

AF Opens Door Of Opportunity For Graduates

The door of opportunity is open to Sanford area high school graduates, T/Sgt. Joseph Bloom, Air Force recruiter, announced.

"Qualified high school graduates ages 17 to 27, inclusive, are eligible for these educational opportunities under two Air Force programs," said Bloom.

Under "Operation Bootstrap" airmen study on bases in their spare time and then attend college summer semester on a full time basis.

The second educational package is called the Airman Education and Commissioning Program. This program offers airmen the opportunity to attend college full time on a year-round basis and gain a commission as an officer.

The Air Force has coupled formal education to technical training to add new meaning to an old opportunity—"Learn while you earn." These opportunities are available to those who qualify for Air Force enlistment.

Sergeant Bloom has all the facts about Air Force educational opportunities. He is available for conferences at the USO to 1 p.m. each Thursday.

The FCC order, protested but accepted by the Bell Telephone companies, will reduce the toll for a three-minute, station-to-station call anywhere in the continental U.S. to:

—A maximum of $1.50 on Saturdays and daily between 6 and 8 p.m.

—A maximum of $1 on Sunday's and after 8 p.m. daily.

Nation's Help Needed

Progress Kills Wildlife

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Interior Department needs help from the nation in saving from extinction some helpless victims of progress—about 30 kinds of birds, animals and fishes.

In less than 150 years, the department reported, almost 60 birds and mammals have vanished from the American scene and a co-operative effort is needed to prevent the list from growing.

The reason for this is progress. As man expanded farming, dug more oil wells, built new dams, he removed the swamps, free-flowing streams and tall-grass prairies needed for wildlife survival.

Already the Atlantic salmon, once an important sport and commercial fish in New England waters, now can be found in limited numbers in only eight Maine streams.

The California Condor, the nation's largest soaring land bird, weighs about 20 pounds and has a wingspread of nearly 10 feet. It once ranged the entire Pacific Coast. But hunters have reduced its numbers to only 40 or 50 confined to an area around the southern Sierra Nevada and the coast ranges of Southern California.

The black-footed ferret, a large weasel with black feet and face mask, is vanishing from the Great Plains and the high reaches of the Rockies. Destruction of the prairie dog, the weasel's natural prey, and the original grasslands have reduced its numbers to only a comparative few in the Dakotas and Nebraska.

Interior Secretary Stewart Udall is sending a list of the threatened wildlife to conservation groups and individual experts throughout the country, inviting their comment and possible additions. National and international agencies will be urged to co-operate in the effort.

The department also may ask Congress to help. Legislation is under consideration which would establish a 10-year program of acquiring land to preserve the essential habitat of rare and endangered species.

Naval Officer's Action Honored

Establishment of a Commander Barton W. Bartholomew Memorial Award for "Excellence in Naval Leadership" was announced today by Capt. James O. Mayo, commander of Reconnaissance Attack Wing One.

The award is in the memory of Commander Bartholomew, commanding officer of Heavy Attack Squadron Eleven (VAH-11), killed in an aircraft accident in the Mediterranean last July 19.

The award will be presented annually to the Sanford-based aviator which best exemplifies the spirit of General Order 21. The military order, which concerns leadership at all levels of command, stresses the dignity and worth of the individual.

"Commander Bartholomew was an outstanding leader of men," Captain Mayo said in announcing the award.

"He took a great interest in the officers and men he commanded, and his concern and example inspired them to win the Navy 'E' award, ranking VAH-11 'best in the fleet' during his period of command. It is, therefore, fitting to commemorate his life by citing his outstanding portrayal of Naval leadership."

The first award will be presented during the annual Reconnaissance Attack Wing One Bombing Derby in early 1965 by his widow, Mrs. Kay Bartholomew, who resides at 2007 North Grandview Avenue with their daughter, Sandra, and son, Scott.

City Merchants To Plan Future

Members of the board of directors of the Sanford Merchants Association and city officials have been invited to meet with merchants of South Sanford for dinner and discussion at the Capri Restaurant at 7 p.m. tonight.

The meeting has been designated an "informal" one, with several proposals to be discussed. Among them are plans for Christmas decorations for the south end of the city, already underway; plans for civic beautification, in accordance with the recently inaugurated Seminole County beautification committee, future city-wide sales promotions and advertising; possibility of establishing a plant nursery for civic beautification purposes.

Several proposals have been made at previous meetings to change the name of the association to something with a "more inclusive" sound, possibly "Greater Sanford Board of Trade" or "Greater Sanford Board of Commerce" or some other designation to get away from the idea of "downtown merchants," a sore point with the merchants in the south end of the city.

Spokesman for the south city businessmen are George Mills, Art Brown and Bob Yentsch. Mrs. Mona Bridges and Mrs. Lorraine Selvich are in charge of the Christmas decorations committee.

Allamonte Man Held In Slaying

A man identified as Robert Dumas, 33, of Allamonte Springs, was being held on an open charge this afternoon in the slaying of an Allamonte Springs woman last weekend.

Dumas was questioned this morning in the case and had submitted to a lie detector test prior to his admission of guilt. He was queried by Deputy J. Q. (Slim) Galloway and an official of the Florida Sheriff's Bureau. No motive has been established, police said.

The body of Ruby Lee Williams was found Monday in a bedroom of her home on Levan Street. She had been shot in the left side of her chest. Neighbors became suspicious Monday and summoned deputies.

An autopsy revealed the bullet was fired from a .38 caliber pistol at close range. The woman lived alone, neighbors told police.

FEC Railway Engineers Resume Work

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Engineers went back to work for the Florida East Coast Railway under pre-strike conditions today but non-operating unions continued the longest railroad strike in the nation's history.

The striking unions were in federal court here fighting an FEC request that it be allowed to operate under emergency conditions made necessary by the strike instead of following their contract with the unions.

U. S. District Judge Bryan Simpson denied Monday a railroad request that exceptions be allowed in the contract with the engineers because of the strike.

His ruling made effective at 12:01 a. m. this morning his earlier injunction requiring compliance with the contract.

Simpson said the FEC was "trying to get the injunction." He added, "There's no showing in the world that they can't deal with the engineers under the existing contract."

The engineers, who had been honoring picket lines since the strike began Jan. 23, 1963, went back to work so the railroad could get on with its normal operations.

Longwood Vole Turnout Good
Longwood voting was reported "off to a good start" shortly before noon today by Mrs. Onnie Shomate, city clerk, who said voters were showing up in regular numbers at the two polling places, City Hall and the Fire Department.

Mrs. Shomate reported a total of 873 registered voters in the city and reminded that polls will be open until 7 p.m. Voting is by machines on loan from Orange County.

Officers open are those of mayor, city clerk, city tax collector and two council posts.

The Council told Atty. William C. Hutchison, counsel for L. T. Hunt Jr., operator of the hotel, that a minimum of 30 rooms must be available for rental and the dining area must be able to serve 100 persons.

Hutchison noted the Council had issued licenses on three occasions "during the past two year period which allowed the bar to operate without meeting those conditions."

Rev. Jack Lindsay, pastor of First Baptist Church, opposed the renewal. He said "a dead hotel is nothing but an eyesore but it is better than a live headache."

UN Assembly Acts To Avert Showdown

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—The General Assembly opens its long-delayed 1964 session today with strong prospects of an immediate recess for further talks to avert a showdown on Russia's right to vote.

The opening was scheduled for 3 p. m.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko held a long but inconclusive meeting on the issue Monday. There were indications that they agreed to postpone a showdown for two or three days and have further talks.

Secretary General Thant told newsmen there was a strong possibility that the assembly would recess for at least 24 hours soon after its opening.

The decision was to be made this morning after the views of various regional groups in the world parliament were made known.

Neither Thant nor U. S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson believed the crisis would reach a make-or-break point today.

The recess action might come at any time after the opening of the session but Thant thought it more likely after the election of Alex Quaison-Sackey of Ghana, unopposed for the assembly presidency.

The election would be held on a "no objection" basis, without the formality of a vote.

The issue behind the dramatic situation was Russia's refusal to pay any part of the $2 million it owes for peace-keeping operations in the Congo and the Middle East. Russia contends it was assessed illegally by the Security Council, where there is a Soviet veto.

The corporation was host for a luncheon and social hour during the extended tour of Central Florida's newest community.

Liquor Permit Denied To Hotel

By Donna Estes

The Longwood City Council last night declined to renew a liquor license for the Longwood Hotel, citing a city ordinance which requires specific dining and rooming minimums.

The Council told Atty. William C. Hutchison, counsel for L. T. Hunt Jr., operator of the hotel, that a minimum of 30 rooms must be available for rental and the dining area must be able to serve 100 persons.

Hutchison noted the Council had issued licenses on three occasions "during the past two year period which allowed the bar to operate without meeting those conditions."

Temperature Will Continue Low Tonight

Sanford and Seminole County residents joined much of the rest of the nation in shivering this morning when the mercury dipped below the 40-degree mark for the first time in long months.

And more of the same is due tonight with frost predicted as the wind subsides. Last night's northerly wind penetrated homes and bones and made the temperature feel much colder than the reported low of 37 degrees.

The wind, however, kept frost from forming but agricultural interests are checking the latest frost warnings to prepare for possible damage tonight.

LAKELAND (UPI)—Sun-pampered Floridians searched out their sweaters this morning as temperatures in the state fell to the 30s in the north and 50s along the southeast coast.

The Lakeland Weather Bureau said there was apparently no frost and no damage to citrus or truck crops. None had been expected, forecasters added.

A brisk wind and dry air kept frost from forming, weathermen said and the cold air was probably more beneficial than harmful to farmers.

The cold would put more color in oranges and the dry air helped truck crops, a forecaster explained.

It was the second mass of cold air to visit Florida this season without causing damage to farmers.

Although record lows were recorded on Oct. 21, early season fruits and vegetables were not harmed.

Early forecasts said the state will experience the same low temperatures tonight.

A record-cold, wind-driven snow storm plunged temperatures below zero in the Northern Plains and freezing all the way to the Gulf Coast today. Southern California was in a record heat wave.

It was 8 below at Pellston, Mich., 15 at St. Louis, Mo., and Louisville, Ky., and 33 at Dallas, Tex., early today.

A reading of 88 at Los Angeles Monday broke a 74-year record for Nov. 30. It was the second day in a row Los Angeles had a record high. A reading of 85 sent a new peak at Santa Ana, Calif., Monday.

Sixty-mile-an-hour gales whipped the snow at Ashville, N. C., Monday. Seventeen inches of snow fell at New Buffalo, Mich., on the southern tip of Lake Michigan.

The cold set records in the Dakotas, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, Minnesota and Illinois.

Many schools were closed. In Indiana alone, four traffic deaths were blamed on snow-covered highways.

The coldest reading in the nation was 31 below at Valley City, N. D.

Salvation Army To 'Sound Off' For The Needy

By Dotie Amos
The familiar ding-a-ling of bells will be sounding soon in Sanford when the Salvation Army Christmas kettles are set up on city streets.

Capt. Harry Foden said today that the kettle operation will begin Saturday. Normal activity will be centered around two kettles except on the days assigned to the Kiwanis Club when more kettles will be set up in accordance with the Kiwanians competitive bell-ringing teams, each attempting to raise the largest amount of money.

Other clubs which will man the kettles on certain days during the three-week period include the American Legion, Shrine Club, DeMolay, Lions, Rotary, World War I Barracks 406, Pilot Club and Woman's Club.

Goal for the year has been set at $2,000. This money will go toward the issuance of food tickets for needy families.

Another facet of the Salvation Army's Christmas cheer program is the preparation of clothing and costumes for 144 Barbie dolls. These doll clothes are being made by women of the community, including the women of the First Presbyterian, Central Baptist, First Methodist, and Nazarene Churches.

The Salvation Army ladies are preparing the sunshine bags which will be given to residents of the jails, rest homes and hospitals on Christmas Day. The sunshine bags contain numerous useful items to provide a spark of joy and pleasure in what otherwise might be a dreary day.

"We have no volunteers yet for the toy shop, but hope to get it set up soon. In the meantime, we would appreciate the donations of toys in good condition which may be passed on to children who may otherwise receive none," said Captain Foden.

Warm clothing also will be useful in providing comfort for needy families and donations will be appreciated, but Captain Foden stated that such items must be delivered to Salvation Army headquarters at 214 East Second Street as pick-up service will not be available during December.

This year, the Salvation Army and the Elks Club are setting up a clearing house to provide wider distribution of Christmas baskets by clubs and organizations of the community and to avoid needless duplication.

The clearing house plan will supply information to anyone who might want to give a basket or other form of help to a needy family, thereby aiding some who might not be known to need help.

The Sanford Elks Lodge and the Salvation Army are setting up a Christmas Clearing House for the first time this year, to insure better distribution of Christmas baskets and other gifts for needy families.

Under the newly established clearing house system, a card index will be maintained listing the family name and address of those who will be receiving help from local churches and civic organizations.

The index will provide information to anyone who might want to give a basket or other form of help.

Organizations who plan to make such gifts are requested to call the Salvation Army office during the hours of 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and give the name of the families or individuals for which they are planning to provide.

The Salvation Army office personnel will check the master file to ascertain if the family or individual is already listed to receive help from some other source.

If the family is not on the master list, the organization calling will be informed and a card will be filled out with the name of the family, the name of the organization supplying help and the form of aid. This card will then be added to the master file.

Persons or organizations wishing the name of a family for whom no gifts have yet been designated are requested to call the Salvation Army headquarters to obtain one or more names.

Auto Insurance Hike Requested

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Rate increases for automobile insurance that would cost Florida drivers a total about $6 million a year are being sought by 200 insurance companies doing business in Florida because of skyrocketing accident rates.

In asking State Treasurer — Insurance Commissioner J. Edwin Larson for the increases, the companies cited a "steadily worsening picture of death and destruction" on the state's highways.

Larson scheduled a hearing here Dec. 7 at 9 a.m. on the proposed changes.

Coupled with the proposal for the rate changes was a plea for a new system of classifying drivers which would set up some 700 categories based on driver experience and individual cars and car owners.

The reclassification plan would reduce present rates in some cases.

The changes were proposed by the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters and the National Automobile Underwriters Association, which represent some 200 companies operating in the state.

If approved, the rate changes would set a pattern for other companies not included in the requests. The last insurance rate hike granted by Larson was in 1961.

The companies said that in the last year the number of deaths and injuries in Florida in traffic accidents had jumped 15.3 per cent, and that accidents were up 15 per cent for the first six months of this year.

"On auto liability coverage alone, companies affiliated with the national bureau suffered underwriting losses totaling more than $11 million in Florida during 1962 and 1963," the insurance men reported.

Under the proposed rate changes, the liability rate for private passenger cars would go up an average of 23.3 per cent in the state, hitting the maximum allowed by law — 25 per cent — in some areas of the state. Physical damage insurance would rise an average of 4.8 per cent, and commercial vehicle insurance would also go up an average of 4.6 per cent for liability.

Under the reclassification system, some drivers in younger brackets would benefit by a rate decrease based on statistics which show they are not as big a risk as previously thought — but would still wind up paying the highest rates.

Some of the biggest increases would be for unmarried women under 21. Women 30 through 64 who live alone or are the only drivers in their homes would get lower premiums.

As for automobiles, the new plan would recognize the value of the car being insured as well as the age, sex and marital status of the driver, whereas current comprehensive coverage rates are based solely on sales price and age of the insured car.

For instance, a married man aged 21 in the Miami area—where insurance rates are the highest in the state—under the proposed rate increase would go from $168 to $200 for liability. But the accompanying reclassification plan would cut the premium to $115—or a decrease of $53 a year.

Some of the biggest increases would be for unmarried women under 21. Women 30 through 64 who live alone or are the only drivers in their homes would get lower premiums.

As for automobiles, the new plan would recognize the value of the car being insured as well as the age, sex and marital status of the driver, whereas current comprehensive coverage rates are based solely on sales price and age of the insured car.

Moon Rocket Test Slated For Friday

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The Atlas-Centaur rocket that is scheduled to begin sending robot explorers to landings on the moon late next year is set to make its fourth test flight Friday.

The Federal Space Agency announced Monday that the 112-foot rocket will be carrying for the first time a model simulating the 2,100-pound weight and structural characteristics of its future surveyor spacecraft payloads.

Surveyors are designed to land on the moon with television cameras and instruments to explore possible landing sites for Apollo astronauts.

The upcoming Centaur shot will be the toughest test yet for the high energy rocket that is more than two years behind its development schedule.

The hydrogen-filled Centaur second stage will first propel itself and its dummy payload into an orbit 105 miles above earth.

Then, after coasting for 25 minutes, Centaur's two engines will be re-fired for the first time in space and the unit will shoot into an elliptical orbit ranging from 105 to 5,777 miles high.

The first Atlas-Centaur blew up 55 seconds after launch in May, 1962. The second flight was a success a year ago. The third shot last June failed to reach orbit because of a pump failure but the space agency said most of the flight's test objectives were achieved.

The hydrogen-filled Centaur second stage will first propel itself and its dummy payload into an orbit 105 miles above earth.

Baby Drowns In Bathtub

Priscilla Snyder, 14-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Snyder, Route 2, drowned in a bathtub Monday afternoon at the Snyder home. Deputy J. Q. (Slim) Gallo-way quoted the mother that the child and her sister, Patricia, 2½, were left alone on their beds. The first word Mrs. Snyder had of trouble was when Patricia told her mother Priscilla was "hurt."

The child was taken to Seminole Memorial Hospital where she was pronounced dead.

'64 Hurricane Season 'Worst'

MIAMI (UPI)—The Weather Bureau reported today that Hurricanes Cleo, Dora and Hilda—which smashed ashore in Florida and Louisiana—made the 1964 storm season the worst in 15 years for the U. S. mainland.

"The law of averages finally caught up with us," said chief hurricane forecaster Gordon E. Dunn. This season, which ended Monday, listed 49 dead and $515 million in damages.

Four hurricanes hit the southeastern states, three of them slashing into Florida. Isabel rolled out of the Gulf across south Florida in the waning days of the season.

Outside the country, the season's 12 tropical storms—six became hurricanes and three were never named—claimed 217 victims and smashed $86 million in property.

Of the 49 persons killed on the mainland, 38 died as tornadoes danced across southern Louisiana preceding Hilda, which swept ashore over lowland dikes near New Orleans Oct. 3.

Cleo, one of the season's big headaches to the insurance people, took 214 lives in its onslaught through the Caribbean before roaring over the heart of Miami with 130 mile an hour winds and up the Atlantic coast.

Not since 1948 have hurricanes plagued the seaboard to such a degree. Between the midnight turmoil of Aug. 28, when Cleo hit Miami, and Sept. 16, when Dora swept to sea out of Virginia, a total of $378.5 million in damage was done by the two storms—mostly in Florida, Georgia and South Carolina.

"This means nothing as to the future," Dunn told UPI. "Florida and the southeastern United States have been leading a charmed life since 1851. Ordinarily, the Southeast can expect one hurricane to hit every year and one 'major' hurricane every four years. Between 1951 and 1963, we had only one major one and three regular blows. "The law of averages just gave the New England states a break and caught up with us."

Spy In Sky Stops Dog-nappers

ANTIOCH, Calif. (UPI) — An Antioch man and his son swooped down from the sky to save their dog from two would-be dog-nappers.

Jerry Graham and his son, Chris, 18, were flying over the Antioch Airport when they spotted two men driving away with their German short-hair, Big Red.

They landed and took chase in the family car cornering the thieves four miles away.

Artist Group Will Launch Fund Campaign

The Sanford-Seminole Art Association needs to raise some money for various projects of the association and Seminole Countians will have an opportunity to benefit by it.

The Art Association is planning a two-day art sale at 108 Magnolia (behind Touchton's drugstore) which will feature original paintings of local artists, donated for the cause.

"Ownership of original paintings is a status symbol, as well as an aesthetic pleasure," said Mrs. Helen DeWit, a former president of the SSA.

"Collecting paintings done by more than one artist increases the owner's chances of one day having a collectors item. Often the artist whose works are relatively unknown today becomes renowned in later years and his works are in demand. This possibility makes the purchase of an original painting an investment as well as an enjoyment," she said.

"The hanging of original paintings in the home or office is decorative and brightening as well as being an indication of the owner's appreciation of the finer things of life," she noted.

Hours of the sale have been set from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. Friday and 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. on Saturday.

Besides the paintings, prospective customers will find many handmade artistic and useful novelty items. The sale of food items will also be included.

Mrs. DeWit emphasized that paintings make a welcome and unusual Christmas gift.

THANKSGIVING BASKETS, 13, of them, were collected, packed and distributed to needy area families last week by the Dorcas Society of Forest Lake Seventh-day Adventist Church. Among those working on the project at the regular weekly meeting were, from left, Mrs. Gayl Dunnuck, Mrs. Ruth Thompson, Mrs. Lula Casler and Mrs. Grace Beane.

Thanksgiving Cheer Spread By Dorcas

By Maryann Miles

A total of 13 Thanksgiving baskets prepared by the Dorcas Society of Forest City Seventh-day Adventist Church went out to needy families last week. Merchants from throughout the area assisted with the project.

Women of the Society meet each Tuesday from 9 a. m. until noon at Dorcas House on the campus of Forest Lake Academy. Members are always making quilts for students and families in need and their Dorcas House shelves and closets are filled with staple goods, clothing, bedding, towels and many other household items ready for distribution, whatever the need might be. In addition, they always have baby layettes on hand to give a family in need.

Just recently the Society donated 66 garments to one family in the area and some 200 to a group in Tennessee.

Those present for last week's meeting to help pack the baskets and to iron and mend clothing donated during the past week were Mrs. Grace Beane, Mrs. Lula Casler, Mrs. Erna Crist, Mrs. Gayl Dunnuck, Mrs. Lillian Groth, Mrs. Harriet Harlan, Mrs. Lydia Noseworthy, Mrs. Marian Olsen, Mrs. Ruth Thompson, Mrs. Sally Thompson, Mrs. Alice Saunders, Mrs. Callie Tompkins, Mrs. Alice Ward and Mrs. Anabel Welch.

Youths Present Church Service In Bear Lake

By Maryann Miles

Members of Bear Lake Methodist Church observed Children's Home Day at the Sunday morning worship service which was in charge of the Youth Fellowship with assistance from the minister, Rev. William Irwin.

Ellen Wolking gave the call to worship; John Wolking spoke on "Love For One Another" and Ann Shelton read appropriate selections from William Faulkner.

This Wednesday, delegates and members of the church have been urged by Rev. Irwin to attend the 2 p. m. district conference meeting at Winter Park Methodist Church. Special speaker for the 7:30 p. m. service there will be Dr. Victor Rankin, a former associate pastor in Orlando who recently returned from a mission in South America.

Next Sunday at the Bear Lake Church members will see a film depicting the story of Martin Luther and start of the great reformation at 7:30 p. m.

The Bykota Class of the church is collecting newspapers which are resold for four cents per pound when properly packed and tied into bundles. Interested persons of the area wishing to contribute to this project may leave papers on the porch of the cottage until Dec. 13.

Mrs. Hugh Wynn will be in charge of the supper. Mrs. Paul Pezold, auxiliary president, has requested that all members be present for this important meeting.

The U.S. flag first was raised in California in 1845, when Fort Stockton was established.

Garden Circle To Participate In Project

By Maryann Miles

The Bear Lake Garden Circle of the Orlando Garden Club will be participating in the club's annual Christmas Tree Lane Thursday from 1 through 9 p. m. and Friday from 10 a. m. through 6 p. m. No admission will be charged.

Members of the Bear Lake Circle are distributing tickets for door prizes which will be awarded each hour. Winners must be present to receive the gifts.

A total of 28 circles are taking part in the event, each with a different holiday theme. Bear Lake's booth will be on the theme "Noel Novelties."

Civic Pride?

How do YOU feel about your community?

Are you proud of it?

In man's make-up there is a sense of pride in being associated with success, projects that are successful, that cause others, either in envy or in a spirit of competition to aspire to reach a similar pinnacle in performance.

As the football season draws to a close, we find an example of this. Around those teams that have been winners there are countless thousands who proudly tell of their school's excellence, of what "we" did. There are others whose favorite team was not so successful who have little to say of the past gridiron season.

The Seminole County United Fund has every reason to arouse in all of us a keen sense of pride. First, its purpose is useful—a way of helping others who cannot adequately help themselves. Second, it advances the idea of "looking out for our own" and disdains "the Government hand-out." Third, it preserves the identification of our own community, and it is not "swallowed up" in a large group of another city. Fourth, it is a united, or one time effort to meet the needs of many worthy welfare agencies and saves several similar drives for funds.

Our goal of $40,000 is indeed a modest one.

The volunteer workers of the campaign have tried hard to stimulate the interest of our residents in subscribing to the cause. They deserve to be on a "winning team"—and so does all of Seminole county.

Now, as the drive draws to a close, The Fund is far short of its requirements. Other counties have "gone over the top" and are proud of this accomplishment. Seminole's spirit to succeed should sweep us on to victory. But it requires a great deal of individual analysis. Everyone should ask the searching question "Have I done the best I can?"

Some have intended to give, but just "haven't gotten around to it." How about doing it RIGHT NOW!

Others have given something, but probably can give more. How about doing THAT right NOW!

Remember the 365 days in the year: divide the sum that you gave by this figure. Now, since there are 10 agencies in the United Fund, divide the daily figure that you calculated by 10. Now ask the question "Is that as much as I can give to each of these deserving agencies?"

This United Fund goal CAN quickly be reached. Each one of us should work hard to be on a "Winning team."

Let's all be PROUD of our county as a WINNER in reaching a goal set up as a guide for helping our neighbors.

Yes, let's be a WINNER. Let's be PROUD of our "home town" county!!

How Many Days Till Christmas?

Bruce Blosset — Ray Crowley Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The six major new military projects just unveiled by the Russians in their Moscow anniversary parade confirm the need for new sharp increases in U.S. basic military research.

Several years ago, Nikita Khrushchev decided that military research was more important in insuring Soviet strength than a huge investment in long-range missiles and planes that soon would become obsolete.

He cut back defense procurement and pay and transferred these funds into research and development. The United States went ahead with building large numbers of missiles.

In this, Mrs. K made a major gamble.

Ironically, this decision may have been a factor in his downfall. He had opposition in the armed forces, the President and in the Central Committee. Khrushchev bulled his way through.

It is now known that Mr. K confided his decision to some Americans several years ago and told them the difficulty he faced in getting his way. He said he was in his government wanted massive production of missiles and planes.

The Moscow parade was one indication that this Khrushchev policy is paying off in some areas. Information reaching the Pentagon and other government agencies indicates this intensive research may be paying out in other areas not yet shown to the public.

It is not enough to say the United States is spending more on military research and development than is the Soviet Union.

Because the United States is largely an open society, Soviet scientists can piggyback on much U.S. research and need not duplicate it in many areas.

Thus while U.S. research must go ahead on a broad spectrum to make advance possible, Soviet scientists can concentrate in a relatively few crucial areas.

This means it is not necessary for the Soviet Union to put in more total money and effort than the United States to gain an advantage in some key areas.

U.S. strategic military research and development spending is not small. It has increased steadily, but perhaps not fast enough.

Witness these comments by Lt. Gen. James Ferguson, Air Force deputy chief of staff for research and development, in the spring of this year:

"There has been very little growth in the Air Force research and development program during the 1957-65 time period. The real 8 per cent increase in research and development funds in the past nine years provides little flexibility to cope with the complexity of things we have today."

Some experienced scientists here hold that what's needed most is a sharp step-up in basic research, on which all other research and development depends. Basic research gets down to the fundamentals and makes possible great advances. It is cheap compared to most defense costs. Its payoffs are great.

Small Threat To Cola

As any good Communist knows, one of the most dangerous things about capitalism is its appeal, through the insidious power of advertising, to the weaknesses of socialist youth.

Take American soft drinks, for example, whose seductive signs can be seen all around the world from mountaintops to deserts.

Well, the Kremlin is going to do something about this kind of imperialism. According to Radio Free Europe, Russia is prepared to send millions of bottles of a new (to the West) taste sensation called "Kvas" to the United States and Western Europe.

The recipe for Kvas doesn't make it seem likely that there will be any large-scale defections in the capitalistic camp, however. It's not even a soft drink but a thin, sour beer made by pouring warm water on rye or barley and letting it ferment.

Even if Kvas does prove popular, we have nothing to fear. Look what happened to vodka. It is now fully naturalized and its manufacture and sale are producing even more of that nasty capital Karl Marx got so upset about.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Terry is in Journalism School, preparing to be a newspaper reporter. So he asks how to make the printed page more attractive and exciting to prospective readers. Heretofore this case for a contains unpublished research I derived while directing our Psychology Lab at Northwestern University.

CASE U-44: Terry F., aged 22, is a journalism student.

"Dr. Crane," he asked during a forum discussion at his Journalism School, "what psychological strategy can be used to increase the interest value of the printed page?"

Readers are generally more independent thinkers than are listeners.

For readers usually pick and choose!

But listeners, alas, are largely robots of the narrator, who feeds them a previously-pre-masticated type of mental menu.

Mark Antony, Hitler and any leader of a mob thus depend on the spoken word to dominate an audience and change it into a mob.

So the more we can cultivate the reading habit in Americans, the more we indirectly insure the future of this great Republic.

Apart from the content of written copy, here are several effective psychological devices to perk up the reader's interest:

(1) Use short paragraphs. Newspapers and magazines now use narrow columns where 6 words form a line.

After 3 or 4 lines, start another paragraph!

For short paragraphs suggest dialogue or narration vs. the long, dry paragraphs linked with textbooks!

(2) Employ Arabic numerals instead of writing out the numbers. Notice how the numerals 3 or 5 or 8 catch your eye better than the words three or five or eight!

This rule is the reverse of present printing custom, but it is psychologically true.

And beware of Roman numerals, for they are just capital letters of the alphabet, so they don't contrast against the rest of the printed page, as do the Arabic.

To gain extra eye-appeal, you may even insert your Arabic numbers within parentheses, as (3) or (5) or (8), for then they stand out on the page even before the printed words can be detected by the eye.

When I ran the Psychology Laboratory at Northwestern

University, I tested these facts about print psychology, and that's why I use them routinely in this daily column.

(3) Invert sentence structure to catch the eye with a dramatic opening word.

In this high-speed age, the usual reader may casually glance for about 3 seconds at the printed page.

And his eye notes the first words of the opening paragraphs.

So contrast the eye-appeal of the second version of each example below:

She ran, shrieking . . .
Shrieking, she ran . . .

She was terrified by . . .
Terrified by what . . .

They were attacked without warning . . .
Attacked without warning . . .

In prize contests where you are limited to a 25-word or 30-word letter it is doubly valuable to employ dynamic, emotion-fraught words to open your paragraphs.

For further advice, go to your library and consult Chapter 12 in my college textbook, "Psychology Applied."

Or send for my booklet "How to Write Salable Copy," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25c.

Dick West's

The Lighter Side

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The food page editors of newspapers and magazines have done their usual thorough job of gorging us with Thanksgiving menus and recipes. But here's one you may have missed:

Harp seal flippers on casserole—Charlottetown.

This recipe was given to me by my old friend, Gordon Leech, head of the Anteaters Association, currently enjoying, or at least enduring, its annual autumn series of wild game lunches.

The Thanksgiving week repeat featured seal flippers. Leech said that to his knowledge it was the first time they had been served in the United States. I can understand why.

In order to prepare and serve seal flippers, you first or all need a seal. You could ask your friendly neighborhood supermarket attendant to reserve one for you. But he probably would give you a funny look.

Besides that, it wouldn't be in keeping with the spirit of Thanksgiving. The Pilgrims, you know, killed their own game for Thanksgiving, and I recommend that you do the same.

According to Leech, the accepted method of bagging a seal is to go out on an ice floe somewhere in the vicinity of Newfoundland and bash one on the head with a club.

Leech said that seal flippers are regarded as a great delicacy in Newfoundland. Otherwise, the Newfoundlanders are fine people.

Anyway, now that his flippers just below the elbow. His elbow. Then you peel off the skin which removes the claws at the same time.

Next you soak the flippers for several hours in a solution of one teaspoon of soda per gallon of water. This causes the fat to swell up and turn white. Trim off fat, which may cause you to turn white.

Marinate flippers in burgundy wine, getting rid of fat the best way you can. Buries 12 feet in ground is safest bet. Or, better yet, drink the wine and bury flippers along with fat.

If determined to go through with it, season flippers in salt and roll in flour. Saute and make sauce from drippings. Four sauce over flippers and bake in covered pan in 350-degree oven for approximately three hours. Keep kitchen ventilating fan running.

That takes care of simple part. The difficult part is trying to eat flippers.

Best thing about seal flippers for Thanksgiving is this: They make you thankful for turkey.

Lyle C. Wilson Says:

Progressive Education?

President Johnson's Great Society which he proposes to base on federal spending should be based instead on local money and the society's foundations should be laid in the first three grades of elementary school. There are the grades in which kids should learn to read, but don't.

Those little kids who cannot read grow up to become, first, high school drop outs and, second, juvenile delinquents. The voters should look about their local communities for evidence that their kids are growing up as chuckle headed dim wits likely to become unemployable because they can't read. A non-reader is a non-learner.

By 1970, it is calculated that the 7.5 million school dropouts will be competing for 3.5 million unskilled jobs.

Johnny can't read because the U. S. educational establishment still backs a teaching experiment begun about 40 years ago in which the English alphabet was abandoned. Children were not told about their letters or the relationship of letters to each other in syllables, nor, further, of the relationship of syllables to words.

For 60 years reading of English has been taught as though it were a picture language like Chinese and Japanese or Egyptian hieroglyphics. The method sends into the competitive world tens of thousands of young persons who cannot discriminate between similar words, for example: Mowsey and monkey; squirrel and special; mystery and majesty; equatorial and equilateral; bouquet and banquet.

This system of so-called progressive education is a clear and present danger to all of us.

Letters

To The Editor

I have been troubled by what I observed and felt it should be brought to someone's attention — but I didn't know who . . .

While standing at the Concession, purchasing peanuts and popcorn, I noticed three young boys, ages 9, 10, 11. I would imagine, filling their pockets with gravel that surrounds the concession. Upon entering the Zoo, I noticed them peeling the monkeys with these stones — they would then refill their pockets and proceed with the same antics. Meanwhile, the monkeys scampered hither and yon, with their young attached to their undersides, trying vainly to escape the hail of stones. Seeing that there wasn't any guard, or attendant, I put a stop to it by threatening to call the police. The boys left the Zoo. As I proceeded throughout the zoo, I noticed another lad, lying prone on the ground beside the cages of the Mynah birds — carefully shelling peanuts and gently offering them to the birds. A difference in children!

one's living room, was heart-breaking.

My point is—why does the lovely City of Sanford have a Zoo if it is not going to be kept (1) clean, (2) patrolled (3) have adequate cages for its animals? Would it not be better if the animals were given to a larger Zoo where they would be kept properly?

I have since talked with many of my friends here in Daytona Beach all who have visited the Zoo—their reaction was the same—and hence they have never returned. It is a pity that your attractive City of Sanford has an attraction that is of such unattractiveness, that it is remembered for that! If not for the sake of the City of Sanford itself—I would think that something would be done to improve this Zoo for the sake of the animals confined therein.

I am a secretary — and I support the Humane Society in my own city—but I would be more than glad to contribute to your potentially lovely Zoo since as a neighbor, I too, share in the enjoyments of animals.

I want to thank you for reading this letter through and I sincerely hope that upon my second visit to the Zoo that I find if the humane shelter it should be.

Q's and A's

Q—Has any president of the United States been inaugurated more than twice?

A—Franklin D. Roosevelt was the first and only president to be inaugurated more than twice. Beginning with the Eisenhower administration, the 22nd Amendment to the Constitution limits presidents to two elected terms.

Q—Are hedgehogs immune to poisonous snakes?

A—The hedgehog, a spiny-skinned little mammal of Europe related to moles and shrews, does appear to have actual immunity to the bites of some snakes. It has been seen to kill and eat the venomous European adder without suffering any ill effects if bitten during the process.

Thinking Out Loud

BY JULIAN STENSTROM

Seminole High and Oviedo High will play their bowl invitation dates this weekend—some to soon for both schools since each will open their cage states this week and both will be seriously hampered by the fact that key players will not be available for basketball action.

They're still playing football.

Out at Oviedo, four of Head Coach Paul Mikler's starters won't see action tonight when the Lions travel to Orlando to take on the Colonial High Grenadiers.

Oviedo is a small enough school as it is to even be meeting a Metro powerhouse like Colonial but to send its Jayvees over to play a varsity tilt might normally be considered ridiculous.

But don't be fooled. Naturally, Colonial is expected to roll—or should we say, bounce to a victory. But even when you play Oviedo's junior varsity you could still be running into opposition.

Paul Mikler can figure out more ways of playing a basketball game than the proverbial dog has fleas.

Meanwhile, Oviedo should have a fine season this year as they travel through their cage state. Practically the entire personnel that won something like 16 games last season will be back for the current schedule.

Out at Seminole, Mack Blythe's cagers open their season here Friday night when they host the Buccaneers of Daytona Beach's Mainland High.

Four varsity men, including three starters, will still be playing football. They are Mike Gray, Ron Hinson and Steve Groover, plus Al Boniface may not be a starter but he's still expected to see considerable action.

Blythe said he would carry a 12-man varsity squad this season in addition to Coach Ralph Stumpf junior varsity quintet.

Hinson, Gray, Groover and Boniface will report Monday for cage drills—and none too soon for the following night, Dec. 8 the Seminoles will host the Metro's Edgewater Eagles in the league curtain raiser. Dec. 11 the Tribe will entertain the visiting Boone Braves.

Asked about his club's chances this season, Blythe declared, "We'll be an improved ball club."

He admitting that his outfit was not ready for Mainland and probably won't be set for Edgewater.

"But the attitude of the squad and the school is good," he declared, "and the spirit is excellent."

Blythe added, "I'd rather coach a losing ball club at Seminole than to be with a winner at some other school. The spirit and attitude of not only the players but the entire student body is amazing."

3 FSU Stars Establish 29 School Records

TALLAHASSEE (Sp.) — Quarterback Steve Tensel, flanker Fred Biletnikoff, and placekicker Les Murdock set a total of 29 school records during the 1964 football season just ended at Florida State.

All American Biletnikoff, Tensel and Murdock were the primary offensive weapons for the Gator Bowl-bound Seminoles, who finished the year with an 8-1 record and a 16-7 conquest of state rival, Florida.

The only record in their categories which the trio failed to shatter was for one-game passing yards; Tensel did not equal or break the mark of 313 yards, set by Joe Majors in 1959 against Tampa.

The 6-foot-5 senior, who finished his great career with 232 pass completions in 472 attempts for 3394 yards and 28 touchdowns, smashed 13 other single game, season, and career marks.

Single game records were Steve's 21 completions in 39 attempts against VPI. His final 1964 figure of 121 completions in 204 attempts for 1883 yards and 1637 yards total offense are all school records. Biletnikoff established himself as the greatest offensive performer ever in 18 years of football at Florida State. He broke 10 marks for one game, season, and career marks for passes caught and points scored.

The Erie, Pennsylvania senior finished his career with 87 receptions for 1,463 yards and 17 touchdowns. Murdock kicked 22 of 26 extra point tries this season, and nine of 14 field goal attempts for 49 points and a high national ranking among scorers by kicking alone. The Hollywood, Florida senior kicked three field goals against Florida for a one-game record, and his career total of 10 smashed the mark of six set last year by Doug Messer. All of Murdock's other figures are school records.

The 1964 Florida State team that will play in Jacksonville's Gator Bowl on Jan. 2nd, tied the school mark for victories, yards passing, and passes completed in a season. 1919, 1950, and 1954 FSU teams also won eight victories.

Tensel, Ed Pritchett, and Tony Gero hit for 147 pass completions and 2029 yards passing.

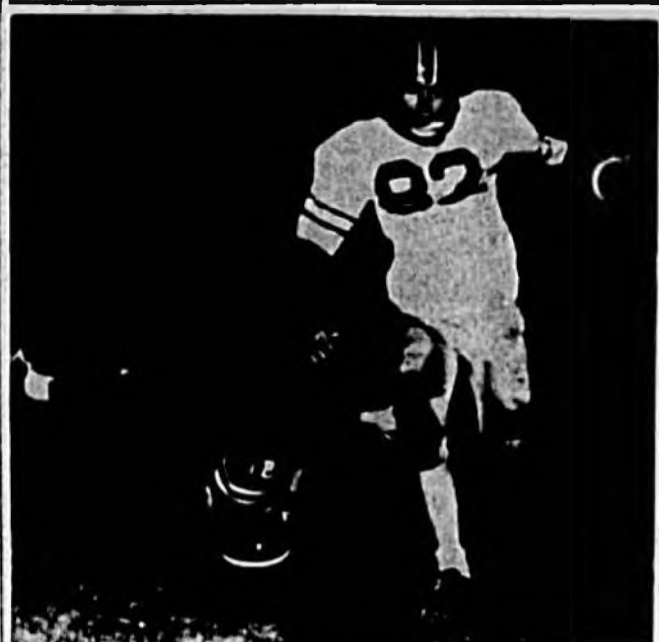

FSU Star Listed On All-America

NEW YORK (UPI) — Steve DeLong, a University of Tennessee tackle, won the Outland Award today as Look Magazine selected its annual All-America team.

DeLong, selected as the outstanding interior lineman of the year, headed a 22-man squad chosen by a seven-man committee from the Football Writers Association of America.

Among the ends and flankers named to the All-America team was Fred Biletnikoff, of Florida State.

Seminole Quintet Will Vie In Elks Invitational

DELAND'S GLUE-FINGERED END, Bill Bartlett (82) grabs a Gary Breckenridge pass and got away from Seminole halfback Sterl Weber (21) to head down the sidelines. SHS won its homecoming contest with DeLand, posting a 27 to 14 victory.

South Rides Again, Alabama Ranks No. 1

NEW YORK (UPI) — The South has risen to college football's summit once again with today's naming of Alabama as the nation's No. 1 team by the United Press International board of coaches. Alabama gained the 1964 national championship with a spotless 10-0 record garnering 22 first place votes to seven for runner-up Arkansas, which likewise finished their 10-game schedule without a defeat.

The Crimson Tide won the national title in 1961 but fell to fifth in '62 when Southern California reigned and was rated ninth last year while Texas held sway.

United Press International will present Alabama with a trophy symbolic of the national championship at a date yet to be announced.

Basketball Tournney Set Dec. 28-30

By Julian Stenstrom Herald Sports Editor

The Seminole High basketball team has accepted a bid to participate in the seventh annual Elks Tangerine Bowl Invitational Basketball Tournament, according to an announcement today by head coach Mack Blythe.

Six Central Florida quintets will vie for the Tangerine Bowl's cage title in a tourney will be played at the Davis Armory Dec. 28-30.

Tournament Chairman Harry J. Meisel said today that invitations have been accepted by Winter Park, Oak Ridge, Bishop Moore, New Smyrna Beach, Colonial and Seminole to compete for the crown and that Bishop Moore's Hornets will serve as the host school.

The first tilt will get underway at 7 p.m. on the 28th when Winter Park tangles with Oak Ridge. In a second game that evening, Bishop Moore meets the Barracudas of New Smyrna Beach.

On the 29th, Colonial will meet the winner of the Winter Park-Oak Ridge affair at 7 p.m. and at 8:30 p.m. that same night the Seminoles will clash with the winner of the Bishop Moore-New Smyrna tilt.

The winners of the semifinal games will meet for the championship in an affair slated for 8:30 p.m. on the 30th. In a preliminary tilt that same evening, the semifinal losers will play a consolation game at 7 p.m.

Plaques will be awarded to the first, second and third place clubs and the fourth place club will keep the game ball.

An all-star team consisting of the tournament's top 10 players will be named.

Florida State Opens Season Against Rebels

TALLAHASSEE (Sp.) — Florida State tips off the 1964-65 basketball season here Tuesday night in the first of five games in nine days, and Coach J. K. (Bud) Kennedy says he has plenty of respect for the Seminoles' initial opponent, Valdosta State.

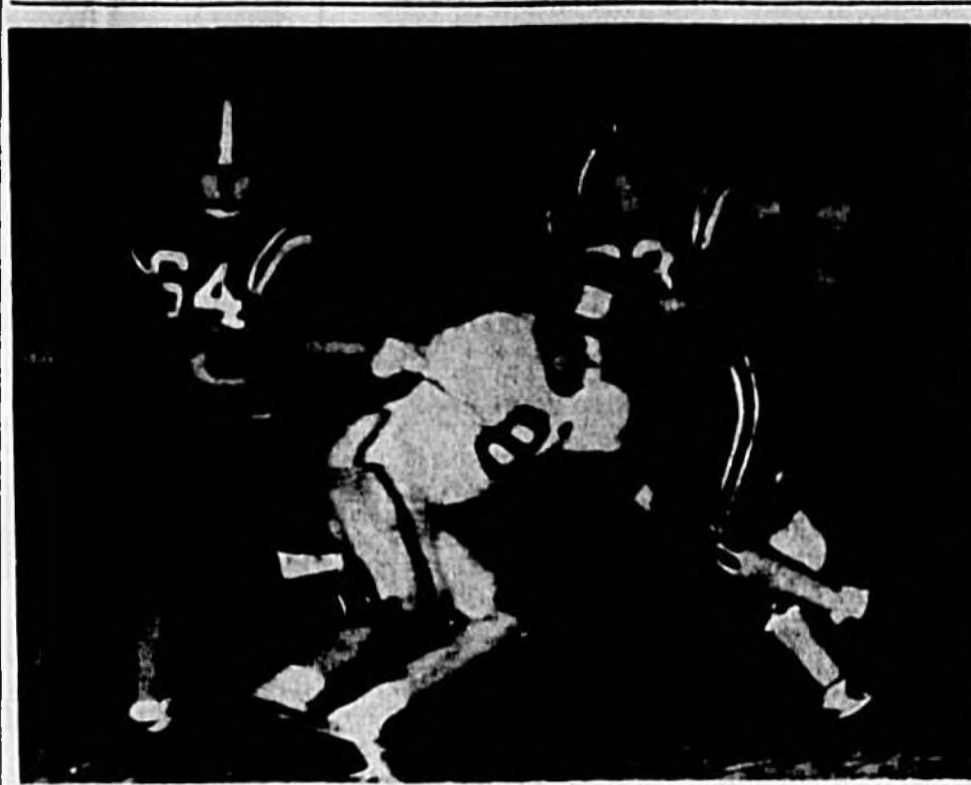

"Gary Colson is doing a tremendous job," Kennedy said, adding, "When we played two years ago his was one of the most well-coached teams we played."

Florida State won a 61-56 verdict Feb. 3, 1963, in their last meeting. Valdosta State's Rebels finished 17-5 last season and held two wins this year, over Alabama College and Alabama Christian.

Kennedy, who will begin his 17th year at Florida State, says, "We will field a colorful team, one that may even run a little."

Set to rebound from an 11-11 record last year, the Seminoles will build around 6'7" center Gary Schull, a catlike 205-pounder who led the team in scoring (12.9 ppg) and rebounding last season as a sophomore. Schull will be flanked by two 6'4" forwards, Junior Bill Peacock and sophomore sensation Ron Malmen.

Malmen scored 21.3 points a game with the 63-61 freshmen, while Peacock has been outstanding in pre-season practices and was moved to forward from guard, where he played as a reserve last year. Behind Malmen and Peacock are a host of eager giants led by 6'3" Charles Fairchild, a transfer from Pensacola Jr. College, 6'4" John Rogers, and 6'4" Bill Glenn.

THE TRIBE'S RICK WALSTROM, whose number is partially hidden by the dark helmet of DeLand's Eddie Griffith (81), moves five yards to the Bulling three in the final period of the SHS homecoming win over DeLand. SHS guard Steve Clark (64) watches as Griffith hits Walstrom.

Sports Between Us Fans

By Murray Olderman Sports Editor

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. The caliber of pro football has gone steadily down, says Bobby Layne, since 1960 — "when the other league started."

The Pittsburgh aide explained it numerically: "We had 12 teams then, with a 33-man limit. That made 396 players. Now there are 22 teams with 40-man limits, or some 800 players. And it's reflected in the scores. Pro football built its television interest on 21-20 scores. Now the Redskins beat us, 30-0, and we beat the Giants, 44-7, and people walk out with 11 minutes to play."

Business realists also think pro football is overpriced. Soft drink magnate Arthur Montgomery, prime mover in Atlanta's big league push, figured its worth on a cost basis and said that pro football in the Southeast would be worth only $400,000 to a sponsor (every team now gets a million). Parenthetically, he figured out that television of Green Bay games is worth only $10,000 to the sponsor...

Joe Namath, Alabama's hottest quarterback, originally signed a letter of intent to go to Notre Dame. Then he was sweet-talked by Tom Nugent of Maryland and planned to enroll there. "But I flunked the college boards," admitted Joe. That's when Nugent called Alabama and tipped off the Tide to the kid from Beaver Falls, Pa. His first roommate at Tuscaloosa was Ray Abruzzese, who is now a defensive back with the Buffalo Bills and was the only other northern boy on the squad. The Tide brochure has them listed as "cousins."

In case any pros are interested in Wayne Freeman, the Tide's All-American guard, that 205 pounds at which he's listed on the brochure is the pre-season weight. The other day he was down to 188...

Things you should know or guess who? One all-American failed to impress a rival coach: "He's so dumb he thinks manual labor is a Mexican..." One of the toughest little receivers in pro football used to insist he couldn't go to sleep without his favorite Teddy bear...

one NFL coach is tough to get along with since he switched to coffee... A Yankee infielder (not Cleo Boyer) raps Yogi Berra as just a plain bad manager strategically, as well as in handling players.

Hurricanes, Braves Will Tangle Tonight

By Jim Beecher Herald Sports Writer

South Seminoles Junior High's Hurricanes will go after the second victory in two games this season when they host the Sanford Junior High Braves tonight at the Lyman High gymnasium in Longwood.

Game time is slated for 7:30 p.m., or as soon as a preliminary affair between the Junior varsity units of the two schools is completed. The Jayvee tilt starts at 6:30 p.m.

The high scoring Hurricanes, fresh from a curtain-raiser victory over Slavia, 115 to 21, met the Braves three times last season. Once the Braves beat the Hurricanes by one point, once the Hurricanes nipped the Braves by one point and in the rubber match the Sanford club took the win and with it the county junior high title.

Seeking revenge, Head Coach Dave Miller will go with center Bruce Stuart, forwards Brant Rose and Mike Hargis and guards Matt Hickok and Dennis Garrett. Regular guard Jim Lucas is under the weather and Garrett will take over for him.

Miller also expects to get plenty of mileage out of guard Ruf West, forward Steve Shepherd and center Mike Rickett.

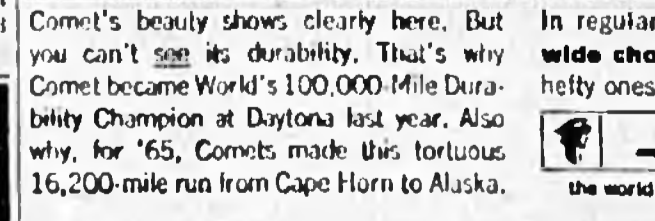

In the first outing Rose, West and Garrett racked up 39 points between them. Miller said he would be using his first five more tonight than he did against Slavia because the Sanford quintet is always tough and he's expecting the Braves to come up with another top five.

Meanwhile, in Sanford, Head Coach Owen McCarron of the Braves has been preparing his club for the opener by working his boys on techniques, patterns and endurance. The team, on the average, is small but it is apparent they are determined.

McCarron's crew is in top physical condition.

'Powder Puff' Game Scheduled For Dec. 12

Ronnie Hinson, David Noell, Buddy Burton and Joe Farless, all SHS grid stars, will comprise the coaching staff for the seniors in Seminole High's annual Powder Puff football game to be played against a team of juniors at Sanford's Municipal Stadium 8:30 p. m., Dec. 12.

The juniors will be coached by four other Tribe pigskin ace, Steve Harris, Mike Gray, LeRoy Nopper and Chuck Scott.

The girls have been working out during weekend practice drills and according to reports they have the ache, pain and scars to prove it.

Not only have they been taught the basic fundamentals of the game, but they have also been engaged in the physical preparation for the event by exercises, loops around the track at Lawson Memorial Field and getting "bawled out" by the respective coaching staffs.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I received a clipping from your column this morning's mail. It was about a neighbor who had a houseful of cats. The house smelled to high heaven, there were cat hairs all over the furniture and the place was filthy, and for that reason nobody wanted to visit her.

Well, I must be that person because I do have a houseful of cats, but I would like to say something:

Half of these cats are not mine! It seems that when anyone in this town wants to get rid of a cat, or some new-born kittens, they drop them off in my yard because they know I love cats and I will give them a good home. I called the Humane Society once to come and pick up some cats there weren't mine. They came out, but were unable to catch them. Now, if you can tell me how to get rid of the cats that are not mine, I will be glad to do so. I will not destroy them.

CAT LOVER IN PHOENIX

DEAR ABBY: There are worse people than cat-lovers, you know. I am referring to people who tear something out of a newspaper and mail it to someone without signing their name.

Someone mailed me your column. In it was a letter about a neighbor who lived alone except for a houseful of cats. They said the house stunk, the furniture was filthy, there were cat hairs all over the place and that was the reason nobody ever wanted to visit the woman. They went on to say that the woman herself was a very nice person and they didn't want to hurt her feelings by telling her. Well, Abby, in the first place, I do not have a "houseful" of cats. I have only 18. In the second place, if I wanted company I would invite them. I do not mistreat people. My cats are better friends to me than any of my neighbors.

LOVES CATS IN CHARLOTTE, N. C.

DEAR ABBY: Somebody wanted to be sure I didn't miss that letter in your column about the lady who kept a lot of cats, so they tore it out of the Chicago's American and mailed it to me. I wasn't fooled for a minute. I know who sent it. She's a neighbor of mine who loves birds. Tell her to sweep her own doorstep first. At least my cats know what a snod-box is for. She lets her birds out of their cages and they fly all over her house! Then she burns incense to cover up the odor. Whew!

TO THE BIRD LADY FROM THE CAT LADY

DEAR ABBY: Please put

this in your column for the neighbor who complained about my cats, but didn't want to "hurt my feelings." My house is as clean as my house in this neighborhood, and my cats do not smell. Of all the house pets, the cat is by far the cleanest. If my neighbors were as clean as my cats, I'd be satisfied. If you think you can get me to move, you are sadly mistaken. I was here first, and if you don't like having me for a neighbor, YOU can move!

MINDING MY OWN BUSINESS IN MADISON

DEAR ABBY: I read about that woman who collected cats and the neighbors complained. She sounds like my mother. Did that letter come from Victoria, Texas?

WILLIE MAE IN CLEVELAND

DEAR WILLIE MAE: No. It came from Baltimore, Maryland.

Peacemakers Get New Skipper

By Dottie Amble
BIGGEST EVENT of the week in Navy circles is the VAH-7 change of command, slated for 10 a. m. Friday and the activities that follow.

Cmdr. B. E. Brown will be relieved by Cmdr. Kenneth Enney, with Cdr. Robert C. Hendrickson moving up to Ex-O, as Enney becomes CO. Immediately following the COC ceremony a reception will be held at the BOQ with guests enjoying a buffet luncheon.

Friday night there will be an All-Hands party at the Ballroom beginning about 7:30 p. m. with everyone joining in for the dancing and buffet.

The Peacemakers, having gained a measure of fame from the just-completed round-the-world cruise will launch into their new era under Cdr. Enney's command. Meanwhile, after a week or so of marking time, Cdr. Brown will move over and relieve Cdr. George Kimmons and take command of RVAF-3, when George departs for San Diego.

The Sevenettes unaltered wives are in charge of the decorations for the All-Hands party, under the direction of chairman, Mrs. C. Stringer. She plans to decorate around a Christmas theme, with lots of greenery, tinsel, lights and glitter to get everyone in a holiday mood.

At the present time, candidates are being chosen and selections made for the NOWC rep. from each squadron. These girls will be named and introduced at the change of board coffee in January, too.

Evelyn said that subscriptions are still being taken for U. S. Lady at a reduced price until December 31st. Contact Evelyn or your NOWC rep. to order this magazine.

One of the things that may be coming up next year for the NOWC board is the formation of the Toastmistress Club. This idea is being pushed by the wives of Three, who have stirred up a lot of enthusiasm for the club, but feel it would be better coordinated by the NOWC than by an individual squadron.

RVAF-3 Enlisted Wives Club will hold their election of officers Thursday at 1 p. m. at the Ballroom, and they really have a fine, large slate on which to vote.

This is a very big club with over 100 members and everyone is expecting great things of them. They are certainly off to a good start.

Candidates for president are Sandy Harrington, Marge Harvey and Mary Hardin; for vice president, Alice Baugh, Marie Owens and Shirley Moore; for secretary, Norma Pickens, Nellie Moore, Linda Tronsgard and Sue Maurer; treasurer, Carolyn Taylor, Lucy Pope and Sarah Paul.

RVAF-13 Officers Wives and husbands were guests of Cdr. Tony and Maggie Nolta

NAS THRIFT SHOP has received a big helping hand this year from Thelma Unger, (left) and Terry Shattuck, (right) who have originated a work day each month to press and tag all garments. Thelma has served as co-chairman of the Thrift Shop.

at their home on November 14th. This was a very casual, get-acquainted type of party, made festive by the delicious midnight buffet served by the host and hostess.

The O Wives of 13 have been very busy, too and on November 25th, attended a faraway function during the Happy Hour at the Afterburner.

Lt. Bill Seigel and his wife Kay were the honorees. Bill, who has been material control officer in being transferred to Pensacola where he will be an instructor with the NAV-CAD program. They are leaving today, according to reports.

Thursday the wives will meet at the Lake Monroe Inn at 12:30 for cocktails and 1 p. m. luncheon. This is planned as a Christmas luncheon with everyone exchanging gag gifts. Featured attraction at the luncheon will be the presence of the Skipper, Cdr. Tony Nolta, who will talk to the wives about pertinent matters.

On December 11, Heavy 13 is planning their All Hands party. They are expecting a big crowd and will take over the National Guard Armory for the occasion. The affair will get underway at 8 p. m. and the witching hour is midnight.

On December 17th, another party, this time the officers and wives Christmas party at the Capt. More about that later. All plans are not complete for this function.

So you can see that everyone in Thirteen is busy with all kinds of exciting social events as they settle down to their new home in Sanford.

THERE ARE lots of comings and goings on at the Station these days and last week Ruth Swanson was hostess to a Newcomer's Coffee

Bill, present supply officer, is being transferred to the flagship at Yokosuka, Japan. The Riddell's will be departing on December 15th for the Orient. Louise was presented with a silver bowl as a farewell gift, from the Station Wives.

Next function planned by the Station Wives will be a luncheon on the 17th. This is not the regular luncheon day, but this will be a Christmas fete and plans are not yet complete.

Also, on December 11th, a hail and farewell party is planned at the BOQ by the men, for these same people mentioned above, plus a few others who will be transiting one way or the other.

HIGH POINT winner at the VAH-11, Det 8 bridge held at Jane Sandusky's last week was Mrs. D. W. Houston, Sue Jamison's mother.

Sue and Betty Catron, the "panny girl" will be co-hostesses to the December coffee-business meeting slated for the 10th at Sue's home. This will be the only social function of the club during December as everyone is scurrying around like mad preparing for the big homecoming scene just before Christmas.

Unofficial indications now are that the men will be arriving about December 19th. We hear that a Skipper R. W. Kennedy's birthday—so if he has anything to say about it—they'll be here the 19th. At any rate—it's going to be a grand Christmas for the families of Eleven.

A homecoming party is planned for New Year's Eve—as of now, pending official confirmation and other matters. Sue Kennedy, Sue Jamison and Carol Dennison will be working on the arrangements for this event.

Other than that—everyone in Eleven is busy with their own plans.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

Italy recovered the lead from the U.S. in the World Bridge Olympiad on board seven when an overbid by Sam Stayman failed to pay off. Although Sam overbid his hand, the strategy had an excellent chance to succeed. It was fully justified by everything except the actual result.

The bidding is as shown in the box with Sam sitting South and Vic Mitchell North. Vic's two heart call was one of those all-purpose cue bids that have achieved great popularity in modern expert circles. Vic wasn't trying for a slam; he was hoping to get Sam to raise spades or bid so-trump.

Sam couldn't do either of and decided to show it. Vic's three heart bid was a repeat cue bid. Vic still hoped that Sam could show spade support or bid no-trump. Sam really should have bid four clubs, but he selected three no-trump on the theory that Vic would hold a club honor. Sam won the heart opening in dummy and led the queen of clubs for a finesse. When it held, business started to look up, but when West showed out on the second club the play went into bankruptcy. Sam could only take six tricks and Italy chalked up 300 points.

At the other table South played at four diamonds. He lost two aces and two trump tricks for down one.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

"We thought long and hard before we held the party, because we had never served alcoholic beverages in our home to young people before."

Those are the words of a father in Darien, Conn., charged together with a number of other adults, with serving liquor to minors during an evening of partying after which a 17-year-old girl was killed in an automobile accident and her teen-age escort was charged with reckless driving and negligent homicide.

"We thought long and hard... These words must sound pathetically familiar to thousands and thousands of parents of teenagers all over the country. For most parents today DO think long and hard before going against what their own natural judgment tells them they should do, and decide to go along with what other parents are doing.

It takes a lot of thinking—though usually not very straight thinking—for parents to decide to let a girl go steady when she is too young to be so emotionally involved, either because she pleads that "all the other girls" go steady, or because parents fear if they say "no" their daughter will deceive them.

It takes a lot of thinking for parents to decide to give a boy a car before they are sure he is mature enough to be turned loose with it, simply because he pleads for one, and all his friends have cars.

It takes a lot of thinking for parents to rationalize serving drinks to teenagers on the grounds that it is "done all the time" at debutante parties.

Perhaps the great trouble with parents today is that we think too much about such things. We think and think until we aren't quite sure what is right, even though we knew before we began the thinking that so often ends in seeing things the way our teen-agers want us to see them.

It doesn't take all that thinking to decide what is best for our teen-agers. It does take all that thinking to reach the point of giving in, or to go along with what other parents are letting their sons and daughters do.

TV Time Show of the Night: 10:11 p.m. NBC. "Vietnam: It's a Mad War." Hardly the jolly show the title might suggest, this is an informative news documentary, showing much of what's been going on in this embattled and remote corner of the world and attempting to explain what it's all about. The show does call dramatic attention to the almost total unreality of what's been going on and what the people and our GI's think about it. Chet Huntley narrates.

Yule Decorations Program Delights Oaks Garden Club

A program on Christmas decorations consisting of pictures of various articles and recordings telling how they are made was presented at the November meeting of the Oaks Garden Club held at the home of Mrs. Hannah O'Brien in Maitland.

A horticultural report on growth and care of chrysanthemums was given by Mrs. R. B. Lockaby.

Federated Garden Clubs Will Celebrate Annual World Gardening Day This Friday

Dec. 4 is observed annually as World Gardening Day by federated garden clubs throughout the United States. Begun as a part of the People to People program, its aims are to help where needed, to better know all peoples and to promote world peace.

The Garden Club of Sanford began its world gardening activities through correspondence and the exchange of packets of seed with foreign gardeners and now has correspondents in New Zealand, the Philippines, Australia, Ireland and Formosa to whom they send gardening magazines and seed packets.

Mrs. Henry Simpson, Geneva, chairman for the local club, finds world gardening an inspiring project. Under her supervision, members have sent good used clothing, bundles of religious greeting cards and discarded costume jewelry to Aiiwan, Formosa (Free China). These items are used in the work of a Presbyterian missionary's wife, Mrs. Lillian Dickson, in aiding more than 150,000 fiercely independent aborigines of obscure origin in the mountains of the island.

Mrs. Dickson, wife of the president of Taiwan Theological College, organized The Mustard Seed, Inc., in order to accept contributions to meet the needs of these "stone age savages" who are not Chinese, but probably emigrated there from the South Sea Islands. There are now five clinics, four mobile clinics, three tuberculosis sanitariums and several colonies for lepers. More than 200 babies are born each month in the maternity wards she has established.

It is to these "Rooms for Mary" that Sanford's contributions are sent. Wardrobes for the mother and layettes for the newborn are assembled from the used clothing. Upon her departure, each mother receives a brilliant piece of jewelry—for morale—and the picture from a greeting card inscribed on the reverse side with a Bible verse in Chinese characters. All these articles are transported to Formosa free of charge by the U. S. Navy through Project Handclasp.

Members are on constant lookout for additional projects and continue to be aware of the many needs of countries that can be met through similar contributions of time and material. In 1962 Florida garden clubs, by collecting 50 cents each from interested members, sent enough money to purchase 1,000 dogwood trees to be planted in Nagoya, Japan. This year's statewide project is contacting and assisting orchid fanciers in Free China. Last year Florida garden club members sent more than 25,000 used commemorative postage stamps to New York City where they were divided into packets of 25 each and forwarded to Afro-Asian countries to be used to combat Communist propaganda.

Horoscope Forecast

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 1, 1934

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Most everyone will seem to feel rather frustrated and have a chip on his shoulder today and tonight because the planets are testing you to see if you are able to put across the self-control and the long suffering quality that we have so often been admonished by the sage to express. Do so now.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) With all that work facing you, also of a personal nature, it is best you plan it wisely first. Assistance can also have demands. Try to appease them easily and graciously.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Try not to come to any definite decision on certain matters now, since they could easily be the wrong ones. Study well into these affairs first. Be more cooperative with others.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You have so much to do that it would be wise to take some time out to do whatever is revitalizing. Don't depend on co-workers. They have their own duties to perform well.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Better slow down a bit and be more accurate, since you are working under nervous tension. Take time to improve health. Then all goes better for you.

LEO (July 23 to August 21) Being more philosophical at home relieves much of the pressure there. Show the better side of your nature. Practice more economy and you soon find you have the security you seek.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 23) Show that you are a practical person in whatever dealings of a business or emotional nature you may be immersed. Get advice from some wise advisor, too. Follow it.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Better slow down a bit and be more accurate, since you are working under nervous tension. Take time to improve health. Then all goes better for you.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Any difficult problems facing you should be considered as stepping-stones to greater success. Discuss affairs quietly with those in power. Then you get excellent results.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 20) You can be seriously disappointed by those who are very close to you if you are overly-expectant. Steer clear of the social. There could be arguments ensuing.

AQUARIUS (January 21 to February 19) Be very diplomatic with those who in any way can make it difficult for you in any sphere of your endeavor. Use utmost care in all your dealings. Then respect grows.

PISCES (February 20 to March 20) Associate only with those persons who have character and are wise in their thinking, actions. Be devoted to those who deserve your affection. Increase harmony at home.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY, he or she will have such strong will power that you hardly know what to do, but if you realize that this is a great asset in life and channel the tot's mind early in the right directions and later give the finest spiritual training possible, have excellent literature, the pattern for successful living will be cut. Solons Fight Over Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The battle is a three-way struggle against each other in the race for assistant Senate Democratic leader, or whip. Senators from the classic divisional areas — New England, the Border country and the Deep South — are pitted

GIRLS IN THE CBE program at Lyman High School are learning to use the very latest in office equipment under the direction of Mrs. Lois Toole, co-ordinator. Using the printing calculators and the executor dictating-transcribing machine, on loan to the class, are Penny Vaughn, Carol Hartshorn, (front row) Chris Glenn, Shirley Davis, Peggy Durnell.

COUNTY RANGER Al Harris (center front) led a discussion meeting of area firemen to plan mutual aid services and co-ordinate work of the various departments. With him here are Chief Paul Bates (right) and Mayor Owen Antoxy, of Casselberry; back, Ed Zimmerman, Lake Mary; Chief Howard Wroughton, Altamonte Springs; Chief William Hahn, North Orlando; Gordon Gibson, Geneva, and Chief Ken Swanson, Forest City. DOUBLE THAT ORDER, SANTA, say six year old Peggy and Connie, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howlett of Casselberry who were on hand to greet the old gent when he arrived Saturday afternoon at Seminoles Plaza where he'll be every day from 3 until 8 p.m. until Christmas.

his campaign against Sen. John O. Pastors, of Rhode Island, and A. S. (Mike) Monroney, of Oklahoma.

It is not inconceivable that some of the Northern liberal vote might go to Long. There has been talk, for example, that Sen. Paul H. Douglas, of Illinois, might support the Louisiana legislator. Long, himself, is rather liberal except on civil rights matters, and civil rights is not expected to be a big issue any time soon.

Having most of the Southern votes in the bag, Long is attempting to keep the race away from a regional basis. But there are still regional angles to consider.

For one, the winner will move into an important congressional leadership position which would affect the fortunes of his own state and region.

For another, the winner will become a link in the Democratic leadership chain that confers weekly with the President. These meetings are difficult to beat for prestige purposes.

Southerners already boast two members of the group, Rep. Hale Boggs, of Louisiana, the House whip, and Sen. George A. Smathers, of Florida, chairman of the Senate Democratic conference.

Long would add a third Southern voice to the small, select group that also includes Speaker John W. McCormack, House Democratic Leader Carl Albert, of Oklahoma; Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, of Montana, and Senate President pro tempore Carl Hayden, of Arizona.

This increased Southern prestige could be a talking point for Dixie Democrats in their re-election campaigns, and might go a long way toward winning back the Southern states which the Democrats lost to the GOP in November.

Reminder Issued On Holiday Mail

By Donna Estes
Longwood Postmaster William K. Bryant today requested patrons of the city post office to pack parcels solidly and reminded them that the use of free local and out-of-town separation bands will help move the mails more rapidly. The bands are available at the post office or from most carriers.

Bryant suggests that out of town packages be mailed by Dec. 5. A tightly packed parcel will have less chance of being damaged in transit, he advises and reminds that packages sent by mail should be shipped on the bottom of a mail sack with heavier packages on top and improper wrapping can result in damage to the contents. To be on the safe side, Bryant suggests that all packages be insured.

He reports that poor packaging and addressing, either incorrect or illegible, are responsible for the non-delivery of some half-million parcels each year. If the return address is incorrect or illegible, the package cannot be returned and is usually lost to the sender or intended recipient. Such parcels wind up in a public auction held in 15 major post offices across the nation after a 90 day period.

Zimmerman is a former superintendent of special education and a former school teacher and principal.

Chas. Cockayne Outlines Aims As Town Marshal

By Jane Casselberry
Charles Cockayne, night patrolman of Casselberry for more than a year, is running against incumbent Gus Sawyer for the office of town marshal in Monday's municipal elections.

Two of the changes he states he would like to see initiated if elected are to have more men on night duty in order to have two patrol cars on the road and someone in the office and to have older boys or mothers serve as monitors or members of a safety patrol at all school bus stops.

Cockayne, lives at 270 S. Cypress Way and is married. He believes that his past experience of 10 years in law enforcement well qualifies him for the job of town marshal. He served as chief of police in Oviedo for two years, 1943-45, under Mayor Joe Leinhart and again in 1956. He was a special deputy in Orange County under Sheriff Dave Starr and a deputy in Seminole under Sheriff Hland.

He is a Master Mason.

Nearly Year Since 'Black Saturday'

Smoking Status Is Quo

By Tom Nolan

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It was shortly after 9 a.m. when Surgeon General Luther L. Terry breathlessly blurted out those few words which 70 million American smokers—many of them suspecting full well what was coming—desperately hoped they wouldn't hear:

"Cigarette smoking is a health hazard of sufficient importance in the United States to warrant appropriate remedial action."

That was January 11, 1964—a day since referred to by at least one cigarette manufacturer as "Black Saturday"—when the long-awaited major publicized report on smoking and health was released.

The intervening time has been a period of despondency followed by hope for the tobacco industry; of frenzy for research scientists hunting for a "safer" cigarette; of rear guard fighting by tobacco state legislators; of frustration for Public Health Service (PHS) officials charged with educating the American public on the dangers of smoking, and of nerve-racking agony for smokers who have tried to kick the habit.

It has also been a period of very slight change in the status quo.

Cigarette consumption in the United States has dropped by 16 billion since the first of the year. U. S. Agriculture Department's latest statistics show that 369 billion cigarettes were smoked in the first nine months of 1964, compared to 385 billion for the same period in 1963.

But 13 billion of the 16 billion dropped occurred in the first three months alone, with more modest declines of 1.3 billion in each of the next two quarters of the year. Tobacco experts speculate that many people who gave up cigarettes at the first impact of the surgeon general's report are now returning to the habit.

One expert expects that cigarette consumption during the last quarter of the year may even rise above 1963 consumption during the same period.

Why this apparent lack of concern by American smokers toward a habit which the surgeon general reported gave them a 70 per cent higher mortality rate than nonsmokers?

The main reason appears to be psychological. "Smoking has always been viewed as a moral issue rather than a scientific or health issue," says one PHS scientist. "You might say it's an honorable way of dying."

"Let's say you eat too much rich food. You might die in your sleep because you're too fat. But people would still laugh at your obesity. But you're going down fighting if you die of lung cancer at 43. It's kind of like dying with your boots on."

Adds a PHS research specialist:

"Mental health people simply will not treat smoking as a priority psychological problem. If you're exploring tuberculosis, these barriers are easy to break down. But they think venereal disease is a more serious psychological health problem than smoking." PHS scientists are not worried about their apparent failure to convince many smokers to kick the habit for good. "We're just kidding ourselves if we think we can lower the smoking rate overnight," says one. "What we've got to do is lower the incidence rate among teen-agers."

DRAG KNIGHT, "The Huffy, Puffy Drag-on" of the American Cancer Society's educational film, wins an easy victory over Drag Goon (left). In real life the struggle has not been so one-sided.

But PHS efforts to get across to the country's youth the message that smoking can kill them have received major setbacks in the past few months.

First, PHS' request for $1.9 million in supplemental funds for cigarette education and research was turned down flat by the House of Representatives Appropriations Committee.

Calling this action "unbelievable submission to private economic interest," Sen. Maurice Neuberger, (D-Ore.), who pointed out the dangers of smoking in her book "Smoke Screen" before the surgeon general's report was complete, said:

"The tobacco industry itself, at least in its public utterances, has continued piously to call for further research, yet funds for research requested by the Public Health Service apparently have fallen victim to industry pressure."

PHS officials in the meantime tapped an emergency bureau fund of $260,000 to get their programs started, awarded ten grants to support studies relating to cigarette smoking and its effects on health.

PHS scientists were initially heartened when some 27 states set up interagency councils to study methods of smoking education. But many of these turned out to be organizations in name only.

"Some of these groups meet because they have concrete ideas to interchange. Others just meet because their bosses tell them to," says one PHS specialist.

A good many other councils adopted unrealistic goals (such as lowering the smoking rate by 10 per cent in six months), others had trouble co-ordinating the activities of such member agencies as American Medical Assn.,

Originally set for Jan. 1, 1965, the effective date was postponed at the request of Rep. Oren Harris, (D-Ark.), chairman of the House Interstate Commerce Committee.

Harris argued that legislation might be a faster route to effective regulation than an attempt by FTC to impose its planned rule on the tobacco industry. The FTC ruling, he argued, was certain to be challenged in court by the cigarette industry and the resulting litigation might be prolonged.

"It was a very nice, very respectful and very subtle argument," says one observer, "kind of like holding a gun to their heads."

PHS officials — openly admitting that their efforts in dealing with Congress this year were "hastily organized and unprofessionally handled" — have high hopes for 1965.

In the meantime, they point to two recent developments: — A report by two scientists of Arthur D. Little, Inc., an independent research organization, that activated charcoal filters may be removing some potentially harmful substances from cigarette smoke.

We don't know whether he was saying it with sarcasm or whether he was hoping the port terminal will eventually become a reality, but the other day we heard a man refer to Sanford as "Orlando's gateway to the sea."

Why haven't some of Sanford's so-called leaders jumped at that suggestion of a big Christmas tree on the mole where the bandshell used to be? Use your imagination! You are crossing the bridge on I-4 over the St. Johns at night and look across Lake Monroe to see this big tree. What a picture! DeBary always wins a lot of comment with its floating Christmas tree in the middle of Lake Marie.

Seminole County may be little but it's mighty, according to this information passed on by Wilbur H. Arp, County ASC office, to the Lions Club: Seminole ranks fourth in the state with value of vegetables for sale, fifth in tangerine production, 11th in orange production, and beef, dairy and poultry combined add $1.7 million annually to the county's economy. There are 800 farms in this county.

We saw that Navy bicyclist pedaling on U. S. 17-92 toward the Sanford Naval Air Station again the other morning. This time he was just a few yards north of the Seminole Boulevard intersection. We'd really like to know how far he rides each day.

The strangest information sometimes develops from classified ads in The Herald. Frinstance now an ad asks for a bass fiddle. The phone number looked familiar. Turned out it's The Herald's staff photographer, Bill Vincent Jr., who plays the bass fiddle in a dance orchestra. With his newspaper work, his farming, his National Guard, his photo sideline work, his fishing and hunting, when does he find time to play the fiddle?

Memo to the Clock from Carroll Burke: Re your query on the Christmas Seal postal marking being Orlando, rather than Sanford. It's an economy move. If each of the six counties in the Central Florida Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, Inc., had a mailing permit, it would cost $180—or $30 per county. Having one, we save $150. The six counties banding together to drive against TB are Lake, Marion, Orange, Osceola, Seminole and Sumter.

'Signs' Appear At Ybor City

TAMPA (UPI) — "Viva Fidel" and "Death LHM" were smeared on several buildings in Tampa's Latin Quarter, including a church. The anti-Johnson and pro-Castro crude signs were done with red paint. They included seven hammer and sickle signs scribbled on the front of Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church.

One of the buildings defaced was that of the Spanish daily newspaper Traducion-Prensa.

Managing editor Pedro Ramirez Moya said the paper has received numerous threatening letters in the past because of its strong stand against the Cuban Communist dictator.

Cold, Snow Slam Midwest

California Heat Wave Is Broken

By United Press
A new bitterly cold, snow laden storm slammed into the Midwest today. It came on the heels of a blizzard that slugged the East with 50 mile an hour winds and 20 inches of snow.

Hazardous driving warnings were out for Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska and Wyoming. Chicago expressways were glassy and slick.

Nine inches of snow already had fallen at Miles City, Mont. The heavy snow was expected to fall in Nebraska and Kansas and spill over into Colorado and Wyoming.

The three-day record-setting heat wave in Southern California was over. After readings in the 80s earlier in the week, the mercury rose to only 66 at Los Angeles Tuesday and was expected to go no higher today.

Nearly one inch of rain fell at Crescent City, Calif., early today.

Hurricane-force winds created 60 foot waves in the Atlantic and seven ships floundered about Tuesday off Nova Scotia.

The 50 mile an hour winds lashed Maine, and the 20 inches of snow piled up at Eastport, Maine.

The temperature was expected to drop below freezing again early today in Florida. Citrus growers welcomed what was called "a good cold spell." They said the vegetable crops already were harvested and the cold would put color in the state's multi-million dollar citrus crop.

'Peace Pilgrim' Lands In India

BOMBAY, India (UPI) — Pope Paul VI arrived in predominantly Hindu India today as "a pilgrim of peace." Cheers by an airport crowd of 50,000 all but drowned out the engines of his jetliner. Units of an army of 15,000 guards assigned to protect the pontiff had to keep the crowd from surging up to the big plane when it landed on the Pope's historic flight from Rome.

It was the longest journey ever made by a pontiff. Threatened demonstrations by militant Hindu organizations opposed to the Pope's visit failed to materialize. Some Hindus regard the Pope's trip as a mission of conversion.

$13 Million Job For Okeechobee

OKEECHOBEE (UPI) — Residents along the northeast shore of giant Lake Okeechobee are due for $13 million worth of protection from high water.

The northeast section of the lake is the only section not now enclosed by a levee.

Millionaire Beck Wins Freedom

SEATTLE (UPI) — Millionaire Dave Beck, once an example of the American rags-to-riches hero, looked forward today to Dec. 11 when he will become a free man again.

Other council candidates and their vote were Jim Reiter, 214; Donald Smith, 185; William Baumholder, 144 and Jerry Riley, 109.

2 Sailors Face Theft Charges

Two Sanford Naval Air Station men are in county jail on two charges of possessing stolen property following their arrest Tuesday by Constable R. E. Carroll and City Patrolman Charles Fagan.

The two are identified as Bruce R. Mundy, of VAH-1, and James E. Stohl, of VAH-3.

Carroll and Fagan said they recovered a large cache of items stolen from stores in Daytona Beach and Orlando. Included were a variety of small television sets and radios valued at $971.50 taken from the Dunn Brothers store in Daytona Beach and television sets and phonographs valued at $858.49 taken from Claude H. Wolfe Inc. of Orlando.

Police also said the two men are involved in the theft of a 1964 Daytona Beach car valued at $2,600 and automobile parts valued at about $200.

The electronic equipment was found in Seminole and Orange County pawn shops, police added. The car and auto parts were stored at a local garage.

The two Navy men are being held in the county jail in lieu of $1,000 bond on each charge.

Constable Carroll late this morning said he had a signed confession from Stohl, 19, in which he admitted theft of two cars, one from Orlando and the other from Daytona Beach.

Bruce Mundy, 20, denies knowledge of the thefts, Carroll added.

Merchants Form South City Group

By Dottie Austin
Apparently snubbed by the Sanford Merchants Association, whose president—R. L. Perkins Jr.—said today it was not intended—members of a South Sanford group of business men and women Tuesday night decided to form their own organization.

The name of the new group, carefully chosen for its meaning, will be "Sanford Progressive Business Association."

George Mills was elected temporary president of the group, with Mrs. Ernestine Yentsch named temporary secretary and Mrs. Lorraine Selvich as treasurer.

The group has set Jan. 12 as the date of a formal organizational meeting.

Members of the board of directors of the Sanford Merchants Association had been extended an invitation, both verbally and through The Herald news stories, to attend Tuesday night's meeting to work out plans for "unity and co-operation."

However, the only person present outside the South Sanford business group and members of the press was City Manager W. E. Knowles who extended "full co-operation" from the city to civic endeavors of the group.

Mills and other members of the group emphasized that membership in the new organization "is open to any progressive business man or woman in the city." At the January meeting officers and board of directors will be named and dues structure outlined.

The group is going ahead on plans for Christmas decorations, civic beautification and business promotions. Plans to erect a Christmas tree and a huge billboard type "Christmas card" will be completed this week. Mrs. Mona Bridges chairman of the decorations committee said. The group also discussed plans to order extensive Yule decorations for next season early in 1965.

In a statement released to The Herald at noon today, Perkins said: "I regret the apparent feeling created by lack of representation at the dinner meeting of the merchants of South Sanford last night."

"The date of the meeting completely escaped me, due to several nightly civic meetings scheduled during the past week and I humbly apologize to this very fine business group from the southern part of the city for any embarrassment we may have caused them."

"All of the downtown merchants with whom I have had the opportunity to talk are most eager to offer their complete co-operation and unity to develop an over-all Sanford merchants' group."

Perkins also stated that he would start immediately to arrange another combined meeting to work out any feeling of disunity between the two groups.

FEC Holds Jobs Are Eliminated

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — The strike-bound Florida East Coast Railway testified in federal court that new machines and procedures have eliminated the need for at least 317 union workers since the walkout began in January, 1963.

The railway defended itself in a case before Federal Judge Bryan Simpson in which 11 striking non-operating unions are seeking to have pre-strike pay and work rules reinstated by the railroad.

The FEC sought permission for certain deviations from the contract provisions because it has too few personnel to comply with all of them.

'Death Row' Eyes Parley

Will the death penalty be abolished in Florida? Raiford Prison's death row is watching this carefully and a recommendation could come out of an interim legislative committee meeting today in Tallahassee.

Attending it are two Seminole County legislators, Sen. Mack N. Cleveland Jr. and Rep. Joe Davis.

The committee was formed to hold hearings in key cities throughout the state during the past several months as it sought the advice and opinions of law enforcement officers, the clergy, attorneys and any other interested group or citizens.

One such meeting was held several months ago in Orange County.

Death row inmates in Raiford are watching the proceedings with keen interest.
