By KAY HENNINGER

Christmas in De Bary
Once again the season of Peace on Earth is here and once again the world is torn apart by wars, great and small, if a war can ever be said to be small. Many of us have relatives and all of us have friends who at this very time are in far distant places serving the United States on land or sea or in the air. A number of these are our neighbors and our thoughts and best wishes go out to them wherever they may be at this time.

Our community celebrations started with a Christmas outdoor performance sponsored by the De Bary Civic Association, Inc. on Friday, Dec. 14. A series of tableaux called "Through the Year" was arranged and coached by Dorothy Henninger and approximately 50 men, women and children took an active part in the production. More than 200 attended the performance and over $100 were added to the building fund for the proposed community house. A big surprise was the appearance just before curtain time of Santa Claus with boxes of candy for the children and we certainly thank our friends in Sanford for telling him about our gathering so that he knew where to find us.

On Monday, Dec. 17, Mr. and Mrs. William Boyer, their children, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Miller and grand children, Callie and Stanley (Butch to us), cooked and served a pre-Christmas baked ham dinner in their home on Highway 17. Sixty people attended and were well fed the proceeds going to the Parsonage Fund of the Barnett Memorial Church of Enterprise. A splendid Christmas present from this family to their church, say we.

The De Bary Kindergarten children started their doings at the Friday performance where they distributed one number, and were the "hit" of the show. On Tuesday they gave a party for the Nursery Department of the Methodist Children's Home in Enterprise at which they distributed gifts which they had made for the children. There were wooden toys for the boys and strings of wooden beads for the little girls. They had also made some very nice muslin screen books with pretty colored pictures pasted in them. On Dec. 20, we were invited to the Christmas party for their mothers and again they distributed gifts they had made for their parents. We were greatly impressed by the fact that up to this time they had done all the giving. When they were told that there were some presents for them, their faces became radiant with joy and surprise.

Oh yes, they are learning much more than just kindergarten work. Before eating their lunch, they said a little prayer, and one told said to her teacher, "I said an extra thanks for Christmas." Do you get as much fun out of children as we do? If you do, you will bear with us while we tell you one more anecdote about these young hopefuls.

They acted out a play about the Nativity and the littlest girl was the baby Jesus. During the performance, she sat in a bassinet sucking her thumb, with one leg draped in the most abandoned fashion over the side of the basket. The gifts proffered by the shepherds and the three kings were given with as much gravity as they would have been, had her position been more dignified.

As usual, when we write about the youngsters, we go on and on. However, the adults are just as busy with their own Christmas plans. Of the private parties, we shall say nothing more than that there are many planned for both home and public restaurants. Friends will get together at different times all Christmas Day from breakfast right on, to exchange gifts and wish each other a Merry Christmas. The various clubs have had or will have parties. On Wednesday evening the Glee Club, which has had a most successful season, had a big party at the Mansion.

Not least among the preparations for the big day are the decorations. Business people and home owners are doing their best to make De Bary glow with its red, green, blue and white lights, its stars and candles and Santa Claus and best of all, its abundance of handsome red and white poinsettias which the good weather now has not frozen this year. On Christmas Eve a committee will attempt to select the most attractive homes and small prizes will be given by the Civic Association. We are also to be visited by a committee from Volusia county and share in the awards they give if we are good enough.

We are grateful for the Christmas Spirit and to all of you we say a very Merry Christmas.

Canned asparagus when served hot take to a topping of fine dry bread crumbs that have been mixed with melted butter or margarine.

Sliced corned beef, thinly shredded green cabbage, and Russian dressing make a flavorful filling for a rye bread sandwich to pack into a lunchbox.

Xmas Season Is Time To Enjoy Your Children

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
AP Newsfeature Writer

With the approach of Christmas your children will be home from school and, together, you will try to find something that truly belongs to this festival time.

"A happy holiday is only limited by the amount of ingenuity and imagination of the whole family," says Mrs. Rowena Shoemaker, Assistant Director, Play Schools Association. "You will have the fun of making gift lists with the children. You will want to provide a variety of social experiences which will stimulate self-expression, self-direction and responsibility of each child in your family circle. Why not make this a time for re-evaluating the activities within the home?"

For example, points out Mrs. Shoemaker, "Have your children being exposed to the joys of music?"

Why not get out records which the children may have forgotten and spend an afternoon with the records? There's a favorite Christmas poem "The Night Before Christmas" as told by Milton Cross. On the other side there is a delightful "Jingle Bells" fantasy. Another favorite with young children is the "Magic Record"—play it once, ten play it again and get an entirely different version of the song you just heard. There is a secret here, of course; the secret depends on where you place the needle.

Pop Likes To Play With Electric Trains

AP Newsfeature

It's a safe bet that Pop is going to be the first one playing with that new electric train on Christmas morning.

There's something about a train, say toy salesmen, that has an irresistible appeal for practically all males, especially grown-up ones. That's why so many fathers rush out to buy an elaborate electric train for Junior along with his first rattles.

This year's trains hold more thrills than ever for railroad fans young and old, say salesmen of one of the big electric train companies.

The toy trains are copied from blueprints of real ones, and will do just about everything a full-scale train will do. Latest models puff real smoke, have locomotive whistles and diesel sirens, couple and uncouple automatically.

Among new gadgets to add to the system is an automatic gate-man, to warn motorists of approaching trains, a new transformer that operates up to four train sets simultaneously on different tracks, derricks, milk cars and even a new station that announces trains.

So it looks like a merry Christmas for all living room engineers, young and old.

To greet our friends, old and new we wish luck and happiness to last them all year through!

Newswomen Select Miss Higgins As "Woman Of The Year" For '51

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

American newspaperwomen have chosen one of their own as "Woman of the Year" for 1951.

She is Marguerite Higgins, plucky and pretty young foreign correspondent for the New York Herald Tribune, whose coverage of the Korean War brought her both national headlines and a Pulitzer prize.

More recently the pert, blonde Maggie has traveled around the world writing a series, "Around Russia's Curtain," authored a book, "War in Korea" and covered the United States on a lecture tour.

The only newspaperwoman on the Korean battlefield, Maggie drew international attention when, ordered to the rear for safety, she stood her ground with the announcement, "I'm here as a reporter, not as a woman."

It is interesting to note that in the poll of women's editors of Associated Press newspaper, runner-up for the title of outstanding woman of the year was Princess Elizabeth, whose recent American tour made miles of headlines.

Miss Higgins was born in Hong Kong of an American Army officer father and a French mother, moved to school in France and England and wound up with honors at the University of California and Columbia University's school of journalism.

She joined the Herald Tribune in 1942, and became a foreign correspondent in 1944, worked in the London and Paris bureaus, moved on to news with the 7th Army during the closing days of World War II and soon afterward was made head of the Berlin bureau.

When the Korean War broke out she made a beeline from the Tokyo bureau to the battlefield, where for 23 weeks she reported all aspects of the fighting, under going dangers and hardships of the front.

Other new names show up among the ten women voted outstanding in their respective fields for 1951, from the standpoint of news value.

Top in the field of sports is Maureen Connelly, 16-year-old winner of the National Women's Tennis Championship, a teenager who has provided the nation's sports writers with a fresh and inspiring new personality to brighten up their pages.

In literature, the vote goes to Rachel Carson, author of the best-selling "The Sea Around Us." Judy Garland took the hat in the theater, for her sensational success in bringing vaudeville back to Broadway.

In the field of science, the voters have chosen Dr. Florence Rabbin, one of three women doctors who were winners of the American Public Health Association's 1951 Lasker awards. Now director of health for Denver, Dr. Rabbin previously was the first woman on the faculty of Johns Hopkins Medical School, the first woman scientist on the staff of the Rockefeller Institute, first woman admitted to the National Academy of Sciences and first woman member of the American Association of Anatomists.

Others named as outstanding in their fields are: Public affairs: Anna Rosenberg, Assistant Secretary of Defense, now spearheading a drive for enlistment of 72,000 women in the armed services.

Radio: Tallah Bankhead, star of NBC's ambitious "Big Show."

Musical: Dorothy Kirsten, opera and concert star, who played in MGM's "The Great Caruso" this year and has just given a command performance in London on the occasion of the wedding anniversary of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

Movie: Judy Holliday, Academy award winner for her performance in "Born Yesterday."

Award winner for her performance in "Born Yesterday." Education: Margaret Clapp, President of Wellesley College. Business: Tillie Lewis, west coast tomato canning queen.

Subzero Blast To Hit Snow-Bound Chicago Soon

CHICAGO (AP)—Already buried under the biggest fall of snow in 23 years, Chicago today faced a subzero blast which threatens the city's attempts to dig out its snail-paced transportation system.

While weary crews of workers battled to remove huge drifts which still had paralyzed transportation in the nation's second largest city, the Weather Bureau forecast a cold wave of zero to 10 below tonight.

But the weatherman had at least a cheery note for arm-weary householders who have been digging paths from house to garage to street for almost two weeks.

He said there was no more snow in prospect for the next 36 to 48 hours.

Air transportation out of Chicago also was affected by the piled-up snow, despite good flying weather at Midway Airport, only two of eight runways were in operation.

American Airlines canceled six flights to Detroit and Buffalo. Three West Coast flights were cancelled by Trans World Air Lines.

Snow shoveling was the major outdoor activity in the metropolitan area on Christmas Day. A Christmas Eve storm left a fresh blanket of more than eight inches of snow on the already snow-covered city.

The latest covering of white brought the city's December snowfall to a record-breaking 33.4 inches and the total for the season to 47.3 inches. This compares with the average of 33.2 inches for an entire winter season. The heaviest fall on record was 61.1 inches in 1916.

Transportation officials urged motorists not to drive. They sounded a similar warning Tuesday. But buses and street cars and elevated lines operated far behind schedule and thousands of motorists risked the chance of getting stalled. Hundreds became stranded.

Some tow-trucking operators reported they were unable to respond to trouble calls because equipment has been damaged by overwork in the several storms of the last two weeks.

The Chicago Transit Authority, which operates the street car, elevated and bus lines, said its total force of 200 plows and sweepers is being utilized around the clock to remove the snow. The CTA said it had spent more than $500,000 since Dec. 14 in the fight to keep its 149 miles of bus routes and 425 miles of street car lines open.

The city sent out 200 snow plows and crews.

Fire Marshal Michael J. Corriani canceled all days off for firemen beginning today because of the increased danger of fire. Cold or weather—as low as five below—was forecast for the Chicago area tonight.

The snow was so deep at the Brookfield Zoo Tuesday that even the polar bears stayed inside. Five of the zoo's polar bears didn't move out of their dens. The sixth headed for shelter in a hurry after a brief look around its outdoor cage.

The fresh fall of snow in Chicago and most of Illinois extended over most of the North Central region, it moved into North-western Pennsylvania, Western New York and parts of New England.

Rain fell through the Ohio Valley, the Southern Appalachians and the Middle Atlantic states. A narrow band of freezing rain and sleet pelted areas between the snow and rain belts.

Neighbors Rally To Fire Victims Aid

EAST KEANSBURG, N. J.—Townfolk pitched in today to help Mike Kelly, his heroic wife, Helen, and their 12 Kelly kids whose modest home was wiped out by a Christmas morning fire.

Neighbors, loud in their praise of Mrs. Kelly for the brave way she kept her children to safety, started practicing the spirit of Christmas before the day had dawned in this small Central Jersey town near Harlem Bay.

Offers of food, shelter and clothing poured in on the Kellys who lost just about every worldly possession in the early morning blaze.

The 43-year-old mother had just put the finishing touches on the family Christmas tree when a two-burner oil stove exploded and set the small, frame home afire. Her husband was at work at the time.

She rushed her sleeping children and guided them toward the front as flames engulfed the rear of the house.

Four-month-old Dorothy, cradled in Mrs. Kelly's arms, was burned on the head and face before they all could get through the front door.

Volunteer firemen, aided by neighbors, did all they could to save the house but it burned to the ground.

Neighbors took in the children, ranging in age up to 19-year-old Robert, until a furnished house, closed for the winter, was opened to the family by Police Chief Earl Hoyer.

Czechs Are First Commies To Dicker For Iranian Oil

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Communist Czechoslovakia stepped up today as the first Iron Curtain customer to dicker for Iran's state-owned oil.

Iran needs the money badly. The government disclosed Tuesday night it is so broke it has called home 20 diplomats to save expenses around they include ambassadors to Britain, Italy and India, the minister in Belgium, and 22 lesser officials.

Britain, ousted owner and operator of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company, already has served Iran notice in a diplomatic note she will look on Iranian oil sales to outsiders as illegal.

And the company, mainly owned by the British government, has publicly stated it will take all possible measures to halt sales until Iran settles satisfactorily with the company. These measures have not been specifically defined.

The British notices followed an ultimatum from Premier Mohammad Mossadegh that former Western buyers of Iranian oil must bid for petroleum products within 10 days or he would look for customers wherever he could find them.

A few roads in northern Illinois were closed, but all the main highways were open but hazardous.

A storm that ended today left six inches of snow in Maine. Highway travel was slow.

Trains and buses were moving but behind schedule in Michigan. Planes were grounded by field conditions. Two thousand men were put to work clearing clogged streets in Detroit. Detroit's snow has measured 32 inches since Nov. 1. Grand Rapids has had 54.6 inches since Dec. 1.

Jimmy McFadden of the Chicago Black Hawks in the National Hockey League was born in Ireland.

Egyptian Riots

The West, meanwhile, has been rebuffed in its invitation to Egypt to join a Middle East Command for defense against possible Communist aggression.

The agreements apparently were a jolt to the dominant Wafdist Party, whose leaders have insisted upon no compromise with the British. They want the British to clear out at once.

End Bill Swilacki of the Detroit Lions in the NFL is the owner of an insurance brokerage firm in his home town of Southbridge, Mass.

Duke University's football team averaged a net gain of four yards per try in rushing the pigskin. The Blue Devils gained 2,272 yards on the ground in ten games.
