Queen Keeps Experts Guessing On Wardrobe For Visit To U. S.

By ADELAIDE KERR
 The greatest fashion secret to-day is Queen Elizabeth's wardrobe, now being evolved in her London dressmaker's workrooms, for her approaching American visit.

No far, no important information has been revealed about the design and fabric of the gowns which Britain's blue-eyed queen will wear at state functions in May and June.

Moreover, the chances are good that information about many of them will remain a secret for some time to come. The reason is the hazard that they will be copied. If exact designs, fabrics and accessories are released as soon as they are chosen, clothes which claim to have been inspired by or copied from the queen's may appear before she has a chance to wear the originals.

It is stated, however, that her blue-medium and light violet-tinted—will play a part in her wardrobe and it has been reported that she is considering the increased use of prints. Descriptions of clothes she has ordered for spring, some of which may be included in her American wardrobe, are already out.

American Have Helped
 In one of her new frocks the American fashion world has played a part. To mark her coming visit, American wool growers have presented her with a pastel blue sheer wool, woven in the United States from the finest fleece of 34 states. It will be used in a dress to be designed by her London dressmaker, Norman Hartnell, and may be included in her visiting wardrobe.

The same British dressmaker, who has designed her frocks for two years, has also made for the queen's spring wardrobe several light wool costumes of

I HATE TO DANCE WITH A DAMP SEAL

The girl friend told me that—and I can sympathize with her. Many of us feel like a damp seal when we go to a dance. That's why I wear a Seal Detergent!

Goodness, you need a better soap. It's Seal Detergent. Seal Detergent is a soap with a built-in germicide which kills germs and keeps them from coming back. It's the only soap that does this. You'll find Seal Detergent in all the stores.

the type she loves. A sweater dress and coat cutted with silver fox, a pink dress and long coat and a quarter length coat—all of which are among them. There are also a gray crepe frock embroidered in braid and topped by a gray wool coat trimmed in bands of Persian lamb and two black frocks—one accented with white braid embroidery, the other with pale blue crepe.

Soft Blues And Pinks
 Generally speaking, however, the queen dislikes to wear black and is said to be most unhappy when family mourning forces her into it. She loves soft blues, pinks, mauves, beiges and greys and most of her daytime clothes are done in those colors. On the royal visits which she has made since she and King George VI were crowned in Westminster Abbey in May, 1937, she often followed the practice of wearing a soft blue ensemble one day, pink on another, mauve on a third and beige and gray on succeeding days.

Another of her fashion loves is fox which she likes to use either in collars or as bandings for her coats. She is fond of jewels too. Pearl necklaces are among her favorites, though within the last year she has worn the picture with a modern jeweled inset clip.

Has Definite Dislikes
 The queen also has some definite dislikes—among them high necklines, long sleeves and clothes that fit tightly about the hips. She wears her skirts much longer than the modern mode in keeping with her general program of conservatism in dress.

When it comes to hats, she chooses small or medium sized ones. Though hers are very different from Queen Mary's famous headgear.

Italians Overcome Albanian Defenders And Proceed Inland

Mussolini's Troops Land At 4 Points; Cities Bombed By Il Duce's Planes

England Would Broaden Bloc

Inclusion Of Rumania And Hungary Is Sought By British

Italian troops landed today on the coast of Albania and apparently already had imposed Italy's will on the little Balkan Kingdom after overcoming a handful of defenders.

Indications in Rome pointed to an end of King Zog's reign over his tiny little neighbor wedged between Greece and Yugoslavia 40 miles across the neck of the Adriatic sea.

Despite reports from Tirana of fierce resistance by Albanian troops, Italians claimed to have landed at four points along the coast and to be proceeding inland rapidly.

Italian warplanes were reported to have bombed Durazzo and other cities and naval bombardments set Valona afire.

Unconfirmed reports said the Albanian Queen Geraldine had fled to Greece with her two-year-old crown prince.

Foreign observers generally in London (The Herald) were as busy as ever in the effort to construct a bloc against the Rome-Berlin axis, and particularly as a warning to Greece and Yugoslavia.

Dr. Guild Speaks At Final Union Holy Week Meet

Dr. Roy Guild, of the New York Federation of Churches spoke to the final early morning Union Holy Week meeting at the Congregational Church on "The Request of Jesus" using the words of Christ, spoken in the Upper Room at the Last Supper when he told the disciples rather than "These things have I said unto you that my joy might be full."

The speaker pointed out that gathered there in the Upper Room were the twelve disciples who were all human men with their fillings, and storming common to men of every age. "Even Jesus, such as he admitted Christ could not overcome his greed for power and money which brought his downfall," Dr. Guild said.

The divine character of Christ as depicted at the end when on the cross, knowing that his mission was about to end, was developed by Dr. Guild who said the drama ended with joyful expectancy, "Father, into Thine I commend my spirit."

Thus he accepted the end of the 34 hours which the New York minister pointed out included the "dark hours" of darkness and finally Golgotha.

The bill was introduced by Representative Clegg of California.

The bill was defeated by a vote of 217 to 207.

U. S. MILITARY MIGHT

Lake Forms Overnight On Farm In Oviedo Section

Imagine the consternation of a crew of field hands who had been cultivating a field of escarole on Saturday evening when they returned to the farm on Monday morning to find a lake on the spot where they had just toiled with their plows only two days before.

The "Alcornoque" water, which actually happened on a hammock farm of the Lake Ochara Fruit Company near Oviedo, and for unexplained depth may now be seen at a central spot in the field of six or seven acres.

Several who have some knowledge of Florida's underground rock formations and who have seen this phenomenon of Nature explain that it was probably caused by a cave-in of the supporting underground strata of rock, weakened by the flow of water through underground channels.

The lake is about 50 feet in diameter. Frank Talbot, of Oviedo, told a Herald reporter that he was unable to touch the bottom of the lake with a 10-foot pole. The level of the water is approximately two feet below the surface of the ground.

Those conversant with the lake stated that there was no previous indication that such a cave-in might occur, pointing out that the ground in that vicinity had not even been depressed.

While such cave-ins are reported frequently in some parts of Florida, this is the first such occurrence reported in this section. It is generally believed that these caves caused the formation of the many lakes which dot Florida's maps.

That water veins are near the surface in many hammocks in the Oviedo district became evident several years ago when the County dug a drainage ditch through one of these swamps and encountered artesian water in digging a ditch several feet in depth.

Ministerial Association Announces Plans For Annual Sunrise Service

Working in co-operation with young people's groups of various churches, the Ministerial Association has completed plans for the annual Easter Sunrise Service to be held at 6:00 A. M. next Sunday morning at the St. Paul church located on the Municipal Pier.

Special features of the service will include the march of the drum and bugle corps of the Sons of the Legion, who will leave the Legion hut shortly before the start of the service and march down to the pier, playing while enroute.

The start of the service will be a call to worship, a trumpet duet played by Mrs. O. P. Herndon and her son, Robert Herndon.

The program, as planned by the Association, includes: Call to Worship—Trumpet Duet—Hymn—by Congregation—Invocation—Rev. Martin J. Braun—Scripture—Kent Rossetter—"Come Sing with Exultation"—Presbyterian Young People's Choir—Address—Speaker tentatively selected—Hymn—by Congregation—Prayers—Rev. C. E. Elmore.

Warsaw Satisfied With Defense Pact

WARSAW, Apr. 7.—(AP)—The new British-Polish mutual defense pact was received with satisfaction last night by Warsaw political circles which estimated it was not so much a pact with Poland's good neighborly relations with Germany and Soviet Russia.

A semi-official commentary pointed out the new pact announced in London today was of a defensive character and did not direct against any state.

The pact was signed in London and will be ratified by the British and Polish governments.

Group Warned Of Possible Canal Effects

Geologists Tell Committee Cut Would Lower Water Level In Adjacent Areas

WASHINGTON, Apr. 7.—(AP)—The Geological survey warned Congress again today the Florida ship canal would lower the ground water level in adjacent areas.

V. T. Sprimfield representing the government geologists, testified before the Senate Commerce Committee that a survey had not changed previously expressed opinions about the $250,000,000 waterway. The survey has estimated the effects would extend 50 to 60 miles on each side of the cut.

Dr. H. C. Calhoun, professor of Geology at Clemson College, told the committee grave danger to ground water would result from the canal cuts.

Poland's Safety Is In Jeopardy, Germany States

BERLIN, Apr. 7.—(AP)—Germany last night sent a radio warning to Poland that she had "ventured out onto thin ice" and jeopardized her safety by entering into a military alliance with Great Britain and France.

A few hours after announcement in London that Poland had thrown her fighting strength into the "stop Hitler" drive, an official German news broadcast said:

"Poland now is venturing out onto thin ice from which it is well known that it is questionable whether one can return safely."

Nazis were resentful toward both Poland and Great Britain and gave broad intimations of diplomatic reprisals.

Officials revealed that a few days before Polish Foreign Minister Beck went to London to conclude the defense alliance announced yesterday, Poland rejected what the Nazis called Germany's offer of a "peaceful settlement" of issues between the two countries.

The proposal would have given the free city of Danzig, with its predominantly German population, to Germany. Its other points were:

1.—Permission for Germany to build an automobile road across the Polish corridor from Germany into East Prussia, similar to that built across Czechoslovakia after the Munich settlement of last September.

2.—Immediate resumption of negotiations to settle German and Jewish minority questions outstanding between Germany and Poland.

"Germany asked Poland for a reasonable and peaceful settlement along these lines," an official said, "but Beck's answer was to go to London."

He denied the proposals were served on Warsaw in the form of an ultimatum.

Townsendites Make Plans For Convention

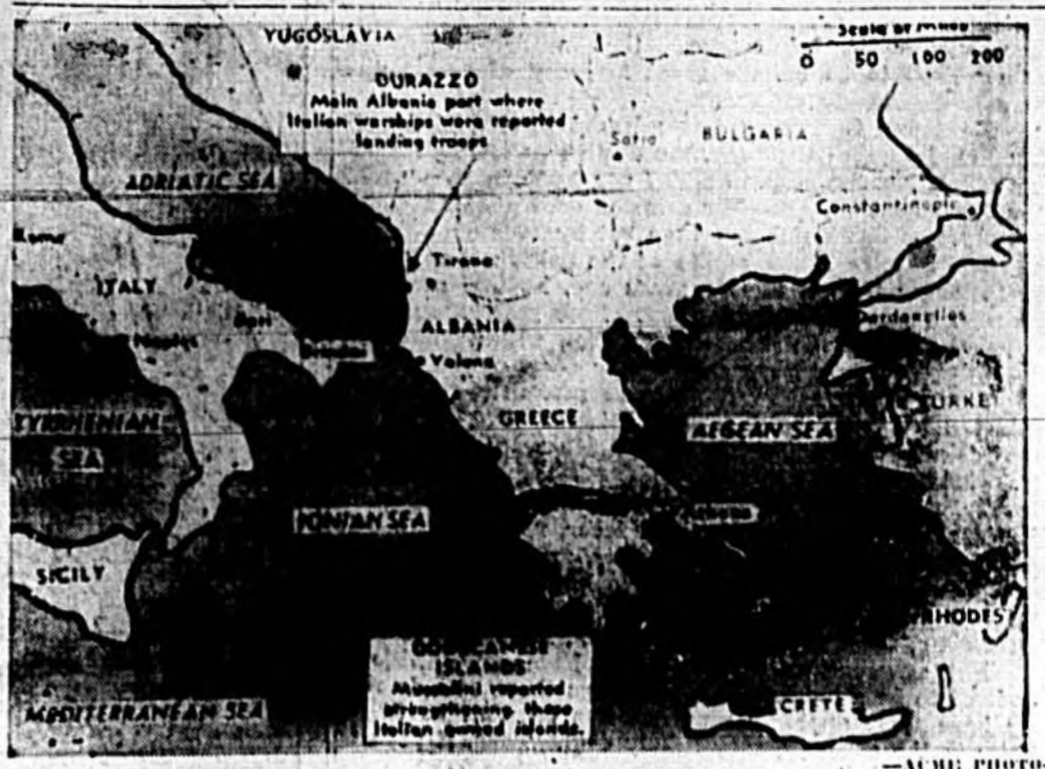

Plans for the convention to be held June 22 at Indianapolis and the naming of president W. L. Hughey, Lewis Hughey, William H. Polk and Martha Moffett as delegates, was the feature of the Townsendite meeting Thursday evening. Plans were also made for a luncheon party.

According to President W. L. Hughey, members of the club are optimistic over the program being made with the Florida Legislature in voting to petition Congress to enact "immediately" Bill H. R. 2, known as the Townsend Bill. Mr. Hughey said this action gave the local club encouragement.

Amendment May Give Seminole Its Own Senator

Hodges' Bill Would Make This County Separate District

Seminole County will have a member in the Florida Senate all of its own instead of sharing its representation with neighboring Bayard county, if an amendment to the State Constitution which has been offered is approved by the Legislature.

Senator Hodges, Tallahassee, suggested the creation of six new senatorial districts in South Florida to bring the number of senators to 14. He would not disturb the present allocation of districts in North and Northwest Florida.

The amendment was designed to make no change in the present allotment of a senatorship to such single counties as Nassau, Hamilton, Jefferson, Madison, Columbia, and Suwanee in North Florida.

However, it would make a new district of Miami, composed largely of islands that lead to Key West. The county now is tied in with Lee, Collier and Hendry on the mainland represented by West End Myers.

The district represented by Murphy, Zolfo Springs, would be left with only DeSoto and Hardee counties. Highlands and Glades would be made into a new district.

Kanner, Indian River and Martin counties and one, to a new district, Ocala and Okechobee.

Brevard county would become a district alone, Parish of Titusville now represents both Brevard and Seminole.

Twelve senators representing some of the less populous districts proposed today that Florida adopt a county unit system of voting for state and district officials.

Under the system, now used in Georgia and some other states, (Continued on Page Two)

Cat Returns Litter To Its First Home

Mrs. "Assessable Property," the proud, brunette, feline mother who recently turned part of the staff of the City Hall into fluttering amateur nurses, today, had troubles of her own.

Some solicitous soul had gathered together Mrs. "Property's" litter of eight kittens, placed them in a box and moved them over to the west end of the building. Resenting this intrusion into her private life, now that she is again able to care for her family, Mrs. "Property" spent the latter part of the morning moving her family, one by one, back to the old address under the bushes across the front of the building, near the sidewalk to the main entrance.

Guarantees Given Slovakia By Nazis

BRATISLAVA, Slovakia, Apr. 7.—(AP)—An official statement last night announced that Slovakia had received a German guarantee of its economic and financial basis.

The action was obtained at Berlin conferences attended by Premier Tisa and Foreign Minister Dancovsky who returned home today.

Division of state property of the former Czechoslovak republic, the announcement said, would be carried out in such a way that Slovakia would not suffer.

Political reasons of Slovakia were said to have been settled upon "without any interference from abroad."

The Berlin conferences were described as marking "the end of the stormy period of the birth of the Slovak state and the beginning of peaceful reconstruction."

An economic and financial commission will continue the negotiations begun in the German capital and Germany will send a military representative here to settle the question of war materials.

Senate Votes Huge Fund For School System

Unanimous Action Of Group Sets Aside More Than Half Of DuPont Settlement

$5 License For Autos Proposed

HouseMembers Introduce Measure To End Landry Board

TALLAHASSEE, Apr. 7.—(AP)—The Florida Senate voted unanimously today to set aside more than half the $2,900,000 DuPont inheritance tax payment to help the county school systems.

Resolution, if approved by the House, will earmark $1,500,000 of the money so it cannot be used for other purposes.

At the same time, the Senate adopted a bill assuring schools their prorata share of all money in the general fund.

Senators Kanner of Stuart and Holland of Bartow brought in the customary bill to re-enact the seventh cent of gasoline tax which would expire June 30.

Thirty-three of the 55 representatives in the House joined in introducing a bill to abolish the Florida Laundry and Dry Cleaning Board.

The Senate started investigation into the causes for a suit attacking the distribution of $1,500,000 a year in race tax receipts equally among 67 counties.

A House bill which would provide a $5 license tag for all pleasure cars was introduced.

The legislative mill started grinding in earnest yesterday when 125 bills were introduced in the House and 68 in the Senate. They ranged from fencing the highways against livestock to increasing the salaries of Supreme Court justices and circuit court judges.

The House, meanwhile, without a dissenting vote, appropriated $29,278 to pay for its new quarters, used for the first time this year.

Among the numerous finance measures were proposals for a state tax commission, for elimination of all state ad valorem taxes on real estate, repeal of the one-half of one percent gross receipts tax, increase in the levy on chain stores and appropriation to cities and counties part of the funds received from intangible taxes.

There were bills to establish a highway patrol, financed by a state drivers' license, regulate all public utilities under a state commission, repeal acts authorizing the present milk control board and the state welfare board and to limit the scope of so-called heart balm suits for abatement of affection or breach of promise.

Sikes, Oklawaha, proposed a uniform salary scale to be fixed by the state school superintendent for teachers. The bill would prohibit any county paying a teacher more from state school funds than the amount so fixed by the state superintendent. However, counties would be allowed to supplement the state salaries with money raised from county sources.

Jessup Cattle Ranch Is Sold By T. J. Newby

T. J. Newby, prominent railroad employe, has sold his 1,700-acre cattle ranch on the shore of Lake Jessup, near the river bridge, to Ralph Redding, retired Neun sign operator of Chicago, who has been a resident of Sanford for about two years. It was reported today.

The number of cattle included in the sale was not made public, nor was the amount of money involved in the sale given out. The property had been held at $12,000 before it was taken off the market recently.

Modern Methods

In the last twenty-five years it has become "fashionable" to have appendicitis, and operations for the removal of the appendix are commonplace. Vaccinations for the prevention of smallpox, inoculations for diphtheria, typhoid and other diseases are almost universally practiced. Prejudices sometimes prevent certain people from taking advantage of the progress which science and medicine have made in this direction. People sometimes say "my grandfather lived to be 86 and he never had his appendix removed, and never was inoculated, why should I?" The answer is, of course, that while his grandfather lived to be 86, the great majority of people died at a comparatively early age.

According to figures just released by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, the death rate among its policyholders has dropped from 12.7 per 1,000 in 1911 to 7.7 per 1,000 in 1938. Thus in a little over a quarter of a century, the death rate has been cut by over one-third.

The average length of life of the policyholders is 14 years longer than it was 30 years ago, having advanced from 47 years to about 61 years. It is now about the same as that of the general population which, however, during the 30 years, has gained only about 8 years.

Some phenomenal reductions in mortality from individual diseases that took place between 1911 and 1938 are indicated by declines in their death rates per 100,000 policyholders, as follows:

Tuberculosis, from 224.8 to 48.9; influenza and pneumonia, from 131.1 to 58; typhoid fever, from 22.8 to 0.3; diphtheria, from 27.3 to 1.7; measles, from 11.4 to 1.8; scarlet fever, from 13.1 to 1.1; whooping cough, 7.1 to 2.0; Bright's disease, from 95 to 53.2; diseases of the respiratory tract, from 19.8 to 8.2; accidents, from 77.4 to 48.3.

Not everyone, of course, would have appendicitis, if he lived to be a hundred, but nowadays those who do simply have their appendix removed, live on with no ill effects; in the old days, they simply died. Thus, it pays to be "fashionable."

The Tourist Season

That many folks never know when they are well off is an old saying. This is particularly true with respect to the tourist season. This year was no exception to the rule. Throughout it all there was the usual fear that the tourists were not coming down. Now we learn that Miami, at least, had 25 percent more visitors than ever.

"This article is for the attention of those who have some difficulty in recognizing when Miami is having a good season," says the Miami Daily News. "If they follow directions, they can break into the cycle at any given time and know just what are the facts and what are the prospects. If they make their analysis as early as December, for instance, they will be able to profit from long-range planning."

"Miami is having a good season when: Merchants discover that the Thanksgiving trade gives no sign of even the usual pre-season ripple."

"Christmas trade boosts everyone to heights of optimism, but there is an immediate and precipitous drop in January."

"By Jan. 15 everybody is convinced that the December boom was heartlessly deceptive but that there is still a chance for a late season."

"By Feb. 1 the merchants have given up even that faint reliance. The season is unquestionably a bust. People simply aren't coming down this winter."

"By Feb. 15 there is a flurry of activity, but it is too good to last, and seasonal businessmen plan to taper their activities accordingly."

"By March 1—15 short days—the season has busted."

"By March 15 most of the seasonal people have completed arrangements to fold their tents and steal away a little earlier than usual in dank discouragement."

"On March 31 we learn from unimpeachable statistical sources that there have been 25 percent more people in Miami than ever before, that they have stayed on the average longer than usual, and that they have brought us a fabulous amount of business."

Albania Is Taken Over By Italians After Brief Clash

 To join such an alliance, Britain, meanwhile, sought to broaden the bloc, already including Poland, to take in Rumania and Hungary.

In Berlin, Nazi officials announced German support of the Italian occupation of Albania, Netherlands, alarmed over the tense situation, cancelled Easter leaves of troops manning border defenses.

Britain began deporting German Nazi agents and entered into a fatal race of dominating power, with the aggressors pitted against the "stop Hitler" bloc.

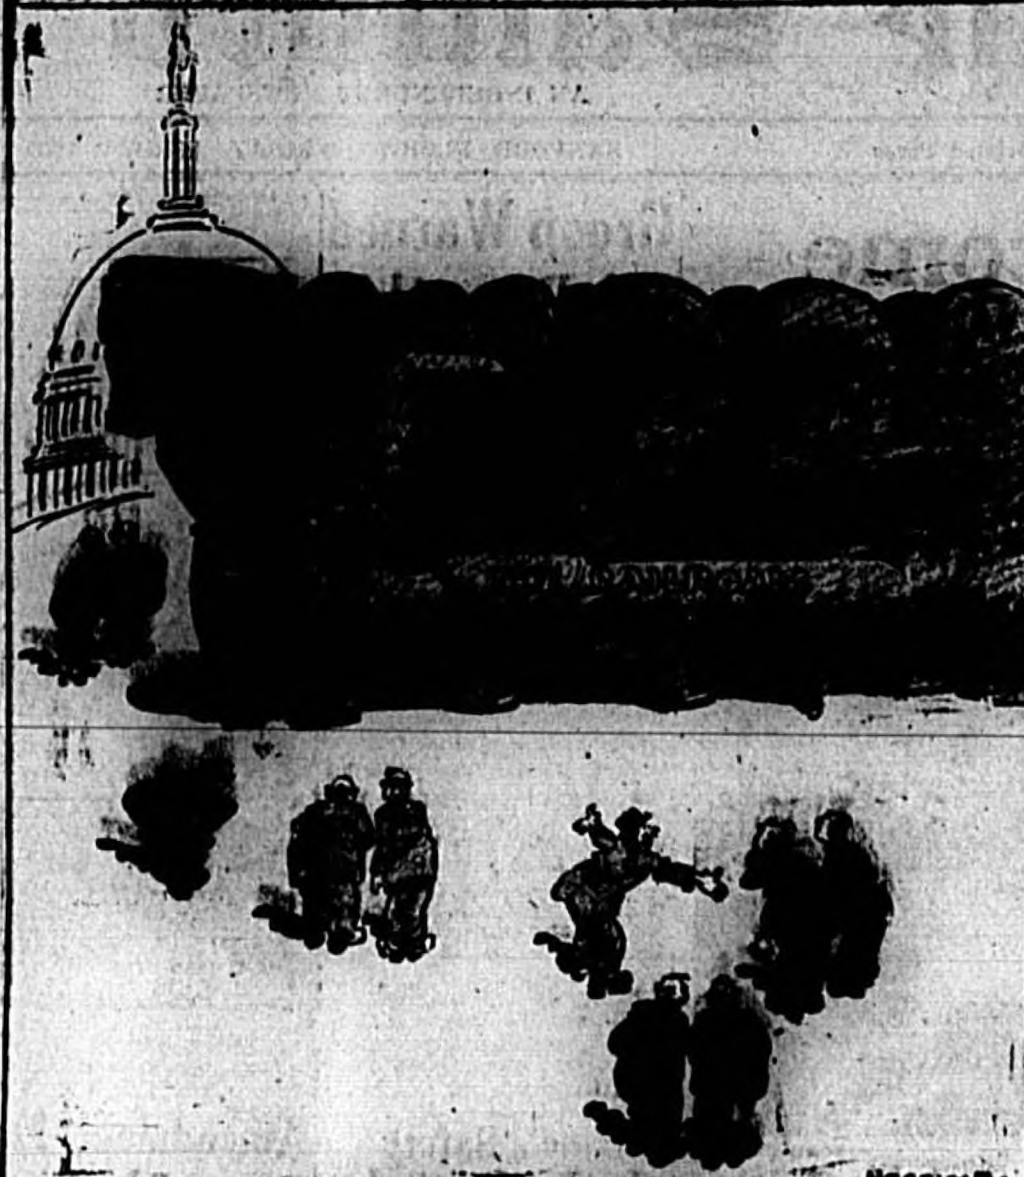

Albania or Yugoslavia were believed in London to be next on the Nazi-Fascist list of objectives, but the possibility of a surprise thrust elsewhere was not excluded.

British leaders believed that the Rome-Berlin axis, its war chiefs in secret consultation in the Austrian Tyrol, would not delay long in answering the announcement that Poland had thrown her 2,000,000 armed men into the "stop Hitler" front.

Many diplomats believed the situation was preparing a new scene in an effort to improve things with the fact that they still held the whip-hand and to stimulate other powers such as Rumania, Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey from entering in that line with the non-aggression pact.

Amendment May Give Seminole Its Own Senator

 Each county would have two votes for governor and other major officials for each of its members in the legislature.

Thus the five largest counties would have six votes each in general elections, the next 18 counties would have four votes each and the 44 smallest counties would have two votes each.

Similar proposals in the past have been opposed by senators and representatives from the more populous areas on the ground they would give a disproportionate vote in the selection of the governor, cabinet officials, justices, judges, senators from more than one county and other state officials.

Warning Against Tree Disease Is Given

The brightly colored swellings to be seen just at this season on the limbs and trunks of young pine trees is really a canker or rust disease and should be cut away.

G. H. Coulter, assistant State forester, states that the disease is particularly noticeable at this time as the orange-colored dust is just now breaking through the swollen bark. This dust is really disease spores which are carried by the wind to other trees.

Coulter states that the rust disease seldom attacks large trees but is common on saplings and young trees of all the native pine species although most common on loblolly. The disease does not go directly from pine to pine but passes an intermediary stage on oak trees where it is not noticeable.

The pruning of infected limbs or the cutting of trees where the trunk is affected is recommended to keep the disease from spreading.

KING'S DEATH 'ACCIDENTAL'

BAGHDAD—(AP)—An investigating magistrate made the finding yesterday that the death of King Ghazi early yesterday was "purely accidental" and occurred "by mere coincidence" in the back seat when the royal car crashed into a light pole.

Nazi activities in Britain. The home office refused to reveal the identities of the reported agents but it was understood that a least one was a business man, long resident in London.

So intense was Germany's anger at Poland for having thrown its lot with Britain and France that Hitler's secret warning to Poland to accept the German ultimatum of demands for the return of Danzig and a free zone in the city was regarded as a direct challenge.

Poland's refusal to accept the ultimatum was regarded as a direct challenge to Hitler's authority and as a declaration of war.

Membership Increase In Auxiliary Urged

A new all-time high membership record was in prospect for the American Legion Auxiliary as the organization began its April activities, according to Miss Jeanette Laing, legion auxiliary membership chairman, who added nearly 450,000 members were enrolled for 1939 at the close of March and last year's record enrollment of 490,000 appeared certain to be passed during April. The gain in strength has been general throughout the United States, practically every state showing an increase over last year's figures, Miss Laing said, attributing the auxiliary's growth to increased interest in the civic and patriotic work the organization is doing, especially its programs for protection of America's peace and defense of American democracy. The local unit, with an enrollment of 37 must share in the general growth of the auxiliary, Miss Laing said, adding that any woman whose husband, brother or father served this country in the World War is eligible to apply for membership. Miss Laing urged anyone eligible to "line up" for service in the local unit.

Mix some crushed pineapple with the rhubarb in your next pie. You will like the delicate flavor blend.

Remember the best dressing for avocado pears, according to connoisseurs, is a tart thin French one. Many people, however, prefer merely lemon juice and salt.

To make evenedged butter pats, fold a small piece of waxed paper over the sharp edge of a small paring knife and cut the butter into squares. The paper keeps the edges smooth and even.

If you want only a few drops of lemon juice, pierce the lemon

Series Will Be Continued Tonight At Lake Front Park

Bottlers Shut Out Power And Light Ten 9-0 While Servicemen Surprise Cannons With 7-4 Trouncing

The Coca-Cola Bottlers banged out seven hits for nine runs last night as they shut out the Florida Power & Light squad 9-0 in playing seven-inning ball behind the one-hit pitching of Stinson Kinlaw, in the curtain-raiser of the play-off of the 1938 diamond season.

In the second game of the play-off double header, the Scott Servicemen slapped a 7-4 polish job on the Eckerson Cannons in a surprise win over their blue-and-white clad rivals.

The Bottlers came through with a large first inning, to score four runs off Darrell Fergerson. A fielder's choice, an error, followed by Lally's single to center and Miles' long triple walloped to the same neighborhood, and then finished off by Kridler's single through short accounted for the four runs.

The play-off continues tonight as the Eckerson Cannons meet the Scott team in the second tilt of a two-out of three series and the first place Coca-Cola team will also take a second crack at the Florida Power & Light team.

In the first of the fifth, the Bottlers went into action again, bubbling over to the tune of three runs, collected on two passes issued to Evans and Tillis followed by a single to center before Miles came up to push a double out over short.

The only Power & Light hit of the game came in the last of the fifth, when Rines, second man up smashed out a grounder between first and second for a clean single to right.

In the second session of the evening Scott got away to an early start with two runs in the last of the fifth when a pass to Williams, followed by Altman's single to center, brought up Robinson who sprd. both men with a long single to left.

The cannery brethren picked up two runs in the last of the second, but the squeak chasers came back to collect three more tallies in their half of the inning, using two walks and a double by business.

In the first of the fourth Eckerson helped close the gap slightly when he slapped a double to right center to score Milwee and Taylor, but the gasoline gentlemen retaliated by chalking up another two runs in the last of the same frame to make the score 7-3.

The Cannons picked up another run in the first of the fifth when Hardin was safe on an error, doubling on in when Eckerson lined a double and shot into center field to make the score 7-4. In

Central Florida Greyhound Derby Will Be Run Tonight

When they close the windows at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club tonight all indications point to Chance Charlie as the favorite in the betting to win the Central Florida greyhound derby.

But the experts don't concede the grand old man of the AFD Na Lee Kennels much of a chance to take the honors, he has been losing in every derby for the past four years.

Charlie came into his prime in the long time.

When he was really at his peak he was forced to buck the greatest distance kennel of all time in H. S. Franklin's Ann derby.

SEMINOLE COUNTY SCHOOL NEWS

Several New Books Swell Collection Of School Library

To the large collection of books in the Seminole High School library several excellent new books have recently been added. These books are "Swiss" by the author of "The Day After Tomorrow", "Skyrunner" by Howard M. Brier, and "The Romance of American Transportation" by Franklin M. Beck.

A review of "Swiss" follows: "Through the dark and threatening forest rode Garth and Margaret, silently, their hearts beating faster at the thought of the errand which was to carry them so far away from the world which was home to them. For they were setting out in secret to search for their father, who had preached the Crusade, who was on his way to Jerusalem among the bands of those who wore the scarlet Cross. And because no word had come from him, Garth and Margaret knew that they must seek and find him. Of their thrilling adventures in the forest, and upon their journey, in London and on the way to the Far East, of whether or not they were successful in their quest, you will read in this stirring story of a boy and a girl who followed the First Crusade."

"Skyrunner": "Fire, air, wind, and water—at one time or another white was the last pilot for the Starling Airplane Company, Harry stood in danger from each. And as to these elemental powers was another as deadly-man, Harry resumed this all too well, at the beginning of his employment at Starling, when the desperate man with the glass eye broke into the factory by night.

Things began to move rapidly after that—adventure, thrills, mystery, treachery, and danger fill the remaining pages of this gripping book.

"The Romance of American Transportation": "Come and meet Robert Fulton and steamboat, "Clermont," more often called "Fulton's Folly" by his mocking acquaintances. He will unfold to you the plans for the Big Ditch, the Erie Canal; Henry Ford, and the first home built "tin snuff." The thrilling true story of man's conquering of space and time in transportation is in the stories of these and many other men who contributed much to our country's history and expansion.

Among the older books in the library that still provide good reading are:

"Kings of Today" by Raymond Woodbury Vance, a collection of modern essays on fifty various subjects; "North American Indians," a Smithsonian series, an account and history of American Indian north and Mexico; "The Constitution and the Men Who Made It" by Hastings Lyon, the brief biographies of each of the "founding fathers," including their subsequent careers; "What the Stars Come Out by Robert Baker, an astronomy; "The Battle of the Jackson Period" by G. C. Flowers, a general history, including the brilliant, dramatic, and special party battles and fascinating personalities of the eight years of Andrew Jackson's administration; and "What Literature Can Do for Me," an excellent and instructive book by Alfonso G. Smith.

The chief objective of the Dramatic Club in its province for the benefit of the students during chapel programs. The presentation of two one-act plays was held Thursday during the regular chapel program. These plays, "Mrs. O'Leary's Cow" and "What an Act" were under the direction of Miss Betty Williams. Due to the splendid work of Miss Williams and the members of the cast part of the party quite well.

Competition in the play "Mrs. O'Leary's Cow" was won by Virginia Brown, Gertrude Nelson, Thelma Brown, Betty Brown and Betty Hall.

The cast of "What an Act" consisted of:

Miss Brown, Walter Lee, Virginia Brown, Betty Brown, Gertrude Nelson and Betty Brown.

Elaborate Preparations Made For Senior Play

The Senior play is just a week off and every one is looking forward to it. The play is to be presented for two nights. This is the first time this has been done since 1911. The first night on Thursday the 14th will be for students and adults and the second night on the 15th will be for adults only. The play promises to be well done and refreshingly different from the usual high school plays.

Family pride like anything else in this life can be pursued to a point where it becomes a hindrance. This is the case with the play. The drama is set in a certain amount of such a hobby. The drama is set in a certain amount of such a hobby. The drama is set in a certain amount of such a hobby.

The following is the cast as they appear on the stage:

Avery (Barbara Stahl)—a middle-aged housekeeper.

Tyson (Kiddie Beidin)—the butler, a very respectable-looking man.

Louise (Martha Teiford)—the maid, a pretty young thing in uniform, cap and apron.

William (William Goetsch)—a young footman.

Annie (Emma Temple)—a slender, exquisite figure. She has dark eyes, a quiet patrician face, a character. Her voice is silvery.

Caroline (Mary Nancy Brock)—a pleasant, rather handsome woman, beautifully dressed and undisturbed in manner, especially with Victoria.

Victoria (Anne Wright)—a rather tall woman, still slender in a very, gaunt sort of way.

Background For Film OneThirdOf A Nation Studied By Students

"Pygmalion" is the first work of George Bernard Shaw's to be made into a moving picture. It was originally a very successful play, and the necessary changes for the stage were made by Mr. Shaw himself.

The play was based on the story of the ancient sculptor, Pygmalion, who modeled a statue of the perfect woman, and then fell in love with it, so like life it was. His plight was relieved when by an act of the Gods, the lovely statue was brought to life.

Professor Higgins (Leslie Howard) and Colonel Pickering (Scott Sunderland), made a wager to win it Professor Higgins took in a steel uncin, Eliza (Wendy Hiller), and made her from an ugly duckling into a beautiful swan. She, having been so beautifully made, she, as a jockey, the experiment was complete.

The usual love plot is present, and complications are provided by David Tyre. All in all, the play is a very good one, and it was greatly enjoyed.

Study material for this picture was provided by the English classes of Seminole High School through Photoplay Studios.

King Solomon's Mines Presented At School

A very interesting moving picture was presented Friday, Mar. 11, at the Seminole High School. The picture was sponsored by "Victor Motion Pictures," the first year Latin Club.

The picture, "King Solomon's Mines," was centered around Paul Robeson, famous negro singer, who portrayed the native prince, who was trying to regain the rule of his tribe, whose village was near the entrance to the fabled diamond mines, called King Solomon's Mines.

Thrilling incidents in the picture were the capture of the white people by the hostile natives, and their capture by the friendly natives, and the escape.

Staff Is Peased As Salmagundi Goes To Printers

By DORIS McCALL, Salmagundi Editor.

The Salmagundi has gone to press! Just imagine! All seven of the staff is still in a daze; they just don't know what to do with themselves since there is no more work to be done on the publication.

The editors of the pencil which the literary editors have been using continuously the last few months are completely demoralized. Winkles are increased not only on the brow of the manager, Miss Tarkenton, but also on that of the copy-editor, Walter Hayes. The business manager and assistants are exhausted. Finally, the art editor is able to get the cramped out of their fingers and the staff editors are able to relax after living a life of perils with their candid photographs.

Everyone on the staff is breathing a sigh of relief. "Wow, what a time!"

The Salmagundi has had a very successful year. It has been better than ever before. Due to membership in the "National Scholastic Press Association," the school annual has been criticized and through this advice all mistakes have been corrected.

The Salmagundi has had very successful year financially and the best may be expected in every way. Let's give the 1939 Salmagundi a hand.

Dr. Ludd M. Spivey Gives Inspiring Address At School

One of the most inspiring and thought-provoking talks Seminole High has had this year was the one given on Wednesday by Dr. Ludd M. Spivey, president of Florida Southern College. His unique manner and confidential tone relayed a philosophy of life and philosophy to the receptive minds of the students.

The most striking thing to him is "What to admire?" He said it would be to think that anything he admired was good, but it was good to him it was not necessarily good for him. It is always destructive to do just what we want. "What is the business of education and life?" he queried. "It's to teach us what is good for us. To refine our desires, to do something with our appetites and wishes is the fundamental thing. Training the mind is not the only thing one needs to do. Since man uses his sharp mind to get what he wants to change his desires if he would improve and make something of himself. Education must have more to do than to give book learning. It must have to do with our dreams, ideas, etc. A person must have high ideals and standards and must dream dreams of ambition."

He said: "If you don't go with the wrong person, you're reading the wrong book, you're sitting in the wrong drug store. You have to do something and do it yourself. How to do it? Change your tastes. Taste is everything. If you have a taste for that which is low and vulgar and coarse, I'm no fortune teller, but I know what's going to happen to you unless you change your taste."

Changing the line of thought some what he demands: "What is intellectually true? What should I believe about my fellow man about education? That is what you're in school for. You come with open-mindedness. Learn to say to yourself: 'I'm a candidate to see, to try to test.'"

The group of students followed his logic and analytical mind. "Are we less superstitious than we were, or have we merely changed with superstitions?" After this bit of food, he enlarged with the observation that after his years of dealing with college students he came to the conclusion: "We have only changed our superstitions. 'Man doesn't always know what to believe about God, about the world which contains him or anything, but his self-appointed task should be to find out what is right,' he firmly declared. To his own question 'Are you putting your approval on the right things?' he answered, 'How does your fellow man think of you? What happens to you if you drink or (if a girl) smoke? If you are more and more and feel more and more and more? If you're more of a person because you share in this sort of thing, it's all right. How much of your personal behavior should you put your approval on? If you could analyze it honestly and truly would you approve it? And if you shouldn't put your approval on it would you dare to have enough sense to know that 'I'm in excess baggage?' In a humorous mood, Dr. Spivey concluded with: 'Do you know how much good advice it'll give you for the fellow who gives it. He likes it.'

Seminole Farm Chapter Holds Annual Banquet

With 80 in attendance, the 11th annual Father-Son banquet of the Seminole Chapter of Future Farmers of America proved to be one of the best attended and the most successful since the inception of this annual affair, according to an announcement by Alex E. Johnson, advisor of the chapter.

Held in the vocational agricultural building in the rear of the high school last Tuesday night, the feature of the program was the dedication of the new building by Ralph Chapman, advisor of the board of school trustees, and an address by George Mark, Volusia county school superintendent.

In his dedication of the building built through a WPA project sponsored by the Seminole County Board of Public Instruction, Mr. Chapman pledged the continued support of the trustees and praised the work of the Future Farmers. He dedicated the building to the "use and growth of the chapter for the purpose of carrying out the WPA motto, 'learning to do, going to learn, striving to live and living to give.'"

Speaking on the value and development of Future Farmer work, Mr. Mark praised vocational education but declared that the fundamentals, reading, writing and arithmetic, are still essentials to success in the professional field.

Harvey Hais, Chapter president, presided as toast master and other speakers from among the members were Amos Jones, Kenneth Gustavason, and Robert Greer.

The menu for the banquet was prepared in the kitchen of the new building and included four hogs which were barbecued by the members of the chapter.

Hull Sees Italy's Invasion As New Threat To Peace

State Secretary Condemns If Duce's Occupation An Violation Of Agreement

New Move May Be Boomerang

France Gains Support Of Moslems After Mussolini's Coup

WASHINGTON, Apr. 8.—(AP)—Secretary Hull in a statement approved by President Roosevelt said today "The forcible and violent invasion of Albania is unquestionably an additional threat to the peace of the world."

The State secretary condemned Italy's action after consulting by telephone with the President who is at Warm Springs, Ga., and said the President agreed the statement should be made.

The Secretary indicated the belief Italy had violated the Kellogg anti-war pact, signed by both Italy and Albania. He indicated, further, that an arms embargo against Italy was under consideration.

Italian invaders of Albania reached today into Wraza, the mountainous little kingdom's capital, intensifying fears of most of Europe of further Italian conquest.

Passing forces, which landed yesterday on Albania's Adriatic coast against the futile resistance of ill-armed Albanian forces, found the capital ready to receive its conquerors.

King Zog had fled and was believed on his way to Greece where his queen, Geraldine, and their three-day-old heir already had taken an asylum in a tavern at Florina.

It appeared that Italy, which long had supported Zog in order to control his tiny kingdom, 45 miles across the Adriatic from Italy, was flabbergasted with him.

In Paris, Italy's invasion of the Mohammedan Albania was regarded as a possible boomerang for Il Duce, self-styled "protector of Islam."

In Syria, anti-French elements immediately swung to the support of French and in Tunisia Moslems answered an Italian radio appeal for anti-French demonstrations with messages of loyalty to France.

In neither Paris nor London was the Albanian conquest seen as a source of war in itself but in both capitals it cast its shadow on efforts to meet a "halt Hitler" line.

It was announced in London that Prime Minister Chamberlain had been talking to a leading trip to the Mediterranean to confer with the British and the Albanian allies.

Albanian fishermen fought bravely to stem the Italian invasion today by bombing Italian ships and coastal defenses.

While the landing party was in progress, the Italian destroyer "Frodo" was sunk by British planes.

It was reported that the Italian fleet was being driven back to the Adriatic coast.

Sanford Makes Contribution To Safety Record

Sharp Reduction In Traffic Deaths Reported By Council

"Sanford's contribution to the national safety drive is 12 months without a single traffic fatality," Police Chief Roy Williams stated this morning after a check up of accident records kept by the department.

Chief Williams, commenting on this record, said: "It takes constant public co-operation to make a record like that possible over that length of time. I hope that the public will continue this fine co-operation, remembering that safe driving isn't just courtesy to the other fellow, it's a very economical form of life insurance for yourself and those who ride with you."

The figures for traffic deaths in February for the nation as a whole, as compiled by the National Safety Council, show that there were 1810 traffic deaths this year or 280 less than that of February, 1938. It raised to 2000 the theoretical number of lives saved on streets and highways since the record period of unbroken traffic improvement began in November, 1937.

Added to the 210 lives saved in January, the February tally made the 1939 total 460. Both the January and February death totals were the lowest for those months since 1933.

A most encouraging phase of the continued improvement, the council said, was that it came without a decrease in travel. In fact, the 19 percent death reduction was based on 19 percent more travel.

CHICAGO, Apr. 8.—(AP)—A cold wave that kept temperatures near the freezing mark in the northern states put a damper on Easter preparations today.

Bag Containing $2500 Disappears From Valise Used To Carry Race Track Money

The management of the Sanford Orlando Kennel Club is offering a reward of $500 for clues leading to the recovery of the approximately $2,500 which was in a currency bag found missing at the Longwood track last night.

Orlando police continued their search today for some clue to the currency bag containing approximately $2,500 in cash found missing from a valise at the opening of the greyhound races at Longwood last night by officials of the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club.

The missing bag was one of three in a valise in which the currency for the track was transferred, according to George W. Gray of this city, one of the deputies who guarded the transfer of the funds from the Orlando police department where the money had been kept overnight since the Orlando banks were to be closed on Good Friday.

Mr. Gray said that the missing bag contained the most money, bills of various denominations which had been counted and wrapped for deposit in the bank.

"The $2,450 missing was the amount which ordinarily would have been left on deposit in the bank," Mr. Gray said adding that (Continued on Page Two)

Death Strikes At Throttle Of Fast Passenger Train

MACON, Ga., Apr. 8.—(AP)—Death struck yesterday at the throttle of the Southland, fast Central of Georgia train in the Florida service, and claimed Engineer M. E. Courtney, 67-year-old veteran of the line.

Courtney was stricken as the train pulled out of the Macon station, and before it had reached the yard limits. He died a few minutes after he collapsed.

A heart attack was blamed. Fireman M. S. Flowers, stopped the train, crowded with returning vacationists from Florida.

J. C. Garner, another engineer, left a switch engine when he saw the Southland make its unexpected stop, and backed the cars into the Macon station.

With few passengers noting anything unusual, Bob Malone moved over from the Dixie Flyer and took the Southland to Atlanta, while the fireman took over the throttle of the latter train.

Courtney, a native of Baton Rouge, La., was a veteran of 20 years service. Funeral services were arranged in Atlanta where he had lived for 20 years.

Police climaxed their drive on prowlers and petty thieves with the arrest this morning, by Police Chief Roy Williams, of Henry Crosby, 23 year old negro, in a rooming house at Fourth Street and Cypress Avenue, and the seizure, a few minutes later by Sergeant Jesse Howard and Chief Roy Williams of another negro, Roy Bryant, 28, who was nabbed at Seventh Street and Cypress Avenue after a three blocks chase by officers.

Chief Williams picked up Crosby in his room, after taking a revolver away from the negro. A quick call to the station brought reinforcements, and the arrest of Bryant quickly followed.

Officers made a search of the room following the arrests, locating a pistol and two watches stolen last night from the W. C. Wilson home at 501 Sanford Avenue.

Canal Brings Controversy At Hearing

Railroad Opposition To $200,000,000 Waterway Provokes Heated Arguments

H. J. Borjes Is A. C. L. Speaker

WASHINGTON, Apr. 8.—(AP)—Railroad opposition to the Florida ship canal provoked a heated controversy today in the Senate Commerce Committee hearing. It started when H. V. Borjes, assistant general freight agent for the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, read to the committee a list of reasons why the canal should not be built.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla.) assailed each point vigorously, charging the railroad opposition was "inconsistent."

He said rail witnesses argued on one hand that existing carrier lines would suffer, while on the other they said the ship operators would not use the canal if it were built.

Pepper tried in vain to get a statement that railroad opposition was based entirely on the belief the development of water transportation would be detrimental to the rail lines operating in Florida.

Yesterday the Senate Commerce Committee heard the Geological Survey still believed the Florida ship canal would result in a lowering of ground water levels in nearby areas.

V. T. Stringfield, appearing briefly for the Government agency, read to the committee a recent statement in which the geologists warned the effect would extend "indefinite distances outward from the canal, thus depressing the ground water level in the limestone over a wide zone."

Questioned by Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), the witness said the survey had not changed this view.

Dr. F. H. H. Cuthoun, Clemson College professor of geology, warned the committee grave dangers were to be expected from the project.

Pensions For Circuit Judges Advocated

TALLAHASSEE, Apr. 8.—(AP)—A pension system for Florida's Circuit Court judges would be set up under the provisions of a bill introduced in the Senate yesterday by Senator Dewey A. Dye of Bradenton, who for years was the State's attorney in that section of the State.

As a companion measure, Senator Dye offered a joint resolution which would order the placing on the November, 1940, general election ballot a proposal amendment to the State Constitution permitting the recall of retired judges to temporary active service, similar to the plan now followed by the United States government.

As to the pension plan, the judges would pay 2 percent of their salaries into the fund, the State to take care of the expense, the pensions to be on the basis of two-thirds of the regular pay if retirement is made after 15 years' service, and one-half the regular pay if retirement is due to permanent disability after 10 years of service. A judge would have to be 60 years of age to be eligible for the voluntary retirement, unless from the total disability provisions.
