Marshal Tito And His Partisans Claim Parts Of Axis Territory

By HERMAN R. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, March 27. - Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia has laid claim to two portions of conquered Axis territory. These are Carinthia, a province of Austria, and Venezia Giulia, a district of Italy.

Already pro-Yugoslav groups have been organized in both areas. Then there is that Carinthia and Venezia Giulia are Slovenia in population and should join Yugoslavia, Slovenia is part of Yugoslavia and only Slovenia has been named in the Tito-Yugoslav ultimatum.

It is not clear how the Yugoslavs will proceed with Carinthia and Venezia Giulia. They are both mountainous and have a fairly rigorous climate.

Fiume, object of much contention for centuries, was "captured" by the Italian patriot Ugo Sestini at the close of the First World War and was finally awarded to Italy in 1924 over the protests of Yugoslavia.

Fiume has about 50,000 population. The harbor is deep and protected by a breakwater. It was trading for a while, but then the Yugoslavs built railroads to their harbor of Split and this harbor was no longer the Yugoslav hub which Fiume had served before.

In 1927, the last year for which figures are available, Venezia Giulia as a whole produced:

Wool	7,500 tons
Iron	25,000 tons
Aluminum	50,000 tons
Lead	20,000 tons
Flint	34,200 tons
Spent	16,555 tons
Waxes	61,000 tons
Grain	28,000 cal

In 1929, the mines around Fiume produced 2,367 tons of lead and 16,248 tons of zinc. The tin (mercury) are) mines of Istria turned out 600 tons of mercury. The bauxite (aluminum) mines of Istria produced 195,000 tons of ore in 1925. After that further mining was prohibited indefinitely in order to conserve the deposits.

Has One Waterway
 Venezia Giulia's only navigable inland waterway is the Sotizza river, which in its upper reaches is called the Isonzo.

Carinthia, the Austrian province, is an extremely fertile area. It raises cereal grains, fruit, horses and cattle. Its industries include leather, paper, cement and mineral products.

Iron ore and lignite, a low-grade coal, are brought together at the foundries of Klagenfurt, Klagenfurt, capital and leading city of the province, has a population of about 30,000. Villach, with about 24,000 population, is the second city.

There are lead mines at Bleiberg, nine miles west of Villach.

Both Klagenfurt and Villach manufacture lead wares.

Carinthia is rather isolated as far as rail transportation goes, except for one east-west line which connects Italy with Vienna via the Semmering Pass. The prosperity of Klagenfurt and Villach has been tied up with this railroad.

Alexander Graham Bell tried to persuade Mark Twain to invest $500 in his telephone invention; instead the author loaned the $500 to a friend who went bankrupt three days later.

George Bernard Shaw went to school for only five years, yet in spite of his lack of formal education he was awarded the highest honor that can be bestowed upon any author, the Nobel prize of literature.

Stalemate On Veto Question Baffles Big 4

Russia Would Allow No Discussion Of Any Question Involving Soviets

WASHINGTON, June 4. (AP)—The State Department today was in a compulsory peacetime military training for the United States "because of our obligations under the World Security Organization." Acting Secretary Joseph P. Kamp expressed the department's views before the House Post-war Military Committee. Kamp, former ambassador to Japan, said "military preparedness counts in thinking of potential enemies."

SAN FRANCISCO, June 4. (AP)—The United States is seeking some way out of the United Nations conference stalemate on the veto voting issue but without the slightest yielding on its own insistence that there must be no veto on the right of discussion in the World Security Council. If American leadership fails to break this deadlock in which Russia is at odds with the U.S., Britain, China and France—the conference may produce a wide-open floor fight in the coming days.

At the moment there were no signs of any Soviet activity in the direction of breaking a deadlock on how much authority the great nations should have in the steps taken to preserve peace by a security council of a proposed international league. So delegation chiefs of the Big Five—the United States, Britain, France, China, and Russia—met today to discuss the question of a permanent security council.

Velma Leiferman S 2c is selling War Bonds.

Velma Leiferman S 2c of the W.A.C. of the Sanford Naval Air Station, who is selling war bonds during evenings this week at the Ritz Theater, was recently pictured in the "Family" column.

Junior, as he was named before we found out what the name was, will sit on your finger or shoulder, also seems to be happier when with someone else. Junior's men's files (by the dozen), ice cream and water. Junior can fly down but not up; perhaps that's why she came here to Navy Sanford. Maybe after Junior gets a little older one of our pilots will check her out in flight. Junior has resided in the barracks during the day and in Barracks nine at night through T. W. Barratt's hospitality.

Miss Leiferman is noted in Sanford for her humorous monologues, given before many civic clubs and organizations. Before entering the service, she was employed in Chicago as a technical secretary in a chemical analytical laboratory.

FREE TICKETS

Tickets for the "Good Premieres Show," which is presented by publicity director Ed Lane of the War Finance Committee will be one of the best 45 minutes shows ever staged at the Ritz Theater. They will be secured free of charge at the banks or Post Offices by anyone who has bought a bond during the present 7th War Loan Drive.

The bond show will be given at 8:15 o'clock on the evening of Wednesday, June 28, at the Ritz Theater. "Any time last you purchase a bond, don't forget to ask for your show ticket," Mr. Lane advised today.

Sanford Solons Talks Are Made Weekend Here, To Return Tomorrow On Gas And Paint

Representative Smith Expresses Pleasure With Work In Tally

State Senator Lloyd F. Boye and State Representative L. B. Mann and W. B. Smith arrived in Sanford Saturday night for a brief stay before returning to Tallahassee Tuesday morning for the special session of the Legislature.

Rep. Smith stated that he was well pleased with progress made in mapping out a future road program for Seminole County and stated that a full report would be given to the County Commission, which meets tomorrow morning at 10:00 o'clock on the main floor.

He likewise expressed satisfaction with the passage of a bill giving Sanford an agricultural experiment station, even if funds were not allotted for the purpose in accordance with original requests. This new station, he said, would include the present Celery Experiment Laboratory, which is under direction of Dr. H. W. Rupprecht. At the present time there are funds of $30,000 available for this work, and to this an extra $15,000 is expected to be available.

Sanford Lodge No. 62 P. & A. will meet Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock. The regular business meeting will be held at 8:00 o'clock. All new Master Masons will be presented with white lamb skins.

Sgt. William Zachry Wins Bronze Star

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE FIGHTER STATION, ENGLAND, June 4. (Special) The Bronze Star has been awarded to Technical Sergeant William B. Zachry Jr. of Sanford, Fla., it was announced recently at its Eighth Air Force fighter station. The award was presented to T-Sgt. Zachry for "meritorious achievement in the performance of outstanding services under difficult conditions."

T-Sgt. Zachry, after a small percentage of his fighter group had been ordered to a distant station, was called upon to assume the duties of the Material Department of the 361st F-8 Mustang Fighter Group. His resourcefulness, enthusiasm and willingness to work in procuring, distributing and storing items essential to the operation of his group won the esteem of all personnel associated with him.

The 25-year-old Sanford soldier, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Zachry, Sr., of 90 Oak Avenue, Sanford, has been in the army two years. He has served overseas for the past 14 months.

S-Sgt. Hugh L. Collins Is Killed In Action

S/Sgt. Hugh L. Collins, U.S. M.C. of Sanford, was killed in action on Mindanao on April 25, according to a telegram received at Opelle, Ala., where his wife and daughter have been residing. The telegram, dated May 18, reads: "The Secretary of War desires me to express his deep regrets that your husband, S/Sgt. Hugh L. Collins, was killed in action on Mindanao on the 25th of April."

S/Sgt. Collins lived in Sanford for a number of years and was with the 124th Infantry of the Florida National Guard when he was called into service with that group. He had served as an extra fireman for about a year at the Sanford Fire Department, and had worked for a number of electrical and plumbing concerns in Sanford.

Plan To Fix Food Quotas Given Truman

New Secretary Of Agriculture Would Limit Supplies For Army, Lend-Lease

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Chairman Anderson (D-NM) of the House Food Committee, proposed today that government agencies—including the Army—be given fixed food quotas to prevent raids on civilian cupboards. He suggested to the President that food allotments for Army, overseas shipments and civilians be assigned for three-month periods and that no agency be permitted to go beyond its allotment. Anderson becomes Secretary of Agriculture next month.

Reflecting sharp reductions in this country and Canada, the world's hog population declined about 9 per cent during the past year to complicate the problem of stretching meat supplies over a war-weary world.

Reporting this, the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations said the reduction in war-battered continental Europe is much less than in this country.

Hog numbers dropped nearly 30 per cent in this country during 1944. This reduction reflects principally a short supply of feed during the first nine months of the year and a lowering of the government's price guarantee for hogs.

World hog numbers at the beginning of 1945 are estimated at 230,000,000 head compared with 250,000,000 at the beginning of 1944. The 1945 number represents a decline of 13 per cent from the record level of 1940 and 10 per cent from the average for the 1935-40 period.

Hog numbers in North America, mainly the United States, Canada and Mexico, totaled nearly 75,000,000 head at the beginning of this year compared with the record of 99,000,000 at the beginning of 1944.

"Unless the current downward trend in hog numbers in the United States and Canada is checked, the OFAR said, the total in these two countries by the end of this year is not likely to be far above that of the beginning of 1944, when it amounted to 66,000,000 head."

The War Food Administration has asked farmers to increase production nearly 10,000,000 head this year, but OFAR's figures indicate that production may fall 5,000,000 head short of the goal.

All Heat Records In Sanford Are Broken

All heat records in the history of Seminole County were shattered on Thursday and Friday of last week when the mercury reached an official 103 degrees in the shade, it was reported by B.F. Whitner, weatherman.

Mr. Whitner has reported to the Federal Weather Bureau at Jacksonville, that in his opinion it was the heaviest fall of snow from forest fires in Volusia county, coupled with a blanket of inert, hot air, that produced the record temperatures.

On Saturday, the temperature reached 101, which alone, was as hot as ever recorded here, he said.

While Leesburg and west Florida had a heavy downpour of rain Sunday afternoon, "Jupiter Pluvius" was stingy with Sanford, where only 13 of an inch precipitation was recorded. News Upryna and the seat coast has a still lighter sprinkle. Vast areas of Volusia county present a desolate spectacle of burnt over pine lands, and vegetation in yellow-green, normally bright and green at this time of year, show the brown of leaves killed by the heat of flames.

Minimum temperatures in Sanford during the heat wave were: May 31, 70 degrees; June 1, 70 degrees and June 2, 73 degrees.

The first veteran discharged under the new point system reported to the local National Guard Armory today. Pfc. Willie L. Gant, who served in the 4888 Central Postal Directory, was discharged at Fort Benning, Ga. on May 28, 1944, eight months before Pearl Harbor.

Fast Expanding Air War In Pacific Is Forecast As New Carrier Raids Made

A rapidly expanding Pacific air war surpassing anything the world has ever seen was promised by Tokyo and Washington, as the American advance on Okinawa was stepped up.

A Japanese propagandist predicted "bombs" carrying stratosphere balloons would be launched daily from Japan since May 12, crossing the Pacific in four days.

An Army spokesman pointed 1,000 plane fleet of Superfortresses would soon raid Japan, escorted by fighters.

The United States Navy made the first of its day claim that it had advanced two miles into the Okinawa peninsula, and that it had captured the former Japanese base of the island.

Get Off High Hat If You Want To Win First Place

By ADELAIDE KRER
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Patricia Sinclair, 14-year-old woman's senior national indoor breast stroke champion for 229 yards, says the first secret of success in winning championships is not to get high hat.

"If you don't get high hat over the races you win on the way to a championship, everybody likes you and you are at ease and relaxed in the next race," she said as she sat near the pool of the Women's Swimming Association in New York, her brown hair curling above a brown sports frock, her bobby-sox feet in saddle oxfords tracing patterns on the floor.

"But there are other secrets too. One important thing, naturally, is thorough training. Another is not to let your opposition scare you. I always think, 'This girl has just two arms, two legs, and I can do as well as she can.' And then you have to have fight, too. When I won the 100-yard indoor breast stroke championship last year, Jeanne Wilson was enough ahead to win. But I just got that fight in me—that Irish—and I beat her by a tenth of a second."

Patricia chalked up a time of 1:17.6 to break the national record by one second last year, when she won the 100-yard championship. After winning the 229-yard title in April of this year, she defeated her 100-yard title the next day and lost it to the same Jeanne Wilson whom she defeated last year.

Patricia is the last person in the world to volunteer recipes for championship success. They have to be dragged out of her. At 14, twice a champion, she is still a modest little girl.

She was born in New York, daughter of Edward Sinclair, a former amateur boxing champion (now an oil trucking supervisor), and his wife, Mary—both swimming enthusiasts. Patricia took to water at three before she could swim, jumping off diving boards into pools where her mother pulled her ashore. In the next few years she learned to swim, kangaroo dive from a family friend's back, and dive from a 40-foot platform. At ten she won her first race—an Amateur Athletic Union freestyle handicap. That prompted her parents to give her a membership in the Women's Swimming Association, where her coach eventually decided she should become a breast-stroker. In the next few years Patricia streaked through miles of water daily into the championship class.

Today she is a freshman in Washington Irving High School, first lieutenant (vice president) of her class and an avid collector of postcards. Her sergeant brother who is "with General Eisenhower's group" has sent her about 500 cards for her collection. So day she wants to be a physical instructor and, eventually, to marry "and have lots of children."

But before that she hopes to achieve a long-felt ambition: the women's world indoor breast stroke records for 100 and 229 yards.

Victory Expansion Program At Rollins

WINTER PARK, June 4. (Special)—A total of $20,000, including funds contributed by an anonymous donor for a new administration building, has been subscribed to the Victory Expansion program of Rollins College. The contributions amounting to $20,000 in cash and war bonds have been received since the inauguration of the V-E program on April 8.

The new administration building, which has been designed to conform with the Rollins scheme of architecture, will be constructed as soon as materials and labor are available, possibly before next December. In Brown announced, the addition of the new building will make it possible for Car cycle Hall, which now houses administrative offices, to be restored entirely to library uses.

The V-E program calls for a total of $575,000 for additional buildings essential to peace-time recovery and for the rehabilitation of present campus facilities.

PROTEIN PLENTY

Meat is one of the forms in which most Americans like best to eat their protein. But in spite of wartime meat shortages, people in this country have an abundance of the protein required for building and repair of body tissues.

A man needs about 70 grams of protein in his day's food, and a woman about 60, according to the variety of good nutrition set up for the United States by the National Research Council. In 1941 civilian food supplies in the protein-rich United States provided 100 grams a person. Even if food supplies in 1945 were to drop to the level of the pre-war years 1935-1939, which quickly the civilian supply still would allow about 90 grams of protein for each person daily.

Nutritionists have never suggested that all of a day's 60 or 70 grams of protein should come from animal sources—that is, from meat, poultry, fish, eggs, milk and its products. Most plant foods contain some protein. At least one-fourth of America's protein comes from the cereal foods.

Plant protein is not as complete as that from animal foods—that is, it does not contain all the materials needed for tissue building and repair. In many American-style dishes, however, one protein can supplement another and make a highly nourishing combination. In a bowl of oatmeal and milk, for example, the grain food can do a better protein job because it is combined with the animal protein in milk. Likewise in a meat and vegetable stew, a macaroni and cheese, or in a milk and egg custard, combining a little high-quality protein raises the value of the protein in the meal or vegetable. The best thing in meat, poultry and fish is the protein. From plant foods, the best thing is the carbohydrate.

Blue Sky Suddenly Forward
 (From The Christian Science Monitor)

ICICLES thick on the rose bush,
 Snow piled high on the hedge,
 Walks and roads now laden,
 Snow at the sky's edge,
 This is the winter's heyday,
 Drift on drift lies white,
 Pure in the hills, and light gray
 Down in the towns tonight,
 Blue sky suddenly forward,
 Sunlight suddenly clear,
 This is the end of the winter,
 Perhaps, spring may be here?
 Only upon the willow,
 Growing a little gold,
 Only upon the maple
 Whose buds swell even in cold,
 But a cloud on cloud jets upward,
 Flake on flake descends,
 Hope was there like a wishbone,
 But winter held both ends.
 —Elizabeth Jane Asstley.

School's Out!

There is an old, old miracle being wrought in the hearts of millions of school boys and girls—the thrilling, breathless sense that "school's out" and that claims of books and teachers cannot break in on freedom to roam and play.

Many a parent has to face the need of getting a little work out of the newly emancipated youngsters. Spending-money paid for odd jobs around home is a fair price for some limitations put on freedom. Most healthy youngsters are willing to help—tomorrow. A little cash helps get the job done today.

In this war year high school youngsters are tempted to give up, most of the freedom for opportunities to earn money on fulltime work. This tendency should not go so far that the health-giving boon of summer play is lost. An outdoor fortnight, at home or camp, between work and autumn school term, will probably take care of it. These are serjous days, with work to be done, money to be made for future schooling. But fun and leisure are also needed for well-rounded growth.

Perhaps there's little cause for worry. Human nature doesn't change suddenly, even in war time. A tendency to overwork during vacation has been resisted sturdily by generations of youngsters, and probably will be again in 1945.

Liberation

Observers of the Chinese situation lately don't seem quite sure whether the Chinese are growing stronger, or the Japanese are growing weaker. In such a case there may be a logical assumption that it is a little of both. The Chinese, helped increasingly by American food, supplies and ammunition, are recovering their confidence and energy and becoming a real asset to the Allied cause as well as to themselves. Thus the Far-Eastern war is "paying off" as well as brightening the future in that vast area. The news of changes in the political and military line-up of leaders is also reassuring.

Commenting on the great improvement in that long-blighted region, the New York Times cheerfully observes that military victories today cannot be measured merely by military yardsticks, but are also "matters of the spirit." It is obvious that, after a long and dolorous time, when millions of crushed men in so many lands awaited their liberation in doubt and fear, the right is triumphing and there is reasonable hope for a free world.

It will be the duty and the glory of enlightened men in many lands to take up and carry on this new torch of global liberation.

Dream - Cars

It has been estimated that some 200,000 new automobiles may roll off the production lines before the end of the year. The average citizen, weary of years of struggle with worn-out parts, repair bills and crowded transportation, grins as he counts the months. But, alas, it isn't so simple.

Those 200,000 cars would be barely enough, according to authorities, to "sample" the more than 30,000 automobile dealers in the country. What is more, there are so many priority orders already piled up or expected from doctors, ministers and others engaged in public services that not even the 2,000,000 cars considered possible during 1946 will fill them all.

Mr. Average Driver probably won't have a chance to spend his money until the year after that. So he may just as well resign himself to the fact that some of it will have to go on repairs, and he will be wise to have them made as soon as defects show up. Unless he does, he may find himself without any car at all, which would be ironic, now that there's a little more gas to use.

Germans Are Sorry For What Happened But Only Because They Lost The War

By WALTER T. RIDDER WITH THE U. S. SEVENTH Army, June 1. — Why did Germany lose the war? If you ask the average German, he's got the answer at the tip of his tongue. He was out-produced. It's as simple as that. When Frau Rommel, widow of Field Marshal Rommel, the famous Desert Fox, was asked her reaction to America's entry into the war, she replied: "I merely picked up a reference book listing distribution of the world's raw materials, and then I knew what would happen."

High and low, that's the explanation all the Germans have for loss of the war. One high-ranking German general stated it succinctly: "A mouse doesn't chase a cat!" That there was something immoral in their acts of aggression and that Germany faced an outraged world opinion to the Germans only rarely. There was, for instance, the German general who was asked what he thought about the attack against Russia. "That attack," he answered, "was a great mistake. We broke faith by attacking a country with which we had a treaty of friendship, and besides they were too strong." The general seems slightly confused in his thinking. Why the German is surprised that he was out-produced, I don't know. After all, he tried to fight the United States, Russia and Great Britain at the same time. The result was always inevitable from the day Hitler declared war on the United States. The German expresses regret only that he didn't have enough material to win, not that he started the war.

Typhoid Fever

By W. V. Bitting Touchton Drug Co.

Despite great strides made toward its eradication, there are still too many ways in which typhoid fever can be contracted.

An old well in the country—raw milk purchased unguardedly—swimming in unsafe places—these may be made with a "carrier" who knowingly spreads the germs of typhoid. Of forty persons who have suffered typhoid, it is estimated that one retains sufficient infection to become a "carrier."

Be sure that whether you are at home or away, you and your family are protected against typhoid.

DISCARDS 'IN THE GAME' OF WAR

spoken, was wrong because Germany was out-produced and because Germany lost it, not because there was something intrinsically immoral about Naziism.

You have the constant impression that they could start another war.

Only among the deeply religious have I heard other explanations for the defeat of Germany.

Said Frau Anton Lang, widow of Oberammergau's most famous portrayer of the Christ in the Passion Play: "That's what the Germans get for turning to the Goddess."

A German priest, delivering a Sunday sermon, told his parish this: "Your present troubles don't stem from the war. The war was only the final culmination of the destiny you chose—time in the early 1930's. The German defeat has come about because the German people deserted the path of morality and chose instead to follow the pagan and barbaric practices of rampant materialism. The German people forgot the rights of men—rights which are inherent regardless of race. That's why you are in your present difficulties."

But voices such as those of the priest are scarce and weak in Germany today. Materialism is still the German's answer for his defeat. He sees America's soldiers and American tanks, automatic rifles and machine guns. "Perhaps some time in the future, if we can get enough raw materials, there's a big job to be done in Germany. The German people must be convinced that the war was wrong in its origins, not merely in its result. It'll be a long and hard and difficult job. It won't be done overnight. It will have to be done over a period of years, but someone will have to tell the Germans that sufficient production does not make a war morally right.

Summer Round Up Of Children Held

The West Side Primary School will have its summer round up of pre-school children Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the school auditorium. Dr. Leland H. Dams and a nurse of the Seminole County Health Unit will be there to see that the children get the necessary shots and vaccination.

The teachers especially urge parents of children who will enter West Side school next September to bring them and get them ready for school. "If a parent participates in this program," they said, "the child goes to school without the fear that most children have when they hear that the doctors will be coming sometime soon to give them shots. Also they will not have to miss any days of school due to the after effects of the shots."

This is the second year that the West Side School has participated in this program. It was a success last year and is to be an annual program at the end of each school year.

Have You Heard The One About...

the business man who is being sued? There aren't many public liability suits written up in our local papers. Most of them never get into court, but that doesn't mean property owners, merchants, farmers and others are not being sued. Any one who comes to your house, into your store, your farm, whether you want to see them or not, maybe a friend, a customer or just someone trying to sell you something you don't want, anything can happen and often does, and someone will be hurt or your business. The one thing you know you'll be getting an important looking paper called "Greeting" and a summons to appear in court to show why you shouldn't pay over $5,000 or more for allowing someone to get hurt on your premises.

If you haven't a public liability policy, all that is necessary for you to do is to consider a policy. Take the case to court and win a good verbal fight, and you lose by your lawyer's fees and the judgment to the tune of $20,000. But if you have a public liability insurance you can sit in a single seat and let your insurance company pay all the bills of the lawsuit, witness fees, court costs, and in addition pay the judgment against you up to the amount of your policy.

Warning: this liability insurance does not pay claims against you for injury to your employees. You may need workmen's compensation too.
Drop in to see us and find out about our insurance and service. We can save you 20% on P.L. and W.C. insurance. M. Boyd & Co.

All Congressmen Have To Do To Up Their Pay Is To Vote For It

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON—If all you or I had to do to raise our pay was to vote, who wouldn't?

Yet Congress is so cowed by public opinion that it has come 29 years without raising the salary of its members. It is a record that is a disgrace to the body.

All this is in the face of the fact that some of the expert outside of Congress have recommended that the present salary of $10,000 a year be raised to $15,000 or $20,000.

That person on the street who is not a member of Congress would be astonished to learn that Congressmen are paid less than the average of the other professions. They are paid less than the average of the other professions. They are paid less than the average of the other professions.

Kentucky Derby To Be Run June 9

By FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Writer
NEW YORK—Veteran horsemen feel that the Kentucky Derby will be a wide open affair when the race is run at Churchill Downs on Saturday, June 9. Providing you are willing to pass up unbeaten Free For All, who has yet to travel a distance of around 1 1/2 miles, you will find Alexis, stretch-running son of the imported Helopolis-Misleading, is the pick.

Alexis, owned by the Christiana Stable, a winning barn near Maryland tracks, went postward 16 times as a 2-year-old, won four races, placed four times and was third on five occasions to earn $1,087. The colt ran out of the money only three times.

Seems To Like Distance
What impresses observers, however, is the way Alexis scored in the Rennett Purse at Pimlico on May 17. While it was only six furlongs and the Derby is 10, or one mile and a quarter, Alexis finished in a manner that augurs well for his chances when the distances are stretched out.

In the Rennett, Alexis was fifth at the quarter pole, moved up to fourth leaving the backstretch and was running third when they hit the lane for home. Inside the sixteenth pole he picked up the two leaders and won going away.

Trainer Jack Healey, son of the late Tom Healey, will have the benefit of a regular jockey in Ken Newthorn. Ken ran with Alexis in the William Penn

Shipyard Workers Are Awarded Star For Buying Bonds

WILMINGTON, Calif., June 4.—The U.S. Treasury recently awarded a star to the already star-studded Treasury "T" award banner of the California Shipbuilding Corporation's Terminal Island Yard. The star was presented at a War Bond rally held to mark the third anniversary of War Bond sales at the yard and for Advance Payroll Savings drive planning for the coming 7th War Loan. In the past three years Calship workers have bought over 43,000 in War Bonds, setting a record for California industry.

John A. McCone, Calship's president, read to assembled workers a telegram from Robert H. Moulton, chairman of the War Finance Committee for Southern California. The telegram follows: "Please accept sincere appreciation and congratulations on behalf of the War Finance Committee on your third anniversary of the Calship War Bond program and for the outstanding results obtained by your employees who through the Payroll Savings Plan have purchased in excess of 43,000,000 in War Bonds during this time."
