'Unsung' Locals To Be Honored In King Fete

By Karen Talley Herald Staff Writer

"Unsung" local residents, who personify Martin Luther King's ideals and whose achievements were aided through the slain civil rights leader's efforts, will be lauded during the week-long King celebration planned for Sanford January 11-17.

A tribute to these citizens was planned by unanimous agreement of Martin Luther King member and Seminole County teacher Whitey Eckstein during Tuesday's session.

The first contribution to the King tribute's scholarship fund was made by committee night. Sanford's King celebration has been endorsed by the city's commissioners.

Eckstein's $250 donation was made from monies left in the campaign fund he used in a bid for a school board seat. Eckstein lost in the primary earlier this month and said his contribition of campaign monies to the scholarship fund was done with the approval of Seminole County Supervisor of Elections Sandy Goard:

The monies, and other contributions the King committee hopes to secure, will be used for scholarships for high school students and savings bonds for elementary school students, committee

The proposal for the King celebration to include accolades for "unsung" local residents was made by committee member Sara Jacobson. She asked her colleagues to consider paying tribute "to those who with so very little accomplished so very much because in his spirit and with his help they prevailed."

Murdered Man Found; Identity Clues Sought

Seminole County sheriff's investigators worked today to identify a murdered man whose body was found at about 1 p.m. Tuesday in an abandoned boxcar west of Sanford.

The body was found by a Seminole County road worker who was checking the area for a cleanup behind a burned-out ice house off Rand Yard Road, Seminole County sheriff's Lt. George Hagood sald.

The body which was in an open, abandoned box car had apparently been there from two to four days, Hagood speculated. There was no identification on the man, who is believed to be at least 30 years old.

That isolated area alonside ratiroad tracks is a spot frequented by drug users and bums. Hagood said. No evidence related to drugs was found at the scene, he said.

The victim had a "clean-cut" appearance and brown, thinning hair, Hagood

An autopsy was scheduled for early ioday at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford.

Hagood would not speculate on how the man was killed - Susan Loden

Gold Mine Fire Fumes Kill 170

Worst In South African History

EVANDER, South Africa (UPI) - A fire sent deadly fumes billowing through the 11/2-mile-deep Kinross gold mine, killing at least 170 people including two rescue workers - in the worst gold-mining disaster in South African history, officials said today.

Fourteen miners are missing in passageways poisoned with fumes from burning plastic cables and pipes and chemical scalants. Kinross mine General Manager Kobus Olivier told reporters at Evander. 65 miles east of Johannesburg.

Officials held out little hope of finding the missing miners alive.

Surface workers said bodies of six of the 14 missing men were brought to the surface early today, but mine officials confirmed only 170 dead.

The National Union of Mineworkers, calling the accident "a tragedy unparalleled in mining history," urged a government inquiry into safety in the industry.

This disaster takes us back to the dark ages and demonstrates clearly the unacceptable low safety standards practiced in South Africa's mining industry." the NUM executive said in a statement.

Olivier said 170 miners - five whites and 165 blacks - were killed in the fire that broke out Tuesday as workers were welding underground rail lines between the mine's No. 1 and No. 2

He said 235 miners - about 180 of them black - were hospitalized for lung injuries caused by the poisonous

Sixteen specially trained rescue squads worked through the night to evacuate some 5.200 miners from the connected shafts. Olivier said.

Kinross spokesman Dawie de Beer fielded telephone calls from worrled miners' families as he spoke with United Press International at an office in Evander, a mile from the mine. He said evacuation was slowed because elevators in the shafts could take only 50 to 60 miners at a time.

During the night, relatives waited in cars near the mine gates for news of trapped miners.

"I can't say what I feel. There's nothing to say - I just have to walt," one woman told reporters.

Ambulance drivers arriving at the mine entrances at midnight asked photographers not to film their activity. "People are already heartbroken about this," said one driver. Tuesday's accident at the Kinross mine was the worst ever in South Africa's gold-mining industry. The nation's worst mining accident occurred in 1960, when 435 miners were buried alive by a cave-in at a coal mine in Coalbrook.

Mrs. S.E. Venter, whose husband is a surface worker at the mine, said. "This is going to be a black day in Evander." Until two years ago, Kinross had top five-star safety rating on a scale set by a national industrial safety organization, De Beer said, it was downgraded to three stars by falling to meet certain precautions but he said those precautions were not related to fire.

There appeared to be little unusual activity at the main shafts today after all-night rescue efforts. Some black miners dressed in traditional blankets wandered near the mine entrances.

In Evander hospital. 26-year-old miner Wiets Pretorius told reporters: "I smelled smoke and knew there was a fire somewhere.

"I thought perhaps it was smoke from a locomotive. But to be safe I telephoned my father. Piet, who is a shift manager on the surface.

"He said we must get out immediately. I ran back to my team and we ran to the holst station."

Rescuers told reporters they saw 13 bodies in one spot underground. The rescue team, using breathing apparatus in the poisoned air, had to return to the

Denies Playing Stinks

Musician-Prosecutor Sues For Band's Fee

A Seminole-Brevard prosecutor who plays part-time in a rock band has sued a Longwood bar owner who reportedly said the band's playing "stinks."

Steven Plotnick, an assistant state attorney and member of the group The Risk, sued the Touchdown Pub Tuesday in small claims court charging breach of contract and theft of service. He is suing in the capacity of a private citizen and not in the name of the State Attorney's office. The band is asking for $1,050 in damages.

"I vehemently deny that the band stunk," said Plotnick.

The band was hired to perform Sept. 5, 6, 12 and 13 for $150 a-night. It had performed at the bar in July and played Sept. 5 but when the members showed up to play Sept. 6 a representative of the owner Sara Rosenberg, gave them $100, $50 less than agreed upon, and cancelled the rest of the performances.

Ms. Rosenberg reportedly said she gave the band the boot because they didn't play well. The summary claim says the issue is the bar didn't want to pay them, not the quality of their performance.

Plotnick said the check the band received was postdated and that the bank told him it would not clear the check, but would not give the reason

Plotnick said he then decided that he had cause to file suit. He is claiming breach of contract, in that the band did not play the four nights as agreed upon. and theft of services, in that the bar may have tried not to pay them for their performance by stopping payment on the check.

Plotnick, a drummer with credits including Bette Midler's band, said the band was performing well that night and the accusation about its performance is probably an excuse not to pay its members. Ms. Rosenberg could not be reached for comment.

Kennedy Captures Nomination For Seat That Launched JFK

By United Press International

Joseph P. Kennedy II, the son of a senator and nephew of a president, won his famous family's second victory in a week, capturing the Democratic nomination for the House scat that launched the political career of President John F. Kennedy.

The son of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy led from the starting gate and beat back 10 challengers Tuesday for the seat of retiring House Speaker Thomas O'Neill, who endorsed Kennedy.

His older sister, Kathleen Kennedy Townsend, easily won the Democratic nomination for a House seat in Maryland and will face one-term Rep. Helen Delich Bentley, R-Md., in

With more than 90 percent of the Massachusetts precincts reporting, Kennedy had 51,888 votes or 53 percent, and his closest challenger, state Sen. George Bachrach, had 31,192 votes or 32 percent.

Former Boston mayoral candidate Melvin King placed third with 9,482 votes or 10 percent, followed by James Roosevelt Jr., the grandson of President Franklin D. Roosevelt, with 4,947 votes or 5 percent.

Kennedy, 33, was flanked by his mother, Ethel Kennedy. and uncle, Sen. Edward Kennedy, in an acceptance speech accompanied to the tune of "This Land is Your Land."

"Its about time that we stop passing on our debts to our children," said Kennedy. "We have to strike a balance between the real problems of economic growth ... and economic justice."

GOP Senator Opposes Rehnquist

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Senate Republicans have seen their first public defection to the camp opposed to Chief Justice nominee William Rehnquist, but party leaders still predict success for his confirmation.

In a speech on the Senate floor Tuesday, Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., became the first Republican to state publicly he could not vote for Rehnquist because the jurist has rendered decisions based on philosophy rather than

Weicker, considered a liberal, said Rehnquist has an "unrelieved predisposition toward achieving a specific philosophical end while leaving reality unexplained or misspoken." He said Rehnquist's opinions as an associate justice since he joined the Supreme Court in 1972 leave the "clear-cut perception that getting government in the business of religion can be an OK thing."

The senator also said Rehnquist's views relating to women, as "they translate into defining sexual discrimination, defy constitutional promise and fact." He further added that the justice's writings on racial discrimination leave the perception that "separate is equal."

Weicker's statement came a day after Senate Republican leader Robert Dole of Kansas moved to limit debate on the controversial nomination and force a vote today on President Reagan's nominee to become the nation's 16th

Democrats refused to vote on the nomination Tuesday Cloture requires 60 votes in the 100-member Senate, and a Republican lobbyist predicted Tuesday the vote would be "close" but the GOP would prevail.

Confidence Riding On Launch

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI) - NASA was counting on the much-delayed launch of a refurbished Atlas rocket to lift confidence in the U.S. space program along with a multimillion-dollar weather satellite.

The planned launch, scheduled for 8:52 a.m. PDT today. was the second space shot by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in two weeks.

Project officials said Tuesday night the rocket, built as an intercontinental ballistic missile 25 years ago, should have no problem boosting the 2,500-pound payload into orbit.

"Atlas has a long history as both a weapon and a space vehicle." said Judd Gisenschlag of General Dynamics Corp., which built the rocket in 1961. "We're looking forward to the opportunity to restore confidence in the American space program."

The launch has been put off 16 times during the past year because of a series of administrative changes and technical troubles.

'We're in real good shape," said Chuck Harter of General Dynamics. "From a booster standpoint, we are confident that we have a fine rocket."

Casino Strike Turns Violent

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (UPI) - Striking casino employees vowed to resist a judge's back-to-work order today as negotiators worked to end a 2-day-old walkout that prompted a police emergency to quell street violence in the scaside resort.

At least 42 people were treated at the Atlantic City Medical Center for injuries suffered in strike violence Tuesday, a spokeswoman said today. Two women were admitted, one in satisfactory condition and the other in critical but stable condition with head and neck injuries. the spokeswoman said.

Mayor James Usry told the Philadelphia Inquirer the bartenders union. Local 54, had "lost control of its own members." "This is as close as we've seen to mob rule in the city of Atlantic City." Usry said.

Waller said things had been worked out to his satisfaction and it has been necessary to keep a tight rein because the city is living under a limited budget since some revenue has not met expectations and on the short run some expenses have exceeded expectations. Sanctions Against South Africa Less Than We Had Hoped For'

BRUSSELS, Belgium (UPI) - After two days of haggling, European Community foreign ministers toned down proposed harsh economic sanctions against South Africa and settled on a token signal of displeasure with Pretoria's racial policies.

"The results certainly were less than we had hoped for." Dutch Foreign Minister Hans van den Brock told reporters

British Foreign Secretary Sir Geoffrey Howe sounded a more positive note. He said the limited measures agreed upon were "a far clearer signal than if we had failed to reach agreement at all."

Van den Brock, nevertheless, did not hide his disappointment. He noted that the 12 European Community heads of government, during their summit at The Hague in June, drafted a package of sanctions to be applied within three months if Pretoria had not taken steps to start talks with the black majority and to abolish apartheid - its strict policy of racial segregation.

The Hague summit package included a ban on new investments in South Africa and on Imports of South African coal, iron, steel and gold coins into the Community.

President Pieter W. Botha said he would convene an economic conference in Pretoria Nov. 7 to devise a strategy to counter the sanctions. The conference will bring together government officials and leaders of the private sector —the first such meeting in five years.

Convicts Hold 14 Hostages

BRASILIA, Brazil (UPI) - About 500 heavily armed police kept vigil today outside Papuda prison near Brasilia. where 12 convicts held 14 people hostage and threatened to throw them from a window unless police provided getaway cars.

Prison guard Wesley Machado, his hands handcuffed behind his back, escaped early today in a hall of gunfire.

Authorities said Machado jumped from the second floor where he and the other hostages — including three female college psychology students and their professor — were being held and dashed to freedom as inmates fired at him with pistols and submachine guns seized during the takeover.

Police surrounding the prison outside Brasilia returned fire as Machado fied.

France Issues Wanted Posters

PARIS (UPI) - Authorities today circulated posters across France offering a reward of 1 million francs for information leading to the arrest of two Lebanese brothers wanted in a weeklong series of bombings that killed three people and wounded 112.

The Interior Ministry made the offer for information on Maurice Ibrahim Abdallah, 23, and Robert Ibrahim Abdallah, 20. The two are brothers of Georges Ibrahim Abdallah, a leftist Lebanese guerrilla whose release from prison was demanded by an Arab group that claimed responsibility for the recent bombings in Paris.

The Interior Ministry said Tuesday posters detailing the offer and giving phone numbers to call with the information would be pasted on billboards across France.

Toll Of Terrorism

To anyone who thought the international scourge of terrorism was abating, the outbursts of violence at distant quarters of the globe during recent days brought a dismaying message:

As a cheap instrument of power, terrorism still flourishes. No one can predict where it will strike next or how many more innocent victims will be claimed in its name.

The enormity of this crime against mankind was laid bare in one poignant moment last week by an American mother, Kala Singh, who died when she threw herself in front of her two young children to save them from Arab gunmen.

That the incident occurred aboard a hijacked airliner in Karachi, Pakistan, is simply a reminder of terrorism's long reach.

That the attack was perpetrated by Palestinian extremists in a country long sympathetic to the Palestinian cause underscores terrorism's randomness and irrationality.

Over the short span of four days, the civilized world sustained a heavy toll -

 Amid grenade explosions and bursts of gunfire on Pan Am Flight 73 in Karachi, 18 passengers died and scores were wounded, including numerous children, at the hands of four terrorists who panicked when the plane's power system failed.

- In Istanbul the next day, masked Arab militants buried grenades and sprayed submachine-gun fire in Turkey's largest synagogue, killing 21 worshipers and wounding four. A radical islamic group proclaimed the attack was in retaliation for Israeli Army actions in southern Lebanon.

- In the Philippines eight people died and 56 were wounded when anti-government rebels tossed a grenade into a Roman Catholic church during a wedding.

A group seeking Muslin self-rule claimed responsibility.

— In Paris, a bomb blast tore through the post office at City Hall, killing a woman and wounding 16 people, including a 12-year-old girl. Authorities believed the attack was related to French policies in the Middle East.

More bombs explode almost daily.

All of these acts were seemingly unrelated? evidence that terrorism sometimes stems from many causes even though it has international links that are capable of

Thus far the attacks do not appear to have the direct support of radical governments such as Moammar Khadafy's Libya.

In fact, Mr. Khadafy lost no time in publicly denying any involvement in the carnage at Karachi, where one of the groups claiming credit was known as the Libyan Revolutionary Cells.

What the all-too-familiar horrors of the last few days show is that a terrorist bent on martyrdom in pursuit of his cause cannot always be thwarted. It is particularly worrisome that the ranks of such would-be martyrs have increased with the rise of Islamic fundamentalism.

But where states have assets that can be placed at risk, a sustained U.S. policy of striking back militarily, economically and diplomatically can help.

Last April's U.S. military raids on targets in Tripoli and Benghazi have done much to deter this particular strain of terror.

Ending all violence by the world's fanatics is beyond the reach of any government policy. The best that can be achieved is a firm stance that refuses to reward terrorists for their actions and promises to punish them when they are caught.

Senator Reflects On Retirement With Reagan

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Reagan made a telephone call from the White House to Scn. Barry Goldwater at a dinner in honor of the retiring Arizona Republican and this is the way the conversation went:

"I guess you're still up on the ranch (in California)." Goldwater told Reagan. "You sound like you're a long way off."

"No. well, we are. I don't know about the distances within the town. No, we're back here at the White House now. Maybe it's just jet lag on our part.'

"Well, just keep that whole thing all together because we'll send somebody there to replace you." Goldwater told Reagan, who will be leaving office a little over two years.

"Tell Nancy my brother saw her mother just last week and she's wearing a hearing aid and she still tells her dirty jokes.'

the '60s when Goldwater was a presidential candidate, the senator told the president: "I fascist S.O.B., but you've gotten over that." "You bet,"Reagan replied.

Artificial Coral Reef Created

WASHINGTON (UPI) - No one had ever grown a coral reef in captivity. Scientists remembered the failures of people who tried to put complex groups of living organisms in simple fish tanks. They said it couldn't be done.

But Walter Adey was sure that if he could copy the reef conditions closely enough, he could bring even this most complex natural community indoors.

"I said, if technology could put a man on the moon, it could put a marine system in a box," recalled the director of the Smithsonian Institution's Marine Systems Laboratory.

In spite of the skepticism of other research scientists. Adey rigged up a huge, complicated glass box for the reef and in 1980 put his entire project - reef, lab, and scientists on display in the Smithsonian Museum of Natural History.

Since then the corals have grown, the system has adjusted, researchers have come to study the tanks' creatures, and hundreds of tank at the lab and scientists on the other side of the glass.

"It's one of the most popular exhibits." said Adey. "They've added some new exhibits down the hall, but the coral reef and the cold water system still attract more people than the fancy new things."

The popularity of the coral reef, and Adey's research interests led to the installation in 1985 of a second complete marine ecosystem - this one a slice of life from a rocky Maine coast placed right across from the coral reef.

Sixty-eight species of algae and seaweeds capture energy from banks of metal halide lamps above the tanks and the plants in turn become the food for some of the 174 species of animals.

The water circulates from the deep tanks to shallow-water exhibits, and from the shallows, the water is pumped upstairs to large, illuminated flats. A lush mat of algae grows in the flats and scrubs the water, removing animal wastes and restoring oxygen.

Behind the tanks, visitors can see technicians monitor the systems' temperature, light, water chemistry, and simulated tides or water levels.

Satellite Shots Of Red Base

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (UPI) -The glant Soviet military complex on the Kola Peninsula is suddenly open to scrutiny by anyone who wants to buy a civilian study, complete with satellite photos, of the world's largest base.

"Investigating Kola" details military installations on the peninsula to an extent previously known only to the Soviets and Western intelligence sources.

The 170-page book was coauthored by Tomas Ries, a Finnish expert on weaponry.

The Kola Peninsula, east of Finland in northwestern Russia, is the nerve center for Moscow's global nuclear deterrent, housing 66 percent of Soviet strategic submarines. They are shielded by the Northern Fleet, the biggest of the four Soviet armadas.

"Investigating Kola" is the first civilian study based on satellite photos.

"This study presents a lot of information not previously available from open sources, dependent Norwegian Foreign Policy Institute in releasing it Aug. 22.

Western analysts said the book pointed a way to examine world armaments - using civilian space satellites whose photos can be bought by anyone.

The U.S. Soviet monopoly on earth-observing satellites was broken last February with the launching of the French SPOT satellite, which can photograph objects as small as 33 feet across.

This development could make it possible for non-aligned nations to do a more impartial assessment on the somewhat propagandist estimates the Americans and Soviets make on each others military capabilities," said Frank Blackaby. director of the Stockholm International Peace Research Institute. Ries was assisted by Norwegian geoscientist Johnny Skorve in examining a series of images with a ground resolution of 100 feet taken by NASA's Landsat 5 satellite last Their work showed a new forward air base under construction at the river Schagui in the southern part of the Kola, Ries said.

"Of course, intelligence services knew about the airfield," he said. "But it was not publicly known."

The ridge probably hides "major underground bunkers and harbor facilities blasted into the rockside." the study said.

Les Aspin's Brother Gets Defense Contract

And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON - The Pentagon has shown remarkable leniency in dealing with James Aspin. brother of the powerful House Armed Services Chairman Les Aspin, D-Wis., over a military fueling contract.

Federal officials and the FBI. meanwhile, are checking into the contract, which was awarded to a bankrupt company owned by James Aspin.

The company has defaulted several times on its obligation to supply fuel for Air National Guard planes at Stewart International Airport in Newberg. N.Y., 60 miles north of New York City. Aspin's firm, Air Vectors Associates, had an earlier contract with the state of New York to operate the airport, but it was canceled because of numerous safety violations and failure to pay up to $200,000 in users' fees to the state, court records show.

in the midst of a court battle over the airport contract (and after the company had filed for protection under Chapter 11 of the bankruptcy code). Air Vectors was awarded the fueling contract by the Defense Fuel

Ed Biddle, deputy director of the DFSC. defended the contract award. The government isn't deterred by a bankruptcy action; performance is what counts, he said. No evidence has been turned up that the congressman intervened in the contract award for his brother's company. But Defense Fuel Supply officials acknowledged to our reporters Corky Johnson and David Davis that an aide to Rep. Aspin did place a phone call to the agency to inquire about the contract's status after a default notice was issued to Air Vectors last November.

Les Aspin did not comment on this story when asked. The problems with his brother's defense contract could prove embarrassing. however, since the congressman is fighting off a move to oust him from the chairmanship of the Armed Services Committee on political grounds.

The $6.5 million contract was awarded in September 1985 to supply fuel for all National Guard aircrast at Stewart. Pentagon records show that contract officials waived the usual pre-award survey of the chosen company. Despite Air Vectors' ongoing fight to stave off bankruptcy, it was deemed a "responsible" supplier.

The Defense Fuel Supply Center has finally begun its own investigation by interviewing National Guard officials and top military brass at Stewart. Pentagon records show a continuing problem in the company's ability to supply the necessary fuel to the Guard's planes. For at least six weeks during the contract term, Air Vectors has been unable to refuel planes adequately. On three occasions the government threatened to terminate the con-

'We have been advised ... that on 14 February 1986 you were unable to refuel aircraft," officials wrote to James Aspin. "The Air National Guard required 100,000 pounds (15,000 gallons) of fuel for an exercise on this date and Air Vectors had only 1.100 gallons of fuel.'

On Nov. 14, 1985, just six weeks after the contract took effect, the fuel reesupply center warned Aspin that he was in default and the contract would be terminated in 10 days if corrective action wasn't taken. The company asked and was granted two time extensions, and finally resumed fueling on Dec. 18.

Pentagon officials also wrote to New York state authorities, asking them to allow Aspin to subcontract its fueling obligations.

Air Vectors' failure to provide a consistent supply of aircraft fuel cost the National Guard thousands of dollars, because the fuel had to be purchased on the open market at about 25 cents a gallon more. A Pentagon letter pointed out that the company's failure would give the Guard "a financial incentive to fly fewer missions from Stewart Airport or to refuel at a different airport which has a DSFC contract in place." Either alternative, the letter noted. "would hinder the Air National Guard's effectiveness.

James Aspin blamed his failure to provide fueling services on a vendetta by the state, and said his company has a good safety record. As for any influence by his brother. he said: "I don't see how he could have influenced this contract anyway." Meanwhile, Air Vectors is seeking a contract renewal for fiscal

Committee members also said those who want to recommend someone for the "celebrations in the name of Dr. King," are encouraged to call Arlene Davidson at Sanford city hall, 321-3161.

The local residents will be honored during the celebration's culminating activities at the Sanford Civic Center, Saturday evening, Jan. 17, or at a fund raising breakfast. Wednesday. Jan. 14. committee members said.

The breakfast is being planned to pay tribute to corporate and civic leaders who have demonstrated King's ideals. Both it and the culminating ceremony were first discussed at a King steering committee meeting in August.

Also addressed at that session was the religious observance for Sunday, Jan. 11, and tribute participation of a celebration chorus, comprised of singers from local school and church choral groups.

Following the August session, members broke into four sub-committees which have been meeting during the last two months. The sub-committees are religious observance, celebration choir, tribute breakfast and education and youth involvement

Tuesday night's session was a collective committee effort to discuss progress reports and brainstorm additional preparations.

Also discussed was distribution of the scholarship monies to winners of the essay, oratory and poster contests being planned as part of Seminole school students' participation in the King tribute.

Committee members endorsed the proposal. which was made by School Board spokesman Karen Coleman. Mrs. Coleman serves on the youth involvement sub-committee with Eckstein.

Both committee members also discussed a talent show at Seminole High School, with top performers judged by local notables for possible scholarship awards during the Saturday night culminating ceremony.

Top essays and oratory entries could also be offered during the culminating ceremony, and students' posters will probably be going up around Sanford as the King celebration nears. committee members said.

A parade the steering committee discussed in August was ruled out Tuesday, due to the amount of planning it would take.

However, the Seminole High African-American club may be enlisted to prepare a King tribute float for the November homecoming parade and the December Christmas parade, committee

Also addressed was a possible keynote speaker of national prominance to serve as "drawing card" for the Wednesday, Jan. 14, fundrasing breakfast. Names mentioned by breakfast subcommittee members were U.S. Representative Claude Pepper, former Atlanta Mayor Andrew Young and Senator Edward Kennedy. Kennedy and Young had ties to King.

Other committee members, however, said they would prefer the list be expanded a bit to possibly include humanitarians, authors and philosphers. Members also said they'll offer to cover the selected speaker's expenses, but ask that his or her fee be waived.

Sanford will receive an economic boost from Cardinal Industries' local plant expansion and aesthetic benefits from a city department's rehabilitation plans, according to discussion of both projects at Monday's city commission work session.

Gunmen Rob Pair At Lake Monroe Wayside Park

A 20-year-old Sanford man reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies that he was robbed of $2,366 cash by two gunmen who approached him and a companion at a wayside park on Lake Monroe in Lake Monroe at about 9:30 p.m. Monday.

David T. Dobbs, of 2617 that his companion, who he knows only by the first name of Rick, was robbed of a gold chain, the bandits to take.

Deputies had not talked to Rick when they wrote a report fiscated the cocaine and drug on the incident.

drove up in a station wagon, got out and approached them as they sat and drank beer. The robbers had tan stockings on their faces and were wearing dark glasses.

Both robbers brandished blue-steel handguns and one said. "We want your money and sheriff's report said.

After the bandits fled Rick took Dobbs home and Dobbs went to the Sanford police station to report the robbery. The combined value of $750 were case was turned over to sheriff's reportedly stolen and then sold deputies.

COCAINE IN ROOM

Winter Springs police reported charging a 21-year-old man with possession of cocaine, trafficking in cocaine and possession of drug paraphernalia, after a woman reported the man had illegal contraband in a room he was staying in at her home.

Prep Volleyball Is Far Cry From P.E. Game

Most people think of volleyball in one of two ways.

One: a game at the beach where a ball is knocked back and forth over a makeshift net implanted in the sand. No real boundaries, no real rules, not too exciting, just fun.

• Two: high school physical education classes where the net usually hangs between two poles cemented into old car tires. The main goal here seems to be to either tear down the net trying to spike or to avoid exerting yourself unless the ball heads directly for you.

type of volleyball would be flabbergasted to see the game played at its powerful best in the major colleges. The high schools are even a far cry from the way the game is played at the beach or in PE class.

Seminole County high school volleyball has been competitive and exciting in the past and has produced some excellent players who have since gone on to the college game.

The 1986 season is about to begin and, for those who plan on catching some games, here's a look at how the game is played:

There are six players on a Someone who is used to that team, no more or no less are

A player may not make contact with the ball twice in succession. The two plays that are expempt from this rule are: one, successive contacts by blockers or two, simultaneous contacts by opponents. The players participating in any such contacts may strike the ball on the next contact.

3 County QBs Lose Direction

Don't Cast Letterio. Burton, Wainwright For 27 Blanks Again

> By Sam Cook Herald Sports Editor

There wasn't one touchdown pass thrown by Seminole County quarterbacks last week. No wonder the receivers are running their routes into one another. Think of all the "Stickum" going to waste.

Three of the six county QBs are returnees, yet those three had the worst outings last Friday. Lake Mary's Shane Letterio, last year's Evening Herald All-County Quarterback, completed 1 of 8 for 10 yards. Lake Howell's Mark Wainwright, a Special Mention choice, completed 1 for 9 for 28 yards. Lyman's John Burton, another Special Mention selection, completed 1 of 11 for five yards. Burton was intercepted twice and Wainwright once.

The top three quarterbacks in the county completed a yards with three interceptions and no touchdowns. That's 27 blanks from the county's elite.

And, remarkably, Lake Mary, Lake Howell and Lyman all won. Which further emphasizes what Woody Hayes has always maintained - three things can happen when you pass and two of them are bad. The running game is still the surest - and safest - way to championships.

But If you think Letterio. Wainwright and Burton are going to hang For Sale signs on their right arms, think again. All three showed they could get the job done last year and were instrumental in the success of their teams.

Letterio completed 48 percent of his passes, threw for seven TDs and 1,076 yards. He guided Lake Mary to SAC, district and regional titles, something that had never been done by a class 4A or 5A school in the county.

Wainwright, who possesses a 3.8 grade-point average, solidified a Lake Howell team which relied primarily on fullback Mark Schnitker. He completed 44 percent of his passes while throwing for seven 5 scores passes and 824 yards.

Burton, who passed for 498 yards with just six interceptions, didn't win the starting job until the second game of the year when he turned in a quality performance against Mainland. With Burton at the controls, Lyman rolled to four victories in its next five starts and pushed Lake Mary into a final-game showdown before bowing out of the district chase.

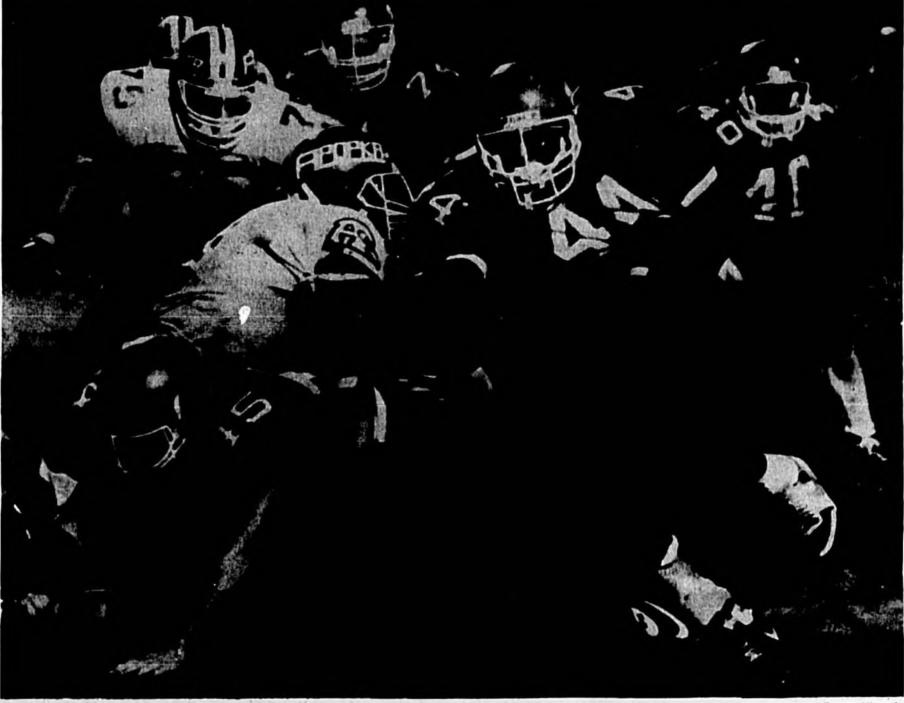

Friday's performance aside, all three were tossed into situations where they didn't have to pass, a luxury dictated by Mary's John Curry, Howell's Cornell Rigby and Nate Hoskins and Lyman Robert Thomas. Howell and Mary have massive front walls while Lyman again has its mixture of hard-nosed blockers. Curry accounted for one score DeLand (+3) at Lake Mary with a 99-yard kickoff return and another with a two-yard run. He finished with 71 yards. Lyman's Thomas runibled for 109 yards on 26 carries and a four-yard TD run. Lake Howell's Rigby leads all county runners with 144 yards and two scores. Sidekick Hoskins chipped in 87 yards and one TD. Lake Brantley's Nigel Hinds was the only wide receiver who wasn't starving. The 155-pound junior latched onto four catches for 49 yards.

Whereas Seminole's offensive didn't have much to offer Friday in a loss to Titusville Astronaut,

Fonseca, Bovis Eye First Duel

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

Cross country is a team sport first and foremost and Thursday's Edgewater Invitational at the University of Central Florida has the makings of an exciting meet with the top two girls teams in the state on hand and a group of boys teams looking to break out of a tight Central Florida-area pack.

But there is also a pretty interesting individual battle brewing in the girls race. Twotime defending state champion (4A) Kim Bovis of Winter Park does not come into the meet ranked as the number one runner in the state. That honor belongs to Lake Howell's Martha Fonseca who ran an 11:46 in winning the Lake Mary Opener this past Saturday.

The Edgewater Invitational will get underway at UCF at 4 p.m. with girls junior varsity followed by boys JV at 4:30, I 1A-3A girls at 5, 1A-3A boys at a 5:30, 4A girls at 6 and 4A boys Bovis actually is the fourthranked runner in the state going into the meet as she ran a 12:21 and finished an unfamiliar second at last week's Titusville Astronaut meet. Largo's Jenni Soles, only a freshman, took first place with an 11:58; which is second in the state.

"I didn't have a very good race," Bovis sald. "But I had been training hard the whole week and didn't let up before the race. My goal this week is to run a good race and try to accomplish whatever goal I set for myself."

The Edgewater meet is usually held at Trinity Prep but was moved to UCF this season. Bovis ran her personal best, 11:04, at Trinity Prep. Bovis said the new course won't bother her, though. "Since I've never seen it before. I'll go out and log the course in warmup." Bovis said. "Running a new course doesn't really matter that much. It will probably be more challenging."

Fonseca has been a key runner on Lake Howell's team since her freshman year but only this year did she move up to the lead runner spot. Fonseca's hard work over the summer and dedication to the team vaulted her into the state rankings.

"She worked really hard to get where she is," Lake Howell coach Tom Hammontree said of Fonseca. "She has the attitude now that, 'if you're going to beat me, come and get me.'

Going into the season, Winter Park, the defending state champion (4A) was ranked number one but Lake Howell took over the top spot after winning in impressive fashion last week while Winter Park was second to Titusville Astronaut.

"The team ran very well at Astronaut," Bovis sald, "Now we have Janice (Wilder) back running and we should be very tough. Without her we were a good team and she just makes a good team better.

"We're looking forward to running against Lake Howell," Bovis added, "They're a pretty big rival."

While Lake Howell and Winter Park will be the top two teams on hand, Lake Brantley is looking to solidify its position as the number three 4A team in the area behind those top two. The Lady Patriots have a solid team led by Heather Camino, Kristin Longmire, Jennifer Josephs. Mindy Olinger and Colleen Lievertz, all returning runners from last season, along with promising newcomer Karen

. If the Reds could have split their first 16 games with Houston, they and the Astros would have identical 78-66 records. Instead, the Astros can clinch the division with any combination of Houston victories and Cincinnati losses totaling 11. If the Astros sweep the series, their magic number would drop to seven.

"This series was much more important to them than it was to us." said Bob Knepper, who pitched 5 1-3 innings to raise his record to 16-11. "Now they have to win the next two. I thought they had to sweep us."

Knepper and Larry Andersen combined to pitch a four-hitter. Knepper gave up three hits before Andersen came on to earn his first save.

The Astros pounded seven hits off loser Bill Gullickson, 13-11, to take a 3-1 lead in the fourth inning. Billy Hatcher's leadoff

Clemens Notches 23rd In Sweep

United Press International

The Boston Red Sox's double-header sweep of the Milwaukee Brewers Tuesday night was testimony to the organization's judgment of pitching talent.

Roger Clemens, Boston's first pick in the 1983 draft, recorded his 23rd victory in the opener, and Milwaukee reliever Mark Clear, dealt away by Boston at the winter meetings, threw three wild pitches and hit a batter in losing the nightcap.

Boston, whose last division title and American League pennant came in 1975, boosted its lead in the American League East to nine games with its 39th comeback victory of the season. The Red Sox extended their home winning streak to 10 games with the sweep.

"You can't have a losing streak with him. He has a hell of an arm." Brewers Manager George Bamberger said of Clemens, who was exceptionally effective in the early innings while it was dusk. Clemens struck out 10, all of them coming in the first six innings, the eighth time this season he has struck out at least 10 batters.

"I thought he might get 20 (strikeouts) the way he was going," Bamberger said. "He's probably the best pitcher in the American League maybe the best in baseball."

Clemens, 23-4. became the first Boston pitcher to win 23 games since 1949 when Mel Parnell went 25-7. He is also the first AL pitcher in three years to win 23 games. Chicago's LaMarr Hoyt was 24-10 in 1983.

Dwight Evans snapped a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning when he belted his 23rd homer of the year. off Juan Nieves, 10-11.

"It's like I've said before, it's like Thanksgiving." Evans said. "The turkey's in the oven, I can smell it. I just can't wait to eat it."

Wade Boggs, involved in the AL batting title race with New York's Don Mattingly, extended his hitting streak to 17 games with an RBI double in the first game, and to 18 with a single in the

In the second game, Boston broke a 3-3 tie with six runs, capitalizing on an Edgar Diaz error and three wild pitches from Clear, 5-5, who allowed six runs during his 1-3 of an inning and was subjected to chants of "Wild pitch, wild pitch," by many of the 31.272 spectators at Fenway

In other games, New York belted Baltimore 8-1, Toronto topped Detroit 6-4. Texas outslugged Oakland 10-6, Minnesota defeated Cleveland 7-3.

A.L. Baseball

California edged Kansas City 6-5, and Seattle routed Chicago 7-0. Yankees 8, Orioles 1

At New York, Mattingly cracked a two-run homer and Dave Winfield added a three-run shot to send the Yankees to their fourth straight victory. Mattingly's homer, his 27th of the season, highlighted a three-run first inning. Winfield's blast, No. 22 on the year, padded New No. 22 on the year, padded New York's lead to 7-1.

Blue Jays 6, Tigers 4 At Toronto, Ernie Whitt, Rick Leach and Jesse Barfield each collected a pair of hits and drove in a run, helping the Blue Jays snap Detroit's five-game winning streak. Winning pitcher Jimmy Key, 13-10, worked 6 1-3 innings. Tom Henke recorded his 22nd save, Walt Terrell,

12-12, was the loser. Rangers 10, A's 6

At Oakland, Calif., former Seminole Community College All-America Larry Parrish drove in four runs with two homers and a single to lift the Rangers. Parrish belted solo home runs in the fourth and ninth innings, giving him 26 homers this season. Ron Meridith was the winner and Greg Harris notched his 17th save. Dave Von Ohlen, 0-3, took the loss.

Twins 7, Indians 3

At Cleveland, Billy Beane belted a three-run homer and Mark Portugal threw 6 2-3 innings of three-hit relief, helping the Twins snap a streak of nine road defeats. The Indians hit into four double plays, including Julio Franco's 28th of the year that broke the club record of 27 set by Al Rosen in 1950.

Angels 6, Royals 5

At Anaheim, Calif., Bob Boone's two-out single drove in pinch runner Devon White in the eighth inning to help the reduce the Angels' magic number to 10. Kansas City had tied the score in the eighth on rookie Bo Jackson's two-run homer off Dan Quisenberry. 2-7. Gary Lucas, 4-0.

pitched a scoreless ninth. Mariners 7, White Sox O

At Seattle, Mike Morgan hurled a four-hitter for his first major-league shutout, and Scott Bradley and Harold Reynolds each homered to lead the Mariners. Morgan, 11-15, struck out six and walked none while pitching his ninth complete game. Richard Dotson fell to 10-15.

Edberg Wins But Mayotte Upset; Garrison, Rehe Roll At Eckerd

LOS ANGELES (UPI) - Top seed Stefan Edberg of Sweden won his opening round match Tuesday, but Mike Leach surprised No. 3 Tim Mayotte in the $315,000 Volvo Tennis-Los Angeles.

Edberg, who became the No. 1 seed after Ivan Lendl withdrew late last week due to tendinitis in the knee and hips, struggled at times before eliminating qualifyer Sammy Glammalva of Houston 7-5, 4-6, 6-3.

Leach, ranked 73rd in the world, used a powerful serve to score his biggest victory and first ever over a Top 20 player in upsetting Mayotte 7-6 (9-7), 5-7, 6-3.

in other first-round matches. David Pate descated Mexico's Leonardo Lavalle 4-6, 6-3, 6-2; and South African Christo Steyn beat Andrel Chesnokov of the Soviet Union 3-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Elsewhere in women's tennis at Largo, second-seed Zina Garrison and third-seed Stephanic Rehe cruised to straight-set victories Tuesday to advance to the second round of the $125,000 Eckerd Tennis Open.

Garrison, from Houston, beat Australian Janine Thompson 6-2, 6-2, while Rehe, Highlands, Calif., ousted Svetlana Parkhomenko of the Soviet Union 6-1, 6-1. Also advancing Tuesday was No. 6 seed Terry Phelps. Larchmont, N.Y., who descated Camille Benjamin. Bakersfield, Calif., 6-3, 6-7, 6-4, in a match that lasted two hours and 35 minutes.

Brantley Ends Lake Mary Streak

Lake Brantley pushed across a touchdown with four minutes to play Tuesday night to hand Lake Mary its first freshman football setback in 20 games, 20-12, at Lake Mary High School.

"Brantley outplayed us, they deserved to win," Lake Mary coach Jim Hughes said.

Brantley led. 8-6, before Lake Mary's Pete Teemer dashed in from two yards out for a 12-8 third-quarter lead. A bad snap enabled the Pats to get good field position and move in for their winning drive in the fourth period.

Dexter Fairclough added the Rams' other score on a seven-yard run. The Rams host Lake Howell next Tuesday while Brantley entertains Lyman.

Osceola Rolls Past Lyman Frosh

Kissimmee Osceola took an early 16-0 lead and never relinquished it while handing the Lyman Greyhounds a 32-8 setback in freshman football Tuesday night at Lyman High School.

Lyman's score came in the fourth quarter when Kenneth Morse rumbled over for a nine-yard TD run. Morse then ran in the two-point conversion.

Corso Says Consistency Will Produce SAC Contender

By Chris Fister

Herald Sports Writer Seminole High had one of its most competitive volleyball teams in a while in 1985. The only question was, on what day or in what game was Seminole going to be competitive?

On one day, the Lady Tribe could take a game from powerful Lyman, and the next day drop a match to not nearly as strong Lake Mary.

Consistency is the one thing Seminole coach Beth Corso is striving for the Seminole High team of 1986. If the Lady Tribe can be consistent. Corso feels the team can compete for the Seminole Athletic Conference ti-

Leading the way is the most experienced player on the squad. senior setter Sheri Peterson. Corso is looking for Peterson to be the team leader, taking over Farr who is currently playing at Stetson University.

"Sheri (Peterson) improved so much over the summer," Corso said. "She's at the same level Jackle (Farr) was as a senior. She's our best setter but her hitting has also improved tremendously.'

Also returning from last year's team are seniors Maryann Calibuso, Faronda "Ferocious" Brown, Diana Mitchell and Lisa McGrotha, junior Cindy Benge and sophomores Liz Long and Aretha Riggins.

Calibuso, a defensive specialist last year, will be playing all the way around this season according to Corso while Brown will be one of the squad's top defensive players. Mitchell will also play all the way around and will be counted on for some power at the net while McGrotha is mainly a defensive player.

One of the most improved players on the team is Benge Tracy Hall and Dorchelle other."

who was on the varsity but played sparingly a year ago but is expected to start and play all the way around this season.

"Last year she (Benge) was on varsity the whole season but played maybe five minutes in two games the end of the scason." Corso said. "But she that spot for graduate Jackie worked really hard over the summer and is now a starter. And since she was on varsity last season, that should help her handle the pressure."

> Long. at 6-1, will play the front row only and is also one of the top servers on the team. If Long improves her play at the net. Seminole could have one of the top attacks in the county. Riggins is coming off a bout with a paralyzing disease called Landry-Guillan-Barre Syndrome that sidelined her for most of basketball and all of track season but she has progressed greatly through therapy and Corso says she is strong enough to play all the way around for the Lady Seminoles.

Other juniors on the team include setter Rachelle Denmark, who Corso hopes to get in chance to get into the attack, back row players Kim Walsh and Webster. Corso said Hall and Webster will primarily play on the front row.

Another junior who could contribute is Tanya Barnes, a transfer from West Virginia, but Corso said she is not yet eligible but hopes to have her by the beginning of October.

Another newcomer with potential is sophomore Arian Hillsman who Corso said could be in the starting lineup Thursday. Hillsman is an excellent athlete as she started at guard on the basketball team and was a top sprinter on the Seminole Class 4A State Track Champl-

While Corso has talent at all phases of the game, one area she is especially looking for more consistency out of is serving.

"Last year, we either served the lineup to give Peterson a tremendously or terribly." Corso said. "Every girl has two different serves this year so if one Michelle Stump and newcomers isn't working they can try the

Gator Priority: Alabama Doesn't Ring Bell

GAINESVILLE (UPI) — Florida Coach Galen Hall's main priority for the Gators' game against No. 4 Alabama Saturday is giving standout quarterback Kerwin Bell time to throw. Bell was sacked six times in Florida's 23-15 loss to Miami two weeks ago.

"We're looking at several things to get Kerwin some more time," Hall said. "We've tried some quick passes this week in practice so he doesn't have to take a long drop and have even worked some on the shotgun formation. We've got to be able to get the ball down field and keep Kerwin off the ground."

Hall said the Gators used a week off to put the Miami loss behind them and concentrate on preparing for Alabama. Florida's first Southeastern Conference opponent of the season.

"It was tough to lose to Miami, especially at home," Hall said. "But that game is behind us now, and we've still got a tough schedule ahead of us. The first game on that schedule is this week against Alabama.

"Before the season, it appeared Alabama would have one of the top two or three teams in the nation, and that has been proven true on the field. They are balanced in every area and can beat you with their running game, passing game, defense or in the kicking game. They remind me of Miami in that you can't find a weakness anywhere."

Bell, who had one of his worst outings as a Gator against the second-ranked Hurricanes, said he hoped to improve his output against Alabama.

"We will have to play a great game to come out on top." Bell said. "We are going up against one of the top teams in the conference and the nation in Alabama. We grew up a lot against Miami, and we have to keep working hard."

Florida faced Miami's Vinny Testaverde in the opener, and will oppose another top quarterback in Mike Shula Saturday.

Hall said much of the Crimson Tide attack was as good, if not better, than the one the Gators faced against "Their running game is every bit as good as Miami's, but it has a different look," Hall said. "Alabama's running backs are smaller and faster, but they're just as effective. They don't run right at you like Miami's runners. "They are better at applying pressure on the quarterback from outside with great outside linebackers. Cornelius Bennett is an All-America and they have other players just about as good."

The Gators are 5-15 overall against Alabama and have never won at home against the Crimson Tide.

FSU: BOWDEN SUSPENDS CLARK

TALLAHASEE (UPI) - Florida State outside linebacker Ed Clark, charged with aggravated assault with a firearm in connection with an argument that led to the shooting death of teammate Pablo Lopez, has been suspended from the team for the rest of the year, Coach Bobby Bowden said Tuesday.

MIAMI (UPI) - Coach Jimmy Johnson is hoping a practice schedule change will enable second-ranked Miami to come out against top-ranked Oklahoma without the usual rustiness after a week off.

CARLO

Larry Castle TENNIS ANYONE?

Players Who TRY Always Find Success

Winning is the most important factor to many people seriously involved in competitive tennis. After all, prize money and championships are determined by wins. Even making the school team depends on one's record. Every important match is followed by the inevitable question - "Did you win?"

The emphasis on winning permeates American athletics. Consider how important winning is to you. I have heard many players say that it does not matter if they win or lose as long as they play well.

At first glance, this attitude appears to have more potential for confident play in tense situations. You have only yourself to worry about. You success is not thwarted by bad linecalls, acts of nature, or heroic efforts of the opponent. Factors outside your not threatening. Confidence is built even in losing efforts. What matters is playing well, not winning. If an emphasis on winning or playing well hinders confidence in crucial situations, where do you go? I think the answer is simple: Try your hardest. I can understand why Avis adopted the motto, "We try harder." You can feel good about giving a challenge "the old college try."

In any tense competitive situation you have the power to try. If success is based on trying - and nothing else - you have within your grasp the certainty of achievement.

Now put yourself back into that tense third-set tiebreaker. If the match has gone that far, you cannot be certain you will win. However, strength and confidence for facing this sutuation can be based on knowing you will try. Your opponent may hit an ace that leaves you flatfooted, but you can feel satisfaction if you were TRYING to return the ball. You may end up blowing an easy shot near the net, but that will not destroy you because you know you TRIED.

You may win or you may lose, but it is immaterial as long as you tried.

Confidence grows out of certainty. Confident, "all-out" efforts often cause you to play well, but not always. When you play well you may win, but not necessarily. When trying is the only criterian, success lies withing your control.

Multi-Talented And Involved Minister's Wife Takes Time Out To Entertain Family, Friends

By Dorothy Greene Herald Correspondent

Our Cook of the Week, Rubye King, can put a smile on your face and a glow in your heart and make you feel so good about yourself with the same dedication that she displayed at her husband's side during their many years in the ministry.

Besides Mrs. King's manyfaceted talents in the area of homemaking, entertaining and church related activities, her recent entry into the world of cosmetics has given her one more opportunity to work with people and share her spirit of caring for others. After only a few months as a cosmetics representative, Mrs. King states that she is extremely impressed by Mary Kay Ash , the lady who built her cosmetics business on a shoestring, determination, but most of all on the Golden Rule.

Coming from a family of eight children, Mrs. King speaks fondly of her five brothers and two sisters and their close relationship as youngsters in Chipley, Fla. "The church was always a very central part of my life," she says. "That was our social life. It meant everything to us. As a musician of sorts, at a very early age I was invited to play plano for Sunday School and different things. In my high school days I played for teas and coffees. Later, I took organ lessons and was an organist for several years." Mrs. King's parents had separate businesses of their own, and "I chose not to go to college but stay home and help my mother and father in their businesses." she explains. "My father had a body building plant and made all the school buses for the eastern part of the nation until the all-steel bodies came into use. Then he went into the hardware ing harvest time," she says. business and I kept the books for ding, run to the church and play for the wedding or funeral, then maybe run back to the house, be at the cemetary before anyone got there. We wore each other's clothes, so that was our arrangement." Mrs. King admits that she has put her sewing aside these past few years as a result of all the new polyester fabrics which came into existence. Now her efforts are focused on needlepoint, embroidery, painting and flower arranging in addition to her penchant for decorating.

Organizing and directing weddings, anniversaries and receptions for church members. from food planning to decorating is a source of great enjoyment for Mrs. King. "I've enjoyed that very much through the years," she says. Mrs. King is also called upon occasionally to pinch-hit as organist when needed.

A hobby, of sorts, that Mrs. King speaks very enthusiastically about is of world wide travel that she has been able to be part of since 1955, As organizers and directors of tour groups, the Kings have been privileged to visit almost every corner of the world.

Their travels have taken them to all of Europe. Australia, the Holy Land, Egypt, Turkey, India. Russia, the Orient and all of South America. "We just have a real good time and good fellowship. It's wonderful," says

Travel In The Kitchen With Regional Cuisine

Vacations offer us an opportunity to travel, see new places, visit old familiar ones and people. They also provide an opportunity to try new foods and gather recipes that we want to try when we get back home. Our country has a wealth of regional culsine which reflects our varied heritage. For the next few weeks this column will offer regional favorites that can be prepared in the microwave oven. We'll begin our tour in Pennsylvania (my home state). The Pennsylvania Dutch cookery is simple, hearty fare that had its origins in Germany. Many vegetables are served, usually some kind of a cabbage dish and of course a sweet ends the meal.

A sweet-sour sauce is unmistakably Pennsylvania Dutch. PENNSYLVANIA-DUTCH CABBAGE

4 slices bacon 6 cups shredded cabbage 4 cup water I small onlon, chopped

4 cup vinegar 2 tablespoons flour 2 tablespoons brown sugar 34 teaspoon salt 1/2 teaspoon pepper

1/2 cup water

Layer bacon in 2-quart glass casserole. Cover with paper towel. Microwave on 100% power 4-5 minutes or until crisp. Remove bacon and set aside. Discard all but 2 tablespoons of drippings, add cabbage, 4-cup water, and the onion to drippings. Cover with lid. Microwave on 100% power 9-10 minutes or until almost tender, stirring once: Combine Vicup water, vinegar, flour, brown sugar, salt and pepper; stir into cabbage. Cover. Microwave on 100% power 14-2 minutes or until mixture boils and thickens, stirring once. Crumble bacon and sprinkle over cabbage.

For a lovely lady like Rubye King, whose life has been fulfilling and rewarding, whether hand in hand with her husband, Leo, in their service to the church, or in her involvement in community work, or in her role as homemaker, retirement does not mean sitting back. She's as busy as ever, "and," she smiles. 'here I am, at my age, starting a new career with Mary Kay."

Female Roommates Resent Being Labeled

DEAR ABBY: All this talk we're hearing about passing bills to ban homosexuals from housing and jobs leaves me wondering. Who is to decide who is gay and who isn't? Why does everyone assume that if a woman is not having sex with a man, she's gay? This has been a problem for me for a very long time. I'm 38, and for the last 12 years, I've shared a home with another single woman. I am not gay and neither is she, but society has automatically labeled us "lesblans" because neither of us has ever been married and we have lived together for so long.

This woman and I have no obligations or commitments to each other. If I could find a man with whom I could have the same arrangement, I wouldn't mind living with him. It would be more acceptable in our society for me to live with a man than a womar.

Abby, if any kind of measures are to be taken against homosexuals, will all married people be excluded? What about married folks who get their little kicks on the side with people of their own sex? Will sanctions apply only to those who admit they are gay, and exclude those who remain in the closet? What about those of us who are not gay, but are assumed to be because of our lifestyle?

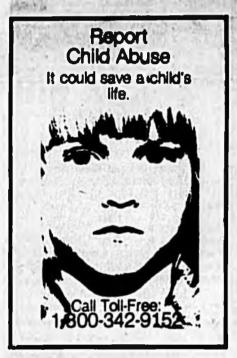

I've often wondered if there are other single straight people who have been labeled gay because society has decided they are.

NOT GAY IN THE U.S.A.

DEAR NOT GAY: According to Dr. John Money, noted sexologist and gender identification specialist at Johns Hopkins, no human can be labeled "100 percent" male or female. We are all capable of bisexuality. Some act out. Others never do.

Is one sexual encounter with a person of the same sex sufficient to label that person gay? (No.) Six encounters (Maybe.) Is age a factor? (Yes.) Would a few same-sex encounters in boarding school make one gay? (Probably not.) How about men or women who have been incarcerated in prisons for many years? (Any port in a storm!)

Are you beginning to get the idea? So, unless a person discloses his or her sexual history. there is no way of "knowing."

And, if the government demands an accounting of our bedroom behavior, we can kiss goodbye

DEAR ABBY: How petty can a person be? A woman wrote complaining that the gentleman she had been seeing is charming, world-traveled and well-educated, but he "slurps" his tea. DALLAS (UPI) - A 78-year-old woman tied to her chair by robbers who stole $33,000 in valuables didn't let the incident prevent her from watching the Dallas Cowboys trounce Detroit Sunday as the intruders ransacked her house.

Margie Palmer may have been robbed, but at least she didn't miss the game. Police were searching Tuesday for the robbers, who brought the 78-year-old woman a glass of water before they left.

After tying her to a chair, Palmer said one of the men politely asked her if she would like him to turn on the television.

"Yes, turn it to the Dallas Cowboys game," she replied without hesitating.

She told police the two men positioned her chair so she could see the game and then left through a back door of her Lakewood home.

The robbers, who appeared unarmed, entered the house after one posed as a neighbor bringing her a potted plant, Palmer told police.

Palmer told police the men took rings from her fingers, $1,100 in cash from her purse and a $20,000 set of sterling silverware.

The robbers also disconnected the telephone. Palmer

Leftover meat adds substance to salad. Heat first to render fat. Makes dressing taste better, too.

Whipped cream frosting holds its shape better if you add gelatin. Use 1 tsp. unflavored gelatin and 2 Tbs. cold water per cup of whipping cream. Heat gelatin and water until gelatin is melted, then cool to room temperature. Add slowly to cream while you beat.

Remove skin and trim away visible fat on a chicken, and you've removed half of the fat content!

Steaming's a wonderful way to keep flavor — and vitamins — in vegetables. Young corn is luscious in 3 to 4 minutes; whole carrots are ready in 10.

UNESCO's 40th Anniversary May Be Its Last

Amadou Mahtar M'Bow is campaigning heavily for a third term as head of the beleaguered U.N. agency, although member nations warn that if he succeeds the organization may die.

tional Scientific and Cultural Organization say M'Bow has destroyed the ideals of the 158-nation body, is attempting to force out Western employees and has stacked key positions with trusted friends.

They express fears that M'Bow may already have irreversibly damaged UNESCO, which is just celebrating its 40th anniversary.

Frustrations already have taken a heavy toll. UNESCO lost withdrawal of the United States at the end of 1984 and Britain 1985.

Now Western diplomats say Japan, Switzerland, West Germany, the Netherlands and Belgium are some of the countries opposed to a third term for M'Bow and may leave the organization if M'Bow succceds.

That would cut the current $150 million UNESCO budget more than 20 percent and could lead to collapse of the agency. they say.

"With first 30 percent gone and then 20 percent more, you're talking about an agency with half the funds available to it." said one diplomat. "At some point the weight of the withdrawals would force it to collapse."

UNESCO was created Sept. 8, 1946, to foster literacy, cultural exchanges, scientific studies and cooperation among nations. The United States said when it withdrew that 80 percent of the budget was being spent at Paris

PARIS (UPI) - UNESCO leader headquarters when most of the money should be used for field work.

"When we pulled out we tried to stimulate some reforms, getting back to education, science. culture and communications Critics within the U.N. Educa- and away from politicizations," said Terry Miller, the U.S. observer to UNESCO.

> "We weren't successful. But I think our withdrawal stimulated a degree of reform. That seems to have stalled now," he said.

> It will be a year before a new director general of UNESCO will be nominated by the governing executive board. Already M'Bow is campaigning heavily.

One of M'Bow's biggest obstacles is Dragoljub Najman of Yugoslavia.

Najman worked for UNESCO for 29 years until he was forced out last spring, three months before he would have been eligible for his $300,000 chief critic.

Najman found M'Bow in 1965 I don't think it matters to him."

"He's destroyed the spirit officials have made clear they feel criticism of UNESCO stems from Western bias and racism. M'Bow took the rare step in August of suing the French magazine L'Express for an article he said was critical.

"UNESCO is under attack from the Western powers because they aim to undermine Africa went from 53 to 149, and any international institution that will help developing countries study and reflect upon their own problems," said Doudou Diene, a deputy assistant director general, in a statement released by the Pan African News Agency.

This is nonsense and stupidity," Najman said. "Why is he lashing out at the West when he M'Bow lives in a penthouse is an international civil servant and 70 percent of his salary is paid by the West? He's attacking those who are feeding him."

Meanwhile, other UNESCO sources say, M'Bow has made dramatic increases in staff members from French-speaking countries, mostly in Africa, and reductions in Western and English-speaking nations.

The largest increases from this year were from his home country, Senegal, and from Haiti, the home country of his wife, Raymonde.

As a whole, French-speaking Cuba went from two to five.

Western Europe's representation went down 18 percent. The U.S. representation has decreased from 126 staff members to 91, including 56 professionals. The Soviet Union now outnumbers the United States in professional employees at UN-ESCO, with 64.

"He's definitely practicing a personal recruitment policy. bringing in people who he feels comfortable with," said the UNESCO source.

"Is that the role of the director general an international cooperative with 158 countries? A certain amount of nepotism is expected, but this guy has stacked the place unbelievably.

"He has surrounded himself by 'yes' men," the source said. "The slightest criticism he cannot tolerate, and people that are normally intelligent are reduced to saying 'yes' or saying In those 9 1/2 years, Senegalese nothing. He never gets an honest
