKING RESERVE.
- 2ND: TRAINED MEN IN CHARGE—MEN OF SEVERAL YEARS EXPERIENCE.
- 3RD: THE CONFIDENCE OF THE PUBLIC, WHICH IS PROVEN BY THE DAILY ADDITION TO OUR LINE OF DEPOSITORS.
- 4TH: PROTECTION BY TWO EXAMINATIONS EACH YEAR BY THE STATE BANKING DEPARTMENT, TWO AUDITS EACH YEAR BY AN INDEPENDENT RECOGNIZED PUBLIC AUDIT COMPANY AND TWO SWORN STATEMENTS SUBMITTED TO THE STATE COMPTROLLER BY THE CASHIER, GIVING THE BANK'S CONDITION IN DETAIL, ALL OF WHICH INSURES REGULAR, SYSTEMATIC AND THOROUGH OPERATION OF THE BANK.
- 5TH: THE ADVICE OF A COMPETENT BOARD OF DIRECTORS, WHO MEET WITH THE OFFICERS REGULARLY EACH MONTH AND ADVISE THEM AS TO THE OPERATION OF THE BANK.
- 6TH: INSURANCE OF ALL DEPOSITS EVERY DAY OF THE YEAR. THIS IS A PROTECTION NOT COMMONLY FOUND IN BANKS AND IS AN ABSOLUTE PROTECTION FOR YOUR FUNDS, IN ADDITION TO ALL THE OTHER USUAL SAFEGUARDS.

THESE ARE REASONS WHY YOU SHOULD DO BUSINESS WITH US, AND WE BELIEVE THAT NO BANK CAN OFFER BETTER INDUCEMENTS.

Ideals and Achievements of the Society of The Daughters of the American Revolution

 recognized by congress of 1898 as the founders of the organization, awarding them medals as such. Mrs. Mary S. Lockwood, was also awarded a medal for special service through the press in July, 1890.

At this meeting the first step taken was to declare the basis of the society a national one and Mrs. Benjamin Harrison was proposed for president general.

Saturday Oct. 11, 1890—18 women met at the Strathmore Arms and signed the formal draft of organization.

At the next meeting Oct. 18 1890 dark blue and white the colors of Washingtons staff were chosen. A seal bearing the figure of Abigail Adams in costume of 1776 and seated at a spinning wheel was suggested.

To Mrs. Mary S. Lockwood and Mrs. Mary McDonald belongs the honor of the first suggestion of the Continental Hall and practical means for securing it.

There were in some quarters great doubt as to the success of this movement. The question of "social equality" distributed some others opposed to women being in public work feared it would demoralize all who had escaped the suffrage fever."

Society in Washington was watching critically before committing itself. Something was needed to give it formal recognized introduction.

On the 22nd of Feb. 1891 a great reception the first of a series, was given to the Society by Mrs. William D. Cabell at her own residence. No pains or expense were spared. A large number of carefully selected guests were invited. Mrs. Harrison received the Society—The spacious house was lavishly decorated with the flag. Members and guests, as they entered through a double line of guards dressed in Continental buff and blue. There were stirring speeches and patriotic music. In the supper room the colors of the Society were reproduced in flowers and decorations.

Everything was done to stir pride in the heroic ancestry that gave the right of entrance to the new organization and pride was stirred so thoroughly that success in Washington through Washington for the Country was assured. The fire of patriotism caught and burned.

The Society has now become established.

Its object and ideals, no longer, are unfamiliar to this young chapter.

The objects and ideals of this society are to perpetuate the memory of the spirit of the men and women who achieved American Independence by the acquisition and protection of historical spots and erection of monuments, by the encouragement of historical research in relation to the Revolution and the publication of its results; by the preservation of documents and relics, and of the records of the individual services of Revolutionary soldiers and patriots and by the promotion of celebrations and of all patriotic anniversaries.

To carry out the injunction of Washington in his farewell address to the American people, "To promote, as an object of primary importance, institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge", thus developing an enlightenment of public opinion, and affording to young and old such advantages as shall develop in them the largest capacity for performing the duties of American citizens.

To cherish, maintain, and extend the institutions of American freedom, to foster true patriotism and love of country, and to aid in securing for mankind all the blessings of liberty.

To tell you what this great body of women have achieved is more than I will be able to do at this time—but I will mention a few facts which seem almost startling.

From the small number of 3 women the society has grown to 110,602 during a period of 30 years.

Since the first chapter was organized in Chicago, early in March 1891, the growth of chapters have been phenomenal. These concerts results may be found in the detailed reports of the Daughters of the American Revolution Magazine, also the report of Continental Congress held annually in February.

In reading the reports the endless amount of good accomplished has been without a parallel. Women have given of their wealth and time each contributing to the uplift of a nation. The daughters know no cessation of activity either in time of war or peace. It is a matter of pride and thankfulness that the Daughters of American Revolution have responded to every patriotic call.

They have helped mould public opinion in the right direction upon the vital questions of the hour, and as members of this great society are helping keep America what our forefathers made it, and in honor of the noble men and women who braved all manner of hardships in order to live to their ideals and the daughters have proved and are proving when occasions demands service and sacrifice worthy of the ancestors whom we represent.

During the war vast sums were given to France as a token of our love and appreciation. We have our support to over forty-five hundred French orphans in the sum of 12,000 dollars. More than $51,000 were forwarded to Paris for the restoration of Tilloy. We bought $100,000 worth of liberty bonds. These bonds as we think of them represent money. It is the knowledge that in these bonds our soldiers were safely conveyed over seas. That they were provided with food, equipment and a fitness for the fight which assured to us a world-victory as we hope for a lasting peace. These bonds not only helped do this but we sent to our allies support in their time of need.

In the great work of Americanization we have helped naturally bringing the foreign born and interiate American born children and adults to an understanding of American citizenship.

The work to commemorate and restore has fallen to the share of the Eastern chapters since in their states were the camps and battlefields of the Revolution. In the west and south particular attention has been given to the educational part of our work.

Without exception, the chapters in every locality have revived our countries history, and helped in our national work.

We have in our national treasury money for distribution as the wisdom of our board directs for the reconstruction of the land we love and its national greatness in the future.

This summer while motoring through New England, how my heart would thrill as I saw a tablet or a monument to commemorate a battle or represent a hero who did service in the Revolution.

I wish to tell you of a wayside Inn known as Williams Tavern built in 1666 and said to be the oldest existing house of public entertainment in the United States.

We stopped at mid-day for rest and lunch. It was wonderful to breathe the spirit of the place, to see so many historic relics to sit at a table used by Washington and Lafayette, to know that beneath in the cellars were the original cells used to hold the British and Tory prisoners and to be in the room used as a courthouse to try these offenders.

Everything about the place the original fire-place, andirons, lantern, call bells, pictures ancient and fading, gave evidence of a primitive greatness.

There we saw the smallest pipe organ in the world, the longest couch the finest mirror, I ever beheld and relics too numerous to mention collected by a woman who had written the history of Marlboro.

I do not know the original cost of meals served in this hostelry, but the gentleman in charge claims to be a descendant of the original owner, the tavern having been owned by the family of each successive generation.

I had always imagined hospitality more than outweighed the cost of entertainment and the warmth of their firesides more cheering, however modern methods, a distended conscience awoke one to dispell any allusions of the past and to pass on with only a cherished memory of our ancestors who had more time to devote to their ideals, than we who dwell amidst so great a company."

At the conclusion of the afternoon's program a social half hour was enjoyed.

Tradition and Superstition.
 The moon, of course, is the source, or reason, or what you will, of many superstitions. As one grows older possibly the moon becomes less an object of romance than formerly, but the sense of beauty is never lost—even though some otherwise sane people object, as long as they live, to seeing the lovely new moon over their left shoulder. Frankly, we do not know the reason of this fear. In the course of a busy and, we trust, useful life we have never happened to hear the reason. But it is well to assume that there is one.

Tradition is interesting; superstition is common. Perhaps we have too few traditions in this country and too many superstitions. But most of us will proudly affirm that we believe in all the good traditions and in no superstitions whatever—and maybe we all shall be telling the truth.—Exchange.
