Hardy trial postponed

SANFORD — Longwood Mayor Henry "Hank" Hardy, scheduled for trial today before County Judge Wallace H. Hall, in Courtroom A of the Seminole County Courthouse in Sanford, instead will be tried in January.

The State Attorney's office reported Hardy's trial has been postponed until after the holidays.

Hardy faces an Oct. 3, Altamonte Springs police driving under the influence of alcohol charge. Hardy, 34, who was recently named mayor of Longwood, entered a not guilty plea to the charge in mid October. If convicted state officials could oust him from the city commission. He was named mayor this month after his arrest and controversy over alleged abusive racial remarks made to an Altamonte Springs police booking officer when arrested.

Seminole road bonds delayed

TALLAHASSEE — Gov. Bob Martinez and the Cabinet voted unanimously Tuesday to wait until the new year to issue some $515 million in turnpike bonds so that Gov.-elect Lawton Chiles can play a role in the process.

The money would pay for improvements to interchanges and expressway projects in Seminole and Hillsborough counties.

Those projects amount to the first steps in the $1.2 billion borrowing program approved by the Legislature last spring to construct a statewide system of toll roads.

Chiles criticized the bonding formula during his campaign against Martinez, saying it was a potential way for Martinez to reward the bond companies and investment bankers who contributed heavily to his campaign.

By their vote Tuesday, Martinez and the Cabinet delayed any more decisions about the borrowing until January, after Chiles is inaugurated as governor.

Martinez had no comment on the decision.

Commissioner of Education Betty Castor, who proposed the delay, said it would permit study on whether the state could save on interest payments by floating the bonds in two smaller increments, as Chiles has suggested, instead of as a lump sum of $515 million.

"I don't think the world would stop (because of a delay)," Castor told her colleagues.

Destroying this wrapping paper hazardous to your wealth

United Press International

FORT LAUDERDALE — Ever since Maps and Hoffman stores began wrapping holiday gifts in sheets of uncut dollar bills eight years ago, co-owner William Maus Jr. has grown accustomed to a familiar refrain.
"Oh my God, I didn't know it was real," Maus said, describing customers' reaction. "And that's usually after Christmas, which means it's been ripped open and thrown away."

Employees attach a caution sticker to each bill-wrapped package saying, "Warning: Destroying this gift may be hazardous to your wealth."

But in their eagerness to see what's inside, some recipients invariably ignore the warning or simply don't believe that the dollars are real, Maus said Monday.

The sheets sell for $55 — $23 over face value — but the wrapping remains a popular item.

"It's one of the only things in the store that the price doesn't go up on," Maus said.

He estimates the five south Florida stores go through 350 to 400 sheets of the dollar wrapping each holiday season. The stores won't wrap gifts with the special paper unless they were purchased at Maus and Hoffman.

SANFORD — A large number of boys and girls in the Sanford area will be receiving bikes for Christmas this year, but they won't be from Santa's workshop. They will be from the city's Public Works shop.

Over the past two or three years, possibly as many as 600 boys and girls' bikes have been recovered in the area. They have gone unclaimed, and efforts to locate owners have proven futile. Meanwhile, by their numbers alone, they are causing a bicycle traffic jam in a Public Works Department warehouse.

During Monday's city commission meeting, Sanford Police Chief Steven Harlett asked City Manager Frank Faison to allow the bikes to be cleared out.

Florida statutes provide for the donation of unclaimed or abandoned property, such as SANFORD — A Seminole High School senior is held without bond in the county jail today, charged with attempted murder. Ronald Anthony Coffield, 18, is accused of twice shooting Joe Miller, 28, of Sanford, in the back.

Coffield was arrested at the high school at 2:15 p.m. Tuesday. He is also charged with use of a firearm in a felony.

Coffield is accused of firing four shots when a high school dance broke up at about 12:30 a.m. Nov. 21, at the Sanford Civic Center on Sanford Avenue.

County, city to discuss beautification costs

By J. MARK BARFIELD

SANFORD — The landscaping of Lake Mary Boulevard will proceed, but not without some "horse-trading" between Seminole County and Lake Mary commissioners next month.

Several Lake Mary commissioners and county commissioners agreed tentatively Tuesday to proceed with the beautification of the three-mile section of road from Markham Woods Road to County Road 15 when it is widened during the next two years. But the two commissions will meet Dec. 12 at Lake Mary City Hall to discuss ways to share the costs of the landscaping and other amenities on Lake Mary Boulevard. The two commissions will also discuss sharing road improvement and maintenance responsibilities on other roads in the Lake Mary area to help the county defray some of a potential $800,000 expense in the project.

Lake Mary officials were pleased with the county's reaction. "This is extremely positive," said mayor-elect Randy Morris, who chaired the road beautification committee. "We're moving ahead to the next step now, which is, 'How are we going to go about paying for it?'"

WASHINGTON — Food prices will rise between 2 percent and 5 percent in 1991, a return to more moderate levels of price inflation after two years of increases in the range of 6 percent, according to a government forecast.

The Agriculture Department estimate, released Tuesday, suggested that food prices might return to the stable levels of the mid-1980s when annual increases rose roughly 2 percent or 3 percent.

Food prices zoomed 5.8 percent in 1989 and are expected to jump about 6 percent this year due in part to higher prices for fruit and vegetables stemming from last winter's freeze in the South. Milk and meat prices also ran at high levels for months.

"For 1991, a food price rise of 2 percent to 5 percent is in prospect," said James Donald, chairman of the department's World Agricultural Outlook Board.

"Projected record meat supplies, higher dairy product output and the likelihood of bigger citrus crops this season will moderate food price rises," he said.

Donald added that projections for lower inflation would hold down any increases in marketing costs.

Higher oil prices that followed Iraq's invasion of Kuwait could play a role in determining the size of food price increases.

Traffic fatality reported

DELAND — Arthur Thurston, 33, of Orlando, was killed when he lost control of his van on Bear Lake Road in South Seminole County at about 2:05 a.m. Sunday, a Florida Highway Patrol spokesman in DeLand reported today.

Thurston, who was travelling north and alone, lost control at a curve and his van left the road and stuck a tree. The van spun out of control, the FHP said. Thurston was pronounced dead at an Orlando hospital that day.

Prisoner damages fire gear

SANFORD — When Derrick D. Wood, 27, of Deltona, was booked into the John E. Polk Correctional Facility for disorderly conduct and trespassing, he allegedly compounded his situation by damaging a fire sprinkler in the ceiling of his cell at about 1:50 a.m. Tuesday.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies added a charge of criminal mischief and resisting arrest with out violence against Wood. Jail guards said they heard the sprinkler break and water flow from the ceiling. Wood was removed to another cell.

Members of the Seminole County Fire-Rescue Dive Team Tuesday presented county commissioners with plaques they received during a recent competition in Orlando that pitted dive rescue teams from departments from throughout the country.

During the September competition, Seminole County two-man rescue teams won two first-place awards and one third-place award. Lt. Steve Jones and Jim Hannon received first-place awards for "shore sweep" competition and Lt. Jim Binkley and fireman Buddy Mills won first place for "anchor point" competition. Lt. Steve Williams and paramedic Scott Eakman took third place for anchor point.

Dive rescue team members are Lt. Jones, Williams, Hannon, Binkley, Bill Bibb, Steve Thiebauth, Judd Sonafelt, Gary Muse, Rick Chabot, firefighter Mills and paramedic Eakman.

Williams said despite the skills the awards honor, the team doesn't have a boat they call their own. He said the team relies on the sheriff's department to loan its boat or commandeers a boat at the scene.

"The funny thing is, Sanford has a boat but they don't have a team," Williams laughed.

Columbia cleared for December launch

By WILLIAM HARWOOD
 UPI Science Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL — The repaired shuttle Columbia, grounded since May by crippling hydrogen fuel leaks, was cleared Tuesday for a fifth pre-dawn launch try Sunday to begin a 10-day astronomy mission.

After reviewing the status of launch processing, NASA managers said Columbia was finally ready for takeoff on the 38th shuttle mission at 1:28 a.m. EST Sunday.

At the controls will be commander Vance Brand, 59, and co-pilot Guy Gardner, 42. Their crewmates are John "Mike" Lounge, 44, Robert Parker, 53, Jeffrey Hoffman, 46, and civilian astronomer Ronald Parise, 39, and Samuel Durran, 46.

If all goes well, Columbia's countdown will begin at 1 a.m. Thursday with the shuttle's crew scheduled to fly to the Kennedy Space Center from Houston late that night for final preparations. The mission is scheduled to end Dec. 11 with a landing at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., at 8:25 p.m. PST.

The goal of the long-delayed flight, the sixth of 1990 and the 13th since the 1986 Challenger disaster, is to study the most violent objects in the universe with a $150 million battery of telescopes sensitive to X-rays and ultraviolet light that cannot penetrate Earth's atmosphere.

Data from the mission should help astronomers later gain insights into the nature of quasars, as-yet-unseen black holes, supernovae, interstellar gas and dust, stellar evolution and other, critical questions in modern astronomy.

Columbia originally was scheduled for blastoff May 30, but the ship was grounded the night before during fuel loading when sensors detected explosive hydrogen gas building up in the shuttle's engine room.

A subsequent fueling test led engineers to believe the problem involved Columbia's 17-inch "disconnect" fitting, a massive fuel line coupling that allows the shuttle's external tank to be jettisoned in space.

The grounded orbiter then was hauled back to its hangar for repairs. Engineers later found damaged seals inside the disconnect fitting that appeared to explain the leak.

Columbia's half of the fitting was replaced with one from the new shuttle Endeavour and the tank half was replaced with one that performed particularly well in previous leak tests.

In the meantime, NASA proceeded with plans to launch the shuttle Atlantis in mid July on a secret military mission, but yet another leak was found.

Investigators close jewel theft case

By SUSAN LOREN
 Herald staff writer

SANFORD — The case of the theft and recovery of about $60,000 worth of jewelry and thousands of dollars in cash cracked by Seminole County sheriff's investigators Monday, is closed today with three additional arrests.

Lt. Matt Stewart said the sole victim in the case has also been identified.

The jewelry was recovered at about 2:30 a.m. Tuesday, when investigators who had the three houses of the four suspects stalked out all day and night Monday, caught Carolyn S. White, 33, and her brother-in-law Jack B. White, 34, allegedly leaving their house at 404 E. 14th St., with the jewelry.

After recovering the jewelry deputies went to the house of Ralph James Rash, 53, 2654 Palmetto Ave., Sanford, Rash, who allegedly earlier attempted to sell the jewelry, was questioned and charged with conspiracy to traffic in stolen property at about 5 a.m. Monday. The Whites were released as the investigation continued.

The arrests of the Whites were delayed until about noon Tuesday, Stewart said. Carolyn White is charged with burglary and grand theft. Jack B. White is charged with burglary, grand theft and conspiracy to traffic in stolen property. Arrested at about midnight Tuesday on the same charges was William Lockhart, 3503 Palm Way, Sanford.

Stewart said Carolyn White was a house cleaner for the victim Katherine Johnson, of Longwood. White allegedly knew Johnson had a safe in her home and what it contained. When White knew Johnson would be away from home Nov. 12, she and Jack White and Lockhart allegedly stole the safe. Stewart said.

Rash was allegedly contacted to sell the jewelry. On Monday deputies received a tip that an attempt had been made to sell a large amount of jewelry to a Sanford pawn shop.

Commission approves new ambulance service

By J. MARK BARFIELD
 Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Beginning Jan. 15, 1991, the price residents will pay for Seminole County ambulance service will decrease by about 10 percent.

Seminole County commissioners unanimously approved dropping American Medical Transport as their ambulance service provider after three years and awarding a three-year contract to a Fort Lauderdale company, Atlantic Ambulance Service.

In other action, commissioners approved changes to the Lake Forest development plan allowing developers NTS Corp. to back off of a 1988 commitment to donate 1,200 acres of wetlands at the confluence of the Wekiva and Little Wekiva Rivers to the county or a conservation group.

Commissioners also gave final approval of a tightening of their late night clerk ordinance which will require convenience stores open past 9 p.m. to install silent alarm systems by March or face $250 per day fines.

More than two dozen AMT emergency medical technicians were attendance Tuesday as commissioners considered dropping their company after five years in favor of Atlantic Ambulance for lower rates.

Under examples prepared by county staff, if AMT transported and treated a 15-year-old girl suffering from severe injuries from an auto accident today, the cost would be $341. If Atlantic were offering the same service, the charge would have been $311.

Commissioners, in a 4-1 vote, also approved changes to pledges NTS made in 1988 that they would deed 1,200 acres of Wekiva River property to the county or The Nature Conservancy in return for permission to build homes in about 50 acres of wetlands at the Lake Forest development north of State Road 46 and west of Interstate 4. Commissioner Larry Furlong opposed the changes, saying the original donation offer should be enforced.

At the time, the offer was applauded by environmentalists who said the preservation of the Wekiva River land far outweighed the loss of development-damaged wetlands in Lake Forest.

But NTS officials since sought to back off of that original offer, saying they need a bargaining chip with federal and state environmental regulators to compensate of the destruction of about 25 acres of wetlands in their Sabal Point development near the Wekiva River land.

Under the new deal, NTS will now deed only 500 acres to the county or St. Johns Water Management District within 90 days and agreed to preserve and restore water flow through the remaining 700 acres.

Changes for SAT

Changes planned for the Scholastic Aptitude Test won't erase all complaints that the test for the college-bound discriminates against women and minorities. But by adding optional essay questions and math questions that require students to provide their own answer rather than just pick one from the multiple choices given, the new test should become a better gauge of overall ability.

Too often, SAT scores have been an indication not of scholastic aptitude but of how well a student has mastered the art of taking standardized tests. Pre-test coaching in school and a booming business by private tutors have made high SAT scores an end in themselves rather than a tool to help colleges select which students are most likely to be successful after they graduate from high school.

The changes announced recently should help shift the emphasis of the SAT away from such rote learning and toward testing the ability of students to think and reason on their own. Some math problems on the new test will have no answers for students to choose from, and test-takers will be allowed to use calculators. On the verbal part of the test, optional essay questions will let students show they can organize and express their thoughts.

The essays should also help reduce the discriminatory aspects of the test. In the past, critics of the SAT have said that the terms used in the analogies had no meaning in the lives of minority students, and their scores often reflected that bias. But an essay that asks for a personal interpretation of a statement — such as, "People seldom stand up for what they truly believe; instead they merely go along with the popular view" — can accommodate answers from a wide range of students.

No aptitude test will ever be perfect, and the new, improved SAT needs continued monitoring. But the planned changes are a wise improvement.

Averting a trade war

It's time to play hardball with the French and Germans. Their stubborn refusal to make meaningful reductions in farm subsidies should not be allowed to block successful completion of the Uruguay Round of international trade talks.

The four-year round of negotiations, conducted under the banner of the 105-nation General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, is slated to conclude in Brussels on Dec. 3-7. If an accord is not reached on the issue of farm subsidies, then tentative deals already negotiated in 14 other trade areas could also be doomed. The other agreements are particularly vital to the United States. They include provisions to expand commerce in banking, telecommunications, aviation, investment and intellectual property.

To avert such a catastrophe, which could trigger a global trade war or at the very least revive old skirmishes, the trade ministers of the 13-nation European Community need to get tough with the French and Germans. The last obstacle to a satisfactory conclusion of the GATT talks is adamant opposition by Paris and Bonn to the level of agricultural cuts proposed by the United States and 14 farm-exporting nations known as the Cairns Group.

The U.S.-Cairns Group proposal calls for a 75 percent cut in overall government support payments to farmers during the next 10 years, and a 90 percent cut in export subsidies. The French and Germans have only grudgingly accepted a modest 30 percent cut in farm supports over 10 years, and then only if 1986 is used as a generous baseline year.

If the French and Germans remain intractable, the EC may have to consider whether keeping its two leading farm-exporting nations happy is worth jeopardizing $1.5 trillion in non-farm trade that is being negotiated in the round.

There is nothing etched in stone that says the EC must operate singly where the GATT is concerned. The EC nations agreeable to the compromise on farm subsidies — such as Britain, Denmark and the Netherlands — can accept the U.S.-Cairns group proposals and let France and Germany operate outside of GATT.

Whatever the EC ultimately decides to do, it is clear the non-European farm-exporting nations have a justifiable grievance. The EC spends $97 billion a year to subsidize its 10 million farmers. This gross distortion of the international agriculture market contributes to $250 billion a year in added taxes and inflated food prices for the world's consumers.

Air war option flies high over Iraq

The anguished cry of "20,000 body bags" — the alleged reason America shouldn't attack Iraq — is a knee-jerk spasm with roots in Vietnam. Clear-headed strategy should prove it to be a wild overstatement.

That is so because two other ideas, "sanctions" and "air war," are wrongly regarded as mutually exclusive. They are complementary.

The "20,000 body bags" slogan means that Americans must fight dug-in Iraqi soldiers, yielding high American casualties. Although well-meaning, such a scenario is what Saddam wants to hear.

But is there a more foolish way to use force against Iraq?

Think instead about an "air war," a concept that has wrongly fallen into disrepute. It is said, for example, "We never won an air war."

True. Nor have we fought one. We would have done better in Vietnam if we had. We certainly never fought an air war in conjunction with serious sanctions.

There are many alternatives to a ground war. Here, for example, is one, designed for credible threat:

Build up our ground forces in Saudi Arabia to a level guaranteeing that any Iraqi attack would be suicidal.

Get U.N. endorsement and congressional approval or acquiescence, then issue an ultimatum: Saddam, move out of Kuwait, fast, or pay for it.

If Saddam doesn't yield, the planes fly. The first wave, with American air cover, should be executed by the 24 Saudi-based Kuwaiti planes, and by the Saudi Air Force (189 planes).

American aircraft (720) would participate in immediate subsequent waves. So would the 50 British planes, and perhaps even the 24 Dutch, 20 French and 8 Italian aircraft.

The targets would be bridges, roads, electrical and electronic facilities, airfields, missile sites, military supply areas, refined petroleum products. Saddam's palace, nuclear, chemical or biological weapons sites, and any links from Baghdad headquarters to the Iraqi army in Kuwait.

No invasion follows. We do not heed strategists who say war can only be won on the ground.

Such air power alone may not destroy Saddam. He may survive. So then we wait and find out how an embargo works on a crippled country. And threaten to strike again, by air, if necessary.

Such a strategy has advantages: It negates the idea that only unskilled poor kids and minorities suffer in combat. American pilots are college graduates, well-paid and dedicated career military men, blacks and whites.

Casualties would likely be low. In Vietnam, one of 200 sorties did not return. By that accounting, if Americans flew 2,000 sorties into Iraq, 10 planes would be lost. Some of the pilots might survive.

Of course, in war, Murphy's Law applies. Things go wrong.

Money can't squelch voter rage

WASHINGTON — Although final spending reports do not have to be filed until January, it would appear that, as usual, incumbents outspent their challengers by huge amounts in Campaign '90.

In the 32 Senate races featuring an incumbent seeking re-election, the incumbents raised $4 for every $1 raised by their challengers. In the House races, the ratio was closer to 12-to-1. This year's election results showed that while money isn't everything, having a lot of it — especially a lot more than your opponent — can make the difference. However, November's results also showed that, if voters are angry enough, no amount of financing will save an incumbent.

Two Senate races demonstrate this contradiction perfectly:

Many Washington, D.C., insiders considered first-term Kentucky Sen. Mitch McConnell one of the few vulnerable Republicans seeking re-election this year. The Democrats found an attractive candidate in Louisville county executive Harvey Sloan. McConnell started the campaign with a big lead over Sloan in the polls. However, as the contest entered its final month, Sloan had cut that lead in half and had all the momentum.

As with most Senate campaigns, McConnell had a big fund-raising advantage over his opponent. He raised almost $4 million, compared to about $1.4 million for Sloan. More than $1 million of McConnell's money was from Political Action Committees representing corporations and special interests with business before committees on which McConnell sits. McConnell, who has led the fight in the Senate against campaign-funding reform, says this is perfectly ethical because he is operating completely within the rules.

Sloan complained that not only was he unable to generate support from these kinds of funding sources, but that McConnell's operatives were hurting his fund-raising efforts. He charged that McConnell put out the word that Kentucky interests who might want help in the future had better not support the challenger. He also claimed that the senator had used his position on the Foreign Relations Committee to cut him off from Jewish fund-raising sources, normally a mainstay for Democrats.

Coming into the final month of the campaign, McConnell had over $2 million in reserve, compared to less than $500,000 for Sloan. In the final weeks this enabled McConnell to unleash a massive television campaign to which Sloan could not respond. In the end, McConnell held onto his seat.

Meanwhile, in Minnesota, another troubled GOP incumbent, Sen. Rudy Boschwitz, outspent his Democratic opponent by a margin of $6 million to about $775,000. However, here the voters were angry, and no amount of spending was going to save the incumbent. Little-known professor Paul Wellstone ended up defeating Boschwitz.

Money also did not help New Jersey Democratic Sen. Bill Bradley in the face of similar voter anger.

The anger was actually directed against a massive tax hike by Democratic Gov. James Florio. Bradley merely had the misfortune of being the first Democrat to come along. Despite outspending former public utilities commissioner Christine Todd Whitman $12.9 million to $1 million, Bradley won by the narrowest of margins.

This is not to say that all challengers were underfinanced. Some were able to raise impressive amounts of cash.

Among all Senate candidates, incumbents and challengers combined, North Carolina Democrat Harvey Gantt spent the 10th most ($4.5 million), Iowa Republican Rep. Tom Tauke the 11th most ($4.3 million) and Illinois Republican Rep. Lynn Martin the 12th most ($4.3 million). However, all three were outspent and defeated by the incumbents they were challenging: Sen. Jesse Helms ($14.8 million), Sen. Paul Simon ($7.7 million) and Sen. Tom Harkin ($5 million).

In three Senate contests, though, challengers outspent their opponents. Sen. Daniel Akaka, D-Hawaii ($1.2 million), was outspent by challenger Rep. Patricia Sisk ($1.5 million); Sen. William Cohen, R-Maine ($1.1 million), was outspent by state Rep. Neil Rolde ($1.3 million); and Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I. ($1.5 million), was outspent by Rep. Claudine Schneider ($1.7 million). All three challengers lost.

Despite the 12-to-1 ratio in dollars spent between House incumbents and challengers, some challengers were also able to raise and spend impressive amounts. In 1990's most costly House race, Democrat Marguerite Chandler spent more than $1 million in an effort to win an open House seat in New Jersey, but still lost to Republican Richard Zimmer. In Georgia, GOP Rep. Newt Gingrich outspent his opponent, Democrat David Worley, $1.3 million to $274,000, but only managed to hold his seat by a mere 1,000 votes.

All 13 defeated House incumbents heavily outspent their victorious opponents. Among these were Robert Kastner, D-Wis., Bill Grant, R-Fla., and Roy Dyson, D-Md.

While money isn't everything, having a lot of it can make the difference.

Pollution takes toll in Poland

KRAKOW, Poland — This beautiful medieval city, untouched by the bombs of World War II, is rapidly decaying under the weight of industrial pollution. The same Soviet overlords who chose to save Krakow by taking it from the Germans without a massive artillery barrage, later callously and cynically chose to pollute it and its people nearly into oblivion.

Josef Stalin chose Krakow for the huge Nowa Huta steel mill in 1953. It was his way, according to one account, of breaking up the anti-communist intellectual clique in the city by infusing Krakow with 30,000 steel workers. The plan didn't work in the long run. Communism is on its way out, and the steel mill has turned a once-lovely city into a nightmare. Tourists who visit here are lucky when it rains because then the air pollution is not as noxious. Some 8 tons of dust falls on every square mile of Krakow each year. As a result, the city's 750,000 residents have the lowest life expectancy in all of Eastern Europe.

The acid in the air has stripped the gilding off the Wawel Castle cathedral. The faces on statues and facades of buildings survived centuries of war and peace, only to lose their noses and ears to "progress." The industrial and human waste poured into the Vistula River have led to a sad joke, that the water is so full of chemicals one could develop color film in it.

All is evidence of 50 years of slumlording by the Soviet Union, in Poland and elsewhere in Eastern Europe.

Krakow Mayor Jacek Wozniakowski told us that his "top priority" is combating pollution. "It is our most important question. The monuments are frightfully damaged and, even worse, there is the health of the people," he said.

The Bush administration has shown some compassion for the polluted Poles. We ran into Environmental Protection Agency head William Reilly here in Krakow. He had come to pledge money and technical assistance to restore the city, one of the most picturesque in Europe, to its former glory, and to restore the people to a more healthy atmosphere.

Reilly was the emissary for a Bush initiative to help struggling Eastern European democracies. The United States will spend $25 million to fight air and water pollution in Krakow.

Mayor Wozniakowski is grateful for the American support, which has inspired other Western nations to help too. The newly unified Germany has a special stake in cleaning up Poland. The wind blows Polish pollution to Germany, and rivers, like the Danube, carry the dirty water beyond the boundaries set by humans. Europe is one ecosystem when it comes to pollution.

Krakow is doing its bit too. The residents are driving less, and the city fathers have promised to impose pollution control laws. Poles are being asked to burn less of the cheap, high-sulfur coal they have used in the past to heat their homes until coal stocks can be upgraded and alternative heating methods developed.

The new managers of the Nowa Huta steel plant are installing scrubbers and shutting down two of their five blast furnaces. They hope to eliminate four-fifths of the pollution from the plant within three years.

NATIONAL BRIEFS

North case may go to Supreme Court

WASHINGTON — Iran-Contra prosecutor Lawrence Walsh, stung by federal appeals court decisions setting aside Oliver North's three felony convictions, said he'll probably take the high-profile case to the Supreme Court.

In a 21-page decision issued Tuesday, the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit denied Walsh's request to reinstate North's three convictions, but rewrote part of its previous decision to concede that North's jury may have been given confusing instructions.

The decision is a blow for Walsh and may jeopardize the conviction of another Iran-Contra defendant, former national security adviser John Poindexter.

Walsh released a statement Tuesday saying an appeal to the Supreme Court is likely to be his next course of action.

Drug tests on job questioned

BOSTON — Estimates appear to be exaggerated of the degree to which workers who test positive on drug tests may be impaired on the job, scientists said.

A study of 2,537 applicants for postal workers' jobs found those who turned up positive on urine tests for marijuana or cocaine use had higher rates of injury, accident and other problems on the job, but not to an extent often claimed. Dr. Craig Zwierling of the University of Iowa in Iowa City said Tuesday.

Zwierling and colleagues who conducted the research for the Boston medical unit of the U.S. Postal Service found those who were positive for marijuana had 85 percent more accidents on the job, 85 percent more injuries and 58 percent more turnover than those who tested negative.

Those whose pre-employment tests turned up evidence of cocaine use had 59 percent more accidents than those who tested negative, 85 percent more injuries and 15 percent more turnover. Their job absentee rate was 5.8 percent higher — and marijuana users' rate 3.1 percent higher — than non-users.

Milli Vanilli member arrested

LOS ANGELES — Rob Pilatus, half of the scandal-ridden pop music duo Milli Vanilli, was arrested for sexual battery Tuesday, police said.

Pilatus, 26, was arrested at 5:30 a.m. at his home in the exclusive Bel-Air section of Los Angeles. He was released after posting $10,485 bond, Sgt. David Rossi said.

Sexual battery, depending on the specifics of the crime, can be prosecuted either as a felony or a misdemeanor. Rossi said detectives will ask the District Attorney's Office to file felony charges against Pilatus, which would carry a maximum 4-year jail term upon conviction.

California law defines sexual battery as touching "an intimate part of another person while that person is unlawfully restrained."

The victim was a 25-year-old woman, Rossi said.

GNP up 1.7 percent

WASHINGTON — The nation's total output of goods and services increased a revised 1.7 percent in the third quarter while orders for durable goods jumped 3.6 percent in October, the Commerce Department said Wednesday.

The latest gross national product rise of $18 billion was weaker than a preliminary estimate released last month, and the surge in durable goods orders — the best since May — offset a drop of 1.6 percent in September, according to a pair of government reports.

Carriers to leave after Christmas

From staff and wire reports

Neither the Sanford nor DeLand National Guard units have been affected yet, although the callup of American regular, reserve and guard forces to serve in the Middle East continues.

According to Major Bob Lewis, at National Guard Headquarters in St. Augustine, "Two Florida National Guard units are leaving for Saudi Arabia today, two units are now in the staging area and two others will be leaving within the next five days."

Maintenance Companies 743 out of Fort Lauderdale, and 325 from Lake Wales left for their new overseas bases this morning. The 289th Engineering Company home based in Live Oak and the 221st Ordnance company from Camp Blanding are currently at Fort Stewart, Georgia, the base used as a staging area prior to the overseas transfer.

"Just today," Lewis said,

"we've had two more units called. The 202nd Medical Detachment from Jacksonville, with about 50 personnel, will be leaving this Saturday morning at 8 a.m., and the 705th Military Police Company from Cocoa will be going probably by Monday or Tuesday of this coming week."

Lewis pointed out that even though the units specifically based in Sanford and DeLand have not been called to duty, "You undoubtedly have people living in Sanford and elsewhere in Seminole County who are members of these other National Guard units." Lewis said there was no breakout on home towns for the newly called units. "It's not uncommon," he added, "for Guardsmen to travel halfway across the state to meet with their particular units, so you can expect some of the people scheduled to go will be from the Sanford and DeLand area."

Other branches of the military are also being called in increasing numbers. In Norfolk, Virginia, it has been announced that the USS Theodore Roosevelt and USS America carrier battle groups, carrying close to 16,000 personnel, will deploy shortly after Christmas to support Operation Desert Shield, the Navy said Tuesday.

The deployment affects Atlantic Fleet military personnel all along the East Coast. About 10,500 crewmen from Norfolk will head to the Persian Gulf region.

An estimated 35,000 military service men and women from Hampton Roads already have been deployed under Operation Desert Shield. Their departure has deepened the impact of a recession in the region by removing a large segment of the economy.

The announcement ends weeks of speculation for military families, who have known sailors from the carriers were to be deployed, but did not know if they would depart before Dec. 25. The Navy had left open the departure date.

"To the best of our knowledge it's going to be after Christmas, without any specific date," said Sgt. Robert Beckstead, a spokesman for the Atlantic Fleet in Norfolk.

Senate Democrats say 'Give peace a chance'

By LEE STORES
United Press International

China's foreign minister Wednesday virtually assured that Beijing would tacitly support a U.S.-backed U.N. resolution authorizing military force against Iraq if it does not withdraw from occupied Kuwait.

Foreign Minister Qian Qichen strongly hinted to reporters at Capital Airport before flying to the United States that China would abstain from voting on the U.N. Security Council resolution rather than veto it.

Washington would prefer China's support when the Security Council foreign ministers vote on Thursday but an abstention would not scuttle the resolution.

Qian denied reports that China had given private assurances it would vote in favor of the plan. "... It has always been the consistent position of China to call for a peaceful settlement of the gulf crisis and to avoid the use of force or an act of war," Qian said.

Asked if China would not vote in favor of the resolution, the Chinese foreign minister replied, "I think it is like that." But asked if Beijing would veto the resolution, he said, "I didn't say so."

Qian nevertheless refused to be explicit about an abstention. "I think you will know after the vote," he told reporters.

He also indicated that he will drive a hard bargain in exchange for the abstention, saying he sees his visit as ending a U.S. ban on high-level exchanges with Chinese officials imposed after Beijing crushed the Tiananmen Square democracy movement in June 1989.

Earlier reports said all five permanent members of the Security Council — the United States, Britain, France, China and the Soviet Union — have agreed on the use of force with the only hurdle being whether the resolution set a pullout deadline of Jan. 1 or Jan. 15.

French Foreign Minister Roland Dumas said Tuesday that he proposed Jan. 15 as the last date for a pullout, citing Soviet "reticence" on setting New Year's Day as the deadline. Iraq invaded Kuwait on Aug. 2 and soon annexed it.

In Washington, Senate Democrats urged the Bush administration to give the economic sanctions against Iraq a chance to work.

"If ever there was a case for giving peace a chance, this is it," Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., said Tuesday.

Farm bill offers crop freedom for farmers

By CHARLES J. ABBOTT
UPI Farm Editor

WASHINGTON — President Bush prepared to sign the farm bill on Wednesday, a package that reduces government subsidies by 25 percent over five years, but gives farmers more freedom to decide what crops to plant.

Passed by Congress last month, the plan is a new step by the federal government to help farmers earn more money on their own.

Agriculture Secretary Clayton Yeutter said he thought farmers "will be much more satisfied" to pursue profits rather than waiting for government handouts.

In addition, the new law will set terms for food assistance, export promotion, agricultural research and public feeding programs.

The law also will offer steps to preserve wetlands and protect water supplies from contamination by farm chemicals and will create the first nationwide regulations on what can be classified as organic food.

The plan is likely to be best-known for its major changes in the farm program.

It works hand in hand with the new $500 billion deficit-reduction law to reduce projected farm subsidy spending over the next five years by 25 percent, or about $13 billion.

Most of the reductions would be achieved through use of the so-called triple base plan, which makes 15 percent of the wheat, feed grains, cotton and rice land ineligible for subsidies but would allow farmers to grow other crops on the land.

The idea is to let farmers look for money-making alternatives to the current mixture of crops. Triple base will be accompanied by a 10 percent "planting flexibility" program that is voluntary but has the same basic rules and goals.

Triple base is an untested idea but Congress preferred it to the prospect of any further cuts in crop subsidy rates.

Farm income to increase in 1991

By CHARLES J. ABBOTT
UPI Farm Editor

WASHINGTON — Farmers will earn near-record income in 1991 thanks to larger production that will offset higher costs, according to a government forecast.

In the first day of their annual outlook conference, Agriculture Department analysts forecast a slight increase in crop acreage next year, due in part to the greater freedom farmers will have under the new farm policy law.

The new law will allow farmers to alter their mix of crops on up to 25 percent of their wheat, feed grain, cotton and rice land without jeopardizing future eligibility for subsidies.

"Soybeans, other oilseeds and cotton are expected to effectively compete for this flexible acreage with wheat, feed grains and rice," said James Donald, chairman of the department's World Agricultural Outlook Board.

As keynote speaker, Yeutter said the international market represented the best chance for larger sales and higher profits for U.S. farmers.

Major succeeds Thatcher

By KAREN DAVIES
United Press International

LONDON — John Major became Britain's youngest prime minister of the century Wednesday, assuming the post from Margaret Thatcher, who was forced to resign after 11 1/2 years in which she renewed her nation's international prestige.

Queen Elizabeth II formalized Major's 11-year rise from newly elected member of Parliament to world leader by inviting him to form a new government during an audience at Buckingham Palace.

Earlier, Thatcher tearfully left 10 Downing Street and formally tendered her resignation to the queen during a half-hour meeting.

"We are leaving Downing Street for the last time after 11 1/2 wonderful years and we are very happy that we leave the United Kingdom in a very, very much better state than when we came here 11 1/2 years ago," Thatcher told reporters gathered outside her official residence. "It has been a tremendous privilege to serve this country as prime minister."

"Now it's time for a new chapter to open and I wish John Major all the luck in the world," Thatcher said. "He'll be splendidly served and he has the makings of a great prime minister, which I'm sure he'll be in a very short time."

Thatcher and her husband, Denis, then went to their retirement home in Dulwich, southeast London.

Maggie sees bright future

By JOHN HALL
United Press International

LONDON — As Margaret Thatcher steps down as prime minister this week, she is not without options or advice on what to do in retirement.

Although the Iron Lady has made no public comment on her sudden change in career plans, that has not stopped the British press from offering suggestions and predictions, some serious, some fantastic.

In the short-term, Thatcher will stay in Parliament, where she represents the north London constituency of Finchley. But it is uncertain whether she would wish to remain in the House of Commons after the next election.

Major, 47, takes charge of a badly divided party that he pledged to unify.

"It is a very exciting thing to be a leader of the Conservative Party, and particularly exciting to follow one of the most remarkable leaders the Conservative Party has ever had," said Major shortly after his election Tuesday, his wife Norma at his side.

"Our job now is quite clear. We are going to unite, unite totally and absolutely and go on to win the next election."

While Major fell two votes short of the 187 he needed to win outright on a second-round ballot of Conservative members of Parliament, his two opponents conceded defeat and urged that he be made party leader and prime minister.

Renegade MP Michael Heseltine, who sealed Thatcher's political fate, received 131 votes and Foreign Secretary Douglas Hurd got 56 to Major's 185.

Opposition Labor Party leader Neil Kinnock called Major "a no-change prime minister" and repeated a call for an early general election, which must be held by mid-1992.

Major is the youngest prime minister since Robert Peel became leader in 1834 at age 46. Harold Wilson was 48 when he led the Labor Party to victory in 1964. The youngest ever was William Pitt who was elected in 1783 when he was 24.

"It is the ambition of everyone to make it, regardless of race, color or creed, and John personifies that," said MP Angela Rumbold.

Major, who supported Thatcher until she tearfully bowed to pressure to resign, capitalized on his working-class beginnings in a contest of reverse snobbery. His six-day campaign pledged the creation of a "classless society" by the year 2000.

While Hurd attended Cambridge and Heseltine went to Oxford, Major, the son of a trapeze artist with Barnum & Bailey circus, left school at 16.

Strike up the bands

Deadline for parade approaches

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — The deadline for entering floats and units in this year's annual Christmas parade is Friday, Nov. 30. Completed entry forms will have to be in the hands of the parade committee, at the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce office, by the end of normal business hours.

Judging from the number of entries so far, this year's event is shaping up to be possibly one of the finest parades in many years.

One main difference this year is a dual theme. Held in conjunction with the St. Lucia Festival, the theme of an entry should be "Family Christmas tradition around the world," or "St. Lucia." First, second and third prizes will be awarded in a number of parade entry categories and a first place trophy will be given to the winner for the theme of St. Lucia.

All entries are required to be sponsored by a civic group, business, professional or religious group, except for dignitaries who will be riding in their usual place of honor in the parade.

Along with the completed entry form, a fee of $25 per unit is required, with checks to be made payable to the St. Lucia Christmas Parade.

The parade will begin at 11 a.m., Saturday, Dec. 8, with the staging area on E. First Street, and the parade route moving west along Seminole Boulevard to a point just beyond Sanford City Hall.

Longwood Christmas parade plans set

By NICK PFEIFAU
Herald staff writer

LONGWOOD — The holiday season begins Saturday morning in Longwood, with the sixth annual Christmas parade stepping off promptly at 10 a.m.

Parade chairman Mary Volkening reports over 75 units are entered in this year's parade, including five area bands. Television meteorologist Dave Marsh will be the grand marshal. "Dave has been in every parade we've ever had in Longwood," Volkening said. "So this year we've made him the grand marshal."

The parade will be on State Road 434, beginning at Rangeline Road and moving east to County Road 427.

The featured character in the parade will have his wife at his side this year, with both Mr. and Mrs. S. Claus on hand to lead Longwood in the opening of the Christmas season.

"We have one group this year that needs some public support," Volkening said. "Junior Girl Scout Troop 774 will be in the parade dressed as giant greeting cards. They'll be carrying markers and hope everyone will sign their cards which are to be sent to our service men and women in Saudi Arabia."

Parade time is 10 a.m., Saturday, Dec. 1, on S.R. 434 in downtown Longwood.

Old Masters stolen from truck at tavern

By JOHN PHILLIPS
United Press International

PARIS — A truck driver transporting Old Master paintings worth more than $5 million took a break at a bar, leaving the ignition keys on the dashboard, and thieves drove off with the loot, police said Wednesday.

A total of 50 canvases by Watteau, Fragonard and Rubens and others from Flemish, Dutch and French schools were aboard the truck when the driver and his porter workmates stopped at the bar in the center of Paris shortly before midnight Tuesday, police said. "They stopped for a glass and after a while they noticed the truck no longer was outside," said Christopher Hirel, a bartender at the General Lafayette, a popular watering hole that stays open the early hours.

"When they realized what was happening they raced into the street," Hirel told France's Antenne-2 television. "But the truck had disappeared into thin air."

The driver acknowledged that he had left the ignition keys on the dash, police said.

Hirel said the driver and his team were regular clients at the General Lafayette, an old-style Parisian brasserie with a zinc-topped bar, sawdust on the floor and a green and white awning sheltering tables on the sidewalk.

The truck had collected the artworks from the luxurious Crillon Hotel on the vast Place de la Concorde, where they had been displayed at an exhibit titled "Art Nouveau — Art Deco."

The driver and porters were taking the paintings to Bagnolet in the suburbs of Paris.

Attorney: Asylum for Asian Americans rises

United Press International

MIAMI — Two men who were forced to flee China because of their pro-democracy work there have been granted political asylum in a move that shows a more sympathetic attitude toward Chinese dissidents, their lawyer said Tuesday.

The Chinese dissidents, identified only as Bing and Ming to protect relatives still in the People's Republic of China, were granted asylum Monday by U.S. Immigration Judge Philip Montane. They were the first in Miami to be granted political asylum, said their attorney, Xiaowu Zhang.

"The judge was very sympathetic. The government's attorneys were very understanding and did not make frivolous arguments," he said. "This may be the beginning of a change in the way the government handles our asylum requests."

The problem, he said, lies in an executive order President Bush issued April 11 that deferred deportation and approved work orders for Chinese who fled the Republic because of the Tiananmen Square massacre June 3, 1989.

But Asian Americans who came into the country after April 11 are not covered by the executive order and therefore must be detained by immigration. The ruling by Montane could mean U.S. authorities are recognizing that the executive order does not protect all dissidents who fled the country following the massacre, Zhang said.

According to the criminal code in China, these people are considered traitors to the People's Republic of China and would be sentenced to not less than three years in prison," he said. "We can't let these people be sent back."

He said both men plan to stay in south Florida and bring their families over. Bing works in a restaurant and Ming in a supermarket.

Bing a successful small businessman in China, escaped by boat from Canton to Hong Kong about six months ago and made his way to Bolivia. He bought a forged Argentine passport and fraudulent Canadian visas and was headed for Canada when he was stopped at Miami International Airport.

He decided to try Canada because he had heard that Chinese nationals are welcomed there. But when immigration agents in Miami said they suspected his passport was a fake he immediately told them he wanted to apply for asylum in the United States so he wouldn't be deported, Zhang said.

Ming, a former officer worker, used an underground network to escape China through Burma, also about six months ago.

They're in the 'Polkey' now

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald staff writer

SANFORD — Beginning today, inmates of Seminole County's jail will be in the "Polkey."

Seminole County commissioners voted unanimously Tuesday to change the name of the jail from the Seminole County Correctional Facility to the "John E. Polk Correctional Facility" to honor Sheriff Polk, who will retire Dec. 31 after 22 years in office as the county's most popular officer.

Commissioners and those attending the afternoon county commission session stood for a moment of silent prayer for the ailing Polk at the request of commission chairman Fred Streetman, who bade Polk good health and a speedy recovery.

Major Don Esslinger, appointed by Gov. Bob Martinez this week to replace Polk, accepted the commission's proclamation for the sheriff.

"This is a great compliment to a great man," Esslinger said.

Seminole County Commissioner Jennifer Kelley Tuesday at commission meeting during which jail was renamed for retiring Sheriff John Polk.

Three-D map of universe in the works

By ROB STEIN
UPI Science Editor

WASHINGTON — Astronomers have announced plans to create the most detailed map of the universe ever attempted to help answer fundamental questions about the structure and evolution of the cosmos.

The $14-million, 10-year project will produce a three-dimensional map that should be 100 times more complete than any previous effort, including 1 million galaxies, 100,000 quasars and 30,000 intergalactic gas clouds, they said Sunday.

"Nobody has ever made such an elegant and detailed map of the sky," said Bruce Margon, an astronomer from the University of Washington in Seattle who chairs the Astrophysical Research Consortium, which is planning the project.

The map will be created through a methodical sky survey beginning in 1995 using a wide-angle telescope that is being specially built for the project. The telescope, which will have a field of view 36 times the size of a full moon, will be placed on Apache Point in the Sacramento Mountains of New Mexico.

The telescope will be equipped with a digital camera of unprecedented size composed of 30 digital light sensors called charged coupled devices, or CCDs, that will record 120 million points of light at a time in the ultraviolet, blue, red and infrared.

In addition, the telescope will be equipped with a robot-controlled light splitting spectrograph that will be able to measure the color of light from an unprecedented 600 stars, galaxies or quasars at once to create three dimensional maps.

The Fermi National Accelerator Laboratory outside Chicago will provide computer equipment to store and analyze the data, estimated to be the equivalent of a telephone directory listing 250 billion people.

The map may help explain how galaxies formed and should settle astronomers' debates about whether clusters of galaxies are arranged in sheets, bubbles or other large structures, the scientists said.

Astronomers hope to answer fundamental questions about the universe, such as the nature and distribution of mysterious material known as dark matter, said Richard Kron, an astronomer from the University of Chicago.

Tribe girls win opener

From staff reports

PORT ORANGE — It took a while but the Seminole High School girls basketball team finally got its act together and took a 58-52 opening season win over Spruce Creek Tuesday night.
 Seminole, which was ranked No. 8 in the preseason Class 3A poll, trailed 23-9 after one quarter of play and fell behind by 18 points early in the second stanza.
 "We made some adjustments and started playing better," said Seminole coach John McNamara. "You could tell they (Spruce Creek) were playing their third game of the season and we were playing our first."

 Seminole took its first lead of the game with three minutes left in the third quarter and held on the rest of the way.
 "It's not the best way to start," said McNamara. "But the girls played extremely well considering how young we are and they did a good job of making the adjustments necessary."
 Sophomore Niki Washington was

LAKE MARY — Carmen Sanders scored 24 points and collected 13 steals and Melissa Young added 13 points and 12 rebounds to lead the Mainland Buccaneers to a 66-52 victory over the Lake Mary Rams Thursday evening in girls basketball action at Lake Mary High School.
 After a 10-10 stalemate in the first quarter, Lake Mary took control in the second quarter behind a strong performance by Karen Morris, who scored nine of her team-high 23 points and pulled down five of her game-high 13 rebounds in the quarter to give the Rams a 31-28 lead at the half.

 However, the Buccaneers took charge in the third quarter.
 Lake Mary went up 34-28 one minute into the third quarter when Mainland broke loose with a 22-0 run during a 5:50 span.
 Sanders made back-to-back-to-back steals, hit two three-pointers

Boys do a little jamming

By DEAN SMITH
 Herald sports writer

SANFORD — Two things were evident after the Seminole Athletic Conference Boys Basketball Jam-boree at Bill Fleming Memorial Gymnasium Tuesday night. There is a lot of talent in this county and it is going to be an exciting season.
 The seven conference schools played two quarters each and all seven looked like they will be as good if not better than last year.

 Despite the loss of several important performers to graduation, Seminole and Oviedo both look to have the talent to be as good as last year. Mike Merthie showed why he may be the most talented individual player and Lake Howell, with four starters back, will probably be the team to beat.

Hoover, Tanzer lead Rams' rout of Lions

By PAUL SMITH
 Herald Correspondent

OVIDO — Dana Hoover netted a hat trick and Cory Tanzer had four assists to lead the Lake Mary Rams to an 8-1 drubbing of the Oviedo Lions Tuesday afternoon in girls' soccer action at John Courier Field.
 Leanne Bazile kickstarted the Rams attack in the third minute when she ran through the Lions defense and scored from 10 yards out.
 Five minutes later, Tanzer ran down the right wing and made a crossing pass to Shayne Thomas, who headed the ball at goal but was stopped by Oviedo goalkeeper Kris Armetta. The rebound came to Adriane Hemmerly, who slammed it into the net for a 2-0 Rams lead.

Midway through the first half, Julie Baumhofer put a loose ball into the net for the Rams and Thomas headed in a Tanzer corner kick to give the Rams a 4-0 lead.
 "We've been working real hard on the corner kicks in practice," said Lake Mary Coach Bill Elsiele. "We executed on them very well and converted three of them into goals."
 Oviedo's Ashley Williamson scored only five seconds later when she took the kickoff and ran straight through the middle of the Lake Mary defense and booted a 35-yard shot into the net to cut the lead to 4-1.
 Hoover scored her first goal late in the first half when Bazile sent a corner kick into the goal box and Hoover one-timed it into the net, giving the Rams a 5-1 lead going into halftime.
 "I wasn't really trying to score in this game," said Hoover. "I was concentrating on winning the ball at midfield and keeping the pace from getting too fast."
 Five minutes into the second half, Thomas took a pass from Joy Gorman at the top of the penalty box and booted it home to increase the lead to 6-1.
 Midway into the second half, Hoover scored two goals.

Dana Hoover (No. 18) scored three goals, including two just 85 seconds apart in the second half, in the Lake Mary Rams' blowout of the Oviedo Lions on Tuesday.

Grayhounds explode by Seminoles

From staff reports

LONGWOOD — For 40 minutes, Seminole gave Lyman a good game in their Seminole Athletic Conference high school girls' soccer match Tuesday, holding the host Grayhounds to a 1-0 halftime lead.
 But in the second half, the wheels came off for the Fighting Seminoles as Lyman scored six times to turn the game into a 7-0 rout.
 "Their defensive effort was tremendous in the first half," said Lyman Coach Jim Thompson. "We were down there in their end of the field and we couldn't score. But our persistence won out in the second half."
 The second-half collapse did not sit well with Seminole Coach Suzy Reno.
 "I'm really pleased with the first half," said Reno. "I was very happy at halftime. But I'm very disappointed with the second half. We didn't keep it up."
 "Any time you play a team like Lyman to 1-0 at halftime, that's a great effort. But the second half, the girls work so hard in practice. They played a beautiful first half. The second half, I don't know what Lyman took a 15-8 lead after one quarter and extended it to 32-12 by halftime. But Eustis slowed the Greyhounds a little in the third quarter, outscoring Lyman 18-16.

"I thought we played pretty good defense except for the third quarter," said Lyman Coach Steve Carmichael. "Finally, our offense showed up a little bit tonight. We're glad to get a win. We have to go out and play hard every night."

Now 3-2, Lyman will open its Seminole Athletic Conference

Jamboree

Lake Mary defeated DeLand 22-18. Oviedo bested Seminole 20-17 and Lake Howell closed the night with a 26-17 triumph over Lyman.

"We played pretty well but we have a lot of work to do," said Seminole coach Greg Robinson. "J.J. (Wiggins) and Jeff (Hall) didn't play as well as I thought they would, but Demetrius Lomax and Wesley O'Neal both showed they are going to help us this year."

Lake Howell coach Steve Kohn was glad to see four members of his team report for practice Monday after the football season ended Saturday.

"It was good to see the four of them," said Kohn. "We had a real good practice. We didn't want to quit. They may not be real ready to play Saturday against Boone, but at least we'll have them there."

The regular season opens Saturday with a pair of important games. Lake Howell will take on No. 2 state-ranked Boone and their star player Ivan Jones and Lake Mary will travel to Daytona Beach to take on always tough Mainland.

Seminole will open its season next Wednesday when it plays Kissimmee-Osceola in the opening round of the Rotary Tournament at Winter Park.

and scored two buckets on offensive rebound put-backs during the outburst to give the Buccaneers a 50-34 lead with 1:10 remaining in the quarter.

"We weren't playing defense at all," said Lake Mary Coach Anna Van Landingham. "We were standing straight up and watching them go around us and shoot over us."

LaShawn Merrick hit a lay-up with 0:30 remaining to stop the run and break a 6:30 scorching string for the Rams. But Missy McKee answered with a three-pointer for Mainland to give the Buccaneers a 53-36 lead going into the fourth quarter.

Morris converted a three-point play and Merrick hit a jumper to pull the Rams to within 60-47 with 3:02 remaining in the game, but that is as close as Lake Mary could get as the Buccaneers held on during the last three minutes to earn the victory.

See your specialist about nerve damage

DEAR DR. GOTT: I recently underwent hysterectomy and suffered nerve damage to the nerve that controls the muscles of my leg and foot. I began in a wheelchair and underwent physical therapy. Please provide information on nerve damage.

DEAR READER: Nerve damage is an uncommon complication of any surgery, but it can occur. During your hysterectomy, several of the nerves to your legs were injured because they lay close to the operating field and may have been pinched or inadvertently cut during the procedure. In my opinion, you should have received a detailed explanation of the event from your surgeon. You should have been told if the nerve damage was temporary or permanent, and you certainly should have been referred to a neurologist or a neurosurgeon for advice.

If you are still suffering a handicap, I suggest you return to the surgeon and demand to be seen by the best specialists available. Although this surgical complication may have been unavoidable, to relegate you to physical therapy without proper explanation is unconscionable.

DEAR DR. GOTT: After many years of suffering and treatment by very competent urologists, I was told I have chronic viral prostatitis and that nothing can be done for it. Do you have any thoughts on the subject?

DEAR READER: Infection of the prostate gland (prostatitis) can be difficult to treat because it tends to recur, and antibiotics do not readily penetrate to the interior of this spongy gland. In your case, you are at a particular disadvantage because of a chronic viral infection against which antibiotics are useless. Thus, you are subject to recurring symptoms of uncomfortable urination, discharge, pelvic pain and fever.

Unfortunately, I have nothing to add to your specialists' rather grim prognosis, except to say that a high fluid intake and periodic prostatic massage (performed by a urologist in the office) may help reduce the frequency and severity of your attacks. Ask your doctor about this.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Competing in tournament pairs games brings out lunatic tendencies. Favorable vulnerability in particular seems to incite speculative fervor in the bidding. Here South in third position rushed to open with a weak two-bid in spades on a poor five-card suit. When West bid three no-trump, North foolishly sacrificed at four spades, hoping that South could somehow scramble for seven tricks, a good save against the makable no-trump game. In such cases, precise defense is absolutely necessary to exact the maximum punishment. West led the king of diamonds. Not wanting to commit the defense, West played a second high diamond. That turned out to be a serious mistake, because it gave East a chance to discard, and poor East had chosen just this time to put on his dunce cap. East threw the eight of clubs. Declarer ruffed and played a club. East took the ace and returned a spade to South's king and West's ace. West returned the spade jack. Declarer won the queen and ruffed a club. Now all of South's remaining clubs were winners. Declarer ruffed a diamond back to his hand and played on the good club tricks. The defenders could now take only six tricks, and South had gotten almost a top result for his minus 500, virtually all the other East-West pairs scoring 800 or more for their vulnerable game. If East had thrown a heart instead of a club, the defenders would have had a top result.

YOUR BIRTHDAY
Nov. 29, 1990

In the year ahead you are likely to receive considerable help from friends in situations where you hope to strengthen your image and advance your personal interests.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) There is a strong possibility you may profit in some manner today from an unusual situation that has never yielded a bounty for you previously. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you to understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't ignore any hunches or insights you get today pertaining to members of your family. There's a possibility you might sense something advantageous of which they are not aware.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You have much more in common than you may realize with someone you recently met through a mutual friend. It behooves you to do what you can to nurture this relationship. PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Lady Luck may reward you in a material way today that is rather unusual. If you're offered something unique, don't look this gift horse in the mouth. ARIES (March 21-April 19) Set aside things that are of a routine or tiresome nature today and experiment with new things you've been wanting to try, especially those that stimulate your imagination and creativity. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Challenging circumstances will stimulate your ingenuity and resourcefulness today. In situations where others can't even find a single answer, your facile mind will have several. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) This is the day when more quick decisions than usual may be required. Fortunately, the way you decide on issues will have a positive influence on your contemporaries. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Your progress today could be predicated upon your abilities to effectively use new techniques. Be experimental in order to determine what can be improved. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're a good executive today and persons you select for special assignments should measure up to your expectations. Don't tie yourself down with things that can be handled by associates. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You could be rather lucky at this time in involvements with relatives or members of your immediate family. Nurture these arrangements to be sure something beneficial can result. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Ideas with which you're toying today that are progressive have the best chances for success. Traditional concepts aren't apt to be nearly as fruitful. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Give your resources a break today and try to do more things of a service nature for yourself instead of farming them out and paying others. It will help both your pride and purse. (C)1990, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.
