Scientific Farming

CORN WILL BE HIGH.

Early Planting of a Few Acres Advised by Kansas College Expert.
The chances are that corn will be high priced next July and August, believes C. C. Cunningham, assistant in co-operative experiments in the Kansas State Agricultural college. He believes that many farmers where the corn crop was short in 1914 will find the planting of a few acres of early corn profitable this season.
Growing a quick maturing variety of corn for early feed is sometimes a good practice. The farmer who is out of grain and has to buy high priced corn may cut down expenses by growing a few acres of early corn. An early variety planted as soon as seasonably conditions will permit will produce feeding corn from three to five weeks before the heavy yielding varieties of corn are ready to feed.
The larger growing, later maturing varieties of corn normally grown usually outyield the small growing, quick maturing ones because of the longer growing period of the former varieties. A considerable increase in yield must be obtained to make the growing of early corn under these conditions more profitable than planting the entire corn acreage to the varieties usually grown.
Ordinarily in eastern Kansas a standard variety of Kansas corn, which matures in 115 to 125 days, will outyield a ninety to ninety-five day corn ten or more bushels per acre, and on the average the growing of the larger varieties pays best because of the larger yield. It is only when the July or August price of corn is abnormally high and the following crop large, causing a decided decrease in price, that the early corn planting practice is recommended.
The usual practice in obtaining seed of early corn is to get it from the northern states. Early corn has to be grown in northern states because of the short season. In western Kansas a quick maturing variety of corn is necessary because of the low annual rainfall. Acclimated varieties of corn grown in western Kansas are hardy and vigorous growing. The indications are that those early varieties of western Kansas corn are better suited to eastern Kansas conditions than varieties similar in size and maturity from further north.
Winter Wheat and Spring Wheat.
The Indiana experiment station (central Indiana) finds that spring wheat yields half to two-thirds as much grain as winter wheat on the same soil. The time to seed is as early as possible, the quantity about six pecks per acre.

VALUE OF COVER CROPS.

A blanket of cover crops is needed in every orchard at least half the year. An old orchard on sloping land, which is inclined to grow heavy wood on the trees at the expense of fruit bearing, needs a thick cover crop, such as common red or mammoth clover. In some successful orchards alfalfa has been used, and, though it is not generally regarded as a desirable orchard cover crop, there are instances where the alfalfa in an old orchard has been pastured by hogs and has proved an advantage for a year or two. It is then turned under and the orchard cultivated clean for a couple of seasons, with winter cover crops of crimson clover or rye.
The barometer of the orchard condition is the growth of wood and the condition in which fruit is matured. If the cover crop is too heavy and is allowed to sap the ground of moisture in midsummer the fact will immediately be noted in slow maturing fruit and short growth on the terminal branches of the trees.
Many old trees need to be checked in their growth of wood to make them produce. The abundance of blossoms in an orchard is evidence that the heavy cover crop has had this effect—Country Gentleman.

DAVIS IS PRESIDENT HARDEE IS SPEAKER

THE LEGISLATURE STARTS TODAY AND WILL GET DOWN TO BUSINESS

Tallahassee, April 6th.—(Special)—With C. E. Davis of Madison as president of the senate; and Carey A. Hardee of Live Oak as Speaker of the house, the 1915 legislature will convene in regular session tomorrow.

The house caucus was organized at 8 o'clock tonight. Robt. T. Anderson of Pensacola placed the name of S. C. Harrison of Duval in nomination for temporary chairman.

The organization was then made permanent and the election of a Speaker pro tem, and attaches of the house was taken up.

Forrest Lake was nominated by H. I. Bussey of Palm Beach, and seconded by Arthur Gomez of Key West.

The senatorial caucus of the legislature was called to order at 5 o'clock. Hon. Charles E. Davis of Madison, senator from the Tenth district, was unanimously elected president.

C. A. Finley, secretary of senate called the roll and all were present except Senators Conrad of the 25th, Fogarty of the 24th and Roddenberry of the 5th districts.

Senator Wells of Leon county moved that attaches be elected by acclamation, and upon the passage of this motion the following list was placed in nomination by Mr. Wells:

Assistant secretary, D. M. Newman of the 25th district; bill secretary, J. B. Sutton of the 7th district; reading secretary, J. A. Bedingfield of Hillsborough county; assistant reading secretary, Rainey Martin of the 9th district; journal secretary, R. S. Holly of Sanford; assistant journal secretary, R. J. Davis of the 27th district; sergeant-at-arms, J. R. Adair, 3rd district; enrolling clerk, A. E. Lester, 17th district; engrossing clerk, Leota Conklin, 23rd district; recording secretary, Mrs. L. B. Young of Leon county; messenger, C. S. Zim of St. Augustine; janitor, W. E. Lewis of 1st district; doorkeeper, Nat Roddenberry of Wakulla county; chaplain, Rev. J. D. Adcock; pages, Donald Adkins of Starke, Clifford Blitch of Montbrook, Harold Turner of Macclenny.

Negro Killing Last Night

Late last night Will Bronson and wife, negroes who resided in Georgetown became engaged in a family quarrel and settled it with a razor and pistol. The woman cut her husband all to pieces with the razor and he shot the woman and also clubbed her over the head with the weapon.

Brick Roads In Orange

Preparations for the county paving are progressing at a rate very satisfactory to the three contracting firms, and brick are being lined up on the roadway leading to Zellwood, stretching each way from Lake Fairview. On this road, which almost parallels the Seaboard Railway, the haul is short. The longest haul being made at the present time is on the five mile trip leading to Conway, where four mule teams are slowly moving the brick line toward Orlando.

Probably the most active work is being done on the thirteen miles of road leading to the Osceola county line. The delivery of brick was started at Pine Castle, and working toward Orlando and also toward Kissimmee.

This roadway is a part of the National Highway, the main backbone of the state, leading from Jacksonville to Tampa, along which are some of the most progressive towns in the state, Palatka, DeLand, Sanford, Orlando, Kissimmee, Lakeland and Plant City.

It is no longer idle talk, the O. & S. Transfer Company is rapidly stretching out the brick line leading south from Orlando. Soon after leaving this city, the motoring tourists are attracted by a wall of brick along the roadside, which is not lost to view until within less than a mile of the little town of Taft; teams are passed at intervals, all hauling brick the roadway which is soon to be paved by Alabama Paving Company, holding the city contract that has added some ten to seven miles of prettily paved streets to Orlando during the past few months.

The county contracts call for a total of fifty-seven miles of brick paved streets, and when completed, together with the city mileage will give Orange county seventy miles or more of brick highways.

Willard is the Champion The Willard Johnson fight started up much excitement here yesterday and hundreds of interested spectators watched the fight in front of the Herald office all afternoon.

Those who wanted reserved seats were inside the office and paid for the telegrams and those who wanted to know about the fight but did not want to pay for the privilege waited outside to see the bulletins. It was a most orderly and quiet crowd and even after the result became known there was but little demonstration. The following is the result of the fight:

At 10:30 p.m. on April 5, Willard knocked Johnson out in the twenty-fifth round here this afternoon, the fight being witnessed by a crowd of 17,000 persons.

It was Johnson's fight all the way, and the final outcome came as a bolt from a clear sky to the throng of excited fans that packed the grand stand.

The knockout was a right swing to Johnson's jaw which sent the big black to the ground. After the fight the crowd tried to rush in the ring to get Johnson but the soldiers cleared the ring and gathered Johnson and escorted him to the city of Havana.

Johnson used every artifice known to fighting and had landed the greater number of blows on both face and body up until the ninth round, having forced Willard to the rope repeatedly. At the beginning of the ninth round, however, Willard assumed the aggressive, having gained confidence, and slowly gained on his adversary. At the beginning of the twenty-second round, Johnson began to weaken, due to the terrific pace he set at the opening of the fight, and in the twenty-sixth round the big black went down and the white man was declared the world's champion prize fighter.

Purchase Store and Land

M. D. Gatchel and son have purchased the building of the Celery Avenue Cash Store and five acres of land from the Realty Trust Co. The Celery Avenue store and land are a good investment and the many friends of this enterprising firm are congratulating them on the purchase.

MORE BUSINESS BLOCKS FOR LUCKY SANFORD

HOME PEOPLE HAVE GREAT CONFIDENCE IN FUTURE OF THIS CITY

The Build Now movement is strong in Sanford and that this city will have a number of new business blocks, apartment houses and residences built during the summer months is most gratifying to the people in general and especially to the winter visitors who have been unable this winter to procure suitable lodgings.

Among the first ones to start the building of business blocks are Frank L. Woodruff and B. W. Herndon, both Sanford gentlemen and both large property owners and have explicit confidence in the future of our progressive city.

Mr. Woodruff started his brick block on the Sanford House grounds on First street last week and the foundation and some of the sidewalls are already up. This building for the present will be one story but the foundation is made with the view of making it three stories in height later on and it may become part of the new hotel idea that is bound to take shape sooner or later.

The Herndon building will be on the southeast corner of Park avenue and Second street facing park. This building will be two stories in height and will have a frontage of 41 feet on Park avenue and extend back on Second street 100 feet.

The first floor will be a large store room and is rented, so it is rumored. The upper floor will be fitted up for apartments and the plan is a good one with rooms and bath and all the modern conveniences. There will be 14 rooms on the second floor and the plans drawn by Architect Moughton will give the occupants nice large and airy apartments, something that has been needed in this city for several years.

This building will be of buff brick and will be an ornament to this street that is rapidly becoming one of the business streets of Sanford.

MANY NEW RESIDENCES FOR LUCKY SANFORD

LARGE NUMBER OF NEW HOMES BEING ERECTED DURING THE SPRING

Many new residences are planned for this summer. Among the new ones started or to be started is the Brisson house on Magnolia avenue. This will be built for rental purposes as Mr. Brisson believes in Sanford houses and has already built several that were sold before they were finished.

The last one will be built on Magnolia between Ninth and Tenth streets and just north of the one built several months ago that was sold to Frank Giles. The house will be two stories and contain seven rooms and have all the modern conveniences.

D. S. Babbitt has just purchased two lots in the Garner addition to Sanford Heights and will immediately start the building of a nice two story home that he will occupy.

E. J. Taylor recently built a fine residence on French avenue opposite his business site, the Sanford Bottling Works on French avenue and is contemplating another house on the lot that will be for rent or sale. This part of French avenue is becoming very popular since the built head started and lake front homes will be the thing in a few years.

N. H. Taylor has started his two new houses on Magnolia avenue for rental purposes and all the new homes will add greatly to the appearance and also serves to hold the visitors here next winter. With all of the new buildings erected in the past the demand exceeds the supply and there is no better investment than good houses for sale or rent.

There are several more homes contemplated in the near future and the plans are now in the hands of the architects.

Install Picture Machine

Through the work and efforts of the Senior Chapter of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew of Holy Cross Parish a full size new model of "Dawson" Moving Picture machine has been installed in Holy Cross Church House. The first proof worth the new balcony in the Parish House have been the work of the young men themselves.

The general use to which this new adjunct of the Parish House work will be put is educational. There are many things concerning the church, church history, the Bible, missions, the state, and general instruction which can be better understood through the medium of pictures than in any other way.

On Wednesday nights, immediately after devotions in the church, pictures dealing with some phase of religion will be shown in the Parish House. This Wednesday (tomorrow) will be illustrations of missions and educational work among those people known as "Poor Mountain Whites" through the Virginias, North Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky. No admission will be charged on Wednesday; but an offering will be taken.

On Saturday nights the young men intend having special reels of well known books or plays of standard values. These nights, usual admissions will be charged. To all pictures, on Wednesday and Saturday nights the public is most cordially invited.

Charles E. Snyder

Charles E. Snyder of this place died of cancer of the bowels at the home of Pearl Pughnion, Marion, Ohio Friday, March 25th.

Mr. Snyder came to Sanford four years ago and lived on a farm south of town. He was in poor health for more than a year.

A few months ago he underwent an operation. He continued to grow worse and seven weeks ago he was taken to Ohio.

The closing days of his life were made as pleasant as possible by the tender care of loving friends and relatives.

He was a kind and generous neighbor and loving husband. All who knew him loved him. At times his suffering was excruciating, yet he bore it all patiently and cheerfully. He was always appreciative of the kindness shown him by friends and relatives. He accepted Jesus as his redeemer.

Big Packing Plant

Sanford and Seminole county should feel a vital interest in the announcement made in Jacksonville papers that Armour & Company have decided to erect a half million dollar packing house in the state metropolis in the near future. The news was given out there by George Mason, who received his information from a close personal friend of Ogden Armour.

The Metropolis of that city said: "A large packing plant in Jacksonville has for a long time been discussed as one of the greatest needs of the locality and of great prospective value to the state. This arises from the fact that Florida's possibilities as a cattle raising state have been pronounced by authorities to be among the best in the world, and Mr. Mason has often cited instances where western beef has been raised and fattened on Florida ranges to be shipped to Chicago for slaughter and distribution. A great deal of the canned meat products are also composed of Florida raised cattle and the success of the venture is heartily endorsed and predicted by not only Mr. Mason, but a large number of others in the city and state."

As it is now, the cost of shipping cattle from Kissimmee to the packing houses in the north averages about $1.00 a hundred, or in round figures from $5 to $10 a head. When the shipments are made to the new packing house in Jacksonville the cost ought not to be more than 25 cents a hundred or about $1.25 to $2.00 a head. Approximately 10,000 head of cattle were shipped from Kissimmee last year, so that there is at once a saving of from $12,500 to $20,000.

This will mean an increased price to the cattlemen and will stimulate the feeding of cattle before shipping.

Congressman Sears Here

Hon. W. F. Sears, congressman of the Fourth district, Mrs. Sears and Joe Sears, Jr. were here yesterday for a few hours stop-over to their home in Kissimmee. Congressman Sears has been in Jacksonville for a few days going there from Miami and was joined in Jacksonville by his wife and son. While here they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Holly and left on the noon train for home. Congressman Sears will be here in a few days and address the Commercial Club on some of the important topics of the day, our government building, affairs at Washington and other vital questions.

The announcement will be given later. He is looking fine after his trip to Washington and will be busy with his visiting list until it is time to go back to the nation's capital. He will also take a look in at the Florida legislature some time in the next few weeks. From all the reports our new congressman made a most favorable impression among his colleagues at Washington and he will fit into his new position with no friction and we can expect great things from our Joe.

Guns for Sanford

On account of the war and rumors of war Sanford will fortify the harbor defenses and the war department has sent or will send at once two bronze cannon and ammunition. The following dispatch is from Washington.

The war department is preparing to comply with the provisions of the omnibus bill passed on the closing day of Congress, which provides for the distribution of obsolete cannon and cannon balls. Under the terms of the bill the following Florida distributions are to be made:

To Tallahassee, two condemned bronze or brass cannon or field-pieces and a suitable outfit of cannon balls.

To Gainesville, two condemned brass or bronze cannon or field-pieces, with their carriages and a suitable outfit of cannon balls.

To Sanford, two bronze or brass cannon with a suitable outfit of cannon balls, which may not be placed in the service, the same to be placed in a public park, building or square in said city.

Under the explicit provisions of the bill the United States government is not to be charged with any of the cost of transportation, which means that the communities which are to receive the donations must pay all freight charges.

Rev. R. E. Drisco spent several days in the city the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Davison. Mr. Drisco was Mrs. Davison's pastor in her New England home.

IMPORTANT MEETING OF HORTICULTURISTS

FLORIDA GROWERS WILL BE ENTERTAINED IN TAMPA IN TRUE TAMPA STYLE

Tampa, Fla., April 6.—On April 13 to 16, inclusive, there will be held in Tampa the 28th annual meeting of the Florida State Horticultural Society.

The entertainment committee will be composed of the following gentlemen who are preparing a splendid program for the entertainment of the visitors, the details of which are not as yet ready to give out:

Mr. D. C. Gillett, Buckeyes Nurseries; Mr. L. D. Jones, Florida Citrus Exchange; Mr. Walter Preston, Manager Fruit Co.; Mr. H. Guy Nickerson, Bayshore Development Co.; Mr. E. A. Wright, Editor Florida Grower; Mr. B. L. Hammer, Secretary Board of Trade.

There will be attendance over fifteen hundred of the most progressive growers of the state. The railroads of the state are giving very special rates from all points, and we anticipate the greatest crowd that has ever attended one of these meetings, says the Florida Grower.

The Florida State Horticultural Society is the oldest organization among the growers of the state, and it has been the father of every movement for the betterment of conditions in the groves of Florida. It is far reaching in its influence and it is one of the greatest factors in the citrus industry in the state.

Everyone, whether a grower or not, is eligible to membership in the society on the payment of $1.00. For this one dollar they not only have the privilege of attending these meetings and hearing the speeches made upon the various subjects and of participating in the discussions but they receive a printed book containing every word spoken at the meetings, and this book in itself is a valuable treatise.

It is hoped this matter will receive due publicity, as there is no institution in the state that will receive greater importance and none that is deserving of more encouragement, for the growers who attend these meetings and learn of the best practices in citrus culture, tend to aid in the prosperity of Florida by the production of higher quality of fruit and a greater quantity.

At this meeting there is going to be held under the auspices of the Florida Grower, an exhibition of every implement and device that is of interest to the growers of the state in their operations. There will be everything on display at this exhibition from packing house machinery to orange wraps, and it is given so that the growers may have an opportunity to see the most modern and up to date methods. This exhibition will be held in the city park and in the Tampa Bay hotel, which is official headquarters of the society.

County Division in Alachua

There has been a movement in both Levy county as well as in Alachua county tending to county division. We believe there will be little or no opposition from the voters of Alachua county to the division if the lines will be established so as to not take too much of the old county.

We also believe little opposition would be met with in Levy county if the different factions will get together and consult the mutual gain of the territory to be divided, and not figure self interest too much.

There has long been a desire in the north end of Levy county and in the west end of Alachua county to make a new county, which we believe would mean a great deal to this section. We are aware of the fact that there is but little common interest between the northwest of Levy county and east end.

We people in the west end of Alachua county understand that we cannot make a successful county without at least twelve miles of Levy county territory on the north end.

We sincerely hope that the people of Levy county and the people of western Alachua county can get together and make a new county. This new county would, without a doubt, soon be the Egypt of our Commonwealth.—Trenton West End.

THEY'RE OFF AT TALLAHASSEE

THE LAW MAKERS WILL GET DOWN TO REAL BUSINESS AFTER TODAY

FROM DIXIE

Today the legislature of Florida will convene and the capitol awaits the gathering of the law-makers. There has been some commotion on the effort of Senator Ion L. Farris to reorganize the committees of both houses whereby six committees will pass on all proposed legislation. The general impression prevails that while Mr. Farris' proposition has many good points, it will not receive the indorsement of either house.

Mr. Farris was too late in springing his idea. A majority of the members have long desired to become a member of some certain committee. They have laid their plans to secure these appointments and they do not propose to surrender at this late day. They insist that the Farris plan would have the effect of burying in the calendar many meritorious bills.

That many committees neglect their duties is conceded—that entirely too many committees are arranged for is not denied, but understanding this there are several committees that opponents to the Farris plan insist are absolutely necessary and they are overworked at every meeting of the legislature.

At present the general belief is that Hon. Charles E. Davis of Madison county will be chosen president of the senate. He began his candidacy early, and it is said secured enough pledges to win before the opposition became aroused. Mr. Davis has had considerable legislative experience and is well equipped for the responsible duties.

Friends of Cary A. Harder in the house seem confident that he will be speaker. His Forrest Lake and his friends are active and singular. There are some who believe that a deadlock will result and that J. C. Adkins of Alachua or A. B. Newton of Winter Garden will secure the honor. The latter opinion comes from the fact that several members have declined to commit themselves.

From the country press it is learned that many important measures will be proposed and that many members have a "hobby."

A fight will be made on the Florida buzzards, and this will likely take up much time of the legislators. The long established belief that the buzzard is a scavenger gives away to the charge that this bird is responsible for hog cholera and other diseases among animals.

There will be a fight against the Bryan primary bill. Some will endeavor to repeal it while others will try to patch it up, so as to prevent a new registration every year, which has proved to be not only annoying to the electors, but exceedingly expensive to the taxpayers.

In Duval county alone it is said the expense was more than 16,000, and that in one precinct more than $200 was paid for the registration of four voters.

Dispensing with capital punishment is favored by some legislators, the idea of J. L. Billingsley of Miami meeting the approval of many legislators, who do not believe that the state of Florida should continue a cruel practice.

The sheriffs of Florida will endeavor to adopt the electric chair instead of hanging, contending that this is more humane, and many of the legislators favor this plan.

Another proposition that has been given widespread publicity is the poach of Representative J. J. Paul of Columbia county to put a stop to the tipping evil in Florida. Mr. Paul shows how people who are with limited means suffer when travelling or who stop at the hotels. Mr. Paul is very much interested in his bill which, if enacted into law, will prevent one of the worst evils that the traveling public have encountered.

The legislature expects the same old struggle involving the Jacksonville charter, which has been amended at every session since 1903. Just what Duval county representatives want this year is not known, but if the gentlemen from that county will get together they will get what they want. For many years the Duval delegation has divided. Broward vetoed one charter bill, and the charter that now stands has been so often amended that it is regarded as a puzzle.

Major S. C. Harrison insists on a complete commission form. Senator Farris believes in a modified form and Representative Dancy, it is said, has a bill which he believes will meet all the requirements.

The entire delegation from Duval it is said, will urge legislation that will give Jacksonville a liberal bond issue for municipal improvements.

Jacksonville will also insist on legislation to give better protection to creditors. The business men have prepared a bill, but it is regarded as entirely too radical. One of the provisions permit employees of creditors to search a houses from time to time to see of the goods sold are there and safe.

This gives too much latitude to collectors and others. There are times when no housekeeper wants a stranger in their bedrooms, and the proposed method would cause much trouble in many cases.

A publicity bureau in connection with and under the direction of the University of Florida is urged. Florida has long suffered through a lack of publicity and these facts have been brought out in a most forcible manner. A department of this kind on the Wisconsin plan would no doubt prove of great advantage to Florida. An appropriation of fifteen thousand dollars annually would be necessary to start the work, and if the bureau should do the proper work, this amount could be increased during the session of 1917.

Florida spends more than $100,000 a year for its board of health—thousands of dollars for food inspectors—thousands of dollars for prison inspectors. This money is well spent, but with the whole country ignorant of Florida's opportunities there could be no better investment than a liberal appropriation for publicity work. Such a bureau would be valuable to every county in Florida and would bring thousands of worthy settlers to cultivate our now idle lands.

There will as usual be numerous bills to regulate the liquor traffic. Some will be freak and others moderate. The statewide prohib. plans will also be urged again and an effort made to pass the necessary resolution which requires two-thirds of both houses. Then the proposition must go before the electors. While the prohib. have expressed confidence of a victory, the opposition declares that the necessary twenty votes cannot be secured in the senate.

We will have the suffragists to deal with also. The knock-out given them during the last session did not discourage them. While the Hon. St. Elmo Acosta is not on hand to make a sensational fight against suffrage, it is known that there are others who stand ready to fight the proposition. The women, as a rule, in Florida seem opposed to suffrage, the majority preferring the men to attend to the political affairs of the state.

Sunday amusements will also receive attention and various plans are discussed. The most conservative leaders believe in local option in this matter. If the people in Tampa, Jacksonville and other cities want motion pictures they should be allowed the privilege of voting on the same.

Much of the time of the members is consumed in legislation trying to regulate such affairs.

It is believed, however, that there are enough men in the legislature to give important work the attention necessary and to discourage all kinds of freak bills.

Religion and morals can never be legislated into men. Many of the members believe that motion pictures are great moral institutions and that they do a great deal of good on Sundays as well as other days.

A public highway commission will also be urged and taxation reform will receive much attention.

But the time is at hand and in a few days lawmakers with pockets full of bills will be closeted with fellow members showing how the great state of Florida can be saved.

Florida financially is in most excellent condition. The present administration has been a business administration. There has been the utmost harmony between the state officials, and the reports of all the department heads are worthy of much praise.

Abundantly able to conduct new departments much needed, the promise seems bright for legislation that will result in advantage to all the people.

Busy Individual.

An old man in the Potato Hill neighborhood is quoted as saying: "All I have to do now is to pull sheets off the calendar pad; I have all day to pull off the Thursday sheet, and make the pad read Friday, but sometimes I get three or four days behind. After I get the sheet on the pad changed, it is time to look for my glasses, which are usually lost. You may think old people have little to do, but they are really quite busy."—Kansas City Star.

KITCHEN GARDEN IN FLORIDA

EVERY FAMILY CAN AFFORD TO HAVE ONE

FROM THE TAMPA TIMES

The United States Department of Agriculture, the work of which shows increased effectiveness and greater scope under the democratic administration, has inaugurated a sensible and commendable campaign in behalf of family gardens throughout the country, and particularly in the south, which is certain to do a great deal toward solving the high cost of living problem for those who heed the practical advice given.

According to facts brought out in farmers' bulletin No. 647, entitled "The Home Garden in the South," a copy of which can be secured by application to the department, a garden of one-quarter to one-half acre is sufficient for an average family and should produce enough vegetables for use throughout the entire year. This applies to all southern states, but with even greater force to Florida, and particularly the southern sections of the state.

In championing rotation of garden crops, officials of the department have this to say:

"One-fourth of an acre slope can be made to supply a family of six, if close attention is given to the rotation and discussion of crops, and interplanting. Where land is plentiful it is recommended that a sufficient area be set aside to allow part of the garden to be planted to a soil-improving crop each year.

"The location of permanent crops, such as asparagus, rhubarb and small fruits should be carefully considered. These crops should be placed at one side, so they will not be in the way when the garden is plowed. It is not possible to give a specific scheme of arrangement for a garden that will suit all requirements, but herewith is a suggestive plan of a half acre garden which the southern growers may find helpful. The order in which the plants may appear, with suggestions given as to what plants are best suited as 'follow-up' crops, is given herewith. The garden as planted is 200 feet long and 110 feet wide. The vegetables are planted in rows running the length of the garden."

Crops referred to, with their order of planting are as follows: Asparagus and other perennial crops. Carrots, beets, parsnips, etc.

Lettuce, radishes, onion sets, for bunch onions followed by celery as fall crop. Onion seed for dry bulbs followed by celery as fall crop.

Early peas followed by fall cabbage.

Early sweet corn followed by fall potatoes.

Late sweet corn followed by fall potatoes.

Pole lima beans.

Pole lima beans.

Study of the above list reveals the fact that practically every product mentioned, if not every product, is grown in abundance in south Florida, and while the order of planting in this section may differ from that demanded by climatic conditions of other states, an excellent idea is given as to what can be done toward the support of a family, large or small, through intelligent cultivation of a small, but fertile tract of land.

FLORIDA'S HEALTH TRAIN

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH

Seeing is convincing! Visual education, from childhood to old age is the most impressive, the most lasting, the most convincing.

Reference has already been made in this press service to the Educational Health Exhibit, which has been prepared originally by the State Board for the Southern Health exhibit in last December. Since that time it has been shown to the people of Tampa, Sanford, Orlando, Lakeland, Palatka, Ocala, Pensacola and Tallahassee. It was seen and studied in these eight cities by an attendance equal to three-quarters of their estimated population.

The panels, photographs and models that make up this exhibit, illustrate practically and visually the work that is being done by the board in gathering necessary vital statistics in Florida; the work of the state laboratories, the fight against malaria and typhoid and tuberculosis, against the fly and mosquito that carry disease germs; studies in smallpox and vaccination, in measles, whooping cough, hookworm, glanders and rabies; the work that is being done for Florida's indigent crippled children; the way to feed and wash and dress young babies, and many other subjects that need practical illustration to have their importance understood and appreciated by the taxpayers and citizens of the state.

It is safe to say that the State Board has never inaugurated a more valuable or more widely appreciated method of education than this. It has already been proved more impressive and impressing by the splendid literature that has already been sent out by the Board in its work of education. The question now is how shall it be made more useful by bringing it to more people—to all the people of the state? It is not planned to get it up at some central place and keep it there, but to put it on wheels and take it to the people, to the big cities and the little ones, to every village and hamlet where the rail lines of Florida reach.

The Board is ready. The railroads are thought to be willing to furnish free service, the equipment is not difficult to provide and the cost of maintenance would be a fraction of the cost of hog cholera serum, which by direction of a frequent legislature is distributed free to the swine owners of the state. It would cost less per annum than a recommendation to divert fifteen thousand dollars from the health funds, to fight cattle tick, a proposition not akin in any way with human health and human life.

The only real obstacle in the way is the present lack of authority from the legislature, which meets this week, permitting the railroads to give and the Board of Health to accept free transportation for the health train and attendants over the lines of the state. A former legislature granted similar privileges for handling free a special train for agricultural education. Just now it is the question whether the legislature of 1915 will rise to the opportunity to do something really useful and beneficial for the people of Florida.

With such a train, consisting of a car rebuilt to accommodate the exhibit, another to provide living quarters for those who must accompany the exhibit, with free transportation for train and attendants, Florida would be in the lead in all states in the Union for the education of its people in sanitary and health matters, and the results would be the vast betterment of such conditions in this state.

It would be a splendid investment for the railroads, a better one for Florida, and instead of one person in ten being given the opportunity to be benefitted, as has been the case so far, nine of every ten would have the chance.

Shall Florida have its health train? What is your answer?

AMONG THE CHURCHES

A RESUME GIVEN EACH WEEK OF THE SUNDAY SERMONS

ELMER E. ROGERS, Reporter

Sunday, March 28th, 1915. Church visited: The Presbyterian.

Pastor: Rev. E. D. Brownlee. The morning lesson was the 2nd Corinthians, 6th chapter.

As is Dr. Brownlee's mode of reaching the child mind he prefaced his sermon with a direct appeal to the little ones. On this occasion he explained the value of the compass to the little ones and drew an apt simile between the mariner's guide and the Christian's code of life. Among other things he said: "Just as a compass is indispensable to safe voyage so is the Christ plan, the Christ principle indispensable to safely us conduct through life and ultimately to our Heavenly Father."

Dr. Brownlee insisted that our conscience is our compass, and if our conscience is patterned after the Christ idea—we are safe, otherwise not.

The principal theme of Dr. Brownlee's sermon was "Monasticism."

He briefly outlined the origin of monasticism, giving incidents and conditions found in the monastic life. From these facts he drew philosophical deductions tending to prove not only the hurtfulness of such an unnatural life to those living in it, and to society but the utter misconception of the command: "Come out from among them; be ye separate, saith the Lord." "Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling."

Though Dr. Brownlee took a decided view against monasticism he stated that the movement was not without some redeeming qualities. Its influence for good was its preservation of the ancient classics and God's word.

In its earlier history monasticism was a protest against materialism, luxury and sensuality and it is not improbable that at this particular period of the history of the western world the flame of truth was kept burning by the devout though eccentric monk.

The influence of the monk wanes, however, as he becomes more and more ascetic, more and more exclusively exercised about HIS OWN SOUL, without effective regard for the souls of those of his fellow men who are out in the world.

The great problem of the church during the origin of monasticism as it is today was the TRANSFORMATION of the world NOT the ABANDONMENT of it.

Monasticism took its origin from the 3rd century, from Egypt, from the NEW era, which was ushered in by Christ Jesus.

In seeking a PATTERN, monasticism forgot Jesus at Cana, forgot the banquet at Levi's, it forgot completely Him who was ever the first and the closest devotee of our pattern of men.

The monks in their isolation, by their personal labor, by their abstention from the world and from men became themselves self-sufficient, exemplified not only in the Orient, but in the cult life of the Orient.

In developing the history of his theme Dr. Brownlee submitted three stages through which monasticism has passed:

I. Hermit life of Anachorism.

The father of this mode of life was St. Anthony who was born in Egypt in 251. His parents died ere he had reached his eighteenth year, and having been always quiet and reserved he retired to the outermost limits of his home town and there lived alone in a sepulchre. Later he went to live in the ruins of a castle in the desert, and a short while afterwards to a mountain near the Nile.

St. Anthony busied himself making baskets with the fruits of the batten of which he supplied his meagre wants; and occasionally fought the devil when that unclean spirit made his appearance.

History records that St. Anthony ate but once a day and frequently fasted two to five days; died at the age of 105 years and was of unclean person. His immediate followers numbered 10,000.

Simon Stylites was the founder of the "Pillar Saints." His native home was on the border of Syria and Cilicia, where during a part of his boyhood days he was a shepherd. He entered a cloister at the age of 13 and for 26 years of his monastic life fasted during the entire Lenten season.

St. Simeon became so extremely eccentric that he was dismissed from his order, and soon afterward went to a mountain where he had welded around his ankles an iron chain. He then went to a solitary place 40 miles from Antioch where he lived 36 years on the top of a pillar.

As St. Simeon reached the higher and higher levels of his personally conceived ideas of perfection his pillar was raised until it reached the height of 70 feet. He was twenty years reaching the topmost level of his perfection, and at various levels, on a surface three feet in diameter, around which was placed a railing so that he could neither lie nor sit but could only stand or kneel. St. Simeon bowed and prayed for twenty years.

A visitor once counted 1,244 bows during a part of a day, and growing tired, quit.

St. Simeon dressed in the skins of animals and had his meals carried to him up a ladder. He was considered a great saint of superior piety and many there were who imitated him. Like St. Anthony he was of unclean person.

What a strange interpretation of the Christian faith which made such men models! How greatly different was the Savior who went about ministering to the spiritual and physical welfare of men!

II. The Cenobites, the second stage in monasticism, sprang up in Egypt shortly after the founding of this mode of life. Its originator was Pachomius who was born in 292. While serving in the army he was converted and founded a society of monks on an island in the Nile. Before his death in 348 nine monasteries with 3,000 monks were established and within a century there were 50,000 followers. Three years probation was required before reception into the order was allowed. They were constituted of 24 classes based on piety. They lived three in a cell, ate in common but in strict silence with faces covered, making their wants known by signs.

St. Pachelomus after entering the monastery never ate a full meal and for fifteen years slept sitting on a rock.

The first stages of monasticism did not prosper in Europe because of climatic conditions, the second found fertile soil.

Monasticism was introduced into Italy by Athanasius, who wrote the life of St. Anthony. Here it took rapid growth. Many of the best known men of Europe of that period were at one time monks.

III. Associated Monasticism.

The origin of the steps of St. Benedict of Nursia, who was born about 480 A. D.

The monastic student life of that period ceased. St. Benedict at the age of 14 fled to a cave to live some forty miles from Rome.

The first Benedictine monastery was established in 529. St. Benedict's order had a very definite character, emphasizing the observance of the rule of St. Benedict, who was born about 480 A. D.

Their idleness and luxury bred sins of sensuality and they degenerated in morals until they were objects of scandal.

To the purification of monasticism there was organized in 1910 the "Order of Cluny." Following this were the Clisterians, Franciscans, Dominicans and many others.

Though monasticism has good points its influence on the whole is baneful. It takes out of society many useful forces which it greatly needs for its general uplift. If those whose piety takes them into seclusion would follow the Christ idea for all, out in the world among men society as a whole would mount to higher and higher pinnacles of true Christian standards. Even those who go into seclusion would save themselves while imparting in close contact to their fellow men the saving graces of the Lord Jesus Christ.

In its national effect monasticism no doubt hastened the decadence

WOMAN'S CLUB

Literature Department

Of unusual interest and especially prominent in the club work of the year were the meetings of the Literature and Welfare Departments with in the last week. An event in club circles anticipated with pleasure by the members of the Literature Department and their friends is the musicale with which Mrs. Fannie Stembidge Munson entertains annually, and this year the program was surrounded with more than ordinary interest. With few exceptions the numbers were rendered by the younger students of Mrs. Munson and a more enjoyable program could scarcely be imagined, the young people showing a marvelous skill and execution, the result of faithful, patient labor of pupil and instructor. Mrs. Munson's club always bring out a large number of the representative women of Sanford and this occasion was no exception to the rule.

At the appointed hour Mrs. Geo. L. Maris, chairman of the Literature Dept. with a few appropriate remarks cordially welcomed the guests in behalf of the hostess and the department.

The program was then given over to Mrs. Munson who presided with gracious dignity. A fitting introduction to the pleasures of the afternoon was the talk given by Mrs. Munson. She stressed the fact that this is the age of child culture and child life.

"Our program," she said, "would probably appeal more to the child, the young boy or girl but we desired this recital to be wholly different from those formally presented and I know every woman cares for those interests and pleasures which help to mould the future of the young life, so it is well that we should from time to time come into closer touch with the child thought, for this is truly the child's age. Everything is being evolved for his best good, physically, mentally and socially. The artists' program of the early forties is but the expected recital of the present day boy and girl of fourteen and sixteen. There have always been child portrait painters but never so many as today. All the old music masters wrote juvenile numbers but there were no music kindergartens until recently. No Kitty Cheatham for exclusive child nurse interests. And so in the literary field some of our best minds have and do now write for the child's page. It has been said that the truly great always care for children, and have in themselves a responsive simplicity and charm of youth. Of such were James Whitcomb Riley, Eugene Field, Joel Chandler Harris (Uncle Remus) and VLongfellow, Bach, Brahms and even the stern Beethoven and that avowed celibate, Brahms who said 'I shall never commit two follies, marriage or write a opera, but he left us a charmingly tender cradle song. And so in the music one of our best writers, those things which count for the wholesome pleasure, the best happiness and certain progress of the child from the cradle, through the first steps to the last climb for we are all children."

The program was then given over to Mrs. Munson who presided with gracious dignity. A fitting introduction to the pleasures of the afternoon was the talk given by Mrs. Munson. She stressed the fact that this is the age of child culture and child life.

Welfare Department

The regular program meeting of the Welfare Department Wednesday afternoon was unusually interesting with its various papers, readings and music on the topic "Birds." The Junior Civic League participated with an enthusiastic interest very gratifying to their leaders, the Junior Civic committee of the Welfare Department.

Following the announcements and roll call of the department to which the members responded with quotations on birds or the name of a Florida bird, Mrs. Henry Wight read Prof. Nehrling's fine paper on "The Birds in My Garden." Mrs. Wight prefaced the reading with a brief sketch of Prof. Nehrling from boyhood to the present; his delight in his gardens and his birds and his wonderful knowledge of bird and plant life, resulting from the beauty of his enclavium gardens at Götting.

The gifted writer clothed his thoughts with a charm of expression that enchanted those whose privilege it was to be present upon this occasion. The easy flow of language, the graceful statement of facts, the bright, happy manner in which the story was written gave the impression of listening to a friend telling of the plant and bird life fostered by his tender care and one knew that Prof. Nehrling loved every little feathered pet that nestled in the beautiful foliage of tree and bush at Palm Cottage Gardens.

He told of the native Florida birds and the migratory birds that come southward with the cool weather; their plumage and habits and their nest building most interestingly. You could almost hear the tap, tap, tapping of the little titmouse on the Professor's window pane at early dawn, or see the pretty snake-skin lined nest of the blue gray gnatcatcher. He urged the extermination of the English sparrow or the "proletarian," as he facetiously called them and pleaded for the fostering of all desirable species, calling attention to the fact that we do not encourage the birds to live in our parks and gardens as diligently as we should.

The paper was received by enthusiastic applause by the department and its friends.

The charming little mocking bird poem of Frank Stanton was beautifully read by Mrs. W. E. Watson, by special request.

The leadership of the meeting was then transferred to the capable little president of the Junior Civic League, Julia Leung, who presided with a grace and poise that insures a future president of the Woman's Club. "America" was the opening number of the Junior Civic program, in which all present joined, for which Madie Abernathy gave a fine reading on making a home for birds that was delightful. Mrs. H. C. Gerror read a sweet little poem, "A Robin Song," that was warmly appreciated and well rendered by a charming little girl of the Junior Civic League, Miss Frances Aspinwall.

companied Mrs. Hoy at the piano Sarah Wight and Isabel Strong, two bright little pupils of Miss Margaret Boor, rendered two violin selections, "College Medley" and Rubenstein's "Melody in F" that were warmly received. Mrs. Wight accompanied them. Another enjoyable number was the reading of "Papa Robbin's Woes" by Addie Marshall. The annual report of the League was made by the leader, showing a year of active work. The report has already been published in connection with the annual report of the Woman's Club.

"How Can a Grammar School Student become a Good Citizen?" Eighth Grade Alice Andes, "Our City Government." The papers were all excellent and showed much study and thought by the young students in their preparation. The chairman of the Welfare Department presented the prizes, crisp, new one dollar bills, in behalf of the committee bestowing them. The pleasant afternoon closed with a social hour. Refreshments were served by Mrs. W. W. Abernathy and Mrs. R. J. Holly, hostesses of the afternoon, assisted by Mrs. H. C. Gerror and Mrs. Geo. Fox. The Junior Civic committee are Mrs. H. C. Office in Herald Building Telephone No. 144

The doings of the legislature will be chronicled in the Herald by a special correspondent, Claude Johnson, late of Kissimmee and knowing him as we do the readers can be assured of the real news of the state capital. There are many things that the readers would like to learn first hand and our special correspondent will be glad to give you the real dope on the men who are making laws and making history at Tallahassee. Read the Herald for the live news on all subjects.

In the recent river and harbor bill passed the St. Johns river gets $370,000. Out of this $350,000 goes to Jacksonville from the mouth of the St. Johns river to the ocean, $10,000 from Jacksonville to Palatka and $10,000 from Palatka to Lake Harney. Maybe the St. Johns river from Jacksonville to Lake Harney does not need any money but whether it does or not the $350,000 looms very large in the minds of the voters and the sound of so much money spent on Jacksonville every year makes a jangle in the ears of the down state voter.

We are not exactly fostering prize fights and especially the fights between white and black pugilists but the Herald is here to give the news and the fight was given by rounds in front of the Herald office yesterday just because the people wanted the news and we are here to give it to them. The press service cost a bit and the men who wanted the news paid for it in part. The balance was made up by the Herald because we have newspaper instinct and feel that the people should have the news at all times. The press service given at various times by the Herald in bulletin is only a forerunner of what we can give the readers in a daily next fall if the business will justify the expenditure. The Herald can generally be relied upon to have the goods.

KISSIMMEE ON THE FOURTH
Kissimmee is the first city of Florida to announce a big barbecue and Fourth of July celebration and just because she is the first and the most progressive city in the state we vote to go to Kissimmee on the Glorious Fourth. We have been in Kissimmee at many gatherings and there is no city in the state large or small that gives you such a warm welcome as Kissimmee. Those crackers down there just simply exude good feeling and good fellowship and the whole state of Florida should combine on Kissimmee on the Fourth of July and all of them go there. A barbecue in Kissimmee means a real barbecue for they raise real cattle on the Kissimmee prairie and know how to give their visitors a real barbecue. The Herald hereby moves that the nominations be closed and that everybody in the state of Florida goes to Kissimmee on the Fourth of July. Make it unanimous and you will never regret it.

HARRY BROWN
At the meeting of the Florida Press Association in Miami Harry Brown was elected as the delegate to the National Press Association. There is nothing much in this news item except that Harry Brown of the St. Augustine Record is one of the greatest boosters, one of the live wires of the Florida press and one of the most prominent editors of the state and that he will cast added lustre on Florida at the National Press Association goes without saying. Harry Brown is the life of every gathering of newspaper men in the state of Florida. He is the inspiration needed to put life into every meeting and he has attended every meeting of the Florida Press Association, every meeting of every other press association, every meeting of job printers and every meeting of any consequence that pertained to the printing business in the state for the past ten years. He is Harry Brown, the man who puts the print in printing.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER
Voting for a man for presiding officer of either house of the legislature means more than the prevailing opinion on the subject gives to it, and it is regrettable that some good men promise to vote for a man for these positions on persons grounds alone when the good which might result from the session might seriously suffer as a result of the complimentary vote for a friend. There appears to be no serious opposition to Charles Davis of Madison for president of the senate. He will probably be satisfactory to all concerned, and since he has been allied with both the progressive and reactionary factions of the party and is familiar with legislative work he ought to make a good presiding officer.

In the house the situation is different. Forrest Lake, of Sanford and Carey Hardee, of Live Oak, are the leading candidates, Mr. Hardee is, from all reports a very fine young man, but he has always been affiliated with the reactionary faction of the party, and as the majority of the members of the present house believe in progressive legislation it would be a serious mistake, we think to put Mr. Hardee in the chair.

Mr. Lake has been a friend of the people and his legislative record is an enviable one. While Mr. Lake is a business man, he is a firm believer in the advanced form of democracy which seeks to bring the government closer to the people. His friends in the house know that he is true to the people.

It appears now that neither Mr. Lake nor Mr. Hardee will have enough votes to get the coveted honor until some of the other candidates are eliminated, but when this elimination begins the progressive members will surely not go to Mr. Hardee. Jacksonville State.

FLORIDA PUBLICITY BUREAU

There is a movement on foot to have a Florida Publicity Bureau established in Florida fostered by the University of Florida. That such is needed in Florida is beyond question but that the University should have anything to do with it is simply beyond the question and the movement will die before it is born. There is no valid reason for the University of Florida to foster anything outside of its province and the advertising game is not within the province of the University. The proposed bill would call for an appropriation of some $30,000 for the officers and expenses and the idea of this being handled by any institution of learning in the state will not be recognized by the men who are in the advertising business. That Florida needs such a bureau goes without saying and such a bureau should be operated in connection with an immigration bureau and they should be under the head of an experienced newspaper man or advertising man and one who knows the state of Florida thoroughly. There is no reason in the world why the University of Florida should get into the advertising game and this matter does not come under the head of the educational institutions of Florida. The University of Florida would do well to keep within her own preserves and obtain the money that is due the educational institutions and not go outside of the provinces of education in order to gain a paltry few thousands that should go into some other channel. Just why the University of Florida should get into the immigration and state publicity game gives rise to the question of who is behind the movement and the bill will probably bring out some lively discussions and may act as a boomerang upon our present state institutions. The University has no cause to climb into this publicity game and the University officers are making a sad mistake to mix into the affair.

FLORIDA SOLONS GETTING READY

TALLAHASSEE ONCE MORE IS THE SCENE OF GREAT HUSTLE AND ACTIVITY

Tallahassee, Fla., April 5. When the Florida legislature convenes on Tuesday morning, April 6, a policy of economy will be inaugurated, and an effort made to eliminate any unnecessary appropriations embodied in many bills that have already been proposed. Representatives with measures carrying appropriations will have a hard fight. The whole atmosphere at Tallahassee exudes retrenchment. While Florida has not suffered seriously from the general business depression over the country the past eight months a feeling prevails that conservative methods are imperative at this session of the legislature. The financial condition of Florida at the end of the fiscal year was excellent, there being practically no indebtedness except a $600,000 bond issue held by the school funds, and there was in the school funds a balance of practically $400,000, with satisfactory balances in all other funds. There will be a large volume of legislation on varied subjects, however, and it is anticipated that work will be well under way in both branches of the legislature by Thursday. One measure that will be presented that will meet with favor throughout the entire state will permit the change of charters by cities and towns without consideration of the legislature. This will come in the form of a constitutional amendment. At present every session is burdened with measures from various towns desiring to make changes and broaden the scope of each municipality. Citrus growers, truck farmers and cattlemen will all come in for consideration in measures that propose to eliminate diseases of citrus trees, vegetables and also the cattle tick. Much work has been done by aid of the federal government in these lines, and doubtless the state will do its part during the coming year. Along this line it has been planned to extend the girls' canning club work, the boys' corn clubs and provide

THE WRONG CROWD

Congressman Sears in his address at the Press banquet last Saturday night made an impassioned plea for the newspaper men to go home and preach "Good Times"; he declared that we are not having "Hard Times" and that one of the best ways to hold up the hands of Woodrow Wilson and the Democratic administration is by a general preaching of optimism. It was an excellent speech all right and was listened to with earnest attention by every man and woman in the banquet room; and we wondered if every man and woman in that room was not engaged in asking themselves, "What Florida newspaper he could possibly have meant by his inference that they had been talking hard times."

From table to table we looked, trying to pick out a "single man" in the crowd who has not been all the time cheerily boosting and hollaying pointing out the rich blessings of Florida—the newspaper men of Florida have not been preaching hard times, not by a long mark, and in consequence Congressman Sears' address, although telling the plain truth, somehow did not apply to the men he was talking to. Old Man Hard Times has not found Florida, and the newspaper men of Florida know it. Every day they sing their songs of optimism, urge the people to greater works and fight for the things that make Florida a great state; some of them have set up their printing presses in communities where the people are dull and unappreciative, and where they have to continually work in a deluge of cold water poured out from pitchers of pessimism; but just so much the more are they to be praised for preaching good times and none of them whom we saw at the banquet are men who need to be told to play the optimist. Congressman Sears is right, however, in saying that it is largely the talk of the newspapers that has fooled the people of the United States into believing that times are hard; but not the Florida newspapers—not by any manner of means! Miami Metropolis.

Potash "Made in America"
The war in Europe has brought a new product into the American market—American potash. The United States has been dependent upon Germany for its supply of potash, a material that forms a very important part of the manufactured products of the world. With the war on practically no potash can be secured from the German mines, which hold the largest supply in the world. Hence, "potash made in America."

The New York Times of last Friday told of sale in that city of 10,000 tons of "American potash," at a price about equivalent to what is paid for the German natural product during normal periods. The "American potash" was furnished by a concern on the Pacific coast which is manufacturing it from the seaweed known as kelp, which contains a large percentage of potash salts. The kelp is secured by dredging it from the bottom of the sea along the coast and it is said to be there in inexhaustible quantities. The company which is harvesting kelp and manufacturing potash therefrom is now taking out about fifty tons per hour of the weed, and preparing to greatly extend the scope of its operations. Fifty tons of kelp is said to produce about five tons of fertilizing material with a potash content of about 20 per cent.

If all of this be true it would seem that American ingenuity has again solved a big problem. Potash is essential to the proper manufacture of compounding of commercial fertilizers. The fertilizer manufacturers have been jealously hoarding the visible supply, trusting that the amount on hand would see them through the time of stress. Now the way appears to be open for procuring a native product to take the place of the German mined product. Tampa Daily Times.

Woman's suffrage, each year gaining in favor in Florida, stands a fair chance of being submitted to a vote of the state at this session of the legislature. Many educational measures have already been prepared and will endeavor to provide many extensions to the school systems of the state. The policy of Governor Trammell to suggest from time to time need of legislation for consideration at the coming session of the legislature has brought out many important measures that have been found necessary by the various departments of the state government in the administration of the affairs of Florida. Among these may be enumerated: A settlers act to encourage owning of homes, to exempt a large part of a homestead from taxation; a bill to require separate space for white and black in opera houses; a bill to eliminate land frauds in the state; a bill to increase the penalty for drunkenness; a measure to require all railroads to use safety switches; railroad employers' liability act; a bill to prohibit corporations within the state issuing watered stocks; to provide for a waterway across the southern part of the state; assisting in the work of reclaiming the Everglades; revising the Bryan primary law; reducing the legal interest rate from eight to six per cent and on contract from ten to eight per cent.

each board of county commissioners shall make appropriations for county administration agents in cooperation with the federal government. There will be the usual liquor fight, a movement now being underway to submit a constitutional amendment for statewide prohibition. This will, as usual, be a hard fought contest. Woman's suffrage, each year gaining in favor in Florida, stands a fair chance of being submitted to a vote of the state at this session of the legislature. Many educational measures have already been prepared and will endeavor to provide many extensions to the school systems of the state. The policy of Governor Trammell to suggest from time to time need of legislation for consideration at the coming session of the legislature has brought out many important measures that have been found necessary by the various departments of the state government in the administration of the affairs of Florida. Among these may be enumerated: A settlers act to encourage owning of homes, to exempt a large part of a homestead from taxation; a bill to require separate space for white and black in opera houses; a bill to eliminate land frauds in the state; a bill to increase the penalty for drunkenness; a measure to require all railroads to use safety switches; railroad employers' liability act; a bill to prohibit corporations within the state issuing watered stocks; to provide for a waterway across the southern part of the state; assisting in the work of reclaiming the Everglades; revising the Bryan primary law; reducing the legal interest rate from eight to six per cent and on contract from ten to eight per cent.

One measure proposed and one which has been favorably discussed throughout the state would provide a system of voting for railroad and travelling men, who are forced to be away from their place of residence on election day. This is a much desired law, and will have hearty support.

The question of protection from fraud through bad checks will be taken up and more stringent laws adopted. The present law does not afford the necessary protection, and has caused great losses in the state. That the insurance laws in the state were not uniform was shown in a report of the state treasurer to the governor, and that this defect might be remedied, a prominent attorney of Philadelphia has been in the capital for the past week conferring with the administration in an effort to frame proper legislation to make the laws uniform with those of other states. The fire insurance question will take up considerable time in the legislature, in an effort to eliminate what is believed to be a combination of insurance companies, which has by comparison of rates with other states been taxing Florida heavily. In this connection sentiment is strong for a measure that would force the investment of a fair amount of the surplus premiums collected in the state in building propositions within the commonwealth. This would eliminate the assistance Florida insurance companies render in the development of other states with the money collected each year in premiums. It is expected that the insurance companies will oppose any measure that would force a revision of their rates downward in the state, or compel investments of their funds in Florida.

A bill is considered for providing an annual corporation tax, and raising the maximum charter fee to $500, which is now only $250 regardless of the capital stock. Bank deposit guarantee is proposed in another measure suggested.

Throughout the state the question of separating state and county taxes in an effort to abolish the necessity for uniformity in assessments in every county of the state has been discussed for months. This question will doubtless occupy much time of the various committees and departments at this session. Since the constitutional amendment was adopted last November, abolishing the office of county treasurer when the present terms expire, provisions for the handling of the county funds will have to be made. It has been advocated that the county commissioners select some reliable bank as treasurer, requiring the payment of interest on all funds of the county. Other suggestions have included that the tax collector in each county be made to act as treasurer. The abolishing of the county office will save the state in salaries and commissions alone $125,000, and it is estimated that each county will receive interest aggregating $125,000 per year for their deposits under the new law, a total saving of $250,000 to the state.

The reapportionment question is one that seems to be lost sight of at every session of the Florida legislature, though it is a measure that is most imperative under the present conditions. The man who fathers such a measure and fights it through to final passage will win for himself a place in the history of the state. Gossip about the capital has it that such a measure will be forthcoming. Come at this session. The educational institutions of the state have been backing plans to have this issue considered early in the coming session, and sentiment is much in favor of the measure. There have been laws suggested covering practically every question known to mankind, but those enumerated have gained such importance as to be ready to occupy considerable time of the session beginning next week.

The "Buzzard Assembly"
But last of all the famous buzzard bill will not down. Senator Wells, of Leon county, in which the capital is located has gained much support for his measure, providing a bounty of 25 cents a head for killing turkey buzzards. Mr. Wells says there are about 50,000 buzzards in the state, and that it would cost $12,500 to eliminate them and that this would save $25,000 a year to the stock men of the state. After all, buzzards go down in history as the "buzzard assembly" of the Florida legislature.

PAY AS YOU RIDE - WE'LL TAKE CARE OF THE REST

When you can buy new, it is always as cheap as we are selling them, it cannot possibly pay you to put up with the terrible danger of flies passing in through your screens.
Ask your wife what further she can do for you, and she will tell you, "Fly screens."
They will get rid of the flies, and the terrible work, distress, and even death—wherever they go.
Our spike-and-pipe screens will not only keep out all the flies, but will also keep out the appearance of your home.
We sell the best screen wire, and windows, complete with spring hooks and eyes.

Off to Tallahassee Reginald S. Holly, eldest son of the editor of The Herald left on Sunday night for Tallahassee where he will act as a clerk in the senate. He met Hon. A. E. Donegan, senator of the Nineteenth senatorial district on the train here and they made the trip to the state capital together. Reginald will stay the entire sixty days, providing the lure of home does not give him homesickness before that time and will probably know more than his father by the time he returns.

To the Public The organized trades unions of Sanford wish to announce to the public, their readiness to do everything in the line of building labor, and ask your support to give you good and efficient work in the trades connected with building. Carpenters, masons, brickmasons, tanners and plasterers of the best are combined in the union and are also fellow citizens and taxpayers. Why not employ them instead of "floaters," outsiders and cheap negro mechanics and so help support your own home town? Any one in need of the above workmen, communicate with C. C. Pearson, P. O. Box 875. Business Agent for the organized trades unions of Sanford (adv.).

Rev. Hyman's Sermon of April 4 On next Tuesday or the Friday following there will be given a report of Rev. Hyman's sermon on the Prodigal Son, the last of a series of five given on that great parable. If your reporter can reach your hearts one-tenth as well as did Rev. Hyman in his discourse it will be well worth your looking forward to our next report.

Sanford's New Steam Laundry

Sanford now has a new steam laundry and it is equipped to take care of all the work of this city or at least the new laundry will be in a few days. At present the manager, G. R. Britt is making strenuous efforts to make additions to his new plant that will give the people of this city the best steam laundry in this part of the state, and if surface indications are any criterion he will be able to do this in the next few weeks.

The Sanford Steam Laundry is situated on Commercial street, just west of French avenue on part of the lot recently purchased by Mr. Taylor of the Sanford Bottling Works. The new building of the laundry was found inadequate on account of the increase in business. In the first week and already new additions are being made to the building and equipment.

Mr. Britt is an experienced laundryman and not only thoroughly understands the business but is a skilled machinist in erecting laundry plants and knows exactly what kind of machinery to purchase to give the people of this section the very best in laundry work.

The Sanford Steam Laundry will make a specialty in family washing and this will be a boon to the ladies of Sanford who have had trouble for many years in obtaining satisfactory work in family washing.

Although the field is well covered by laundries both local and foreign the Sanford Steam Laundry promises to occupy a field all its own and the people of this city will patronize the home industry, all being equal and the work being of the best. The Sanford Steam Laundry will operate a delivery wagon that will call for the laundry and deliver the same promptly and the motto of the new steam laundry will be "The best of work promptly done at reasonable prices."

GRAMMAR SCHOOL ESSAYS

PUPILS WRITE ON THE IMPORTANT SUBJECT OF CITY GOVERNMENT

Several weeks ago the City Beautiful committee of the Woman's offered a prize of one dollar each to the Sixth Seventh and Eighth grades for the best written essays on "Our City." To the Eighth grade was given "Our City Government," to the Seventh "How Can a Grammar School Student Become a Good Citizen," and to the Sixth "Our Home Town." The girls winning the prizes were Agnes Andes, Eighth grade, paper whose paper is published in this issue, Helis Shelton, Seventh grade, paper to be published Friday and Virginia DeCoursey, whose essay will appear next Tuesday. A walk about the city will show the results of the Junior Civic and City Beautiful beautifying campaign that is being waged by these committees. Sanford is awakening to civic pride. The City Officers and Their Departments

Every public spirited citizen should know all about the government of their city, the names of the different departments, what they are for and who fills them.

The chief executive of the city is the mayor, Mr. D. L. Thrasher. He is a very busy man. He presides over the city council, is head of the police department, appoints the chief of police, has more or less power over the other administrative departments and looks after the general welfare of the city.

The city council is composed of six members. They are some of the ablest men in the city. Messrs. Abernathy, Tolar, Davidson, Adams, Dunge and Herndon. Their duty is to pass ordinances for the government of the city.

One of the most important functions of the local government is the protection of life, health and property. The police department is very well organized there being a night as well as a day force. The chief, Mr. Tills, sees that they preserve excellent order in the city. The department of public health is one that is very important. The head of the department is Mr. Artie Smith. He inspects the sewerage system, sanitation and water supply of the city. He also looks after the general health of the citizens. The fire department is also very efficient. It is better equipped than the department of most cities of this size, having a good force of firemen, with Mr. Paxton as leader, and a reliable fire engine.

The department which has charge of the construction of streets and pavements is one that affects the convenience of every citizen. Large sums of money were expended to bring about the good street and sidewalk conditions existing in Sanford today. Mr. Lovell, the city clerk and treasurer holds a very important position. He keeps the accounts and looks after the finances of the city. All of the departments are well organized and city officers well chosen.

The Herald office was the most popular place in the city yesterday while the fight returns were coming in. The crowds around the office were estimated as several hundred. The Herald can be depended upon to give the news at all times and the people knowing this are always on hand at the office when there is something doing.

ABOUT PEOPLE AND EVENTS... A RESUME OF SANFORD HAPPENINGS UP TO DATE

Peter Rabbit Party One of the prettiest and most original events in children's circles was the Peter Rabbit party given by Walter Carter Saturday afternoon to a number of young friends. The charm of simplicity prevailed in the decorations of the attractive rooms with their arrangement of ferns and cut flowers.

Peter Rabbit received in the library enthroned in the heart of a great big cabbage head, for a rabbit you know dearly loves a cabbage patch. After being introduced to Peter Rabbit the youthful guests were blindfolded and each given a tall to pipe on Cotton Tail, Peter's

Cotton Tail lost his tail through a misunderstanding of fate, ages upon ages ago was cleverly told by Mrs. Carter, to the great delight of Walter and his guests. After the game, Cotton Tail rejoiced in numerous tails, and it was found that Charles Brown was the winner of a brown rabbit. Then began the fun of seeking for the little yellow biddies and numerous little white bunnies hidden out of doors and to Myra Lee the much coveted Peter Rabbit of the cabbage patch was presented as the winner in the seek and hid contest. Games were enjoyed and then the real event happened as the children marched into the dining room for refreshments. It was a picture of happy childhood as they gathered about the board to enjoy the party. The table was very lovely with its dainty appointments—the pink and yellow of the color scheme displayed upon the white cover with its sprays of green fern and pink festoons draped about the sides and corners and caught with pink and yellow chrysanthemum. In the center a table reflected gave back the beauty of great bowls of yellow nasturtiums. At each place were dainty little Easter baskets with eggs and candies, pretty pink and yellow iced cakes with candles and Easter place cards. It was an afternoon of happy surprises with its yellow and white cakes in the shape of rabbits and biddies, the rabbits in white the biddies in yellow and last but not least the strawberry and vanilla ice cream, in the tones of the general color scheme. It was a happy afternoon of unalloyed pleasure for the young host and his little guests and only the falling shades of night brought the festivities to an end. Those present were Mary Elizabeth Puleston, Margaret Neal, Maud Lake, Myra Lee, Margaret Pytera, Mildred Lee, Kathryn Meach, Katherine Symes, Charlotte and Irma Smith, Evelyn Brown, Deane Turner, Algernon Spear, Joe Mosech, Charles Brown, Paul O'Connor, Sam Fleischer and John Lee.

Charming At Home for Visitor While Lent has not put a complete end to the social gaieties this year as usual there has been a cessation of such things as dancing parties and large card parties and Easter week will see the resumption of affairs of this kind together with many for church work.

First and one of the most important from the social point of view was the charming reception with which Mrs. William E. Watson entertained yesterday afternoon from three to six in honor of her attractive guest, Mrs. Robert Allen Carse of Berwick, Pa.

An atmosphere of spring pervaded the pretty little home whose charm was enhanced by quantities of delicately tinted pink verbenas and other cut flowers. Roses and carnations in vases and bowls and baskets of pansies and violets placed upon the cabinets and tables lent their beauty and fragrance to the adornment of the rooms. The graceful sprays of asparagus fern entwined the chandeliers and festooned the windows. The dining table, with its handsome lace cover, its perfect appointments of silver and cut glass and joined with vases of pink roses was charming. Baskets and bowls of nasturtiums were used effectively against the background of potted plants and ferns upon the porch.

Mrs. B. W. Herndon daintily gowned in white organdie, embroidered in pink with bodice of pink charmeuse received the guests and presented them to Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Carse. Mrs. Watson wore a lovely gown of white lace and blue velvet. Mrs. Carse was a charming figure in white corded silk with pink rosebuds interwoven, garnatured in crystal trimming. Mrs. C. O. McLaughlin wore a dainty gown in pastel tints, fashioned with rich lace. Presiding at the coffee urn was Mrs. Forrest Lake wearing a handsome gown of white charmeuse with overdress of silk net, with folds of gold colored charmeuse and silver trimmings. Mrs. D. L. Thrasher, who served the tea was prettily gowned in white lace net with bands of gold colored charmeuse. Those serving were Mrs. R. L. Jones, Mrs. R. R. Deas, Mrs. Geo. D. Bishop, Mrs. R. C. Bower and Mrs. Laura Fish, all of them wearing charming, pretty costumes. Pink and white predominated in the dainty refreshments. Raspberry ice, delicious little white iced cakes decorated with pink roses, pink mints, salted English walnuts and coffee were served. It was one of the prettiest social events of the season and a charming commencement of the gayeties, card parties, dances and club affairs that will mark the post-Lenten festivities.

Dr. Tucker at Woman's Club

Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock Dr. Samuel Tucker will appear before the Woman's Club to deliver an address on the Modern Drama, some of its themes and methods. Dr. Tucker's visit has been anticipated with keen interest, by the members of the club for some time and he will receive a cordial welcome. Owing to the fact that he spent his early life in Sanford and is a graduate of the Sanford High School, it is but natural that his old friends and associates should feel a proprietary interest in him. Dr. Tucker heads the English department at the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn, N. Y. and delivers lecture courses at Columbia University. Easter at Methodist Sunday School

Easter was celebrated at the Methodist Sunday school with an appropriate program of music and recitations and an attendance of 230. The various classes showed an excellent response to the roll call, the collection being $9.37.

In the Brotherhood class of men there were thirty-seven present.

The Woman's Bible Class composed of the mothers of the Sunday school showed a remarkable attendance of twenty-seven, mothers who had in many instances prepared their little ones and big ones too for Sunday school. This class is known as the Truth Seeker, under the direction of Mrs. F. B. Stummeyer. The Daughters of Wesley, Mrs. Roberts, teacher, had an attendance of twelve, while Mrs. C. L. Wing's girls numbered sixteen.

A special program had been prepared for the occasion of Easter music and recitations as follows:

Song, "Went to for the King," Miss Allen's class. This was a pretty number in which the girls carried wreaths of green.

Recitation, Pierce Griffin. Duet, Margaret Cowan and Marjann Newton.

Reading, "Easter Dawning," Mollie Abernathy.

Song, Mrs. Wing's Class. Baptism of five boys and girls who were afterward received into the church closed the delightful exercises.

Mr. J. K. Mettinger is superintendent of the Sunday school and is very proud of the excellent record his school is making.

Easter Egg Hunts

The children of several Sunday schools were happily entertained with the ever popular Easter egg hunt yesterday afternoon.

At the Episcopal church in the grounds surrounding it, the little folks enjoyed a grand old time seeking for eggs, with Mrs. G. F. Smith and Mrs. Mobley to watch over them.

At the home of Mr. C. R. Walker, superintendent of the Congregational Sunday school the children of that Sunday school had a good time. Mr. Walker is never so happy as when surrounded by children, which always insures a fine time for the little folks whenever he is host. The golden egg was found by Sarah Wright, and refreshments served which added to the pleasure of the egg hunt.

Another Easter egg hunt was given the Beginners and Primary Departments of the Baptist Sunday school in the North park. Gaily hunting for the pretty colored eggs this bunch of happy children too enjoyed a fine time. Several others will follow in the course of the week.

Ten-Ten Social

Mrs. Mrs. Pennington will be hostess to the ladies of the Congregational church and their friends Thursday afternoon at her home on the Heights. These socials are among the most enjoyable of church affairs and Mrs. Pennington promises one of the best ever.

FOR THE CHILDREN

Did You Ever See a Mouse?

This game can be played in a clear, open space with a dozen or more--the more the merrier. It has a leader and an "end man." A good strapping boy is preferred as "end man." The leader could be any size, it doesn't matter. The game is played standing as close together as sardines in a box. The leader turns to her or his neighbor on the right.

Right Hand Neighbor--No. What does it look like?

PEACE.

At last the civilized world, after ages of senseless, realizes that our greatest of all blessings is world peace. Nations do not live only on what they themselves produce. Britain has already been compelled to import her food supply. Stop that and she starves; hence her gigantic naval forces. Other nations as they increase in population will be compelled to do likewise. Many already import a large portion of their food supplies. Nations feed each other. Our duty is to prepare for this high destiny, and the path is obvious, since the increased exchange of food products is inevitable. I submit that the only measure required today for the maintenance of world peace is an agreement among three or four of the leading civilized powers and as many more as desire to join--the more the better--pledged to cooperate against the turbid world peace should such arise, which would seriously be possible in the face of the partnership agreement signed in 1914 and which was created to be ended and by a law of his being must march upward and onward toward perfection. He of good cheer, soldiers of peace. All goes well. In this the holiest of all crusades there can be no such end as well as victory.

SONG OF THE WIND.
The wind has a mind of his own. He's a lover and never free. He mutters among the clouds; He flutters above the sea. He ravages regions rare Where savages leap in gloom. He strips the forests bare In autumnal costume. The wind is a child of earth. Of ocean, air and sky. He joys of a young world's birth. He mourns when the old ones die. He can woo a nodding rose to rest. To trample an empire down. He's a suspended king of everything. And the high stars are his crown. --Robert Loveman

I have loved the flowers that fade. Within whose magic tents Rich hues have marriage made With sweet unnumbered sounds. A honeymoon delight-- A joy of love at night. That ages in an hour-- My song be like a flower!

Die, song, die like a breath And wither like a bloom. Fear not a flowery death; Dread not an airy tomb! Fly with delight, fly hence! 'Twas thine love's tender sense To feast; not on thy lily. Beauty shall shed a tear. --Robert Bridges.

The term booby trap is applied to a rather stupid form of practical joking. The word booby is the name of a bird of the gannet tribe, remarkable for its stupidity; hence a booby trap is one that with a certain amount of thought, might have been avoided.

Sweet Rain. They say it's raining "cats and dogs." 'Tis though you I cannot say. I wish it would rain something good. I'd let it storm all day. Oh, for the sound of lemon drops Or nice spun sugar hail. A soda shower to last an hour Or a storm of ginger ale! I'd hold my big umbrella out. But upside down for use. And set out cans and jugs and pans To catch the welcome rain. --Tenth's Companion.

The reptiles are small but constrictors and sleep in the house, generally at the foot of the stairs. When night comes on they wake from sleep and silently and swiftly begin their work of gliding about the house and seeking rats. These snakes are offered for sale in all the markets of Bahia and bring from $1 to $5, according to their size. It is said that they are so easily tamed that if removed from one house to another they will return almost as invariably as a domesticated cat.

Which is the smallest bridge in the world? The bridge of the nose. Why does the east wind never travel straight? Because it blows so black (oblique). Why is a bad shot like an amusing fellow? Because he's the boy to keep the game alive. Three feet I have, but never attempt to go, and many miles therefrom, but not one toe. A yard measure. Why should we avoid mingling with the multitude? Because if you are hummed in by a crowd you are likely to get a stitch in your side. Why is a dog biting his own tail like a good manner? Because he makes both ends meet.

Have you ever heard it said of a man, "He has crossed the Rubicon, and there is no turning back?" The origin of the expression lies in the fact that the first step in the civil war between Julius Caesar and Pompey was commenced by the former crossing the river Rubicon, which separated Gaul, where Caesar was commander, from Italy. "Crossing the Rubicon," signifies the beginning of a perilous undertaking from which there can be no turning back.

MacFarlane's Lantern. MacFarlane's lantern is an old Scotch name for the moon. In the days when the Scottish clans were a law unto themselves it was said that the MacFarlanes attacked their enemies and carried out their raiding expeditions in the night time by the light of the moon; hence the appellation.

THE "ZONE," THE PLAYGROUND OF THE PEOPLE OF THE WORLD AT THE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION

Through the center of the Zone, the amusement section at the Panama-Pacific International exposition at San Francisco, runs a broad avenue three thousand feet in length. It is not unusual for this entire avenue to be jammed with entertainment seekers who are busy patronizing the one hundred concessions on the Zone. An exact reproduction of the Panama canal is one of the popular and instructive features of the exposition. The premier showmen of America have assembled here their finest offerings of amusement, education and instruction.

Laura Jean Libbey's Talks on Heart Topics

Copyright, 1914, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate. ARE HOMELY MEN POPULAR WITH WOMEN?

'Tis the pang alone to part From those we love that rends the heart That agony to have Some radiant power in nature's glow And blossoms and our lips to show

The brainy young man whom nature did not favor with a handsome face should not stand back discouraged and let his good-looking chum in push ahead of him when there are young and sociable women about.

Men who lack brilliancy of speech as well as good looks, often fly in the opposite direction when they see women approach. They imagine they cut a poor figure and because of no confidence in their powers to entertain they would rather refuse the invitation of a pretty girl to her home than accept.

If the homely man musters up sufficient courage to call upon a young lady whom he admires and finds a handsome dashing young fellow in her parlor, he would gladly beat a hasty retreat ere he has had the opportunity to seat himself. If he but knew it, while young women duly admire manly beauty, when it comes to taking a life partner ten girls out of a dozen would prefer the homely man.

Why? Well, they would tell you a score of reasons, but giving you just a few of them is sufficient. Where a man is given a handsome face he is apt to be a little selfish at heart. He is used to admiration and looks for it from women. Marriage does not seem to stifle this egotism. The homely man is used to being slighted, frolicsome girls pass him by for his frolicsome brothers. But when he finds one maiden in whose eyes the lovelight shines for him, his sincere gratitude and delight are boundless. His reverence for womanhood is part of his religion. He is so anxious to please and secure the girl that he doesn't stand long on ceremony, but proposes in short order to settle his doubts and fears.

Happy indeed is the woman who secures him for a husband. He is all devotion for her. Home, wife and children, are his first consideration. He throws himself into business with a zest to surround them with comforts, joys, luxuries. It is seldom or never the very homely man who figures in scandals or who is caught flirting with lively maids when his wife is off for the summer. His heart is a jewel, even though the setting is plain and rugged. Years go on; his peace of mind and contentment show in his face, his lips wear a smile. The man who is handsome in his youth and at least meets and battles with that formidable bugbear, Father Time, becomes disgruntled and cross. To outlive his good looks, pass through a crowd unnoticed, is a calamity to him. Good looks are well enough in a man, if he does not bank too much upon them. In the race for love, it is usually the homely man who carries off the prize. Plainness is not a handicap in a woman's eyes.

PRUDES OR COQUETTES.

Life is delight, each hour that passes o'er, Comes like a maiden's kisses to her lover. A present joy that craves no happier morrow; Love enthralls us till we hug the chain, And Beauty's smile is worth a mine's gain: When Hope is better than reality And Faith is boundless as the boundless sea.

If two girl chums employed in the same establishment go together for a summer outing they are both supposed to have the same likings, enjoy the same pleasures. This is not always the case however. More often than not a merry little coquette is attracted to the girl who is her opposite in disposition—quiet and severely dignified almost to prudishness.

The girl with bright eyes and winning smiles is sought after by gay rollicking young fellows whose object is simply to have a good time on their summer vacation. They are obliged to be circumventive in their love-making because of the presence of the dignified girl, who stares her disapproval if a fellow forgets himself sufficiently to slip an arm about her friend's simple waist. It is she, too, who keeps track of the hours that only tread on flowers. She reminds her friends that the clock in some adjoining street has struck ten and insists that they return to their boarding house, though the young men declare it to be just the edge of the evening.

It is she who reproves the part of her headless friend, frowns down his thoughtless jokes, rebuffs which of the young men declares the reason is quite to take with him alone. There are men who are annoyed at the trade's presence, there are others who appear to be smitten by her. In keeping out of dangers that her headless little friend would rush into were it not for her calm, staying hand grasping her firmly and holding her forcibly back.

The coquette who is led by her heart instead of her head is almost sure to pick up a broken stick when it comes to matrimony. Not so the prude. The rocks and tree trunks pass her by knowing full well she is not for them. The man who appreciates sense and morals, strict unto prudery, lays his fortune at her feet and gives his heart to her for safe keeping.

Two rollicking merry hearted girls do not make the most desirable companions for each other on a summer outing. Each feels that she has no restraining power from the pleasures which she would indulge in yet knows they are not for her best interest. She picks up strange acquaintances that had best be let alone, makes wrong friends among women which she may have cause to regret later. The road of the coquette is filled with unexpected turns and happenings. Of course prudishness may be carried too far. But at the worst it is better than coquetry, which she cannot keep up long. Coquettes should have a good strain of prudery underlining their light badinage. Prudes might profit by having a spice of coquetry in their quiet natures.

POINTING OUT GIRLS.

You touched my heart it gave a thrill Just like a rose That opens at a lady's will Its bloom is always radiant You did it close.

There are girls who are modest almost to shyness. There are others who seem to take delight in dressing loudly—that is, wearing skirts so tight that they cannot step on a street car safely, or porkpie hats so bizarre that they attract attention wherever they go and are always pointed out as examples of hubbly. They do not have a good time where they are not noticed, admired and catered to, especially by the young men.

Every girl seems to endeavor to specialize in some particular accomplishment. Each likes to be pointed out, to have folks say of her as she passes by: "There goes the sprightliest tango dancer in town!" Or, "You ought to hear that girl play the piano. Why? she'd make Paderewski sit up and take notice."

Other girls like to be pointed out for their beauty of face, and to draw particular attention to their comely features they make liberal dips into the paint jar, and rouge saucer, to say nothing of tinting their hair the popular shade. She whose laugh is louder than her companion's makes a bid for attention, as do girls who are

English enough to tell risqué stories in the parlor, thinking it cute and that they will be pointed out as being clever and vivacious.

While young men may be eager to be introduced to those different types of girls or to hear them about for awhile when it comes to marrying—well, that's quite a different matter.

It's a very strange type of man who would want to marry the loud-talking, slangy, painted girl, who has no thoughts higher than tangoing or creating a sensation. It is the modest, inconspicuous girl who wins a man's respect that ends in love. There are no truer words than those which the poet has given us: "The rose which all are admiring is not the rose for me" for they have the modest maid whom no one seems to see."

The unobtrusive girl, who shrinks from being pointed out, never loses her hold on the friendship she makes. The lover who courts her is sure that he has got a prize. He loses no time in bringing her to the altar.

His home is one of contentment with her by his side. He trusts to her good judgment and wisdom never to blame him by loud dressing or boisterous partner. It is most always the girls who call attention to themselves on the street or in public places who are obliged to walk the road of single blessedness. A girl should think over this, and give no cause to be pointed out.

ROMANCE IN LIFE OF POET

First Girl Loved by Ariosto Immortalized in His Most Famous Poetic Production.

Ariosto's first love was a beautiful girl, who was once dearest to him, he writes, than his own soul, and whom he immortalized as Anzura di Scoria in his Orlando Furioso. With the proverbial fickleness of a bard, however, he abandoned this girl for the young and buxom widow of Tito Strozzi, a Florentine noble, who, from loving the poet's incubations, was tempted to love the poet himself. She looked seductively pretty, Ariosto tells us in her weeds the soubrette that of which was relieved by wreaths of vine leaves and bunches of grapes in purple and gold, while her fair, luxuriant hair gathered in a net behind and parted in front fell down on either side of her face in long curls, touching carelessly her snow white shoulders. On being asked why she thus adorned her mourning dress, the coy relict replied:

"It is to show the world that while I still weep for my dead lord, I am ready to be consoled by a live one."

Ariosto gave her the sweet consolation of which she was in quest.

Have Immense Power.

Stationary steam, oil and gas engine plants of the United States are producing about twenty million horse power.

When Frigates Came to Blows.

Naval warfare had its horrors before the day of the mine and the submarine. Lady Dorothy Nevill, for instance, tells of noted evidence given by a British naval officer of the Nelson school: "Which was the most solemn and awful moment of a naval battle?" he was asked by a lady. "The moment before the battle, madam, when they sprinkled the sand on the decks to absorb the blood that was to flow," was the reply.

Bill—Would you call her hair red? Jill—Well, no, not to her face. In that case I would call it auburn.

Did You Ever Drink Perry?

Did you ever drink perry? It is to pears what cider is to apples, and although it is little known in America, it is widely used in England and special varieties of pears, which make especially good perry, are grown for that purpose.

When Legislature Meets
There's a buzzin' in the air
Something soon will be occurin'
Up in Tallahassee, where Our patriotic statesmen, most sober
and sedate,
Are accustomed to foregather to enact affairs of state.

But, of all the pressing issues
More important than the rest,
Some one has just discovered that the buzzard is a pest.
His buzzard is a pest.
The sensibilities jar.
Now isn't he a carrion thing a little bit too far?

He carries cholera to the hogs
And chicken pox to chickens;
The measles then the hly takes,
With thim the family sickens.
We surely soon must get relief
For troubles of this nature,
If we have to take up all the time
Of the coming legislature.

We'll get the legislature to await him
till he's dead,
And then to pay a bounty upon his bloomin' head.
For the buzzard is a filthy beast,
With habits most disgustin'.
We've put up with him long enough,
But now we'll have him dustin'.

Equal suffrage, prohibition, Torrens
law and drainage too, Fee system, road commission, and other matters not a few.
But of all important measures that has them beat a mile,
You find that buzzing buzzard bill
At topmost of the pile.

There's a sound of something stirrin'
There's a buzzin' in the air,
Something soon will be occurin'
Up in Tallahassee where
Our solons soon will gather,
At the legislative mill,
For grave debate, deliberate, then Pass a bloomin' buzzard bill.
A H. A. in American Eagle.

Many, and by no means infrequent,
are the extravagances of the day.
None, however, equal to the neighborhood rumor that a housewife, whose name we withhold because it might offend friend husband, carelessly left a dozen eggs on the piano and the family daughter came in and played a few snatches from Grieg. The eggs were added, of course. And all of this the day before Easter.

The main kick from the traveling public in Sanford is the fifty cents that is paid to and fro from the depot (twenty-five cents each way) for hack fare on account of the distance of the depot from the heart of the business district. All this could be saved by the establishment of a jitney bus, the kind that is putting the street cars out of business in the large cities. The jitney bus is a fine vehicle and the only difference is in the equipment of the so-called bus which provides for transporting a dozen or more people instead of a few. The bus will take a passenger to any part of the city for five cents and this will be a great thing for Sanford, where the hack fare is quite an item. It is rumored that one firm here expects to put two jitneys in service right away and this will be as good as a street car line for Sanford. While the busses are not doing service at the depot they can be transporting people to the celery fields and other sight seeing tours. On account of the load the bus will not proceed at the breakneck speed of the auto and the passengers can enjoy the scenery with more security and more pleasure. Let the busses come. They will help the city of Sanford.

The following from the Pensacola
Journal will be of interest to the Woman's Club of this city and the children:
A movement has been started in Pensacola to interest the school children and others in growing the violet which is so easily cultivated and blooms so prolifically in this section.

A number of public spirited women are agitating the matter, and the movement seems a wise one, and should meet with ready response.
The violet has always been one of the best loved flowers and it now gives promise of becoming extremely profitable, commercially.
Strawberry and other fruit growers west of St. Joseph, in Kansas are giving close attention, it is said, to plans of A. W. Thomason, to take up the production of essential oils for perfumes. The soil and climate of the district is very similar to the soil and climate of the great rose growing districts of Bulgaria, where most of the attar or otto of roses is produced. The industry was almost ruined in the two Balkan wars, and in consequence prices for the various floral oils are very high. Practically all of the perfume oils used in the United States are imported. Violet oil, for instance, brings one hundred and thirty-six dollars a pound.

While violets are easy to grow, vast quantities of the flowers are needed to produce a pound of oil, and yet
Mr. Thomason believes that violets will be more profitable than strawberries. He has laid out a plot of fifty acres for flowers of various kinds, and will erect a still to extract the various oils.

One of the committee of interested women wrote to Mr. Thomason as to his plans for the cultivation of flowers, especially the violet, for the making of perfume oils, and his optimistic reply was such as to give an added impetus to the movement here.
Whether or not violets may be profitably grown in this section for commercial purposes remains to be demonstrated, but there seems no good reason why the violet culture of West Florida should not become quite as famed as the culture of the Bermuda lily, which is grown on that beautiful island quite as profitably as the Bermuda onion.
If the violets do not bring a satisfactory price for perfume oil it should be very easy to dispose of them in the northern market, for they ship easily, and would sell at a good price without doubt.

of two great nations of ancient history, that of Egypt and Rome, and where is the predominant influence in the church today the morals of the common people are below
the standards of those of the Christian nations where it flourishes not.

As a substitute for the simple way of the gospel, as taught by Jesus Christ, it is a failure.
Monasticism has ever been the enemy of progress in the larger sense, and was in a very marked degree subversive of good during the Reformation.

Life in monk cells, life lived in
and under unnatural conditions away from family life, away from social ties, away from social good, away from the common touch; a life which transfers religion from the world to a desert and out of way places breeds wild fancies productive of little real good, and ever and ever of much harm not alone to the individuals leading the life but to the race as a whole.

Let us ever be mindful that it is NOT the life SEPARATED from the world which is productive of good but rather the Christ life lived IN the world, OF the world, FOR the world and BY the world, remembering that it was Jesus who gave voice to the following prayer:
"I pray NOT that thou shouldst take them OUT of the world, but that thou shouldst KEEP them from EVIL. John 17:15.

To the Citizens of Sanford and Vicinity
For fully thirty five (35) years the
L. & M. Semi-Mixed Real Paints have been extensively used throughout the United States and also in South America. They have therefore been subjected to the tests of every sort of climatic conditions—most successfully—thereby proving their extreme durability and superior value.

Not Safe to Fool With.
"What's the big gathering at the depot for? Some eminent citizen expected?" "Nope. That's the usual crowd. Everybody comes down to see the train arrive." "Oh, that's it. And suppose the train was wrecked on the way?" "I dunno what they would do.
Sue the road, mobby. Anyway, the railway folks better not try it. Our people are mighty ticklish 'bout their vested rights." — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE IDLE RICH.

The human scrap pile for which we have to pay is cluttered up, not alone with the put-ters and the down and outs, but with the idle rich, who sit around luxurious hotels and watering places with nothing to do but overeat and sleep. I was astounded by the waste of human energy at the county institutions, but I am appalled when I think of that far greater waste of energy among those whose wants have been provided for and who have nothing to do but dress for dinner. We have 2,500 persons sitting with folded hands in our county institutions, content because their wants have been provided for. I could not help thinking of our wealthy outsiders in this connection. They are really beyond the pale of human effort, for they are doing nothing that is of good to anybody, not even to themselves.
The idle wealthy are going on the scrap pile voluntarily. They are not only useless, but harmful. Somebody ought to wake them up and make them think.
And this waste can be found at most any fashionable resort east and west. If we had a little help from those who can give help it might solve a lot of problems that put the poor wards of the county where they are.—
President A. A. McCormick of Board of Charity, Chicago.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS.

It isn't the pull that you have men respect
Or the help that your many friends give
It's the efforts you make all yourself to collect.
The price of the life that you live.

It is fine to be helped, but it's finer by far
In the battle for glory or pelf
To strive for hilltops, though distant they are,
And to gain them at last by yourself.

IMMIGRATION EVILS.

For years the United States has endeavored to correct its immigration laws. Every thinking person knows that some thing must be done to check the influx. Now that it has become necessary to conserve our national resources—our timber, our coal lands, our water power sites—it stands to reason that this conservation is intended for our children and not for the children of the hordes now in southern Europe. * * * The outbreaks of the Industrial Workers of the World and the growth of socialism in this country may be directly charged to this great incoming heterogeneous mass of undesirable wage cutting inhabitants, many of them admittedly temporary inhabitants, who, before they have learned to speak our language and before they know of our customs and institutions, are taught by foreign born agitators to hate the United States and to contribute their money and their energies to a revolution, blood-less or otherwise, which plots
the downfall of our present form of government—Congressman Albert Johnson of Washington.

HYMN OF THE EARLY CHRIS- TIAN.

The rising sun bids us awake
And prayer to our Creator make.
Benedicamus Domino!
His hand hath kept us through the night
And led us safely to the light.
Benedicamus Domino!
Our tongues restrain we through the day
That, blameless, they at eve
may pray.
Benedicamus Domino!
Our thoughts contain our senses
guard
We serve the vineyard of the Lord.
Benedicamus Domino!
All worldly appetites repress
And ever our Creator bless.
Benedicamus Domino!
Thus, daylight passed, to God on high
Once more with hallowed lips
we cry.
Benedicamus Domino!
—From Ave Maria.

LOVE.

It is from love that all being first flowed. Into it all returns through man, and in all "the wide compass which is fetched" through the infinite variety of forms of being love is the permanent element and the true-sance. Nature is on its way back to God, gathering treasure
as it goes.—Henry Jones, M. A.

Champion Nature faker.
"I know a nature faker," said Mr.
Lache, the author, "who claims that a hen of his last month hatched from a setting of seventeen eggs, seventeen chicks that had, in lieu of feathers, fur. He claimed that these fur-coated chicks were proof of nature's adaptation of all animals to their environment, the seven-year-old having been of the cold storage variety."

Mrs. Bumpweather Explains.
"I have observed," says Mrs. Bump-weather, "that when I am extra kind to people they think I am very good and take advantage of me. But I can well afford to laugh, because it is perfectly true."

FLA. LEGISLATURE DOWN TO BUSINESS

THE SENATE SEEMS TO BE MAKING BETTER TIME THAN THE HOUSE

(By C. F. Johnson, Special Herald Correspondent)

Tallahassee, Fla., April 8.—The committee on rules in the senate reported yesterday favoring the rules of 1913 and Senator Ion L. Farris offered an amendment that would embody reduction of the committee to six numbered committees and five standing committees, with special committees to be provided by the chair. Senator Johnson defended the rule committee report, and Senator Hudson of the 13th district supported Senator Farris' amendment.

Senator Himes of Hillsborough and Senator Adkins of Starke opposed the amendment. A vote being taken the amendment was lost, by a vote of 30 to 2, thus ending Senator Farris' fight for general reorganization of the legislature.

After an unsuccessful attempt to amend the rules and throwing down the bars to appointment of committee clerks by Senator Gornto, the rules were adopted in full as presented by the committee.

The president of the senate then announced the appointment of his committees.

An invitation from the W. C. T. U. to both houses of the legislature to review a prohibition demonstration at 3:30 Wednesday was read for the information of the members.

Bills introduced in the senate were:

An act to appoint a naval stores inspector, by Senator Lindsey of Caryville; to appropriate funds to fight citrus canker, by Hilsen of Miami; to encourage the destruction of the turkey buzzard, by Wells of Leon; Senator Roland, to provide for the burial of all animals dying in the state; Senator Drane, to establish commission form of government at Florence Villa; Himes, to give state treasurer authority to investigate certain insurance conditions; Farris, of Duval, to enable qualified voters to vote when away from home on election day; Senate then took recess until 4 p. m.

Senator Gornto introduced a concurrent resolution providing for a constitutional convention. It is understood that at the constitutional convention the question of re-apportionment of the state will be considered.

Senator Blitch introduced a bill calling for a constitutional amendment for statewide prohibition, which was referred to the temperance committee.

Senator Plympton introduced W. W. Senator Plympton introduced two measures, one providing for a steamboat and boiler inspector and one for municipal auditors.

Senator Hudson presented a measure to provide a state plant pathologist and means to prevent insect pests to plant life.

At the afternoon session of the senate the following measures were introduced:

An act to provide for a county treasurer and a county school treasurer by Senator Gornto; an act to create a board of county tax assessors and tax equalization board and a state board of assessors and equalizers; Senator Rowland of Gainesville, an act regulating the sale of produce on commission; Senator Adkins, an act for the relief of the estate of E. W. Scarborough, Sen. Watson; an act providing for establishing and maintaining experiment farms in the Everglades by the Internal Improvement Board; Sen. Hudson; two measures by Sen. Terrell to revise tax laws; an act by Sen. Drane of Polk county to change the location and name of Fargo, Polk county; an act by Sen. Drane to incorporate Auburndale, Polk county.

Only one measure was passed today in the senate, and certified to the house. This was a special bill by Sen. Cooper, of Punta Gorda, to validate, ratify and confirm the Sarasota-Venice special river and bridge district in Manatee county, an election having been held in said county March 16. This measure was, upon waiving of rules put on third reading and certified to the house for concurrents.

In the Lower House Other than pass numerous resolutions, among which was one that became known as the no-kinsman resolution, prohibiting any relative of a member of the house holding any attaches position, there was no real business transacted in the house today. The speaker of the house has not announced his committees.

Methodist Services Sunday Sunday school, 9:45. Preaching, 11:00, subject, "Hearing and Doing."

Preaching 7:30, subject, "The Business Man."

The attendance last Sunday at the Sunday school was 230. It is expected that next Sunday will be larger as the weather is moderating to normal Florida conditions.

It is the desire of the pastor, Sunday school superintendent and teachers that all members of the Methodist church will be in one of the departments of the school. Those who are not members are urged to be present as visitors, then we are sure you will join. Welcome, thrice welcomed. All others will be warmly received.

CITY COUNCIL IN REGULAR SESSION

MANY MATTERS OF ROUTINE NATURE CONSIDERED AND DISPOSED OF

The city council met in regular session April 8th, 1915, at 7:30 p. m. Present, R. W. Herndon, president; W. W. Abernathy, J. Adams, C. H. Dungee, J. D. Davidson, R. C. Maxwell and H. E. Tolar.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

K. R. Murrell appeared before the council and asked permission to improve the Library Association building by adding to the length and putting on a new roof. The request was refused, as the city attorney said it would be a violation of the building ordinance.

A petition from the Methodist and Baptist Brotherhood classes, asking that the council pass an ordinance closing the fruit stands and forbidding the sale of cider on Sunday was received and the city attorney was instructed to draw such an ordinance.

The complaint of Mr. Fuesola regarding bad condition of certain bridges was referred to the street committee.

The request of W. R. Boykin for a reduction of assessment referred to the assessor.

A petition from a number of the residents of Sanford Heights was received protesting against the payment of city taxes until the streets were paved, water works installed and all other improvements were in operation, and threatening that in case the petition was not acted upon, to institute suit and in case of failure to lower count to appeal to the supreme court. No action.

It was moved and seconded that the time for the payment of taxes be extended to May 1st. Carried.

The bid of the Arabia Granite Co., for granite curbing at the rate of 29 cents per lineal foot delivered in Sanford was accepted, and the city engineer was instructed to order a sufficient quantity for the paving of Magnolia avenue.

The clerk was instructed to correspond with the War Department, relative to two cannon awarded to this city, as the means to obtain the same.

The city attorney presented a bill for past services, in defending the suits instituted by Goldsboro, and agreed that the future fees would not exceed the present bill.

The reports of the officers were read and ordered filed.

It was moved and seconded that the bills as approved by the finance committee and signed by the president be paid. Carried.

Special for Men

The service at the Star Theater next Sunday evening will be planned for the interest of the men of Sanford.

The subject, "The Business Man" will be presented by the pastor. The services held under the auspices of the Methodist church on Sunday evening for the past month have been attracting larger audiences than for some time. The large Brotherhood class of the church will have part in this service. They will have reserved seats and will sing two songs. Everybody will meet a Methodist welcome at the hands of a committee from the class. The time is 7:30.

ELKS LODGE ENTER-TAINED AT PALATKA

MIKE SMITH ELECTED VICE-PRESIDENT—JAX NEXT MEETING PLACE

Local Elks, returning from Palatka report a fine meeting and one of the best times of their lives. Sanford did not go in for as was supposed the lodge would do as many of the members were detained by business.

Jacksonville was selected as the meeting place for the Florida State Elks' Association in 1916 by the convention meeting in Palatka Wednesday. The fight for the annual meeting was hotly contested by Jacksonville, Quincy, Orlando and Daytona. Jacksonville won out after a lively contest. Jacksonville Lodge, No. 221, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks will make the necessary arrangements to take care of the convention which will be held there next April. The dates of the meeting were fixed yesterday; but the opinion was that April 20, 21 and 22 would be elected.

Officers elected for the coming year were: J. H. Crump, Quincy, president; Mike Smith, of Orlando, vice-president; H. M. Hunt, of Tampa, secretary; and W. L. Bates, of Key West, treasurer. The contests in the selection were as lively as was that for the convention city. There were over 300 delegates present and the candidates for the various offices were each backed by large followings.

The final session of this year's meeting was held Thursday. The meeting is the largest and the best ever held since the state association was organized several years ago. Palatka was turned over to the visitors who paraded with flags and banners. The Palatka lodge of Elks made preparations for the entertainment of the guests and all had a royal good time.

The Jacksonville lodge will take up the matter of arranging for the entertainment of the delegates and visitors at the 1916 meeting without delay. Committees to look after all of the details will be appointed at an early date and an effort is to be made to provide for the most successful meeting ever held by the organization at any annual meeting.

The sessions of the association will probably be held in Morocco temple at the Duval county armory which is now completed by next April.

To Increase Trainmen

Tallahassee, April 8.—Special.—The Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen will endeavor to secure the passage of an act to regulate the number of trainmen and employees to be used in the operation of trains within the state of Florida. The measure stipulates that passenger trains shall have not less than one engineer, one baggage man and brakeman, freight trains shall have an engineer, fireman, conductor, flagman and two brakemen, regardless of the use of any safety appliances.

The measure stipulates, however, that the law shall not apply to railway lines having less than 100 miles of track within the state nor to freight trains of less than 40 cars, and imposes a penalty of from $100 to $500 for violation.

A similar measure passed the house in 1913, and was favorably reported by committee of the senate, but died in the rush days of closing still on the calendar.

Mr. W. E. Kite of Avon Heights is in the city as a representative of the trainmen and will look after the bill when presented.

Sanford Party Over for Vespers

Sunday afternoon quite a number of Sanford people motored over from the Celery City to attend the Easter vesper services, the last of the current season. Among those in the party were Mrs. and Mrs. L. A. Brumley, Mr. and Mrs. John Hurby, Wideman Caldwell, Mesdames H. and L. Caldwell, Miss Esale Purdon and Mrs. Tenny Deane.—DeLand News.

Big Radish

J. K. Mettinger is no farmer but he seems to be able to raise a fine kitchen garden. He brought a white radish to The Herald office yesterday that was 8 inches long, 10 inches around and weighed three pounds. He very modestly gives Mrs. Mettinger the credit for raising the radish and we half suspect that he had help in raising such a big one.

SOUTHERN BELL CO. CAN'T RAISE RATES

THE RAILROAD COMMISSION WILL NOT ALLOW NEW OWNERS' PETITION

The Sanford Telephone Company will remain as it is unless the Southern Bell Telephone Co. takes some other tack in the proceedings for petition before the Railroad Commission. The following decision regarding the matter is given below: In the Matter of the Petition of the Sanford Telephone Company.

This matter came up for consideration upon the Sanford Telephone Company in and by which petition said Sanford Telephone Company prayed for an order approving rates to be charged "between Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company and the city of Sanford," and the said Sanford Telephone Company being represented by Geo. A. DeCottis and the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company being represented by H. E. W. Palmer and it appearing to the Commissioners that the petitioner has no standing to ask that rates be fixed for another company;

Whereupon H. E. W. Palmer, attorney for Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company announced his desire that his company be made a party to the application. But it was determined by the Commissioners that even considering the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company as one of the petitioners they could not then consider the petition, as the allegations thereof showed that a rate was sought to be established based upon an amount of money estimated to be necessary for the improvement in the plant at Sanford, but which has not been invested therein, and that the application is based entirely upon a future contingency.

It is therefore considered, ordered and adjudged that the prayer of the said petition be and the same is hereby denied.

Done and ordered by the Railroad Commissioners of the State of Florida in session at their office in the city of Tallahassee this 7th day of April, A. D. 1915.

R. Hudson Burr, Chairman.

Hotel Law

Tallahassee, April 8.—Special.—The Hotel Inspector A. V. Messmer endeavor to have enacted at this session of the legislature a law to provide for a state building code, to regulate the construction of all public buildings, and make plans for such buildings subject to review by state commissioner.

This measure, Mr. Messmer says, is a necessity in Florida, as at present there is no law compelling absolutely safe construction of hotels, churches, schools, depots, public libraries and other large buildings for the general public. A number of prominent senators, when asked their views on the question of such a law, readily agreed that such a measure was a necessity and that after investigation of the requirements of the bill they would no doubt give their support.

Mr. Messmer also desires the scope of his work extended as hotel commissioner, that the inspections of fruit stands, bakeries, meats markets and groceries be included in the law regulating the sanitary condition, and further stated that if such power was given his department he would soon have the entire state in a more satisfactory condition. It is now believed that this addition to the powers of the hotel commissioner will be provided for at this session.

McLaughlin Went Strong

The state convention of Elks closed yesterday at Palatka and Jacksonville was chosen for the next place of meeting. However, Orlando displayed the right spirit by going after the convention and making a strong bid for the place of meeting. C. O. McLaughlin urged that Orlando be chosen as the city to hold the next convention, and he made a strong speech. Orlando withdrew from the race, however, when it was seen that the honors could not be captured. M. M. Smith was elected first vice president. It was reported by the Elks who attended the meeting that Mr. McLaughlin's bid for the convention was one of the finest ever delivered and was a feature of the session.—Orlando, Sentinel.

New Alarm System

Chief Paxton of the Sanford Fire Department is a genius, as his many inventions at the fire station attest. Among his very latest is the new fire alarm gong from an electric clock system and will sound a gong giving the district in which the fire is located. The new system is only for the benefit of the citizens and does not work from boxes for the fire department. In case of fire every citizen naturally wants to know just where the blaze is located and when the fire department leaves the station the number will be set on the dial and the gong will ring for several minutes giving the number of the fire district. By consulting the card the fire can be located at once and much needless worry and excitement saved to the anxious inquirer. The system is a good one and reflects great credit upon Chief Paxton, especially since he made it himself, with no cost to the city whatever. See it at the fire department.

THE COUNTY HOME TO BE FURNISHED

PEOPLE SHOULD DONATE FURNITURE TOWARD THIS WORTHY ENTERPRISE

At the meeting of the county commissioners last Tuesday Chairman L. P. Hagan was appointed a committee of one to solicit donations of furniture, carpets, bed clothing, kitchen utensils, farming implements, etc. for the county infirmary.

The commissioners recently purchased the Harrold place on Melonville avenue for the county home and now that they have gained possession are very desirous of furnishing the same as soon as possible and putting the house in shape for the inmates.

This place comprises about forty acres and in time can be made self-supporting in a measure by planting crops, raising hogs and poultry, etc., and as the inmates can often be depended upon to do some work the place can be made very attractive and home like.

The people who have been desirous of assisting in charitable work in this city and in the county can now come forward and assist in the work of furnishing the county home. Every home has some pieces of furniture that can be given to this worthy object and if they will have the same at the Sanford Furniture Co., or at the furniture store of W. W. Abernathy or T. J. Miller & Son, marking it "county home" the same will be taken at once to the home and will be placed for the convenience of the inmates.

For any further information call on Chairman L. P. Hagan or write him in reference to the donations and it is hoped that the kind-hearted people of the city will respond.

Death of Rev. Swartz

Howard Swartz has left for his home in New York city, having been called there by the sudden death of his father, Rev. William Swartz. Mrs. Swartz is also reported as being very low with pneumonia, making the burden of Howard doubly large. Rev. Swartz was well known here, having resided at his place near Silver Lake for some time and preached in the Sanford churches upon several occasions. The sympathy of the community goes out to Howard and he has the prayers of his many friends here for the recovery of his beloved mother, who it is hoped will be spared to him.

Return to Wichita

Dr. and Mrs. Minnick have returned to the west after residing here for several years and later at St. Petersburg. The Minnicks were among the pioneers at Cameron City and the beautiful Minnick place is to day a monument to their industry and love for the beautiful in nature. They expect to make their home in Wichita where the Doctor will again take up the practice of medicine. It is hoped that at some future time they can return to Sanford for good, for we can ill afford to lose such good people from our midst.

GREAT SOUTHEAST IS OPENING UP

SOUTHERN STATES CHRONICLE DEVELOPMENTS IN EVERY LINE

Columbus, Ga., April 7.—The Industrial Index says in its issue for this week:

"Spring and business are opening up together. April, always an important month in industrial and commercial affairs promises to be an unusually busy period. Operations have been deterred by weather conditions and have now been begun, the work of the year has begun, retail merchants report notably better trade in many lines and collections are improving steadily.

"A number of important construction and industrial undertakings of considerable magnitude are in progress in the southeast, and there is a large volume of enterprises and building operations, which, while not so large individually are of great importance in the aggregate. That which is actually being done demonstrates beyond question a steady, and in some respects rapid return to normal conditions. This does not take into consideration the immediate prospects. Many business men of good judgment are of the opinion that this year will prove as a whole to be one of unusual prosperity for the southeast.

"Among the items of construction work to be done, as reported this week are:

"Apartment house, St. Petersburg, Fla.; apartment store building, Miami, Fla.; bank building, Marshallville, Ga.; church building, school building and sidewalk paving, Florence, S. C.; city hall plans have been accepted at Orlando, Fla.; hotel buildings, Birmingham, Ala.; and Marshallville, Ga.; and addition, Daytona, Fla.; factory buildings, Dawson, Ga.; and North Birmingham, Ala.; additional levee construction, Augusta, Ga.; postoffice building site has been purchased at Decatur, Ala.; paving, Lancaster, S. C. and Plant City, Fla.; school building plans have been accepted at Fellsmere, Fla., and Huntsville, Ala.; sewer and water works systems Elba, Ala.; sub division improvement Sarasota, Fla.

"Construction contracts have been awarded as follows:

Church building, Lanette, Ala.; and Sanford, Fla.; paving, Birmingham, Ala., and St. Augustine, Fla.; school building, Senatobia, Miss.; warehouse, Camilla, Ga.

"Industrial plants will be established as follows:

"Benzol plant, Birmingham, Ala.; flour mills, Ashburn, Ga., and Greenwood, S. C.; garage, Columbus, Miss.; gunnery, Camden, S. C., and Cho. Ala.; ice plant improvement, Griffin, Ga.; ironer plant, Augusta, Ga.; laundry, Citronelle, Ala.; pipe plant, North Birmingham, Ala.; packing plant, Ft. Pierce, Fla.; day products plants, Fairhope, Ala.; planing mills, Hulsell, Ala.; saw mill, Clarksdale, Miss.; meat packing plant to be enlarged, Columbus, Ga.; telephone system, Lincolnton, Ga.

"A Darlington, S. C., bank has purchased an issue of 50,000 of bonds of the local school district.

"Three extensive Florida tracts— one of 5,000 acres, another of 6,000 acres and another of 18,000 acres— have been purchased in the past few days by northern investors, and substantial portions of the tracts will be cultivated or devoted to live stock raising.

"A total of sixteen corporations have been formed with minimum capital stocks aggregating $155,500."

Police Have New Uniforms

The Sanford police force will soon be resplendent in new uniforms, Chief Tills being the first one to don the new regalia. The uniforms are of light weight blue serge with silver buttons. The caps are of the new military style with visors and the Sanford police force will look like a part of the German army when they get togged up in the new stuff. The suits will not only be more comfortable in the summer but will give "our finest" a metropolitan appearance and will distinguish the Sanford policeman from the ordinary cigar sign. Of course the new uniforms will have to be saluted now in due military form and Mayor Thrasher is considering the advisability of having the chief executive and the city council all wear the natty new uniform.
